A 'delivery to be carried by railway' (within the meaning of s 72 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890) means something more than a mere depositing of goods on the railway premises, it means some sort of acceptance by the railway, a taking as well as a giving. When that taking occurs is a matter which depends on the course of business and the facts of each particular case, but it certainly may be completed before a railway receipt is granted. Per SEAN, J. 'The delivery contemplated by s 72 is an actual delivery and marks the beginning of the company's responsibility. That delivery would no doubt involve not merely the bringing of the goods on the railway premises but acceptance thereof by the company for the purpose of carrying the same by railway. Such acceptance may be expressed or implied in a variety of ways by the usual course of business, and may be quite independent of any receipt being granted by the company. Of course it will depend upon the circumstances of each case and the usual course of business of the Railway administration as to whether the goods can be said to be delivered to be carried by railway under s 72 of the Act.' RAJCHANDRA NATHA v G I P RAILWAY COMPANY (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 485

Risk Note B—Where a consignment of goods handed over to the Railway for carriage on risk note B were short delivered by 6 complete packages Held that though the effect of the evidence was not definitely to establish the suggested fact of robbery from a running train yet the theory of wilful neglect by the Railway servants had been sufficiently excluded. B. R. & C I P RAILWAYS v. DATARAM PRICHARDAS (1921)

I. L. R. 48 Bom. 11

s. 72, 77—Duty of Railway Company as a bailee under the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872)—Delivery of goods to person entitled but without production or delivery of railway receipt—Subsequent pledge of railway receipt—Suit by plaintiff—Notice of claim whether necessary—Damage, cause of The liability of a Railway Company under the Indian Railways Act in respect of goods consigned for carriage is at an end when the goods are delivered to a person rightfully entitled to them, even though he is not the consignee and even if the delivery is not made against the railway receipt. After delivery of the goods to the rightful person, the railway receipt ceases to be a symbol of goods and ceases to be negotiable. Hence an innocent endorsee for value of the railway receipt after delivery to such a person has no cause of action for damages against the Railway Company. A Railway Company is not under any duty to the public to insist upon the return of the railway receipt. Held, further that delivery of goods by the Railway Company without getting in the railway receipt was not the proximate cause of the loss to the endorsee. Barber v Meyerstein & E & Ir App 317, followed. Held, also that the suit was barred for want of notice under s. 77 of Indian Railways Act which applies to claims for compensation arising not only from non delivery or accidental loss or destruction or deterioration of goods but also from wilful delivery to a person not entitled to them. The Indian Common Carriers Act III of 1865 and the Indian Railways Act are not in pari materia with the English Carriers Act of 1830 as to when notice of loss is necessary. Hence decisions under the English Act are not applicable to India. M & S M. RY Co, Ltd v HARIDOSS BAKMALIDOSS (1918)

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—contd— ss 72, 77—contd

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 871

Risk Note B—A case of a wrong label being attached to goods sent to and getting delivered at wrong destination after travelling on lines of various Railway administrations and getting damaged in so doing. All Companies were sued but notice under s. 77 only given to one. The action failed on account of want of notice and one line being held not liable for damage due on another. SHANKAR BALKRISHNA v S I RAILWAY (1921) I. L. R. 48 Bom. 176

— s. 75—

See REMAND I. L. R. 42 Calc. 883See "SHAWIS," MEANING OF

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1029

Goods referred to in s 75 consigned on a "risk note"—Railway Company not liable for loss Where a person chooses to send goods referred to in s 75 of the Indian Railways Act on a "risk note" Form instead of declaring them and paying the extra percentage demandable under the terms of the section he cannot hold the Railway Company by which such goods are sent responsible for the loss thereof. NARAIN DAS v THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 656

Articles of special value lost in transit—Liability of Railway Company for the loss thereof The plaintiff who was a passenger on the defendant railway booked three packages from Howrah to Khorja. One of them contained silver and silk articles of the description mentioned in the second schedule to the Indian Railways Act in which such goods must be declared, but the plaintiff did not do so. The package was lost and the plaintiff brought this suit for damages. Held, that s 75 of Act IX of 1890 is one of general applicability to all classes of goods, and inasmuch as the plaintiff did not declare the contents of his trunk that was lost in transit the Railway administration was freed from all liability for the loss thereof both as regards scheduled and non-scheduled articles contained therein. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY Co v N K. ROY (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 463

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd.*s. 75—contd.

Interpretation of schedule—"Lace." Held, on an interpretation of the second schedule to the Indian Railways Act, 1890, that the word "lace" as therein used includes both machine-made and hand-made lace and is not confined to the latter. Sarat Chandra Bose v. Secretary of State for India, India, L. L. R. 33 Cal. 1029, dissented from. SUDANSHAN MAHAJAI NANDRAM v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY. L. L. R. 42 All. 70

"Value" and "true value" in s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act, meaning of—"Value" means intrinsic or market value—Value in some cases may mean special value to the owner—Loss means the value of property lost and nothing more—Loss does not include remote and consequential damage—Loss must be estimated by the same measure of damages in cases under s. 75 and in cases to which s. 75 not applicable—Object of s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act—s. 75, bar to an action for amount exceeding one hundred rupees for loss and consequences unless a declaration is made. On the 16th September, 1916, the plaintiff delivered to the defendant Railway Company at the Victoria Terminus Station, Bombay, a parcel containing twenty-four account books consigned to the plaintiff's firm at Nagpur. After the arrival of the parcel at Nagpur it was mis-delivered, on the 19th September, by a mistake of the defendants' parcel clerk to the Superintendent of the Central Jail, Nagpur. The mistake was discovered when the plaintiff's agent came to ask for delivery on the 21st September. Inquiries were made of the Jail Superintendent and it was ascertained that the books had been destroyed by him thinking that they were the papers consigned to him from Bhandwa for destruction. After some correspondence between the parties, the plaintiff sued the defendants stating that the account books which contained the record of all the dealings and transactions of the plaintiff's firm were lost to him by reason of the negligence of the defendants. The plaintiff estimated his loss at Rs. 25,000, and claimed that sum of such other sum as might seem just to the Court as damages. The defendants in their written statement repudiated the claim on the ground that the parcel containing the account books came under the head of "writings," an excepted article under s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and that the contents which exceeded in value one hundred rupees had not been declared and insured at the time of delivery of the parcel to the railway administration as required by the aforesaid section. By consent, the suit was placed on board for the trial of the preliminary issue "whether the defendants are protected from liability to the plaintiff under s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890." The trial Judge decided that the defendants were not protected from liability under the section inasmuch as the value of the account books which must be taken to mean intrinsic value was admittedly less than Rs. 100 and that the loss which occurred after delivery to the wrong person was not a loss within the meaning of the section. Held, reversing the decision of the trial Judge, by SCOTT, C. J.—(i) that s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, was intended to apply to articles of special value declared by the Legislature in the Second Schedule or which may be added to the schedule by Notification of the Governor General in Council in the Gazette of India, and that such articles must be free from any prelim affectionis on the part of the owner, that is to say, articles which could be valued by any sufficiently trained expert quite apart from the feelings of the owner; (ii) that the damages recoverable against the Railway Company was the value of the property lost and nothing more; (iii) that although s. 75 did not directly protect the Railway Company since the goods were not of the value of a hundred rupees, it would be entirely inconsistent with the Act to hold that if the goods had been of a value exceeding a hundred rupees the true value would be the limit of the defendants' liability, yet, since the goods were of a value less than a hundred rupees the plaintiff might sue for any remote and consequential damage which he might allege to have suffered from the loss; (iv) that the loss for which the Railway Company were liable must be estimated by the same measure of damages both in cases under s. 75 and in cases to which s. 75 was not applicable, and that the most which the plaintiff could claim successfully, having regard to the evidence was Rs. 70 the value of the articles, a sum for which he had not sued and could not sue in the High Court under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent. Held, by MACLEOD, J.—(1) that the protection afforded by s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, lasted as long as the Railway Company were liable as carriers and their liability would continue after the goods had arrived at their destination for such reasonable time as would be required for the consignee to come to take delivery. (2) that the mere fact that the plaintiff was claiming more than Rs. 100 for the loss of an undeclared excepted article barred him under s. 75 of the Act from asserting that its value was under Rs. 100, and the question what was the value of the goods did not arise; (3) that the object of s. 75 of the Indian Railways Act was to protect a Railway Company from liability for the loss, destruction or deterioration of parcels entrusted to them for carriage containing articles of special value exceeding Rs. 100 unless they have notice of the contents, so that (a) they could demand a percentage on the value declared by way of compensation for increased risk and (b) they could take extra precautions for the safe carriage of such parcels; the whole object of the section would be defeated if the consignee could claim consequential damages for the loss of an excepted article without insuring it, on the ground that its market value was under Rs. 100; (4) that "value" in s. 75 of the Act did not necessarily mean "market value"; in some cases articles might have a special value to the owner beyond the market value and if the owner wished to recover this value, he must declare and insure the goods, the liability of the Company in the event of the loss being limited to the true value by s. 75 (2) of the Act. Miles v. Brauch 10 Q. B. D. 122, 115, Graham v. The London and North-Western Railway Company, 3 Car. & K. 789, Riley v. Horns, 5 Hag. 217, 225, referred to Harris v. London and North-Western Railway Company, 19 Ex. 723, distinguished. G. L. P. Railway Co. v. RICHMOND JAGGERS (1919). L. L. R. 43 Bom. 236

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd.*s. 75—contd.

—s. 75 and 80—Red for compensation for loss of through booked goods—Not delivery—

PAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—contd.

— 18 cont'd

Under red goods Held that where goods are booked for conveyance over more than one railway system the owner can only claim compensation for loss against a railway company other than the company with which they were booked if it is shown that the loss occurred on the system of the company in Held also that if goods, the insurance of which is obligatory are packed uninsured with other goods the insurance of which is not obligatory no compensation is obtainable for the loss of either class of goods Found that J. J. Smith & Co. of Hudson Company 111 R. R. Bldg. N.Y. followed. CREAT. BY LAW
NEW YORK RAILWAY 111 R. R. BLDG. N.Y.

17-

See "I L R 41 Mod. 871"

Sea Loss of 400 3

1 L R 44 Calc 16

East Asian Region

company. Notice Limitation - Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sec 1 art 31 - Waiver of notice. Certain goods were despatched on the 6th of March 1908 from Bombay to a ship. The goods were lost in transit when in possession of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company. The company made a claim against the East India Railway Company as the result of which he was offered a certain sum as compensation by the assistant traffic manager of that company who stated that he did so with the authority of the deputy traffic manager of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company. There was, however, no proof that any such authority had been given as the offer was refused. On the 8th August 1909 the consnee brought a suit against the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company of damages for the loss of his goods but did not give the notice required by 7 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1908). He claimed that certain conditions printed on the back of the railway receipt relieved him of the necessity of giving notice under s. 7. Held that this was not so nor did the action of the assistant traffic manager of the East India Railway Company amount to a waiver of notice. The suit was also barred by Limitation Act Art 31 of the first Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act 1908 (Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company v. Railway Rates) (1911) 1 L. R. 32 All 448.

16E 33 AM 514

Goods Superintendent of a station, freighter sale of 1st goods for conversion - Damage. Held that the notice of claim for loss of goods dispatched by rail given in this case to the Goods Superintendent did not comply with the requirements of ss 7 and 140 of the Railways Act. Quere Whether a failure to observe the provisions prescribed in the Railways Act with regard to sales of articles of which no del very has been taken would make the sale an act of conversion by the Railway. JANKI DAS v THE BENGAL NAUGER RAILWAY CO (1912) 18 C W N 356

Value of asset to

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1892).—contd.

— 77 —

pany were his and the trying Court found that the bags dispatched by the plaintiff were lost or missing. Hill that in the circumstan the plaintiff was bound to serve notice under s 7 of the Indian Railways Act upon the Agent of the defendant company. A notice given to the Goods Superintendent at which there was no evidence to show ever reached the Agent was not sufficient. Hoode v. Metherell & Partners 11 C B 211 (1843) holding no and doubted Janet Lee v. The Great Northern Railway Company 18 C B 256 (1846) and Indian Railway Co v. E. B. Mello 17 C B 211 (1846) approved. The company cannot be bound by any admission or statement by the Goods Superintendent such as is implied in a promise to make before the suit to pay a liquidated sum to the plaintiff for the value of the missing bags. Ladd v. Hurrey & Tins 18 C B 256 (1846) and Indian Railway Co (1846).

19 C. W N ES

Vol 1 to Memo 1

Agent but not a full-fledged Manager of the
 "Not a full-fledged" Manager not suffer as The Agent is the last in the line of the Manager with the meaning of the Manager
 Act and the notice is given by a 77 area Agent to the Agent; a rev. of notice on the Trade Manager is not sufficient. (191)
 BUREAU OF SECRETARY OF STATE (191)

21 C W N 51

ss. 77 and 140—

A. L. LOVIE & G. GORDON

I L R 44 Calc 18

20 C. W. N '90

Goods delivered in damaged condition - Notice of claim given on Traffic Manager sufficient - No further damage claim maintain if finding a lot of claim in respect of goods delivered by Railway Company in damaged condition on the Divisional Traffic Manager of the Company is in the state of authority given by the Agent of the Company to the Divisional Traffic Manager not sufficient compliance with the provisions of a 110 of the Railways Act, 1904 (Amended) and Section 110 of the Railways Act, 1904 followed. Goods delivered at Bhopal 13.6.1921 explained and distinguished. Part Indian Railway Company at Madras 14.10.1921 17.6.21 W. N. 1123

7 C. W. N. 1134

Superintendant of R. S. E. on April 4 for consent on for loss of goods consigned—1 mtr 9
—L mtr on 1st (17 of 1904) R. S. E. 1st 9
In the absence of evidence to prove that the Calcutta Superintendent was authorized by the Agent to receive notices on his behalf, I find that a notice of claim served on the former was not served in compliance with the provisions of s. 140 of the Railways Act. The law requires that the notice should be given to the Agent and whether a particular officer is authorized by the Agent to receive such notice on his behalf is a question of fact that must be decided on evidence. Woods v. Meher Ali 13 C. B. 1195 disapproved. Janki Das v. The Bengal Nagpur
Railway Co. 18 C. B. 358. The East Ind
Railway Co. v. Madho Lal, 17 C. B. 1137, and Rodha Asseer v. The East Ind on Railway Co. 19 C. B. 60 referred to. Where the Agst—2 of a to Goods Super intended to make promise

—1 sets of Goods Super intended to make promise bind on Company. Where the plaintiff who were complaints of some bags of mustard seed and a that ten bags offered by the defendant com

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd*ss. 77 and 140—contd

Consignor sued a Railway Company for compensation for loss of goods alleging the same to have been due to the wilful negligence or theft by its servants. Held, (semble), that the suit was governed by Art 30 of the 1st Schedule to the Limitation Act. EAST INDIAN RY CO v RAM AUTAR (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 696

s. 80—

See s. 75

I. L. R. 34 All 422

s. 80 and Chapter VII—*Meaning of the word "loss" explained includes loss by mis delivery—Indian Contract Act, IX of 1872, sections 151, 152 and 161—Claim for compensation for loss of through booked traffic—Which Railway responsible. Held, by the Full Bench (Abdul Raouf, J., dissenting) that the word "loss" in Chapter VII of the Indian Railways Act, includes loss to the owner of goods made over to a railway administration which have been misdelivered and so have been lost to the person entitled thereto and section 80 makes the railway administration on whose line the loss occurred equally liable with the railway administration to which the goods were delivered by the consignors. The Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company v. Harilass (I. L. R. 41 Mad 871) The Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company v. Mattai Subba Rao (I. L. R. 43 Mad 617), and The Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company v. Panchardian Jaganath (I. L. R. 43 Bom 396, 497), followed. Chang Mai v. Bengal N. W. Railway Company (6 P. R. 1897), overruled. Mullen v. Branch and Company (L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 144), distinguished. HILL, SAWYERS AND COMPANY v SECRETARY OF STATE

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 133

s. 101—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, 1897 No. 2
supra I. L. R. 373

General Pr. 99 (c)

100—Breach of the rules—Endangering the safety of persons—Disregard of the rules by the station master—Failing the line for which line clear is given—Driver of the approaching train disregarding danger signals and rushing into the derailed wagon on the line—Liability of the station master. The accused a station master, received an up goods train on the third line in his station yard. He then ordered the driver of the goods train to detach his engine and shunt 9 waggons which was standing on the loop line to a dead end siding in order to make room for the down mail. At that time the next station on the other side asked the accused for line clear in order to pass an up passenger train, which the accused gave at once. The 9 waggons were shunted from the loop to the main line, and while they were being taken from the main line to the dead end siding, one of the waggons got derailed at the points where the siding joined the main line. At this time the distant and home danger signals were up against the up passenger train. Still the driver of that train disregarded both signals, and dashed into the derailed wagon causing some injury to two of the passengers and the guard. The station master was tried under s. 101 of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) for breach of rr. 99 (c) and 100 of the General Rules. The trying Magis- trate acquitted the accused on the ground that it was the act of the driver of the up passenger that was immediately responsible for the collision. The Government having appealed. Held, setting aside the order of acquittal—that the disregard by the accused of r. 100 enhanced the danger to passengers, and it was the risk thus entailed which rendered the rule breaker liable to punishment. Held, also, that as regards the punishment, the gravity of the offence should be estimated not by the actual ultimate consequence but by the risk involved for the rule breaker might be punished even though no accident occurred. EMPEROR v RAMCHANDRA HARI (1913)

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—*contd*s. 101—contd

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 685

ss. 108, 121, 128, 131, 132—

See TORT I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

s. 109—*Power of Railway administration to reserve accommodation—Legality of reservation in favour of a particular class of passengers. Held on a construction of s. 103 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, that the section was wide enough to authorize a railway administration to reserve accommodation for any particular class of passenger by the name of the class. A person entering a carriage so reserved might be required to leave it, and if he refused, might be prosecuted under the provisions of the section. ss. 42 and 43 of the Act have no application to the case of the reservation of a particular passenger carriage for the use of any particular class of the travelling public. *EMPEROR v BRINDISI LAL

I. L. R. 42 All 327

s. 113—

See RAILWAY PASSENGER

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

*Conviction without enquiry as to liability of accused to pay excess charge and fare in spite of accused pleading that he had not travelled by the train as alleged. The petitioner was prosecuted for an offence under s. 113 of the Railways Act and he pleaded in defence that he had not travelled by the train as alleged. The Magistrate without any enquiry disposed of the case by issuing distress warrant for the amount of penalty imposed. Held (in setting aside the order)—That the Magistrate should have passed orders in accordance with law after taking evidence on the question whether the accused was liable to pay and how much was payable. *STATUTUS VESTER, THAKURDAS v. HANU, & OTHERS

24 C. W. N. 105

s. 120—

See NUISANCE

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1042

See RAILWAY PASSENGER

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

*In a Railway shed reserved for the delivery of fish the Railway authorities prohibited the retail sale of fish. The Petitioners were convicted under cl. (b) of s. 120 of the Act for having sold to the public not allowed. Held, that in view of the fact that the retail sale of fish made the shed offensive in many ways the Act complained of was a nuisance within the section. *DEOKHINA v. KISHO EMPEROR

25 C. W. N. 603

RAILWAY ACT (IX OF 1890)—concl'd

s. 121—

See s. 3. I. L. R. 43 Mad. 348

See TORT. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

s. 122—

See RAILWAY PASSENGER.

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 279

Unlawful entry upon

Railway and refusal to leave—Fines of offence
Unlawful entry constitutes the basis of the offence under both clauses of s. 122 of the Railways Act. If the entry was lawful, refusal to leave on being desired to do so would not make the original entry unlawful, nor would it make a person guilty under cl. (2) which is but an aggravated form of the offence under cl. (1). KUMUD KANTA CHAKRABORTY v KING EMPEROR (1917)
22 C. W. N. 575

s. 123—

Cattle left in charge of keepers allowed to stray on a railway line—Liability of owner
The owner of cattle which have been allowed to stray upon a railway in consequence of the negligence of the person actually in charge of them on the owner's behalf is not liable to punishment under s. 123 (3) of the Railways Act, 1890. Queen Empress v Andri, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 228, followed. EMERSON v GUN PRASAD GILL (1911)
I. L. R. 34 All. 91

ss. 126 (a), 130—Minor offender

Magistrate—Jurisdiction to try
A minor committing an offence punishable under s. 130, read with s. 126 (a) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 can be tried by a Magistrate, he is not exclusively triable by a Court of Session. EMERSON v BROSELYA DUDHIA (1919)
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 883

s. 123—

See TORT. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

s. 131—

See TORT. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

s. 132—

See TORT. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

s. 140—

Notice of claim sent through post but not registered—Post Office Act (XIV of 1865), Part III
Notice of a claim of damages for short delivery sent through the post but not registered under Part III of the Indian Post Office Act was not service in any of the modes provided by s. 140 of the Railways Act. Nadai Chand v Wood, I. L. R. 35 Cal. 194; s. c. 13 C. W. N. 450, relied on. MARTIN & CO v FAKIR CHAND SARDU (1910)
14 C. W. N. 888

Notice of suit upon whom to be served
Under s. 140, Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890), notice of suit against a Railway Company can only be served upon the Agent unless it can be shown by evidence that some other officer of the Company had authority to receive the notice. SENNACHILLAM CHETTI v TRAFFIC MANAGERS, Nizam's GUARANTEED STATE RAILWAY (1913)
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 65

Sch. III—

See SHAWIS. I. L. R. 39 Cal. 1029

RAIYAT.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT.

See CHOTA NAAGPUR TENANCY ACT, 1904

4 Pat. L. J. 11

at fixed rent—If may grant permanent Lease—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 11

23 C. W. N. 9

at fixed rates—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885.

1 Pat. L. J. 67

purchase of interests of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 164

"Kasami ryot"—Meaning of—Occupancy ryot, grant of lease for over nine years by—Transfer from ryot if may question its validity

—Bengal Tenancy Act (I of 1885), ss. 49, 55—
Under ryot right if heritable
A lessor describing himself as a Kasami ryot does not necessarily imply that he was a ryot at a fixed rent. Where it was found that the lessor did not thereby or otherwise represent himself as a ryot at a fixed rent and the lessee was not induced to take the lease by such representation; and that in fact he was an occupancy ryot. Held, that the lease which was for a term of more than nine years was invalid and neither the lessor nor a purchaser from him was stopped from challenging its validity. Chandi Charan Nath v Samis Bli, 22 C. W. N. 119 (1917), followed. The heir of an under ryot has no heritable right to continue as such. Arip Mondal v Ramratan Mondal, I. L. R. 31 Cal. 757, s. c. 8 C. W. N. 479 (P. B.) (1908), referred to. NADIRAM CHANDRA SIL v SRINATH CHAKRAVARTI
24 C. W. N. 83

RAIYATI HOLDING—

Registered lease—Bengal Tenancy Act (I of 1885), s. 86 (1)—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, proviso 4

Even where the original lease is a registered one, a raiyat can orally surrender his holding under s. 86 of the Bengal Tenancy Act if it was not for a fixed period and if possession is given up. Khanbar Abdur Rahman v Ali Hafiz, I. L. R. 28 Cal. 256, and Braynath Sarma v Mahanwar Gohane, 23 C. L. J. 220, referred to. Sardar Chandra Saha v Nriya Gopal Biswas, 13 C. L. J. 284, distinguished. FORAN MATIA v INDRA SEXTI (1919)
I. L. R. 47 Cal. 129

RAJINAMA AND KABULIYAT.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOMBAY ACT V OF 1879).

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 170

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 898

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908), s. 17.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 510

Registration—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 90—Bombay Land Revenue Code (Bombay Act V of 1879), ss. 74, 76
Rajinamas and kabuliyyats, governed by the Bombay Land Revenue Code (Bombay Act V of 1879), are not compulsorily registrable. They cannot in themselves be documents of transfer, but they are fairly conclusive evidence that a transfer has in fact been made. NARSO RAMAJI v NAGAYA (1918)
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 859

RAJPUT FAMILY.

See HINDU LAW.—SUCCESSION
I. L. R. 48. Calc. 897

RAPE.

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860),
ss 82 AND 83 I. L. R. 37 ALL 167

RASH OR NEGLIGENT ACT.

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860)
s 336 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 396

RATE CIRCULAR.

— Issued by shipowners—

See CONTRACT I. L. R. 41 Calc 670

RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882—
ss 276, 295 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 138
ss 285, 295 14 C. W. N. 396

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—
ss 2, 47 5 Pat. L. J. 415
ss 47, 73, O XXI r 53
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 156
ss 47, 73, 101 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 570
s 61 I. L. R. 43 ALL 399

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I. L. R. 47 Calc 515
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1072

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH I,
ARTS. 62, 120 I. L. R. 39 Mad 62

See RECEIVER 15 C. W. N. 925

— order for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF
1908), ss 47, 73 104.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 570

Application for, not considered to be application for execution—Attachment before judgment is not application for execution—Decree holder—No right to rateable distribution unless he has applied for execution. Only a decree holder who has applied for execution can claim a right to rateable distribution. Such a right is not conferred upon a plaintiff who has merely obtained an attachment before judgment and has not applied for execution under s 230 Civil Procedure Code. Amara Veerayya v Annamala Chetty Pichayya, I L. R. 31 Mad 502, overruled. An attachment before judgment is in no sense an application for execution. A mere application for rateable distribution which does not comply the requirements of s 235 in form or substance cannot be considered to be an application for execution within the scope of s 295, Civil Procedure Code. Sewdai Roy v Sree Canto Maity, I L. R. 33 Calc. 638, distinguished. Palloni Shapurji Mistry v Edward Vaughan Jordan, I L. R. 12 Bom 400, followed. ARUNACHILLAM CHETTIAR v HAJI SHEER MEERA ROWTHAR (1910) I. L. R. 34 Mad 25 — Deposit by Judgment debtor—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), O XXI, r 82, and s 73—Alteration in s 73, effect of. When money is paid into Court under O XXI r 89 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, there can be no rateable distribution under s 73 of the Code. The scope of s 73 of the new Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) is far wider than that of s 294 of the old Code (Act XIV of 1882), yet the effect of the enactment in s 310A of the old Code, which is reproduced in O XXI, r 89, of the new Code, remains unaltered. HARAT SAMHA v FAIZLUR RAHMAN (1913)

RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION—contd

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 619

— Practice and Procedure—Decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), ss 47, 73—Civil Procedure Code (Act VI of 1882) s 295—Appeal. An order refusing rateable distribution made under s 73 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), between two rival decree-holders which does not affect or interest the judgment debtor, is an order in execution proceedings but is not a decree as all the conditions enumerated in s 47 of that Code are not present, and consequently is not appealable. Jayadish Chandra Shaha v Kriparath Shaha, I L. R. 36 Calc 150, followed. Sorabji Chavurji v Kala Raghunath, I L. R. 36 Bom 156, distinguished. It is essential for the application of s 73 of the Code of Civil Procedure that the decree should have been passed against the same judgment debtor. BALMER LAWRIE & Co v JODHNATH BANEJEE (1914) I. L. R. 42 Calc 1

— Rival decree holders—Right of one to impeach another's decree only in suit and not in execution—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 73, applicability of—O XXI, r 52 enquiry under. Where several decree holders against the same judgment-debtor apply for satisfaction of their decrees out of the same fund, any one of them is entitled to show that his rival's decree is a fraudulent or sham one but it is not open for him to do so in execution proceedings. Sundara v Budan, I L. R. 9 Mad. 80, followed. S 73, Civil Procedure Code, is applicable only if an application for execution of the decree in the prescribed form had already been made before the receipt of the assets and the fund out of which rateable distribution is asked for is one realised in execution. Where holders of decrees of several courts apply for satisfaction of their decrees, out of a fund in the custody of a court, the proper order governing their respective titles or priorities is O XXI r 52, Civil Procedure Code; and they are entitled to share it rateably as in the case of administration of the estate of a deceased person or of an insolvent as attachment does not under the present law give any priority to the first attaching creditor, but only prevent alienation. Srinivas Chandra Lax v Ramak Lakshmi, I L. R. 15 Calc. 202, 209, followed. The shares due to holders of decrees of other courts than the one which has the custody of the fund are to be distributed only according to the orders of those courts. KATUM SATHA v HAJER MAHOMED BADSHA SATHI (1913) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 221

— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 73, O XXI, r 65—Policy underlying the section—Receipt of purchase money by agent, effect of. The policy, which underlies s 73 of the Code of Civil Procedure, obviously is to fix the point of time when the entire body of persons entitled to claim rateable distribution should be finally ascertained, that point of time is the moment when the entire purchase money has been paid by the purchasers. It is immaterial from this point of view whether the purchase money has been actually paid into the Treasury or into the hands of a person employed by the Court to hold the sale. When a sale has been held by a Court in execution, under O XXI r 63, receipt of purchase-money by the agent is, for the purposes of a 73, equivalent to receipt of same by the Court. Gulam Hossein v Fatima Beg, 16 O W N 334. Maharaja of Bhopal v Ishra Krishna Roy, 11 C L J 59. Distinction—Huddersfield Banking Company, Ltd v Henry Lister & Son Ltd, (1895) 2 Ch 273. Pentworth v Bullen, 9 B C 340. Crosse v Wells, 1 C M & R 235. Gray v Hay, 9 Jac 219. Stred v GALTAY v WOODEN (HAWDRA BANERJEE (1916)) I L R 44 Calc 789

RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION—contd.

Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), ss 63, 73, application under—Sale by Mansif—Application to Subordinate Judge for attachment of sale proceeds and rateable distribution. Where in consequence of proceedings taken by a creditor, the Mansif sold the judgment debtor's properties and where another creditor applied to the Subordinate Judge after the said sale, to attach the sale-proceeds deposited in the Mansif's Court and to distribute the same rateably and the latter refused the application. Hd, that in the events which had happened neither s 63, nor s 73 of the Civil Procedure Code applied. Hd also that the Subordinate Judge could not direct the Mansif to transmit the proceeds to his Court, but should move the District Judge to have the proceeds transferred. If this procedure were adopted, full effect would be given to the intention of the Legislature. The Subordinate Judge would in essence adopt the sale held by the Mansif and the sale-proceeds would then be rateably distributed in accordance with the provisions of the Code. Eyant Nath Saha v Rajendra Narain Ray, 1 L R 12 Calc. 333. Patel Narayn Morari v Haridas Navatram, 1 L R 14 Bom 453, referred to. NILAYTA RAI v GOSTO BEHARI CHATTERJEE (1917)

I L R 46 Calc. 64

RATEABLE VALUE.See ASSESSMENT I L R 42 Bom. 692RATES AND TAXES

Arrears of—Consolidated rate—Charge—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1839), ss 223, 223—Arrear of consolidated rates, whether a first charge on the land and building in respect of which it has accrued due—Charge and mortgage distinction between—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 55, 58, 100—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), s 171—Constructive notice—Bond fide purchaser for value without notice. s 223 of the Calcutta Municipal Act is not controlled by s 223 thereof, and makes the consolidated rate, as it accrues due from time to time a first charge on the premises (subject only to arrears of land revenue). A mortgagee does, whereas a charge does not involve a transfer of an interest in specific immovable property. Narayana v Venkataswami, 1 L R 23 Mad 220. Tancred v Delagoa Bay Co, 23 Q B D 239. Burlinson v Hall, 12 Q B D 347, referred to. Such a charge cannot be enforced against the property in the hands of a bond fide purchaser for value without notice. Kishen Lal v Gunga Ram, 1 L R 13 All 28, referred to. The plea of purchaser for value without notice is a single defence, the onus of proving which is on the defendant. Attorney General v Diphosphated Guano Co, 11 Ch D 377. Hales v Spooner, (1911) 2 K B 473, followed. Where property with such a charge is foreclosed, by the mortgagee, constructive notice cannot be imputed to him to the same extent as to a purchaser at a private sale. Radha Madhab v Kalpataru, 17 C L J 209. Brahma v Bhole Das, 19 C L J 357, referred to. Still he should ascertain the true state of affairs before he becomes full owner thereof. Although a purchaser without notice from a person who had notice is protected (vide Harrison v Fort, (1895) Finch's Prec Ch 51) here, purchasers from such a mortgagee cannot claim the protection as, before they acquire title, they might by enquiry from the municipal authorities ascertain the precise period for which the rates were in arrears. ARROY KUMAR BANERJEE v COMFORTATION OF CALCUTTA (1914) I L R 42 Calc 625

RATES AND TAXES—contd

RATIFICATIONSee CONTRACT ACT 1872, ss 196, 200See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII of 1805), s 1 I L R 33 Mad 997See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

I L R 42 Calc. 1091

— of order—

See HABEAS CORPUS.

I L R 39 Calc. 164

RATING OF PROPERTY.See APEN SETTLEMENT REGULATION (VII of 1900) s 13

I L R 40 Bom. 446

RAYATI LEASE.See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 38 Calc. 423

REASONABLE NOTICESee SCHOOL-MASTER.

I L R 44 Calc. 317

RE-ASSESSMENT OF PREMISES.See ACQUISITION

I L R 37 Calc 833

RECEIPT.See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908)—s 17 (2) (a) I L R 34 All 523See STAMP ACT (II of 1899),

ss. 2 (23), 62, 63

I L R 35 All. 290

s 65

I L R 34 All. 192

— for goods shipped—

See CONTRACT I L R 41 Calc. 670

— exceeding R. 20—

See STAMP DUTY I L R 37 Calc 634.

— by one servant from another—

See STAMP DUTY I L R 37 Calc. 631

— of purchase money—Registration—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908 s. 17

I L R 1 Lah. 25

RECEIPT—contd

—acknowledging acceptance of share
—admissibility of to prove partition if unregistered—

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 s. 17 AND
49 I L R 44 Bom 581

—Registration—Master
—Mortgage to charge of simple interest
—Mortgage to charge of simple interest which purports to show that simple and not compound interest was to be charged (though the mortgage bond contained provision for the payment of compound interest) is admissible in evidence. Such a receipt operates as a full acquittance for the money paid and requires no registration. Jagan Ali Beg v Bawa Mal I L R 9 All 103 followed. KAILASH CHANDRA NATH v SURESH CHENET (1914) I L R 42 Calc. 548 —Stamp Duty—Money received by servant of a firm and handed over to fellow servant—Consideration—Acknowledgment of receipt by fellow-servant of a sum larger than Rs 20 is liable to stamp-duty—Stamp Act (II of 1929) s. 2(3), Sch I Art 53 Where a sum exceeding Rs 20 was received by an assistant in a mercantile firm from the cashier of the firm as advance made on the firm's behalf, and to be expended on the firm's behalf, and previous to disbursement of the sum in question a pay order was made out by the Accounts Department of the firm and was sent to the cashier who had paid the sum to the assistant, and the assistant at the same time acknowledged receipt by signing his name or initials on the pay order. Held that the acknowledgment did not require a receipt stamp by reason of the assistant's signature on the pay order. Attorney General v Carlton Bank (1899) 2 Q B 158 distinguished. In re Bann & Co (1910) I L R 37 Calc. 624

RECEIVER

See BUSTER LAND I L R 38 Calc 714

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—
s. 47

3 Pat L J 513

s 60 (i) I L R 40 Mad 302

O XL

O XLIII B 1

I L R 45 Bom. 99

See COMMON MANAGER.

I L R 43 Calc 978

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

s 145 3 Pat L J 147

See FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE

I L R 43 Calc 640

See GHATWALI TESTRE

I L R 39 Calc 1010

See INSOLVENCY I L R 37 Calc 418

14 C W N 588

I L R 42 Calc 283

L L R 41 All 200, 274

See LEASE I L R 45 Calc 940

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877) s 19

I L R 32 All. 51

See OFFICIAL RECEIVER.

RECEIVER—contd

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 1907—
s 59

s 10

2 Pat L J 235

as 16 22 I L R 39 All 204

s 30

2 Pat L J 101

See SALE 16 C W N 394

—application against the legal representatives of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XL B 4

I L R 39 Mad 584

—appointment of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XL B 1

14 C W N 243 252

—appeal against appointment of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O
XLIII B 1 I L R 42 All. 227

—attachment of moneys in hand of—

See EXECUTION OF DECREES.

1 Pat. L J 443

—assets in the hands of—

See SOLICITOR'S LIEV FOR COSTS

I L R 34 Bom 484

—death of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XL B 4

I L R 39 Mad. 584

—joint trial of—

See MISJOINDER I L R. 46 Calc 741

—in insolvency—

See MINOR I L R 42 Calc 225

—misappropriation by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XL B 4

I L R 39 Mad 584

—Order granting leave to sue Receiver for negligence—No appeal lies—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XLIII B 1

I L R 45 Bom 99

—pendente lite—

See PELIGIOUS TRUST

I L P 40 Calc. 251

—powers of—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III of 1907) s 18 I L R 39 All. 633

—report of—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (II of 1907) s 43 I L R 37 All. 429

—sufficiently grounds for appointment
of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O
XL B. 1 I L R. 43 All. 311

—vesting of property in on adjudication—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 1907,
s 16 I L R. 42 All. 433

RECEIVER—contd

— Bhag property—Gift by Mahomedan widow for spiritual benefit of her husband—

See WARR . I L R. 44 Bom. 727

— Suit against—Whether notice necessary—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss 2

80 I L R. 44 Bom 895

— Suit against without leave of Court—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF

I L R. 44 Bom 903

1. — Directions to receiver, if appealable—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XL, r 1, cl (1) (d) and O XLIII, r 1 (d). Where both the parties have agreed to the appointment of a Receiver of the properties in dispute, and the Court has, in appointing the Receiver, given him certain direct orders as to the disposal of the income Held that an appeal lies from those directions by virtue of O XLIII, r 1 (d) of the Code of Civil Procedure. MOHUNT ANAND DAS v RAM PERKASH DAS (1909) 14 C. W. N 183

2. — Execution sale of property in hands of—Illegality—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI of 1882) ss 244, 248—Non-service of notice on judgment-debtor if ground for setting aside the sale—Confirmation of sale, effect of Where the Receiver appointed by the Court was directed to take possession of moveable properties and of the rents and profits of the immovable properties and was further authorized to get in and collect all debts and claims due to the estate. Held, that he must be taken to have been appointed Receiver in respect of the whole estate and had authority to apply for an order absolute on a decree nisi for foreclosure. A sale of the foreclosed property while the estate was in the possession of the Receiver in execution of a decree for money, without leave of the Court previously obtained, was illegal and liable to be avoided, and punishment by the procedure for contempt was not the only remedy against such unauthorized sales. The provisions of s 248 are not mandatory. A sale held without issue of notice under s 248, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), is therefore not a nullity, but such an omission is a serious irregularity, sufficient to vacate the sale upon an application made by the judgment debtor under s 244 of the Code. Mallory v Nankharia 5 C. W. N 10 s c I L R 25 Bom 337, I L R 27 I A 216, Parashram v Balmukund, I L R 32 Bom. 572 Eraa v Sudramappa, I L R 21 Bom. 424, 432 Jogendra Chandra v Sham Das, I L R 36 Calc 543 s c 9 C L J 271 Such an irregularity is a ground for setting aside the sale even after it has been confirmed. Ashutosh v Eshori Lal 11 C. W. N 1011 s c I L R 35 Calc 61 referred to. A purchaser of property at an execution sale is not protected when grounds for setting aside the sale under s 244 or 311 are established merely because he is a stranger. Jayulchandra Lal v Gossain Lal, 13 C. B. N 716, referred to. LEWIS ASHTON v. MADHABMOH DAST (1910) 14 C. W. N 560

3. — Possession of property by Receiver without succession certificate—Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), ss 4, 8, cl (c)—Succession (Property Protection) Act (XIX of 1841)—Succession Act (X of 1865) s 190—Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870)—Probate and Administration Act V of 1880—Indian Securities Act (XIII of 1885) ss 3, sub-s (2), 6, sub-s (1) cl (f). The position of a Receiver appointed by a Court is analogous to that of a curator appointed under Act XIX of 1841, who is a person claiming to be entitled to the effects of the deceased person whose estate he is appointed to manage. Lakshon v Narsappa, I L R. 20 Bom 437, referred to. The Receiver ordinarily is not the representative or agent of either party to a suit in the administration of the trust, but the appointment is for the benefit of all parties, and he holds the property for the benefit of those ultimately found to be the rightful owners. Jagat Tarin Das v Naba Gopal Chakri I L R 31 Calc 305 Corporation of Dacup v Smith, 44 Ch. D 395, Portman v Mill, 3 Jurist 356, referred to. In the absence of any provision in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) and in the Probate and Administration Act V of 1881 that no right to the property of an intestate can be established unless administration had been previously granted by a competent Court, the Receiver appointed by the Court is competent to take possession of the accretions and moneys without a certificate under s 4 of the Succession Certificate Act, but regard being had to the provisions of the Indian Securities Act 1885, s 3, sub-s (2), s 6, sub-s (1) cl (f), and s 8 cl (c) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1880), a Succession Certificate would be needed if a suit was brought to establish a title to such funds by right of inheritance. HARSHAN MUKERJI v HARENDRA NATH MUKERJI (1910)

RECEIVER—contd

I L R. 37 Calc 754

4. — Receiver, if a necessary party to rent suit—Appointment of Receiver, if bona fide creditor—Receiver how sued—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s 22—Receiver appointed by another Court, if may be added as party by Court of its own motion Where during the pendency of a suit for rent under the Bengal Tenancy Act, a Receiver was appointed in respect of the entire property of the defendants by another Court and the property for which the rent was claimed vested in him. Held that the Receiver was a necessary party to the suit and if he was not added with the permission of the Court which appointed him, the suit was liable to be dismissed. The appointment of a Receiver does not of itself debar a creditor of the person over whose estate the Receiver has been appointed from suing for his claim provided that such suit does not in any way interfere with the possession or jurisdiction of the Court appointing the Receiver. But where property in the hand of the Receiver is intended to be affected by the result of the litigation, the Receiver is a proper and necessary party to such suit by way of addition to and not in substitution for the parties primarily responsible. Miller v Ram Janjan, I L R 10 Calc 1014 Ashmon v Modhak Hani, 11 C. J 459, Hem Chandra v Frankfort I L R 1 Calc 403 Jogendra Nath v Dubendra Nath I L R 26 Calc 127, s c 3 C W N 80 Janki Koor v Sham Shirendra 10 C. L J 23 Jagat Tarin v Naba Gopal, I L R 34 Calc 305, s c 6 C L J 270, referred to. Where the plaintiffs refused to add the Receiver as a party with leave of the Court appointing him although they had notice of such appointment: Held that the Court was not bound nor was it competent to it to add the Receiver as a party of its own motion under s 32, Civil Procedure Code, as the leave of the Court appointing the Receiver was essential. But as the point raised was of some novelty and as a fresh suit by the plaintiffs might be barred by limitation the High Court allowed the plaintiffs an opportunity of continuing the suit by taking steps to make the Receiver a party upon their paying all costs. Jotindra Nath Chowdhury v Sarfaraj Mia (1910) . . . 14 C W. N 653

RECEIVER—contd

5 ———— Title—Receiver, accretions to property, if vests in—Accretion, title to, prevails against all persons not claiming under prior title—Bona fide tenant under a de facto proprietor, if acquires riyat rights—Non-occupancy riyat if entitled to possession of accretions—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), s 145, 146—Receiver appointed under s 146, rights of. As a general rule a Receiver takes no title in property acquired by the person formerly in possession. But a Receiver is entitled to any accretion to the property vested in him, upon general principles and the policy of the law by which a proprietor acquires a title to accretions to his property. Where a Receiver has been appointed under s 146 of the Criminal Procedure Code in respect of any property in dispute the Receiver is entitled, unless some special circumstance is established, not only to the subject matter of the proceedings under s 145, Criminal Procedure Code, but also to the accreted land and gives good title to a tenant under him. Such title will prevail against a trespasser but not against person who establishes a title to the accreted land acquired prior to the vesting of the lands in the Receiver. Ajai Chandra v Lakh Narain 10 C L J 55, referred to MADHU v SABAR AII (1910) . . . 14 C W N 681

6 ———— Mortgage suit—Sale, appointment after—Receiver, if may be appointed of property in hand of common manager—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XL, r 1, sub r (2)—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s 95. A mortgage suit does not necessarily terminate with the sale, and a Receiver may be appointed after the sale, pending application to set it aside. Wills v Loff, 38 Ch D 197, distinguished. A Receiver may very well be appointed under O 40, r 1, sub r (2), Civil Procedure Code, in respect of property in the hands of a common manager appointed under s 95 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. MADANESWAR SINGH v MAHAMATA PRASAD SINGH (1911) . . . 15 C W. N 672

7 ———— Suit against—Leave of Court if condition precedent to suit—Stay of proceedings. Where a suit has been instituted against a Receiver without previously obtaining the leave of the Court which appointed him, it is open to the Court to stay proceedings for a reasonable time so as to enable the plaintiff to apply for leave to proceed with the suit. The consent of the Court which appointed the Receiver is not a condition precedent to the right to bring an action against the Receiver. Pramatha Nath Gangooly v Khetra Nath Banerjee, 1 L R. 33 Cal. 270 s.c. 9 C W N 247, dissented from. Where property in the hands of a receiver is intended to be affected by the result of the litigation, the Receiver is a proper and necessary party to such a suit. Jotindra Nath Choudhury v Sarfaraj Mia, 14 C W N 653, followed. Miller v Ram Ranjan Chuckerbutty, 1 L R 10 Cal. 1014, Chartered Bank v Harish Chunder Dey, 5 C. W

RECEIVER—contd

N. 26, and Kumar Suttia Suttia Ghoshal v Pant Golap Moni Dobi, 5 C W N. 27, distinguished. BANKU BEHARI DEY v HARENDRA NATH MUKERJEE (1910) . . . 15 C W. N 54

8 ———— Application to execute decree against—Application for rateable distribution—Property sold at the instance of another creditor with leave—Leave, if still necessary—Leave, if may be obtained after application preferred—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 272, order under, if leave—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 73. The fact that leave had already been granted to the execution creditor at whose instance property in the hands of a Receiver was sold, does not dispense with the necessity of other execution creditors obtaining such leave to prosecute their applications under s 73 of the Civil Procedure Code for rateable distribution of the assets, for the funds are held by the Court for the benefit of the Receiver who would be entitled as a matter of right to take out any surplus left after satisfying the creditors who have obtained such leave, and apply it for the purpose of the litigation in which he was appointed. Courts have been generally reluctant to allow execution to proceed against properties in the hands of the Receiver until leave has expressly been granted for this purpose. A prohibitory order under s 272 of Act XIV of 1882 on the Receiver cannot be construed as leave granted to the decree holder to proceed against properties in his hand. In the circumstances of the case the High Court held that the application should not have been dismissed because no such leave had been obtained but that an opportunity should be given to the petitioner even at this late stage to obtain the requisite leave. Danku Behari Dey v Harendra Nath Mukerjee 15 C W N 54, followed. Pramatha Nath Gangooly v Khetra Nath Banerjee, 1 L R. 32 Cal. 270 s.c. 9 C W N 247, dissented from. SARAT CHANDRA BANERJEE v AFURRA KRISHNA ROY (1911) . . . 15 C W. N 925

9 ———— Interference with Receiver appointed by the Court—An agreement which would interfere with the work of a Receiver appointed by a Court should not be enforced as being opposed to public policy. FATEER PANA MAN v ANATH BANHU PAL (1911) . . . 16 C. W. N 114

10 ———— Mortgage suit—Receiver if may be appointed in, after appointment of Receiver in partition suit amongst mortgagors—Foreclosure suit, Receiver if and when may be appointed in. The appointment of a Receiver in a partition suit amongst the mortgagors, is no bar to the appointment of a Receiver in a subsequent suit by the mortgagor on his mortgage, as any possible conflict between the two Receivers, where the same Receiver has not been appointed in both suits, may easily be avoided. A mortgagor who has obtained a preliminary decree for foreclosure cannot at that stage ask for a Receiver of the property under mortgage, since he has no title to the profits until at least he obtains an order absolute for foreclosure and is then kept out of possession by the action of the judgment debtors. KHUSURAT KOER v SARODA CHARAN GUHA (1911) . . . 16 C. W. N 126

11. ———— Ghatwall tenure—Income from, if may be attached—Receiver, if may be appointed for Ghatwall lands—Rents and profits not due at the date of appointment The rents and profits of a Ghatwali tenure may be attached in execution of a decree in the life time of the Ghatwal though the estate itself cannot be attached Akshora Koomar v. Broode Ram, 4 W. R. M. S. 5 Yarnal v. Krata Pershad, 10 O. W. N. colz, Uday Kumar v. Hari Ram, 1 L. R. 23 Cal., 453, Ray Keshore v. Banajadas, 1 L. R. 23 Cal. 573, considered Where the lower Court in execution of a decree against the Ghatwal attached the Chatwali estate, placed it under a Receiver and directed the tenants not to pay rents to any body other than the Receiver Held, that, although the order of attachment of the estate was erroneous the appointment of a Receiver was sanctioned by authority Quare Whether a Receiver may be appointed to collect rents and profits that have not accrued at the date of appointment Kishori Akeri v. Mohan Chandra Mandal (1912)

RECEIVER—contd.

1 L. R. 39 Cal. 1010
16 C. W. N. 502

12. — Insolvency—Jatri or "Pilgrim business" profits from—Private, office of—Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) s 2 (1) (g) 13 20 (c) 40 (1) 44, 47—"Business"—"Trade" Where, pending an appeal to the High Court by a creditor in insolvency against a conditional order of discharge in favour of the insolvent who was a panda or priest attached to the temple of Jagannath at Puri, an application was made for the appointment of a receiver in respect of the business of the insolvent, which consisted in receiving pilgrims, housing them, feeding them, looking after their comfort, and accompanying them to the temple of Jagannath, in return for a fee from the said pilgrims in the nature of a voluntary payment, the object of the creditor being not to stop the business but to carry it on, so that the insolvent priest may be constantly attended by the receiver who may take possession of all his earnings Held, that what the priest did for the pilgrims could not appropriately be described as 'business' within the meaning of cl (c) of s 20 of the Provincial Insolvency Act and that the exercise of his calling by the insolvent, under the circumstances stated, could not be deemed a 'trade' within the meaning of sub s (1) of s 40 of the Provincial Insolvency Act Held, also, that ordinarily the business of the insolvent might be carried on by the receiver not with a view to profit, but only in so far as might be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same Ex parte Emmanuel, 17 C. A. D. 35 followed. The difference between a receiver and a manager explained. In re Manchester and Milford Railway Co., 14 Ch. D. 615, Usser Steamship Co. v. Wharmby (1912) 3 C. 254 In re Lens Hol (1902) 1 Ch. 332, Boehm v. Goodall, (1911) 1 C. A. 155 and In re Newington Colliery, Ltd (1912) 1 C. A. 489, referred to AVANNA MAHANTI v. GANESH MAHESWAR (1913)

1 L. R. 40 Cal. 678

13. — Powers of Civil Court when Receiver in possession under s 148 (2) Criminal Procedure Code—(Act V of 1908)—Conditional appointment—Former Receiver, reappointment of The appointment of a receiver by a Civil Court under O. XL, r 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, does not operate as a discharge of the receiver of the same properties already appointed by a Magistrate under s 146 (2) of the Code of Criminal

RECEIVER—contd.

Procedure. As a general rule when there is a receiver in possession appointed by the Magistrate, and application is made to the Civil Court to exercise its powers under O. XL, r. 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Civil Court should make a conditional order of appointment and inform the Magistrate so that the latter may have an opportunity of withdrawing his attachment. Unless there is good reason to the contrary, the Civil Court should, as a matter of judicial discretion, appoint as its receiver the person already appointed by the Magistrate Lal Lal us nam v. Abdul A. 1, 1 L. R. 23 All. 214, distinguished. BIDYATRASAD NARAIN SINGH v. ANUBHAV SIVON (1913)

1 L. R. 40 Cal. 562

14. — *Discretion of Court—Interference by higher Court—Appointment of party to cause appointment of person residing outside jurisdiction and at a distance—Revision—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1909), s 12, sub. (1) The selection and appointment of a particular person as a Receiver is a matter of judicial discretion to be determined by the Court according to the circumstances of the case, and the exercise of this like other matters of judicial discretion, will rarely be interfered with by an appellate tribunal. To induce the Appellate Court to interfere it is necessary to show some overwhelming objection in point of propriety or some fatal objection in principle to the person named. It is a settled rule that one of the parties to a cause shall not be appointed Receiver without the consent of the other party unless a very special case is made. Residence beyond jurisdiction is not by itself a fatal objection, but when a non resident is appointed Receiver, there must be adequate guarantees that he will be subject to the effective control of the Court. Residence at a great distance from the property which is to be subject to his management and control, while not regarded as an absolute disqualification for the office, is an important circumstance to be taken into consideration. Where amongst two rival claimants for appointment as guardian of a minor's property, the appointment of one by the District Judge was set aside on the ground of irregularities, and the District Judge was asked to reconsider the matter and the District Judge, pending trial, appointed the same individual Receiver under sub s (1) of s 12 of the Guardians and Wards Act, although he was a resident outside the Judge's jurisdiction and no security was taken from him Held, in revision, that the appointment was bad and should be set aside *KALI KUMARI v. BARNABY SIVON (1913)

17 C. W. N. 974

15. — Pending proceeding for appointment of Common Manager—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 53 100—Fid. cause for appointment—Selection of Receiver—High Court, when will interfere with—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XL r 1 The fact that an application for the appointment of a Common Manager of the property in suit is pending before the District Judge does not preclude the Subordinate Judge before whom the suit is pending from appointing a Receiver in a proper case. The Eastern Mortgage and Agency Co. v. Poken Khatri, 16 C. W. N. 397, followed Where it was common ground that no one was in effective possession of the property and in a position to collect the rents and pay the Government revenue, the Court could hardly go wrong, in appointing a Receiver. The trying Court's selection of a Receiver will not be set aside in appeal except in an extreme case, i.e., unless there be some overwhelming objection in point of propriety or choice or some fatal objection in principle. Cookes v Cookes, 2 DeG J & S 526, followed. JIBANESSA KHATUN v MAJIDUNESSA KHATUN (1913) 17 C. W. N. 581

RECEIVER—contd.

16. ———— Suit by present against former Receivers—Whether maintainable. A suit was instituted by the present receivers of an estate against the former receivers (before the accounts of the latter have been passed by the Court) for the recovery of a certain sum which the plaintiffs alleged the defendants had failed to realise on behalf of the estate. Held, that no such suit was maintainable. K. B. DUTT v SHAMAL DROVE DUTT (1913) I. L. R. 41 Cal. 92

17. ———— Partition suit—Defendant in sole occupation, though plaintiff not altogether excluded—Court, if may appoint a Receiver and when—Party to a suit when may be appointed. The Court has jurisdiction to appoint a Receiver until the hearing of a partition action or until further orders, even though there is no exclusive occupation by any party, and the Court will not hesitate to do so whenever it is just and convenient. The case for the appointment of a Receiver is much stronger if a party to the partition action is in sole occupation. In such a case any other party may obtain a Receiver either of his share of the rents and profits or of the whole estate. The Court may also allow the party in exclusive occupation to elect to pay to the others an occupation rent, or the Court may require security from the co-owner in exclusive occupation to account for their share of the rents to the other co-owners. Held, that in the circumstances of the present case the second of the four alternative courses, viz., appointment of a Receiver of the whole estate was the proper one to adopt. One of the parties to a litigation should not ordinarily be appointed a Receiver except in very exceptional circumstances. In the special circumstances of this case, the defendant in possession was appointed Receiver of the whole estate subject to conditions. SUPRASANNA ROY v URENDRA NARAYAN ROY (1913) 19 C. W. N. 533

18. ———— Property in possession of defendant—if may be taken over—Object of appointment. Where the plaintiff sued to recover property in the possession of his adoptive mother and the suit was resisted, inter alia, on the ground that the defendant was entitled to retain possession of the estate for her life. Held, that O. XL, r 1 (2), which clearly refers to a case of removal of property from the possession or custody of a person other than the parties to the suit, was no bar to the appointment of a Receiver on the application of plaintiff when it was established that the estate was being grossly mismanaged by the defendant. The effect of the appointment of a Receiver would not be to prejudice the case in any way as the only object and effect of so doing would be to maintain the estate in its present condition during the pendency of the suit. SATYA NARAYAN SINGH v KENDRAHAR KENDRAHAR (1913) 215 C. W. N. 537

19. ———— Suit by—Sue by one against the other, if maintainable—Objection to suit, when to be taken—Contempt of Court. A Receiver is an officer of the Court and the possession by him is the possession of the Court, and to bring a suit so as to interfere with the possession of the Court without the leave of the Court, is a contempt of Court. But if a party is guilty of contempt of Court the proper way for the Receiver to act is to bring it immediately to the notice of the Court so that proper steps may be taken against the party guilty of contempt, and, in a proper case, the Court would grant a party leave to proceed with the suit. But it is not proper for the Receiver to wait till the day of hearing and put this objection forward as a ground for dismissing the suit. Where, by consent, in a partition suit two of the parties were made Receivers of different portions of the property with full powers under s. 503 of Act XIV of 1882. Held, that each of the Receivers had power to bring and defend suits, and a suit by one against the other without leave specially obtained from Court did not amount to such a grave and serious contempt of Court by the plaintiff as to merit dismissal. Pranathath v Aithranath, I L R 32 Cal. 270 s. c. 9 C. W. N. 247, referred to. SATYA KRISHNA BAWERJEE v SATYA BHUPAL BAWERJEE (1913) 18 C. W. N. 546

RECEIVER—contd.

20. ———— Partition—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. XL, r 1, cl (d)—Indian Trusts Act (XXV of 1886), s. 8, 20, 32. In a partition suit in which a receiver is authorised to sell properties including the share of an infant as declared in the decree, the Court may direct the receiver to convey the properties. Under O. XL, r 1, cl (d) of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) the Court may confer on a receiver all such powers for the realization of properties and the execution of documents as the owner has. BAJIR ALI v HATIZ NAJIB ALI (1916) 19 C. W. N. 817

21. ———— Suit by, for possession of immovable property. The plaintiffs were the receivers of the estate of one G who died leaving two widows A and V. On the 6th August 1906, one of the co-widows (V) brought a suit for a declaration that she was entitled to a half share in the estate of G and prayed that the properties might be partitioned and her share allotted to her. In this suit, the plaintiffs were appointed receivers with all the powers provided under O. XL, r 1, cl (d) of the Civil Procedure Code. It was further ordered that the receivers should have power to bring and defend suits in their own names and also should have power to sue the names of the plaintiff and the defendant. The plaintiffs instituted the present suit to recover possession of a certain immovable property and for a declaration that a lease, dated 16th September 1906, purporting to have been executed by N by virtue of which the defendant claimed to be a permanent tenant was void and inoperative. Subsequent to the institution of the present suit an order was made in the suit in which the plaintiffs were appointed receivers that the plaintiffs as receivers be at liberty to continue the present suit. It appeared that proceedings under the Lunacy Act were instituted in November 1908, and in these proceedings the District Judge, on the 24th September 1917, held that A was of unsound mind and incapable of managing her affairs. Held, that ordinarily a suit to recover possession of property can only be brought by him in whom there is a present title to it and by his appointment no present title becomes vested in a receiver. But this rule like all others is subject to modification by the legislature and the Code of Civil Procedure, in O XL, r 1, empowers the Court to confer upon a receiver all such powers as to bringing and defending suits as the owner himself has. That the co-widows of G were the present owners of the property and the suit in which the receivers had been appointed comprised that property. The receivers therefore were as competent to bring the present suit as the owners would have been. That the omission of the plaintiffs to get leave, in the suit in which they were appointed receivers to institute the present suit may have consequences adverse to them in that suit, but it cannot affect their power to bring the present suit. CASIM MANOOJI v K. B. DUTT AND P. CHAUDHURI (1914)

RECEIVER—contd.

10 C W N 45

22. ———— Sale by—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XL, r 1—Receiver, authority of, to sell property and execute the conveyance including share of infant defendant—Practice—Trustees Act (XV of 1886), ss 3, 20 and 22. In a partition suit in which a Receiver is authorised to sell properties, there can be no difficulty in directing him to convey the properties. Under O XL, r 1, cl (d) of the Code, the Court may confer on a Receiver all such powers for the realisation of properties and the execution of documents as the owner has. The Receiver may be, therefore, directed to execute a conveyance including the share of an infant defendant. In all cases whether by the Court or under the Court or by direction of the Court out of Court the purchaser is bound to satisfy himself of the value, quantity and title of the thing sold, just as much as if he were purchasing the same under a private contract. The sale certificate does not transfer the title. It is evidence of the transfer. Misatoonnenna Dibbe v Khaliounessa Dibbe I L R 21 Cal 479 Goleem Hussein Cassim driff v Fatima Begum, 16 C W N 391 and Davis v Ingram, (1897) 1 CA 477, referred to. BASIR ALI v HAFIZ NAZIR ALI (1915).

I L R 43 Cal 124

23. ———— Order relating to remove—If appealable—Resignation of one of two joint receivers, if terminates order appointing Receiver no appeal lies against an order refusing to remove a Receiver who has already been appointed. Where two persons were appointed joint Receivers to an estate, the order appointing them did not come to an end on the resignation of one of them so as to leave the estate without a Receiver and without the protection for which a Receiver is, in fact, appointed. EASTERN MORTGAGE AND AGENCY CO., LTD v FREEMANANDA SARA (1914)

20 C. W. N 789

24. ———— Irregular appointment of—Sue brought by such Receiver under authorisation of Court, if maintainable—Property of the Receiver's appointment if can be challenged in the suit. In a suit pending in the lower Court the High Court in appeal directed the appointment of a Receiver on taking proper security. The Lower Court appointed a Receiver but took no security and authorised him to bring a suit against the respondent which was done. The suit was dismissed on the ground of invalidity of the Receiver's appointment. Held, that an order which is erroneous in law is not necessarily an order made without jurisdiction and the order for the appointment of the Receiver was operative in law. That the propriety of an order or decree made in a cause in which the Court has jurisdiction cannot be challenged collaterally and the Lower Court was wrong in dismissing the suit on the ground that the Receiver was not competent to maintain in the action. BHAIRAB CHANDRA DUTT v NANDIRAM AKKARI (1917)

RECEIVER—contd

I L R. 46 Cal 70
22 C W N. 520

25. ———— Order appointing a receiver without naming anybody—Appealability of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XL, r 1 and O XLIII, r 1. Held by the Full Bench (STEWART, J., contra) that an order of a Court that a receiver should be appointed in a case without appointing anybody by name as receiver and adjourning the case to a later date for so appointing one is an order under O XL, r 1 and is appealable under O XLIII, r 1 (a), Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). Senkalanam v Stridavamma, I L R 10 Mad 179, applied. Upendra Nath Nag Chowdry v Bhupendra Nath Nag Chowdry, 13 C. L. J 157, and Srinivas Prasad Singh v Aello Prasad Singh, 14 C. L. J 489, dissented from. Per STEWART, J.—Such an order is not appealable being only an interlocutory and not a final order. The test of whether an order is appealable is to see whether it completely disposes of the petition for appointing a receiver or not. If anything remains to be done in the petition, the order passed on it is not a final one and is not appealable. PALANIAPPA CHETTI v PALANIAPPA CHETTI (1916)

I L R. 40 Mad 18

26. ———— Prosecution of—Receiver for criminal breach of trust without leave of the Court—Criminal breach of trust—Person not entrusted with property—Removal of labels from bales of jute whether such offence in respect of the jute—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 406. A receiver appointed by the High Court, who has, under its order, taken possession of property, to wit, certain bales of jute, cannot be prosecuted for criminal breach of trust in respect of the same without first obtaining the leave of the Court. If the owner has any cause of complaint as to the delivery by the receiver of such property under a subsequent order of the Court, it is his duty to bring the matter to its notice for decision as to the proper course to be followed, that is whether it should deal with the matter itself or send it for disposal to the Magistrate. Aston v Heron 2 M & K 350, approved. Agendra Nath Srimany v Jogendra Nath Srimany 13 Cr L J 491, distinguished. A person who has never been entrusted with property cannot be convicted of criminal breach of trust in respect of it. The mere removal of a person's labels from his bales of jute is not criminal breach of trust of the jute. SANTOK CHAND v EMPFORS (1918)

I L R. 46 Cal 432

27. ———— Suit by—Leave of Court—Simultaneous appointment of Receivers by different Courts—Jurisdiction—Practice. In a suit instituted by a Receiver, who did not first obtain leave of Court, but who subsequently obtained leave to continue the proceedings: Held, that the failure to obtain leave prior to the institution of suit was cured by subsequent leave Pramatha Nath Gangooly v Khatra Nath Banerjee, 1 L R 32 Calc 270, not followed Miller v Ram Ramyan Chakravarti 1 L R 10 Calc. 1014, Dunne v Kumar Chandra Kisor, 1 L P 30 Calc 593, Banku Behari Dey v Harendra Nath Mukerjee, 15 C W N 54, Sarat Chandra Banerjee v Apurba Krishna Roy, 15 C W N 925, Maharaja of Burdwan v Apurba Krishna Roy, 15 C W N 872, Atson v Hiron, 2 My & K 390, and Gowar v Bennett, 9 L T 310, referred to RUSTOMJEE DHANJIBHAI SETHNA v FREDERIC GAEBELE (1918)

RECEIVER—contd

1 L R 46 Calc 352

28. ———— Security not furnished by Receiver—Dismissal of suit—Jurisdiction of Court In pursuance of an order of the High Court directing him to appoint a Receiver who was required to furnish security, the Subordinate Judge appointed the plaintiff as Receiver and authorised him to bring and defend suits in his own name. In consequence thereof the plaintiff instituted a suit, which was dismissed by the Subordinate Judge on the ground that the Receiver was not competent to maintain the action because as he had not furnished security, his appointment was inoperative in law. Held, that the propriety of an order or decree made in a cause in which the Court had jurisdiction could not be challenged collaterally. This general principle applied to an order for the appointment of a Receiver by a Court of competent jurisdiction. Held also, that in the present case the order of the Subordinate Judge was not conditional but absolute in its terms and took immediate effect. It could not be maintained that an order which was erroneous in law was necessarily an order made without jurisdiction. Greenwall v Wilson, 52 Kan, 109, 34 Pac 493, referred to Edwards v Edwards, 2 Ch D 291, distinguished. BIHAR CHANDRA DUTT v NANDIRAM AGRAWA (1917)

1 L R. 48 Calc. 70

29. ———— Possession of—When may be disturbed without leave in case of third persons—Creditor, whether can proceed in execution—Receiver's property sale of, under execution issued by another Court, how may be avoided. The rule that the possession of a Receiver may not be disturbed without leave does not apply, so far as third persons are concerned, until a Receiver has been actually appointed and is in possession. It is not enough that an order has been made directing the appointment of a receiver. Until the appointment has been perfected and the Receiver is actually in possession, a creditor is not debarred from proceeding to execution. The order appointing a Receiver is for the benefit of the parties to the action, it does not affect third persons until the appointment is complete and perfected. Property in the hands of a Receiver is exempt from judicial process and the purchaser of such property at an execution sale buys at his peril for the sale may be cancelled upon an application to the execution Court; in other words where property is in the custody of a Receiver appointed by a Court, a sale under an execution issued by another Court may be avoided by an appropriate process. HANAI LAL JALAN v MANDU BIRI (1919)

23 C. W. N 252

30. ———— Suit against—Application for leave to sue general principles applicable to—Right

RECEIVER—conts

of applicant to an enquiry—Refusal to hear ex parte—Material irregularity—Revision—Code of Civil Procedure (Act I of 1908), s 115—Superintendence, High Court's powers of—Government of India Act (5 and 6 Geo F. 61) s 107 In India there is no statutory provision which requires a party to take the leave of the Court to sue a Receiver and the grant of such leave is made not in the exercise of any power conferred by statute but in exercise of the Court's inherent powers. The general principle applying to an application to sue a Receiver in respect of properties in charge of the Court, is that unless the Court is satisfied that there is no question to try or there is no legal foundation to the claim, leave should be granted as a matter of course. The onus is strongly on the Court to show that no foundation for any claim has been made out. The applicant is entitled to an enquiry upon the materials furnished by the parties and if he so desires, is entitled to ask the Court to take evidence if the Court is not inclined to give leave as a matter of course. An ex parte application or an application to a Court for leave to sue a Receiver is covered by s 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The High Court is entitled in exercise of its powers of superintendence, to correct and supervise subordinate Courts whenever they appear to have wrongly exercised their inherent powers. The High Court will always exercise its powers of superintendence when it appears that there has been something in the nature of a denial of the right to a fair trial. If a Court, which has jurisdiction to try a suit declines to go into evidence when required to do so, but merely proceeds to dispose of the suit upon the pleadings or upon allegations made in a petition, that is a material irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction, which is reversible under s 115. In such a case the High Court has also power to interfere under s 107 of the Government of India Act 1915. BRAJA BHUSAN TRIGUNAIT, v SRISCHANDRA TEWARI 4 Pat L J. 20

31. ———— Appeal against appointment—Power of Appellate Court to stay proceeding without taking security—Procedure, question of, is not a question of jurisdiction—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s 115 and O XLI, r 5 (3) (c) In an appeal against the appointment of a Receiver the Appellate Court ordered the proceedings in connection with the appointment to be stayed pending the hearing of the appeal. When this order was communicated to the first Court, the Receiver reported that he had already taken charge of the garden in dispute and appointed watchmen to guard the property. The first Court sent the Receiver with his report to the Appellate Court, who ordered that "the Receiver is discharged." Held, (i) that the order was, in effect, not an order of discharge, but a direction to the Receiver not to take any steps in regard to or exercise any dominion over, the property till further orders in the appeal, (ii) that the Appellate Court, in not hearing the opposite party, may have committed an error of procedure but as there was no defect in jurisdiction, the High Court had no power to interfere under s 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. Where a Receiver is appointed by a writ, and an appeal is preferred against the appointment, it is competent to the Appellate Court either to stop the issue of the writ pending the appeal, or if the writ has been issued to direct the Receiver through the Court which appointed him not to take any steps in compliance with the writ of appointment. In the latter case O XL, r 5 (3) does not apply and so security need be taken under sub-sec (3) (c) MULCHAND SINGH v TARNI PRASAD 4 Pat L J 642

RECEIVER—contd.

32. — Appointment of new Receiver after dismissal of suit—Id id of Code of Civil Procedure (Act I of 1908) O XL r 1 (a). A s it against several defendants in which a Receiver had been appointed was dismissed after a compromise with defendant No 1 had been effected. Two of the other defendants objected to the discharge of the Receiver who had been appointed to the estate of defendant No. 1 and an order was passed continuing the appointment. In point of fact however a fresh Receiver was appointed. Held that the order appointing a fresh Receiver was without jurisdiction. The power conferred on the Court by O XL, r 1 (a) to appoint a Receiver of any property whether before or after the decree refers only to the appointment of a Receiver in respect of the property in regard to which litigation is pending i.e. as long as the suit remains pendens, the function of the Receiver will continue until he is discharged by the Court. Although the dismissal of a suit may in some cases mean the discharge of the Receiver still the Court has jurisdiction over the Receiver who is an officer of the Court and the Court may require him to furnish accounts to allow parties to examine accounts and to deal with all matters connected with the management of the Receiver. (MANDARHARAN PRASAD NARAIN SINGH v BISHWAS PRATAP NARAIN SARI 5 Pat L J 513)

33. — Liability to account. A Receiver is not liable to account for any period other than that for which he is appointed. An appeal does not lie from an order directing submission of accounts. (SAMANTHA SINGH v BILGAWAR SINGH 5 Pat L J 37)

34. — Whether appointment of Receiver stays execution. An order appointing a Receiver does not stay execution of the decree against the debtor so as to disentitle the decree holder for executing the decree in any manner provided by the Civil Procedure Code even when appointed with consent of decree holder. Where a party seeks a particular relief and the matter is settled by a consent decree not giving that relief it must be presumed that such relief was refused and claimant is stopped for subsequently claiming that relief. (MAHARAJADHIRAJ SIB RAMSINGH SINGH MALADWA v HITENDRA SINGH 6 Pat L J 293)

35. — General principle summary appointment of. The Code of Civil Procedure does not confer an unlimited power on the Court to appoint a Receiver. It is an Equitable Relief and should only be granted on equitable grounds the first essential condition precedent by that the applicant need show that he has an interest in the property effected and a simple contract creditor has no such interest unless he can show he has a right to be paid out of the particular property concerned. (RAJ BHADUR PRITTI CHAND LAL CHAUDHARI v KUMAR KALIKAND SINGH 6 Pat L J 306)

RECEIVER—contd.

36. — Dismissal of objection to appointment of—1st part—Code of Civil Procedure (Act I of 1908) s 115 and O XL r 1. An order dismissing an objection to the appointment of a Receiver of property of which the objector is in possession falls within O XL, r 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 and is appealable. (AGABEG v MESSAKAT SYEDARI 3 Pat L J 573)

36 (a). — Court's discretion to appoint. Under O 40 r 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court has been given precisely the same discretion in questions of appointment of a receiver that the Courts in England have. The condition in the old Code that to justify such appointment in any case it should be found necessary to preserve property from waste and alienation having been removed there has been a substantial widening of the Court's discretion. Where therefore in a suit for partition of joint family property it was proved that a co owner admittedly entitled to a half share in a considerable portion of the properties in suit was being kept out of possession by the co owner, with the result that all supplies were cut off from his branch of the family. Held, that although no case of waste might have been established against the co owner in possession the case was eminently a proper one for the appointment of a receiver. (RUNJI RAM AND OTHERS v SALIGRAM 14 C W. N 248)

37. — Appointment of by one Court, whether can be restrained by another Court. Held that one Subordinate Court has no power to restrain the action of another subordinate Court with co-ordinate powers. Therefore when a Subordinate Judge had appointed a Receiver it was held that it was not competent for another Subordinate Judge to restrain the Receiver from taking possession of a part of the property in respect of which the Receiver had been appointed. (CHANDRANATH KEDARNATH THAKUR v MAHMOOD ALI KHAN 6 Pat L J 288)

38. — Possession of receiver in mortgage suit, for whose benefit—Receiver, if can be appointed at the instance of mortgagee not entitled to possession. Possession of a receiver in a mortgage suit is prima facie for the benefit of the party who has obtained the appointment. (Penny v Todd, 26 W R (Eng) 502, followed. A second mortgagee in whose presence the order for appointment of a receiver in a mortgage suit by the first mortgagee, is made, is not entitled to avoid the consequences of the order of appointment because he has obtained a decree on his mortgage and has purchased the equity of redemption in execution of that decree. Whether a mortgagee is or is not entitled to possession he may invite the Court to appoint a receiver, if the demands of justice require that the mortgagor should be deprived of possession. (1st gauri Penabata Rajagopala Suryawar Bahadur v K Bawa Reddy (1914) Mad W A 771 Herbert v Greene 31r Ch Rep 270 Weatherall v Eastern Mortgage Agency Co 73 C L J 425 and Eastern Mortgage and Agency Co v Fakaruddin 17 C W A 16 referred to RAMSINGH SINGH v CHUNI LAL SHARMA (1919) L L R 47 Cal 418)

39. — Suit against—Sanction of Court for institution of the suit—Want of previous sanction—Effect of—Jurisdiction, whether affected—

RECEIVER—contd.

Sanction, subsequently obtained—Illegality whether cured Where a suit is instituted against a Receiver appointed by a Court, without obtaining the previous sanction of that Court, the omission to obtain such sanction does not affect the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is laid, but is an illegality which can be effectively cured by the plaintiff obtaining the sanction during the course of the litigation. Banku Bihari Dey v. Harendra Nath Mukerjee, (1916) 15 C. W. N. 64 and Jagan Tarini Das v. Naba Gopal Chaki, (1907) I. L. R. 34 Calc. 305, followed. AMRUKUTTY v. MANAVIKRAMAN (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 793

40. ———— Rent decree obtained by, after conditional order of discharge made by Court, but not carried out and before the decree embodying order of discharge was signed by the Judge—Receiver, if bound to disclose to Court order of discharge in such circumstances—Devolution of interest pending suit—No application for substitution—Decree passed in favour of original party, if bad In a rent suit instituted by the receiver of an estate as such a decree was obtained after an order discharging the receiver on certain conditions had been made by the Court. It appeared, however, that on the date the rent decree was made the order of discharge had not been in fact carried out nor was the decree embodying the said order signed by the Judge who passed it. The receiver was in possession as before and he was subsequently continued as such by the order of the Appellate Court: Held, that it was not established that the receiver was in fact and law discharged on the date of the rent decree nor was it proved that there was fraud such as would entitle the plaintiff to maintain a suit to have the decrees set aside. That it was not shown that there was in fact and in law such a discharge as it was incumbent upon the receiver to disclose before the Court. That, assuming that the receiver was discharged before the decree was passed, there was only a devolution pending the suit, and the decree made in favour of the receiver would not on that account be a bad decree but would ensure for the benefit of the party on whom the interest devolved, such party not having applied for the carriage of the proceedings. DEVI DEBAR BOSE v. MR. H. F. BAYERLEE

26 C. W. N. 381

41. ———— Teshildar appointed by The owners of an estate brought a suit for account against a Teshildar of their estate who had been appointed by a Receiver who had been in charge of the estate under an order of Court but had since been discharged: Held, that a suit was not maintainable. Such a suit can be sustained only on proof of fiduciary relation between the parties. But the Receiver is not a representative of the owner; he is an officer of the Court. Hence an officer appointed by the Receiver does not stand in the same position as an officer appointed by the owner. Although a Receiver has been discharged, it is still open to the party entitled to re-charge him in his accounts and obtain relief against him; and a suit may be maintained against the Receiver if it is established that he has monies belonging to the estate still in his hands, notwithstanding his discharge. HANUMAN MOOKERJEE v. JANARUDIN MANDAL

26 C. W. N. 993

RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY.See ALTREFOIS ACQUIT

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 727

RECIPROCAL PROMISES.See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIII, P. 3

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 959

RECISION OF CONTRACT.See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) FOR I, ART. 93

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 158

RECITAL.See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 35 All. 194
See DEED.See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 186

See LEASE I. L. R. 42 Bom. 103RECOGNITION.See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 700

RE-CONSTRUCTION.See BUILDING I. L. R. 39 Calc. 84See DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT (POM III OF 1901), ss. 3 (7), 26

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 412

RECONVERSION.See MAHOMYDAN LAW—BIGAMY

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 409

RE-CONVEYANCE.See REGISTRATION ACT (1877) s. 17

14 C. W. N. 703

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 703

RECORD.

——— alteration of—

See SARAD, CONSTRUCTION OF

I. L. R. 16 Bom. 639

——— procedure when, lost—

See JUDGMENT I. L. R. 33 Mad. 409 ——— unnecessary printing of—

See COSTS L. R. 46 I. A. 299

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 415

——— Special Tribunal—Cakutta Improvement Act (Beng. I of 1911), s. 71, cl. (c)—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), s. 53—Practitioner The power to call for records is a power which is undoubtedly inherent in the Judge of a Land Acquisition Court and consequently in the Special Tribunal constituted under the Cakutta Improvement Act. Gopal Coomary Dasari v. Fapi Sundar Narain Das, 4 C. L. R. 35, followed. HARESH CHANDRA BOSE v. HIRA LAL BOSE (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 223

RECORDED PROPRIETORS.See ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 331

RECORDED TENANT.See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 29 Calc. 932

RECORD OF RIGHTS.See PYSCAL TENANCY ACT (VIII OF 1933), ss. 103B AND 104H.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 90

RECORD OF RIGHTS—contd

- See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s 102
 s 103 . . . 14 C. W. N. 812
 s 111 . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 479
 See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE,
 1879, s 135 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1339

- See COURT FEES ACT, 1870—
 s 7 . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 302
 s 17 . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 299
 See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), s 193 (f), (c)
 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 310

- See ENHANCEMENT OF RENTS
 2 Pat. L. J. 124
 See LIMITATION . . . 23 C. W. N. 831

correctness of—

- See BENGAL TENANCY ACT—
 ss 5, 103B . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 805
 s 105 . . . 14 C. W. N. 897
 s 106 . . . 14 C. W. N. 894

- See CENTRAL PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT—
 s 78 . . . 14 C. W. N. 886

erroneous entries—

- See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s 106.
 14 C. W. N. 897
 See LANDLORD AND TENANT,
 I. L. R. 37 Calc. 30

effect of—

- See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT
 2 Pat. L. J. 124
 See ROAD CENS ACT, 1880, s. 20
 1 Pat. L. J. 521

entry in—

- See COURT FEES . . . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 352 presumption as to correctness of entries in—

- See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879,
 s 135 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 214

suit for alteration of—

- See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 111A.
 1 Pat. L. J. 73
 See SANTAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT
REGULATION, 1872, ss 11, 24.
 6 Pat. L. J. 373

Presumption of correctness of—Finding of lower Appellate Court as to whether presumption rebutted not liable to be disturbed on second appeal. In the record of rights the defendants were stated to be settled raiyats with liability to have their rents assessed. In a suit by the landlord for rent on declaration of title the first Court found that the suit was barred by limitation and adverse possession from an assertion of the defendant's right during the publication of the record of rights. The lower Appellate Court reversed this finding and held that the presumption as to the correctness of the record was not rebutted. Held, that the lower Appellate Court was entitled on the question of fact to hold that the mere fact that this adverse claim had been made was not sufficient to show that the entry in the finally published record was wrong and this finding was not liable to be challenged in second appeal. GOLK CHANDRA CHUCKERBORTY v. BHENDRO KISHORE MASTKYA (1917) . . . 22 C. W. N. 449

RECORD OF RIGHTS—contd

Non-agricultural lands—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s 105. S 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act has no application to non-agricultural lands situated in a mofussil municipality. BIRPRADAS PAL CHOWDHRY v. AZAM OSTAGAN (1918) . . . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 441

Entry in, showing land khudkash—Suit for declaration of right of possession claiming land as khudkash—Onus on defence to show that land not such. The plaintiff sued for declaration of their right to possession of lands which they claimed as khudkash. The record of rights showed that the lands were khudkash. Held, that the onus was on the defendant to show that the entry was wrong. GAJADHAR PRASAD SINGH v. SHEO NARAYAN PRASAD SINGH (1918) . . . 23 C. W. N. 304

Suit for declaration that entry in is erroneous—Limitation. A was the sole owner of certain plots of land. His brother in law B had the lands recorded as being held in joint tenancy by himself and A. A took no step to have the erroneous entry corrected and B made no attempt to derive material benefit from it. B instituted a suit in the Small Cause Court claiming to participate in the profits of the land. Held, that a suit by A within six years of the receipt of the summons in the Small Cause Court suit, for a declaration that A was the sole owner of the land was within time. MOULVI ALAUDDIN v. BISHU BANUNNISA

2 Pat. L. J. 357

Suit for alteration in second of two records of rights—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art 129—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 106 and 111A. Where there are two consecutive finally published records of rights it is competent to a party aggrieved by the second record of rights to ask for a declaration in respect of that second record of rights without displacing any prejudicial entries in the first record of rights. A person who has acquired a title by adverse possession is not bound to sue for a declaration that he has acquired such title. In the record of rights, finally published in 1889, the defendants were shown as being in possession of land some of which the plaintiff had purchased from the talukdar and to some of which he had acquired prescriptive title which was perfected in 1897. The plaintiff, however, remained in possession, but did not sue for a declaration of his title. In the record of rights finally published in 1906 the defendants were again shown as being in possession of the land. On the 11th January, 1907, the plaintiff instituted the present suit for a declaration that the entry in the record of rights of 1906 was incorrect. It was pleaded that the suit, so far as it concerned the land purchased from the talukdar, not having been brought within six years of the publication of the record of rights of 1889, and so far as it concerned the remainder of the land, not having been brought within six years of 1907, was barred by limitation.

RECORD OF RIGHTS—contd

tion Held that the suit was within time SREKSH LATAPAT HOSAIN v KUMAR GANGAKAND SINGH
3 Pat. L. J. 361

Effect of entry in An entry in a record of right has the same effect as between landlords of neighbouring estates as between landlord and tenant and must be presumed correct until the contrary is proved. A survey is an indispensable necessity for a preparation of a record of right under s 101 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. MUSAMMAT BIBI WAKILAW v DEOVANDAN PROSAD 5 Pat. L. J. 681

"Settlement of rent"—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 105, 106, 113. A rectification of the record of rights under s 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act as regards the existing rent cannot be said to be a settlement of rent so as to preclude a suit under s 113 of the Act. ES 105 and 105A of the Act contemplate settlement of rent and not s 106 MANINDRA CHANDRA NANDIA v UPENDRA CHANDRA HAZRA (1920) I. L. R. 47 Cal. 1006

RECORDING OFFICER.

See KHOTI SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM ACT I OF 1880), s 21

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 469

RECOUPMENT.

See LAND ACQUISITION

I. L. R. 47 Cal. 500

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 219

Powers under Calcutta Improvement Act (Beng V of 1911) ss 2, 3, 36, 37, 39, 41, 42 (a), 49 (1), 69, 71(b), 78, 81, 89, 123, Sch. cl. 13—"Betterment"—"Affect"—Lands Clauses Consolidation Act 1815 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 18), ss 63, 65—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), ss 6, 9, 23 (1) (3) 24 (6), 48—House and Town Planning Act 1909 (9 Edw. VII, c. 44) s 53 (3)—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899), s 337 (2)—Bombay City Improvement Act (Bom. IV of 1898), ss 25, 29—Reference to Full Bench when incomplete. PER CURIAM (CHATTERJEA, J. dissenting)—The Calcutta Improvement Act does authorise the Board of Trustees to acquire land compulsorily for purposes of recoupment, "as by selling or otherwise dealing with the land under s 81 or by abandoning the land in consideration of the payment of sum under s 78. Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta v Chandra Kanta Ghosh I L R 44 Cal. 219 overruled in so far as it decides to the contrary. PER CHATTERJEA, J.—The Act does not authorise compulsory acquisition of land for the purpose of recoupment. The lands are not to be included in the scheme originally for the purpose of thereafter making profits, but if they are properly included in the scheme and subsequently found not to be required, the Board have the power to dispose of such lands. The question referred to the Full Bench did arise (CHATTERJEA, J. contra). PROSOMNO COOMAR PAUL CHOWDHRY v KOSLASH CHANDRA PAUL CHOWDHRY I L R (P. B.) 759, distinguished. The preamble does not control the enacting provisions of the Act. In s 42 (a) of Beng Act V of 1911 "affected" means affected in any way, and not merely "injuriously affected." The Metropolitan Board of Works v Owen McCarthy I L R 7 H. L. 243, explained. The words "by the execution of the scheme" used in s. 42 (a) simply mean through or owing to the execution of the scheme. Hammersmith and City Railway Co v Brand, L R 4 H. L. 171, distinguished. S 78 does not apply only "to land which was originally required for the execution of the scheme but was subsequently found to be unnecessary." PER TURNER, J.—The area fixed and sanctioned as "the area comprised in the scheme" corresponds with the "lands delineated on the plans" in England. MANT LALL SINGH v TRUSTEES FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF CALCUTTA (1917)

RECOUPMENT—contd

I L R 45 Cal. 343

RECRUITMENT.

See EMIGRATION I L R. 37 Cal. 27

See UNLAWFUL RECRUITMENT

RECTIFICATION.

—of decree—

See MISTAKE I. L. R. 43 Cal. 217

—of mortgage deed—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s 31
26 C. W. N. 36

—of instrument—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877, ss 31, 34

—of Register—

COMPANIES ACT, 1882,
ss. 58 AND 147 I L R. 40 Bom. 134

See COMPANIES ACT (VII OF 1913)—

s 38 I L R. 41 Bom. 76

See REGISTER, RECTIFICATION OF

Entry in the revenue register—Misunderstanding of an order—"Over sight"—Natural Justice—Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1879), ss 109, 197 Where an entry in the revenue register was due to a misunderstanding of a certain order Held, that the cause of the error being of the same nature as 'oversight' falling within the description of errors in s 109 of the Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1879), the rectification of the register, so as to bring it in accord with the order after hearing both parties, was not contrary to natural justice. It was a case in which the revenue officer concerned was authorised under s 197 of the said Code to dispense with any judicial or quasi-judicial inquiry. WASUDER MAHESWAR v GOVIND MAHADEV (1911) I L R. 36 Bom. 315

RECURRING CHARGE.

See MAINTENANCE ALLOWANCE.

I L R. 38 Cal. 13

REDEMPTION

See BENGAL REGULATION NO XV OF 1793 I L R. 34 All. 261

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882—

ss 13 AND 43

I L R. 33 All. 302

I L R. 32 All. 215

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

ss 11 AND 47 I L R. 42 Bom. 246

s 47, O XXI, s 2

I L R. 43 Bom. 240

ss 148, O XXXIV, s 8.

I L R. 34 All. 389

REDEMPTION—contd

O XXI & 53 4 Pat L J 336

O XXIV

See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877) SCH

II ART 143 I L R 38 All 195

ART 134 I L R 38 Bom 148

See LIMITATION ACT 1908—

ss 6 7 AND ART 144

I L R 43 Bom 487

SCH I ARTS 140 141

I L R 40 Bom 239

ARTS 181 182 I L R 43 Bom 689

See MORTGAGE.

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE

See PRACTICE

I L R 35 Bom 507

See REDEMPTION SOIT

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)

s 17 I L R 41 Bom 510

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882—

s 60 I L R 43 All 95 and 638

I L R 45 Bom 117

ss 83 84 I L R 39 All 719

ss 91 to 98

— clog on—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 60 I L R 45 Bom 117

— decree for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O. XXXIV s 8 I L R 39 All 396

— extension of time for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

O I R 10 O XXXIV s 1

I L R 45 Bom 1009

O XXXIV s 8

I L R 35 All 116

— in the Punjab—

See REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGES (PUNJAB) ACT 1913 s I L R 2 Lah 234

— mortgagee allowed interest and liable to account for mesne profits—

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS ACT 1879

s 15 I L R 44 Bom 372

— mortgagor's right to redeem when property purchased by mortgagee at Court sale and later repurchased—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 ART 134

I L R 44 Bom 849

— parties in possession claiming independently—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O. XXXIV s 1 I L R 44 Bom 698

— transfer by mortgagee effect of—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 ARTS 134 AND 145 I L R 43 Bom 614

— right to—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 91 I L R 39 All 533

See MORTGAGE I L R 39 Calc 828

REDEMPTION—contd

— suit for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE ACT 1908—ss 2 97 O XXVI RR 11 12 (2)

I L R 38 Bom 392

s 11 EXPT I L R 35 Bom 507

ss 11 47 I L R 39 Bom 41

s 4 O XXI RR 100 101

I L R 40 Mad 964

See COMMISSIONER

I L R 41 Bom 719

See COMPROMISE I L R 42 Calc 801

See DECREE I L R 34 Bom 280

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS' FRIED ACT (XVII OF 1879)—

I L R 35 Bom 204

I L R 40 Bom 483

ss 2 (2) 10A I L R 33 Bom 18 ss 3 (a) 1^o I L R 40 Bom 655

s 10(a) I L R 35 Bom 231

s 13 I L R 39 Bom 587

ss 13 15D 16 I L R 39 Bom 73

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT (III OF 1873) s 12 13

I L R 39 Mad 447

See Mortgage 14 C W N 1001

I L R 47 Calc 377

I L R 48 Calc 22

I L R 39 All 423

I L R 43 Bom 334

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE

I L R 43 Bom 357

See REGULATION (XVII OF 1806) s 8

I L R 40 All 387

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (1938)—

ss 60 67 93 I L R 38 Mad 310

ss 60 AND 91 I L R 38 Mad 896

Civil Procedure Code (1877) s 583—Decree for redemption reversed on appeal—Restitution—Jurisdiction of Court to which application for restitution is made to award mesne profits which are not given by Appellate Court decree—Suit to redeem A mortgagor sued for redemption of a usufructuary mortgage and obtained a decree from the Subordinate Judge under which on payment of the sum decreed to the mortgagee he was put in possession of the mortgaged property but the mortgagee appealed to the High Court which increased the amount payable on redemption by a sum which the mortgagor failed to pay and the mortgagee thereupon applied to the Subordinate Judge for possession and for mesne profits for the period during which he had been out of possession. Held (upholding the decisions of the Courts in Ind a) that the Subordinate Judge had power under s 583 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1877 to award mesne profits although they had not been expressly given by the decree of the High Court. If the decree was wrong the parties aggrieved had the remedy either by appeal to the High Court or by an application for revision. The proceedings taken under the decree of the Subordinate Judge culminating in the sale at which the mortgagee reported to purchase the equity of redemption were valid and the appellant an assignee of the rights of the mortgagor, was held not entitled to redeem PARBHU DAYAL v. MAHBUL AHMAD (1915) . I. L. R. 33 ALL 163

REDEMPTION—contd

Suit for—Limitation.
The plaintiffs were Mistashara sons. At a sale in execution of a decree upon four mortgages against their father, the mortgagee, defendants in the present suit, bought the property now in suit. The plaintiffs were not parties to the suits upon the mortgages. Several years after the auction sale they instituted the present suit for an account and to redeem. Held, that the first step necessary for redemption is a declaration that the sale should be set aside, that the period of limitation to set aside a sale is one year, and that, therefore, the suits were barred by Art 12 of the Limitation Act, 1908. Query Whether a Mistashara son can sue to redeem even though he has been deliberately, and with notice, omitted from a suit upon a mortgage made by his father. BROLA JHA v. LALA HALI PRASAD

I Pat L. J 180

Payment of balance, whether amounts to—Transfer of Property Act (I) of 1882, ss 60, 89 and 95—Code of Civil Procedure (Act X of 1908), O XXXII, r 5 Where there have been payments in part satisfaction of a mortgage the payment of the balance due is as much a redemption as the payment of the whole sum due in a case in which there has been no previous part payment. Redemption is effected by the releasing of the security, and where the security is extinguished the property is redeemed by the act which extinguished it. S 95 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 is not limited in its scope to cases in which delivery of possession of the property itself is rendered possible by the fact that the mortgage was an usufructuary mortgage. The section is also applicable to cases of simple mortgage where the property, not being in the possession of the mortgagee, cannot be transferred to the party releasing the security. MUSAMMAT HIRA KUTER v. PAKI SINGH

3 Pat L. J 490

REDEMPTION DECREE

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 43 Bom. 703

REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGES (PUNJAB) ACT, 1913.

s. 12—Mortgage redeemed on payment of amount fixed by Collector and possession given to mortgagor—Suit by mortgagee for restoration. The defendant mortgagors applied, under Punjab Act II of 1913, to the Collector for redemption of their land, and an order was passed in their favour that possession should be given on payment of Rs 1063-0-0. Possession passed accordingly. The plaintiff mortgagee thereupon instituted the present suit for restoration of possession on the ground that a far larger sum was due under the mortgage. The first Court found that Rs. 1,957-6-6 was due to plaintiffs and that they were entitled to retain possession until they were given the full amount. This decision was upheld by the lower Appellate Court. The defendants appealed to the High Court. Held, that the provisions of s. 12 of the Redemption of Mortgages (Punjab) Act are sufficiently wide to allow a Civil Court to try any writing done by the Collector in the summary proceedings and if necessary to restore possession of the land and that the decision of the lower Courts was consequently correct. Balwant Das v. Gherna (35 P. R. 1917), distinguished. Lot Chand v. Hazar Khan (35 P. R. 1917, not followed. NIZAM DIN v. DAULAT RAM I. L. R. 2 Lah. 534 REDUCTION OF RENT.

REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGES (PUNJAB) ACT, 1913—contd

S 12—contd

See BENGAL TENANCY

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 473

RE-ENTRY.

right of—

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 415

REFERENCE.

See BOOKS OF REFERENCE.

See COSTS

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1288

See JURISDICTION

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 766

See PRACTICE

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 819

See ARBITRATION

to determine tenure of land—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1870), s. 12

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 463

*Jury trials—Power of Judge to refer the case of an accused as to whom he agrees with the verdict—Legality of procedure—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1895), s. 307 (2)—Confessions of co-accused—Corroboration—Sufficiency of circumstances raising a mere suspicion S. 307 (2) of the Criminal Procedure Code contemplates a reference only in the case of those accused as to whom the Judge declines to accept the verdict of the jury. When he agrees with them in respect of any particular accused he ought to acquit or convict and sentence the latter as the case may be. Confessions of the co-accused can be taken into consideration, but the Court requires corroboration, before acting on them. EMPEROR v. BAKAR ALI GANI (1914)*

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 759

REFERENCE BY COLLECTOR OF RANGOON

See APPEAL TO PRINCE COURTEL.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 21

REFERENCE TO ARBITRATION

See ARBITRATION.

by some of the disputing parties—

See ARBITRATION I. L. R. 37 Calc. 63

Subsequent suit—No application to stay—

See ARBITRATION

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 732

REFERENCE TO FULL BENCH

See PRECEDENT

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 343

REFERENCE TO HIGH COURT

See ACQUITTAL

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 761

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 438

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 47

REFERENCE TO HIGH COURT—contd

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS

I L R 41 Cal 682

See VERDICT OF JURY

I L R 41 Cal 621

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS ACT (VIII OF 1897)

— s 31— Youthful offender—Punishment—Powers of Courts dealing with youthful offenders S 31 of Act VIII of 1897 read with the definition of youthful offender enables practically any Court in the case of an offender under fifteen to deliver him to his parents with or without sureties for his future good behaviour EMERSON & ABDUL AZIZ (1916) I L R 39 All 141

REFUND

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM ACT III of 1901) s 2 PRO (b) AND s 65 CL 4

I L R. 45 Bom. 64

See BOMBAY CITY IMPROVEMENT TRUST ACT (BOM IV of 1898) s. 43 (11)

I L R 42 Bom 54

See UNDUE INFLUENCE

I L R 42 Cal 236

REFUND OF COURT FEE

— Appel over valuation of—Partial decree—Memorandum of appeal over valuation of—Court fee paid in excess by inadvertence—Practice. The appellant a agent having by inadvertence over paid court fee on the memorandum of appeal the High Court directed the Taxing Officer to issue the necessary certificate to enable the appellant to obtain a refund of the excess court fee from the Revenue authorities In the matter of Grant 14 W R 47 referred to HARTNAR CURU & ANANDA MAHANTY (1914) I L R 49 Cal 265

REFUND OF PURCHASE MONEY

— suit for—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 38 All 599

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I L R 37 Cal 67

REFUSAL BY JUDGE

— effect of—

See CROSS EXAMINATION

I L R 41 Cal 289

REFUSAL TO GRANT TIME

See ATTACHMENT I L R 40 Cal 105

REGISTER OF BIRTHS

— admits liability of, as evidence—

See HINDU LAW—MINOR

I L R 38 Mad 166

REGISTER OF DEATHS

— Public document—Evidence—Certified copy of entry in the Register admissibility of—Bengal Police Manual 1911 r 124—Evidence Act (I of 1872), as 35 74 and 114 A register of deaths kept by police officers at thanas under the rules made by the Local Government, is a public document" within the meaning of s 74 of the Evidence Act Under the provisions of s 114 of that Act the Court is entitled to presume that an entry made in such register was properly made and a certified copy of such entry is admissible in evidence. Namalinga Reddi v Kotayya I L R 41 Mad 28 referred to TAMBUDDIN BAKAR v TAZU (1918)

REGISTER OF DEATHS—contd

I L R 48 Cal 152

REGISTER RECTIFICATION OF

See COMPANY I L R 47 Cal 901

COMPANIES ACT 1892 ss. 58 AND 147

I L R. 40 Bom 134

See COMPANIES ACT 1913—

s 33

I L R 41 Bom 78

See RECTIFICATION

REGISTERED AND UNREGISTERED DOCUMENTS

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908),

s 30

I L R 35 All 271

REGISTERED BOND

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908)

SCH I ARTS 116 AND 60 s. 19

I L R 38 Bom 177

REGISTERED COMPANY

See COMPANY

See LIQUIDATOR I L R 43 Cal 586

REGISTERED LEASE.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) SCH I

ARTS. 110 116

I L R 37 Bom 636

See RAIYATI HOLDING

I L R 47 Cal 129

REGISTRATION

See DESIGN

I L R 45 Cal 606

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

O XVIII n. 3 I L R 33 All 75

See COMPROMISE 3 Pat L J 43

See COMPANIES ACT ss. 28 45 61

I L R 36 Bom. 557

See DESIGN I L R. 45 Cal. 606

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s. 70

I L R. 38 All. 1

See LAND REGISTRATION ACT (BENG ACT VII of 1878).

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Cal 589

I L R 48 Cal 1 & 509

See QUEEN EXERCISE ACT 1809

I L R. 42 All 422

I L R 33 All 344

See PROVIDENT INSURANCE.

I L R 42 Cal 300

See RECEIPT I L R 42 Cal 546

See REGISTRATION ACT (III of 1877)

See REGISTRATION ACT XVI of 1908

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

14 C W N 65

REGISTRATION—contd

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882—

s. 54 . . . 5 Pat L J. 715

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 313

ss. 54, 118 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 187

s. 59 . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 372

s. 107 . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 500

s. 123 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 164

See TRUSTS ACT, s. 5

I. L. R. 28 Bom. 396

See WAQFNAHA . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 609

Fraud of mortgagor unknown to mortgagee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 109

I. L. R. 42 All. 176

Lessee on a monthly rent—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 300

Presentation by agent not duly authorised—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 32

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 5

Fraudulent by mortgagor—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 109

I. L. R. 42 All. 176

effect of—

See TRADE MARK . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 204

if notice by itself—

See NOTICE . . . 25 C. W. N. 49

whether Court can go into the question of validity of the document—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 77

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 202

of receipt for purchase-money—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 17

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 25

of transfer of shares—

See COMPANY . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 363

presentation by agent—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1877, as 32 and

33 . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 487

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 5

Oral sale followed by Registered sale with notice—

See SALE . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 586

of permanent lease granted by occupancy raiyat—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1835, s. 83

25 C. W. N. 4

suit to compel—

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908)—

ss. 36, 73, 77 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 313

ss. 73, 74, 77 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 163

validity of—

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1877, s. 28.

14 C. W. N. 532

REGISTRATION—contd

want of—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 480

Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17, cl. (n)—Endorsement on a mortgage bond of payment made in satisfaction of a previous mortgage-debt—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 43—Payment by a subsequent mortgagee under s. 74 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), effect of. The endorsements on a mortgage bond of payments made in satisfaction of a mortgage, which payments did not purport to extinguish the mortgage, are covered by cl. (n) of s. 17 of the Registration Act, and as such do not require registration Jwan Ali Dey v Dasa Mal, I L R 9 All 108, and Uppalalanda Kunka Kutta Ali Haji v Kusum Mithal Kottiprath Abdul Rahman, I L R 19 Mad 228, followed HARI NARAIN BANERJEE v KUSUM KUMARI DAS (1910) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 589

Document—Variation of Terms—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 17 (d). A document which varies the amount to rent to be paid under an existing lease registered as required by s. 17 (d) of the Indian Registration Act, as also the incidents of such payments, namely, the date of payment and consequences of default of payment requires registration Durga Prasad Singh v Rajendra Narain Bagchi, I L R 37 Calc 293, approved, so far as it determines that a document embodying an agreement for reduction of rent under a previously existing lease registered, as required by s. 17 (d) of the Registration Act, requires registration LALIT MOHAN GHOSH v GOPALI CHUCK COAL COMPANY, LD (1911)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 284

Gift—Consent of donor to registration of deed of gift of immovable property not essential to validity of gift. Held, that it is not essential to the validity of a gift of immovable property that registration of the deed by which such gift is effected should be either at the instance of or with the consent of the donor Ramamirtha Ayyan v Gopala Ayyan, I L R 19 Mad 433, dissented from PARBATI v BALI NATH PATHAK (1912) . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 2

Instrument reserving at life estate to the maker, not a will—Instrument creating interest in adoptive mother—Value of the interest in excess of Rs. 100—Registration. Any instrument which confers or reserves a life-estate to the maker is not a will. A deed of adoption by which an interest is reserved to the wife of the adopter in immovable property which she otherwise would not have possessed and could not have possessed when such interest exceeds in value Rs. 100, requires registration FIRAS VALAD KASTIMBAR v GURAPPA BARAPPA (1913)

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 227

Family settlement—Distribution of family property carried out by means of mutation proceedings—Hindu law—Joint Hindu family—Representative capacity of father. The members of a Hindu family, one of whom was a minor, entered into a compromise concerning the partition of certain property in the course of mutation proceedings, and the partition agreed to was carried into effect by these proceedings. Held, that, inasmuch as the minor was represented by his father and there was no evidence of fraud or collusion, the compromise was binding on him. Held also, that the compromise did not require registration. Akoti v Puri Lal, 1 L R 33 All 50¹ referred to. DAYA SHANKAR v HIR LAL (1914) 1 L R 37 All 105

REGISTRATION—contd

Unregistered deed of relinquishment of real and personal estate for a joint consideration—Oral evidence of an agreement preceding the written instrument—Whether admissible in evidence—Indira Evidence Act, 1 of 1872, s. 91. The plaintiff-appellant sued defendant respondent, the widow of Basanta deceased, as next heir, for possession of the property left by the deceased on the grounds that she had forfeited her rights to a life estate owing to her uncharitatively. The defendant contended inter alia that the plaintiff had waived his claim to succeed to the property left by Basanta and in support of this plea put forward a document by which the plaintiff gave up all his rights in Basanta's property real and personal, on the condition that defendant paid a sum of Rs. 1000 to a gurdah. The execution of this document was admitted, but not its contents. Held that the document was inadmissible in evidence for want of registration, notwithstanding that its execution had been admitted. Satyesh Chander v Dhunpal Singh, 1 L R 21 Cal 20, and Chidambaram Chetty v Annambayalangan pally Taver, 3 Mad L C R 342, distinguished. Held also, that s. 91 of the Evidence Act rendered inadmissible oral evidence to prove that there was an oral agreement of relinquishment preceding the written document. Held further, that as the consideration could not be apportioned between the real and personal estate relinquished by the deed, the latter could not be admitted into evidence even in respect of the personal estate. Bani v Petman v Ganesh Das, 49 P 1918 followed. Muhammad Baksh v Muhammad Amir Begum, 23 P R 1918, and Sri Panipati v Sri Raja Iyer, 47 Indian Cases 363 373, 374, distinguished. BISHVCHAR LAL v MANSUMAT BHUT 1 L R. 1 Lab 436

Constructive notice—Agreement between plaintiff and the defendant's vendor by which the latter restricted the ordinary user of his property—Agreement not a covenant running with land—Agreement if indexed in the register in relation to defendant's property would be notice—Injunction. The plaintiff had entered into an agreement with defendant's vendor by which the latter agreed to a restriction of ordinary user of his property. This document was registered and on the strength of it the plaintiff sued to obtain certain reliefs by way of injunction against the defendant. Both the lower Courts decreed the plaintiff's claim on the ground that the document was registered and, therefore the defendant must be presumed to have had notice of it. Held, that the agreement not being a covenant running with the land but being merely a restrictive covenant by which the defendant's vendor restricted the ordinary user of his property, it could not be said that defendant had constructive notice unless the document was indexed in the register in relation to defendant's property. PER HATTON, J.—Registration does not necessarily give notice to anybody of anything. But if a registered document is so indexed that an inquirer anxious to ascertain whether there are documents relating to a property which he proposes to buy, can find from the index documents relating to that property, then it will be held that he has notice of those documents because if he made the enquiry, which as a prudent man he ought to make then they would come to his notice. GORDHANDAS VITHALDAS v MOHANLAL MAYEK LAL (1920) 1 L R. 45 Bom. 170

REGISTRATION—contd

REGISTRATION ACT (VIII OF 1871)

—Leave executed before reserving a yearly rent if required registration.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT

23 C W N 641

REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)

See REGISTRATION

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER

1 L R. 41 Bom 300

—effect of—

See GIFT. 1 L R. 40 Mad 204

—s. 3—

See KACULIVAT 1 L R. 39 Cal 1016

—ss. 3, 1 (d), 49—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

14 C W. N 65

—ss. 3, 17—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 375

1 L R. 33 Mad. 102

—ss. 3 and 34—Document creating right to benefits to arise out of land compulsorily registrable—Evidence, such document not admissible in, if unregistered—Possession under such document only. First defendant obtained possession of certain lands under an unregistered instrument which gave him the right to apportion future rents (over Rs. 100 in value) towards an antecedent debt due to him. Held, that the instrument created a right to benefits to arise out of land, and was compulsorily registrable under s. 17, Indian Registration Act. Benaje Bibaji Nask v Shidromapa Balapa Desai, 1 L R 19 Bom 663 followed. Miri Lal v Moshar Hussain, 1 L R. 13 Cal 96² distinguished. Banathar v Sawi Lal, 1 L R. 10 All 133, distinguished. Such a document if not registered cannot be admitted in evidence. Where defendant's possession arose only out of such an unregistered document he cannot otherwise prove that he was not a trespasser. MAYGALASWAMI v SUBBIA PILLAI (1910)

1 L R. 34 Mad 64

—ss. 3, 17, 49—Contract to sell—Agreement to lease—Evidence Act, s. 91. An agreement to execute a sub lease and to get it registered at a future date is a lease within s. 3 of the Indian Registration Act III of 1877 and is compulsorily registrable under cl. (d) of s. 17. Such an agreement to grant a lease which requires registration affects movable property and cannot be received in evidence in a suit for specific performance of such agreement. It is immaterial whether possession has passed or not in accordance with the agreement. S. 49 of the Registration Act indicates that a document should not be received in evidence even where the transaction sought to be proved does not amount to a transfer of interest in immovable property but has only created an obligation to transfer the property. NARAYAN CHETTY v NUTHIAL SWABAI (1910)

1 L R. 35 Mad. 63

REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)—contd

Deed of gift in favour of a married minor girl presented for registration by latter's father without authority from executant—Registration of gift void—Deeds void Two deeds of gift executed by K in favour of his niece A who was a minor and married to his adopted son were presented for registration by A's father and registered. Held that upon A's marriage her father ceased to be her natural guardian and never having been appointed her legal guardian was not her assignee or representative within the meaning of sec 3 of the Registration Act, 1877. Nor was he within the meaning of sec 34 of the Act the representative assignor or agent duly authorized on behalf of K. The registration of the deeds was therefore illegal invalid and void with the consequence that the deeds themselves were void and unenforceable. AMBA (alias PADMA VATHI) v. SHRINIVASA KAMATHI

28 C W N (P C) 369

s 17—

See s. 3 I L R 34 Mad 64
I L R 35 Mad. 63

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1880 s 375
I L R 34 Mad 162

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877 Sch II Arts
132 144 I L R 35 Bom 433

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT s 55
123 I L R 34 Bom 287

Registration—Adoption—Authority to adopt—Whether document a will A Hindu about three weeks before his death executed a document which was headed by a statement that it was a will in favour of the executant's wife; by it the executant after stating that he had long been seriously ill and had no issue said I have consented to your adopting a son at your pleasure and conducting the management of the estate in the best manner. None of my heirs shall have cause to raise disputes touching this matter. This will has been executed by my consent. The document was not registered. After the executant's death his widow adopted a son to him. Held that the document was merely an authority to adopt and not a will and was therefore required to be registered by the last provision in s 17 of the Indian Registration Act 1877. [Judgment of the High Court affirmed] BHEEMA DEO v. BHARAT DEO (1921)

I L R 41 Mad. (P C) 733

—cls (a), (b) and (h)—Registration Act (XVI of 1908) s 17, except (v)—Registered conveyance—Simultaneous unregistered document to reconvey—An ordinary agent sent to sell—Exemption from registration The plaintiff and the defendant agreed that plaintiff should nominally sell the property in suit out and out to the defendant and thereafter attorn to him for an amount of rent which would represent reasonable interest. A conveyance to this effect was executed and duly registered. Contemporaneously the defendant executed an agreement to the plaintiff to reconvey the property for the same consideration, namely Rs 1400 when called upon to do so. This agreement was not registered. The plaintiff having brought a suit against the defendant for the specific performance of the unregistered agreement to reconvey the lower Courts dismissed the suit on the ground that the agreement was compulsorily registrable under s 17 cls (a) and (b) of the

REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)—*contd*cls (a) (b) and (h)—contd

Registration Act (III of 1877) On second appeal by the plaintiff Held reversing the decree that the agreement did not require registration. Separated entirely from the defendant's registered conveyance plaintiff's unregistered document was nothing more than an ordinary agreement to sell and such agreements were expressly exempted from the operation of s 17 cls (a) and (b) of the Registration Act (III of 1877) by cl (h) and of s 17 of the Registration Act (XVI of 1908) by exception (v). Having regard to the form of the document as a whole it was no more than an ordinary agreement to reconvey. SAYAD MIN GAZI v. MIYA ALI (1914) I L R 38 Bom 703

—cls (b) (c)—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 54 I L R 37 Bom 53

—cls (b) and (d)—Lease of palmyra grove—Whether lease of immovable property Where a document stated that the lessee had taken for lease for two years the palmyra trees in a certain garden and that he would not cut the leaves of any of the trees on which he climbed except those whose leaves had to be cut. Held that it was not a lease of immovable property and that the interest conveyed by it was not for the purposes of the Registration Act, an interest in immovable property. Sukry Avudeppa v. Goondakull Nagreddi 6 Mad 11 C 71 and Seeni Chettiar v. Santhanathan Chettiar I L R 20 Mad 58 explained and distinguished NATESA v. TANGAYELU (1914)

I L R 38 Mad 883

—cl (d)—

—proviso—Lease not reserved a yearly rent not within the exemption The proviso to s 17 (d) of the Registration Act will apply only in the case of leases which reserve an annual rent. A lease for a term of 3 years which reserves no annual rent but only provides for the payment of a lump sum, is compulsorily registrable even when such lump sum is less than the aggregate of three annual instalments of Rs 50. VENKATASAM CHETTI v. SURPA PILLAI (1909)

I L R 33 Mad 216

Reservation of annual rent not necessary to bring the document within proviso to cl (d) of s 17 In order to exempt a lease from registration under the proviso to cl (d) of s 17 of the Registration Act it is not necessary that an annual rent should be reserved. The proviso simply means that if an annual rent is reserved it should not exceed fifty rupees. VEN KATASAM CHETTI v. SURPA PILLAI (1910)

I L R 34 Mad 93

—cls (d) (h)—

See LEASE I L R 37 Calc. 508

Amalnamah If must be registered when lease intended to be granted a lease in perpetuity—Agreement to lease which contemplated execution of gatta and kabulsat but never (theless intended passing title upon delivery of possession If a document merely creating a right to obtain a subsequence document. Where a document described the land intended to be demised and set out the boundaries thereof and proceeded to say that according to your prayer I grant this amal namah to you for erecting houses after reclaiming the said homestead, you will dwell thereon on payment of rent Rs 15 10 gds from year to year to our Sarkar you will abide the survey and settlement, within a month on executing a kabuliyat you will take a patta which I shall grant." Held, that the document was plainly an agreement to lease and the lease being apparently a lease in perpetuity the document was compulsorily registrable. Syed Sufur Raza v Amjad Ali, 1 L R 7 Cal 703, followed. Dwarka Nath v Leda Sukdar, 1 L R 33 Cal 392, disapproved. That it was not a document merely creating a right to obtain a subsequent document within cl (h) of s 17 of the Registration Act as the parties intended that as soon as possession was taken under the document, the title of the grantee would commence and it was not contended that the title of the grantee did not yet commence by reason of his failure to tender a kabuliyat to the landlord and obtain from him a patta. Narayana Chetty v Muthiah Sirose 1 L R 33 Mad 63, Champakalakshmi Sutra v Asfar Chandra Pal, 15 C W N 536, referred to. ELAH v HUKUM (1913) . 18 C. W. N 38 cl's (d), (h) (i)—Agreement to grant permanent lease of property not subject of suit, embodied in petition of compromise—Agreement part of consideration of compromise—Decree passed on petition—Specific performance, suit for—Admissibility of petition and decree to prove agreement—Petition, if agreement for lease PER MOOREHEAD, J—Although an agreement in writing, which does not operate as a present demise, but is only an agreement for a lease, is (having regard to the extended significance of the term lease as defined in s 3 of the Registration Act) required to be registered if the term exceeds one year, and the exemptions provided in cl's (h) and (i) to s 17 do not apply to leases or agreements for leases, s 49 of the Act does not preclude its being received as evidence of any transaction not affecting such property. Such a document can therefore be proved by the plaintiff in a suit for specific performance of the agreement to grant the lease. Konduru v Gottumukhala 17 Mad. L J 218, Satyendra Nath Bose v Anil Chandra Ghosh, 15 C W N 66 Sarat Chandra Ghose v Shyamchand Singh, 1 L R 39 Cal 663, relied on. Hurjivan v Jameji, 1 L R 9 Bom. 63, and Purnanand Das v Dharey, 1 L R 19 Bom 101, not followed. Where in a suit for recovery of property A, the parties entered into a compromise and in a petition to the Court recited the fact inter alia that plaintiff had agreed to grant a permanent lease of property B to the defendant on certain terms and the Court recorded the compromise in full and made a decree in these terms "The suit be decreed in terms of the compromise filed by both parties," in a suit for specific enforcement of the agreement embodied in the compromise petition: Held, per MOOREHEAD, J—That the agreement for lease embodied in the petition was admissible in evidence to prove the contract to grant the lease. PER BEACONSFIELD, J—That the petition simply amounted to a statement to Court that the parties had come to certain terms accompanied by a prayer for a decree on those terms. It in itself was not an agreement to lease. That the promise to grant a lease of property B was part of the consideration for the agreement arrived at concerning property A, and the Court in its decree was bound to record the whole of the terms of the compromise, and the decree, though it was final only so far as it related to the subject matter of the suit, was admissible in evidence to prove the promise to grant a lease of property B. Documents referred to in cl's (e) to (n) of s 17 of the Registration Act are excepted from the provisions of cl's (d) and (e), and not from those of cl's (a) and (d), because those documents come within the description of documents in cl's (b) and (c) and not within the description of documents in cl's (a) and (d). HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI v MIDNAPUR ZEMINDARI CO (1914)

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd*c's (d), (h)—contd

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd*cl's (d), (h), (i)—contd

19 C. W. N 347

cl (a)—Stamp Act (II of 1899)
Sec 1, Art 22—Trusts Act (II of 1932) s 5—Composition deed—Compounding of debts due—Transfer of immovable property—Registration not necessary With the consent of creditors to the extent of Rs 1,22,000 out of the total number of creditors claiming Rs 1,61,800 of the family firm represented by one B, the latter executed a deed making over all the specified assets of the family to certain nominated trustees. The creditors coming in (by a particular day) under the deed agreed that after all the goods and the properties had been made over to the trustees no other claim whatever with regard to the amounts due to them should remain outstanding against B and the minor members of the family, but the whole claim should be understood to be written off against them and B and the minors were to make use of the deed as a release passed on their behalf. The deed also provided that the trustees were to manage the properties for the benefit of the creditors interested and the monies realized from time to time were to be distributed among such creditors, in proportion to their claims. The properties comprised in the deed, movable as well as immovable were transferred to the trustees in due course. The deed was unregistered. Subsequently in a suit brought by the trustees to recover possession of a house comprised in the deed a question having arisen whether the deed was a composition deed Held that the definition of the term "composition deed" as given in Art 22, Sec 1 of the Stamp Act (II of 1899) meant the same thing as the term "composition deed" in s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) that the term so defined covered three classes of instruments: (i) an assignment for the benefit of creditors, (ii) an agreement whereby payment of a composition or dividend was secured to the creditors and (iii) an inspectorship deed for the purpose of working the debtor's business for the benefit of his creditors, that the inclusion of the term "composition deed," in s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877), showed that it was intended to apply to a transfer of immovable property and not to a mere agreement to take fractional payment of money in settlement of claims, that the test of a "composition deed" was that there ought to be a compounding of debts due and that such a deed fell under cl. (e) of s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) and did not require registration under that Act nor under the provisions of s 5 of the Trusts Act (II of 1932) Held, accordingly, that the deed in question was a composition deed within the meaning of s 17, cl. 2, of the Registration Act (III of 1877) and did not require registration. CHANDRASHANKAR v RAT MAGAN (1914) . 1 L R 33 Bom 576

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—contd

Agreement to hand over land in consideration of supply of funds for litigation—

See CHAMPERTY I L R. 1 Lah 124

cl. (1)—

See RES JUDICATA

I L R. 38 Mad. 46

Cl. (1)—Document whether Will or an authority to adopt—Registration compulsory of latter The operative part of a document which the writer called a "Will" stated that having, owing to severe illness, had serious misgivings and not having been blessed with an heir apparent, the writer had consented to his wife adopting a son at her pleasure and conducting the management of the estate in the best manner Held—That the document was not a Will but only a power to adopt and as such ought to have been registered as being an authority to adopt a son, not conferred by a Will within the meaning of sec 17 (1) of the Registration Act of 1877 ANANDA BHANA DEO v. KUNJA BEHARI

26 C. W. N. 374

—cl. (2)—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 37 Cal. 569

See RECEIPT I L R. 42 Cal. 546

Mortgage—Agreement to relinquish portion of principal and all interest—Acknowledgment—Registration Held, that an agreement executed by a mortgagor after the date of the mortgage whereby he relinquished a certain part of the principal and all interests past and future, on the mortgage in lieu of certain services rendered by the mortgagor to the mortgagee was a document which required registration to make it admissible in evidence, and it could not be said to be an acknowledgment of payment within the meaning of the exception contained in s. 17, cl. (a), of the Indian Registration Act 1877 GOBARDHAN SANTI v. JADUNATH RAI (1913)

I L R. 35 All. 202

ss 17, 23, 43—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 48 Cal. 509

ss 17 and 43—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 48 Cal. 1

See OUDH ESTATES ACT (I of 1889)

I L R. 33 All. 344

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 54 I L R. 37 Bom 53

Document compulsorily registrable—Registration by mistake in a wrong book—Mistake not to affect parties—Document duly registered—Endorsement releasing mortgaged property for consideration in cash—Registration A release whereby a father transferred all his rights of ownership in his immovable and moveable property in favour of his son was registered not in Book No. 1, but in Book No. 4, that is to say, not in the Book kept for the registration of documents compulsorily registrable under s. 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) Held, that the release must be considered as having been duly registered. The father's property was capable of identification and the error of the registrar in registering the document in Book No. 4 should not be allowed to affect the parties prejudicially SORABJI EDALJI v. ISHWARDAJ JAG-

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1817)—contd

ss. 17 and 43—contd

JEANDAS, (1892) P J 5, followed An endorsement made by a mortgagee (on the back of the mortgage-deed) releasing the mortgaged property in consideration of a cash payment of Rs 300 is a document which requires registration, and not being registered was not admissible in evidence either of the redemption of the property or of the real nature of the original transaction between the parties. PARASHRAMPANT v. RAMA (1909)

I L R. 34 Bom 202

Registration—Compromise, not embodied in the decree, containing a contract for pre-emption The parties to a suit filed a compromise which, in addition to settling forth the rights of the parties as to the property in suit, went on to provide that if either party sold his share of the property, the other party should have a right to pre-empt The decree based on this compromise was silent as to the right of pre-emption Held that the compromise required registration, and, not being registered, could not be used to support a suit for the pre-emption KASHI KUNBI v. SUMER KUNBI (1916)

I L R. 32 All. 206

Precedence—Petition of compromise unregistered and not embodied in any decree of Court Held, that a petition containing the terms of a compromise between parties to a Revenue Court suit, which had been filed in the Court, but was unregistered and had not been acted upon or embodied in the Revenue Court's decree, could not in a subsequent civil suit be used as evidence of the terms of such compromise, the property purporting to be dealt with thereby being above the value of Rs 100 SADR UD-DIN AHMAD v. CHINNY, I L R. 31 All. 13 and KASHI KUNBI v. SUMER KUNBI, I L R. 32 All. 206 followed BHAGWAN SARAI v. HAR CHAIN (1911)

I L R. 33 All. 475

Petition to Revenue Court in mutation proceedings—Compromise—Family settlement A separated Hindu created two usufructuary mortgages on portions of his estate and then died leaving a widow and a daughter The widow held possession for her life time and created a third usufructuary mortgage She died Her daughter laid claim to the estate and applied for entry of her name in the revenue records. M, one of the reversioners, contested her application, urging that her father was joint with him and not separate The parties came to terms, orally The daughter agreed to give up her claim; M, in return, agreed, to take the estate, to pay off the mortgages and to pay a certain sum to the daughter They two then filed a joint petition in which it was stated that the parties had come to terms This statement in the petition was followed by another on behalf of the daughter that as she had given up her claim to the estate she had no objection to mutation of names being made in favour of M The Revenue Court's order was that mutation was to be made according to that compromise M, to secure to the daughter the payment of the money which he had promised to pay, executed two bonds in favour of her sister's husband, but he never paid the money due thereon; on the contrary he managed to get the bonds back and kept them Some time afterwards the daughter sued to recover possession of the property in dispute

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd*ss. 17 and 49—contd

Held, that in the circumstances the plaintiff was entitled to a decree conditioned on her paying the amount due on the mortgages JAGRANI v BISHESHAR DUBE (1916)

I L R 38 All 366

Agreement between first and second mortgagees of the same property to share equally money realized from their mortgages—Suit by one of them to recover money realized by the other—Agreement also affecting the mortgaged property The appellants were the first mortgagees of certain immovable property and the respondents held a second mortgage of the same property and they came to an agreement "that both parties should as regards rights, stand in the same position without claiming prior or subsequent rights, and divide and appropriate in equal halves, as per terms mentioned herein, whatever amounts may be realized on the date of realization." The agreement was found to be made for valuable consideration. The appellants having realized part of the estate, the respondents sued them in order to obtain their share of the proceeds to which they claimed to be entitled by virtue of the agreement. An objection was raised by the appellants that the agreement required registration, and not being registered could not be used as evidence. Held, on the construction of the agreement that if the whole effect of the agreement was to provide merely that the realized money was to be divided in equal shares, there was nothing to require it to be registered and if on the other hand there were two distinct provisions, the one relating to rights of property, and the other with regard to the division of the money realized, then as the proceedings in the suit related merely to the question of the realized money, the agreement need not be registered for the purpose of being given in evidence in this suit, although it might require registration in a suit relating to the regulation of the rights against the estate itself VYRAN CHETTI v SUBRAMANIAN CHETTI (1920)

I L R 43 Mad. (P. C.) 660

Deed of authority to adopt, executed in Nizam's Dominions by a domiciled subject of that State, necessary for registration of—Adoption on such authority—Right of adopted son to succeed to his adoptive mother's father's properties situated in British India—Tenants in common—Adverse possession by the heir of one for more than twelve years—Art. 144 of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877) The Indian Registration Act (III of 1877) does not apply to authorities to adopt executed in Native States by domiciled subjects of those States, such documents are valid and are admissible in evidence in British India without registration. A person adopted in pursuance of such an authority acquires the status of an adopted son capable of inheriting the separate properties of his adoptive mother a father situated in British India. If on the death of A, a Hindu, who held an estate on behalf of himself and other tenants in common the estate is held exclusively by his widow or daughter as his heir, claiming it as his separate property adversely to the other tenants in common, for more than twelve years, the rights of the latter to recover the estate as tenants in common are barred under Art. 144, Limitation Act. Art. 127 does not apply. On the death of the widow or daughter the estate will descend to the heirs of A as his separate property VENKATAPPAYYA v VENKATA RANGA ROW (1920)

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd*ss. 17 and 49—contd

I L R 43 Mad 283

ss. 17, 49 and 50—

See NOTICE 25 C. W. N. 49

ss. 17 and 87—

See WAQFAMA I L R 42 All. 609

Deed appointing mut-walis of wakf need not be registered Personal interest of registering officer disentitles him to register and if he in good faith does so overlooking his own interest it is adopted in procedure which is condoned by s. 87 of the Registration Act MUHAMMAD RUSTAM ALI KHAN v MAULVI MUSHTAQ HUSAIN 25 C W N. 123

s. 21—Registration—How far a mis description of property comprised in a deed may invalidate registration Where one of several villages comprised in a registered mortgage deed was described as being in a wrong tappa, the description being, notwithstanding this error, sufficient for identification, it was held that the mis description was not sufficient to invalidate the mortgage as regards the village in question. Brari Madho Singh v Jagot Singh, 10 All. L. J. 33, referred to PASSOTAM DAS v PATESRI PARSAT NARAIN SINGH (1913) I L R 35 All. 250

s. 28—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 45 Cal. 1

Jurisdiction of registering officer—Registration—Validity—Property actually within jurisdiction included in conveyance—Vendor found not to have title in it—Fraud, not found Where the title to the only item of property sold by a kobala which would give the Sub Registrar jurisdiction to register it was disputed and ultimately found not to have been in the vendor. Held, that this alone, in the absence of fraud on the part of the vendor or the vendee, or collusion between them, would not render the registration of the kobala by the Sub-Registrar invalid when the property did in fact exist within his jurisdiction. Barj Nath Tewari v Sheo Sahay Bhagat, 1 L. R. 18 Cal. 556, distinguished BRARO GOPAL MUKERJEE v ABHILASH CHANDRA BISWAS (1910) 14 C W N. 532

ss. 28, 30 (b), 49—

Property comprised in mortgage, non-existence of—Onus of proof—Effect of registration by officer not having jurisdiction—Mortgage, title of—Amendment of Schedule to mortgage deed—Property substituted not belonging to mortgagor—Fictitious entry in Schedule to get deed registered in Calcutta—Concurrent findings of fact as to mistake in entries in Schedule—No evidence showing mistake The plaintiff's (appellants') claim was based on a mortgage decree passed in a suit brought in the High Court at Calcutta on its Original Side to enforce a mortgage executed in the plaintiff's favour. The defendants (respondents) were the mortgagor (who did not appear) and two other persons who disputed the mortgagee's title. These defendants (who had not been parties to the suit on the mortgage) alleged that the mortgage deed had not been legally registered, because no portion of the property mortgaged was situated in Calcutta

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd.*ss. 28, 30 (b), 49—concld.

where the deed had been registered, and the decree had therefore been made by a Court which had no jurisdiction to entertain a suit on the mortgage, and the plaintiff had no title to maintain the suit. The only portion of the property in the mortgage deed alleged in the suit on the mortgage to be situate in Calcutta, was parcel No. 28 in the Schedule, and was described as "23, Gora Das Street", but the property so described was found to be non-existent, the wrong description being said to be due to a mistake though no evidence of it was given. The Court directed an amendment, and the description was altered to "23, Ashutosh Dey's Lane" which was in Calcutta, and was comprised within the same boundaries as those given in parcel 28 of the Schedule to the mortgage deed. In the present suit no evidence was given either by the mortgagor or the mortgagee to show that there had been any mistake in the description of the property, but it was proved by the defendants that the property contained within the boundaries given in parcel 28 was property which did not belong and never had belonged to the mortgagor. Both the Courts below, like the High Court in the suit on the mortgage, found without any evidence that there had been a mistake in the entry of parcel 28, and held that part of the property being in Calcutta the deed had been properly registered there, and that the decree in the mortgage suit had been rightly made, and with jurisdiction. Held, (reversing three decrees), that it was open to the defendants (not having been parties to the mortgage suit) to contest the validity of the decree, and for the same reason the direction of the High Court that the entry in the Schedule should be amended did not affect them, and that under the circumstances of the case the onus was on the plaintiff to show that the entry in that parcel was not a fictitious entry, which onus he had not discharged. And their Lordships on the conduct of that parties and the evidence in the case, held that the parcel was in fact a fictitious entry and represented no property that the mortgagor possessed or intended to mortgage, or that the mortgagee intended to form part of his security. Such an entry intentionally made up by the parties for the purpose of obtaining registration in a district where no part of the property actually charged and intended to be charged in fact existed, was a fraud on the Registration law, and no registration obtained by means thereof was valid. No such fictitious entry inserted to give a colourable appearance to the deed of relating to property in Calcutta when in reality such was not the case, could bring the deed within the limited jurisdiction of the Court. The High Court, therefore, had no jurisdiction to make the decree, and the deed not having been registered in accordance with the Registration Act (III of 1877), the mortgagee had no title to maintain the suit. The principle of concurrent findings of fact does not apply to a case of an error made according to well known principles of law as to law that there is no evidence to support a finding being a question of law. Where, therefore, the Subordinate Judge found that the erroneous entry in the Schedule had been made by mistake, and the High Court accepted that finding but there was no evidence to show that there was in fact any mistake in the matter. Held, that the finding was one which could be set aside by the Judicial Committee on appeal with out departing from their practice of not interfering with concurrent findings of fact. HAKKEDRA LAL ROY CHOWDHURI v. HARIKANDI DEBI (1914).

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd.*ss. 28, 33 (b) 49—concld.

I L R. 41 Cal. 972

s. 32.—Registration—"Presentation"
Where the executants of a document which it is desired to register are present acquiescing in the handing over of the document to the Registrar for registration, the fact that the physical act of handing the document to the Registrar is performed by a person who is not authorised to "present" the document for registration, will not render the presentation invalid. NATH MAL v. ABUL WABID KHAN (1912).

I L R. 34 All. 335

ss. 32 and 33—

Registration—"Presentation"
tion of power of attorney for registration—Executant ill and unable to go to registration office—Executant treated as presenter—Mortgage duly registered under power so presented and authenticated. In a suit on a mortgage executed on the 30th of August, 1895, a question arose whether the mortgage had been duly registered. It appeared from an endorsement by the Sub-Registrar on the power of attorney under which it purported to be registered that it was brought to him on the 4th of November, 1895, "for registration and authentication" by a servant of the executant of the power who said "that the executant was ill and unable to come himself, and asked that the power of attorney might be registered on the spot". As that would have been illegal, the Sub-Registrar, on the 6th of November, went to the residence of the executant, and was satisfied that he was ill and unable without risk and serious inconvenience to attend at the registration office, and he read the contents of the power of attorney to the executant, who thereupon admitted the execution and completion of the power, and asked that after registration the document should be given to the person named as the attorney in it, and thereupon the Sub-Registrar registered it. Held that the presentation by the servant on the 4th of November was improper and that the executant himself was the real presenter and was so treated by the Sub-Registrar on the 6th of November. Jamun Prasad v. Muhammad Ali Khan, I L R 31 All. 19, L R 42 A 22, distinguished. The person named as attorney in the power presented on the 2nd of January, 1896, now sued upon the mortgage of which he had obtained registration under the power of attorney. Held that the power was duly registered and authenticated in accordance with ss. 22 and 33 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) and the subsequent registration of the mortgage under it by the attorney named in it was a valid registration. Prasad Prasad v. Hanu Ali Khan.

I L R. 42 All. 477

23 C. W. N. 73

Presumption of validity of registration—Presumption rebutted by finding that document to have been procured by an unauthorised person. Although, when the validity of the registration of a document is in question after the lapse of a considerable period of time, it is to be presumed that the registration was carried out according to mortgages of different dates was sold in execution of a decree on the latter of the two mortgages and purchased by the decree holder, who afterwards sold it by an unregistered deed to Bal Kishan, who in turn sold it by a registered deed without making any mention of the prior unregistered mortgage. Held, that after such sale no suit would lie on the prior unregistered mortgage. Sobhag chand Gulabchand v Bhairchand, I L R 6 Bom. 193, Baldeo Prasad v Baldeo, All Weekly Notes, 1901, 112, and Ram Lal v Thakur Bachcha Singh, 10 A L J 114, referred to. ISHRI PRASAD v GORI NATH (1912). I L R 34 All 631

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 50—contd.

Registered document

relating to land, effect of, as against unregistered document—Notice of title created by prior unregistered document, effect of, on holder of registered document—Burden of proof as to such notice—Possession of person other than vendor, if sufficient notice to put purchaser on enquiry—Effect of purchase with such notice. S 50 of the Indian Registration Act has no application when the person who claims title under the subsequent registered document has notice of the title created by the prior unregistered document. The burden lies upon the person who alleges such knowledge or notice to aver it in his pleadings and to establish it. If a person purchases and takes a conveyance of an estate which he knows to be in the occupation of a person other than the vendor he is bound by all the equities which the person in such possession may have in the land. MAGOOL BRAHMA v BAKRISHNA DAS (1913). 18 C W. N 657

s 60—

See s. 32. I L R 34 All. 253

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) s 70.

I L R. 38 All. 1

s 73—

See s 32. I L R. 34 All. 253

s 77—

Suit for direction to register documents—Scope of enquiry—Issues—Execution—Compliance with requirements of law—Effect and binding nature of the documents. In a suit for a decree directing the registration of certain documents, the enquiry in Court is to be directed to two points only, namely, (a) whether the documents had been executed; and (b) whether certain requirements of the law as to presentation for registration in due time to the proper office, and in the manner generally prescribed by the Registration Act, had been complied with by the person presenting the documents for registration. Faj Lakhi Ghosh v Debendra Chandra Mojumdar, I L R 24 Cal 668, Rambal Ammal v Aruna chaki Chetti, I L R 18 Mad 255, Kanhaya Lal v Sardar Singh, I L R. 29 All 284. The defendant in such a suit may possibly have good reasons why he should not be bound by the documents, but the law does not allow him to advance such reasons in a suit under s. 77 of the Indian Registration Act. W W BROCKEN v RAJAH SHANMUGAN BIKRAM SHAN (1909). 14 C. W. N. 12

Suit for registration of a document—Limitation—Order striking off a case for compulsory registration of a document—Review—Final order refusing to register—Period of thirty days when to run from. Where the plaintiff applied to the Registrar for compulsory registration of a deed of sale and the case was struck off, but on the plaintiff's application for review the case was restored and the Registrar after taking evidence on both sides made his final order refusing to register the deed, and the plaintiff instituted a suit in the Civil Court under s 77 of the Registration Act within 30 days from the date of this order. Held, that the final order of the Registrar made after the restoration of the case was the order of refusal in respect of which the plaintiff was entitled to institute a suit in the Civil Court and the plaintiff's suit was not barred by limitation. SHRIK SAJED v SARADA PONSAD CHAUDHURY (1913). 17 C W. N 585

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 77—contd.

Suit for registration of

document—Limitation—Last day a holiday—Suit filed on re-opening of Court—Stare decisis—General Clauses Act (X of 1857), s 77—General Clauses Act (I of 1897), s 10—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s 6. Where a Registrar having refused to order the registration of a document on the 29th November, the plaintiff instituted a suit for the registration of the document under s. 77, Registration Act of 1877, on the 2nd January following, the Court being closed on the 29th of December and the following days until it re-opened on the 2nd January; Held, that in view of previous decisions of the Court and of the Legislative sanction impliedly accorded to the rule there laid down by the General Clauses Acts of 1857 and 1897, the suit should be held to have been properly instituted. Mayer v Harding, L R 2 Q B 410, referred to. Hossain Ally v Donelle, I L R 6 Cal 906, Shoshee Bhushan v Gobinda Chandra, I L R 18 Cal 231, Peary Mohan v Ananda Charan, I L R 18 Cal 631, commented on. Per D CHATTERJEE, J—S 5 of the Limitation Act has no application to suits under s 77 of the Registration Act. ASAD BAKSH MOLLA v SHRIK BAHAR ALI (1912). 16 C W. N. 721

s 87—

See s 17. 25 C W. N 123

See WAQFANA. I L R 42 All. 609

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908).

See REGISTRATION.

See CORRESPONDING SECTION OF REGISTRATION ACT 1877 WHICH IS PRACTICALLY IDENTICAL BUT NOTE FOLLOWING DIFFERENCES—

	Act III of 1877	Act XVI of 1908
2	.	93
3	.	2 (Definition of 'Signa- ture' and "Signed" omitted)
4	.	3 and 4 (Proviso to s 3 added)
9	.	9 (Slight difference in wording).
17(b)	.	17 (2) (ix) [(x) (xi) (xii) are new]
22	.	22 (2)
23	.	23 and 24
		23(1) and 23 A new.
24	.	25.
25	.	26
26	.	Omitted.

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—contd— ss 32 and 33—concl'd law, yet when there exists evidence which discloses a fatal defect in procedure as, for instance, that the person who presented the document for registration was not legally authorized to do so, the registration must be held to be invalid. Such a defect as presentation by an unauthorized person cannot be cured by subsequent admission of execution on the part of the executants. Mohammad Ewaz v Brij Lal, L R 41 A 166, and Majid un nissa v Abdul Rahim I L R 23 All 253, referred to. Wilast Dugam v Fazal Hussain Khan, 9 All L J 143, and Ram Chandra Das v Farzand Ali Khan I L R 34 All 253, distinguished. Jambu Prasad v Muhammad Aftab Ali Khan (1912) I L R. 34 All 331

Registration of document by person holding power-of-attorney. Necessity of strict compliance with the section of the statute established. JYANENDRA NATH PAL v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

25 C W N 73

— ss 32 to 35—*Presentation of documents for registration—Registration of document is presented by an unauthorized person not valid—Jurisdiction of Registering Officer to register document—Admission of execution by executant of deed effect of on registration—Prevention of fraud object of ss 32 to 35—Duty of Courts not to allow defect of provisions of Act. Ss. 32 and 33 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) relating to the presentation of documents for registration are imperative and the provisions must be strictly followed and where it was proved that agents who presented deeds of mortgage for registration had not been duly authorized in the manner prescribed by the Act to present them the deeds were held not to be validly registered, so as (under s 49) to affect immovable property or to be received in evidence of any transactions affecting such property, or under s. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) to be effective as mortgages. A Registrar or Sub Registrar has no jurisdiction to register a document unless he is moved to do so by a person who has executed or claims under it or by the representative or assign of such person or by an agent of such person representative or assign duly authorized by a power-of-attorney executed and authenticated in the manner prescribed by s 33 of the Act. Executants of a deed who attend a Registering Officer to a limit execution of it cannot be treated for the purposes of s 32 of the Act as presenting the deed for registration. They would no doubt be assenting to the registration, but that would not be sufficient to give the Registering Officer jurisdiction. One object of ss. 32 to 35, Registration Act, III of 1877 was to make it difficult for persons to commit frauds by means of registration under the Act, and it is the duty of the Courts in India not to allow the imperative provisions of the Act to be defeated. Jahri Prasad v Brijnath I L R 23 All 707, and the principle laid down in Majid un nissa v Abdul Rahim I L R 23 All 253. L R 23 J A 15, followed. Jambu Prasad v Muhammad Aftab Ali Khan (1914) I L R. 37 All 49*

— ss 32, 60, 75—Registration—Presentation of documents of registering officer—Resumption—Evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 114

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—contd— ss 32, 60, 75—concl'd

A document was presented to a Sub Registrar or registration by a karinda of the person in whose favour it was executed. It was received for registration. Simultaneously with the presentation an application was made to summon the executants. They failed to appear and the Sub-Registrar, considering that execution was not admitted, refused to register the document. The matter came up before the District Registrar by means of an application under s 73 of the Registration Act and the presence of the executants having been secured the District Registrar ordered that the document should be registered. The document was apparently then sent by the Registrar to the Sub Registrar by whom it was registered. Held that in the absence of evidence to the contrary it must be presumed that the karinda who presented the document was duly authorized in that behalf and further that, even if the Registrar had in fact sent the document direct to the Sub Registrar instead of returning it to the person who had presented it for registration the act alone was not sufficient to invalidate the registration. Mohammad Ewaz v Brij Lal L R 41 A 167, referred to. Majid un nissa v Abdul Rahim I L R 23 All 33, and Jahri Prasad v Brij Nath I L R 23 All 707 distinguished. Ram Chandra Das v Farzand Ali Khan (1912) I L R. 34 All 253

— s 33—Registration—Presentation of document by agent holding a power-of-attorney—Authentication of power. A document was presented for registration by the agent of a parda nashin lady acting under a power-of-attorney authorizing him generally to present documents for registration on behalf of his principal. The power-of-attorney was not executed in the presence of the Sub-Registrar, but the Sub-Registrar had gone to the house of the executant, questioned her, and satisfied himself that the power-of-attorney have been voluntarily executed and had endorsed the power of attorney with a statement that he had so satisfied himself. Held that the power of attorney was properly executed and authenticated within the meaning of s 33 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, and the document presented by the executant's agent was validly presented. CHUTTAN LAL v SHAM PRASAD (1919) I L R 32 All 179

— s 34—

See s 3. 26 C. W. N 369

— s 40—

See s 3. I L R 35 Mad 63

— s 49—

See s 17

See s. 23. I L R. 41 Calc. 873

See MORTGAGE. I L R 43 Calc 1

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

14 C W N 65

— s 50—

See NOTICE. 25 C W N 49

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), s. 27. I L R. 33 All 184

— Registration—Mortgage—Priority between registered and unregistered deeds—Property which was the subject of two unregistered

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*concl'd*s. 50—concl'd.

mortgages of different dates was sold in execution of a decree on the latter of the two mortgages and purchased by the decree-holder, who afterwards sold it by an unregistered deed to Bal Kishan, who in turn sold it by a registered deed without making any mention of the prior unregistered mortgage. Held, that after such sale no suit would lie on the prior unregistered mortgage. Sobhagchand Gulabchand v Bhairchand, I L R 6 Bom 193, Baldeo Prasad v Baldeo, All Weekly Notes, 1901, 112, and Ram Lal v Thakur Bachcha Singh, 10 A L J 114, referred to. ISHNI PRASAD v GORI NATH (1912). I L R. 34 All 631

Registered document

relating to land, effect of, as against unregistered document—Notice of title created by prior unregistered document, effect of, on holder of registered document—Burden of proof as to such notice—Possession of person other than vendor, if sufficient notice to put purchaser on enquiry—Effect of purchase with such notice. S. 50 of the Indian Registration Act has no application when the person who claims title under the subsequent registered document has notice of the title created by the prior unregistered document. The burden lies upon the person who alleges such knowledge or notice to aver it in his pleadings and to establish it. If a person purchases and takes a conveyance of an estate which he knows to be in the occupation of a person other than the vendor he is bound by all the equities which the person in such possession may have in the land. MAGOO BHANJA v BAKRISHNA DAS (1913). 18 C W. N. 657

s. 60—

See s. 32. I L R. 34 All. 253

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) s. 70.

I L R. 38 All 1

s. 73—

See s. 32. I L R. 34 All 253

s. 77—

*Suit for direction to register documents—Scope of enquiry—Issues—Execution—Compliance with requirements of law—Effect and binding nature of the documents. In a suit for a decree directing the registration of certain documents, the enquiry in Court is to be directed to two points only, namely, (a) whether the documents had been executed, and (b) whether certain requirements of the law as to presentation for registration in due time to the proper office and in the manner generally prescribed by the Registration Act, had been complied with by the person presenting the documents for registration. Raj Luckhi Ghosh v Debendra Chandra Moymondar, I L R 24 Cal 663, Balambal Ammal v Aruna Chala Chetti, I L R 18 Mad 255, Kanhaya Lal v Sardar Singh, I L R 29 All 234. The defendant in such a suit may possibly have good reasons why he should not be bound by the documents, but the law does not allow him to advance such reasons in a suit under s. 77 of the Indian Registration Act. W. W. BROVCKE v RAJAN SHAH MOHAN BIKRAM SHAH (1909) 14 C. W. N. 12*

Suit for registration of a document—Limitation—Order striking off a case for compulsory registration of a document—Review—Final order refusing to register—Period of thirty days when to run from. Where the plaintiff applied to the Registrar for compulsory registration of a deed of sale and the case was struck off, but on the plaintiff's application for review the case was restored and the Registrar after taking evidence on both sides made his final order refusing to register the deed, and the plaintiff instituted a suit in the Civil Court under s. 77 of the Registration Act within 30 days from the date of this order. Held, that the final order of the Registrar made after the restoration of the case was the order of refusal in respect of which the plaintiff was entitled to institute a suit in the Civil Court and the plaintiff's suit was not barred by limitation. SHRIK SAJED v SARADA PORSAD CHAUDHURY (1913) 17 C. W. N. 585

REGISTRATION ACT (II OF 1877)—*concl'd*s. 77—concl'd

Suit for registration of

document—Limitation—Last day a holiday—Suit filed on re-opening of Court—Store decrees—General Clauses Act (X of 1887), s. 77—General Clauses Act (I of 1877), s. 10—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 6. Where a Registrar having refused to order the registration of a document on the 29th November, the plaintiff instituted a suit for the registration of the document under s. 77, Registration Act of 1877, on the 2nd January following, the Court being closed on the 29th of December and the following days until it re-opened on the 2nd January. Held, that in view of previous decisions of the Court and of the Legislative sanction impliedly accorded to the rule there laid down by the General Clauses Acts of 1887 and 1897, the suit should be held to have been properly instituted. Mayer v Harding, I L R 2 Q B 410, referred to. Hossain Ally v Donville I L R 5 Cal 906, Shoshee Ehusan v Gobinda Chandra, I L R 18 Cal. 231, Peary Mohun v Ananda Charan, I L R 18 Cal 631, commented on. Per D CHATTERJEE, J—S. 6 of the Limitation Act has no application to suits under s. 77 of the Registration Act. AHAD BAKSH MOLLA v SHEIKH BAKAR ALI (1912) 16 C W N 721

s. 87—

See s. 17. 25 C W N 123

See WAQFNAME I L R 42 All 609

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)

See REGISTRATION.

See CORRESPONDING SECTION OF REGISTRATION ACT 1877 WHICH IS PRACTICALLY IDENTICAL BUT NOTE FOLLOWING DIFFERENCES—

Act III of 1877.	Act XVI of 1908
2	93.
3	2 (Definition of "Signature" and "Signed" omitted)
4	3 and 4 (Proviso to s. 3 added)
9	9 (Slight difference in wording)
17(b)	17 (2) (ix) [(x) (xi) (xii) are new]
22	22 (2)
23	23 and 24
	22(1) and 23 A new.
24	25.
25	26
26	Omitted.

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—contd

Act III of 1877

Act XVI of 1908

58 (or a copy of a 58 (or a copy sent to the certificate under the Registering Officer under Land Improvement s 89)

Act 1871 sent to the Registrar')

8th(d) with n the mean Omitted ing of the Indian Penal Code

83 Subordinate Magistrate of the trate of the first second class class.

83 Paragraphs 3 and 4 Omitted

84 A Registrar shall but Omitted a sub registrar shall not be deemed a court within the meaning of ss 435 and 436 of the Criminal Procedure
Code s 89

89 Amplified owing to enactments later than 1877

92 British Burma Lower Burma

Mortgage bond—Interpolation by a mortgagee—Adding another item belonging to mortgagee for convenience of registration—Registration bond on registration law—Document whether properly executed attested and registered
A document mortgaging only one item of property was duly executed and attested and another item of his property was interpolated by the mortgagee with the knowledge and consent of the mortgagee in the presence of the same attesting witnesses. The mortgagee registered the deed in the Sub Registrar's office within whose jurisdiction the latter item was situated. It appeared that the object of adding the second item was not so much to give an additional security to the mortgagee as to enable the mortgagee to get the document registered near the place where he was living and thus prevent delay in registering the deed. Held that there had been no fraud on the registration law and that the document was duly executed, attested and registered with regard to both items of property. Harindra Lal Roy Chowdhury v Haridas Deb (1914) 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 97^o (P. C.) distinguished. KUNHI RAMANATH NAMBIAR v NARAYANAN THIRUNIPPU (1920) 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 405

— s 2 (7)—

See KABILYAT 1 L. R. 39 Cal. 1016

— ss 2, 3, 17, 49—Admissibility of an unregistered lease—Lease and agreement to lease—Ind an Registrat on Act (XVI of 1908) sec 2 3 17, 49—Agreement followed by possession on effect of—Doctrine of part performance of applicable—Statute of Frauds—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 107—Suit for specific performance—Entoppel against a statute if available.
An agreement to lease intended to operate as a present demise is a lease within the meaning of cl (d) of sec 17 of the Registration Act, 1908 and as such is inadmissible in evidence in a suit for specific performance of its terms, under sec. 49 of the Act if it is not registered even though the tenant is in possession under the said agreement. Cases of part performance under sec 4 of the Statute of Frauds have no application to those arising under sec. 49 of the Registrar on Act 1908 as the positions under the two Acts are quite different. SANJIV CHANDRA SANYAL v SANTOSH K. LAHIRI 26 C. W. N. 390

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—contd

— ss 2, 3, 17, 49—contd

— ss 2 and 17—Lease—Agreement to lease—Instrument not registered—Admissibility of instrument in evidence—Suit by lessor to eject lessee—Lessee setting up counter-claim for specific performance of agreement to lease or for damages for its breach by lessor
An agreement to lease which does not operate as an immediate demise of the property, does not fall within the definition of 'lease' contained in s. 2 of the Registration Act (XVI of 1908) and is admissible in evidence without registration. The question whether an agreement to lease operates as an immediate demise should be determined on the facts of each case. Hemanta Kumar Deb v Midnapur Zamindari Company (1920) 1 L. R. 47 Cal. 435 (P. C.), s. c., 1 L. R. 46 1 A 210 followed. Narayanan Chetty v Muthiah Serrao (1912) 1 L. R. 35 Mad. 63 (F. B.), not followed. SWAMIVATHA MCDALIAR v RAMASWAMI MUDALIAR (1921) 1 L. R. 44 Mad. 399

Bainaputra if it is an agreement to lease and whether requires registration when it does not effect a present demise
An unregistered bainaputra for grant of a putni lease acknowledged receipt of part of the consideration money, and contained a promise to grant a putni lease again (with effect) from the date of the bainaputra and to exchange patta and kabulyat before the 30th Aghran. Held—That the bainaputra did not effect a present demise and should be regarded as an agreement creating a right to obtain a putni lease on the performance of certain conditions on or before the 30th Aghran. The document was not an agreement to lease and therefore did not require registration and so was admissible in evidence. Rani Hemanta Kumar Deb v The Midnapur Zamindari Co., Ltd. 24 C. W. N. 177 (P. C.) (1919) and Panchanan Bose v Chanda Charan Misra 1 L. R. 37 Cal. 808 s. c. 14 C. W. N. 874 (1910) referred to. PER CURIAM—On the whole we come to the conclusion that the document in question does not effect a present demise and should be regarded as an agreement creating in the Plaintiff a right to obtain in putni lease on performance of certain conditions on or before the 30th Aghran 1318. HARI NATH BANDOOPHAYAYA v PROMOTHO NATH ROY CHAUDHURI 25 C. W. N. 550

— ss 2, 17 49—

See AGREEMENT TO LEASE.

1 L. R. 47 Cal. 485

— s 17—

See s 2

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O. XXIII r. 3 1 L. R. 38 All. 75

See COMPROMISE 3 Pat. L. J. 43 & 255 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 801

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION 1 L. R. 48 Cal. 1059

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW 1 L. R. 38 Bom. 224

See MORTGAGE 1 L. R. 43 Mad. 803

See REGISTRATION

— Agreement to retransfer—Agreement to re transfer property sold on repayment of price

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—contd

with interest if must be registered Where contemporaneously with a registered deed of sale a document was executed whereby the transferee agreed to retransfer the property to the transferor upon payment by the latter of the sale price with interest within a specified period: Held, that the document was not a reconveyance and did not require registration DWARAKA NATH SEN v KESSORY LALL GOSWAMI (1910)

14 C. W. N. 703

Memorandum of arrangement between lessor and lessee—if must be stamped and registered A document, dated the 8th March, 1885, which did not demise any property and was neither a lease nor an agreement to lease, but was and purported to be a memorandum of an arrangement which had been made with the grantees by the agent of the lessors on their behalf and under which the grantees had taken possession with effect from 12th April, 1884, was admissible in evidence although neither stamped nor registered. KATAYANI DEBI v PORT CANNING AND LAND IMPROVEMENT CO (1914) 19 C. W. N. 58

Rajinama and Kabulyat—Mortgage of lands in an Inam village—Mortgagor passing a Rajinama in favour of a third person—Kabulyat by the person to the Inamdar—Transfer of Khata in Inamdar's books—Extinction of the equity of redemption One A, holder of lands in an Inam village, mortgaged the lands with one B (father of defendants Nos 2 and 3) in 1871. In 1875, A passed a Rajinama in favour of one J and gave notice to the Inamdar to transfer his khata in the Inamdar's books to the name of J. On the same day passed a Kabulyat to the Inamdar agreeing to pay assessment due to Government. J in turn had the khata transferred to one V who in 1878 executed a Rajinama in favour of defendant No 2. In 1913, plaintiffs as the heirs of A sued to redeem the property. The defendants Nos 2 and 3 contended that they had become owners of the lands. The Subordinate Judge dismissed the suit holding that A transferred his interest in the lands by the Rajinama in 1875 and, therefore, the plaintiffs had no interest in the lands as owners. The Assistant Judge in appeal, reversed the decree and allowed redemption on the ground that the Rajinama by A could not be proved in Court as it required registration. On appeal to the High Court, Held, that the plaintiffs' suit to redeem must fail as the Rajinamas and Kabulyats although not registered were good evidence of the transfer having taken place since they were documents between the occupants and his superior holder and not documents between the transferor and the transferee they recited the transfer which had taken place presumably for consideration, but they themselves did not purport to operate as transferring any interest to another. Held, further, that even assuming that they fell within the terms of s 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, as operating to extinguish an interest in immovable property, it was not shown that they required registration, the interest extinguished by them being of a value less than Rs 100. Held, also, that at the time these transactions took place from 1875 to 1878 it was not necessary according to the law that there should be any document evidencing the transfer but payment of price and delivery of possession completed the transaction. IMAM VALAD ISRAHIM v BHAV APPAJI (1917) I. L. R. 41 Bom 510

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—contd

Agreement by reversioners to forego right to sue for declaration respecting an alienation by the Hindu widow—Held, that an agreement by which the reversioners to certain property in the possession of a Hindu widow agreed not to enforce their rights to sue for a declaration that a gift of such property made by the widow was not binding upon them was not a document which was compulsorily registrable under s 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908. BHANA v GUMAN SINGH (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All 384

Sub-s (1) (b)—
See COMPROMISE

3 Pat L J. 43

sub-s (1) (d)—Lease of land dar salme rate—Lease exceeding one year—Registration compulsory It was provided by a lease as follows: We have taken these three fields for cultivation from you yearly (dar salme rate) on condition that we are to pay the assessment. We shall go on paying the assessment to Government so long as you give us the fields for cultivation. If we say anything false or unfair or if you come to hear of any fraud or deceit on our part or if we practise such fraud or deceit, we will restore possession of the fields to you as soon as you ask us to do so. Held on a construction of the lease, that the words dar salme rate (year to year) taken in connection with the total absence of any date for the expiry of the tenancy suggested that the parties contemplated that the lease should operate for a period exceeding one year, and that therefore, it was compulsorily registrable under the provisions of s 17, sub-s 1 (d) of the Indian Registration Act (XVI of 1908). ONURABHAI v BHULDAS v MOHANLAL MAGANLAL (1917) I. L. R. 41 Bom 458

Lease on a monthly rent—tenant liable to ejectment on a default in payment of rent—whether compulsorily registrable, The plaintiff sued for Rs 18 on account of the rent of a hut and for its possession under a lease entered in his book, which was to the effect that plaintiff had let a hut to the defendant who was to pay 8 annas per mensem by way of rent and in the event of a default in payment of the rent, the tenant was liable to be ejected. The question before the High Court was whether the lease could be regarded as a lease for a term exceeding one year and therefore required registration. Held, that section 17 of the Registration Act, being a disabling section, must be strictly construed and that unless a document is clearly brought within the purview of that section its non registration is no bar to its being admitted in evidence. Held further, that the lease was not one for a period exceeding one year within the meaning of section 17 (1) (d). ATREA v MANGAL SINGH I. L. R. 2 Lah. 300

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885 ss 147A AND 29

4 Pat. L. J. 687

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 225

sub-s 1 (b) and (c)—Sale deed—Receipt for consideration of sale—Proof of payment—Alimda—Single Bench rulings as precedents Held, following Ram Chand v. Chotta Singh, 73 P. L. R. 1910, that a receipt for the balance of purchase money on an oral sale of land said to have taken place previously, is not a sale-deed, but is registrable under s. 17 (c) of the Registration Act as a receipt. Held, also, that, although an unregistered receipt is not admissible in evidence, the payment may be proved alunde. Held, further, that Single Bench rulings of this Court, if not dissented from or overruled, are as much binding upon the subordinate Courts of the Province as the decisions of Division Benches. SHIB KHAN v MUZAFFAR KHAN

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*sub-s. 1 (b) and (c)—contd.

I. L. R. 1 Lab. 25

See COMPROMISE 3 Pat L. J. 255

sub-s. (2) (v)—COMPROMISE—Adjustment of decree—Civil Procedure Code (F of 1908), Order XXI, r. 2—Whether exempted from registration. A compromise made after decree, affecting any immovable property of the value of over Rs. 100, and embodied in a petition presented under O XXI r. 2, Civil Procedure Code, which has been recorded by the Court is exempt from registration. Hemanta Kumari Debi v Midnapur Zamindari Company (1919), 46 I A 249 followed. Chelamma v Rama Rao (1913) 1 L R 36 Mad 48, and Raja Venkatasappa Nayaram Iyaru v Raja Thimma Nayaram Iyaru (1914) 27 M L J 656, overruled. GOOVANATHA AYYISA v KENDRON CHOKEN (1920) 1 L R. 43 Mad. (F.B.) 688

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1877 s. 17

I L R. 38 Bom. 703

sub-s. 2 (xi)—Mortgage—Receipt for mortgage money—Registration. A receipt for money due upon a mortgage was given in the following terms:—“The bond is returned. No money remains due.” Held on suit for recovery of the mortgage debt, that the receipt did not require to be registered, and that the words “no money remains due” did not purport to extinguish the mortgage. PIARI LAL v MUKHAI

I L R. 34 All 528

ss. 17 and 49—

See AGREEMENT TO LEASE.

I L R. 47 Cal. 485

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY

28 C. W N 201

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 4

I L R. 44 Mad. 55

Registration—Petition to Revenue Courts in Mutation Proceedings—Compromise—Family Settlement. A separate Hindu created two usufructuary mortgages on portions of his estate, and then died leaving a widow and a daughter. The widow held possession for her life time and created a third usufructuary mortgage. She died. Her daughter laid claim to the estate and applied for entry of her name in the revenue records. M, one of the revenue officers, contested her application, urging that her father was joint with him and not separate. The parties came to terms orally. The daughter agreed to give up her claim; M, in return, agreed to take the estate, to pay off the mortgagees and to pay a certain sum to the daughter. They two then filed a joint petition in which it was stated that the parties had come to terms. This statement in the petition was followed by another on behalf of the daughter that as she had given up her claim to the estate she had no objection to mutation of names being made in favour of M. The Revenue Court's order was that mutation was to be made according to that compromise. M, to secure to the daughter of payment of the money which he had promised to pay, executed two bonds in favour of her sister's husband, but he never had the money due thereon, on the contrary he managed to get the bonds back and kept them. Some time afterwards the daughter sued to recover possession of the property in dispute. Held, that in the circumstances the plaintiff was entitled to a decree conditioned on her paying the amount due on the mortgages. JAGANNATH v BISHESHAR DUKH. I L R. 38 All 368

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*ss. 17 and 49—contd.

Act No. IV of 1882

(Transfer of Property Act), s. 9—Registration—Petition to Court in mutation proceedings—Compromise—Family settlement. The parties to certain mutation proceedings were six nephews of the deceased owner, three being sons of one brother, two of another and one of a third. In the course of the mutation proceedings the parties came to an agreement amongst themselves as to the partition, not only of the zamindari property, but of certain house property owned by the propertors, and also as to the payment of his debts. As to the house property the agreement was put into writing and registered, and the parties took possession of the house property in accordance therewith. Some of them also paid certain of the debts due from the deceased in accordance with the agreement. As regards the zamindari property the parties filed in court a petition in which they recited that they had arrived at a settlement of the matters in dispute between them and what that settlement was, and they prayed that mutation might be ordered in accordance therewith. The settlement was based on the supposition that according to the custom of the tribe to which the parties belonged the nephews were entitled to the property per stripes. Subsequently, however, the three sons of one brother of the propertors brought a suit claiming one half of the property as against the other three. The suit was dismissed by the trial court but on appeal the lower appellate court remanded the case for trial on the merits, holding that the compromise filed in the mutation proceedings was invalid for want of registration. Held by HANNAIYA LAL, J. (Principal Judge), that in the circumstances of the case the petition filed in the mutation proceedings was not a document which required registration. But in any case the petition might be treated together with the registered agreement as to the house property and with the fact that some of the debts of the deceased had been paid, apparently in pursuance of an agreement between the parties, as evidence of an antecedent family settlement of disputed claims, which, if fairly arrived at without fraud or concealment, would be binding on the parties and could not be re-opened, especially if it had been acted upon. BALDEO SINGH v. UNAL SINGH. I L R. 43 All 1

The parties to a suit filed a compromise which in addition to settling forth the rights of the parties to the property in suit went on to provide that if either party sold his share the other would have the right to preempt. The decree based on the compromise was silent on the point Held, that the compromise required registration and therefore could not be used. KASHI KUMBI v SUMER KUMAR.

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd*ss. 17 and 49—contd.

I L R. 32 All. 268

Partition—Unregistered receipt acknowledging acceptance of shares Plaintiff claimed to be entitled to certain property alleging that the same was allotted to his share on a partition between himself and his brothers. For the purpose of proving the alleged partition plaintiff relied on unregistered receipts signed by his brothers in which they acknowledged having accepted certain portions of the family property. Held, that the receipts required registration and were therefore inadmissible as evidence. NIL KANTH BHIMJI v HANMANT EKNATH (1920)

I L R. 44 Bom. 881

Document compulsorily registrable—Assignment of decree for sale of immovable property Held, that a deed of assignment of a final decree for the sale of mortgaged property under O XXXIV, r 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, is not a document which is compulsorily registrable under the provisions of s 17 (b) of the Indian Registration Act, 1908. Gopal Narayan v Trimbak Sadashiv I L R. 1 Bom. 267, and Mutasaddi Lal v Muhammad Hanif, 10 All L J 167, distinguished. Abdul Majid v. Muhammad Fawzullah, I L R. 13 All. 59, and Bay Nath Leher v Banooyendra Nath Pali 8 C W N 5, followed. MUMTAZ AHMAD v SRI RAM (1913) . . . I L R. 35 All. 524

Lease—Agreement to lease—Property demised in process of construction

Demise from a future date—Document evidencing demise from a future date need not be registered

Offer and acceptance—Specific performance—Optional clause for removal inserted in a letter of acceptance—Optional clause not binding on the lessor unless accepted by him—Power of an estate manager to bind the owner In December 1914, the Presidency Post Master was looking for premises for a new Post Office for the Masjid branch and gave the defendant who was then erecting a building particulars as to the nature and extent of the accommodation required. On 1st February 1915, the defendant wrote a letter to the Presidency Post Master saying that he "shall let on a lease for ten years" a portion of the building at Rs 175 a month, the defendant making necessary arrangements for the Post Office and keeping the premises ready for occupation by the 1st of April 1916. On the 13th February 1915, the Presidency Post Master replied that he "accepted the proposal" adding that the Post Master General had desired him to insert an optional clause, i.e., giving the Post Office the option to renew the lease for another five years. Nothing was said by the defendant with regard to this optional clause, but on the 16th February 1915, the defendant's estate manager merely wrote to the Presidency Post Master that he was "making the necessary arrangements". On 1st April 1916, the Presidency Post Master went into occupation of the defendant's premises though the necessary arrangements were not completed till the following month. The Presidency Post Master paid rent at the rate of Rs. 175 a month but no steps were taken towards getting a proper lease executed until September

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd*ss. 17 and 49—contd

1917 when the Presidency Post Master was given notice to quit. Thereupon, the Secretary of State for India sued the defendant for specific performance of the agreement of February 1915 by calling upon the defendant to execute a proper lease, such lease to contain the optional clause for renewal of the lease. The defendant contended, inter alia, that there was no concluded agreement between the parties, that he had not accorded his assent to the optional clause to renew the lease and that if his letter of 1st February 1915 and the reply thereto be held to constitute an offer and acceptance of the proposal, the same were inadmissible in evidence for want of registration. The trial Court decreed the plaintiff's suit. The defendant appealed.—Held, (1) that the defendant's letter of the 1st February 1915 and the reply of the Presidency Post Master constituted an offer and acceptance of the proposal and specific performance of that agreement should be decreed, (2) that the said letter and reply were admissible in evidence though unregistered, as they did not constitute a present demise; (3) that the optional clause in the reply of the Presidency Post Master was a counter offer to the defendant, and as the same was not accepted by that defendant the plaintiff was not entitled to have the clause inserted in the lease, (4) that the estate manager of the defendant had no power to accept the counter offer, nor was his letter of the 16th February 1916 an acceptance of such counter offer. Hemanta Kumar Deb v Midnapur Zamindars Company (1919) L R 46 I A 240, referred to. SIR MAHOMED YUSUF v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1920) I L R. 45 Bom. 8

ss 17, 50—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 51 I L R. 41 Bom. 550

ss 17, 90—

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s 74 I L R. 41 Bom. 170

Registration—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 107—Crown Grants Act (XV of 1893) ss 2 and 3—Lease—Lease of Government land by commissioners of a notified area The commissioners of a notified area let certain plots of land which were the property of the Government and had been handed over to them for administrative purposes. The leases ran in the name of the Secretary of State for India and provided that the lessees were to remain in possession for 30 years so long as they fulfilled certain conditions, and the lessor had a right of re-entry only on breach of certain conditions. Held, that such leases were compulsorily registrable, and could not be considered as falling within the purview of s 90 (d) of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, nor were they excluded from s 107 of the Transfer of Property Act by the operation of the Crown Grants Act, 1895. Dost Muhammad Khan v The Bank of Upper India, 3 All L J 129, 628 referred to. MURSHI LAL v THE NOTIFIED AREA OF BAROT (1914) . . . I L R. 36 All. 176

s. 23—

See MORTGAGE . 16 C W. N. 585

s 28—

See PRESCRIPTION LAW—FRAMED ON I L R. 43 Mad. 436

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*s. 28—contd.

Registration in district where small portion of property situated—Transfer or not entitled to such property—Whether registration is valid. Where there is any fraud or collusion between the parties for the purpose of giving jurisdiction to a particular Sub Registrar to register a document by including property which does not exist this is sufficient to invalidate the registration, but registration is not invalid if the property described exists, merely because it transpires that the transferor, though acting in a perfectly bona fide manner, has ceased to have an interest in that property. Where property which formed the subject matter of a document registered in Benares was situated partly in Benares and partly elsewhere, and it transpired that the transferor had no title to the property situate in Benares. Held, that the registration was valid. MUNSAMMAT RAM DAS v RAM CHANDARBAHAI DUBEI

4 Pat. L. J. 433

Place of registration—

Sale-deed—Deed fraudulently registered in a district where none of the property in respect of which it might have been operative, was situated. In order to prevent certain persons interested in the bulk of the property which purported to be sold, and which was in the district of Pilibhit becoming aware of the existence of a sale deed, the vendor included in the deed a small piece of property, situated in the city of Bareilly, which in fact did not belong to him, and had the sale-deed registered in Bareilly. Held, that this transaction was merely a fraudulent evasion of the Registration law, and that the sale-deed conveyed no title to the purchasers in respect of any of the property comprised in it. Narendra Lal Roy Chowdhuri v Haridas Deb, 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 972, Jagas Nath v Ram Nath, 12 All L. J. 913, Basant Singh v. Ramesh Bhatia, 12 All L. J. 913, and Purna Chandra Bakshi v. Nabin Chandra Gangapadhyay, 3 C. N. 4352, referred to MANGAL LAL v ABID YAR KHAN (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All 523

Place of registration—

Security bond—Bond fraudulently registered in a district where none of the property in respect of which it might have been operative was situated. In a bond hypothecating, as security for the due fulfilment of the terms of a mortgage, certain immovable property, a small piece of land, was inserted which did not belong to the obligor and was mentioned only for the purpose of getting the security bond registered in a particular registration subdivision. Held that registration so effected was a fraud on the Registration law and the bond must be treated as unregistered. Mangal Lal v Abid Yar Khan, 1 L. R. 39 All 523, followed Narendra Lal Roy Chowdhuri v Haridas Deb, 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 972, referred to. RAM LAL v TANKS BAKO (1919)

I. L. R. 41 All 353

Registration—Mortgage registered in a particular place by virtue of inclusion therein of property to which the mortgagor had no title—Fraud or collusion not proved. Where property is admitted to be in existence and has been included in a mortgage deed, but is shown not to have been the property of the mortgagor, the mere fact that the document has been registered in the district to which that property belongs, is not sufficient, in the absence of evidence of fraud or collusion between the mortgagor and the mortgagee, to invalidate the registration when that property is the only property hypothecated within the registration district. Procyopol Mukherjee v. Abhishek Chandra Pious, 14 C. W. N. 552, followed Narendra Lal Roy Chowdhuri v. Haridas Deb, 1 L. R. 41 Cal. 972, distinguished. PAWLADI LAL v MUSAMMAT LAKSHI (1918)

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*s. 28—contd.

I. L. R. 41 All. 22

—ss. 31, 32, 52, 87—Registration—"Presentation"—Presentation by a person not an authorized agent of the executant—Procedure—Invalid presentation not a mere question of procedure. Where a document is presented for registration by a person not duly authorized to present it according to the law applicable to registration of documents, such presentation is altogether invalid, and its subsequent registration, made upon the admission of the executant before an officer who had no jurisdiction to accept the document for registration, is likewise invalid. Majid un nissa v. Abdur Rahim, 1 L. R. 23 All 233, followed. ABUL-UD-DIN AHMAD v. BANXI BISI (1912)

I. L. R. 35 All. 34

s. 32—

—Presentation—"Presentation"—Presentation by a servant of the mortgagor in the presence of the mortgagor. Where a mortgage deed was handed over to the sub-registrar for the purpose of registration by a person other than the mortgagor, but the mortgagor was present assenting to the registration of the document with full knowledge of what was being done in the office of the sub-registrar: Held, that the presentation was a valid presentation within the meaning of s. 32 of the Registration Act. Nath Mal v. Abdul Wahid Khan, 1 L. R. 34 All 355, followed. Majid un nissa v. Abdur Rahim, 1 L. R. 23 All. 233, distinguished. Jambh Prasad v. Atiab Ali Khan, 1 L. R. 34 All. 331, not followed. KARTA HIRAY v. HARVAM CHAND (1912)

I. L. R. 35 All. 72

—Registration—"Presentation"—Physical delivery of document by person not authorized to "present" it, but executant present and assenting whilst registration was going on. Where it is shown that, prior to the registration of the document by the duly authorized official, a person competent to present the document for registration was present before that official assenting to the registration, the requirements of the Registration Act are sufficiently complied with. Majid un nissa v. Abdur Rahim, 1 L. R. 23 All 233, and Karti Aulakh v. Har Narain, 1 L. R. 35 All. 72, referred to. ATMA RAM v. UOMA SEV (1912)

I. L. R. 35 All. 134

—ss. 32, 33, 71, 73, 75, 87, 88—Mortgage-deed—Registration—Presentation—Authority to present document for registration on behalf of executant—Distinction between presentation under part VI and under part XII of the Act. A mortgage-deed was executed on the 20th of November 1911. Before, however, the deed could be registered, the mortgagee fell ill. On the 3rd of February, 1912, the mortgagee executed in favour of a pleader, a power of attorney of the kind referred to in s. 32 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908. This was duly authenticated by the sub-registrar, and the document was presented for registration by the pleader on the 6th of February, 1912.

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*ss. 32, 33, 71, 73, 75, 87, 88—concl'd

On the 8th of February the mortgagee died. The mortgagor failed to appear before the sub-registrar and admit execution, and the sub registrar refused to register the deed. An application was next presented to the Registrar under s. 73 of the Act by the widow of the mortgagee in the capacity of the guardian of the mortgagee's two minor sons, and on the 28th of June, 1912, the Registrar made an order under s. 75 (1) of the Act directing that the mortgage-deed should be registered. Meanwhile the estate of the minors had been taken under the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and the Collector as Manager on behalf the Court of Wards, on the 23rd of July, 1912, sent the mortgage-deed by a messenger to the sub registrar, with a copy of the Registrar's order mentioned above and an official letter requesting that the document might be registered, which was accordingly done. On suit having been brought on the mortgage, some of the defendants raised an objection that the mortgage deed in suit was not validly registered. Held, that the document was properly registered. No valid objection could be sustained as to its presentation, either on the 5th of February, 1912, when it was presented by the pleader acting under his power of attorney given by the mortgagee, or on the 23rd of July, 1912 when it was sent by the Collector to the sub registrar. The Collector was not bound to present the document in person, and that being so, it was immaterial what means he took to bring it before the sub registrar. That officer was perfectly justified in presuming the authenticity of the Collector's official letter and in taking action accordingly. COLLECTOR OF MORADABAD v MAQ BUL UL-KAHMAN (1918) I. L. R. 40 All 434 ss. 32, 35, 49 and 80—Presentment of document for registration by a person not properly authorised—Limitation—Declaratory suit in respect of a gift of land and houses—Indian Limitation Act, IX of 1908 articles 123 and 125 On 14th June 1904 the widow of A K executed a gift by which she gave 2,493 bighas and 10 biswas of land and a house belonging to her deceased husband to H N, one of her 2 daughters. On the 30th January 1905 A B, plaintiff, the other daughter, executed a deed of release in which she consented to the gift and gave up her rights to the property gifted. Notwithstanding this she brought the present suit for a declaration that the gift should not affect her reversionary rights. The first Court gave her a decree as regards both the land and the house. The Lower Appellate Court upheld the decree in regard to the land but held that the suit was barred by time as regards the house. Both parties appealed to the High Court. It was contended by the plaintiff that though the deed of release was a registered one it was inadmissible in evidence owing to defects in registration as the person presenting it on behalf of the plaintiff had no power of attorney. Held, following Jambh Prasad v Muhammad Afzal Ali [I. L. R. 37 All 49 (P C)] that sections 32 and 33 of the Registration Act relating to the presentation of documents for registration, are imperative and their provisions must be strictly followed and therefore if the Agent who presented deed for registration had not been duly authorised in the manner prescribed by the Act the deed would not be validly registered so as (under sec tion 49) to affect immovable property or to be received in evidence of any transactions affecting such property. One object of sections 32 to 35 of the Registration Act is to make it difficult for persons to commit fraud by means of registration under the Act, and it is the duty of the Courts not to allow the imperative provisions of the Act to be defeated. Held, further, that the presumption is that the owner of a house is owner of the site also and therefore article 125 of the Limitation Act applies to this suit in regard to the house (included in the gift) as well as to the land. Dev Raj v Shiv Ram (70 P. R. 1914) distinguished Soman Singh v Ullam Chand (I. L. R. 1 Lahore 69), referred to Rulla Ram v Sher Singh (5 Indian Cases 842), followed MUSAMMAT AMIR BEGUM v MUST HUSSAIN BIBI I. L. R. 2 Lah. 5

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd.*ss. 32, 35, 49 and 80—concl'd

s. 35—Registration of deed of gift—Death of donor—Execution admitted by donee—Registration, if proper The donee under a deed of gift is an "assign" of the executant within the meaning of s. 35 of the Registration Act and may when the donor is dead admit the execution of the deed before the Registering Officer. AK ROY CHANDRA MAJHI v MANMATHA NATH CHATTERJEE (1916) 20 C. W. N. 1345 ss. 38, 73, 77—Registration—Refusal of Sub Registrar to register—Appeal to Registrar—Refusal to register based on inability to procure attendance of executants—Suit to compel registration A sale deed was presented for registration but the executants did not appear before the Sub Registrar, who, after four months from the date of execution, reported the fact to the Registrar and was directed by the latter not to register it. Registration was accordingly refused. An appeal against that order to the Registrar was dismissed. It appeared that the summonses by the Sub Registrar to the executants had been returned unserved. The vendees brought a suit for registration of the document. Held, that the suit was maintainable, the refusal by the Sub Registrar to register not being based upon denial of execution. Luci Lal Narain Khattri v Sat Cowrie Pyne, I. L. R. 16 Cal. 189, distinguished KHADIM HUSAIN v BHANAT SINGH (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All 315

s. 41 (2)—Enquiry before a Sub Registrar regarding a disputed will—Deposition of witnesses, admissibility of, under s. 33, of the Evidence Act The depositions of witnesses (since deceased) examined at an enquiry held by a Sub Registrar under s. 41 (2) of the Indian Registration Act regarding the genuineness of a will, at which the opposing parties had opportunity of cross-examination, are admissible in evidence under s. 33 of the Evidence Act in a subsequent suit raising the same question between the same parties. It is not necessary that the "first proceeding" referred in s. 33 of the Evidence Act should be a judicial proceeding. LAKSHMANNA v VARDHANANNA (1918) I. L. R. 42 Mad. 103

— s. 47—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 97. I. L. R. 37 All. 59

Time from which registered document operates—Date of execution and not

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—*contd*s. 77—contd.

See LIMITATION. I. L. R. 47 Cal. 300
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 291

Period of 30 days provided by s. 77, Registration Act (XVI of 1908), if can be extended on ground of prosecution of proceedings in good faith in Court not having jurisdiction. A suit for the registration of a mortgage bond for Rs. 1,000 was filed in the Court of the Munsiff, being valued at Rs. 500, and on the Court holding it to be undervalued the plaint was amended and the suit was valued at Rs. 1,000, whereupon the plaint was returned as being beyond the pecuniary limit of the jurisdiction of the Court. It was then filed in the Court of the Subordinate Judge and was dismissed as barred by limitation; Held, that under s. 29 (1) (b) of the Limitation Act nothing in that enactment affects or alters any period of limitation specially prescribed for any suit, appeal or application by any special or local law, and inasmuch as s. 71 to 77 of the Registration Act lay down a complete procedure where registration is refused and as s. 77 limits the period within which a suit is to be brought to 30 days, the said period cannot be extended under s. 14 of the Limitation Act on the ground of prosecution of proceedings in good faith in a Court not having jurisdiction in the matter. KHAGENDRA NARAYAN ROY BARMAN v. BARMANI BARMANI 24 C. W. N. 29

Held, that s. 14 of the Limitation Act cannot be applied to compute the period of limitation prescribed by s. 77 of the Registration Act for a suit to enforce the Registration of a document. KALIMULLAH MOLLAH v. SAKIBUDDIN MOLLAH 24 C. W. N. 4

Whether Court can enter into the question of the validity of the document—Punjab Alienation of Land Act, XIII of 1900, s. 17—New charge on old security—whether a new mortgage. Held, that in a suit for the registration of a document under s. 77 of the Registration Act, the District Judge is not entitled to enquire into anything more than whether the ostensible executant signed and delivered to the other party the document which he produced for registration and he cannot enter into any question regarding its validity. NAWAB v. ARJAN DAS, (13 P. R. 1904), followed. Held, further, that where a mortgage has been effected before the 8th June 1901, and a further advance is made after that date on the old security, the further advance is not a new mortgage, provided that no changes are made in the terms of the original transaction. SHADI LAL v. PUNJAB ALIENATION OF LAND ACT, p. 41, and Financial Commissioner's Standing Order No. 7, dated 2nd September 1911, referred to. PENAL DAS v. MUSTANMAT JANNAT

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 202

s. 77-72, 76—Suit for registration of document, registration whereof refused on the ground of non payment of penalty in due time. Refusal by a Sub-Registrar to register a document on the ground of failure to pay penalty in due time is an order refusing registration under s. 72 of the Registration Act and is appealable to the Registrar and on the dismissal of such appeal a suit lies under s. 77 for the registration of the document. UMESH CHANDRA GHOSH v. NISTARANI BASU

24 C. W. N. 304

REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)—contd

s. 82, 83—

Permission of registration officer a necessary preliminary to a prosecution. Held, that the permission referred to in s. 83 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, is a necessary condition precedent to the prosecution of any person for an offence mentioned in s. 82 of the Act. KING EMPEROR v. JIWAN, 27 Indian Cases, 203, referred to. EMPEROR v. ILICHAIR KHAN (1916) I. L. R. 38 All. 354

Offence under s. 82—Prosecution by a private person—Permission under s. 83, whether necessary. Permission under s. 83 of the Registration Act (XVI of 1908) is not a preliminary requisite for the institution by a private person of proceedings for an offence under s. 82 of the Act. GOPNATH v. KULDIP SINGH, I L R 11 Cal. 566 and QUEEN EMPRESS v. FULHINGS, I L R 11 Mad. 500, referred to. NAIDATHI (1917) I. L. R. 40 Mad. 860

s. 83—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE.

s. 213 I. L. R. 28 Bom. 114

s. 413 I. L. R. 39 All. 292

s. 87 and 88—

See s. 31 I. L. R. 35 All. 34

See s. 32 I. L. R. 40 All. 434

s. 90—

See s. 17 I. L. R. 38 All. 176

See DOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 170

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 898

See RAJINAMA AND KABULIAT

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 359

cl. (1) (d)—Consolidation—Sale of ejazdem genera—Lease of lands by Government—Document executed by leasee but not registered, whether admissible in evidence—Prohibition in lease against erection of buildings—Power of Government to impose conditions—Crown Grants Act (XV of 1893), ss. 2 and 3—Power whether affected by Malabar Compensation for Tenants' Improvements Act (I of 1900), s. 19. A lease of lands made by Government was evidenced by an unregistered document executed by the lessee; it contained an undertaking by the lessee not to erect buildings on the land, the latter, however, built on the lands contrary to the agreement. In a suit by the Secretary of State to eject the lessee. Held, that the document did not require registration as it fell under s. 90, cl. (1) (d) of the Registration Act, and was admissible in evidence. The expression "other document, etc." in s. 90, Registration Act, should not be construed ejusdem generis with "sanads and lease title deeds" in the previous part of the section; but, even if so construed, a lease is of a different character as a sanad; and the words "grants or assignments of interest" in the same section are comprehensive enough to include a lease. Under ss. 2 and 3 of the Crown Grants Act the Government has power to impose restrictions in a lease made by it—a power which is not affected by the provisions of the Malabar Compensation for Tenants' Improvements Act. MUSKULU v. THE DEPTD AREA OF FOREST (1914), I. L. R. 35 All. 176, distinguished. MOHAT KUTTI v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 65.

REGULATIONS—*contd*1801—I—contd

established by a decree of the Sudder Dewany Adalat of 1805 to be an independent talook having duly applied for the separation of the talook in accordance with the provisions of Reg I of 1801 within a year from the passing of the Act, had not been wanting in diligence in seeking the relief to which they were clearly entitled and that the delay of over 100 years that had occurred was due either to the opposition of the zemindar or the action of the Revenue authorities, and that the objections of the zemindar in their present suit to the separation being effected by the Revenue authorities were purely vexatious and designed to prolong litigation. "The actual produce" on which the assessment of revenue under s 8 of Reg I of 1801 was to be based was "the actual produce" at the time when proceedings were instituted for the separation of the talook. HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI v JAGA DINDRA NATH ROY (1918) . 23 C. W. N. 149

1802—XXV—

See IMPARTIBLE ESTATE.

I. L. R. 36 Mad 325

See UNSETTLED PALAYAN

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 749

See MADRAS REGULATION

Impartible estate, proof of—Sanad granted under Madras Reg XXV of 1802, in common form, if alters succession—Impartibility, proof of—Raj, estate whether—Question of fact—Concurrent findings—Appeal to Privy Council—Practice The zamindari of Nidadavole was the subject of a sanad in common form under Reg (Mad) XXV of 1802. Held, that it must be held to be partible and descendible according to the ordinary rules of inheritance of the Hindu Law unless the sanad could operate as a confirmation of a previously existing estate which from its nature or by virtue of some special family custom, was impartible and descendible to a single heir. Whether or not at or prior to the date of the sanad the grantee of the sanad had an estate in the nature of a Raj and so descendible to a single heir was a question of fact to be determined on the evidence. Where on such a question there were concurrent findings of the Courts in India, the practice of the Privy Council was not to disturb the finding unless they were satisfied that it was not justified by the evidence. The principles applicable in determining the questions of impartibility in cases of this description re-affirmed. VENKATARAMAYYA APPA ROW v PARTHASARATHY APPA ROW (1913) . 17 C. W. N. 1221

1803—XXXI—

s. 6—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

I. L. R. 38 All. 230

1805—XII—

s. 33—

See CHATEWANI CHAKKAR LANDS.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 710

1805—XIII—

s. 41—

See CHATEWANI CHAKKAR LANDS.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 710

REGULATIONS—contd

1806—XVII—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

I. L. R. 38 All. 570

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 38 All. 97

s. 8—Mortgage by way of conditional sale—Suit for redemption—Plea of foreclosure under the Regulation—Procedure—Evidence In the case of mortgage to which Reg XVII of 1806 applies, before it can be held that the right of redemption is barred, it must be proved that the requirements of the Regulation have been strictly complied with, that is to say that the mortgagee had served upon the mortgagor a notice, under the seal and official signature of the District Judge, warning him that the mortgage would be finally foreclosed in the event of his failure to redeem within the period of one year. Badal Ram v Taj Ali & A L. J. 717, followed. RAM BIRAN RAY v HAN SEWAR DUTTA (1918) . I. L. R. 40 All. 387

1810—XIX—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 13

1812—V—

s. 3—

See ILLEGAL CESS.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 259

1814—XXIX—

See GHATWALI TENURES.

1 Pat. L. J. 197

See PARTITION I. L. R. 47 Calc. 354

1818—III—

See LEEEL I. L. R. 37 Calc 760

1819—II—

Resumption of lands within permanently settled mahal—Nature of onus of proof on person with whom such land settled in dispute as to whether land settled was within ambit of the zemindari Where certain lands within a permanently settled mahal were resumed under Reg II of 1819 and settled along with other Government khas mahal lands with a person other than the zemindar, the onus of proving that lands within the ambit of the zemindari were part of such resumed land as against the zemindar did not lie on the person who claimed it as such in the sense that on his failure to discharge it, the lands must be taken to remain and be vested in the zemindar. SURJA KANTA ACHARYA v. SABAT CHANDRA HOY CHOWDHURY (1914) . 18 C. W. N. 1281

1819—VIII—

See PATNI SALE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 782

ss. 8, 9, 13 (2)—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF PENT

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 715

s. 14—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, s. 8

16 C. W. N. 123

1822—VII—

See PER EMPTION. I. L. R. 33 All. 196

Settlement proceedings under Reg 111 of 1822, read with Reg IX of 1825

REGULATIONS—*contd.*1822—VII—contd.

Under Reg. VII of 1822, read with Reg. IX of 1835
*—Rajput land held by Settlement Officer to belong to defendant and not to plaintiff's holding—Decision of "award"—Plaintiff's suit to recover—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sec. II, Arts. 11, 45—Tenants, if they sue to recover from person with whom land settled by landlord and by whom he has been dispossessed. Where a Collector in settling land under Reg. VII of 1822 decided that a certain area of land did not form part of the plaintiff's holding as alleged by them, but was part of the defendant's holding. Held that the decision of the Collector was not an award within the meaning of Art. 45 of Sec. II of the Limitation Act of 1877. Held, further, that an order by which land belonging to the plaintiff was given by the Collector to others without any warrant of law need not be set aside by the plaintiff and Art. 14 of Sec. II of the Limitation Act does not apply to a suit by the plaintiff to recover the land. It was not intended by the provision of Reg. VII of 1822 that the Collector should decide disputes as to title between rajputs in which the zamindars or sardar mahajans had no amendment which could in no way affect the interest and so Art. 14 of the Regulation does not apply to a case in which rival tenants claim, not only a tenancy of the same nature, but the same land under the same nature of tenancy. The decision in Enod Lal Palwani v. Kala Prasad (I L. R. 20 Cal. 54), was never intended to be applied to a tenant suing to recover his own holding. Rajani Nait Mukherji v. Ram Dulal Das (1911)*

17 C. W. N. 55

— 3. 3—

*Char land—Prevent seller's right to re-settlement—Revenue authorities who may settle with stranger—Strict compliance with the law necessary. Where there was no report by the Revenue authorities that the settlement of char land with the proprietor of a permanently-settled estate contiguous to it, who was the last holder of the char, would endanger the public tranquility or otherwise be seriously detrimental. Held, that the settlement of the char with a third party was not in compliance with a 3, Reg. VII of 1822, and must be set aside. Strict compliance with the provisions of the Regulation was necessary to justify the deprivation of the permanent holder's right to settlement of the char with him. Rajni Nath Barua v. Kanakchandra Sinha (1916)*

23 C. W. N. 221

Char mahal reserved to a permanently-settled estate, temporary settlement under Regulation, if valid—Reg. II of 1832—Reg. XI of 1835—Art. IX of 1847—Art. XXXI of 1853—Reg. I of 1858—Portioning of char on ground of Sudder Mahajans' misconduct attacked as ultra vires—Decision of Revenue authorities if reviewable by Civil Courts—Civil Courts jurisdiction. The provisions of a 3 of Reg. VII of 1822 are applicable to char lands which have been reserved to an estate in which the owner has a permanent proprietary interest. The applicability of the provisions of the Regulation is not restricted to the matters referred to in the second paragraph of a 3 of Art. XXXI of 1853. Where upon a report of the Revenue authorities bearing on the conduct of the Sudder Mahajans with whom, on behalf of the proprietors of a permanently-settled estate, a char mahal had been settled, the Local Government in exercise of powers conferred by a 3 of Reg. VII of 1822 directed that the mahal be held khaz for a term of 12 years and the order of the Local Government was questioned as ultra vires on the ground that the charges made against the Sudder Mahajans were without justification. Held, that if there were materials for the Revenue authorities to go upon, it was not open to the Civil Court to see whether they were sufficient to justify them in reporting to the Government under the proviso to the section, the proviso having conferred exclusive jurisdiction in the matter on the Revenue authorities. What the Civil Court has to be satisfied with is that the requirements of the law had been complied with and that the Revenue authorities had materials upon which it made the recommendation to the Government. There is nothing to show that steps cannot be taken under a 3 of the Regulation unless the report of the Revenue authorities is made in the course of proceedings under Reg. VII of 1822, and the present order was not bad because it was made in the course of settlement proceeding not under Chap. X of the Bengal Tenancy Act. LADRA NATHA AICH v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1919) 23 C. W. N. 265

REGULATIONS—contd.— 3. 3—contd.

— 27. 9— *First, enhancement of—Settlement officer, powers of—Jumlandi. Where a settlement was carried out under Reg. VII of 1822. Held, that the Settlement Regulation did not authorise the settlement of sale lands. All that the Settlement Officer was entitled to do was to record the existing rent. ISHAR CHANDRA SARKAR v. TRIVELAKYA NATH SINHA (1913)*

17 C. W. N. 963

— 1. 10—

See REGULATION AND SETTLEMENT SALLS ACT
1870, a 37 5 Pat. L. J. 79

— 1823—XI—

See BENGAL ALLIANCE AND DIVISION
REGULATION 5 Pat. L. J. 1 & 632

See FISHERY 1 L. R. 42 Cal. 489

*Whether the section applies to the bed of a private river. 8 of Reg. XI of 1823 is not limited to its application to a river the bed of which is the property of the Crown. PURI DASS v. NAYAN PANDIT. 1 Pat. L. J. 326*

Immodar, if a navigable river—Non-navigable river flowing through or by the side of permanently-settled estates, charges forming in, if terminable and assessable with revenue—If permanent owner's right to the middle of the stream—If exclusive right of fishery, no evidence of title to the bed of the river and. The test in this country as to whether a river is navigable is whether it allows of the passage of boats at all times of the year. The river Immodar was not a navigable river at the date of the Permanent Settlement. At the date of the Permanent Settlement the bed of the river Immodar in so far as it flowed through the estates of zamindars of Bardwan formed a portion of the estate permanently settled with the predecessor of the remainder of Lordman. Atough as exclusive right of fishery does not of itself pass the right to the bed in the bed of the river, the terms of the grant in this case being unknown or uncertain, the fact that the grantor had a several right of fishery in the river was held to support his claim to the soil in its bed. Churs forming in non navigable rivers flowing through permanently settled estates and forming parts thereof are not resumable under Reg XI of 1823. Before there can be a further assessment of Government revenue there must be a "gain" from the public domain. The right to the soil of a river flowing within the estates of different proprietors belongs to the riparian owners ad medium filum aquæ. Where property is bounded by a road or a river, the boundary even if given as the road or the river is the middle of the road or river as the case may be. Therefore, a permanently settled estate on the bank of a non navigable river included half the bed of the river, and churs forming on this portion are not assessable with revenue under Reg XI of 1823, the assessment of the Government revenue on the riparian mouzas having been imposed not only on the mouzas but on the adjoining half of the river bed also. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. BEJOY CHAND MAHATAP (1918)

REGULATIONS—contd1875—XI—contd

22 C. W. N. 872

1827—II—

s. 21—Caste question—Civil Court Jurisdiction—Suit to be declared Ayya of Hiremath and to restrain defendant from so styling himself. The plaintiff sued to obtain a declaration that he was entitled to the fees and privileges appertaining to the Hiremath and Kamalapur by reason of his title to be called the Ayya of that Hiremath, and to obtain a perpetual injunction to restrain the defendant from using the name of "Ayya of Hiremath." The plaintiff's complaint was that the defendant had assumed a name to which the plaintiff had the exclusive right, and that that assumption would enable, as it had enabled, the defendant to attract to himself a large number of the plaintiff's followers, and, thereby appropriate to himself fees, which would otherwise have been paid to the plaintiff. Held, that it was a claim to a caste office and to be entitled to perform the honorary duties of that office or to enjoy certain privileges and honors at the hands of the members of the caste in virtue of that office. It was a caste question not cognizable by a Civil Court. Held, also, that the fact that there had been no allegation of any specific damage by reason of the assumption by the defendant of the name of Ayya of Hiremath, and also the admission that after all the result of the assumption of that name would be merely to enable some of the followers of the plaintiff to go over to the defendant showed that what the parties had been fighting for was merely a question of dignity under the cover of a religious office. If the Court were to interfere in such cases, it would be merely assisting one party at the expense of the other and compelling the caste or the sect to follow one spiritual leader in preference to another. GADGONIA v. BANAYA (1910)

I. L. R. 31 Bom. 455

1832—VII—s. 9—*See HINDU LAW—CONVERSION

I. L. R. 33 All. 356

1833—IX—ss. 20, 21—*See COLLECTION I. L. R. 43 Calc. 485

VOL II

REGULATIONS—contd1872—III—

See SANTHAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGULATION, 1872 6 Pat. L. J. 373
4 Pat. L. J. 49

1882—III—

See ESTATES PARTITION ACT, 1897, s. 11.
1 Pat. L. J. 491

1882 VII—

s. 9—Duty of Settlement Officer under the Regulation—Entry as to fair rent payable by tenant, if has the effect of enhancing rent. A Settlement Officer under Reg VII of 1882 does not settle rent but records rates of rent existing in the village and the effect of an entry by the Settlement Officer as to the fair rent payable by the cultivator has not the effect of enhancement of his rent so as to entitle the landlord to claim rent at that rate. JAGADINDRA NATH RAY v. MONENDRA NATH MOZUMDAR (1914)

23 C. W. N. 587

1886—V—

ss. 85, 141—Municipal Board—Powers of Board in respect of erection of buildings—Suit against Municipal Board—Jurisdiction. One Kufayatullah served the Municipal Board of Ajmere with notice of his intention to rebuild a certain wall. He received no reply to his notice within a month, and thereafter commenced to build. The Municipal Board then required him to stop the building and submit a fresh application. The applicant stopped the building but did not present a fresh application, and some months later sued the Board for damages on account of the stoppage of the building. The Board failed to prove that the notice first given by Kufayatullah was not in accordance with law. Held, that in the circumstances the original notice must be considered as a good notice under s. 85 of the Ajmere Regulation, I of 1877, and that s. 140 of the Regulation, if it applied at all, did not oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to try the result for damages. MUNICIPAL BOARD OF AJMERE v. KUFAYAT ULLAH (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 220

1910—XIV—See GHATWALI TEXTURES

1 Pat. L. J. 197

RE-HEARINGSee AFFIDAVIT I. L. R. 3 Calc. 259*See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908

ss. 115, 151 Pat. L. J. 250

O XLI, R. 21

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908See I, ART. 192. 3 Pat. L. J. 119

appellant not entitled to—

See APPEAL, PARTIES TO AN
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 366

REIMBURSEMENT.See COMPROMISE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 932*RE-INSTATEMENT.*See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 28 Calc. 209*RELATIONSHIP.

evidence of—

See HINDU WIDOW.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 555

3 n

RELEASE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXIII s. 3

I L R 38 Mad 959

See LIQUIDATOR I L R 43 Cal 588

See MORTGAGE I L R 34 All 608

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1873 ss 17, 40

I L R 34 Bom 202

See STAMP ACT (11 OF 1899) SCH 1,

ART 53 I L R 38 All 58

conditional—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872) s 28

I L R 38 Bom 344

of sums of joint judgment-debtors—

See JOINT JUDGMENT DEBTORS

I L R 39 Mad 549

recitals in—

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER

I L R 41 Bom 309

Partition—Undivided brothers—Instruments whereby co-owners divide property in severally—Release—Stamp Instruments whereby co-owners of any property divide or agree to divide it in severally are instruments of partition. One of three undivided brothers agreed to take from the eldest brother, the manager of the family as his share in the family property, movable and immovable a certain cash and bonds for debts due to the family, and passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release. Subsequently one of the two brothers passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release whereby he and the eldest brother divided the remaining family property by the latter handing over to the former securities for money. A question having arisen as to whether for the purpose of stamp duty the said two documents were to be treated as releases or instruments of partition. Held, that the documents were instruments of partition. In re GOVIND PANDURANG KAMAT (1910) I L R 35 Bom 75

RELEVANCY

of previous decision—

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTION)

I L R 1 Lab 540

RELIEF

See DIVORCE I L R 37 Cal 613

Power for Court to grant when order would be nugatory—

See BEKAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s 69

6 Pat L J 658

whether limited by pleadings—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O XXXIX s 7

6 Pat L J 130

Claim for two reliefs—Right to one proved and to the other not proved—Right of plaintiff to a decree for the relief proved Where the plaintiff claimed a decree for possession of a tank from which they had been dispossessed and a declaration that they had a permanent and heritable right in the tank and it was found that they were entitled to possession but were not entitled to a permanent and heritable right therein. Held that they were entitled to a decree for possession.

RELIEF—could

sion as it was not a case of a plaintiff claiming one relief and being given relief of a wholly different kind. It was a case of a plaintiff claiming two reliefs—one of which he was entitled to and the other he had failed to prove. I myself entitled to DEHU GHUNYA v SRIMATI HARADHINA DEHI

2 Pat L J 15

RELIGIOUS BEQUEST

See WILL

I L P 46 Cal 485

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY

Right to perform religious ceremonies if may be enforced—Agreement to share profits of religious services and if lies to enforce Parties who require religious ceremonies to be performed for their benefit are at liberty to choose the priest by whom they shall be performed and no declaration can be given that any person is exclusively entitled to officiate at ceremonies at a particular place Where the plaintiffs claimed under an agreement executed by the ancestors of the plaintiffs and defendants that whoever amongst them might perform ceremonies on a particular occasion on the banks of the river Jhunpun at Gaya he should bring whatever he might earn thereby into a common fund to be enjoyed by all the members of the family. Held that such agreement cannot be obligatory on the successors of the parties for all time in spite of the wishes of the members who might desire to terminate it and a suit does not lie to enforce the claim. Dano Nath v Pratap Chandra, I L R 27 Cal 30 & C W N 79, and Bheema v Kotha Kola, 17 Mad L J 493 distinguished. DWARAKA MISHRA v RAMPRATAP MISHRA (1911)

16 C W N 347

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 92 I L R 40 Mad 212

See HINDU LAW (RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT)

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 18; SCH I ARTS 124 144

I L R 39 All 636

See PARTIES I L R 40 Cal 323

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT

See PES JUDICATA

I L R 37 Bom 224

requirements for completion of a valid gift—

See HINDU LAW (RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT) I L R 43 All 503

Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863) ss 7 & 8 and 10—Suit brought by surviving member of a Committee, whether main maintainable A suit brought by a surviving member or members of a Committee appointed under s 7 of the Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863) is maintainable. Santholva v Manjanna Shetty, I L R 14 Mad 1, distinguished. RAGHU NANDAN RAMANUJA DAS v THEBUTH BRUSAN MURTHY (1911) I L R 39 Cal 304

Failure of the line of trustees—Right of heirs of founders of the institution to create a new line of trustees. Held by the Full Bench (SRIVATSA ATYANGAP J contra) that it is competent to an heir of the founder of a shrine, in whom the trusteeship has vested owing to the failure of the line of the original trustees, to create a new line of trustees Per SAINIVA ARYANAN, J. In the absence of any such power in the deed of trust, the Court alone has the power to appoint a trustee, such a power of nomination is equivalent to an alienation of the office of trustee which is illegal GAURANGA SAHU v SUDEVI NATA (1917) . . . I L R. 40 Mad 612

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT—contd

Mutt—Head of Mutt—Trustee of Temples—Appointment of successor—Compromise to avoid prosecution—Invalidity—Code of Civil Procedure (XIV of 1882) s 539 By the usage of a mutt the pandara sannidhi, or head had power to appoint his successor and was trustee of the endowments of certain dependent temples. In 1894 the pandara sannidhi appointed the appellant as chinnu pattam or junior head with a right to succeed as head. This appointment was not made dona fide in the interests of the mutt, but under a compromise whereby he had avoided a threatened prosecution for forgery of a will purporting to be that of his predecessor and appointing him as successor. The appellant having succeeded as pandara sannidhi, suits were instituted in 1905 to remove him from being trustee of the mutt properties and of the temple properties. Held, that the appellant's appointment as head of the mutt was invalid and that consequently he never became trustee of the temples, but that on the finding which was not challenged on appeal, that there was no evidence that the head of the mutt was a trustee of the mutt properties, the suit to remove him from being trustee of the mutt could not be maintained under s 539 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882. Rama lingam Pillai v Vythilingam Pillai (1933) L R 20 I A 150, I L R 16 Mad 490, (P C), followed and applied. NATARAJA THAMIRAN v KAILASAM PILLAI (1921) 1 L R 44 Mad. 283

Removal of Mahant by unauthorised persons—Suit for restoration—Whether irregularities in removal entitle plaintiff to succeed When the Mahant of an endowment had been removed from office on account of unfitness. Held, he was not entitled to succeed in a suit for a declaration that the defendant had no right to remove him from office and for possession merely on the ground that the persons who removed him from office were incompetent to do so unless he could show that he was not unfit to continue in the office. NIAMAT ALI v YAD ALI SHAH

6 Pat L J 408

Mutt—Relation of heads and managers of religious institutions to their property—Alienation by head of mutt—'Trustee' Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 131 and 134 The endowments of a Hindu mutt are not "conveyed in trust" nor is the head of the mutt a "trustee" with regard to them, save as to any specific property proved to be vested in the head for specific and definite object. Consequently, Art 134 of Sch I of the Indian Limitation Act, 1909, which contains the expressions above quoted, does not apply where the head of a mutt has granted a permanent lease over a part of the mutt property not proved to be subject to a specific trust. The same rule applies to the endowments of Mohammedan religious institutions, and to alienations made by the Sajjadanaashin or Mutawali. Ram Parkash Das v Anant Das,

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT—contd

(1916) I L R 43 Cal 707 (P C) L R 43 I A 73, explained. Behari Lal v Muhammad Aluttafi, (1893) I L R 20 All. 482 (F B), Dattagiri v Dattatraya, (1903) I L R 27 Bom 363, Nilmoney Singh v Jagabandhu Roy, (1896) I L R 23 Cal 536, disapproved. Except for unavoidable necessity, the head of a mutt cannot create any interest in the mutt property to encumber beyond his life. A lessee, however, has not adverse possession under Art 144 of the schedule above-named during the life of the head who granted the lease. If the lessee's possession is consented to by the succeeding head, that consent can be referable only to a new tenancy created by him, and there is no adverse possession until his death. [Judgment of the High Court reversed.] VIDYA VARUTHI v BALUSAMI AYYAR (1921)

I L R 44 Mad 831

Shabats rights, whether trustees have power to convey life estate in—Adverse possession, acquisition of Shabats rights by—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s 10, Sch I, Arts 124, 134 and 144 The right to administer the trust property of a public religious endowment within the limits imposed by the trust and, for that purpose, the right to possession of the property, as against those previously administering the trust, or others claiming through them, can be acquired by adverse possession, and in a trust of this nature it is only where a claim is set up adverse to the rights of the deity to whose worship the property is dedicated, that s 10 of the Limitation Act, 1908, could have any application so as to deprive the defendant of the rights conferred by the remaining portions of the Act. The trustees of such an endowment have no power to convey even a life estate in the shabats rights attending the worship of an idol. Where the trustees purport to make such a conveyance the grantee is in adverse possession of the estate from the time when he assumes the duties of the office and takes over possession of the property. NATHE PUJARI v RADHA BRYDE NAIR

3 Pat L J. 327

Waqf—Constitution of The dedication of property in trust to secure the permanent performance of certain religious ceremonies is not void for vagueness nor does the fact that the settlor retains the residue of the income for herself vitiate the trust. SAYID ISMAIL ALI KHAN v MUHAMMAD HAMIDI BEGUM

6 Pat L J. 218

*Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, s 539—Sanction to sue under section—Death of original defendant—Jurisdiction to order scheme. A mutt was instituted to remove a Raja from the management of a Hindu shrine on the ground of mismanagement. Permission to institute a suit under s 539 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1882 had been granted. Pending the hearing the Raja died, his widow was substituted for him and later a posthumous son was added as a defendant. The trial Judge found that the shrine was a public, religious and charitable trust and held that the defendant family should be removed from being trustees and a scheme settled. Upon appeal the son's hereditary right to manage the shrine on attaining majority was conditionally declared, and if a case was remitted for the settlement of a scheme. Held that there was jurisdiction to order the settlement of a scheme although the application for permission* contemplated only the appointment of new trustees, and although the original defendant had died after the suit was instituted. Judgment of the Court of Judicial Commissioner affirmed. RAJA ANAND ILAI v RAMDAS DADURAM (1920)

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT—contd

I L R 48 Cal 493

Suit—Bona purchase of Debtor property—Invalidity—Removal of sheshai. A purchase of debtor property by its sheshai benami and without disclosing that he is the real purchaser is invalid even when the sale is in execution proceedings and the sheshai has paid the full market value. It is sufficient ground for removing a sheshai from his office that in the exercise of his duties he has placed himself in a position in which the Court thinks that he can no longer faithfully discharge the obligations of the office. Judgment of the High Court affirmed. PEARY MOHAN MUKERJI v MANOHAR MUKERJI, (1921)

I L R 48 Cal 1019

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 92 and 14

I L R 42 Mad 608

Change of village from one district to another, for revenue purposes—Religious institution in the village—Power of original committee of the original district to control the institution—No power for the committee of the new district to appoint trustees. The Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863) contemplates the creation of divisions or district committees once for all soon after the passing of the Act to take the place of the Board of Revenue and the local agents referred to in Reg VII of 1817. It is only the committee that is originally appointed in that behalf or its successor that can exercise jurisdiction over a particular religious institution and any order of Government transferring a certain village in which a particular religious institution is situated from one district to another for purposes of revenue administration does not deprive the original temple committee of its powers over the institution (such as appointing trustees for the same) or enable the committee of the new district to which the village is transferred to exercise any power over the institution. RASAPPA v RUMAPPA (1915)

I L R 39 Mad 949

S. 3—Temple falling under—Power of Temple Committee to appoint additional trustees in good faith and in the interest of the temple—Onus of proving bad faith on person challenging the appointment. For the better management of a certain Hindu temple which had no settled scheme of management and which was governed by a 3 of the Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863) a Temple Committee appointed two trustees in addition to the three then existing. Held, (a) that the committee had power to appoint the additional trustees in virtue of their general power of superintendence over temples committed to their care as successors to the Board of Revenue, who has such power under s 2 of Reg VII of 1817, (b) that this power must be exercised reasonably and in good faith, in the interests of the temple (c) that the onus of proving that it did not exercise this power "Reasonably and in good faith"

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)—contd

lay not on the committee but on the person challenging the appointment of additional trustees, e.g., on the already existing trustee as in this case, who sued to set aside the additional appointments, and (d) that the power of appointing new trustees was not confined to filling up vacancies alone, but extended to creating additional trustees. Sheik David Saib v Hussein Saib I L R 17 Mad 212, referred to Venkatasubba Pillai v The Taluk Board Sandapet I L R 34 Mad 375 Alayathakali Ammal v The Taluk Board of Mayararam, I L R 34 Mad 333, s c 20 Mad L J 355, and Ganapathi Ayyar v Sri Vedavyasa Alangudi Jattar, I L R 29 Mad 534, distinguished. THIRUVENGADATHAYANGAR v POENAVATTENGAR (1914)

I L R. 38 Mad 1176

*Suit for scheme for a temple falling under s 3—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 92 jurisdiction of Courts to frame a scheme under—Temple Committee, powers of ever since 1812 when the Board of Revenue handed over the management of the temple of Sriangam to certain trustees, one trustee was chosen hereditarily every year from a certain family in the locality called the "Sthalathars" and two other trustees were appointed till 1863 by the Board and later on by the Temple Committee formed under the Religious Endowments Act, (XX of 1863). In several litigations connected with the temple the temple was treated as one falling under s 3 of Act XX of 1863. Held, that the temple was one falling under s 3 and not under s 4 and was thus subject to the control of the Temple Committee. Though the Courts cannot interfere with the statutory powers conferred upon the members of the Temple Committee so as to deprive them of their statutory functions, yet the Court has jurisdiction to frame a scheme under s 92, Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) in respect even of a temple subject to the control of the Temple Committee, and introduce changes in its administration which the committee is not legally competent to introduce and which are desirable and necessary to meet the altered circumstances of the time. Considering that the actual management of the temple must vest in the trustees subject to the statutory control of the committee, their Lordships held it undesirable in framing a scheme to introduce, as the lower Court did, a new body of people called a Board of Control over the trustees and hence abolished the same. In the result their Lordships framed a scheme for the temple providing among other things for (a) the appointment of two additional trustees for the better management of the temple, (b) the tenure of office of the trustees appointed being only for five years (c) the preparation of annual budget and audit of temple accounts and (d) the appointment of a cashier under the trustees. PER CHIAM—The powers of the committee or any other statutory body do not become suspended by the occurrence of a vacancy since its members Powers of a Temple Committee considered. Santhala v Manjanna Shetty, I L R 34 Mad 1, dissented from English and Indian cases reviewed SITHARAMA CHETTY v SRI S. SURESHMANIA IYER (1916).*

I L R 39 Mad. 700

ss 3 and 4—

See HINDU LAW (ENDOWMENT)

I L R. 43 Mad 685

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)—contd

s 5—District Court if may appoint a trustee pending decision of Civil Court, in all cases District Courts have no power, upon a vacancy occurring in the office of the trustee of a religious endowment, to appoint a trustee under s 5 of the Religious Endowments Act unless the endowed property has been actually transferred to the former trustee under s 4 of the Act by the Board of Revenue or Government. Itanai Panikkar v Itanai Nambudripad, 1 L. R. 3 Mad 491 Jan 11 v Rim Vaidh Murali, 1 L. R. 3 Cal. 37, relied on Dharm Singh v Anand Singh, 1 L. R. 7 Cal. 781 Sheoranis Kuruwari v Ram Parash, 1 L. R. 13 All 22* Muhammad Samud Hay v Imamuddin, 1 L. R. 19 All 101, distinguished. s 5 of the Act contemplates the temporary appointment of a manager by the Court pending the decision by a Civil Court of the title of any other applicant to the office. Monuvv Sheonandan Gir v Dhupan Upadhyaya (1910) 14 C. W. N. 1104

Order appointing the Collector to take charge of a Math—Revision—Jurisdiction. The District Judge has jurisdiction to appoint a temporary manager of trust property under s 5 of Act No. XX of 1863 only in the case where a vacancy has occurred in the office of the trustee to whom such property shall have been transferred under s 4 of the Act. An order purporting to be passed under s 5 of the Act without any inquiry as to whether foundation for the District Judge's jurisdiction exists is open to the revisional, if not the appellate jurisdiction of the High Court. Itanai Panikkar v Itanai Nambudripad, 1 L. R. 3 Mad 491, Gopala Ayyar v Aruna Chulam Chetty, 1 L. R. 26 Mad 87, and Mohun Sheonandan Gir v Dhupan Upadhyaya, 14 C. W. N. 1104, referred to. Rasdeo Gir v Pitram Gir 41 L. R. 43 All 50

Order appointing the Collector to take charge of a Math—Appeal. No appeal lies against an order made under s 5 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863. Misakshi Vaidya v Subramanya Sastri, 1 L. R. 11 Mad 26, referred to. Pitram Gir v Mahant Rasdeo Gir 41 L. R. 43 All 55

s 7—

See MAHOMMEDAN LAW—WAKF

1 L. R. 45 Cal. 13

Suit for removal of trustees—Parties. Two out of three of the members constituting a committee appointed under s 7 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, are not competent to maintain a suit for the removal of the person or persons acting as the trustees of the endowment. The Committee under this section is a Corporation having a legal entity. Syed Muhammad Hasan v Kazi Nazim Muhammad 1 Pat. L. J. 437

ss 7, 8, 10—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

1 L. R. 39 Cal. 304

ss 7 and 10—Constitution of Committee under—Validity of Acts done by incomplete committee. One of a committee of three members appointed under s 7 of Act XX of 1863 (Religious Endowments Act) died and the vacancy thus ss 7 and 10—contd.

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)—contd

caused was not filled up in accordance with s 10 of the Act. The remaining two members purported to perform the functions of the committee. Held, that the remaining two members cannot be said to be a committee at all and cannot perform any of the functions of the original committee. Per ARNOLD WHITE, C. J.—ss 7 and 10 of the Act are imperative or obligatory and not merely directory. The law governing corporate bodies with regard to the capacity of the members of the corporate bodies to act is not applicable to the case of the statutory body appointed under s 7 of the Religious Endowments Act. The King v Bhranger, 4 T. P. 810, and 100 Eng. Rep. 1315 distinguished. Per ANDER RANIM, J.—The intention of the Legislature is that a committee appointed under the Act shall not consist of less than the number originally appointed. Ana to nara nana Iygar v Kuttalam Pillai 1 L. R. 22 Mad 481, distinguished. SANTHALVA v MAN JANTA SERTTY (1910) 1 L. R. 34 Mad. 1. BCT etc s 3 1 L. R. 39 Mad 700

s 10—Temple Committee

Vacancy—District Judge—Court—Persons designated—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115. An order made by a District Court under s 10 of the Religious Endowments Act is an order revisable by the High Court under s 115, Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). Meenakshi v Subramanya, 1 L. R. 11 Mad 26 distinguished. Gopala Ayyar v Arunachalam Chetty, 1 L. R. 26 Mad 85, referred to. When a Temple Committee does not do its duty, and arrange for an election, the Court can make the appointment without reference to the committee or direct the remaining members of the committee to fill up a vacancy. The power of the committee in such a case being derived from the Court an appointment by election there after is bad. Ramanuja Iyengar v Anandaraman Iyer, 6 Mad. L. J. 1, dissented from. VAJESUDRA AITTA v THE NEGAPATAN DEVASTHANAM COMMITTEE (1913) 1 L. R. 33 Mad 594

Vacancy in Temple

Committee—Jurisdiction of District Judge—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 115—Power of revision by the High Court—Duty of remaining members of the Committee—Failure to perform duty—Election held after expiration of the statutory time. The High Court has jurisdiction under s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code 1908, to revise an order of the District Judge made under s 10 of the Religious Endowments Act, XX of 1863, on the occurrence of a vacancy in a Temple Committee declaring that an election by the remaining members of the Committee to fill up the vacancy was regularly held, and that the appointment of the person was valid. No appeal lay under the Civil Procedure Code from such an order. In making the order the District Court was acting in a judicial capacity as a Court of law and not merely in an administrative capacity. The matter in which the order of the District Court was made was a 'case' within the meaning of s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908. A 'case' includes an ex parte application such as that made in this matter. Misakshi Nayudu v Subramanya Sastri, 1 L. R. 11 Mad 26 1 L. R. 14 I. A. 160 distinguished. On the true construction of s 10 of Act XX of 1863 the power of the remaining members of the Committee to fill up the vacancy must be exercised within three months from the date of the occurrence of the vacancy. The District Court had no jurisdiction after the expiration of the three months to direct the remaining members of the Committee to fill up the vacancy by election, or to make an order purporting to validate the appointment of the person elected. If the Committee do not perform their duty by holding an election within three months to fill up the vacancy, a subsequent election by the remaining members after the expiration of three months is invalid and this is so notwithstanding that such a construction would enable the remaining members of the Committee by their own default to practically disfranchise the electors and at the discretion of the Court possibly to procure the patronage for themselves. The only remedy for that is to alter the law if wrong, by legislation. The Board can only declare the law. BALAKRISHNA UDAYAN v VASUDEVA AYYAR (1917)

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)—*contd*s 10—contd

I L R 40 Mad 793

s 14—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s 92 I L R 42 Bom 742

ss 92 AND 14 I L R 42 Mad 668

See PARTIES I L R 40 Cal 323

Procedure to be fol-lowed by committee in the transaction of its business—Suspension of a temple trustee by a Temple Committee—Legality of procedure—Suit by the trustee fordamages for illegal suspension—Liability of individ-ual members of the committee in damages. Noticeof suspension was given to a temple trusteein accordance with the opinion of the majorityof the members of the local Temple Committee,to each of whom one of the members sent a copyof his report recommending suspension and inspite of the objection taken by one member thatthe matter should be disposed of at a meetingHeld, that a Temple Committee under the ReligiousEndowments Act resembles a corporation and thatthe ordinary way to transact its business is at ameeting. Assuming that it can do some of itsbusiness in circulation, it cannot remove or sus-pend trustees in this manner. Rex v Taylor 3Salk 231 91 E P 795 Rex v Sutton 10 Mad74 88 E 639 Tirumalaraya Pillai v Sub-bayer I L R 23 Mad 483 485 and PonnambalaPillai v Muthu Chettiar, 30 Mad L J 619referred to. The procedure being ultra vires it isno answer to the trustee's suit for damages forillegal suspension that there were sufficient groundsfor suspension. In India individual members of aTemple Committee who are parties to an illegalsuspension of this kind are liable in damages.Vijaya Raghava v Secretary of State for India IL R 7 Mad 466, and Ferguson v Kennedy 9 Ct& F 251, followed. Indian and English decisionsconsidered. VENKATA NARAYANA PILLAI vPOYKUSWAMI NADAR (1917)

I L R 41 Mad 357

ss 14 and 18 Sanction to two persons *jointly—Whether suit by one competent. Wheresanction to suit is given to two persons under s 18of the Religious Endowments Act, one of them cannot sue alone. Mahomed Akbar v Baniyan KhanI L R 34 Cal 537, explained. Sanction grantedunder s 18 of the Act is a condition precedent*RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX OF 1863)—*contd*ss 14 and 18—co id to the exercise of the right of suit. Venkateswara, In re, I L R 10 Mad 93, referred to. It has to be construed strictly without enlarging its scope. Sayad Hussain Aliyan v Collector of Kaira, I L R 21 Bom 257, referred to. S 14 of the Act commented on. VENKATESHA MALIA v RAMAYA HEDAGE (1914)

I L R 38 Mad. 1192

Leave given to four persons under s 18 of the Act—Suit by them unders 14—Death of one of the plaintiffs after suit, whetherit effects abatement. A suit instituted under s 14of the Religious Endowments Act by four personswith the leave of the Court under s 18 of the Act,does not abate on the death of one of the plaintiffs,Venkatesha Malia v Ramayya Hedage, I L R38 Mad 1192, Maddala Bagavannarayana vMadapalli Perumalla Charyulu, 23 Mad L J 231,distinguished. Chabbi v Ram v Durga Prasad,I L R 37 All 236, not approved. Parames-waran Munjee v Narayanan Nambodri, I L R40 Mad 119, referred to. ALAGAPPA v NUTHIAR(1917)

I L R 41 Mad 237

s 18—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882, s 622

I L R 23 Mad 412

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF

1908), s 92 I L R 37 Mad 184

I L R 40 Mad 212

RELIGIOUS FOUNDATION

Endowed Property—

Limitation Act, XV of 1877, s 28, Sch II, Arts 124, 144—Temple trusteeship and properties bar of suit for former involves bar of suits for latter. Thedismissal of a suit to recover the office of trusteefor a temple whereby the right to the trusteeshipis lost, involves the loss of the right to recover aportion of the endowment. GOVINDASAMI PILLAIv DASHTINAMURTI POOSARI (1910)

I L R 35 Mad. 82

RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS—

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS).

I L R 1 Lah 511, 540

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L R 36 Bom 308

transfer of—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX

OF 1863) I L R 39 Mad 949

RELIGIOUS OFFICE

See HINDU LAW SUCCESSION

I L R 40 Mad 105

competency of women to hold—

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS OFFICE

I L R 41 Mad 886

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—RELIGIOUS

Office I L R 41 Mad 1033

RELIGIOUS POEM

See OBSCENE PUBLICATION

I L R 39 Cal 377

RELIGIOUS PROCESSION

See HIGHWAY I L R 43 All 682

RELIGIOUS TRUST

S e PUBLIC RELIGIOUS TRUST

S e TRUST I L R 40 Calc 232

Deed of endowment—

S e sh ba i—Appoint ment of the n w sh ba i in case of death—Appoint ment how to be made—Rece ver pendents l i Trusts will not be allowed to fail for want of a trustee and consequently if the nom nee dies before qualifying or afterwards the Court will appoint a trustee In re Orde ² I CA D 271 I e Ambler s Trust 19 L T R S 219 Ganson v S mpson L R 5 L J 233 In re Smith wa e s Trusts L R 11 Eq 251 referred to Where a sh ba i is dead and there is no provision in the deed of endowment about the mode in which the office is to be filled up the Court will not read into the deed of endowment a proviso for appoint ment to the off e of sh ba i which is not to be found therein It becomes incumbent upon the representatives of the founders to make an appoint ment to the office of sh ba i and upon failure to do so the Court has power to appoint a new trustee and will exercise this power whenever there is a failure of a su ab l person to perform the trust either from original or supervenent disability to act S e Dasi Lalay v Protap Chandra Sarma H C L J referred to The appoint ment of a f t an l proper person to be a new trustee is not a matter of arbitrary discretion of the Court The appointment must be n a le subject to well known and defined rules In re Tempst L R I CA App 451 referred to Where a receiver appointed pend nte l e was directed by the subordinate Judge to continue to manage the properties on the scheme laid down in the deed of endowment pending an agreement between the parties to appoint a sh ba i H l d that the proper course to follow was e ther to d sm as the su i or if the parties so desired to appoint a sh ba i and place the properties in his hands This latter order could be properly made only after amendment of the prayer in the plaint PAR KRISHNA DEY v BIKIN BHARAT DEY (1916)

I L R 40 Calc 251

RELINQUISHMENT

S e FAMILY SETTLEMENT

I L R 38 All 335

S e HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L R 47 Calc 466

S e HINDU LAW—WIDOW

L R 46 I A 259

S e LANDLORD AND TENANT

15 C W N 680

S e MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER

I L R 47 Calc 537

S e NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES RENT ACT (XII OF 1881) I L R 37 All 444

S e UNDER RAIYATI HOLDING

I L R 4^o Calc 751

by patnidar—

S e LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 41 Calc 683

in favour of sentient person—

S e HINDU LAW—WILL

I L R 37 Calc 128

of claim—

S e CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 188^o s 43.

I L R 32 All 625

RELINQUISHMENT—contd

of portion of claim—

S e CAUSE OF ACTION

I L R 46 Calc 640

to save Litigation whether binding on Reversioners—

S e FAMILY SETTLEMENT

of service I L R 38 All 335

S e MASTER AND SERVANT

I L R 35 All 132

RELEVANCY OF EVIDENCE

S e EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s 32

I L R 44 Bom 19^o

REMAINDERMAN

S e LATOFFEL I L R 44 Calc 145

REMAND

S e AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)

ss 18^o 183 I L R 38 All 181

s 193 I L R 40 All 652

s 20^o I L R 38 All 533

S e APPEAL I L R 37 Calc 426

15 C W N 830

S e (BENGAL) CESS ACT

2 Pat L J 553

S e CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908

ss 105 108 109 O XLI s 23

I L R 33 All 391

s 105 O XLI s 23

I L R 43 All 377

s. 109 I L R 42 All 174 178

I L R 38 All 150

O XLI s 1 2 Pat L J 398

O XXI s 23 I L R 34 All 612

O XLI s 23

s 23 O XLIII s 1 (4)

I L R 35 All 427

s 25 15 C W N 575

s 33 I L R 37 Bom 289

O XLIII s 1 I L R 42 All 200

S e CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 112

167 I L R 36 All 262

S e LETTERS PATENT

2 Pat L J 603

S e PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)

s 6 I L R 39 Bom 352

S e SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 44 Calc 816

S e SECOND APPEAL 2 Pat L J 568 appeal from order of on finding of fact—

S e CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O

XLIII s 1 I L R 2 Lah 25

by Appellate Court—

S e COSTS I L R 39 Mad 476

Order of, whether appealable to Privy Court—

S e PRIVY COUNCIL APPEAL TO

I L R. 38 Mad. 509

REMAND—contd.

— plea of limitation taken on—

See ACCOUNT, SUIT FOR

I L R. 40 Cal. 108

1 ——— Parties, addition of—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s. 564—Order of remand by Appellate Court directing addition of party, whether legal An order of remand under s. 564 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) by the Appellate Court, directing addition of parties, is an order upon a preliminary point, and, as such, is not illegal. Habib Baksh v Baldeo Prasad, I L R. 23 All. 167, followed. JADAB GOBINDA SINGH v ANANT BANDHU SAHA (1901) I. L. R. 37 Cal. 171

2 ——— Order for, improperly made—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 99, 107 (1) (b), O XII, r. 23—Appellate Court, power of—Whether power wider than under former Code (Act XIV of 1882) ss. 562, 564—Statute composed of Sections and Rules—Canon of interpretation An Appellate Court has no wider powers of remand under s. 107 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908, read with O XII, r. 23, than it had under ss. 562 and 564 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882. Zohra Bibi v Zobeda Khatun, 13 C. L. J. 365, dissented from. When an Act is divided into sections and rules, the proper canon of interpretation is that the sections lay down general principles and the rules provide the means by which they are to be applied, and they cannot be otherwise applied. An order of remand improperly made is an irregularity within the meaning of s. 99 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908. Mohesh Chandra Dass v Jamiruddin Mollah, I L R. 28 Cal. 324, followed. NABIN CHANDRA THIPATI v PRAKASHNA DE (1913) I. L. R. 41 Cal. 108

3. ——— New case—Second appeal—Finding of fact—High Court, power of—Silk—Railway Company, liability of—Railways Act (IX of 1890), s. 75—Practice. A new case cannot be made on behalf of the plaintiff on remand. After there has been a decision of fact in the two Courts of original and first appellate jurisdiction, the High Court cannot entertain a second appeal upon any question as to the soundness of findings of fact by the lower Appellate Court. If there is evidence to be considered the decision of the second Court, however unsatisfactory it might be, when examined, must stand final. Ramratan Subal v. Nanda, I L R. 19 Cal. 219, referred to. The question whether silk in manufactured or unmanufactured state is to be treated as silk is a question of fact. Brent v. Midland Railway Company, 33 Exch. 187, Hualasarias v. Kailash Chandra Saha, 16 C. L. J. 259, Lakshminar Hira Chand v. The Great Indian Peninsula Railway, 4 Bom. H. C. 129, Shamunadha Medali v. The South Indian Railway Company, I L R. 6 Mad. 420, Pundalik Uday Jadhav v. S. M. Railway Co., I L R. 33 Bom. 703, referred to. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v CHANGAI KHAN (1913) I. L. R. 42 Cal. 888

4. ——— On issue only raised on second appeal—Cases decided by lower Courts on issues of fact—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 584—Absence of ground of law to support second appeal—Costs—Suit to eject a paik in service of zamindar holding under kabuliat with Government—Onus of proving land as chakirdari chakras—Right to dismiss paik. The plaintiff, a zamindar under a kabuliat with the Government made by his predecessor

REMAND—contd.

in title in 1901, sued to eject from a jaghir within his zamindari a paik in his service whom he had dismissed from his service with notice to quit. The Secretary of State for India, now sole respondent, was also made a defendant as the Government disputed the zamindar's right to dismiss the paik. The plaintiff's case was that there were two classes of paiks the Government paiks who performed police duties and who could be dismissed only by the Government and that class alone came within the terms of the kabuliat, and private paiks who performed services personal to the zamindar, and that the paik in suit belonged to the latter class and the zamindar was therefore entitled to dismiss him. Both the Subordinate Judge and the District Court held that the paik defendant did not come within the terms of the kabuliat, and found concurrently on the facts in favour of the plaintiff's contention but the District Judge gave no specific reasons for his decision. The High Court admitted a second appeal by the respondent on an issue not previously raised in the case, "whether the land in suit had been excluded from assessment at the settlement in 1792 as being appropriated for the maintenance of paiks performing police duties, and whilst agreeing with the lower Courts on the construction of the kabuliat, ignored the findings of fact, and remanded the appeal for the trial of the fresh issue, making the plaintiff who had succeeded, pay all the costs then incurred. Held, that the High Court in second appeal was by s. 584 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, then in force, bound by the findings of fact of the District Judge who "had considered the evidence and saw no reason for differing from the findings of the Subordinate Judge." The High Court could therefore only allow the appeal on a ground of law, and on the only question of law that Court agreed with the Court below. Even if it were competent to the High Court to remit a case for rehearing on an issue not raised in the pleadings or even suggested in the Courts below, it ought only to be done in an exceptional case for good cause shown, and on payment by the party appealing of all costs. The respondent did not suggest he was taken by surprise or had discovered fresh evidence of which he was previously unaware. The omission to raise the issue early in the case appeared to be deliberate, the onus of proving it was on the respondent, and there was little, if any, evidence to support it. The appeal was consequently allowed. RAM CHANDRA BHUNAI DZO v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 1104

5 ——— On a Preliminary point—Powers of lower Appellate Court to reverse and remand—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 107, sub-s. (1), cl. (b), sub-s. (2), O XII, r. 23 As the body of the Code creates jurisdiction (while the rules indicate the mode in which it is to be exercised), it is expressed in more general terms, but has to be read in conjunction with the more particular provisions of the rules. S. 107, sub-s. (1), cl. (b) of the Code is subject to the conditions and limitations prescribed by the rules; and in the case of a lower Appellate Court, the power of reversal and remand is limited to the position described in r. 23, O XII. MANI MOHAN MANDAL v RAMTANU MANDAL (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 148

REMAND—contd.

7. — Addition of parties by Appellate Court—Amendment of plaint—Whether whole emanated in consequence—Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 107, O XLI, rr 23, 25 are other possible cases of remand which is included in O XLI Nabin Chandra v. Prankrishna De, I L R. 41 Calo. 108, 1918. In the Code of Civil Procedure, the Legislature has given the power of remand to the Court of Appeal and, as a result, it has the power of remanding the case when an amendment of plaint is made and when parties are added. The provision in s. 107 for a remand is not limited by O XLI alone, but is subject to such conditions and limitations as are prescribed in the rules and orders, the amendment of a plaint and addition of parties to the Court of appeal being among them. Uzia v. Sadar v. Savai Behara (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calo. 938

8. — After directing Court of first instance to remit findings on issues not tried—Decision on other issues in the remand order if binds Judge or his successor at final hearing—Decision, of preliminary decree or interlocutory order—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLI, rr 23, 25 Where a suit for recovery of possession in which the defendant besides denying plaintiffs' title set up certain pleas in bar (limitation, etc.), was dismissed by the first Court on the merits, but the lower Appellate Court finding in favour of the plaintiff on the merits, the case was remanded to the first Court for finding on the issues in bar which had not been tried by the first Court: Held, that upon receipt of the findings of the first Court on these issues, the lower Appellate Court was not bound to reconsider its findings on the merits and thus whether the officer before whom the appeal finally came for hearing was the same or another officer. Per Richardson, J.—An opinion incidentally or provisionally expressed in a remanding judgment would not amount to a final adjudication so as to conclude the parties, but an adjudication by the remanding Judge would bind him or his successor at the final hearing. One test which may be suggested for the purpose of determining whether such an adjudication is or is not final and conclusive so far as it goes is whether it does or does not amount to a preliminary decree. Semble. The remand order in this case amounted to a preliminary decree in so far as it disposed of the merits of the case. Per MULLICK, J.—It seems to be well settled that though it is open to a Court to revise after remand interlocutory decisions which were made either by itself or by an officer of co-ordinate jurisdiction, yet as a matter of practice a Court will not and ought not to do so. When, however, the interlocutory decision amounts to a preliminary decree within the meaning of s. 2 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court is incompetent to revise that decree till it is duly set aside or amended according to law. That the decision on merits contained in the remand order did not amount to a preliminary decree. HIRA LAL PAL v. ETBAR MANDAL (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 43

9. — By Appellate Court without retaining case on file—Whole case if open before Court to which case remanded—Limitation of scope of appeal remanded by High Court. In strict law a remand made by an Appellate Court without retaining the appeal in its own file necessarily reopens the whole case and the Court of Appeal to which the case is remanded is bound to hear the appeal upon the judgment of the Court of first instance and on nothing else. But the High Court in the exercise of its powers of supervision under the Charter rightly assumes in certain cases authority to limit the scope of certain appeals remanded to the lower Court without keeping them on its own file. But whenever this is done it is absolutely essential that the High Court should lay down clearly without any possibility of mistake that it did intend to limit the scope of the appeal to certain specified questions. KARTICK CHANDRA DAS v. SATYA NIDI GHOSAL (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 584

REMAND—contd.

9. — Appellate Court, Inherent jurisdiction—Correction of omissions or defects in the trial—De novo trial—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss 107, 151, O XLI, r 23 The power of remand under s. 107 of the Civil Procedure Code is limited to the case described in O XLI, r 23 but nothing in that section restricts in any manner the application of the principle of inherent power recognised by s. 151 of the Code. The powers of the Appellate Court as regards remand are thus not restricted to the case specified in O XLI, r 23, but the Court by reason of its inherent jurisdiction, recognised and preserved in the Code, may order a remand in cases other than the case specified in O XLI, r 23, if it be necessary for the ends of justice. Nabin Chandra Tripathi v. Prankrishna De, I L R. 41 Calo. 108, dissented from. Inherent jurisdiction must be exercised with care, subject to general legal principles and to the condition that the matter is not one with which the Legislature has so specifically dealt as to preclude the exercise of inherent power. Per Woodroffe, J.—Whether justice does require a Court to invoke its inherent jurisdiction, must be determined by that Court, with reference to the particular facts of the case, and the rule of law that a Court cannot invoke an inherent jurisdiction where there is a provision in the Code whether by way of remand or otherwise, which if applied, will meet the justice of the case. Per MOOKERJEE, J.—That the Code itself recognises the power of a Court to direct a remand in circumstances other than those specified in O XLI, r 23 is clear from the terms of s. 99. The Court of Appeal is invested with plenary powers to correct errors of procedure committed by the trial Court. Where the Court of Appeal is satisfied that the correction of the omission or defects in the trial is not reasonably practicable by recourse to one or other of the provisions mentioned that is, where it is clearly apparent that the Appellate Court cannot itself satisfactorily dispose of the suit on the merits by the adoption of the specific procedure mentioned in O XLI, r 24 to 25, a remand for retrial is not only permissible but obviously incumbent on the Court. GUTHAYAT THE ALLAHABAD BANK, LTD. (1917) . . . I. L. R. 44 Calo. 929

10. — Remand of whole case on the merits—Jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908)—O XLI, r 33—Rules of Supreme Court of England, 1853, O LI III, r. 4—Practice. Where a suit had been partly decreed in appeal and no second appeal had been preferred to the High Court against the portion allowed and] after remand the lower Appellate Court went into the whole case on the merits as directed—Held, that the High Court had ample jurisdiction to make the order remanding the whole case for determination on the merits Attorney General v Simpson, [1901] 2 Ch 671, referred to. SARADA SUNDARI DASSAYA v GANGAHARI SAHA (1918)

REMAND—conold

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 733

11. ——— Appeal from—Remand order passed otherwise than under O XLI, r 23 is not appealable. MOHENDRO NATH CHAKRAVARTI v RAMTARAN BANOJADHAYA (1919)

23 C W. N. 1049

12. ——— Appellate Court Inherent powers of—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s 151 and O XLI, rr 23 and 25 Under its inherent powers an Appellate Court has jurisdiction to remand a case for retrial apart from the provisions of O XLI, rr 23 and 25 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 but should exercise that power with the greatest caution. RAONUNANDAY SINGH v JADUNANDAY SINGH

3 Pat L J. 253

13. ——— Inherent powers of court Under its inherent powers an appellate court may remand a case if it thinks that it is necessary for the ends of justice to do so even where the case does not come within the terms of O XLI, rr 23 and 25, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. BEJINGMAN PATRAK v DEBCHANDRA PATRAK

5 Pat. L. J. 146

RE-MARRIAGE.

See DIVORCE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 636

See GUARDIAN—HINDU WIDOW
I. L. R. 33 Calc. 862

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

See HINDU WIDOWS RE MARRIAGE ACT
(XV of 1836), s. 2

——— custom of—

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 300

REMEMBRANCE OF LEGAL AFFAIRS.

——— Position of—

See CONTENT OF COURT
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

REMOTENESS.

——— rule of—

See WILL I. L. R. 48 Calc. 485

REMOVAL NOTICE OF.

See FICTITIOUS I. L. R. 48 Calc. 602

REMOVAL OF CASTE DISABILITIES ACT (XXI OF 1850).

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 407

See MALABAR LAW
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 631

——— s. 1—

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
I. L. R. 35 All. 466

REMUNERATION.

See ADMINISTRATOR PENDENTE LITE.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 771

RENEWAL.

——— option of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—LEASE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1079

RENNELL'S MAP OF INLAND NAVIGATION.

See NAVIGABLE RIVER.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 390

RENT.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901).
ss 4, 167 I. L. R. 39 All. 605

See BENGAL RENT RECOVERY ACT

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (Bom.
Act III of 1883), ss. 140 (c), 143 (f)
(g) AND 2 (d) I. L. R. 43 Bom. 281

See ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908), s 26
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 121

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908)—

SCH I, ART 110 I. L. R. 36 Mad. 438

ARTS. 110, 116 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 656

See RENT DECREE.

See RENT, SUIT FOR.

See RENT IN KIND

See RENT RESERVED.

See STAMP ACT (II of 1899), s 59, SCH 1,
ART 35, CL (2), SUB-CL (iii)
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 434

See SUIT FOR RENT

See U P LAND REVENUE ACT (III of 1901), ss 56, 66 I. L. R. 28 All. 286

——— abatement of—

See PARTIAL LEASE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 683

——— arrears of—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 39 Calc. 810

——— distraint for—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of
1908), s 52 (2) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1140

——— enhancement of—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879
ss 83, 216 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 666

See OUDH RENT ACT (XXII of 1836), s 3 (10) AND CH. VIII
I. L. R. 40 All. 541

——— fixation of—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901),
s 97 I. L. R. 37 All. 12

——— forfeiture, for non-payment of—

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 445

——— Kadam Ibrahim, right of after introduction of settlement—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879
s 217 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 61

——— in kind—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT—ENHANCE-
MENT OF RENT I. L. R. 37 Calc. 810

RENT—contd.

legal right to remission—

See ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD ACT I OF 1908), ss 4, 27, 73, 143

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 640

liability for—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 34 All. 604

See SALE . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 148

Mortgagor retaining property under a Rent Note—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 47, O XXXIV, r 14

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 174

no estoppel by receipt of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD ACT I OF 1908) s 3 . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 1

non-payment of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 189 . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 60

partly in money, partly in kind—

See KABILJAT, CONSTRUCTION OF . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 628

payment of, for sixty years—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 13, cl. (3)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 84

permanent occupant—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1878, s. 216 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 996 permanency of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 30 payable in kind recovery of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885 s 40 . . . 25 C. W. N. 714 receipt stating tenancy is at will—value of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT . . . 24 C. W. N. 1 relief against forfeiture for non-payment of—

See LEASE . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 300

remission of—

See CUSTOM . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 475

suit for—

See AGRICULTURE ACT (II OF 1901), s 34 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 512

See HOMESTEAD LAWS . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 633

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 402

See LESSOR AND LESSEE . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 938

See LIMITATION . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 101 . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 63 suit for, by a third party—

See CONTRACT . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 455.

RENT—contd.

suit for, in Revenue Court—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 33 suspension of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 958

War restrictions on—

See BOMBAY RENT (WAR RESTRICTION) ACT.

See CALCUTTA RENT ACT.

1. ———— Rent for Ferry—Provisio of Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1837), Sch. II, Art 3—Pent of a ferry, suit for, if cognizable by a Small Cause Court. To determine whether an amount payable under a contract is rent or not each case must be judged by its own circumstances. In a suit to recover sums due under a contract for the defendant plying boats in a private ferry Held that in the circumstances of the case the sum payable was in no sense a rent. PROBLAD PATNI v SASHADHAR RAY (1910) . . . 14 C. W. N. 994

2. ———— Maintenance Grant—Baradara Jagir, Orissa—Landlord and Tenant—Grantor and Grantee—Kilajal estates in Orissa—'Light tribute as rent—Assessment of rent by Settlement Officer—Finality of decision—Bengal Tenancy Act (I of 1855), ss 3 (5), 104, 107—Bengal Tenancy Amendment Act (Ben. III of 1935), s. 9—Second Appeal—Findings of fact—Inference of Law. In Orissa a proprietor of an estate governed by the law of primogeniture made a grant of certain villages at baradara jagir (hereditary right), etc., for the support of the younger brothers and other nearer relatives of the family, it was not transferable, but was subject to resumption on failure of direct heirs, and the grantee had to pay to the grantor a proportionate share of the Government revenue. Held, that the amount payable by the grantee to the grantor under such conditions constituted rent within the meaning of s. 3 (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1855, and the grantees were tenants and not co-proprietors. Chaudh Kani Chakraborty v Mahomed Hossein, 6 W P Act X, I, referred to. Where a Settlement Officer made an assessment of rent under s. 104 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1843) which was not appealed against under s. 104 of the Act. Held, that the decision of the Settlement Officer was in view of s. 107 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1855, read with s. 9 of Bengal Tenancy Amendment Act, 1875, final. Though the High Court, in second appeal, cannot interfere with findings of fact, it can interfere with an inference of law drawn from the facts found. INWARA NATH BIDYADHAR v JAMSHEDDHAR MAHAPATRA (1910) . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 278

3. ———— Madras Estates Land Act—(I of 1908), ss 3 (10), 13 and 119. A Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to try a suit for rent of private lands as defined in s. 3 (10) of the Madras Estates Land Act (I of 1908); such a suit must be brought in a Civil Court. RAJA APPA RAO RAMANATH v NARAYANA (1913) . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 7

4. ———— Evidence, admissibility of—Previous decree for rent—Admitted by a co-sharer if relevant on the question of rent—Facts later arise. Where a tenant holds lands under several landlords under one contract of tenancy, and each co-sharer claims to collect rent proper.

RENT DECREE

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 38 Calc 233

I L R 40 Calc 623

amendment of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885 s 105

5 Pat L J 472

Execution of—

See SALE . I L R 43 Calc 263

See CHOTA NAGPUR TENANCY ACT 1908

s 211 . 5 Pat L J 458

Whether acts as Res Judicata—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE O XLVIII,

B 2 3 Pat L J 372

1 ——— Contribution suit—Contract Act (IA of 1872), ss 69, 70—Suit for contribution of loss for payment by one judgment-debtor of joint decree—'Lawfully paid' money paid by one judgment debtor to satisfy joint decree—Res judicata—Plea of non-liability in contribution suit if barred in equity where Defendant acquiesced in original claim. A decree was passed against several persons jointly in a rent suit and one of them paid the whole amount of the decree. This judgment debtor subsequently brought a suit for contribution against some of his co-judgment debtors. The defendants pleaded that they were benamars and not really liable for payment under the decree. Held that although the decree in the rent suit was not res judicata as between co-defendants, the co-judgment debtors should not be allowed to plead non liability in the contribution suit. If they had such a plea they ought to have raised it in the rent suit. Sita Panda v Jyotsna Panda, I L R 25 Mad 599, referred to. It is a recognised principle of equity that where of two innocent persons one must suffer by the act of a third he by whose negligence it happened must be the sufferer. So even if the defendants were benamars, as they allowed their names to be used in the kobala and the semindar's sherista and did not object, when the semindar brought a suit against them, they cannot be heard to complain if they are compelled to reimburse the plaintiff for what he had done for them. Umesh Chandra v Khaina Loan Co. I L R 34 Cal 92 referred to. No hard and fast rule can be laid down barring the application of s 69 of the Indian Contract Act to the payment of a joint decree by one of the joint judgment debtors. Puttikali v Ganga Nath I L J 8 Cal 113. Muthura Nath v Krsna Kumar, I L R 4 Cal 369. Manindra Chunder v Jambhar Kumar 9 C W N 670 discussed. But where the decree was for a share of the rent by a fractional proprietor and was executed against the plaintiff alone any interest other than that of the plaintiff was not implied and the plaintiff could not be said to have been interested in the payment of that part of the decree which was leviable from the defendants, and could not recover the amount so paid by a suit for contribution under s 69 of the Indian Contract Act. But the payment by the plaintiff was 'lawful' within the meaning of s 70 of the Indian Contract Act and he could recover on it under that section from the defendants who had been benefited by it. An interest in making the payment should be a criterion for deciding whether the payment was 'lawful' within the meaning of s 70 of the Contract Act. Chedi Lal v Bhagwan Dass, I. L. J 11

RENT DECREE—contd

All 234. Damodara Mudaliar v Secretary of State I L R 18 Mad 88. Gordhan v Durbar Sree Suray Mahi, I L R. 25 Bom 594. Smith v Dina Nath, I L R 12 Cal 213. Baskurto Nath v Uday Chandra, 2 C L J 311, 313, discussed. AJODHYA SINGH v JAMMOO LAL (1910) 14 C W N 699

2. ——— Previous ex parte rent decree—Admissibility of, as evidence of relationship between parties—Presumption of continuance thereof—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 114, illus (d). A previous ex parte rent decree (between the same parties) is not merely an item of evidence but is conclusive as to the relationship between the parties at that time. Its value becomes more apparent since the terms of s 114, illus (d) of the Evidence Act permit the Court to make a presumption as to the continuance of the state of things. HIRANNAY KUMAR SAHA v RAMJAN ALI DEWAN (1915) I L R 43 Cal 170

3. ——— Decree for ejectment for non-payment—Act VIII (B C) of 1869 s 32—Decree for ejectment for non payment of arrears of rent—Period of 15 days if can be extended by executing Court after appeal dismissed. Under s 62 of Act VIII (B C) of 1869 the period of 15 days can only be extended by the Court of first instance at the time of drawing the decree or by the Appellate Court when disposing of the appeal from the decree, but cannot be subsequently extended by the Court executing the decree. HUKAI SINGH v SARAT CHANDRA DUTTA (1917) [21 C W N 749]

4. ——— Rent decree obtained by putni-dar—Sale of putni under Reg VIII of 1819 after application for execution but before sale—Decree if to be executed as rent decree—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s 65. Where after his putni taluk had been sold under Reg. VIII of 1819, the putni-dar sued a tenant for previously accrued arrears of rent and recovered a decree and subsequently the putni sale was set aside and the putni-dar thereafter applied for execution of the decree by sale of the holding under the Bengal Tenancy Act, but before the sale the putni was again sold under Reg VIII of 1819. Held that the decree could be executed as a rent decree, the case being covered by the Full Bench decision in Akhraj Singh v Arunpritha Begum Dasi I L J 33 Cal 566 s.c. 10 C W N 547 which has not been overruled by the Privy Council in Foiles v Maharaj Emladur Singh I L R 41 Cal 96 s.c. 18 C W N 747. MANINDRA NATH GHOSH v ANBUTOSH GHOSH (1917) 21 C W N 1132

5. ——— Prodate Rent—Whether can fall into arrears—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss 45 (3) 65 and 155 (2). A holding which is held on produce rent or partly on produce rent and partly on money rent is liable to be sold in execution of a decree for arrears. MANBARAN LAL v NODDAR SINGH 5 Pat L J 641

6. ——— Two compromise rent decrees both providing for sale of portion by sale of the tenure—Second decree if may be executed against tenant personally when the tenure was sold in execution of the first decree—Both set to directions in the second decree. Two compromise rent decrees provided that the landlord should satisfy his claim for rent by sale of the tenure. Under the first decree the property was sold and purchased by the decree-holder and the decree.

RENT DECREE—concl'd.

holder next applied for personal execution of the second decree. Held—That the executing Court cannot go behind the decree and must give effect if possible to both the decrees. The second decree having been passed before the sale of the property, the sale was subject to the directions contained in the second decree. RATAN LAL BISWAS v. NAFAR CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHURY

7 ——— Not a mortgage decree—A rent decree is in no sense a mortgage decree. Forbes Chunder Dey Sircar v Foley, 1 L R 15 Cal. 492 approved. If the landlord obtains two rent decrees against a tenant and first executes one decree by sale of the holding without notifying that the sale is subject to the other decree and purchases the holding himself he is not debarred from executing the other decree against the remaining properties of the tenant. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH v MUSAMMAT IMAJIZOTA KORN. 6 Pat L J 351.

8. ————— Where five persons are entered in the Record of Rights as the tenants of certain land a rent decree cannot be obtained in a suit against only one of them
 BERNARD SEKHU v. BACHA MAHMO

RENT-FREE GRANT.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
s 153 . I L R 33 ALL 553

See ESTOPPEL I L R 39 Cal 439

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT
I. L. R. 43 All. 325

RENT-FREE HOLDING.

Lakshraj Land, accretions to—Lakshrajpur of entitled to hold same rent-free—Sud to recover possession from superior tenant-holder and raiyat who took settlement from latter—Messe profits—Regulation XI of 1825, s. 4, sub s. (1) and (5) The holder of a rent free holding is entitled to possession of all lands forming accretion thereto, but he is not entitled to hold the same rent free Mesa Jan v Akram, 8 C L J 541, Goshwari v Bholanath 1 L R 21 Cal 233, Gopal Ali v Kail Krishna Thakur, 1 L R 7 Cal 479, Chootaramonee Dey v Howrah Mill Company, 1 L R 11 Cal 696, Ramamonee v Gomesh Chunder [1883] Beng S D A 1836, and Ramgopal Nag v Buroda Churn, 1 W R 124, referred to Where such a person sued to recover the accreted land from the holder of the superior interest and from a raiyat who in good faith had taken settlement of the land from the latter Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to eject the raiyat. The principle of Penode Lal Pakrashi v Kulu Pramanik, 1 L R 20 Cal 708, applies equally to firm and alluvial lands. As against the superior holder, the plaintiff who, it was found, had never paid him any rent or offered to do so was not given a decree for mesne profits, the former's claim for rent being set off against the latter's claim of mesne profits Baidya Nath Roy v Nayda Lal Gura Sarkar (1914) 18 C W N 1208

RENT FREE TANK.

See ESTOPPEL I L. R. 39 Cal. 439

See LIMITATION	I	L.	R.	39	Calc	453
----------------	---	----	----	----	------	-----

RENT IN KIND.

———— conversion of, into money rent—
See HINDU LAW (REVERSIONERS)
I L. R. 40 Mad. 871

RENT RESERVED.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 44 Cal. 403

See SUIT FOR RENT
L. L. R. 46 Cal. 342

RENT ROLL.

— certified extracts of—
See BOMBAY CITY LAND REVENUE ACT
(BOV. II OF 1878), ss 30, 35, 39, 40
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 664

RENT SETTLEMENT ACT (BENG. VIII OF 1879).

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII of 1885,) ss 103B, 104H
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 90

RENT SUIT.

See IVARADAE I. L. R. 48 Cal. 1078

See LIMITATION
L. L. R. 48 Calc. 65

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877), Sec.
II, ARTS 110, 116
I L R 34 ALL 484

See NON-JOINDER.
I. L. R. 43 Cal. 518

~~premature~~
See LIMITATION I. L. R. 46 Cal. 870

Title Paramount, the possession by—Omnis of proof—Apportionment of rent—Evidence Act (1 of 1872), s. 102 Where a tenant is sued for rent, he can set up eviction by title paramount to that of his lessor as an answer, and if evicted from part of the land, an apportionment of the rent may take place, but the onus is on the lessor to show what is the fair rent of the lands out of which the tenant was not evicted Gopannud Jha v Lalka Govinda Prasad, 12 B. P. 109, referred to SUBENDRA NARAY ROY CROWDHURY v DINA NATH BOSE (1915)
I L R. 43 Calo 554

Suit against one of several recorded tenants—whether rent decree or money decree may be passed. When 5 persons are entered in the Record of Rights as the tenants of a certain piece of land, a rent decree cannot be obtained in a suit against one only. BRADAR SINGH v. BACHA MANTO 5 Pat. L. J. 23

Against co-tenants—
Non-substitution of heirs of deceased co-tenant—Decree whether good money decree against survivors—Liability, if joint or joint and several—Right of co-tenant to insist on all co-tenants being implicated—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 43 Where in a suit for rent the landlord purported to make all the persons who had entered into the contract of tenancy parties defendants and obtained an ex parte decree, but some of the tenants having died before the suit, those surviving opposed execution on the ground that the decree was not validly obtained Held, that the decree passed in such circumstances

RENT SUIT—contd.

was a good and valid money decree enforceable against the tenants who were alive at the date of the decree or their representative. If the land or desires to obtain a decree good against the land under the Bengal Tenancy Act, he must ordinarily (apart from any question of representation) implead all the co-tenants including the heirs or legal representatives of a deceased co-tenant. But for the purposes of a money decree (in the absence of express agreement to the contrary) he is free under s. 43 of the Contract Act, to sue any or all of the tenants. Per N. R. CHATTERJEA, J. (RICHARDSON J., reserving his opinion) when the contract is with a single person as tenant and he dies the liability of his heirs is a joint liability. Per I. CHANDRASEKHAR, J. Liability is joint if on the death of one of the joint promisors the liability becomes the liability of the surviving promisors and no liability devolves upon the heirs or legal representatives of the deceased promisor. There being no survivorship amongst co-tenants in India and co-tenants not having under s. 43 the right to be sued together, prima facie the liability is joint and several. Authorities reviewed KRISHNA DAS POT v. KALI TARA CHOWDHURANI (1917).

22 C. W. N. 239

partly nor all property represented effect of. In a rent suit one of the tenants had not been joined as a party but he had received a copy of the summons and been represented by a pleader after filing a written statement. In the appeal too the defendant was not made a party but the district judge after he had delivered judgment issued a notice to him informing him that his name had been added as a party defendant. In the said rent suit another infant tenant's mother on being proposed as guardian appeared through a pleader and stated she could not act unless the name was corrected which not having been done she did not defend the suit on behalf of the infant. Held that no useful purpose could be served by adding in the appellate stage a party defendant if he had not been made a party to the appeal and that after joinder in the appeal had been delivered he could not be heard by the insertion of his name on the record by the defendant. *BRINDHRA NATH DOKER v. A. MOON NATH DOKER*

25 C. W. N. 525

Payment of and when prevents limitation running. It is established as a general principle that the right to demand the rent which falls due during the pendency of a suit for apportionment is not in suspense during the pendency of the litigation. *NAAGANATH NATH v. NARAI PAM MANDAL*

25 C. W. N. 934

RENUNCIATION

See PROBATE I. L. R. 43 Bom. 666

REPEAL

See INDIAN DISTRICT POLICE ACT 1909 s. 52 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 203

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE s. 1008 (1) XII P. 53 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 259

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 37 Bom. 231

See STATUTE, CONSTRUCTION OF I. L. R. 23 Bom. 207

REPEALING AND AMENDING ACT (X OF 1916).

See ATTACHMENT I L. R. 43 Bom. 716

REPRESENTATION

See CONTRACT I. L. R. 33 Mad. 599

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (No. 111 OF 1874), ss. 25, 36

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 101

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 186

— principle of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 75

Decree defendant—Error of not substituting d. Decree passed against heirs of landlord on the estate—Will. L. one of the defendants in a money suit brought by P. died during the pendency of the suit leaving a will in favour of the plaintiff in the present suit. On P's application the heirs of D were substituted as defendants in her place and the plaintiff's application for substitution of his own name was rejected as he had not obtained probate of P's will. A decree was passed ex parte and the property sold in execution thereof. Held that the estate of D was not properly represented in the suit and that so far as the estate covered by the will was concerned it was not affected by the decree or the sale. *Lakshminarayana v. Ramu* I. L. R. 9 Bom. 38. *Kharaj mal v. Dham* 9 C. B. N. 291 s. 1 L. R. 34 Cal. 266. *L. I. 371 A. 23. Matangini Das v. Choksey. Meni Das* I. L. R. 22 Cal. 431. *Hooded. Iron smelter Chander Dhatkarkare v. Krishna Chaudhary* I. L. R. 4 Cal. 312. *Chand Lal Das v. Gurmood Lohy* I. L. R. 30 Cal. 111 distinguished. *HARISH CHANDRA BISWAS v. LAKSHMAN DAS* (1910) 14 C. W. N. 1041

REPRESENTATIVE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 47, 52 I. L. R. 39 All. 47

REPRESENTATIVE IN INTEREST

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 40 Cal. 891

REPRESENTATIVE SUIT

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872) s. 70 (1) L. R. 42 Bom. 536

RE PUBLICATION

See WILL I. L. R. 40 Cal. 192

REPUDIATION OF TITLE.

See LEASE I. L. R. 42 Bom. 734

REPUDIATION OF WILL.

See JURISDICTION OF HIS COURT I. L. R. 34 Mad. 337

RE-PURCHASE.

See SALE WITH AN OPTION OF REPURCHASE I. L. R. 25 Bom. 238

REPUTATION

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 37 Cal. 76

REFUTE.

See EVIDENCE—MATERIAL I. L. R. 23 Cal. 49

REQUIREMENTS

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 748

RE-SALE.

See CONTRACT I. L. R. 39 Calc. 568

of tenure—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 65
14 C. W. N. 1098

RESCUE FROM LAWFUL CUSTODY.

See WARRANT I. L. R. 33 Calc. 789

See WARRANT, VALIDITY OF
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 703

Lawful apprehension resistance to—Opium—Person selling article as opium which turns out not to be the same—Arrest and detention of such person—Legality of arrest—Escape from such arrest—Opium Act (I of 1878),
s. 15—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 224 and 225 Where a person purports to sell an article as opium which afterwards turns out not to be the same and he is arrested but escapes with the aid of others Held, that his arrest and detention are lawful under s. 15 of the Opium Act (I of 1878), and that his conviction under s. 224 and that of the others under s. 225 of the Penal Code are legal It is an offence for a person to escape from custody, after he has been lawfully arrested on a charge of having committed an offence, although he may not be convicted of such latter offence Doo Sahay Lal v Queen Empress, I L R 23 Calc. 253, approved MOHAM
MED KAZI v EMPEROR (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1181

RESERVED FOREST.

Assam Forest Regulation (VII of 1891), ss. 4, 5, 6, 8, 11, 15, 16, 17 and 25—Claim by proprietor of permanently settled estates—Disposal of claim—Disallowance of claim without enquiry—Order of rejection not appealed against—Validity of final notification—Objection to validity raised at trial for breach of Regulation Where on the issue of a notification under s. 5 of the Assam Forest Regulation (VII of 1891), proposing to constitute a certain area a reserved forest, a proprietor filed an objection or claim before the Forest Settlement Officer that part of the notified area was his permanently settled estate and not at the disposal of Government under s. 4, but his plea was acceded, at the hearing, to the view of such officer, that he was not empowered to adjudicate on the claim, and stated that he merely put in his objection and offered to produce evidence as a safeguard in any future proceedings before the Civil Court, whereupon the officer, without holding an enquiry or taking evidence, held that he was not empowered to decide an objection denying the title of Government, and, therefore, "disallowed the objection," and the claimant did not appeal against the order, and the final notification under s. 17 was published:
Held, that the claimant could not, on his trial for offences under s. 23, of the Regulation, raise the question of the validity of the final notification, either because he had not really submitted his claim for adjudication and had not, therefore, adopted the course specified by the Regulation, or if he had so submitted his claim because it had been "disposed of" within s. 17, and he had not appealed against the decision of the Forest Settlement Officer KHONDKAR HEDAYETULLA v EM-PEROR (1920) I. L. R. 47 Calc. 889

RESERVED FOREST—contd

RESERVED RENT.

See TENANCY AT WILL.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 214

RESIDENCE

See DIVORCE ACT (IV of 1869), ss. 2,
4, 7, 45 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 123

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 153

See SUCCESSION ACT (X of 1860), ss. 7, 9,
10 I. L. R. Bom. 637

—Hindu widow's right of—

See HINDU LAW
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 337

—meaning of—

See LUNACY ACT s. 37
25 C. W. N. 178

—notification of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1893), s. 563

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 137

RESIDENT AT ADEN.

See ADEN SETTLEMENT REGULATION (VII
OF 1900), s. 13 I. L. R. 40 Bom. 446

RESIDUARY CLAUSE.

See WILL I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1096

RESIDUARY LEGATEE.

See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT

See PARTIES I. L. R. 45 Calc. 802

A residuary legatee is entitled to such an account as is necessary for the purpose of ascertaining what his share is KUTRA-MONI DASKE v DHIRENDRA NATH ROY

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 271

RESISTANCE BY STRANGER

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

14 C. W. N. 838

See SEARCH I. L. R. 41 Calc. 281

RES JUDICATA

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)—

ss. 4, 19 I. L. R. 37 All. 230

ss. 10, 202. I. L. R. 33 All. 607

s. 63 I. L. R. 33 All. 453

s. 93 I. L. R. 37 All. 223

ss. 95 AND 167 I. L. R. 27 All. 41

ss. 162, 190 I. L. R. 41 All. 389

s. 167 I. L. R. 43 All. 191

s. 199 I. L. R. 32 All. 8

See AWAK I. L. R. 33 All. 490

See BENGAL TENANCY

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 400

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT—

s. 103B 14 C. W. N. 361

ss. 105 AND 109A 6 Pat. L. J. 553

ss. 105A, 107 AND 109

3 Pat. L. J. 370

RES JUDICATA—contd.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882—

- s 13 I L R 32 All 215
 ss 13 30 I L R 33 Mad 483
 ss 13 43 I L R 32 All 119
 I L R 33 All 302
 ss 13 44 I L R 35 Bom 297
 ss 13 46 I L R 36 Bom 53
 ss 13 695 AND 696 I L R 32 All 484
 ss 13 639 I L R 33 All 752
 s 43 I L R 34 All 172
 s 102 14 C W N 298
 s 375 I L R 33 Mad 102

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1909) s 11

- s 47 O XXI RR 95 AND 98 I L R 34 Mad 450
 s 53 I L R 32 All 210
 s 97 I L R 39 Bom 421
 O II R 2 I L P 40 Mad 291
 I L R 36 All 264
 O XXI R 16 I L R 38 All 289
 O XXIII R 1 I L R 42 Bom 155
 O XLVII R 2 3 Pat L J 372

See COMPANIES ACT 1882 ss 6 40 41

I L R 40 Calc 1

See COURT FEES ACT 1870 s 10

4 Pat L J 703

See DECREE* I L R 35 Bom 245

See EMANCIPATION OF PENT

I L R 40 Calc 29

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872) s 44

I L R 23 All 143

See EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS

14 C W N 114, 433

See EXECUTOR DE BON TORT LIABILITY

I L R 33 Mad 423

See FRAUD I L R 41 Calc 990

I L R 37 All 535

See HINDU LAW—

ADOPTION 5 Pat L J 164
I L R 40 All 593ALIENATION 3 Pat L J 426
I L R 43 Calc 417

JOINT FAMILY I L R 42 Bom 69

PARTITION L R. 41 I A 247
I L R 43 Calc 1059

REVERSIONER I L R 43 Bom 869

See INAM LAND* I L R 38 Bom 272

See JURISDICTION I L R 44 Calc 367

See LANDLORD AND TENANT I L R 42 Mad 702

See LIMITATION I L R 33 All 264
I L R 42 Calc 244

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877)—

ss 5 AND 7 I L R 34 Bom. 559
s 19 AND SCH II ART 148
I L R 35 All 227RES JUDICATA—contd.

See LIMITATION ACT 1808 S 14

6 Pat L J 593

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER

I L R 41 All 538

See MORTGAGE

I L R 47 Calc 662 70
I L R 39 Calc 527 925See PARTITION I L R 32 All 469
4 Pat L J 29

See PROBATE 14 C W N 924

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s 22 I L R. 39 All 353
I L R 41 All 378

See RESTITUTION 3 Pat L J 367

See REVIEW APPLICATION FOR

I L R 40 Calc 541

See SARANJAM I L R 40 Bom 608

See SIBRAIT I L R 39 Calc 887

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)
s 9 I L R 41 All 108

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (I OF 1882) s 59 I L R 38 Bom 617

See WAKF VALIDITY OF

I L R 43 Calc 158

See WILL I L R. 46 Calc 485

———— application to have joint mahal formed followed by application for exclusive possession—See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT 1901 s 233

I L R. 42 All 309

———— Compromise decree dealing with properties other than those in suit effect of—

See COMPROMISE 1 Pat L J 203

———— decision by Manda Court—

See HINDU LAW—SUDRAS

I L R. 2 Lah 207

———— Decision on abstract question of Law—

See BOHRA LA D P L 1912 COLP 16 9
ss 216 217
I L R 45 Bom 1260

———— dictum in previous suit effect of—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1872
ss 41 AND 34 4 Pat L J 682

———— Ex parte decree—

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT 1894
5 Pat L J 259———— Necessity of specifying raising the plea

See SECOND APPEAL 25 C W N 281

———— Order for directions without deciding question of jurisdiction—See THIRD PARTY NOTICE
I L R 45 Bom 24———— partition suit whether bars subsequent suit for whole estate—See SANTAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGU-LATION 18 2 6 Pat L J 373

RES JUDICATA—contd

rule of—

See DECLARATORY DECREE SUIT FOR
I L R 43 Cal. 894

order for directions not—

See THIRD PARTY NOTICE
I L R 45 Bom 24suit in Revenue Court for rent followed by suit in Civil Court claiming to be occupancy tenants—See AGRA TENANCY ACT, 1901, s 167
I L R 43 All 191refusal of Court to file arbitration award—See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1909 s 11,
SUL II R 20 I L R 45 Bom 329

1 ———— Adjudications—Res judicata between co-defendants—Burden of proof Where an adjudication between co-defendants is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff such adjudication will be res judicata between the defendants as well as between the plaintiff and defendants. There must be a conflict of interest between the defendants, a necessity for a decision between them and a judgment defining the rights and obligations of the defendants inter se I am Chander Narayan v Narayan Mahadev I L R 11 Bom 216 249 referred to and followed. The general rule is that a person who claims property through some other person must prove that such property vested in that other person. A person who alleges that property in the hands of a female was inherited from some person whose heir he claims to be must prove that it belonged to that person Dewan Ran Bhai Bahadur Singh v Indar pal Singh, I L R 26 I A 228, 228 referred to NARAYANA AMMAL v SRINIVASARAGAVA AITAY
GAR (1909) I L R 33 Mad. 112

2 ———— Matter substantially in issue —Capacity of parties—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s 13 The plaintiff in conjunction with another had in 1902 filed a suit against the defendant for possession of certain property, basing his claim on the allegation that he was owner. He succeeded in the first Court but the Court of Appeal held that the property had been bequeathed to charity, and refused to uphold his claim as owner. The plaintiff declined to adopt the Court's suggestion to modify his claim and be content to ask for a decree for possession as manager, and his suit was therefore dismissed.
Five years later he filed the present suit claiming possession as manager. Held that his title as manager was one which might and ought to have been put forward in the previous suit, and that his present claim was therefore res judicata.
If a plaintiff is suing in a capacity in which he is a stranger to the capacity in which he sued in a former suit, his claim has no proper connection with that former suit, and the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 13, does not apply. HAROO
VAN RAMJI v MULSI HANJIVAY (1909)

I L R 34 Bom 416

3 ———— Practice—Suit against defend- ant on ground which failed not to be decreed on another ground—Application for leave to amend plea if after arguments heard in appeal disallowed
A suit brought against the defendants on one ground which fails should not be decreed against

RES JUDICATA—contd

them on another ground which they had no opportunity of meeting. After arguments in appeal have been heard the Court will not allow an amendment of the plea so as to convert a suit of one character into a suit of a substantially different character. H filed a suit in 1904 against A and J, the drawer and indorser respectively of two hundies. At the time of filing the suit J was dead. H obtained a decree against both defendants which decree remained unsatisfied.
In 1905 H filed a suit against the heirs of J on the same two hundies. Held that the earlier suit having been filed against the firm of J and not against J personally was a bar to the later suit.
RAYABAI v HAJI NOOR MAHOMED (1904)

I L R 34 Bom 241

4 ———— Cause of action, how to be determined—Civil Procedure Code, Act XI of 1852 s 103—Bar of suit under s 158—Scope of The plaintiff in the present suit sued one Srinivasa Aiyar in Original Suit No 7 of 1892 on the ground that he was prevented from entering on his property and prayed for an injunction restrain-ing the said Srinivasa Aiyar from obstructing plaintiff. In the present suit plaintiff sued the successor-in-title of Srinivasa Aiyar alleging that Srinivasa Aiyar wrongfully got into possession prior to his filing Original Suit No 7 of 1892 and prayed for a declaration of title and possession; held that the present suit was barred as res judicata. Where the causes of action are substantially the same, the form in which they are stated or the difference in the frame of the relief will not affect the question. Haji
Hasim Ibrahim v Mancharam Kalandar, I L R 3 Bom 137, followed. Jubanti Nath Khan
v Shid Nath Chakraborty, I L R 8 Cal 319, distinguished. A Court is not precluded from comparing the issues in the two cases and from considering what the plaintiff had to prove or undertook to prove in either case, in considering whether the causes of action are identical. Chand Kaur v Parbat Singh I L R 10 Cal 88 explained.
Where in a suit at an adjourned hearing neither the plaintiff nor his pleader appears the case may be dealt with under s 158 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882. There is nothing in the language of that section which precludes its application to such a case. Srinivas Sagayaras v Smith, I L R 20
Bom. 736 disapproved from. NAGANADA AITAY v
KRISHNAMURTI AITAY (1910)

I L R 34 Mad. 97

5 ———— Decision on merits—dismissal for under valuation—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 11—Second suit for trial on same merits A previous suit between the parties failed on the ground that the claim was undervalued and the plaintiff when called upon to pay the deficient Court fees omitted to do so. There were issues on merits also decided. In a subsequent suit for trial on the same merits, the decision in the first suit was pleaded as res judicata. Held that the rejection of the suit on the ground of undervaluation at any stage of it did not make it res judicata for the purposes of a subsequent suit on the same cause of action or litigating the same title. Held further that the dismissal of the suit on the ground of undervaluation having been sufficient by itself the findings on the issues on the merits were not necessary for the decision of the suit and could not have the force of res judicata.

RES JUDICATA—contd.

LEAWA KOM LATMAHA MUGALI v SATYAPPA BEN SHIDAPPA MUGALI (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 38

6. — Execution proceedings—Decision in such proceeding not appealed against—Finality of such decision—Erroneous decision on a question of law, whether res judicata A decision in a previous execution proceeding which merely lays down what the law is, and is found to be erroneous, cannot have the force of res judicata in a subsequent proceeding for a different relief; BAIJ NATH GOENKA v PADMANAND SINGH (1912) I. L. R. 39 Cal. 848

7. — Partition suit—Suit by a widow to recover possession of her husband's share in divided family lands after partition by metes and bounds—Alleged partition of a house—Dismissal of suit, family lands being found not divided—Subsequent suit by a reversioner to recover possession of the house, no res judicata There were two brothers, Kishorbbhai and Desaibhai. Kishorbbhai died leaving him surviving his widow Bai Kanku, a daughter Bai Divah, and brother Desaibhai. Subsequently Desaibhai died leaving behind him his daughter's son Muljibhai. In 1884 Bai Kanku brought a suit against Muljibhai to recover possession of her husband's share in divided family lands after partition by metes and bounds. She alleged that the house in which she lived had fallen to her husband's share at partition. It was found that the family lands were not divided and the suit was dismissed. Bai Kanku died in 1907. In the year 1908 the plaintiff, who was the nearest heir of Kishorbbhai, brought the present suit against Muljibhai to recover possession of the house. A question having arisen as to whether the finding in the suit of 1884 with respect to family lands operated as res judicata with respect to the house Held, that the decision in the suit of 1884 did not bar the present suit. MULJIBHAI NARBHARAM v PATEL LAKHMIDAS (1911) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 127

8. — Suit against pledger—Ornaments—Unauthorized Pledge—Subsequent recovery—Recovery of judgment against pledger—Non-satisfaction—Suit against pledgee for detention after demand—Tortfeasor—Judgment not res judicata—Omission to raise an issue suggested by defendant—Defendant not claiming under a person against whom the issue was decided after defendant's transaction—Movable property—Doctrine of lis pendens not applicable—Party and privity Plaintiff brought a suit No. 159 of 1897, against M to obtain a declaration that M was not adopted by plaintiff's step mother and that she (the plaintiff) was the owner of the property in suit as the heir of her father and to obtain possession. The cause of action was laid in March 1897. The property in suit included ornaments of considerable value which M had pledged with his creditor. After the filing of the suit M redeemed the ornaments and again pledged them with G with the exception of two which had already been pledged with C. The plaintiff recovered judgment against M but it was not satisfied. The plaintiff then brought the present suit, No. 58 of 1908, against G as pledgee of the ornaments from an unauthorized pledger for detention of the ornaments after demand on or about the 11th August 1907. The defendant G answered that the judgment in the suit of 1897 was a bar to the present suit on the ground that the pledger and the pledgee were joint tortfeasors and the matter had passed into res judicata. At the hearing of the suit, the defendant wanted the Court to raise an issue as to whether M was not the validly adopted son, but the Court refused to frame the issue and admitted the judgment in the suit of 1897 (which had decided the issue in the negative) in evidence on the ground, inter alia, that the defendant, who was M's pleader in that suit, was a privy to it. The Court overruled the defendant's plea of res judicata and allowed the plaintiff's claim for the recovery of the ornaments or their value. Held, on appeal by the defendant, that the defendant's plea of res judicata could not stand. The cause of action in the second suit must be precisely the same as the cause of action in the first suit in order to make the judgment in the first suit a bar to proceedings in the second suit. Held, further, that it was an error not to raise an issue as to whether M was not the validly adopted son and to admit the judgment in the former suit in evidence on the ground that the defendant was a privy to it. The judgment in the former suit was subsequent to the pledge and the defendant did not claim under a person against whom the issue of adoption had been at the time of the pledge finally heard and determined. The fact that the former suit was pending at the time of the pledge of the ornaments could not prejudice the defendant on the issue of res judicata, for the doctrine of lis pendens did not apply to movable property. The defendant was, therefore, not a privy of M and was not bound by that judgment. Held, also, that the judgment in the previous case was irrelevant to prove that M had got possession of the ornaments by means of fraud. GOVIND BABA GUJRAR v JIJIBAI SAHEB (1911)

RES JUDICATA—contd.

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 189

9. — Co-plaintiffs—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1852), s. 26—Joinder of parties The plaintiff D and his step mother R (defendant) brought a suit against C to recover possession of certain ornaments which formed part of the estate of M, the father of D and husband of R. It was held by the Court of first instance that R was entitled to the ornaments, because they were her stridhan, but the appellate Court held that she was entitled to them not because they were her stridhan, but because she was the absolute owner of the property. D then sued R for a declaration that he, as son and heir to M, was entitled to hold the decree. The defendant in reply contended inter alia, that the suit was barred by res judicata. Held, that the bar of res judicata did not apply, inasmuch as there was no final adjudication as between R and D, and in the first suit it was a matter of no consequence to the defendant therein for the purposes of the relief to be given against him whether R succeeded or whether D succeeded. A finding to become res judicata as between co-plaintiffs must have been essential for the purpose of giving relief against the defendants. Jumfardra Narayan v Narayan Mohader, 11 I. J. 111, 111, 216, followed. The Court ought not to hold a point to be res judicata unless it is clear from the pleadings and the findings in the previous suit. No Court ought to infer res judicata by mere arguments from a judgment in a previous suit. Attorney General for Trinidad and Tobago v. Frick, [1893] A. C. 518, followed. REKHNISI v INCHRO MANADU (1911) I. L. R. 28 Bom. 207

RES JUDICATA—contd

10. ———— Settlement—Sust by after born son to set aside settlement—Difference between estoppel and res judicata Estoppel and res judicata are entirely different. Res judicata precludes a man averring the same thing twice over in successive litigations while estoppel prevents him saying one thing at one time and the opposite at another. CASABAILLY JAJRAJRAI v. SRI CURRIMBOY EBRANIM (1911).

L. L. R. 36 Bom 214

11. ———— Consent decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s. 11—Consent decree between predecessors in title of parties in suit—Injunction granted in former suit—Res judicata and estoppel distinguished A consent decree has to all intents and purposes the same effect as res judicata as a decree passed per amicitiam and thus notwithstanding the words in s. 11 of the Civil Procedure Code has been heard and finally decided. In re South American and Mexican Company, [1895] 1 Ch 37, followed. A consent decree comes to between the predecessors in interest of the present parties touching matters now substantially and directly in issue between them is res judicata. Res judicata ousts the jurisdiction of the Court while estoppel does no more than shut the mouth of a party. Estoppel never means anything more than that a person shall not be allowed to say one thing at one time and the opposite of it at another time, while res judicata means nothing more than that a person shall not be heard to say the same thing twice over. BHAISSANKER NANARAI v. MORARI KESHAJI & Co (1911).

L. L. R. 36 Bom 233

12. ———— Compromise decree, rescission of—Civil Procedure Code, s. 257 A—Agreement contravening rule in—Not opposed to public policy—Judgment-debtor may waive rule The test for determining whether there is an estoppel in any particular case in consequence of a decree passed on a compromise is whether the parties decided for themselves the particular matter in dispute by the compromise and the matter was expressly embodied in the decree of the Court passed on the compromise or was it necessarily involved in, or was it the basis of, what was embodied in the decree. The basis of a compromise decree is a contract between the parties to the litigation and the principles applicable to contracts would often have to be considered in determining the rules of estoppel applicable to such decrees, at the same time such a decree cannot be regarded as a mere contract, and has got a sanction for higher than an agreement between parties. The parties to the decree cannot therefore put an end to it at their pleasure in the manner that they could rescind a mere contract. Nor can it be impeached on some grounds on which a mere contract could be impeached such as absence of consideration or mistake. Jenkins v Robertson, 1 H L Sc and Div 117, distinguished. The reason is that the Court having bound to adopt the agreement between the parties as its own adjudication the interpretation on to be placed upon such adjudication ought to be the same as that to be placed on the agreement itself. A compromise decree may in some respects have a greater validity than one passed after contest between the parties as such a decree has all the force of a compromise or a species of contract which is highly favoured by the Courts. Judgments passed on mutual agreements of parties are distinguishable from judgments by default and decrees passed upon a confession of judgment or an admission by the defendant that the plaintiff is entitled to a particular relief. An agreement in contravention of s. 257 A of the Civil Procedure Code is not opposed to public policy. The prohibition in section is not based on any rule of public policy rendering such agreement illegal. It is merely unenforceable in execution proceedings or by a fresh suit as the case may be. A judgment debtor is entitled to waive the benefit of the rule. VENKATA PERUMAL PATA RAMADUR v. THATA RAMASAMY CHETTY (1911). L. L. R. 35 Mad 75

RES JUDICATA—contd

13. ———— Rent decrees—How far decrees for rent in previous suit res judicata on the question of title in subsequent suit A, a landlord tendered patta to B, his tenant, who objected to the patta on the ground that the extent of his holding was overstated, some of the lands included in the patta not belonging to A, but to B himself. The issue was raised whether the patta tendered was proper, the Court found that it did not contain any objectionable matter and was therefore a proper patta. Decree was accordingly given for rent in favour of A. A tendered a similar patta to B for a subsequent year and B again raised a similar objection to the extent of the holding. In a suit brought by A for the rent, B objected to the extent of the holding and it was contended first that the matter was res judicata by reason of the decision in the previous suit. Per MURRO, J.—The finding in the previous suit that the patta was proper, was a finding that the relationship of landlord and tenant subsisted between the plaintiff and the defendants in respect of the land entered in the patta and the defendants cannot be allowed to plaintiff again to prove of his title. Per SANKARAN NATH, J.—A decree for rent does not necessarily require a decision as to the terms of the patta or the extent of the land for which rent has to be paid. There being no express finding in the previous suit on the question of the ownership of the land, it cannot be implied from the mere framing of the decree for rent that the question was decided for the purpose of the subsequent suit. Where a question need not be deemed to have been decided on the ground that the decree in the previous suit requires such assumption to make it a decree rightly passed, a party is not, in the absence of a clear and express finding, precluded from raising the question in a subsequent suit. The question whether A or B was owner of the land included in the patta was not res judicata by reason of the previous decision. RAMNIDI BAIYA NAIDU v. RAMNIDI PARADHI NAIDU (1911). L. L. R. 35 Mad. 216

14. ———— Compromised decree—Compromise also affecting land not in suit—Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17, cl. (i)—Compulsory registration Where a compromise affected land not in suit and a decree was passed in terms of the compromise in so far as it related to the property sued for, to render the compromise available as a defence to a future suit as regards property not formerly sued for, it must have been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17. If any portion of a razinama has not passed into a decree or order of Court, it is prima facie difficult to see how a recital of it in the proceedings of the Court or its inclusion in pleadings put before the Court will bring it within the operation of cl. (i) of

RES JUDICATA—contd

* 17 of Registration Act Bhindersi Nair v Ganga Saran Sahu, 1 L. R. 20 All 171, and Peraan Annai v Lakshmi Annai, 1 L. R. 22 Mad 518, explained. Natesa Chetty v Vengu Nachwar, 1 L. R. 33 Mad 102, dissented from. Jasimuddin Biswas v Dhuban Jehin, 1 L. R. 31 Cal 456, distinguished. CHELAMANNA v RAMA RAO (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 46

15 ——— Decision based on oath, etc. effect of, as—Oaths Act (X of 1873), effect of An adjudication by a Court on an oath made by one of the parties to the suit would make the matter or issue covered by the adjudication res judicata in a subsequent litigation between the same parties where the subject matter of the suit is different. PER CURIAM The decision of any matter directly and substantially in issue in a former suit between the same parties, would none the less be res judicata because the decision was based on the oath of one of the parties or a witness in the former suit. The effect is similar to that of a decision of a Court based on a finding of an arbitrator or on a compromise between the parties. In all these cases the decision is the decision of the Court and not of the arbitrator or the parties. SATTYASI BABITVA v ARTASWARO (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 287

16 ——— Land assigned to support religious service—Lease—Adverse possession—Limitation—Right to recover possession of ratan land on the ground that the mortgage by the previous holder ceased to be effective on his death—Defence of tenancy for a term—Dismissal of suit—Subsequent suit to recover possession on the ground that the deceased holder had no right to alienate the land in any manner In the case of a lease for a term of years by the holder for the time being of lands assigned to support services rendered to a Mahan and religious community by successive holders time begins to run not from the commencement of the tenancy of the person claiming to hold as a tenant, but from the date when the claims of the parties became openly and undoubtedly adverse. Tekait Ram Chunder Singh v Srimati Mailho Kumari, 1 L. R. 12 J. A. 197 and Trimlak Ram chandra v Shela Gulam Zilani, 1 L. R. 34 Bom 329, referred to. The plaintiff brought a suit on the ground that the alienation by way of mortgage of certain service ratan lands ceased to be effective on the death of the alienor, the previous holder. The defendant contended that the document of alienation was a lease and not mortgage. The suit was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff failed to establish his contention as to the character of the document upon which he had elected to go to trial. In a subsequent suit, the plaintiff asserted that the lands in suit being Sarv Inam attributable in the plaintiff's family in the succession of disciples the plaintiff's deceased predecessor had no right and power whatever to pass in writing those lands by way of mortgage or lease or in any other manner so as to let the writing continue in force after his death. Held, that the subsequent suit was not maintainable owing to the bar of res judicata. The complaint in both the suits was the unlawful retention by the defendant of the lands after demand for delivery free of incumbrances. The matter of the retention of possession of the lands by defendants upon the terms asserted by him had been heard and finally decided in the first suit and could not be raised again. Woomalata

RES JUDICATA—contd

Deba v Kristokamini Dossee, 18 W. R. 163, referred to. Naro Bahwand v Ramchandra Tulder, 1 L. R. 13 Bom 326 distinguished. MAMAD GAUS v RAJABANSHA (1912)

I. L. R. 37 Bom 224

17. ——— Estoppel—Mortgage by Hindu widow claiming an absolute estate—Perver sioner, previous independent title of On 28th August 1879, one Musammal Pismo was declared to have preferential title to one Satyabadi in certain lands. On the 30th September 1904, Bhamo executed a conditional mortgage. In a suit for foreclosure brought by the mortgagee against Bhamo and Satyabadi a brother Baleshwar who was made a party on the allegation that he was in possession as a donee of the equity of redemption, a decree was granted to the mortgagee, and Baleshwar (who repudiated the title of Pismo and set up a title in himself alleging that the property belonged to him, and Bhamo was in possession as his guardian) was dismissed from the suit. Subsequently, the mortgage decree having been made absolute, and the mortgagee having been unable to obtain possession of the lands in question, a suit for recovery of possession was filed on the 19th June 1906, by the mortgagee against Baleshwar. This latter suit was decreed on the 17th September 1906, and both Courts of Appeal subsequently confirmed this decree. Shortly after the decision of the High Court in the above appeal, Bhamo died and, on the 2nd April 1909, Baleshwar brought a suit against the mortgagee for declaration of title and recovery of possession. Held, that the decision in the litigation of 1879 could not operate as res judicata. Baleshwar Dargot v Lingraith Das 1 L. R. 35 Calc 701 followed. Held, also, that the decision in the mortgage suit could not operate as res judicata. Jaggeshwar Dutt v Dhuban Mohan Mura 1 L. 33 Calc 425 2 C. L. J. 205, referred to. Held, further that the plaintiff was bound by his allegations in the suit for recovery of possession and could not now be permitted to say that Bhamo was in possession as a Hindu mother and that he himself was entitled to succeed on her death. Bhaya Choudhury v Chuni Lal Marwari, 5 C. L. J. 85, referred to. EMAGATHI DAS v BALESHWAR BAGARTI (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc 69

17 C. W. N. 877

18 ——— Suit for rent decreed—Tenant, if can institute title-suit to declare he was the tenant of another person and for recovery of amount realised under the decree—Alleged landlord joined as party Where B having sued C for rent on the basis of a registered kobaliyat C denied his tenancy under B and asserted that he was holding as tenant directly, under B's superior landlord A, but C's defence was overruled and a decree made in B's favour. Held that a subsequent suit brought by C in which he made both A and B parties defendants for a declaration that he was not C's tenant and for refund of the money realised by B under his decree was barred by res judicata. Duarka Nath v Ram Chand 1 L. R. 25 Calc 428 5 C. L. J. 3 C. W. N. 266 distinguished. SRIVENATH DUTT v KANER BHETTER (1913) 18 C. W. N. 116

19 ——— Execution proceedings—Order, returning execution application for correction of the amount claimed, without notice to judgment debtor, whether binding on the decree holder Where the Court without issuing notice to the judgment-debtor returned an execution applica-

RES JUDICATA—contd

to n, directing the decree holder to amend the same by reducing the amount claimed and the decree holder failed to appeal against the order. Held that the order was a judicial adjudication in a proceeding between the parties that the decree holder was not entitled to the larger amount, and that the decree holder was consequently debarred from claiming the larger amount in a fresh execution application. The fact that the judgment debtor had no notice of immaterial except when the order is passed against him in which case it is an ex parte order and cannot bind a party who had no opportunity to make his defence. Hiral Bose v Durga Charan Bose 3 C. I. J. 240. Chola Nath Das v Prafulla Nath Kundu Choudhry 1 L. R. 28 Cal. 192 and Delhi and London Bank Limited v Orchard 1 L. R. 3 Cal. 47 distinguished. VRAPARI GOUDAN v CHIDAMBARA MIDLAR (1912) 1 L. R. 37 Mad. 314

20. — Findings on two issues—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) s. 11—Judgment or findings on two issues one of which alone was sufficient—Both findings res judicata Where a judgment is based on the findings on two issues the findings on both the issues will operate as res judicata though the finding on only one would be sufficient to sustain the judgment. Arakha Bibars Poy v Brojnarain Choudhary, 1 R. 2 I. A. 283 and Venkayya v Nagarajamma 1 L. P. II Mad. 201 followed. VENKATARAJU v RAMANAMA (1913) 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 158

21. — Execution of decree—Failure of judgment debtor to raise objection to an amount erroneously set forth in an application for the execution of a decree—Civil Procedure Code (1908) s. 11, expln. IV Held, that if a judgment debtor does not take exception to the amount erroneously set forth in an application for the execution of a decree as being the sum due he is not prevented by the principle of res judicata from doing so on subsequent application for the execution of the same decree. KALYAN SINGH v JAGAN PRASAD (1915) 1 L. R. 37 All. 589

22. — Suit on mortgage—Ex parte decree against mortgagee members of joint Hindu family—Decree set aside against one member for insufficient service while remaining against other members—Decree on retrial made against all the members—Decision that decree was valid decree in suit on mortgage—Fresh suit to set aside decree on same grounds as in suit on mortgage and between same parties—Civil Procedure Code (1884) ss. 13 and 244—Suit to set aside decree made with jurisdiction and allowed to become final—Valid decision unless fraudulent A mortgage was executed in 1884 by the manager of a Hindu joint family of which he and his two sons were the adult members in favour of the predecessor in title of the respondent, and in a suit on a mortgage on 12 points decree was on the 30th of April, 1897, made against the mortgagor and his two sons one of whom was the appellant, and an order absolute for sale was made in September 1900. In 1901 the ex parte decree was set aside against the other son, on the ground of insufficient service on him, and on the retrial of the suit the Subordinate Judge on the 22nd of September 1902 made a decree against all three members of the family notwithstanding that the decree of the 30th of April 1897, was still in existence against the appellant. In 1906 an order was applied for to make the decree of 1902 absolute against all the judgment debtors. The appellant made objections which were overruled and an order absolute for sale was made by the Subordinate Judge on the 3rd of November, 1906 which was affirmed by the High Court on the 20th of February 1908. Held that a fresh suit brought by the appellant against the respondents to have the decree of the 22nd of September, 1902, set aside on the ground that he was not a party to it, and that at the Court had therefore no jurisdiction to make it was on the principle of res judicata, not maintainable, as being between the same parties, and raising precisely the same grounds and objections as had been raised and disallowed in the former suit and proceedings on the mortgage. It is not open to suitors in India who have exhausted the remedies competent to them, to institute a fresh suit the object of which is to declare that a decree competently and with adequate jurisdiction obtained therein is not applicable to them, although they are named in the decree. Even if the objections were wrongly decided, and the decree was erroneous, it must, when it has been allowed to become final, be taken as being valid if the Court had jurisdiction to make it and provided as was the case here, there was no fraud proved. Malharjun v Aarkari, 1 I. R. 25 Bom. 377. L. R. 27 I. A. 216 followed. 1 AJAYANT PRASAD PANDY v RAM RATAN GILL (1915).

RES JUDICATA—contd

1 L. R. 37 All. 495

23. — Sale of Khoti lands—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s. 11—Sale of Khoti lands on the basis that they are alienable—Subsequent suit between the parties on the allegation that the lands were inalienable—Khoti Settlement Act (Bombay Act I of 1880), s. 8 Certain Khoti lands were sold in execution proceedings between the parties on the footing that they were alienable, and purchased by the defendant. The plaintiff then filed a suit to recover possession of the lands on the allegation that the sale is being occupancy lands their sale was invalid under s. 9 of the Khoti Settlement Act, 1880. Held, that the plaintiff's allegation was barred by res judicata inasmuch as the sale in execution decided inferentially as between the plaintiff and the defendant that the lands sold were not occupancy lands. KASHINATH KRISHNA v DROXDHER (1916)

1 L. R. 40 Bom. 675

24. — Effect of rule—Rule of res judicata not a mere technical rule The application of the rule of res judicata by the Courts in India should be influenced by no technical considerations of form but by matter of substance with the limits allowed by law. SREERAMAYAN SINGH v. RAMTANDAN PRASAD NARAIAN SINGH (1916)

1 L. R. 43 Cal. 894
20 C. W. N. 738

25. — Finding in claim that it is res judicata re other properties—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) O. XXI r. 63, effect of—Wakf solidity of Properties A and B are included in an alleged wakf. The finding in a claim case regarding A that the wakf is a fraudulent transaction is not conclusive in a suit for declaration and possession regarding a share in B. An order in a claim case is conclusive only as regards the particular property in dispute. Hill, further, that a wakf having been given effect to during the life time of the wakf is valid and irrevocable. Suramoyi Das v Ashutosh Goswami, 1 L. R. 27

RES JUDICATA—contd.

Calc 714, Koyyana Chittanama v Doosy Gararamma, I L R 29 Mad 225, Ramu Aiyar v A L Palanappa Chetty I L R 35 Mad 35, distinguished Radha Prasad Singh v Inl Sahab Rai, I L R 13 All 53, Dinkar Ballal Chakradev v Hari Shridhar Apte, I L R 14 Bom 206, referred to ASHRA BIBI v AWALJADI BIBI (1916)

I. L. R. 44 Calc 698

26. — Execution of decree—Effect of the decision of an issue in the suit upon a cognate but not precisely similar issue raised in execution proceedings. In a suit for sale on a mortgage the main defence raised was that the mortgagor had no right to mortgage the property in suit, inasmuch as it formed part of a grant, originally made by Government, which was in the nature of political pension, and inalienable. This defence was accepted, and the Court, refusing to make a decree on the mortgage, gave the plaintiffs a money decree only. In execution of this money decree the plaintiffs decree holders sought to attach certain property of the judgment debtors not being part of the property included in their mortgage. Whereupon it was objected by the judgment debtors that this property also formed part of the original grant and could not be taken in execution. Held, that the question so raised was not concluded by the finding arrived at in the suit in respect of the property which purported to have been mortgaged to the plaintiffs. Mangala thammal v. Narayanarumi Aiyar, I L R 30 Mad 461, and Aghore Nath Mukerjee v Srimati Kamini Devi, 11 C L J 461, referred to. Held, that having regard to the substance rather than to the form of the proceedings before the court below, there was in this matter a reference to arbitration by the Court under the earlier paragraphs of the second schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, and in the circumstances the appeal, which was against the decree based on the award was not maintainable. Nidamarthi Arishnamoorthi v Garuparti Ganapathalingam, 34 Indian Cases 711, and Shama Sundram Iyer v Abdul Latif, I L R 27 Calc 61, referred to. RAM NANDAN DEAN DUBE v KANIZ FATIMA BIBI (1917)

I. L. R. 39 All 379

27. — Finding when 'res judicata' between co-defendants.—In order that a finding in a case should be res judicata between co-defendants three things are necessary: (i) that there should be a conflict of interest between co-defendants (ii) that it should be necessary to decide on that conflict in order to give to the plaintiff the relief appropriate to his suit, (iii) that the judgment should contain a decision of the question raised as between co-defendants. JADAV CHANDRA SIKHAN v KATLASH CHANDRA SING (1916)

21 C. W. N. 693

28. — Issue not "finally decided" in former suit—Civil Procedure Code, 1872, s 13—Deceit of fraudulent representation in suit on a bond. S 10 of the British Baluchistan Regulation IV of 1896 creates an estoppel by judgment only when the "matter in issue" has been "finally decided." Sheosagar Singh v Sitaram Singh, I L R 21 Cal 616, L P 24 I A 50, followed. That was a case under s 13 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1872, which, so far as the question under discussion is concerned, is similar to s 10 of the Baluchistan Regulation. The appellant (defendant) had brought a suit for cancellation of a bond on the ground that he was induced to execute it by the fraudulent representations of the respondent (the present plaintiff). The first Court held that he had failed to establish the fraud, and that decision was affirmed on appeal by the District Judge. He then brought a second appeal to the Judicial Commissioner who declined to go into the merits of the case and, upholding an objection by the respondent to the frame of the suit, dismissed the appeal. In a suit brought by the respondent to enforce the bond, the appellant raised the same issue as before, and the two lower Courts held that the issue was res judicata, and the Judicial Commissioner dismissed an appeal to him from that decision. Held by the Judicial Committee, that the defence in the present suit was not res judicata, the allegation regarding the execution of the bond on the fraudulent representations of the respondent never having been "finally decided" in the Judicial Commissioner's Court. ABDULAH ASHGAR ALI KHAN v GANESH DAS (1917)

RES JUDICATA—contd.

I L R. 45 Calc. 442

29. — Suit for profits—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 11, expt V, s 47 and O X, r 12—Previous suit for land and past and future profits—Decree for land and past profits and no decision as to future profit—Second suit for future profit maintainability. Held by the Full Bench (ATLING, J., contra). When in a suit for possession and past and future mesne profits the Court gives a decree for mesne profits down to the date of suit, and says nothing about subsequent mesne profits, a fresh suit to recover them is not barred under s 11 Civil Procedure Code. Ponnusami Iyer v Sri Pangaraja Iyengar, 2 L B S, overruled. Kuyyusawmy Aiyar v Venkatarao, 15 Mad L J 462, applied. DONAISAMI v SUBRAMANIAM (1917)

I L R 41 Mad. 188

30. — Erroneous decree—Property belonging to estate B erroneously decreed to be in estate A—Tenants under B under permanent leases, if bound by decree—Tenants entitled to hold under their own leases under A—Co sharer zemindar pursuing tenure—Possession disputed by tenant of neighbouring zemindar—Suit as both purchaser and zemindar to establish title in property purchased—Zemindar's title if properly in issue—Litigating under the same title. A and B are neighbouring zemindars. The 4 5th proprietor of A purchased in execution of a decree for his share of the rent a defaulting tenure G in A. A tenant of B having set up title as such to a portion of the land thus purchased, the purchaser sued the claimant and the zemindars of B to establish his title both as landlord and as purchaser to the tenure G. In the course of that suit a Commissioner fixed a boundary between A and B which in a subsequent investigation was found to have erroneously included in estate A lands which really formed part of estate B, as part of the defaulting tenure G and this was confirmed by the Court. Held, that the plaintiff in that suit was interested in establishing his title both as zemindar and purchaser, and the zemindars' title having, upon the pleadings, been directly put in issue, upon the decision, so far as plaintiff's 4 5th zemindars' title was concerned, was as between the rival zemindars res judicata. The defaulting tenure G held having prior to the sale of the tenure mortgaged his properties, the tenure amongst other properties was sold in execution of a decree obtained on the mortgage and a part of it was purchased by the mortgagee and the rest by a stranger who later on sold it to the mortgagee. The mortgagee purchaser was no party to the suit of the 4 5ths remainder of A who had purchased only the equity of redemption at the sale in execution of his rent decree. Held, that the decision in that suit was not res judicata against the mortgagee purchaser who was entitled to show that he held certain portions of the land purchased by him on her permanent leases granted to the mortgagor by the proprietors of B on certain terms. That as regards such lands the 4 5ths remainder title being 1 und to be in the proprietors A res judicata in the present suit in which both the proprietors of B and the mortgagee purchaser are parties the mortgagee purchaser is entitled to hold them on under the 4 5ths proprietor of A as to that share on the terms of the permanent leases granted by the proprietors of B. SWIN CHANDRA RAY v HARENDRA LAL RAY (1918)

RES JUDICATA—contd

22 C. W. N. 721

31. — Finding on unnecessary issue—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s. 11—Finding recorded on an issue which is not necessary in the first suit—Finding does not become res judicata—“Finally decided,” meaning of. In 1903, the plaintiff sued the defendant to recover possession of land and arrears of assessment at an enhanced rate, alleging that the defendant was a tenant-at-will and not a permanent tenant. The Court held in that suit that the defendant was a yearly tenant; and though it decreed the claim to recover arrears of assessment at the enhanced rate, it dismissed the claim to recover possession on the ground that notice to quit had not been given by the plaintiff. Ten years later, the plaintiff gave to the defendant a legal notice to quit, and brought a second suit to recover possession of the land, alleging that the defendant was a tenant-at-will and that he was prevented from contending otherwise by res judicata. Held, by HEATON, J., that though the issue as to the nature of the tenancy was undoubtedly directly and substantially in issue it could not be said that it was finally decided, in the earlier case. Held, by FRATT, J., that the dismissal of the claim for possession prevented the finding that the defendant was not a permanent tenant from operating as res judicata, and that the issue as to the character of the tenure was a matter collateral to the liability to pay enhanced assessment. DADHRAI ALLEXANDER v DAYA RAMA (1918)
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 568

32. — Adoption suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Suit by Hindu widow to set aside adoption made by her as invalid—Suit dismissed on the ground of estoppel and also on the merits—Fresh suit by reversionary heir to declare adoption invalid, if maintainable—Hindu widow how far represents estate A suit by a Hindu widow to set aside an alleged adoption by her of the defendant as the son of her deceased husband was dismissed by the Courts in India on the ground that the plaintiff was by her conduct estopped from denying that the defendant was validly adopted, but on appeal to the Privy Council, the Judicial Committee did not confine its decision to the question of estoppel only but held as a fact that the plaintiff had authority to adopt the defendant and he was validly adopted.

RES JUDICATA—contd

On the death of the widow an alleged reversionary heir sued the defendant in the previous suit for recovery of the estate on the allegation that the widow had no authority to adopt. Held, that the decision in the previous suit was a bar to the maintainability of this suit. That in that suit, the widow, notwithstanding the personal estoppel under which she laboured represented the estate on the question of fact as to whether the defendant had or had not been adopted. Were the estate of a deceased Hindu has vested in a female heir a decree fairly and properly obtained against her in regard to the estate is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, binding on the reversionary heir, and a Hindu widow, otherwise qualified to represent an estate in litigation, does not cease to be so qualified merely owing to personal disability or disadvantage as a litigant, although the merits are tried and the trial is fair and honest. RISAL SINGH v BALWANT SINGH (1918)

23 C. W. N. 326
33. — Administration suit—Validity of gift—Decision in same suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), s. 11 S. 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, is not exhaustive of the circumstances in which an issue is res judicata. A testator by his will and codicils provided that certain annuities should be paid out of a trust fund thereby created, and that the residue of the income of the fund should be paid to the deacons of a Baptist church, subject to certain conditions, with a gift over to another Baptist church if the conditions were not fulfilled. In an administration suit in the High Court during the life of the last surviving annuitant, it was held that the conditions had not been fulfilled and that there was not an intestacy as to the surplus income, rejecting a contention on behalf of the next of kin that the gift over was invalid, as creating a perpetuity, the decree provided that the determination of the destination of the income or corpus of the fund upon the death of the annuitant should be deferred until after that event. In further proceedings in the suit after the annuitant's death, the next of kin contended that under the reservation in the decree they were entitled again to raise the contention that the gift over was invalid. Held that the validity of the gift over was res judicata. Jam Arifal Shukri v Rup Avari, I L R 3 All 633, L R 11 I A 37, and Prorath v Morrot, 23 D 182, followed. Judgment of the High Court reversed. HOOK v ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL OF BANGAL (1921).

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 499
25 C. W. N. 915

34. — Rent suit—Question of title is essentially raised if res judicata. In a suit by the Plaintiff to recover lands appertaining to a jote belonging to his predecessor, the defence was that the latter had abandoned the jote. In a previous suit by the Plaintiff against Defendant for rent on the basis of a labhyot, the Defendant had averred that the labhyot had been obtained by misrepresentation and set up a tenancy under a third party. It had been found in that suit by the first Court that the labhyot was not genuine, but in the Appellate Court, the dismissal of the suit by the first Court was upheld on the finding that the Plaintiff had abandoned the jote. Held—That the decision was not res judicata in the present suit. GOBER SRIKSH v ALLEXANDER SRIKSH 24 C. W. N. 717

RES JUDICATA—contd

35. ——— Family Custom, Effect of decision as to—Position of descendants of non-contesting branches of the family Where it is necessary to establish or deny a custom in a family, and where pains have been taken to bring upon the record every branch of the family, and where that custom has been the subject of contest and thoroughly thrashed out in the presence of all branches of the family, the matter cannot be again raised by the descendants of those branches, even though certain branches did not take an active part in the contest but contented themselves with admitting that the custom existed. MOWAR SHEWBAX SINGH v MOWAR THAKUR DAYAL SINGH. 1 Pat. L. J. 221

36. ——— Decision incidental to main issue—Whether operates as res judicata—Examination of pleadings and judgment to ascertain what was directly and substantially in issue In a previous suit by the plaintiff for delivery of a talukhat it was alleged that the rent was Rs 49 per annum. The court, finding that the rent was less than Rs 49 per annum, dismissed the suit, and in order to decide what costs the defendants were entitled to, recorded a finding that the real rent was Rs 30 per annum. In the present suit the plaintiff sued for rent at the rate of Rs 30 per annum. Held, that the question of the rent payable by the defendants was not res judicata. The decision that the rent was Rs 30 per annum, being recorded merely for the purpose of arriving at a correct conclusion regarding the cost, was only incidental and recorded for a purpose collateral to the main issue. In order to ascertain what matter directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit was heard and finally decided, the pleadings, and judgment in that suit may be examined. MITTER PODDAR v JADAB CHANDRA CHATTOPADHYAY. 2 Pat. L. J. 156

37. ——— Mortgage suit, property wrongly described—Decree set aside—Subsequent suit for sale of property actually covered by bond Where the execution of a decree on a mortgage bond failed on the ground that in the plaint in the suit the property was described as being situated in Mouzah B, whereas in fact it was situated in Mouzah M, held, that a subsequent suit on the mortgage bond was not barred by the rule of res judicata. Non suit does not operate as res judicata. JANAKDULAB SARAN MISHRA v AMBICA PRASAD SINGH. 2 Pat. L. J. 313

38. ——— Failure to produce evidence in first suit—Withdrawal with leave to bring fresh suit, effect of If a suit is dismissed on the ground that as constituted it could not succeed the dismissal is not res judicata, however erroneous may be the idea that the frame of the suit barred a decision. If, however, it is dismissed for want of evidence the decision is final. Where the plaintiff's suit was dismissed by the first Court and the plaintiff appealed and applied to the appellate Court for leave to withdraw the appeal on the ground that he had not been able to adduce evidence necessary for the substantiation of his case. Held, that the order of the appellate Court granting leave to withdraw amounted to a decision that the evidence on the record was not sufficient to support the plaintiff's case, and, therefore, a subsequent suit between the same parties in which the same matters were substantially in issue was barred by the rule of res judicata. SATYABAD GOUNIA v BEDIADHAR DAS PANDA.

RES JUDICATA—contd

3 Pat. L. J. 404

39. ——— First suit decreed in the Second Class Subordinate Judge's Court—Subsequent suit in Court of the First Class Subordinate Judge—Identical issue involved in both suits—No bar of res judicata—Jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O II, r 2—Minor plaintiff not to be prejudiced by a mistake of his guardian The plaintiff's guardian filed a suit in the Second Class Subordinate Judge's Court to recover possession of property, alleging that the plaintiff was the adopted son of one Nathu. The plaintiff's adoption was upheld and suit decreed. The plaintiff subsequently filed a second suit in the First Class Subordinate Judge's Court for the recovery of another portion of family property. The defendant pleaded that the plaintiff was not the adopted son and that the suit was barred by O II, r 2, Civil Procedure Code. On plaintiff's behalf it was contended that the defendants were barred by res judicata from disputing plaintiff's adoption. Held, that the decree in plaintiff's favour in the previous suit could not be pleaded as res judicata in the subsequent suit as the judge by whom it was made had no jurisdiction to try and decide the subsequent suit in which the issue as to adoption was subsequently raised. Held also, that the suit was not barred under O II, r 2 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, as the plaintiff who was a minor when the first suit was brought could not be prejudiced by a mistake made by his guardian as his right to sue in his own person came into effect on his attaining majority. Golvi Mandar v Padmanand Singh (1902) L. R. 29 I. A. 202, referred to. VRANKAT R. ONKAR NATHU (1920). I. L. R. 45 Bom. 805

40. ——— Where both parties appealed from decree of first Court and Appellate Court disposed of both appeals by one judgment accepting plaintiff's appeal and rejecting that of defendant, separate decrees being given—and defendant in his second appeal did not file a copy of the decree passed on his appeal—Civil Procedure Code, Act V of 1908, O 42, r 1—entire in bhāsi silent as to interest—whether oral evidence of agreement to pay interest is admissible—Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, s 93, proviso (2) Plaintiff-repondent sued for recovery of Rs 825 principal and Rs 412 8 0 interest on a bāhi entry which made no mention of interest. First Court decreed Rs 325 and interest at Rs. 2 per cent per mensem, making a total of Rs 448 8 0. Both parties appealed, and the Lower Appellate Court wrote a judgment in defendant's appeal covering both appeals and accepted plaintiff's appeal allowing Rs. 825, the amount given in the entry and Rs. 264 as interest, total 1 089, and dismissed defendant's appeal. A short judgment was also written in the plaintiff's appeal referring to the other and separate decrees were given in the two appeals. Defendant then preferred a second appeal to this Court attaching thereto copies of the two judgments and of the decree in plaintiff's appeal but not of the decree passed in his own appeal. Held, that as there was no valid appeal before this Court in respect of the decree of the Lower Appellate Court on defendant's appeal, the decision relating to the sum of Rs. 448 8 0 was final and the present appeal in respect of this item was barred as res obtained in a former suit and not make any difference. The importance of a judicial decision is not to be measured by the pecuniary value of the particular item in dispute and the Defendants in the suit could not be heard to say that in view of the comparatively small value of the property involved in the proceeding under s. 32 of Act I of 1894 it was not thought worth the while to appeal from the decision of the High Court in that proceeding. The award as constituted by the Land Acquisition Act is nothing but an award which states the area of the land the compensation to be allowed and the apportionment amongst persons whose interests are not in dispute. A dispute between interested people as to the extent of their interest forms no part of the award. The determination of such a dispute in the High Court was a decree and appealable as such to the Privy Council. It is not accurate to say that under the Hindu law in the case of a gift of immovable property to a Hindu widow, she has no power to alienate unless such power has been given. T B RASACHANDRA RAO v B N S RAMCHANDRA RAO 26 C W N 715

RES JUDICATA—contd

RESPONDENT

— death of—

See APPEAL, PARTIES TO AN

I L R. 39 Mad. 356

RESTITUTION

See ASSIGNMENT OF A MONEY DECREE

I L R 38 Mad. 36

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 583

I L R. 38 All. 163

I L R. 32 All. 79

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908

s 47 AND 144 I L R. 44 Bom 702

s 144

— claim for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 144 I L R 43 Bom 492

Application for restitution of property—subsequent application for means profits res judicata—Code of Civil Procedure (Act I of 1908) ss 141 and 144 and O II, r 2—(Act XIX of 1931) s 55L—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Art 181 Where a decree obtained against the defendants was reversed on appeal and they applied for and obtained restitution of the property from the plaintiff held that a subsequent application for means profits in respect of the property, for the period during which the plaintiffs were in possession was maintainable, and that the period of three years provided by Art 181 of Sch I to the Limitation Act, 1908 began to run from the date of the appellate Court's judgment. A proceeding in which relief by way of restitution is claimed is neither a suit nor an execution proceeding but a miscellaneous proceeding to which the rules applicable to execution proceedings in substance apply. The provisions of O II, r 2 of the Civil Procedure Code do not apply to such a proceeding. Article 181 of Schedule I to the Limitation Act, 1908, does not control the period during which means profits shall be allowed to accumulate and whatever the number of years during which the decree holders have been in possession the defendant is entitled to be compensated in respect of the whole of that period, provided he applies within three years from the date on which the right to the relief accrued. KRUPASTINDHU RAY v MAHANTA BALNADRA DAS

RESTITUTION—contd

3 Pat L J 367

RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s 11 I L R 37 Bom 563

O XXXIX s 1 I L R 43 All. 134

See COURT FEES ACT (VII of 1870) Sch II, Art 17 (vi) I L R 33 All. 767

See DIVORCE ACT (IV of 1869) ss 2, 4

7 45 I L R 38 Bom 125

See HUSBAND AND WIFE

I L R 37 Bom 393

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s 29

I L R 34 All. 412

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER

I L R. 35 Bom 330

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS

See MARRIAGE I L R 33 All. 90

— decree for should not be executed by detention of wife in prison—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XXI, n 33 I L R 44 Bom 972

— suit for, effect of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE

I L R. 48 Cal. 141

Jurisdiction—Valuation of claim—Jurisdiction of Second Class Subordinate Judge to entertain the suit—Bombay Civil Courts Act (XII of 1869), s 24—Suits Valuation Act (III of 1857), s 11 A suit for restitution of conjugal rights, wherein the claim was valued by the plaintiff at Rs 65 was instituted in the Court of the Second Class Subordinate Judge. The First Court decreed the claim and on appeal the decree was confirmed. On second appeal it was contended that the First Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit. Held that the valuation of the claim by the plaintiff must be accepted for the purpose of jurisdiction, unless it was shown to have been made either from any improper motive or delusively for the purpose of giving the Court a jurisdiction which in fact it had not. Jam Mohtam d Mandol v Mohtam doli, I L R 34 Cal. 252, followed Jasara v Chaturu (1900) I L R 34 Bom 226 — Decree against wife—Infringement against wife's parents—Case 11418 filed a suit against his wife and her parents to obtain a decree for restitution of conjugal rights against his wife and a personal injunction restraining the parents from obstructing his wife from living with him and from allowing her to live in their house. The lower appellate Court gave the plaintiff a decree for restitution of conjugal rights and granted an injunction against the parents. On appeal, held, that the order granting the injunction was wrong. Jamunadas v Janyan

RES JUDICATA—contd

judicata C v C and B (22 P P 1903), referred to Jugal Kishore v. Chamma (55 P P 1905, F B) distinguished. Held also that, paying regard to the concluding words of process (2) of s. 92 of the Evidence Act, oral evidence of an agreement to pay interest on the amount shown due in the entry was admissible such entries in hats not being of a formal character. Kishore Chand v. Guran Ditta Mal (52 P P 1911) distinguished. Bura v. Mani Biah (101 I 1 1901) and Rajku Mal v. Randu (110 P P 1909) referred to. BHAN SINGH v. GOKAL CHAND

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 83

41 ———— Decision in previous suit whether "res judicata" as between the defendants—necessary essentials—stopper—Admission by defendant in a previous suit which did nothing to influence plaintiff's beliefs or actions. Held following Ram Chand v. Narain v. Narain Mahal (1 L. R. 11 Bom. 216) that where an adjudication between the defendants is necessary to give the appropriate relief to the plaintiff the adjudication will be res judicata between the defendants as well as between the plaintiffs and defendants. But for this effect to arise there must be a conflict of interests between the defendants and a judgment defining the real rights and obligations of the defendants inter se. Without necessity, a judgment will not be res judicata amongst defendants nor will it be res judicata amongst them by mere inference from the fact that they have been collectively defeated in resisting a claim to a share made against them as a group. Broja Behari v. Kedar Nath (1 L. R. 12 Cal. 359 F B) and Balambhat v. Narayanbhat (1 L. R. 25 Bom. 74), approved. Held further, that as the plaintiff was fully cognizant of his own rights and position the admission of the defendant made in a previous suit between the parties who did nothing to influence either plaintiff's beliefs or actions could not operate as an estoppel in the present suit. MAHRA v. DEVI DITTA MAL.

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 88

42 ———— Ex-parte decree—Application for re-hearing on ground of non-service of summons—Application dismissed—Suit to contest decree on the same ground whether maintainable—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. IV, r. 13. Although a decree can be set aside on ground of fraud yet if question has already been agitated between the same parties and decided by a Court of competent jurisdiction the matter is res judicata. JANGAL CHAUDHRY v. LALIT PASTAN

6 Pat. L. J. 1

43 ———— Withdrawal from Suit—Where a defendant has entered appearance and filed a written statement and then withdrawn from the suit he is not entitled to institute a suit to set aside the ex-parte decree obtained against him in these circumstances merely on the ground that the plaintiff in a joint suit procured his decree by means of perjured evidence. RAM SARAY LAL SHAW v. TOOKI SAO.

5 Pat. L. J. 259

44 ———— Suit by public,—if barred by the decision in a previous suit between a Manager appointed under the Religious Endowments Act and some claimants v. Mokunda. A Manager was appointed under s. 5 of the Religious Endowments Act of 1863 in respect of a temple, and thereupon a person claiming to be a Molunt or Dandan of the temple instituted a suit for establishment of his title. There were three Defendants in the suit viz, the said Manager, his successor in office and another rival claimant to the office of Dundee. The suit was decreed. During the pendency of the suit the public brought the present suit under s. 92 of the Civil Procedure Code but the District Judge dismissed the suit on the ground that the trial of the question raised in the present suit was barred by the result of the decision in the previous suit which was pending at the date of the institution of the present suit. Held—That the decree in the earlier suit though operative against the Manager appointed under s. 5 of the Religious Endowments Act as also against the rival claimants, could not possibly operate to defeat a suit by members of the public instituted under s. 92 C P C s. 92 contemplates the administration of a trust created for public purposes. Such administration may include the removal of an existing trustee the appointment of a new trustee or both. In such a suit it may be held that the endowment was not of such a nature as to attract the operation of the provisions of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, and that the appointment of the Manager under s. 5 of the Act was without jurisdiction and so forth. SAMAYAM CHAKRABARTY v. KUA GENDRANANDA 26 C. W. N. 504

RES JUDICATA—contd

45 ———— Land Acquisition Act—(1 of 1894)—Decision under it may be reopened in regular suit—Res judicata general principle of, not applied by Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Land Acquisition Act (1 of 1894) s. 51—'Award' if includes decision on disputed question as to disposition of compensation money—Gift by Hindu to wife whether limited or absolute—Principle of construction—Under a deed of settlement executed by one B, one half of certain properties was given to his adopted son and the remaining half was given to his two wives who were to take the same half and half. One of these properties having been acquired by Government a question arose in a proceeding under s. 32 of Act I of 1894 between the adopted son and one of the wives, as to whether the latter was absolutely entitled to her share of the compensation money or whether the same was to be invested, she having no right to alienate her interest in the property under the deed of settlement. The High Court, when the matter came up before it, held that by the deed of settlement the wife was intended to have a widow's estate only in the property devised. Subsequently the wife having bequeathed her properties to Respondent by Will, the representatives of the adopted son instituted a suit against the claimants under the Will alleging that she had a limited estate under the deed of settlement and had no power to dispose of the properties by Will. Held—That it was not open to the Courts in this suit to review the decision of the High Court in the proceeding under s. 32 of Act I of 1894, that the lady had only a limited estate in the property without power of alienation. It is not competent for the Court, in the case of the same question arising between the parties to review a previous decision no longer open to appeal. This principle is of general application and is not limited by the specific words of s. 11 of the Civil Procedure Code so that the fact that the decision in question was not

Decree against wife—Infernal on opposite wife's parents—Court. Plaintiff filed a suit against his wife and her parents to obtain a decree for restitution of conjugal rights against his wife and a personal injunction restraining the parents from obstructing his wife from living with him and from allowing her to live in their house. The lower appellate Court gave the Plaintiff a decree for restitution of conjugal rights and granted an injunction against the parents.
On appeal—Held, that the order granting the injunction was wrong. See James v. James.

RESTITUTION—contd

Moreshear Pease 1876 1 Bom. 164, distinguished.
Bai JAMANA v DATALJI MANKUJI (1919)

I L R 44 Bom 454

RESTORATION OF APPEAL

See APPEAL

8 Pat L J 625

RESTORATION OF SUIT

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O IX,
 RR 8 AND 9, s. 151

I L R. 34 AH 423

See SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT

I L R 41 Cal. 950

Decree set aside for fraud—Order of Court of co current jurisdiction, if effective to restore suit Where a decree obtained in a Court of equal jurisdiction was set aside by another Court which went on to add that the result of the decree being declared fraudulent would be that the original suit would be restored. Held that this order of a Court of equal jurisdiction could not operate as a direction to the first Court to restore the suit and that in refusing to restore the suit the Court had committed no error. HEETRA MOHAN BARIK v MAHOMMED PAL (1910)

14 C W N 558

Order dismissing application for restoration—appeal No appeal lies from an order dismissing an application for restoration of a suit. JAGDIS NARAIN PRASAD SINGH v HARBANS NARAIN SINGH

2 Pat L J 720

RESTRAINT ON PROCEEDINGS

See INJUNCTION I L R. 38 Cal. 405

RESTRAINT OF TRADE

See CONTRACT

I L R. 48 Cal. 1030

See CONTRACT ACT s. 27

RESTRAINT ON ALIENATION

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882,
 s. 10

RESTRAINT UPON DRUNKEN AND DISORDERLY PERSON—

See PENAL CODE s. 341

I L R. 44 Mad 613

RESTRICTION OF HABITUAL OFFENDERS (PUNJAB) ACT, 1918—

ss. 3 and 7.—Order of restriction follows an order of security for good behaviour—The Act Held that a restriction order under s. 7 of the Restriction of Habitual Offenders (Punjab) Act, following an order for security for good behaviour is ultra vires under the provision to the section and must be set aside. HABIB DAKSH V CROWN

I L R. 1 Lah 100

ss. 3, 12 and 13.—Whether an order of restriction for a period exceeding one year passed by a Magistrate requires confirmation by the Sessions Judge—Criminal Procedure Code, Act 1 of 1898, s. 123. Held that an order of restriction for a period exceeding one year passed by a Magistrate under the provisions of the Restriction of Habitual Offenders (Punjab) Act does not require confirmation by the Sessions Judge. CROWN v SUNDIA

I L R. 1 Lah 614

RESULTING TRUST

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877), s. 10*
 I L R. 35 Bom. 49

See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS I L R. 40 Bom. 341

Purchase by husband of land in Rangoon and conveyed to wife—Erection on land of dwelling houses—Suit by husband against wife as a mere benamidar—Parties born of English parents but with permanent residence in India—Law applicable to such a suit—English Law with rebuttable presumption of advancement to wife—Onus of proof The parties in this case were husband and wife born in India of English parents and who had resided in India all their lives except for a visit to England occasionally. The appellant had bought land with money of his own or borrowed and had procured it to be conveyed to the respondent by two deeds and had at his own expense erected thereon two dwelling houses. In a suit brought by the appellant against his wife for a declaration that the houses were held by her as his benamidar, and that he was the true owner of them, and for an order that she should convey them to him, the respondent while admitting that the sites of the houses had been so purchased and conveyed to her and that the houses had been built upon them as stated alleged that the sites were conveyed and the houses built on them for her as an advancement and that she was consequently entitled to a beneficial interest in them as her own property. Held, that the principles and rules of law which would be applicable to the case if it were tried in a Chancery Court in England were applicable to it when tried in Rangoon. There would be a presumption of an intended advancement which might be rebutted, but that the onus of rebutting it rested in the appellant. Gopkrishna Goswami v Gangapermal Goswami 6 Moo L A 53, and Unkur Ali v Ulfat Fatima, 13 Moo L A 23*, distinguished. To rebut such a presumption it was not sufficient for the appellant merely to state that he did not intend to confer any beneficial interest on the respondent, but he must establish with reasonable clearness that he had other and different motives for the action he took. Devooy v Devooy, 3 Am d O 803, per V. C. Sir Page Wood applied in principle. Held, further that on the evidence the onus had been discharged by the appellant and he was entitled to succeed. KER WICK v KERWICK (1920) I L R. 48 Cal. 280

RESUMPTION

See ASSESSMENT I L R. 43 Cal. 973

See CANTONMENT PROPERTY

I L R. 36 Bom. 1

See CHAUJDARI CHAKRAN LANDS

I L R. 42 Cal. 710

I L R. 45 Cal. 685

I L R. 37 Cal. 57

I L R. 44 Cal. 841

I L R. 45 Cal. 765

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 474

I L R. 35 Bom. 362

See FORFEITURE I L R. 38 Bom. 539

See GRANT I L R. 38 Bom. 438

I L R. 39 Bom. 63

RESUMPTION—contd

See JAGERS . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 683

See INAM

See MADRAS REGULATION (XXV OF 1802)
s. 4 . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

See RESUMPTION BY GOVERNMENT

See RESUMPTION OF SARANJAM

See SHETSANDI LANDS

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 560

See VRIITTI I. L. R. 37 Bom. 403

— distinguished for enfranchisement—

See CHARITABLE INAMS

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 939

— of grant—

See GRANT OF LAND.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 37

— of muafi—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
s. 163 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 689

— of Pasaia Inam land—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM
ACT V OF 1879), s. 202

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 894

— of Saranjam—

See SARANJAM . . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 408

Resumption for "public purposes" by Government of land granted by La 1 India Company—Scheme to erect dwelling houses at adequate rent for the accommodation of Government Officials in Bombay—Construction of lease and sanad—English decision under s. 43 Eliz c 2 as to exemption from rating—Notice of resumption addressed to one party and served on another—Haver. In these appeals the Judicial Committee held (affirming the decisions of the Courts in India) that the providing of housing accommodation for Government Officials by the erection of dwelling houses for their private residences at adequate rents, was a "public purpose" within the meaning of a lease of land from the East India Company given in 1854, and a Sanad or Government Permit of land granted in 1839 by the same Company, which made such lands (situate on Malabar Hill, Bombay) liable to resumption for "public purposes" upon certain terms as to notice and compensation. The scheme was one which their Lordships agreed with the Courts below would under the circumstances in evidence redound to public benefit by helping the Government to maintain the efficiency of its servants. Held, also (agreeing with the Courts below), that the English decisions which construed the words "public purposes" as used in the Statute 43, Eliz. c 2 with reference to exemptions from rating afforded no help as to the proper construction to be put on the words in the contracts in suit. The definition of a "public purpose" that "the phrase, whatever else it may mean, must include a purpose, that it is an object or aim, in which the general interest of the community, as opposed to the particular interest of individuals, is directly and vitally concerned," approved by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee. A notice which though addressed to one of the defendants (a testator who was dead) was served on one of his executors and trustees, also a defendant, and accepted and acknowledged by his solicitors who corresponded on the basis of it with the Government as to the resumption was held to be a valid notice, the irregularity having been thereby waived. HANABAI FRAMJEE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1914) . . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 279

RESUMPTION—contd

*Land held under Sanad from Government—Valuation of land to be determined by a committee appointed by Government—Construction of the word "committee"—Valuation fixed by the majority binding on parties to the Sanad—Dissection between arbitrators and valuers. Land was held by the plaintiffs under a Sanad from Government which provided 'the said ground to be at any time resumable by Government for public purposes, six months' notice being previously given and a just valuation of all buildings or improvements thereon being paid the owner, the amount of which a committee appointed by Government is in such a case to determine.' The land being resumed with due notice given under the above clause the Government appointed a committee of three persons to value the compensation to be paid to the plaintiffs. Two members of the committee valued the land at Rs 60,383, the third valuing it at Rs 179,774. The Government accepted the report of the majority as the determination by the committee under the terms of the Sanad and took possession of the land after payment of Rs. 60,383 to the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs filed the present suit to recover compensation at the higher valuation, or any sum in excess of Rs 60,383 which the Court might think just and proper. Held, dismissing the suit (i) that it was the understanding and within the contemplation of all the parties to the Sanad that the determination of the just value of the land to be made by a committee appointed by Government should be accepted if that determination represented the concurrent opinion of a majority of the committee, (ii) that the valuation agreed upon by the majority of the committee appointed by Government was the valuation expressed to be determined and so was binding upon the parties to the resumption term in the Sanad. MATOMBERALY ADAMJI v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1917)*

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 663

RETAINER.

See BAR COUNCIL, RESOLUTIONS OF
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

RETRACTION OF STATEMENT BY WITNESS.

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 616

RE-TRIAL.

See APPEALS, EXAMINATION OF
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 183

See ATTORNEYS ACQUIT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1072

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1888), ss. 233, 421, 437

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 527

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), ss. 21,
81 . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 457

See TRIAL BY JURY

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 795
16 C. W. N. 809

RE-TRIAL—contd

Power of High Court to order, after obtaining additional evidence—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), s 428—Government of India Act (5 and 6 Geo 5 c 61), s 107—Witnesses, duty of Court to secure attendance of—Petitions filed by parties, duty of Court to pass order on—The High Court has power to direct the Sessions Judge to rehear an appeal after obtaining additional evidence. It is the duty of the Court, when processes have once been issued for the attendance of witnesses, to exhaust all the powers allowed by law to enforce their attendance, unless the party citing such witnesses can be shown to have been guilty of wilful obstruction and delay. Where the accused repeatedly requested that certain persons should be summoned as witnesses and the Court twice issued process without securing their attendance held that the fact that the accused had failed to deposit the travelling and diet expenses of the witnesses did not excuse the Court from its duty to secure their attendance as the accused had never been requested to deposit the sum necessary for the expenses. MARWED ZAMINDAR v KING-EMPEROR 3 Pat. L. J. 632

REUNION

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I. L. R. 41 All. 361

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 703

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 293

I. L. R. 35 All. 41

REVENUE

attachment of arrears of—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872) ss. 69,

70 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 795

covenant to pay—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

I. L. R. 38 All. 230

REVENUE COMMISSIONER

See COMMISSIONER, POWER OF

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 552

REVENUE COURT.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V

of 1898), s 195 cl. (b) and (c)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 642

s 476 4 Pat. L. J. 475

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL AND REVENUE COURTS

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908), ss. 189, etc

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 239

See PENSIONS ACT (XXII of 1871), s 4

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 559

jurisdiction of—

See CERTIFICATE OF SALE

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 107

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 23

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 121

proceedings in—

See PARTITION I. L. R. 46 Cal. 238

REVENUE COURT—contd

sales by—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908).

ART 12A I. L. R. 45 Bom. 45

REVENUE-FREE LAND.

See UNITED PROV. LAND REVENUE ACT

(III of 1901), s. 22 (d)

I. L. R. 36 All. 231

REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X of 1876).

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT

(X of 1876)

s 4 (a)—

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM III of 1874), ss. 11, 11A

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 37

See SARANJAM

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 408

ss 4 (c), 5 and 6—Don boy Land Revenue Code (Bom Act V of 1879), s 140—Realization of land revenue—Atachment of goods by Mamlatdar—Suit against Mamlatdar for recovery of damages—No denial of the allegation that the goods belonged to plaintiff—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts—Delegation of the powers by the Collector for his own district S 4 (c) of the Revenue Jurisdiction Act, Bombay (X of 1876), is not a bar to a suit in which there is a claim arising out of the alleged illegality of the proceedings taken for the realization of land revenue. Where the legality of the proceedings initiated by a revenue officer is in question, the Court has to inquire under s 6 of the Act whether the act complained of was done bona fide by the officer in pursuance of the provisions of any law. The Mamlatdar in order to justify his acts under s 140 of the Land Revenue Code (Bom Act V of 1879), must show that the Collector of the District in which he is the Mamlatdar had delegated his powers. The Mamlatdar can only exercise delegated powers in the taluka in which the delegation occurred. The delegation by the Collector of any other District would not justify his act. GANGARAM HATIRAM v. DISKAR GAVESH (1913)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 542

s 4, sub-s (a)—Act XI of 1852

—Land held as Saranjam—Decision of the Inam Commissioner—Finality—Suit for declaration of title and possession—Exclusion of jurisdiction of Civil Courts In the year 1853 the Inam Commissioner decided that a certain estate was Saranjam of P and not his Sary Inam. On P's death in 1899 Government resumed the estate on the ground that it was Saranjam and re-granted it to P, one of P's grandsons. Subsequently the plaintiff, another grandson of P, brought a suit against the Secretary of State for India and P for declaration of title and possession, on the ground that the immovable property in suit was plaintiff's Sary Inam property and could not be taken from his possession by Government or its officers or re-granted to any one else. Held, (i) that the decision of the Inam Commissioner was, by virtue of the provisions of Rule 2, Sch A of Act XI of 1852, final as regards the land and interests concerned in the decision (ii) That after such final decision, the title and continuance of the estate must be determined under Sch B, Rule 10 of the Act, under such rules as Government may find it necessary to issue from time to time (iii) That in accordance with these rules the estate was on P's death resumed by Government who re-granted it to J. Held further that the suit having been against Government relating to land as Saranam was excluded from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts by the provisions of sub s (a) of s 4 of the Revenue Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876). RAMRAY GOVINDRAO v SECRETARY OF STATE (1909) I L R 34 Bom 232

REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1876)—contd— s 4, sub s — contd

— s 5 cl (c) —

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (IX of 188) SCH II ART 13

I L R 39 Bom 131

REVENUE OFFICER

See JURISDICTION I L R 43 Calc 136

REVENUE PAYING ESTATE

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN JANDS

I L R 45 Calc 785

REVENUE RECORDS

— entry in —

See MAMLATDARS COURTS ACT (BOM II of 1906) ss 19 23

I L R 35 Bom 487

— Entry in more than 12 years — whether sufficient for acquisition by adverse possession —

See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION

I L R 1 Lah 549

REVENUE RECOVERY ACT (MAD II OF 1864)

See MADRAS REVENUE RECOVERY ACT

REVENUE REGISTER

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH I ART 118

I L R 37 Bom 513

REVENUE SALE

See BENGAL LAND REVENUE SALES ACT

See CONTRACT ACT s 59

15 C W N 443

See REVENUE SALE LAW

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 65 (c) I L R 39 Mad 959

An incumbrance or under tenure is not ipso facto avoided by the sale of an estate for arrears of revenue and is only liable to be avoided at the option of the purchaser at such sale. PANHATAN KAPALI v ASWINI KUMAR DUTT

I L R 37 Calc 559

— Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) ss 6 33 — Publication of notification sale in the Vernacular Government Gazette if necessary — Omission thereof as an irregularity and not illegality — Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act (Beng VII of 1858) s 8 Where the Subordinate Judge of Cuttack decided that it was absolutely necessary that the notice for a Revenue Sale should be published in the Vernacular Gazette in Urdu and that its non publication had made the sale null and void apart from any consideration as to the adequacy of price. Held that the publication of a notification of sale in the Calcutta Gazette only was sufficient compliance with a provision of Law (Act XI of 1859 s 8) requiring the publication of such notification in the Official Gazette. Held further that even if it had been necessary to publish the notification in the Urdu Gazette the omission to do so would not have rendered the sale null and void in the absence of any proof of substantial injury by reason of this omission as s 33 of Act XI of 1859 applied to such a case. Gobind Lal Roy v Ramjanam Misser I L R 21 Calc 70 L R 20 I A 165 followed. Lala Moharuk Lal v Secretary of State for India I L R 11 Calc 900 referred to. RADHA CHARAN DAS v SHARFUDDIN HOSSAIN (1913) I L R 41 Calc 276 — Notification — Official Gazette — Calcutta Gazette — Government Vernacular Gazette — Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act (XI of 1859) ss 6 33 The Official Gazette in which by s 6 of Act XI of 1859 a notification is to be published of the revenue sales therein referred to is the Calcutta Gazette. A sale is not contrary to the provisions of this Act within s 33 by reason of no notification having been published in a Government Vernacular Gazette circulating in the locality. SHARFUDDIN HOSSAIN v RADHA CHARAN DAS (1918) L R 45 I A 205

REVENUE SALE — contd

— Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) s 37 and 4th exception to s 37 — Scope of s 37 — Benefit of the 4th exception to s 37 when can be claimed. S 37 of Act XI of 1859 applies to sale of an entire estate for recovery of arrears due on account of an entire estate as well as to a sale for recovery of arrears due on account of a share only provided the entire estate is sold under the provisions of s 14 of the Act and that so long as it is the entire estate which is sold and the arrears are due on account of the estate itself and not on account of estates other than that which is sold s 37 applies. The benefit of the 4th exception to s 37 is limited only to such portions of land as are covered by buildings, tanks etc and cannot be extended to cover those lands included in the lease on which no permanent works have been constructed. Najmoddeen Moonsah v Syed Hassan Hyder Chowdhury 9 C W N 852 Wahid Ali v Rahat Ali 12 C W N 1029 Bisweswar Chatak v Fateh Hussain 10 C W N 1117 and Muthura Nath Ghosal v Ratneswar Sen 23 I C 917 referred to. Kiron Chunder Roy v Namudda Talukdar I L R 30 Calc 493 not followed. LOGENDRA NARAIN ROY CHOWDHURY v KIRAN CHANDRA ROY (1918) I L R 46 Calc 730

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS

I L R 45 Calc 785

— ss 2, 3 —

See s 23

5 Pat L J 65

— Beng Act VII of 1858 s 30 — Panchannagram tenure in which may be sold for arrears of revenue — Default date of fixed by statute or not fixed on the deed or if may be varied by administrative Rules — Period when becomes arrears and when default in payment takes place — Tenures held under Government in D'I Panchannagram in the District of 94 Pargannas are saleable

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—
contd.

ss. 2, 3—contd

under Act XI of 1859 by virtue of the provisions of Beng Act VII of 1863. No distinction can be drawn between the provisions of Act XI of 1859 and those of Beng Act VII of 1863 with reference to the procedure for sale and with reference to what constitutes arrears. Where the Kabuliyat executed by the original holder of the tenure provided that the jama, an annual one would be paid in the Collectorate within the 29th June of every year, the rent payable under the terms of the Kabuliyat on the 28th June 1902 was not in arrear according to the provisions of s. 2 of Act XI of 1859 till the 1st of July 1902. Where further a Notification issued by the Board of Revenue under s. 3 of Act XI of 1859 "determined and fixed the 28th June of each respective year as the latest day of the payment of rents of all descriptions of tenures in Khass Mehal Panchannagram in default of which payment on or previous to that date tenures in arrears in that mehal will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder." Held, that the 28th June 1902 was the first date under the notification and the Statute when the default, such as would enable the "tenure in arrears" to be sold, arose in respect of the amount payable under the Kabuliyat on the 28th June 1902. The sale in this case which took place in March 1903 was therefore illegal and liable to be set aside. General considerations or administrative rules not having the sanction of the Statute, such as Rule 7 of Part III, c. 16 of the Survey and Settlement Manual could not operate to vary the contract of the parties and the statutory provisions applicable thereto. Durlay Chandra Kar v. Hajee Bux Ellahi, 13 C. W. N. 633 reversed. Haji Bux Ellahi v. Durlay Chandra Kar (1912). 16 C. W. N. 842

ss. 6, 10 to 13, 33—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

ss. 6, 33—

See REVENUE SALE.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 276

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 255

Notification of sale publication in Government Vernacular Gazette, if necessary—Omission, if nullifies sale—Irregularity. The publication of a notification of sale under s. 6 of Act XI of 1859 in the Calcutta Gazette only is a sufficient compliance with the provision of law requiring the publication of such notification in the "Official Gazette." Where such notification has been published in the Calcutta Gazette publication thereof again in any of the Government Vernacular Gazettes is not required by law. If such publication in the Vernacular Gazettes were required by law, non-compliance with it would be an irregularity and the provisions of s. 33 of the Act would apply. Radha Chaman Das v. Shree Uddin Hosain (1913). 17 C. W. N. 1135 ss. 10, 11—Separate account opened in favour of shareholder owning shares in specific portion of estate—Such shareholder if purchases a revenue sale free from incumbrance—Land Registration Act (Beng VII of 1876) s. 19. See REJIB AND VINCENT JJ (BRETT, J. contra)—Persons in whose favour the Collector has opened a

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—
contd.

ss. 10, 11—contd

separate account, though they are neither shareholders in the whole estate nor proprietors of specific lands comprised therein but are shareholders in some only of the many villages comprised in the entire estate, do not by purchase of the estate at a sale for arrears of revenue, acquire it free from incumbrances. The privilege given by s. 63 of Act XI of 1859 to shareholders with whom separate accounts have been validly opened under s. 10 or s. 11 of the Act has not been extended to shareholders in whose favour accounts have been opened under s. 70 of the Land Registration Act, nor can such privilege be claimed by shareholders with whom separate accounts had been opened by the Collector before the passing of the Land Registration Act in contravention of ss. 10 and 11 of Act XI of 1859. Ashraf Sheikh v. Panna Prasad 21 W. N. 33 approved. Mahamad Mehmud Husein Khan v. Shree Sharnkar Prasad Singh (1911). 16 C. W. N. 817

ss. 10 to 13—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

ss. 10, 11, 33—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 353

s. 13—

Sale for arrears of revenue, effect of—Collector, if can dismember revenue unit for realising arrears. Under the Bengal Land Revenue Sales Act, the Collector is entitled to sell a revenue unit in its entirety whether it be an estate or a share, and nothing less. He is not entitled to dismember the revenue unit for the purpose of realisation of arrears. Ganga Prasad Singh v. Pargash Singh (1912). 17 C. W. N. 844

Share sold for its own arrears though estate as a whole not in arrears—Validity of sale—"Estate" meaning of. Where the plaintiff's share in a revenue paying estate in respect of which a separate account had been opened was sold for its own exclusive arrears, without taking into account excess payments made by the proprietors of other shares and which more than made good the arrears due on plaintiff's share. Held, that as the estate as a whole was not in arrears the sale of plaintiff's share was illegal and was liable to be set aside by the Civil Court. The term "estate" as used in the clause "if the estate shall become liable to sale for arrears of revenue" in s. 13 of Act XI of 1859, means the entire estate out of which the separate share has been carved. Indra Mani Das v. Prithamath Chakrabarty (1913). 18 C. W. N. 490

ss. 13, 14, 33, 53—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1092

ss. 13, 54—Separate account—Share owned erroneously recorded in Collector's books as a larger share with proportionately larger revenue—Sale of separated share—Purchaser acquires what share. At a sale under s. 13 of Act XI of 1859 it is not the rights of the recorded proprietor that pass, but the share itself. The rights which s. 64 of the Act in terms precludes the purchaser at such a sale from acquiring are interests such as incumbrances and the like which are referred to in the previous portion of that section. Where a separate account in respect of a 3 as odd share owned by H in a revenue paying estate was registered in the Collector's books as for a 7 as odd share and revenue proportionate to a 7 as odd share was apportioned to it Held, that upon sale of the share under s. 13 of Act XI of 1859, the purchaser acquired the share recorded in the Collector's books and not the share actually owned by H Debi Das Chowdhury v Bypra Charan Ghosal, 1 L R 22 Calc 611, Banalata Das v Monmolia Nath Goswami, 11 C W N 821, Annoda Prosad Ghose v Rajendra Kumar Ghose, 1 L R 29 Calc 223, s c 6 C W N 375, and Gangadhar Misser v Kheroo Mandal 14 B L R 170, relied on KUMESH CHANDRA RAKSHIT v ABDUL HAMID SIDDIKI (1915) 19 C. W. N. 782

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—
contd.

ss. 13, 54—contd.

s. 14—Separate account—Separated share not in fact in arrear shown in Collector's books as in arrears—Consequential sale of whole estate, if valid—Failure of co sharers to buy share—Sale of whole estate after closing separate accounts—Up to what date accounts to be closed—Sale as for March kist without arrears after estate falls into arrear for June kist if valid—Mahalwar Register, extract from, if evidence Where owing to the revenue, payable on account of a share of a revenue paying estate in respect of which a separate account had been opened, being erroneously recorded in the Collector's books as Rs 10 11 6 when the correct amount was Rs 2 11 11 less, the share though not in fact in default was shown in those books to be in arrears at the end of the March kist of 1904 (29th March, 1904) to the extent of Rs 54 3 5 and was put up for sale for that amount on 6th June, 1904, but the bids not reaching that amount the Collector gave 10 days time s. c. up to 17th June, 1904, to co sharers to buy up the share by paying the arrears under s. 14 of Act XI of 1859, but the latter not doing so the Collector closed the accounts of the whole estate up to 29th March, 1904, and found the arrears for the whole estate on that date to be Rs 3 odd but by reason of payments made since 29th March 1904 there were in fact no arrears due for the March kist on 17th June 1904, though an arrear of Rs 2 0 6 appeared to be due if the June kist was included, and the whole estate was put up for sale on the 19th September, 1904 as for the arrears due up to 29th March, 1904 Held (by the High Court) that as in point of fact the share in question was not in arrear on 29th March, 1904, the proceeding for the sale of that share was void and consequently the sale of the entire mahal under s. 14 was also void. That assuming that the Collector's books were correct, the Collector was bound to close all the separate accounts on 17th June, 1904 on which date he became entitled to sell the whole estate and as on that date there were no arrears due in respect of the March kist a sale of the estate as for arrears due to the March kist was ultra vires, though the sale might legitimately have been held for the June kist Bal Kishan Das v Simpoval, 1 L R 25 I A 151, s c 1 L R 25 Calc 833, 2 C W N. 813, followed An attested copy of entries in Mahalwar Register kept under s. 4 of Act VII of 1876, B C, showing the revenue assessed on each of two mauzas comprising a revenue paying estate was admissible in evidence. The mere fact

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—
contd.

s. 14—contd.

that the Register bore the signature of the Superintendent of Survey on one corner did not make it a document kept by that officer. The Judicial Committee saw no reason to interfere with the judgment of the High Court MITASADDI MIAN v MAHOMED IDRIS (1915) 19 C W. N. 764 ss. 14, 33—Separated share not fetching enough to pay arrears—Several co sharers making deposits within time allowed, who as purchaser—

Sale how attacked When on a share of a revenue paying estate, in respect of which a separate account has been opened, being put up for sale, the highest offer does not equal the amount due thereon, and the Collector stops the sale and declares that the entire estate will be put up to sale for arrears, unless the other recorded sharer or sharers or one or more of them shall within 10 days purchase the share in arrears by paying to Government the whole arrear due from the share, and more than one such recorded co-sharer separately make the necessary payment within the time specified, the Collector must recognize as purchaser the depositor who first pays the whole amount, or if there are more depositors than one to recognize as joint purchasers those whose payments first amount to the total arrears due. S. 33 of Act XI of 1859 applies to sales under s. 14, and when the first payer has been declared by the Collector to be the purchaser, a co sharer who has paid up the arrears subsequently cannot have the sale set aside by suit in the Civil Court except upon proof of the circumstances specified in s. 33. Such a sale under s. 14 cannot be attacked as a nullity and as such not requiring proof of those circumstances Chooterbhoy Dutt v Ishri Mui, 1 L R 21 Calc 834 Gombadal Ray v Ramjanam Misser, 1 L R 21 Calc 70, followed Quare Whether the s. 14 of Act XI of 1859 precludes sharers of the share exposed for sale from purchasing the defaulting share SAMESO KUOR v HARIVAR PRESHAD (1914) 18 C W. N. 1071

s. 25—

See COMMISSIONER

I. L R 40 Calc. 552

ss 25, 2 and 3—Date from which revenue due becomes an arrear—Sale before such date illegal—power of Commissioner to set aside sales not restricted to case of error of procedure In a revenue paying estate in which there were three separate accounts and a residuary share one of the separate accounts and the residuary share were in arrears when the March kist of 1915 became due, to the extent of Rs 3 10 0 and Rs 6 8 6 respectively while there was a total excess of Rs 7 1 0 in respect of the other two separate accounts. In April Rs 3 10 0 was paid in respect of the separate account in arrears with the permission of the Collector and this account was exempted from sale in May. The residuary share was put up for sale in respect of the arrear of Rs 6 8 6 and sold. The Commissioner set aside the sale on the ground that Rs 3 10 0 having been paid, the excess payment in respect of the other two separate accounts was sufficient to cover the arrear due on the residuary share. The purchaser sued for a declaration that the residuary share was sold for its own arrear of revenue and that he had acquired a good title. Held, (i) that after Rs. 3100 had been accepted in respect of the separate account in arrear there was no arrear due on the whole estate and the residuary share was no longer liable to be sold; (ii) that the default in payment did not become an arrear until the 1st April and the property was not liable to be sold until the date fixed by the Board of Revenue, namely, the 23rd June 1882 of the Revenue Sales Act 1859, does not restrict the Commissioner's power to set aside a sale to cases in which there has been an irregularity in procedure. CHAKRAWAT SINGH v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL. 5 Pat. L. J. 66 ss. 25, 37—Sale of entire estate for arrears if pro facto annuo encumbrances—Sale voidable at purchaser's option—Option how may be exercised—Annulment by notice—Mere profits, claim for, when arises—Compensation for use and occupation. The sale of an entire estate for arrears of revenue does not pro facto avoid encumbrances and under tenures but only renders them voidable at the option of the purchaser. The purchaser may elect to annul an under tenore not only by institution of a suit, or by giving notice to vacate, but may forfeit it by other means. The delivery of possession by the Collector under s. 20 of Act X of 1859 does not convert under tenore holders into trespassers. The persons whom, in terms of that section, the Collector may remove in delivering possession must refer to the former proprietors or persons claiming proprietary right through them and does not refer to under tenore holders. Mir Waziruddin v. Lala Deokinandan, 6 C. L. J. 472, referred to. The purchaser is not entitled to mere profits for the period antecedent to the exercise by him of his option of annulment. He is only entitled to compensation for use and occupation on the basis of the rent payable by the tenore holder of the first decree. Where the under tenore has been annulled by notice, the purchaser is entitled to claim mere profits from the date on which the notice was expressed to expire. DURGAT SINGH v BHAWATI KOER (1913)

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)

—contd.

ss. 25, 2 and 3—contd.

[17 C. W. N. 934]

s. 31—

See ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 47 Cal. 331

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 33 Cal. 537

ss. 31, 53—Estate left in arrear and purchased by proprietor beneficiarius of revenue sale—Encumbrancers, if can demand satisfaction from both surplus sale proceeds and the mortgage property—Court's power on appeal to grant relief in favour of party who did not appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss. 107, 108 and O. XLI, r. 33—Estoppel by conduct in suit—Fraud, punishment of. During the pendency of a suit by B to enforce a mortgage upon a revenue paying estate, the mortgagor deliberately let the property fall into arrear, which being sold under Act XI of 1859 was purchased by the mortgagor in the beneficiarius of another. A suit was then brought by K to enforce a prior mortgage over the property, in which (not being presumably aware of the real character of the sale) he claimed a decree for payment of his dues out of the surplus sale proceeds. Before this suit was decreed, B (whom K had joined as a party in his

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)

—contd.

ss. 31, 53—contd.

suit) brought a suit in which he alleged the purchase at the sale for arrears of revenue to have been beneficiarius for the proprietor and claimed a decree either for setting aside the sale or for a declaration that his mortgage should remain valid and operative against the estate. In view of this suit, the Court whilst decreeing K a suit as prayed further ordered that in the event of the sale being set aside, the mortgage monies, interest and costs due to A should be realised by the sale of the mortgaged property. B appealed against this decree and this appeal was heard in the High Court along with appeals against B preferred from decrees obtained by him in his suits, by one of which his allegations as to the real character of the purchase at the revenue sale had been found proved, whilst the other had given him the usual mortgage decree. All three appeals were dismissed but at the instance of the mortgagor, the High Court varied the decree in A's suit by setting aside the direction that his mortgage monies should be paid out of the surplus monies of the revenue sale. Upon further appeals to the Privy Council, the mortgagor urged inter alia, that B was estopped by his conduct as defendant in K's suit from questioning the sale under Act XI of 1859, and B urged that K not having appealed to the High Court, the decree of the lower Court could not be varied in the manner stated, and also that K was, in spite of what was found as to the real character of the sale, entitled to be satisfied out of the proceeds of the sale, so that in case K was entirely paid off out of the sale-proceeds, B would have a more abundant security in the mortgaged property to satisfy his decree. Held, that s. 53 of Act XI of 1859 distinctly contemplates purchase of property by a recorded proprietor, and the only effect of the finding that the purchase was beneficiarius by the proprietor was that, so far as the encumbrances were concerned, the sale was of no effect, and that, therefore, the direction of the High Court in K's suit was in accordance with the law. That the High Court had abundant power to give that direction, notwithstanding that A did not appeal, under ss. 107 and 151 of the Civil Procedure Code and O. XLI, r. 33 thereof, the Court having had authority under the first mentioned provision, if necessary, to take additional evidence. That B who had no power of controlling the form of K's suit and did not appear to have taken any step therein irrevocably asserting his intention to rely on the sale and not impeached the whole proceedings, was not estopped from claiming the reliefs which he prayed for in his suit to set aside the sale. That if the sale had in fact been to a stranger, the encumbrances would have been transferred to the sale proceeds, since the purchaser would obtain a title free from encumbrances. It is not right to punish a man for fraudulent behaviour by making him suffer other penalties than those which are the direct consequence of his fraud. TARNI CHARAN SARKAR v BISNU CHAND (1917)

23 C. W. N. 505

s. 33—

See s. 14. 18 C. W. N. 1071

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), ss. 5, 23, 33—Exemption in respect of land revenue—Sale of property for arrears other than land revenue for which certificate proceedings initiated—Formal order of exemption, absence of—Special notice under s. 5, necessity for Where after an estate has been advertised for sale for arrears of land revenue, the Collector, upon the defaulter's application for exemption, ordered that the arrears "may be accepted if paid to day," and the plaintiff duly paid the amount and the same was received and acknowledged, but nevertheless the property was put up to sale on account of certain arrears of embankment charges, the intention to recover which by sale under Act XI of 1859 did not appear to have been conveyed to the defaulter by the Collectorate mohurrir when enquiries were made of him as to the amount to be deposited, and which arrears the Collector has already elected to recover by the certificate procedure from the defaulter and a usufructuary mortgagee from him—Held, that the Collector was not justified in putting up the property for sale on account of these arrears, without serving special notice on the defaulter under s. 5 of Act XI of 1859, on the mere ground that no special exemption order had been made. There were in the circumstances no arrears for which the property could be sold. Gobind Lal Roy v. Ramyanam Misser, 1. L. R. 21 Calc. 70, 83, Bunwari Lal v. Mahabir Prasad, 12 B. L. R. 297, Demandan Singh v. Manbadh Singh, 1 L. R. 32 Calc. 111, referred to HARI DASI DEB v. DHIRAJ CHANDRA BOSE (1910) 15 C. W. N. 38

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (IX OF 1859)

—*contd.*s. 33—contd.

ss. 33, 34—Sale for arrears of revenue, set aside on appeal by Commissioner—Commissioner's order reversing that order and affirming sale declared by Civil Court to be ultra vires—Application to execute decree—Limitation Where the Commissioner of Revenue, on appeal preferred by the proprietors of a revenue paying estate, set aside a sale for arrears of revenue, but subsequently in review cancelled that order and affirmed the sale, and the Civil Court, in a suit by the proprietors, declared the Commissioner's order on review ultra vires and upheld his previous order setting aside the sale, and also awarded possession and mesne profits to the plaintiffs—Held, that the decree was not one annulling a sale as contemplated by s. 34 of Act XI of 1859, as it only held that the Commissioner's order setting aside the sale must stand good. That s. 34 did not apply to this case as it was not a suit under s. 33 of the Act to annul a sale, the contention of the plaintiffs being that there was no subsisting sale to be annulled. S. 34 refers to cases brought under s. 33, and the rule of limitation laid down in s. 34 (requiring the decree holder to apply for execution within six months of the decree) applies only to suits brought under s. 33. BALNATH GOENKA v. BALNATH SINGH (1914) 19 C. W. N. 464

s. 36—Suit against certified purchaser for specific performance of agreement to convey purchased property made before purchase—Maintainability The plaintiff who wished to purchase a mahal at a revenue sale requested the defendant to watch the sale and to offer bids, and the defendant agreed to do so and to convey the property to the plaintiff. Defendant bid for the property in plaintiff's absence, took one fourth of the purchase money for deposit from the plaintiff and deposited the same, but refused to accept the balance of the purchase money from the plaintiff, and having procured the same from other sources took out a certificate in his own name. Held, that a suit by the plaintiff against the defendant for specific performance of the contract was maintainable, and s. 36 of Act XI of 1859 was no bar to it. MOUMTHA NATH PAL v. GIRISH CHANDRA RAY (1912) 17 C. W. N. 75

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)

—*contd.*s. 36—contd.

s. 37—

See s. 29 . . . 17 C. W. N. 934

See HOMESTEAD LAND.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 639

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 745

See REVENUE SALE.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 730

Public documents, chartas prepared for distributing public revenue on partition of an estate if—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), s. 37—Protected interest—Portion of taluk existing at Permanent Settlement but transferred and held under different names if protected When a portion of a taluk existing from before the time of the Permanent Settlement is transferred and the said portion is subsequently held as a proportionate jama under a name different from the original taluk but the subsequent transfers and descent thereof can be traced from the original taluk, the portion so transferred is also protected under s. 37 of Act XI of 1859. NOBENDRA KISHORE ROY v. DURGA CHARAN CHOWDHURY (1910) 15 C. W. N. 515

"Purchaser" if means "certified purchaser"—Person in adverse possession for more than 12 years, if may be ejected—Thak map, evidence of possession and so of title—Presumption backward when proper The word "purchaser" in s. 37 of Act XI of 1859, does not mean the "certified purchaser" only, and the "certified purchaser" is not the only person who can sue an incumbrancer for ejectment under that section. An adverse possessor is an incumbrancer within the meaning of that section. The Thak map is used primarily as evidence of possession of the party who relies thereon, and as soon as it is established from the Thak map that the claimant was in possession at that time such possession may legitimately be attributed to title. Where the Thak map, however, showed the lands as included in the plaintiff's estate but to be in possession of the defendant this principle did not apply. Although it cannot be affirmed as a proposition of law that merely because certain specified lands were included in an estate at the time of the Thak survey in 1859, they must have been included within that estate at the time of the Permanent Settlement, yet it is open to the Court to draw such inference from all the surrounding circumstances. The land in dispute in this case not being chur land and its history not showing that its area or situation had in any way been changed from the time of the Permanent Settlement: Held that the Courts below were justified in inferring from all the circumstances of the case that the land (shown in the Thak map of 1859, as within a certain estate), was included within that estate at the time of the Permanent Settlement Jagadindra Nath Poy v The Secretary of State, 1 L. R. 30 Calo 201 s.c. 7 C. W. N. 193, distinguished. MOHURDI BISWAS v ISHAN CHANDRA DAS (1910)

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—

—contd

—s. 37—contd

15 C. W. N. 706

*Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) s. 5—The question of notice if may be raised after confirmation of sale—Laches if can arise without knowledge—Mortgagee in possession, a trustee, default in payment of revenue and subsequent purchase of mortgaged property, mortgagee if bound to account—Co-sharer, if may make default and purchase at revenue sale—Trustee for co-sharer, position of. Although the question as to proper service of notice cannot be raised after confirmation of a sale under Act XI of 1859, that is only so far as setting aside the sale on the ground of irregularity is concerned, but it does not prevent the Court from ascertaining for other purposes whether notice was so served as to fix on the party served the knowledge of it. Defendant was the mortgagee of a share belonging to some of the plaintiffs out of a revenue-paying estate. Defendant was bound, under the mortgage contract, to pay his share of the land revenue for the portion of the estate held by him. In one of these instalments he made an over payment of Rs. 3-6 as which was credited as an excess in the usual account. On a subsequent occasion the other co-sharers took advantage of the excess standing to the credit of the estate and paid only the balance remaining due from them. After this the defendant on one occasion paid Rs. 3 less than he was bound to pay without however asking to be credited with the excess paid by him previously. Some days after this short payment the plaintiffs paid their share of the revenue. For the short payment thus made by the defendant the estate was subsequently sold under XI of 1859 and purchased by the defendant. Held, that, in the absence of evidence that they knew of the default the plaintiffs could not be held guilty of laches in not seeing whether there was a deficit, as laches signify knowledge or at least such abstinance from legitimate enquiry as to amount to constructive notice. That the defendant as mortgagee could not take advantage of his purchase as against his mortgagors. A mortgagee in possession is for certain purposes a trustee for his mortgagors and cannot take advantage of that position to the detriment of his mortgagors. Ansab Siddique Nazim Ali Khan v Oodhagam 26 Moos. J. A. 514, referred to. Where a co-sharer who makes default in paying up his share of the land revenue subsequently purchases the property at a sale for arrears of revenue the purchase enures to the benefit of all co-sharers. Lalor v. Worne, 1 Ex. Ca. 457, Khadim v Sheemung S. D. N. W. P. 1854-57, p. 164 (1855), referred to. A trustee for co-sharer cannot derive any benefit for himself at the expense of the co-sharers of the cestus que trust by committing a breach of trust. JANKI SINGH v DEBENDRAN PRASAD (1910)

15 C. W. N. 778

Onus of proof—Lakhi poy or mal lands. In a suit for khas possession free of incumbrance of lands on the ground that they were included within a taluk purchased by the plaintiff at a revenue sale it was found that the defendants held certain rent free tenures within the estate and that these tenures existed from before the Permanent Settlement. Held, that the onus was on the plaintiff to prove that the lands in suit were included within the mal lands of the estate. HALODHAR CHATTOPADHYA v RAMESH NARAIN RAY CHOWDHURY (1912)

REVENUE SALE LAW ACT (XI OF 1859)—

—contd

—s. 37—contd

16 C. W. N. 980

Purchaser's suit for recovery of possession—Defendant's plea that land included in howda which is protected—Onus. Where a suit for recovery of possession of land by a purchaser of an undivided share in an estate at a revenue sale was resisted by the defendants on the plea that the land in suit was included within their howda which was a protected interest. Held, that the onus lay on the defendants to prove their allegation on. Rhody Krasta v Naban Chunder, 12 C. L. R. 457, Pajendro Kumar v Mohan Chunder, 3 C. W. N. 763 explained. Sheodent Roy v Chatoorbhaj Roy, 12 C. L. J. 376 approved. RUTKESOR SEN v KALI KUMAR BIDYARHMAN (1912)

16 C. W. N. 693

Taluk in existence before permanent settlement—Portion thereof transferred and held under a new name—Such portion if protected, when it can be traced to original taluk. When a portion of a taluk existing from before the permanent settlement is transferred and that portion is subsequently held in proportionate jama under a name different from the original taluk, but the subsequent transfer and descent thereof can be traced from the original taluk, the portion so transferred is also protected under a 37, Act XI of 1859. DOYAMAYER CHOWDHURANI v NARENDRA KISHORE ROY (1913)

19 C. W. N. 79

Registered putnadar pur chasing estate at revenue sale, if may annul subordinate tenures. The plaintiff, who was the owner of a putni which was specially registered and so protected at a sale for arrears of revenue purchased the parent estate at a sale for arrears and sought to annul the tenures subordinate to the putni. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to annul the tenures subordinate to the putni. SATCOMER CHATTERJEE v PRIYANATH BASU (1913)

18 C. W. N. 672

s. 37 (4)—purchaser at revenue sale, if may eject lakhteydar from land which has been pl. annulled upon—Incumbrance how annulled. S. 37 of the Revenue Sale Law does not protect land held without payment of rent upon which dwelling houses, manufactories or other permanent buildings have been erected or whereon gardens plantations, etc., have been made. The assignee or transferee of the auction purchaser at a Revenue sale is entitled to exercise the rights of a purchaser. It is not essential on the part of the auction purchaser or his assignee who seeks to annul an incumbrance to give a formal written notice to avoid it. All that is necessary is to notify to the incumbrancer by some unambiguous act the intention to annul. KRISHNA KALYANI DANI v R. BRAUNFIELD (1915)

20 C. W. N. 1028

—s. 53—
See s. 31

22 C. W. N. 503

REVENUE SALE LAW (ACT (XI OF 1859)——concll.

s. 54—

See s 13

19 C. W. N. 782

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 46

s 58—

*Collector's peon starting the bidding according to custom by bidding one rupee—Subsequent bids falling short of arrears—Collector, if may legally buy property for the highest bid—Irregularity or illegality—See 6 and 7—Notices signed by Sub Deputy Collector, if whistles sale Where a revenue paying estate in arrears having been put up for sale, the peon, a Government official, started the bidding according to custom as a matter of form by bidding Re 1, and, thereafter, other people having bid for the property, the highest bid came up to Rs 58, which being less than the amount in arrears, the Collector purporting to act under s 58 of Act XI of 1859 purchased the property for the highest amount bid Held (by the majority), that this was a different case from Halsamunnessa Choudhuran v The Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 31 Calc. 1036, 8 C W N. 880, and the purchase by the Collector was not in contravention of the letter or the spirit of s 58 of the Revenue Sales Act The fact that the notices under ss 6 and 7 of the Act were signed not by the Collector or other officer authorised to hold sales but by a Sub Deputy Collector on behalf of the Collector did not vitiate the sale AMRITA LAL ROY v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1918) 22 C. W. N. 769*

REVERSAL OF JUDGMENT.

Effect of, on connected and dependent orders—Restitution of money taken away by decree holder in execution of decree under erroneous decision on question of limitation—Restitution, if must be with interest—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 181 The decree holders made an application for execution of a decree by attachment and sale of moveables, which was opposed by the judgment debtors on the ground of limitation The objection was treated as a separate case While this application for execution was pending, the decree-holders made a fresh application for execution to attach funds in Court standing to the credit of two of the judgment debtors This application was treated as a separate proceeding The objection case was decided against the judgment debtors and the Court thereupon made an order in the second execution case directing the decree-holders to take steps Then on the decree-holders' application payment of the fund in deposit in Court was ordered. An appeal was preferred to the High Court in the objection case but none against the payment order This appeal was decreed and the High Court directed that any sums taken away by the decree-holders under the order of the Court below must be refunded at once. The judgment-debtors whose deposit had been taken away by the decree-holders then applied to the Court below for restitution: Held, that it is a general rule that upon the reversal of a judgment, order or decree all connected or dependent judgments or orders fall with it, specially judgments subsequently entered and dependent thereon although this rule does not operate by implication so as to set aside a distinct and independent judgment *or proceeding though it forms a part of the same litigation. That the payment order was in essence ancillary to the decision in the objection case and the cancellation of the order in the objection case by the High Court in appeal involved by necessary implication a cancellation of the consequential payment order The judgment debtors were therefore entitled to restitution even though they did not formally appeal against the payment order That the only Article of the Limitation Act which may possibly apply to an application by the judgment-debtors for restitution is Art 181 and the period of three years provided therein commences from the date when the erroneous order is set aside. That restitution must be made of the sum withdrawn together with interest thereon at 6 per cent. per annum ASUTOSH GOSWAMI v UPENDRO PRASAD MITRA (1916) 21 C. W. N. 564*

REVERSAL OF JUDGMENT—contd.

REVERSAL OF SALE.

See PARTIES I. L. R. 39 Calc. 881

REVERSIONARY HEIR.

See CONSENT DECREE I. L. R. 38 Calc. 639

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), SEC 1, ARTS 141, 144

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 714

REVERSIONARY INTEREST.

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I. L. R. 43 Calc 1118

— attachment of—

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 565

— transfer of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 6 I. L. R. 41 All. 611

*Transferability of The interest of a Hindu reversioner is an interest expectant on the death of a gratified owner. It is not a vested interest but a spes successionis or mere chance of succession It cannot be sold, mortgaged, assigned or relinquished and is not transferable under s 6 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, but he may estop himself from claiming as Reversioner ANNADA MOHAN ROY v GOVIND MOHAN MALLIK 25 C. W. N. 496*

REVERSIONARY TRUST.

See WILL I. L. R. 45 I. A. 257

REVERSIONER.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIII, r. 1 (3)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 987

See DECLARATORY DECREE

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 510

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 694

See FRAUD I. L. R. 36 Bom. 135

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 818

See HINDU LAW—ALIASATION

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 721

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 793

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 105

REVERSIONER—contd.See HINDU LAW—GIFT

I L R 37 Calc. 1

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I L R 42 Bom. 69

See HINDU LAW—PERVERSIONER*See* HINDU LAW—WIDOW

14 C W N 228

I L R 32 All 178

18 C W N 106

I L R 34 All 207

I L R 35 All 328

I L R 47 Calc. 488

I L R 39 All 1, 520

I L R 43 Bom. 249

I L R 43 All 535

See LIMITATION ACT 1908—

SCH. I, ART 91

I L R 40 Bom. 51

SCH. I, ART 100

I L R 41 Mad. 659

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)

s. 42

I L R 33 All 430

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT s. 4

15 C W N 1018

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1899), s. 8, CL. (a)

I L R 32 All 83

——— claim by—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

I L R 40 Mad. 654

——— consent of—

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

I L R 42 Calc. 878

See HINDU WIDOW

I L R 42 Bom. 719

——— redemption by, after foreclosure

decree—

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Mad. 428

——— relinquishment of right of suit by—

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908)

s. 17

I L R 40 All 384

——— right of—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I L R 38 Mad. 408

——— right of several, independent—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s. 6.

SCH. I, ART 125

I L R 38 Mad. 570

——— suit by—

See ABATEMENT OF SUIT

I L R 73 Mad. 406

See HINDU LAW I L R 33 Mad. 410*See* LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877) SCH.

II, ART 141

I L R 33 All 312

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908

ART 113

I L R 41 Bom. 728

ARTS. 140 141 I L R 40 Bom. 239

——— title of—

See PRAJUDICATA I L R 41 Calc. 89REVERSIONER—*concl.——— contingent interest of reversioner during widow's lifetime—See HINDU LAW I L R 45 Bom. 1167——— Gift by a Hindu widow—Reversioners alone can dispute validity of—See HINDU LAW I L R 45 Bom. 105——— deed of gift by widow and next reversioner—See HINDU LAW I L R 44 Bom. 488

——— Widow's estate—

See HINDU LAW I L R 44 Bom. 255REVIEWSee* APPEAL I L R 43 Calc. 178

14 C W N 244

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I L R 41 Calc. 734

See ARBITRATION I L R 43 Calc. 290*See* ARBITRATION BY COURT

I L R 38 Calc. 421

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s. 2

4 Pat L J 57

ss. 14 151; O XLVII s. 1

I L R 42 All 71

s. 114

O XLVII

O XLVIII s. 1 I L R 33 All 588

O XLVIII s. 9 I L R 38 All 280

See COMMISSIONER, POWER OF

I L R 40 Calc. 552

See COSTS I L R 47 Calc. 974*See* COUNTERVEIT COIN

I L R 44 Calc. 477

See CRIMINAL CASES

I L R 46 Calc. 60

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 369

I L R 38 All 134

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

3 Pat L J 571

See JURISDICTION

I L R 38 Bom. 416

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) ss.

5, 14.

I L R 42 Bom. 295

See POSSESSORY SUIT

I L R 45 Calc. 519

See PRACTICE I L R 44 Calc. 28*See* PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF

I L R 38 Calc. 526

See REVIEW OF JUDGMENT*See* SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT

I L R 44 Calc. 950

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY (VALIDATORY)

ACT 1917, s. 3

I L R 42 All 430

——— application for—

See LIMITATION I L R 44 I A. 218

——— High Courts power of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 362.

I L R 38 All 134

REVIEW—contd.

Power of the Small Cause Court to review its judgment—

See PRESIDENTY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV of 1882), Chap VII, s 48

I L R 45 Bom 972

subsequent filing of appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O XLVII, r 1 I L R 42 All 79

1. — Appeal against order granting review of judgment—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLIII, r 1, d (w), and O XLVII, r 7 O XLIII, r 1, d (w) must be read with, and subject to, r 7, O XLVII. An order granting application for review of judgment can only be objected to on grounds specified in r 7 of O XLVII. Jagernath Pershad Singh v Ram Anwar Singh M A No 341 of 1909 (unrep) Tripathi Choran Lal v Sorabji Bala, C P No 123 of 1913 (unrep), Surendra Nath Talukdar v Sita Nath Das Gupta, M A No 188 of 1912 (unrep) referred to HARI CHARAN SATHA v BAHAN KHAN (1914)

I L R 41 Calc 748

2. — New Evidence—Dismissal of application for admission of second appeal—Application for review based on alleged discovery of new and important evidence—High Court, Jurisdiction of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLI, r 11 and O XLVII, r 1 The High Court has no authority, merely on the ground of alleged discovery of new and important evidence, to review an order dismissing an application for the admission of a second appeal under O XLI r 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Bhagub Nath Tote v Kally Chander Chowdhury, 16 W R 112 followed Heera Lal Ghose v Pam Taruck Dey 23 W R 323 discussed. Banu Khatun v Momand I L R 18 Mad 480, and In re David Kishore, I L R 32 All 71, referred to RAJANI KANTA DAS v KALI PRASADNA MUKHERJEE (1914)

I L R 41 Calc 809

3. — High Court judgment—Application for review presented to Court presided over by Chief Justice under special circumstances—Deputy Registrar certifying application not in order—Application if must be presented within seven days of return of application with such certificate The application for review was properly presented to the Court presided over by the Chief Justice, as there was no time after the application was put in order to present it to the Bench which had disposed of the appeal in the first instance, one of them having retired from the Court some days before and the other having gone away on furlough two days after that date. R. 4 of Chap XI of the Appellate Side Rules was intended to apply to the case where the Deputy Registrar gives a certificate that the review application was in order and not to cases where the certificate is to the effect that the proceedings were not in order. GANGADHAR KARMACHAR v SREKHA BASINI DATTA (1916)

20 C. W. N 967

4. — Application for review subsequent to filing of second appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 114, O XLVII, r 1 Where an application for review of judgment is filed and later, during the pendency of the same, an appeal is preferred. Held, that the Court has power and in fact is bound to proceed with the application for review of judgment notwithstanding the fact that an appeal has been subsequently filed. But the power exists so long as the appeal is not heard. Bharat Chandra Mazumdar v Pampanga Sen, (1866) B L R (F B) 362, Chenna Peddi v Peddabob Reddi, I L R 32 Mad 416, followed. Thacoor Froed v Boluck Ram, 12 C L R 64, Sarat Chandra Dhal v Damodar Manna, 12 C W A 885, Narayan Purushottam Gargole v Laxmidas I L R 35 Bom 416, referred to. On the other hand, if the application is successful the appeal cannot proceed. Kanhaiya Lal v Baldeo Prasad, I L R 28 All 240, referred to. PTARI MOHAN HUNDU v KATU KHAN (1917)

REVIEW—contd.

I L R 44 Calc 1011

5. — Appeals under clause 15 of the Letters Patent—Letters for review in, maintainability of It is competent to the High Court to review judgments in appeals preferred under clause 15 of the Letters Patent. VENKATA SUBBARAYADU v SRI RAJAH KRISHNA YACHEN DRULU VARU BAHADUR (1915)

I L R 40 Mad. 651

6. — Discovery of new and important matter of evidence—Procedure and Practice—Character of evidence—Trial of issue—Appeal against order granting review—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLIII, r 1 (w), O XLVII, rr 1, 4, 7, 8 The plaintiff obtained a decree in a suit instituted against the defendant. Subsequently the defendant applied for a review of the decree on the ground of the discovery of new and important matter of evidence which was not within his knowledge and could not be produced by him at the trial, and obtained a Rule calling upon the plaintiff to show cause why the said decree should not be reviewed and why this suit should not be set down on the peremptory list of suits for hearing. Upon the Rule coming on for hearing the Court directed an issue to be tried as to the new and important matter discovered after the judgment in this case. This issue having come on for trial, the Court decided the issue in favour of the defendant and the Rule was made absolute. Held, that this application for review was not granted in contravention to r 4 of O XLVII of the Civil Procedure Code, and it was not possible for the Court on this appeal to say that the learned Judge ought not to have made an order for review. Held, also, that the additional evidence was of such an unsatisfactory nature and it came into existence in such an unsatisfactory way and the learned Judge was apparently in such doubt as to whether it should be accepted, that it ought not to be taken as sufficient to overrule the distinct and clear opinion which he had formed. PER SANDERSON, C J It is most important that there should be some finality in the trial of cases, and the greatest care ought to be exercised in granting a review, when that review is asked for upon the allegation that fresh evidence has been discovered since the judgment was given. In an ordinary case where the appeal is on a question of fact, where the learned Judge of the Court of first instance has heard and seen the witnesses and has come to a conclusion upon the question of fact upon the evidence on the one side and on the other, there is a very great onus upon the shoulders of the appellant when he comes to this Court and asks it to overrule the decision of the learned Judge upon the question of fact. PER MOOKERJEE, J. Under O XLVII, r 7, an order granting an application for review may be attacked by way of appeal on the ground that the application has been granted on the ground of discovery of new evidence without strict proof of the applicant that such new evidence was not within his knowledge or could not be adduced by him when the decree was passed. NANDALAL MULLICK v PANCHANAN MUKERJEE (1917) I L R 45 Calc 60

REVIEW—contd.

21 C W N 1076

7 ——— Criminal cases—Order summarily rejecting an appeal—Application for review of the order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 369 The High Court has no power to review an order passed in its Criminal Appellate jurisdiction rejecting an appeal summarily. In the matter of Gibbons, I L R 14 Calc 42, followed. Where a case is disposed of merely for default of appearance, or an order is passed to the prejudice of the accused, and by mistake or inadvertence no opportunity was given him to be heard, the High Court may review the same. Bibhu Mohan Roy v Damodar Das, 7 C W N 211, Bibhu Mohan Roy v Damodar Das, 10 C L J 30 and in the matter of an Attorney, I L R 41 Calc 734, referred to. RAJIB ALI v EMPEROR (1918)

I L R 46 Calc 60

8 ——— Power of Collector to review his own order—The Collector has no power to review his own order refusing to interfere with an order passed by his subordinate, confirming a sale for arrears of land revenue. DAVID NADAR v MANICKA VACHAKA DESIKA GNANA SANKARANDA PANDARA SANNADI (1909) I L R 33 Mad 65

9 ——— Application for leave to appeal to Privy Council—Order rejecting such application, if subject of review—Interest subsequent to decree, how far can be allowed by the High Court to be calculated—Order rejecting application for review by a Court other than High Court, if appealable—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 114, OO XLVII and XLIII, r 1 (b) An order rejecting an application for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council comes within the description of orders contemplated in s 114 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and is subject to review. Lutf Ali Khan v Asgar Raza I L R 17 Calc 435, distinguished. The High Court should not grant leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council in cases in which the specified amount of Rs 10,000 can only be reached by the addition of interest subsequent to the decree. Gooperooand Akceod v Jugguchunder, 8 Moo I A 165 followed. NAND KISHORE SINGH v RAM GULAM SARKI (1912)

I L R 39 Calc. 1037

10 ——— Appeal from original decree—Review of judgment—Effect of order on review—The effect of the granting of an application for review is to supersede the decree which is the subject of such application. No appeal can, therefore, be maintained against the decree anterior to the review, but only against the subsequent decree. Kuar Sen v Gangra Ram All Weekly Notes (1890) 144 and Kanhaiya Lal v Baldeo Prasad, I L R 23 All 240, followed. Uma Kumbhari v Jorbandhan, I L R 30 All 479 distinguished. BRABHAI LAL v SALGI RAM (1912)

I L R 34 All 282

11 ——— Application for review—Sui—Res judicata—Compromise decree An application for review is not a suit within the meaning of s 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1902, and a decision of a question arising in an application for review cannot operate as constructive res judicata. Gulab Koor v Badshah Bahadur, 19 C L J 420, referred to. Ram Gopal Majumdar v Prasanna Kumar Samad, 2 C L J 598, distinguished. SURESH CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHURY v TRIGUNA PRASAD PAL CHOWDHURY (1913)

REVIEW—contd

I L R 40 Calc. 541

12 ——— Vendor and purchaser—Conditions of sale, effect of—Tale—Commissioner of Partition sale by, not sale by Court—Rules and Orders of the High Court, r 426, scope of Under an order of Court that he "be at liberty to sell" a Commissioner of Partition sold certain property by public auction. The conditions of sale, inter alia, stipulated that "there were no documents of title, except those mentioned in the abstract of title, that the purchaser should not be entitled to call for any other document or to object to the title on the ground of the non production thereof and that no objection to the title should be allowed." The purchasers at the auction subsequently obtained an order of Court directing the Registrar to enquire and report under r 426 as to the vendor's title. On an application for review of judgment Held, that the review must be granted on the ground that the sale was not a sale by the Court. Gulam Hossein Cassim Ariff v Fatah Begum 16 C W N 394, and Chandranath Banerjee v Banwarath Banerjee, 6 B L R 4982 n, followed. The conditions of sale did not preclude the purchasers from raising the question of the vendor's title where it appeared (i) that the abstract of title commenced with a bond of indemnity which was in no sense a root of title and (ii) that the abstract did not expressly disclose the nature of the title, or indicate that the property was subject to a permanent lease at a small rent. JOJENAYA DASSEE v AKHOY COOMAR DAS (1912)
I L R 40 Calc 140

13 ——— Criminal cases—Power of a Division Bench of the High Court to review its judgment discharging a Rule before signature—Discharge of the accused in a part heard case for absence of remaining witnesses without consideration of the evidence already on the record—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) ss 253, 263—Practice It is competent to a Division Bench of the High Court, which has erroneously discharged a rule on a point of law and a misapprehension of the facts in connection therewith to review its judgment before it has been signed. In the matter of the petition of Gibbons, I L R 14 Calc 42, Queen Empress v Lalit Thakur, I L R 21 All 117, referred to. Queen Empress v Fox, I L R 10 Bom. 176, dissented from. Where a Magistrate after some of the prosecution witnesses had been heard by another Bench of Magistrates, discharged the accused because the other witnesses were not present, the High Court set aside the order of discharge and directed him to dispose of the case after argument with reference to the evidence already on the record. ANODINT DASSEE v DARSAN GHOSH (1911) I L R. 33 Calc. 828

14 ——— Point of law not taken during trial—Whether affords ground for review—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O XLVII, r 1—Other sufficient reasons—occupancy hold-up—mortgage to proprietors—sale to co proprietor to satisfy mortgage whether valid The mere fact that a point of law which might have been raised was not raised during the trial is not necessarily in itself sufficient to support an application for review. Query—Whether an omission to raise a point of law which, had it been raised, might and probably would have brought about a different result, is necessarily a mistake or error apparent on the face of the record for which a review can be claimed. Query—Whether, in the case of a mortgage to the landlords of a riyasat holding, where the holding is not transferable without the landlords' consent, they are bound to permit the mortgagor to transfer the holding to anybody whom he may chose (in this case a co proprietor) in order to put himself in funds to pay off the mortgage. KANLA PRASAD CHOWDREY v KUMJ BEHARI MANDER

REVIEW—contd

5 Pat. L. J. 344

15. ——— Appeal—Revision—Revision of an order rejecting an application for review not maintainable when the original decree has been the subject of appeal A Munsif decided a suit in favour of the plaintiff. One of the defendants filed an application for review of judgment, whilst another of them filed an appeal in the court of the District Judge. The application for review was rejected, and the applicant then applied in revision to the High Court against the order of rejection. Before, however, this application came on for hearing, the appeal before the District Judge had been disposed of. Held that, although the Munsif might have been wrong in rejecting the application for review, the Munsif's decree no longer subsisted and the application for revision could not be heard. RAM PRASAD UPADHYA v NAGESHAR PANDY
I. L. R. 42 All. 317

16. ——— Discovery of new matter or evidence—Appeal—Strict proof, meaning of—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI of 1882), ss. 626 cl (b), 629. Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLVII rr 4 (2) (b), 7 (1) (b). In a 626 of the Code of 1882 "strict proof" does not mean proof that convinces the Appellate Court but that there must be legal proof adduced before the Court that has to deal originally with the question of granting a review. The whole scheme of the Act recognises that with proper safeguards the Court of first instance is the proper Court to determine whether or not there should be a review, but that before a review is granted those safeguards must be observed. Per JENKINS, C.J. "Proof" ordinarily has one of two meanings, either the conviction of the judicial mind on a certain fact or the means which may help towards arriving at that conviction. The use of the word "strict" points to the second of these two meanings, and "strict proof" means anything which may serve directly or indirectly to convince a Court and has been brought before the Court in legal form and in compliance with the requirements of the law of evidence. It is a formality that is prescribed and not the result that is described. Per WOODBOFFE, J. Cl (b) of sub s. (1) of r 7 of O XLVII of the new Code does not refer to the weight or sufficiency of the evidence. If the legal formalities are observed it is no objection that the probative force of evidence legally taken appears to be different to the Appellate Court from what it appeared to the Court granting review. "Strict proof" means proof according to the formalities of law. It does not refer to sufficiency of proof in securing a particular conviction. Whether the proof is according to law or not is within the jurisdiction of the Appellate Court to determine; the question of sufficiency of evidence is for the Court admitting the review. Gyanund Asram v Begun Mohun Sen, 1 L P 22 Calc 731, Bhuyub Chunder Surmah Choudhury v Madhub Chunder Surmah, 11 D L R (F B) 423; 20 W R 84, Chunder Churn Aggrodany v Loodunram Deb, 25 W R 324, Kolemoodeen Mundul v Herun Mundul, 24 W R 186 referred to. AHID KHONDKER v MAHENDRA LAL DE (1915)

REVIEW—contd

I. L. R. 42 Calc 830

17. ——— Appeal against order granting review—New and important evidence—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), O XLVII, rr 1, 4 and 7. An application for review was made by a defendant on the ground that the evidence of B, who could not be got at the time the decree was made, was very relevant and material and if that could be given at the time of hearing might possibly have altered the judgment. The applicant obtained a rule and that was made absolute, without strict proof as to the important nature of the evidence, its discovery after the decree or the applicant's inability to produce it at the time the decree was made. Held, that the order for review was made in contravention of O XLVII, r 4, of the Civil Procedure Code, consequently there was a right of appeal. Per MOOKERJEE, J. It is the duty of the Court to come to the conclusion, before it grants an application for review, that the evidence in question is new and important and that it was not within the knowledge of the applicant or could not be produced by him at the time when the decree was passed or order was made. Ahid Khandalar v Mahendra Lal De, 1 L R 42 Calc 830. Nanda Lal Mullick v Panchanan Mukerjee, 1 L R 45 Calc 69, Younis v Keraiah, 81 L T 531 16 T R 52 and Brown v Dean, [1910] A C 373 referred to. CHITRAJITIL RANJAL v TULSI RAM JANKINAR (1919)
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 568

REVISION.

See ACQUITTAL. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 612

See ADMINISTRATION BOND
I. L. R. 29 Calc. 563

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
ss. 58, 167. I. L. R. 41 All. 23
ss. 167, 169. I. L. R. 41 All. 226

See APPEAL. I. L. R. 38 Calc 717
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 323

See ARBITRATION. 4 Pat. L. J. 264
I. L. R. 35 All. 354

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—
ss. 10 AND 115. I. L. R. 42 All. 409
ss. 105 AND 115. I. L. R. 43 All. 303
s. 115.

O XXI RR. 89 AND 115
4 Pat. L. J. 340

O XXI r. 65. I. L. R. 40 All. 216

O XXI, RR. 97, 103.
4 Pat. L. J. 95

O XXIII, r. 1, s. 115.
I. L. R. 40 All. 612

O XXXIV, r. 5. 5 Pat. L. J. 342

O XLJ, r. 10. I. L. R. 42 All. 626

O XLIV, r. 1. I. L. R. 40 All. 281

REVISION—contd.

SCH. II, PARAS 15 AND 16

I. L. R. 34 All. 489

See COMPOSITION OF OFFENCE.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1143

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss 107, 125, 438 I. L. R. 40 All. 143

s 125 I. L. R. 39 All. 466

I. L. R. 41 All. 651

s 145 I. L. R. 39 All. 612

I. L. R. 40 All. 364

ss 145, 435 I. L. R. 38 All. 233

ss 145, 435 AND 439

I. L. R. 42 All. 214

I. L. R. 41 All. 302

ss 145, 439 I. L. R. 32 All. 132

s 193 I. L. R. 35 All. 90

ss 193, 439 I. L. R. 36 All. 403

s 345 I. L. R. 37 All. 127

ss 345, 435, 439 I. L. R. 42 All. 474

ss 345 (2) AND 439

I. L. R. 32 All. 153

ss 403, 423, 439 I. L. R. 36 All. 4

s 435 I. L. R. 43 Bom. 864

ss 435, 439 I. L. R. 43 Bom. 607

I. L. R. 43 All. 497

ss 435, 439, 133

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 537

s 438 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1023

s 439

s 476 I. L. R. 34 All. 267, 393

I. L. R. 33 All. 635

I. L. R. 39 All. 91, 367

s 477 I. L. R. 41 All. 197

s 531 I. L. R. 37 All. 110

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF

ACT (XVII OF 1879), s 3 (w) 10

AND 53 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 165

See DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT

4 Pat. L. J. 277

See HIGH COURT I. L. R. 41 All. 587

See INSOLVENCY 14 C. W. N. 143

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 267

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURTS.

I. L. R. 34 All. 115

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT

I. L. R. 28 Calc. 832

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT 1894, s 49

2 Pat. L. J. 204

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII

OF 1879), s 36 f. L. R. 40 All. 153

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 45 Calc. 94

See MAMLATDARS' COURTS ACT (BOM II

OF 1906), ss 19 23

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 487

See PENAL CODE, s 280

15 C. W. N. 835

See PRACTICE.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 534

REVISION—contd.

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III

OF 1907)—

ss 15 TO 22, 46, 52

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 15

ss 21, 26 I. L. R. 34 All. 442

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS

ACT (IX OF 1897)—

s 25

SCH II, ART 31 I. L. R. 40 All. 666

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT ACT, 1863,

s 5 I. L. R. 43 All. 50

See REVIEW OF JUDGMENT

I. L. R. 42 All. 317

See REVISIONAL JURISDICTION

See REVISION BY SINGLE JUDGE.

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 13

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 239

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), s 9

I. L. R. 33 All. 647

See WITHDRAWAL OF PROSECUTION

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1105

by High Court—

See TEMPORARY INJUNCTION.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 436

by single Judge—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 816

converted into an appeal on deposit of Court-fee—

* See SECOND APPEAL I. L. R. 2 Lah. 1 execution order of District Judge—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1909—

s 107 I. L. R. 2 Lah. 305

grounds for—

See CRIMINAL JURISDICTION

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 933

in petition by private parties—]

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT

OF 1898), ss 479, 422, 421

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 505

non-maintainability of—

See AWARD I. L. R. 43 Mad. 256 power of the High Court to interfere in—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF

1908), s 115 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 195

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS

ACT (IX OF 1897), s 25

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 292

Want of sanction to prosecute—whether a ground for revision—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 236

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 835

application to set aside order of acquittal—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898.

s 247 1 Pat. L. J. 264

REVISION—contd.

Board of Revenues, powers regarding—

See ESTATES PARTITION ACT, 1897, s 11
1 Pat. L. J. 491

for irregularity of subordinate court—

See RECEIVER 4 Pat. L. J. 20

Interlocutory order—High Court's power to call for record—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s 115 I. L. R. 44 Bom 619

Perjury—Contradictory statement^s made before different Courts—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 236 195, 537 (b), 164
I. L. R. 45 Bom 835

under Criminal Procedure Code—

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 534

whether application should be made to Sessions Judge or district Magistrate—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 435 AND 439 I. L. R. 43 All. 497

Extradition warrant issued by Resident in Nepal—Proceedings thereon by District Magistrate in British India, and order of surrender of fugitive—Power of High Court to interfere in revision, with such order—Nepal, whether a "Foreign State"—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), ss 435, 439, 491—Extradition Act (XV of 1903), ss 7, 16 Nepal is not a "Foreign State" within the meaning of the Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903). Where a warrant has been issued by the Political Agent, under s 7 of the Act, its execution by the District Magistrate in British India, in accordance with the Act, is an executive act and the High Court cannot interfere in revision with the proceedings of the Magistrate and the order to surrender the fugitive criminal, but if the latter considers himself aggrieved thereby, he can invoke the action of the Government under s 16. The power of the High Court, however, to interfere under s 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code, which applies whatever be the occasion of the deprivation of the liberty of the subject, remains untouched by the Extradition Act GULLI SAHU v EMPEROR (1914) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 793 Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115—Government of India Act of 1915, s 107—Difference of opinion in a Divisional Bench in disposing of a Rule—Appeal under s 15, Letters Patent, if lies Judgment debtor whose two thirds share of a patti was sold in execution of his landlord's decree for rent and purchased by the owner of the remaining one third of the patti applied to have the sale set aside under O XVI, r 90, alleging inter alia that the value of the property sold was deliberately underestimated and the property sold at an inadequate value. The Mansif upheld both objections to the sale and set it aside, but the District Judge on appeal restored it holding that the value fetched was not seriously inadequate. To this conclusion the District Judge was led by assuming that what was sold was only one third and not two-thirds of the patti and that the purchaser was a stranger. On an application for revision, the Judges of the Division Bench (N R CHATTERJEE and MULLICK, J1) differing in opinion, the order of the senior Judge setting aside the order of the District Judge and remanding the case prevailed Held, per CURIAM, that a further appeal lay under s 15 of the Letters Patent Held (by the majority TRUNON, J, contra) (affirming MULLICK, J), that this was not a case for interference in revision, for, although the District Judge made a grave mistake of fact, the failure of justice was not due to a fault of procedure such as is contemplated by s 115, cl (c), of the Civil Procedure Code, nor was it a case for interference under s 107 of the Government of India Act, as this mistake could have been corrected by an application for review Per TRUNON, J (agreeing with N R CHATTERJEE, J).—The District Judge having in this case set himself to value not the property sold but an entirely different property the error was not one of fact only, and the High Court should interfere CHANDRA KISHORE ROY CHOUDHURY v BASARAT ALI CHOUDHURY (1917) 22 C. W. N 627

REVISION—contd.

Delay in applying to High Court The Revisional jurisdiction of the High Court is discretionary and the Court will not interfere in revision at the instance of applicants who do not shew reasonable diligence in prosecuting their cases Avadh Behari Mishra v Dwarka Prasad Singh 1 Pat. L. J. 165

Proceeding under s 145, Criminal Procedure Code—Difference of opinion—Jurisdiction of High Court—Grounds for exercise of its jurisdiction—Omission to add a party—Material prejudice—Criminal Procedure Code, ss 145, 435, 439—Government of India Act (s 4 & 6 Geo V, c 61) s 107—Letters Patent, cl 36 S 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not apply to a proceeding under s 145 which is outside s 435 On a difference of opinion, on revision of such a proceeding, the opinion of the senior Judge prevails under cl 36 of the Letters Patent Laldhari Singh v Sukdeo Narain Singh, I L R 27 Calc 322, and Shankh Suroddi Mondal v Corb, 22 C W N 493, commented on Emperor v Har Prasad Das, I L R 40 Calc 477, relied on Malhara Sahu v Damri Ram, 15 C L J 337, and Bayu v Bapu, I L R 39 Mad 750, approved Queen Empress v Dada Aso, I L R 15 Bom 452, dissented from Semle. If it be held that cl 36 applies only to original or appellate jurisdiction, the Court should act, in the absence of any provision to the contrary upon the principle underlying the clause. The power of the High Court to interfere under s 107 of the Government of India Act, in cases under s 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code is not confined to questions of jurisdiction alone. It may also interfere when the Magistrate has acted with illegality or material irregularity, and a party has been prejudiced thereby. Sukh Lal Shrivastava v Tara Chand To, I L R 33 Cole 68, followed Per HAZWUD, J. The omission to add a party in a proceeding under s 145 of the Code is not an error of jurisdiction. Krishna Komini v Abdul Juddar, I L R 30 Calc 155, followed. There was no irregularity in the present case resulting in such material prejudice as would justify the Court's interference Per SHAMS-UL-HUDA J. Where the refusal of the Magistrate to add a party on his application, to the proceedings has resulted in a serious failure of justice, the Court will set aside

REVISION—concl'd

the order under s 145. There was such failure of justice in the case MARIAM BEWA v MERJAN BARDAR (1919) I. L. R. 47 Calc. 433

Injunction issued by Mamladar—Order set aside by Collector—Summary proceedings—High Court not to exercise powers of revision unless the party has no other remedy in a case where the proceedings which are sought to be revised are purely summary proceedings and which do not finally decide the dispute between the parties, the High Court should not exercise its powers of revision INBARAFFA v BASINGOWDA (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 595

Power of High Court to interfere where Subordinate Courts with concurrent jurisdiction have not been moved—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), ss 107, 435, and 438 In cases where the High Court has concurrent revisional jurisdiction with a subordinate Court the aggrieved party should, in the first instance, seek his remedy before the subordinate Court. The High Court will not interfere with an order under s 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, unless and until the party aggrieved by the order has moved, and failed to obtain satisfaction from the District Magistrate or Sessions Judge BEVIN BISHABI MUKHERJI v KING EMPKON 3 Pat. L. J. 302

Withdrawal of suit—Order of appellate Court granting withdrawal—Revision, power of High Court to interfere in—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s 115 and O XVIII, r 1 The High Court has power in its revisional jurisdiction to interfere with an order passed by a subordinate appellate Court granting the plaintiff leave to withdraw his suit with permission to bring a fresh suit upon the same cause of action. Where, in an appeal by the plaintiff from an order dismissing his suit, the plaintiff defendants filed cross appeals in which they alleged that the suit must fail owing to a formal defect in the pleadings: Held, that the Court had power to allow the plaintiff to withdraw the suit with permission to bring a fresh suit on the same cause of action BRINSHBA ANIR v BAIRYA MISIR 3 Pat. L. J. 630

REVISIONAL AND APPELLATE JURISDICTIONS.

Distinction between. Held (as regards the application for revision of the order of the District Judge), that a Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction investigates the facts, and, if necessary, substitutes its own appreciation of the evidence for that of the primary Court, but when the Court as a Court of revision looks into the evidence, it does so with a view to determine whether the subordinate Court has assumed a jurisdiction which it did not possess or declined a jurisdiction which it did possess, or has in the exercise of its jurisdiction acted illegally or with material irregularity, and in the present case the High Court could not be rightly invited by the petitioner to examine the evidence with a view to determine whether the District Judge correctly appreciated its effect RASHMONT DASBI v. GANODA SUNDASI DASBI (1914) 19 C. W. N. 84

REVISION SURVEY.

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s 48 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 128

REVISIONAL JURISDICTION.

See APPEAL, RIGHT OF I. L. R. 44 Calc. 804
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 115.
See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF I. L. R. 39 Calc. 473

See REVISION.

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 537

over Presidency Small Cause Court—

See HIGH COURT, ORIGINAL SIDE, JURISDICTION OF I. L. R. 37 Calc. 714

REVIVAL.

of pending execution—

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 798

of proceedings—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 584

of decree, Original Side of the High Court—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SEC. 1, ART. 183 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1102

Procedure and practice—Execution of decree—Decree barred by limitation

Application for transmission—Notice—Order on the notice, effect of—Master, authority of—Court, Jurisdiction of—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss 223, 224, 235, 248 and 249—Ed chambers' Rules and Orders, r 370—Limitation Acts (XV of 1877) Sec II, Arts 179 and 180. (IX of 1908) Sec I Arts 182 and 183 On the 21st May 1898 the plaintiffs obtained a money decree in the High Court against the defendant. This decree was subsequently transmitted to the District Court of Purnea for execution, but was returned by that Court as unsatisfied. Thereafter, another application for execution by arrest and imprisonment of the defendant was made to the High Court on its Original Side and the returnable date of the order on this application was fixed finally for the 12th July, 1901. No further steps were again taken until the 1st June, 1908, when the plaintiffs made another application to the High Court on the tabular form provided under s 235 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, for execution of their said decree by transmission of the same to the District Court of Murshidabad and attachment of the defendant's property situate within the jurisdiction of the latter Court, and the Registrar directed notice to issue on the defendant under s 248 (a) of the Code. On the 30th June, 1908, the defendant not having appeared to show cause, the Master ordered execution to issue as prayed. Again no steps were taken until the 18th January, 1915, when a fresh application was made to the High Court for execution by attachment of No 147, Cotton Street, in Calcutta. The defendant thereupon applied to set aside this attachment, but the High Court refused his application as barred. On appeal to the High Court in its Appellate Jurisdiction reference was made by this Court to a Full Bench. Held that the application of the 1st June 1908 and the order of the 30th June 1908 did not constitute a revivor within Art 183 of the 1st Schedule of the Limitation Act 1908. Per SANDERSON C J. The substance and not the form of the matter must be looked at and considered from that point of view the application was for the transmission of a certified copy of a decree together with a certificate of non satisfaction and no more, and the order made in substance was that the application should be granted. The notice which was issued under s 948 was inapplicable to the proceedings in question. The question whether a decree was capable of execution would have to be determined by the Court itself under s 249 of the Civil Procedure Code. The Registrar was not clothed with authority to decide such a question as arises in this case viz., whether the decree was barred by the Statute of Limitation P 370 in Del chambers' Rules and Orders was not consistent with the scheme of the Code of 1882. These rules must be read as modified by the Civil Procedure Code 1882 under which the application in this case was made and the notice issued and the order made did not operate as a revivor within the meaning of Article 183 of the Limitation Act Schedule I. The fact that the word "revivor" is used in Art 183 instead of the different matters specified in Art 182 being set out again or referred to in Art 183 as might have been done shows that something different to such matters was intended. Further, the conditions dealt with by the two clauses are essentially different and the periods of limitation vary materially. Per WOODROFFE J. An order for transmission as such is not an order on an application for execution, though it is an order on an application in execution. It is a proceeding taken with a view to further action by way of execution elsewhere on which action unless previously determined the question of the right to execute the decree is decided. If the Registrar had power to issue as a "quasi-judicial Act" notice under s 248 he had no power to determine judicially that the decree was alive had the debtor contested the point. The Judge must have done that and the fact that the debtor did not appear on the notice, cannot give the order passed that judicial character which is necessary for an order operating as a revivor. The last two words of the Order ("Let execution issue as prayed") make the order operative as one for transmission of the decree; for this was what was asked. Per MOORE J. J. B. 230 makes it plain that the application for execution must be presented to the Court to which the decree has been transmitted for execution, while the explanation to s 248 shows that the notice required by that section must where the decree has been transmitted, be issued by the Court to which the decree has been sent for execution. Consequently the issue of the notice in this case under s 248, on the basis of the application for transmission of the decree was not in conformity with the Code of 1882 which was in force at the time. Upon the application for transmission of the decree under s 222, a notice under s 248 could not properly be issued; such notice though issued did not by itself operate as revivor of the decree and there was not in act and could not in law be such a determination by the Master under s 249 as would operate to revive the decree. CHATTERJEE SINGH v SAIT SUNDARI MULL (1916) I L R 43 Calc 903

REVIVAL—contd

REVIVAL—curd

REVOCAIONSee HINDU—Law—Will

I L R. 39 Mad. 107

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

I L R. 40 Calc 5

See PROBATE.

I L R. 37 Calc 387

I L R. 42 Calc. 489

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R. 40 Calc. 423

— of authority—See GUARDIAN I L R. 38 Mad. 807— of gift—*See MUHAMMADAN LAW—GIFT

I L R. 38 All. 233

See CONTRACT Act, s 19

I L R. 38 Bom. 37

— power of—See GIFT I L R. 39 Calc 933— presumption of—*See WILL I L R. 45 Bom 906REVOLUTIONARY ACTIVITY*See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR

I L R. 46 Calc 215

RHANDERIASSee MUHAMMADAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L R. 43 Calc 1085

RICE MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION RULESSee JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS

I L R. 34 Bom 13

RIGHT OF APPEALSee APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

I L R. 40 Calc 21

RIGHT OF AUDIENCESee JURISDICTION

I L R. 43 Calc. 798

RIGHT OF CROSS-EXAMINATION— continuance of—*See CROSS-EXAMINATION

I L R. 37 Calc. 236

RIGHT OF OCCUPANCYSee LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R. 37 Calc 419

See OCCUPANCY HOLDINGSee OCCUPANCY TENANT*— acquisition of—*See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R. 23 Calc. 422

RIGHT OF PRIVATE DEFENCE

- See ASSESSORS, EXAMINATION OF
I L R 40 Calc 163
 See PENAL CODE, ss. 96 to 100
 See PRIVATE DEFENCE.
 See RIGHTS I L R 39 Calc 296
I L R 41 Calc 43
 See SEAR & WITHOUT WARRANT
I L R 38 Calc. 304

RIGHT OF RE-ENTRY

- See BOMBAY RENT (WAR RESTRICTIONS ACT (1 OF 1918)) ss. 3, 9 AND 12
I L R 45 Bom 535

RIGHT OF REPLY

- See APPEAL I L R 38 Calc 307

Right of reply—Duty of Appellate Court to determine accomplice character of Evidence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), s. 421—Practice The appellant has a right of reply to the Crown on the hearing of an appeal. Promoda Bhushan Roy v. Emperor, 11 C W N 211, followed. The Appellate Court is bound to find specifically whether witnesses said to be accomplices are so or not, and to weigh their evidence accordingly. AMANAT SARDAR v. NAGENDRA BISWAS (1910)

- I L R 38 Calc 307

Exhibiting documents not part of the record, on behalf of the accused during the cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses—Doctrine of surprise—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893) ss. 239 and 242 S. 242 of the Criminal Procedure Code is not to be read independently but in connection with s. 239, and gives a right of reply only when the accused, or any of them, adduces evidence after the case for the prosecution has concluded. The prosecution has no right of reply when the counsel for the accused has, during the cross-examination of a prosecution witness and before the close of the case for the Crown put certain letters which do not form part of the record to such witness, and then tendered and had them admitted in evidence. The question whether the prosecution has been taken by surprise is not the correct test under s. 242 of the Code. EMERSON v. SATEYATRA MANPATRA (1910)

- I L R. 43 Calc 428

RIGHT OF SUIT

- See ALIEN EXENT
I L R 46 Calc. 526
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1903) ss. 47, 73 104
I L R. 23 Mad. 570
 See CONTRACT
I L R 38 Mad 728
 See EXEMPTION SALE
I L R. 39 Mad. 803
 See LESSOR AND LESSEE
I L R 39 Mad. 1042
 See PARTIES I L R. 45 Calc 862
 See RIGHT TO SUE.

destruction of—

- See DEED I L R. 38 Mad 740
 See RIGHT TO SUE.

RIGHT OF SUIT—contd

1. Non-service of Summons—Fraud—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 108—Ex parte decree A fresh suit would not lie to set aside a decree on the mere ground of non-service of summons, though it would be maintainable on the ground of fraud. Radha Ramon Shaha v. Pran Nath Roy, I L R 23 Calc 475, and Khagendra Nath Mahala v. Pran Nath Roy, I L R 29 Calc. 395, referred to. Puran Chand v. Seodatt Rai, I L R 29 All 212, followed. NARAYAN DAS v. RAYKAR (1909) I L R 37 Calc. 197

2. Suit by person not party to an instrument—sustainable when charge created in such person's favour—Decree for relief not specifically asked for when allowable A plaintiff asking for certain specific reliefs and for such other relief as the Court should deem fit, should on being found disentitled to the specific reliefs asked for, be given such relief as the circumstances justify. A person who is no party to a document but in whose favour a charge is created by such document is entitled to maintain a suit to enforce its terms either as the actual beneficiary or as the charge holder. SURPRU ANMAL v. SUBRAMANIAN (1903)

- I L R. 33 Mad. 238

3. Election suit—Madras District Municipalities Act (IV of 1881)—Election as Municipal Councillor—Declaration of its invalidity by Collector under s. 36 of Election Rules—Civil Courts, no jurisdiction to question in—Appointed by election in s. 10—Meaning of "election" An order of a Collector declaring the invalidity of an election of a candidate to a seat in a Municipal Council, passed under s. 36 of the Election Rules after enquiry and based on proper grounds (i.e., those set forth in s. 35) and otherwise complying with the requirements of the rules framed under s. 250 of Madras Act IV of 1881 (District Municipalities Act), cannot be questioned in a civil suit, but is conclusive as far as the result of the election is concerned. Bhaskant v. The Municipal Corporation of Bombay, I L R 31 Bom 604, 609 followed. Marwell on Interpretation of Statutes, 4th Edition, p. 197 referred to. Vijaya Raghu v. The Secretary of State for India, I L R 7 Mad 465, Solihkar Singh v. Abdul Gaffar I L R. 24 Calc 107, Lalhas v. The Municipal Commissioner of Bombay, I L R 33 Bom 334, distinguished. PER CURIAM: The status of a Municipal Councillor is the creation of a 10 of Act IV of 1881, and the creation is subject inter alia, to the conditions imposed by the Election Rules framed by the Governor in Council under s. 250 of the Act and invested by clause (3) with the force of law. One of these rules in s. 36, the election gives the candidate elected no vested status, as the election is liable to be declared invalid, an invalid election can confer no status whatever. The words "appointed by election" in s. 10 refer only to a valid election, i.e., one which is not set aside under s. 36. Scemle If an order is passed without any enquiry at all or is based on grounds other than those set forth in s. 35 a suit would probably lie to set it aside as ultra vires. A suit for damages in consequence of an invalid order and a suit for a declaration of the validity of an election and an injunction stand on very different footings though based on the same facts. The former may be decreed while the latter may not. NATARAJA MUTALIYAR v. THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF MAYA VARAN (1913)

- I L R. 36 Mad. 120

RIGHT OF SUIT—contd.

4 ——— Suit for exemption from land revenue—Owner alone can bring suit for land, by A against B, ending in favour of A.—Third parties cannot question—Res Judicata Civil Procedure Code, Act V of 1908, s 13, not exhaustive. A suit for a declaration that the land is not liable to a assessment can be instituted only by the person entitled to it as owner. If a suit relating to ownership of the land, between two persons, has ended in favour of one of them, third parties having no interest in the land at the time of the litigation cannot in the absence of any collusion or fraud on them dispute the settlement of the dispute between them as to title, even for supposed want of jurisdiction, and it is equally true that neither of the parties to the litigation can be permitted to aver as against third persons in the like position that the land belongs to himself and not to his opponent in the litigation. Second Appeal No 574 of 1909, followed. Bigelow on Estoppel, 5th edition 44, referred to. Per CURIAM. The question does not depend upon the application of the doctrine of res judicata. S 13 Civil Procedure Code, does not cover all cases of estoppel by judgment. The suit was for a declaration that the defendant, the Secretary of State for India, was not entitled to levy any assessment on certain lands which the plaintiffs claim as part of their agraraham. In previous suits by B against plaintiffs once for a declaration of title and afterwards for possession of the lands, the judgments were in favour of B. Held, (i) that the plaintiffs in the present suit cannot be permitted to prove as against the present defendant that they were the owners, and (ii) that the suit was not maintainable. Semble. Even if the previous litigation had ended in favour of the present plaintiffs, the Government, though it would not be entitled to question the plaintiff's title, would not be bound to regard the land as exempt from revenue. RAMA MURTI DHORA v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1913) 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 141

5 ——— Transfer of property in consideration of transferee paying sums to third parties—Failure of transferee to pay in reasonable time—Right of transferor to sue for same irrespective of damage. If A transfers his property to B in consideration of B agreeing to pay certain sums to third person A is himself entitled to sue B for the recovery of those sums as if they are due to him in case of B's failure to pay the third persons within a reasonable time and A is not in such a case bound to show that he was in any way damaged by B's failure. Doraiswami Trevar v Arunachalam Chetty 1 I R 23 Mad 411, Rungachalam v Appala Vaidu [C M A No 119 of 1908 (unreported)], and Gopala Aiyar v Pantheasami Sastriyal [S A No 183 of 1907 (unreported)], followed. Siva Subramania Mudaliar v Unava Sambanda Andalar Sannadhi 21 Mad L J 359, Chenchuramayya v Subramanyam 9 Mad L J 79, Doraiswami Trevar v Lakshmanan Chetty 18 Mad L J 284, Thangammal Nachiar v Sallabammal, 18 Mad L J, 20 Putti Narayanaswamy Aiyar v Marimuthu Pillai, 1 L R 26 Mad 31, Kumar Nath Bhattacharyya v Nolo Kumar Bhattacharyya, 1 L R 28 Cal 411, and Iscat un Niam Deyan v Kuvavar Periah Singh, 1 L R 361, A 293 distinguished. Sudha Naidu v Bathala Bee Saluba, 8 Mad L J 189 referred to. Rasmi-NATHA v SADAGOPA (1913) 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 343

RIGHT OF SUIT—contd.

6 ——— Acquisition of inam land by Government for municipal purposes—Madras District Municipalities Act (I) of 1884, s 279, effect of—Sale by Municipalities—Imposition by Government of ground rent on occupier—Ground rent liability to pay—G O No 210 of 20th February 1889, effect of—Exemption from ground rent to be express. Even an inam land which is subject only to a quit rent becomes, when acquired by Government under the Land Acquisition Act, ordinary Government land liable to assessment in the hands of any person who might afterwards become the occupier whether deriving his title directly from the Government or from a Municipality which after such acquisition by the Government becomes owner under s 279 of the Madras District Municipalities Act (IV of 1884) by payment of the amount settled as compensation. Acquisition is only by the Government and not by the Municipality hence the previous inamdar's right to exemption from assessment does not rest in the Municipality. A transferee from the Municipality of such land cannot therefore claim as against the Government exemption from assessment. A person who claims exemption from the payment of such assessment as the Government may fix, must show some grant exempting him from the payment of the ordinary assessment. No exemption can be claimed without a grant or exemption in express words. Effect of G O, No 210, dated 20th February 1889, permitting Municipal Councils to transfer lands vested in them by sale, mortgage or otherwise, was not to exempt the transferees from ordinary assessment that might be imposed but was only to remove all objection to the transfer on the ground that the transferor is a Municipal Council. HANU-MANLU v SECRETARY OF STATE (1913)

I L. R. 38 Mad. 373

7. ——— Title to property seized—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—Order of forfeiture passed by Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss 523 524—Disposal of property—Sale proceeds credited to Government—Suit to recover the amount. The plaintiff's house was searched in connection with a dacoity and certain property was attached on suspicion. On a proclamation being issued by the 2nd Class Magistrate under s 523 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the plaintiff appeared before the Magistrate to establish his claim to the property. The claim was disallowed and an order was passed under s 524 of the Criminal Procedure Code, for sale of the property. The sale proceeds having been credited to Government the plaintiff brought a suit for the recovery of the amount. The defendant pleaded that a Civil Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. The Assistant Judge decided the suit in plaintiff's favour. The District Judge, on appeal, dismissed the suit holding that as under s 524 the property was at the disposal of Government, Government had an absolute right to it, and that the special provisions relating to investigation of claims to property mentioned in s 523 made the decision of the Magistrate final and deprived the person aggrieved of any right of action. On appeal to the High Court.—Held, reversing the decree that the order of the Magistrate disposing of the property under s 524 of the Criminal Procedure Code was not final and that it did not deprive the plaintiff of his right to establish his claim in a Civil Court. Queen Empress v Triloka-

RIGHT OF SUIT—contd

van Manstchland, I L R 9 Bom. 131, followed Secretary of State for India in Council v Lakshmanji Bhagwanji, I L R 19 Bom 603, discussed WASAPPA v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1913) I L R. 40 Bom. 200

8 ———— Co-owners—Suit in ejectment against trespasser—Suit by one co-owner alone—Other co-owners, not parties—Suit, if maintainable—Local inspection by Judge—Judgment based solely on such inspection, if valid—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXII, r 8, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1892) s 292 One of several co-owners can maintain an action in ejectment against a trespasser without joining the other co-owners as parties to the action A judgment should not be based solely on the result of the personal local inspection made by the judge This rule applies to cases instituted under the new Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) as under the old Code (Act XIV of 1892) SHUTABAI v THE MADRASITE SYNDICATE, LIMITED (1913) I L R. 34 Mad. 501

RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY.

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY
I L R 37 Cal. 467

RIGHT OF WAY.

See EASEMENT I L R I Lah. 206
I L R 43 All. 345
See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I L R. 38 Bom. 379
See PUBLIC RIGHT OF WAY
I L R. 37 All. 9

————— Suit for non-joinder of person interested in servant tenement, effect of, village road—Right of way suit for declaration of, and removal of obstruction—Defect of parties—Non-joinder of one of the persons interested in the servant tenement, effect of—Suit, if liable to dismissal for such non-joinder—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), Or I, r 9—Parties—Non-joinder—Suit, maintainability of Where in a suit for declaration of a right of way as a village road and for removal of obstruction thereon, an objection was taken that one of the persons interested in the servant tenement had not been made a party to the suit, which was over ruled by the Courts below on the ground that it was taken at a late stage, and the Courts below decreed the suit. Held—That the non-joinder of the person in question as a party to the suit was a fatal defect, and on that ground the suit was dismissed. Notwithstanding the provisions of Or I r 9 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court will not entertain a suit in which no effective decree can be made in the absence of the interested party. If it is discovered that a person interested in the servant tenement has not been made a party to the suit, the Court will not proceed to make a decree. The decree, if made, must be infructuous, if a suit is instituted by the absent person for an injunction to restrain the Plaintiff from executing the decree there is no possible answer to the prayer. When the Court, in the present case, was apprised that the person in question was interested in the servant tenement, steps should have been taken by the Plaintiff to bring him before the Court. MAHAN SHUKLA v RAMCHANDRA BHATTACHARYA. 23 C. W. N. 248

RIGHT TO ARREST.

See PENAL CODE, [XLI] OF 1860—
s. 211 I L R. 44 Mad. 918

RIGHT TO BEGIN.

See EVIDENCE I L R. 47 Cal. 871
See INCOME TAX I L R. 45 Cal. 161

RIGHT TO PARTITION.

See PARTITION I L R. 37 Cal. 918

RIGHT TO SUE.

See RIGHT OF SUIT
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1892), s. 6 (c) I L R. 23 Mad. 123

—————

————— accrued of—
See LIMITATION I L R. 43 L. A. 113
20 C. W. N. 833

—————

————— survival of—
See APPEAL TO PRINCE COURTEL.
I L R. 38 Mad. 406
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 2, cl. (11); O XXII, s. 1
I L R. 39 Mad. 352

RIGHT TO WORSHIP.

See UTILITY MORTGAGE
I L R. 39 Cal. 227

"RING" GAME.

See OSTENSIBLE MEANS OF SUBTLETY
I L R. 40 Cal. 702

RIOTING.

See ASSESSORS, EXAMINATION OF
I L R. 40 Cal. 183
See CHARGE I L R. 40 Cal. 183
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 626
I L R. 33 All. 583
See CUMULATIVE SENTENCES.
I L R. 40 Cal. 511
See JURY, TRIAL BY
I L R. 40 Cal. 267
See PENAL CODE, s 147
See PRIVATE VIOLENCE.
3 Pat. L. J. 419
See SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT
I L R. 38 Cal. 304
See SENTENCE.
3 Pat. L. J. 611

1. ———— Test of liability of owner, or person having or claiming an interest in land, for the acts and omissions of an agent or manager—Appointment of latter by the mother, and not by the adopted son—Legality of the connection of the son—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 153 The criminal liability of a person specified in s 164 of the Penal Code for the acts or omissions of an agent or manager depends upon the question by whom the latter was appointed. V. Bern, therefore it was shown that three Hlin in yordanashin ladies had the management of the estate and were responsible for the appointment of the man who had fomented the riot, and that their adopted sons had nothing to do with such appointment, though they took some share in the active management

RIGHT OF SUIT—contd.

van Manekchand, 1 L R 9 Bom. 131, followed Secretary of State for India in Council v Vakhtsangji Meghrajji, 1 L R 19 Bom. 668, discussed WARAFFA v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915) 1 L R 40 Bom. 200

8. ——— Co-owners—Suit in ejectment against trespasser—Suit by one co-owner alone—Other co-owners, not parties—Suit, if maintainable—Local inspection by Judge—Judgment based solely on such inspection, if valid—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXVI, r 9, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s 392 One of several co-owners can maintain an action in ejectment against a trespasser without joining the other co-owners as parties to the action. A judgment should not be based solely on the result of the personal local inspection made by the judge. This rule applies to cases instituted under the new Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) as under the old Code (Act XIV of 1882) SHUTARI v THE MAGNESITE SYNDICATE LIMITED (1915) 1 L R 34 Mad. 501

RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY.

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY
1 L R 37 Cal. 487

RIGHT OF WAY.

See EASEMENT 1 L R 1 Lah. 206
1 L R 43 All. 345

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
1 L R 36 Bom. 379

See PUBLIC RIGHT OF WAY
1 L R 37 All. 9

————— Suit for non joinder of person interested in servient tenement, effect of, village road—Right of way suit for declaration of and removal of obstruction—Defect of parties—Non joinder of one of the persons interested in the servient tenement, effect of—Suit, if liable to dismissal for such non joinder—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) Or I, r 9—Parties—Non joinder—Suit, maintainability of Where in a suit for declaration of a right of way as a village road and for removal of obstruction thereon, an objection was taken that one of the persons interested in the servient tenement had not been made a party to the suit, which was over ruled by the Courts below on the ground that it was taken at a late stage, and the Courts below decreed the suit. Held—That the non joinder of the person in question as a party to the suit was a fatal defect, and on that ground the suit was dismissed. Notwithstanding the provisions of Or I r 9 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court will not entertain a suit in which no effective decree can be made in the absence of the interested party. If it is discovered that a person interested in the servient tenement has not been made a party to the suit, the Court will not proceed to make a decree. The decree, if made, must be infructuous, if a suit is instituted by the absent person for an injunction to restrain the Plaintiff from executing the decree there is no possible answer to the prayer. When the Court, in the present case was apprised that the person in question was interested in the servient tenement, steps should have been taken by the Plaintiff to bring him before the Court. HARAN SURIKUR v RAMESH CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE. 25 C. W. N. 249

RIGHT TO ARREST.

See PENAL CODE, (XLV of 1860)—
s 341 1 L R 44 Mad. 913

RIGHT TO BEGIN.

See EVIDENCE 1 L R 47 Cal. 671
See INCOME TAX 1 L R 48 Cal. 161

RIGHT TO PARTITION.

See PARTITION 1 L R 37 Cal. 918

RIGHT TO SUE.

See RIGHT OF SUIT

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882), s 6 (e) 1 L R 38 Mad. 133

————— accrual of—

See LIMITATION L R 43 I. A. 113
20 C. W. N. 833

————— survival of—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
1 L R 38 Mad. 406

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908), s 2, CL (17), O XXII, r 1
1 L R 39 Mad. 282

RIGHT TO WORSHIP.

See UNFRACTURARY MORTGAGE
1 L R 39 Cal. 227

"RING" GAME

See OSTENSIBLE MEANS OF SUBSISTENCE
1 L R 40 Cal. 702

RIOTING.

See ASSESSORS, EXAMINATION OF
1 L R 40 Cal. 163

See CHARGE 1 L R 40 Cal. 168

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 526
1 L R 33 All. 593

See CUMULATIVE SENTENCES.
1 L R 40 Cal. 511

See JURY, TRIAL BY
1 L R 40 Cal. 267

See PENAL CODE, s 147

See PRIVATE DEFENCE
3 Pat. L. J. 419

See SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT
1 L R 38 Cal. 304

See SENTENCE
3 Pat. L. J. 841

1. ——— Test of liability of owner, or person having or claiming an interest in land, for the acts and omissions of an agent or manager—Appointment of latter by the mother, and not by the adopted son—Liability of the conviction of the son—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 151 The criminal liability of a person specified in s 151 of the Penal Code for the acts or omissions of an agent or manager depends upon the question by whom the latter was appointed. Where, therefore it was shown that three Hindu gardaashis ladies had the management of the estate and were responsible for the appointment of the man who had fomented the riot, and that their adopted sons had nothing to do with such appointment, though they took some share in the active management of the estate Held, that the ladies were alone liable under s. 154. It is impossible to punish in every case every person who has any interest in the land. The responsibility depends on the fact of the person who caused the riot being himself the person who has an interest in the land, or an agent or a manager of such person, and one of the facts to be proved is, whose agent or manager the person fomenting the riot is. SIVA SUNDARI CHOWDHRAVI v. EMPEROR (1912). I. L. R. 39 Calc. 834

RIOTING—contd.

2. — Common object—Charge—
*Offence—Common object—Necessity of stating the common object in the charge under ss. 143, 147 and 149 of the Penal Code—Effect of omission to the common object—“Succeeded by another Magistrate” meaning of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) ss. 221, 223, 350. An offence can be legally described by its specific name in the charge and the question whether any further particulars are necessary under s. 223 of the Criminal Procedure Code is a question of discretion according to the circumstances of each case. In cases of rioting the common object should be stated in the charge, but omission to state it, under ss. 143 and 147 of the Indian Penal Code does not vitiate a conviction if there is evidence on the record to show it. It is otherwise with a charge under s. 149 Indian Penal Code, for, then there is no specific name for the offence, and the fact that any offence is committed in prosecution of the common object is of the essence of the case, and there could be no conviction for any offence committed with a different object. It is obligatory to set out the common object in a charge under s. 149 unless it has already been specified in the main charge under s. 147. Basuruddi v. Queen Empress, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 827, referred to. The words “succeeded by another Magistrate” in s. 350 of the Criminal Procedure Code should not be construed in a narrow sense, but should be interpreted to mean—cesses to exercise jurisdiction in the particular inquiry or trial, and not in the particular party. Thakur Das Manjhi v. Namdar Mundul, 24 W. R. Cr. 12, Emperor v. Purshottam Kara, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 118 referred to. Mohesh Chandra Sahav Emperor 120 W. N. 416 and Ali Mahomed Khan v. Tarak Chandra Banerji, 13 C. W. N. 420, followed. Queen Empress v. Radhr, I. L. R. 12 All. 66 Deputy Legal Membrancer v. Upendra Kumar Ghose, 12 C. J. N. 140, not followed. KUDRUTILLA v. EMPEROR (1912).*

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 781

3. — Common object not unlawful—Entering upon land held jointly by the judgment-debtors to take symbolical possession thereof—Right of private defence—Liability of a person for individual acts done in excess of such right—Power of Appellate Court to alter a finding of acquittal under ss. 472 of the Penal Code into one of conviction under s. 323—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss. 99, 147 and 323—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898), s. 423. Where a body of about ten men, belonging to the decree-holder's party, went with the Civil Court officers upon a plot of land in the joint possession of the judgment-debtors to take symbolical possession thereof, and the drummer was assaulted by one of the latter whereupon the appellants and their party replied by an attack on their opponents, during the course of which one of the appellants' party, not before the Court, fractured the skull of the drummer's assailant by an isolated act, but the appellants continued to beat him after he had fallen helpless on the ground. Held, that the appellants had a right of private defence under the circumstances, that their common object was, therefore, not unlawful and that the conviction under s. 147 of the Penal Code was bad, but that having exceeded such right by beating the wounded man after he had fallen, they were guilty under s. 323. When an attack is made on persons acting in the lawful exercise of their right over property, they are entitled to the right of private defence, and the only question that arises thereafter is whether any member of the party in individually exceeded the right. Persons exercising their lawful rights are not members of an unlawful assembly, nor can the assembly become unlawful by their repelling an attack made on them by persons who had no right to obstruct them, nor by exceeding the lawful use of their right of private defence. In such a case each is liable only for his individual acts done in excess of such right. When an accused charged under ss. 147 and 472 of the Penal Code is convicted of the former and acquitted of the latter offence, the Appellate Court has power to acquit him of rioting, and convict him of hurt under s. 323. KUNJA BRUTIA v. EMPEROR (1912).

RIOTING—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 896

4. — Grievous hurt—Delivery of possession alleged to be of doubtful legality and objected to—Objection pending for decision at the time of occurrence—Effect of such delivery and actual possession thereunder—Distinction between enforcing and maintaining a right—Right of private defence—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 147 and 472. Where the servants of a party, who had obtained delivery of possession of certain land, in execution of a decree, went upon it accompanied by a number of others armed with lathis, and were engaged in ploughing it, when they were attacked by a large body of men belonging to the party of the judgment debtor, and thereupon a fight ensued in the course of which some members of both sides received injuries. Held, that their master having been put in actual possession by a competent Court, the servants were not guilty of rioting or of constructive grievous hurt though the delivery of possession was alleged to be of doubtful legality and was the subject of an objection by the judgment debtor pending decision at the time of the occurrence. A delivery not merely gives possession to a party but confers permission to utilize the subject of it in any lawful manner such as entering upon the land tilling it, growing and harvesting the crops, and enjoying the produce. Persons engaged in the exercise of a lawful right, of which they are in enjoyment, cannot be said to be enforcing a right but merely to be maintaining it. Tachhauri v. Queen Empress, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 686, followed. PATEL SIRON v. EMPEROR (1913).

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 47

5. — Assaulting a public servant in execution of duty—Power of police inspector or sub-inspector to enter a house to arrest without warrant persons found illicitly distilling liquor—Search—Formalities before search—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss. 147 and 323—Legal Notice Act (Act I of 1902) ss. 67 and 70—Order by Local Government—J. No. 72—Instruction of Board of Revenue—Chapter XI, r. (2), F. 27 of the

RIOTING—contd

Bengal Excise Act (V of 1909) confers wide powers on excise officers (then were given under the former Act Under a 67 read with 73 of the Rules framed by the Local Government an excise inspector and sub-inspector may enter a house for the purpose of arresting without a warrant a person found in the house in the act of liquor. A 67 does not relate to any search as it is an officer not below the rank of a sub-inspector or a ganga house for the purpose mentioned there is not required to comply with the formalities prescribed in Ch. X of the Indian Code of the Board of Police unless he finds it necessary further to make a search in the house. Where an excise sub-inspector or an officer of a constable and two constables enter a house, search it, take one of the accused in order to arrest all the others, warrant is not needed in the act of the sub-inspector and was a search and taken by them before they had time to enter or leave the same. Held that they were acting legally under a 67 of the Bengal Excise Act and that the accused were rightly convicted under ss 14 and 153 of the Penal Code. On a charge of rioting with the common object of assaulting a police officer persons shown to have committed a violation of a 313 of the Penal Code may be separately sentenced thereunder. Criminals required by law prior to search consider L. P. HOSAIN (MADRAS HIGH COURT) (1914)

L. L. R. 41 Cal. 836

6. ——— Sub-Inspect — Common object Penal Code (Act 23 of 1902) ss 79, 111, 117 and 312—Criminal Procedure Code (Act II of 1909) s 401. Federal police constables were convicted of rioting. Two of them were previously tried and acquitted on a charge of wrongful confinement for having taken into custody some persons in course of such rioting. Held that the second trial was not vitiated by non-mention of the rule embodied in s 401 (2) of the Criminal Procedure Code. R v. HARRISON (1911) 2 K. B. 670 followed. Suresh Chandra v. Pandey C. L. J. 672 distinguished. Ram Narayan v. Inspector (1909)

L. L. R. 48 Cal. 78

RIPIARIAN RIGHTS

See FISHING

L. L. R. 37 Mad. 304

See FISHING

See MADRAS IRRIGATION ACT

L. L. R. 40 Mad. 836

See NAVIGABLE RIVER

L. L. R. 40 Cal. 200

Nature of — Rights of upper riparian owner.—Grant of right for water apart from the tenement valid if not a local reservation by natural stream grant by riparian owner of right to take water from, not by of—Obstruction to exercise of riparian rights.—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), ss 23 and 25. The right of a riparian owner is not an easement, but a right based on the principle that all streams are publici juris and all the water flowing down any stream is for the common use of mankind lying on the banks of the stream. A riparian owner is entitled to use the water from a stream for all reasonable purposes and may therefore permanently divert water for the purpose of irrigating his tenement. He may also make a grant to another riparian owner to take water by means of a channel running through the grantor's land, from an artificial reservoir created by the grantor. The question as to whether such an owner is the reasonable owner depends upon the proper requirements of all the riparian owners. A 25 of the Limitation Act, 1908, has no application in the case of an obstruction to the right to take water from a stream whether such right is founded on riparian owner's property or grant. An obstruction to such enjoyment is a continuing wrong within the meaning of s 23. Manikya Lal Bhaba Deyal Oin v. Misrahar Phawari & Co.

RIPIARIAN RIGHTS—contd

J Pat. L. J. 31

Natural stream flowing in artificial channel not a servitude. The proper remedy when the use of water in a natural stream flowing in an artificial channel is that the same as if the stream had been a natural one that is that the water should come without obstruction. L. M. Khatun Nisam v. Hanuman Nisam

6 Pat. L. J. 6

RISK NOTE

See CONTRACT I L. R. 43 Bom. 789

See RAILWAYS ACT ss 2 and 5

See RAILWAY COMPANY

Senders responsibility—Railway administration liable only if cargo is packed but, whether exposed to public policy. The sender's risk note issued in the East Indian Railway system under which the Railway Company takes liability only when there is a loss of a complete package due to theft and not when a part of the cargo is lost. The servants is not exposed to public policy. Kail Das Moller v. E. I. Railway Co. (1911)

21 C. W. N. 815

RITES AND CEREMONIES

See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE

L. L. R. 38 Cal. 700

RIVAL CANDIDATE

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

L. L. R. 46 Cal. 132

RIVAL DECREE-HOLDERS

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

L. L. R. 44 Cal. 1072

RIVER

See GRANT I L. R. Mad. 310

See RIVER BED

RIVER BED

See GRANT

See PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER

21 C. W. N. 630

S. v. REGULATION VI of 1873.

See RIPIARIAN OWNERS.

—Right of riparian owner to become navigable whether part of public domain when river admitted or proved non-navigable.—Interruption that it was part of permanently settled estate—Grant to control wrongful encroachment of such river bed.—Limitation—Reg II of 1819 ss 22, 23, 24.—Reg III of 1823 s 10—Act IX of 1847. As soon as it is shown or admitted that a river within the ambit of the riparian owner was never a public navigable river the course which lies on the remainder to show that its bed was included within the limits

RIVER BED—contd.

of his permanently settled estate is discharged or shifted. The test for determining whether a river is a public navigable river or not is whether or not the river is navigable for boats at all seasons of the year. The question of size may not be without importance, but speaking generally the presumption in the one case is that the bed belongs to the public or is public domain and in the other that the bed belongs to a private proprietor. In the absence of any other evidence than that afforded by a thak or survey map these natural presumptions may be sufficient to displace the contrary evidence of the map. Maharaja Jagadindra v Secretary of State, L R 30 I A 44 s c I L P 30 Calc 291, 7 C W N 193 (1902) Horidas v Secretary of State, 25 C L J 590 (P C) (1917), Secretary of State v Bujay Chand Mahatab I L R 46 Calc. 390 s c 22 C W N 872 (1918) and Secretary of State v Fahamudunissa, L R 17 I A 40 s c I L R 17 Calc. 590 (1889), referred to. The bed of a river included in a permanently settled estate is in no respect different from other waste lands included in the estate, and whatever changes may have occurred from natural or artificial causes and however the land may have improved in value Government is not entitled to add additional revenue for such lands. Lopez v Muddun Molun 13 M I A 467 at p 477 5 B L R 521, 14 W P 11 (1870) and Bala Surya Prasad v Secretary of State, L R 44 I A 166 at p 185, s c I L P 40 Mod 886, 21 C W N 1059 (1917), referred to. When the bed of such a river silts up and becomes fit for cultivation, neither Reg II of 1819 nor Act IX of 1847 authorises the revenue authorities to assess the lands with revenue. Where nevertheless the revenue authorities have assessed such land with revenue under Act IX of 1847 Quare—Whether upon the enactment of Act IX of 1947 the limitation provided by s 24 of Reg II of 1819 ceased to be applicable to a suit by the owner to contest the validity of the assessment and to recover possession of the land. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v PRAPULLA NATH TAGORE

24 C W N 809

*Suit to contest order of Lord of Revenue confirming assessment of land formed by silting up of river bed—Limitation—Reg II of 1819 s 24—Leg III of 1878, s 10—Act IX of 1847, s 6—Bed of public navigable river shown in thak and revenue survey maps as within permanently settled estate—Bed if to be presumed part of estate. The rules contained in s 10 of Reg III of 1829 and s 24 of Reg II of 1819 govern a suit to contest an order of the Board of Revenue under s 6 of Act IX of 1847 confirming an assessment under the Act and to obtain incidental relief such as recovery of possession of lands of which possession has been taken under s 10 of Reg III of 1829. Fahamudunissa's case I J R 14 Calc 67 (P B) (1886), on P C L P 17 I A 40 (1889) referred to. An order under s 6 of Act IX, 1847, confirming an assessment of revenue corresponds to a decision of the Board under Reg II of 1819 and unless the suit of the nature indicated by cl (3) of s 10 of Leg III of 1829 is brought within the time limited by s 24 of Reg II of 1819 the decision of the Board declaring the land liable to assessment becomes final and conclusive for all purposes. Where the Board of Revenue found that a river the channels whereof had not materially changed between 1793 and 1874,* RIVER BED—concl.

was a public navigable river, but the thak and survey maps of 1809 1861 showed the whole width of the river as included in the permanently settled estate of the Plaintiff, the Plaintiff offering no other evidence. Held—That the thak and survey maps were not in themselves sufficient to justify the Court in saying that the Board's order was wrong and should be reversed. Maharaja Jagadindra's case L P 30 I A 44 s c I L R 30 Calc 291, 7 C W N 193 (1902), referred to. The question whether a river or watercourse is navigable or not does not depend on its name. PRAPULLA NATH TAGORE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

24 C W N 813

RIWAJ-I-AM

- See CUSTOM* I L R 39 All 574
 ----- evidentiary value of—
See CUSTOM I L R 44 Calc 749
 ----- Jhelum District, Jats, succession to acquired property—
See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION).
 I L R 2 Lah 98
 ----- Karnal District—Succession by daughter to self acquired property—
See CUSTOM—SUCCESSION
 I L R 2 Lah 366
 ----- Ludhiana District—Adoption by an adopted son—
See CUSTOM (ADOPTION)
 I L R 1 Lah 39
 ----- Jullundur District—Adoption of daughter's son—
See CUSTOM (ADOPTION)
 I L R 2 Lah 193
 ----- Jullundur District—Succession of sister—
See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)
 I L R 1 Lah 1 & 433
 ----- Jullundur District—Adoption of brother's daughter's son—
See CUSTOM (ADOPTION)
 I L R 1 Lah 15
 ----- Jullundur District—Succession—daughter or collaterals—
See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)
 I L R 1 Lah 464
 ----- Shahpur—Succession—daughter or near collaterals—
See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)
 I L R 1 Lah 284
 ----- Tahsil Chakwal District Jhelum—alienation in favour of daughter—
See CUSTOM (ALIENATION)
 I L R 2 Lah 170

ROAD

See BRACDARI VILLAGE.

I L R 37 Bom 87

See MUNICIPALITY

I L R 43 Calc 100

making and maintenance of—See TOWNSHIP I L R 23 Mad 351

RIOTING—concl'd

Bengal Excise Act (V of 1909) confers wider powers on excise officers than were given under the former Act. Under s. 67 read with r. 75 of the Rules framed by the Local Government, an excise inspector and sub inspector may enter a house for the purpose of arresting without a warrant a person found in the illicit distillation of liquor. S. 67 does not relate to any search, and an excise officer not below the rank of a sub inspector entering a house for the purpose mentioned therein, is not required to comply with the formalities prescribed in Ch. V, r. (8) of the Instructions of the Board of Revenue unless he finds it necessary further to make a search in the house. Where an excise sub inspector accompanied by a constable and two chowkidars and excise peons went to the house of the accused in order to arrest without warrant persons found in the act of illicit distillation of liquor, and were attacked and beaten by them before they had time to enter or search the same. Held that they were acting legally under s. 67 of the Bengal Excise Act, and that the accused were rightly convicted under ss. 147 and 333 of the Penal Code. On a charge of rioting, with the common object of assaulting public servants, persons shown to have committed a separate offence under s. 333 of the Penal Code may be separately sentenced thereunder. Formalities required by law prior to search considered. PROKASH CHANDRA KUNDU v. EMPEROE (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 838

6. — Antefossa acquit—Common object—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 79, 141, 147 and 312—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), s. 403. Several police constables were convicted of rioting. Two of them were previously tried and acquitted on a charge of wrongful confinement for having taken into custody some persons in course of such rioting. Held, that the second trial was not vitiated by contravention of the rule embodied in s. 401 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code. R v. Barron, (1914), 2 K B 570, followed. Suresh Chandra v. Banku, 2 C L J 622 distinguished. RAM SAHAY RAM v. EMPEROE (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 78

RIPARIAN RIGHTSSee ASSIGNMENT

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 304

See FISHERYSee MADRAS IRRIGATION CEYS ACT

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 886

See NAVIGABLE RIVER

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 390

Nature of—Rights of upper riparian owner—Grant of right for user apart from the tenement validly of—artificial reservoir fed by natural stream, grant by riparian owner of right to take water from, validity of—Obstruction to exercise of riparian rights—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), ss. 23 and 26. The right of a riparian owner is not an easement, but a right based on the principle that all streams are public jura and all the water flowing down any stream is for the common use of mankind living on the bank of the stream. A riparian owner is entitled to use the water from a stream for all reasonable purposes, and may, therefore, permanently divert water for the purpose of irrigating his tenement. He may also make a grant to another riparian owner to take water by means of a channel running through the grantor's land, from an artificial reservoir created by the grantor. The question as to whether such an user would be reasonable would depend upon the proper requirements of all the riparian owners. S. 25 of the Limitation Act 1908, has no application to the case of an obstruction to the right to take water from a stream, whether such right is founded on riparian ownership or a lost grant. An obstruction to such enjoyment is a continuing wrong within the meaning of s. 23. MAHANTA KRISHNA DATTA GU v. MUSAMMAT BHAWANI KOKR

RIPARIAN RIGHTS—concl'd

3 Pat. L. J. 51

Natural stream flowing in artificial channel, rights of user in. The proper inference for the user of water in a natural stream flowing in an artificial channel is that the same as if the stream had been a natural one that is that the water should come without obstruction. RAM HARPAL SINGH v. HANUMAN SINGH

6 Pat. L. J. 6

RISK NOTE.See CONTRACT I. L. R. 43 Bom. 769See RAILWAYS ACT, ss. 72 and 75.See RAILWAY COMPANY

Senders risk-note—making Railway administration liable only if complete package lost, whether opposed to public policy. The sender's risk note used in the East Indian Railway system under which the Railway Company takes liability only when there is a loss of a complete package due to wilful negligence of their staff or theft by their servants is not opposed to public policy. KALI DAS MULLICK v. E. I. RAILWAY CO (1917)

21 C. W. N. 815

rites and ceremonies.See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 700

RIVAL CANDIDATE.See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 132

RIVAL DECREE-HOLDERS.See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 1072

RIVER.See GRANT

I. L. R. Mad. 840

See RIVER BED*RIVER BED.See GRANTSee PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER

24 C. W. N. 639

See REGULATION XI. OF 1825See RIPARIAN OWNERS

—silt up and becoming cultivable whether part of public domain, when river admitted or proved non navigable—Presumption that it was part of permanently settled estate—Suit to contest wrongful assessment of such river bed—Limitation—Reg. II of 1819, ss. 22, 23, 24—Reg. III of 1825, s. 10—Act IX of 1847. As soon as it is shown or admitted that a river within the ambit of the zamindari was never a public navigable river, the onus which lies on the zamindar to show that its bed was included within the limits

RIVER BED—contd

of his permanently settled estate is discharged or shifted. The test for determining whether a river is a public navigable river or not is whether or not the river is navigable for boats at all seasons of the year. The question of size may not be without importance but speaking generally the presumption in the one case is that the bed belongs to the public or is public domain and in the other that the bed belongs to a private proprietor. In the absence of any other evidence than that afforded by a thak or survey map these natural presumptions may be sufficient to displace the contrary evidence of the map. Maharaja Jagadindra v Secretary of State L R 30 I A 44 s c I L R 30 Calc 291 7 C W N 193 (1902) Haridas v Secretary of State 26 C L J 590 (P C) (1917) Secretary of State v Dwyer Chand Mahatob I L R 46 Calc 390 s c 22 C W N 872 (1918) and Secretary of State v Fahamidunnissa, L R 17 I A 40 s c I L R 17 Calc 590 (1889) referred to. The bed of a river included in a permanently settled estate is in no respect different from other waste lands included in the estate, and whatever changes may have occurred from natural or artificial causes and however the land may have improved in value Government is not entitled to additional revenue for such lands. Lope v Muddun Mohun 13 M I A 467 at p 477 5 B L R 521, 14 W R 11 (1870) and Bala Surya Prasad v Secretary of State L R 44 I A 166 at p 185 s c I L R 40 Mad 888 21 C W N 1039 (1917) referred to. When the bed of such a river silts up and becomes fit for cultivation, neither Reg II of 1819 nor Act IX of 1847 authorizes the revenue authorities to assess the lands with revenue. Where nevertheless the revenue authorities have assessed such land with revenue under Act IX of 1847 Quare—Whether upon the enactment of Act IX of 1947 the limitation provided by s 24 of Reg II of 1819 ceased to be applicable to a suit by the owner to contest the validity of the assessment and to recover possession of the land SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v PRAPULLANATH TAGORE 24 C W N 809

*Suit to contest order of Board of Revenue confirming assessment of land formed by silting up of river bed—Limitation—Reg II of 1819 s 24—Reg III of 1828 s 10—Act IX of 1847 s 6—Bed of public navigable river shown in map and revenue survey maps as within permanently settled estate—Bed is to be presumed part of estate. The rules contained in s 10 of Reg III of 1828 and s 24 of Reg II of 1819 govern a suit to contest an order of the Board of Revenue under s 6 of Act IX of 1847 confirming an assessment under the Act and its admission incidental relief such as recovery of possession of lands of which possession has been taken under s 10 of Reg III of 1828. Fahamidunnissa v case I L R 14 Calc 67 (F B) (1886) on P C L R 17 I A 40 (1889) referred to. An order under s 6 of Act IX of 1847 confirming an assessment of revenue corresponds to a decision of the Board under Reg II of 1819 and unless the suit of the nature indicated by cl (3) of s 10 of Reg III of 1828 is brought within the time limited by s 24 of Reg II of 1819 the decision of the Board declaring the land liable to assessment becomes final and conclusive for all purposes. Where the Board of Revenue found that a river the channels whereof had not materially changed between 1793 and 1854*

RIVER BED—contd

was a public navigable river but the thak and survey maps of 1859 1861 shewed the whole width of the river as included in the permanently settled estate of the Plaintiff, the Plaintiff offering no other evidence. Held—That the thak and survey maps were not in themselves sufficient to justify the Court in saying that the Board's order was wrong and should be reversed. Maharaja Jagadindra v case L R 30 I A 44 s c I L R 30 Calc 291 7 C W N 193 (1902) referred to. The question whether a river or watercourse is navigable or not does not depend on its name. PRAPULLA NATH TAGORE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA 24 C W N 813

RIWAJ-I-AM

- See CUSTOM I L R 29 All 574
 ——— evidentiary value of—
 See CUSTOM I L R 44 Calc 749
 ——— Jhelum District, Jats, succession to acquired property—
 See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) I L R 2 Lah 88
 ——— Karnal District—Succession by daughter to self acquired property—
 See CUSTOM—SUCCESSION I L R 2 Lah 306
 ——— Ludhiana District—Adoption by an adopted son—
 See CUSTOM (ADOPTION) I L R 1 Lah 39
 ——— Jullundur District—Adoption of daughter's son—
 See CUSTOM (ADOPTION) I L R 2 Lah 193
 ——— Jullundur District—Succession of sister—
 See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) I L R 1 Lah 1 & 433
 ——— Jullundur District—Adoption of brother's daughter's son—
 See CUSTOM (ADOPTION) I L R 1 Lah 15
 ——— Jullundur District—Succession—daughter or collaterals—
 See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) I L R 1 Lah 464
 ——— Shahpur—Succession—daughter or near collaterals—
 See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) I L R 1 Lah 284
 ——— Tahall Chakwal, District Jhelum—alienation in favour of daughter—
 See CUSTOM (ALIENATION) I L R 2 Lah 170

ROAD

- See BHAGDARI VILLAGE. I L R 37 Bom 87
 See MUNICIPALITY I L R 43 Calc 136
 ——— making and maintenance of—
 See FORT I L R 39 Mad 351

ROAD AND PUBLIC-WORKS CESS ACT.

See CESS ACT

ROAD CESS

ATTAINS OF—

See PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, s
10 14 C W. N. 607

SALE FOR ATTAINS OF—

See MUTT, HEAD OF
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 358

ROAD CESS RETURN

See TRINIKHANA PAPER.

(I L. R. 39 Calc. 895)

1 ——— Evidence—Road cess return filed by a temporary lessee—Bengal Cess Act (IX of 1880), s 95—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 21 The provisions of s 95 of the Bengal Cess Act are not exhaustive They merely limit the application of s 21 of the Indian Evidence Act, and exclude road cess returns when they are sought to be admitted in favour of the person by or on behalf of whom they have been filed A road cess return filed by a person in his capacity as a temporary lessee of a certain property is admissible in evidence in favour of the superior landlord, inasmuch as he could not be regarded as a person by or on behalf of whom the return was filed. BENKIO NARAY SINGH v AJODHYA PRASAD SINGH (1912) I L. R. 39 Calc. 1005

2 ——— Statements made in road cess returns by khopashdars or holders of a maintenance grant as to the character of their tenure are good evidence of title against a defendant claiming under them, if not as admissions, certainly as positive evidence in support of plaintiff's claim KALI SANKAR SAHAI v MAHARAJA PRATAP UDAI SINGH DEO (1911)

16 C. W. N. 683

ROAD CESS ACT (BENG IX OF 1880)

ss. 6, 72, 76, 80, 81—The Royalty or percentage on the products of a mine payable by mine owners, to the proprietor of the land is part of the annual net profits of the mine and liable to cess. MAHARAJA MANINDRA CHANDRA NANDI v THE SECRETARY OF STATE

15 C. W. N. 201

s 20—Rent, suit for—Rent claimed at higher rate than amount entered in Road Cess Return Unless there has been a material alteration of the holding a landlord is not entitled to claim rent at a rate higher than that stated in the Road Cess Return Mere alteration in area due either to re-measurement or encroachment will not take a case out of s 20 of the Road Cess Act, 1880 Neither an entry in the Record of Rights which only raises a presumption, nor an entry in a fama wasul baks which states what the tenant's rent for a particular year, was, can over-ride the provisions of the Act. DHANAKRISHNAI MARTON v SAYED SERAJUL HUDA

1 Pat. L. J. 521

ss. 47 and 64 (A and B)—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885, s 65
1 Pat. L. J. 161

ROYAL PROCLAMATION OF AUGUST 1914.

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY

I L. R. 44 Bom. 631

ROYALTY.

See INCOME TAX ACT, 1918, s. 5

6 Pat. L. J. 62

See MINES I L. R. 38 Calc. 372

action for—

See TRADE MARK
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 262

attains of—

See MORTGAGE. I L. R. 39 Calc. 810

payment of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 552

suit for—

See LIMITATION
I L. R. 44 Calc. 759

ROYALTY OR SEIGNIORAGE FEES.

right of Government to buy—

See IRAM I. L. R. 40 Mad. 268

RULES

See CALCUTTA RENT ACT 1920
25 C. W. N. 661See ULTRA VIRES
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 955

RULES AND ORDERS OF COURTS

See UNDER VARIOUS HIGH COURTS

RULES OF EVIDENCE.

See APPEAL I L. R. 38 Calc. 143

RULING CHIEF.

suit against—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 86
6 Pat. L. J. 185
I. L. R. 23 Mad. 635

RULING OF COURT

of co-ordinate jurisdiction. A Judge on the Original Side is ordinarily bound to consider with respect to the decision of another Judge on the Original Side produced before him, but that if he is convinced that the decision is erroneous, he is not under any obligation to follow it against his own judgment. VENKATY DAS MOOLJI v BISSERSWAR LAL HARGOVIND
24 C. W. N. 1022

RYOT

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s. 3 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1155

RYOTI LAND

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD I OF 1908)—

s 3 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 738
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 529ss. 9, 11, 151 157
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 43

RYOTI RENT

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s 3 I L R 38 Mad. 738

RYOTWARI LAND OWNER

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s 189 I L R 39 Mad. 239

RYOTWARI LANDS

———— acquisition of, by Government—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) ss 6 SUB S. (6) 8.
I L R. 39 Mad. 944

RYOTWARI TENURE

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) ss 6 SUB S. (6) 8
I L R. 39 Mad. 944

SSACRIFICE OF GOAT

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT s 23 15 C W N 668

SADALWAR AND MATHIRI KASUVU

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s 13 CL. (3)
I L R. 39 Mad. 84

SALARY

See ATTACHMENT
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 60
See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY 25 C W N 534

SALE

See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc 418

See CHAUDHARI CHAKARAN LANDS I L R 45 Calc 765

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 47 144 151
I L R 43 Bom 235

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENTS
I L R 42 All 437
I L R 33 All 337 585
I L R 41 Bom. 5

See CONTRACT I L R 33 All 166

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872)—
s 11 I L R 35 All 370
s 70 I L R. 40 All 555
s 74 I L R 38 All 52

See COURT SALE.

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT 189 s. 10 I L R. 45 Bom. 87

See ESTOPPEL I L R 48 Calc 591

See EXECUTION OF DECREES
I L R 38 Calc 622

See EXECUTION SALE

See EXECUTOR, SALE BY
I L R. 38 Mad. 575

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY I L R. 43 Bom. 42

SALE—contd

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L R 39 All 463

See INSOLVENCY I L R 44 Calc. 1016

See JURISDICTION I L R 34 Bom. 13

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s 74.
I L R 41 Bom. 170

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)
SCH I—
ART 44 I L R 42 Bom 626

ARTS 6^o AND 97
I L R 38 Mad. 887

ART 116 I L R 40 All 805

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION
I L R. 37 All 522

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Calc 923
I L R 40 Calc 534
I L R 42 Calc 780

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING
I L R. 48 Calc 184

See PRE EMPTION I L R. 34 Bom. 567

See PRIVATE SALE
I L R 45 Calc 780

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s 34. I L R 37 All 452

See PATTI TALUK I L R. 48 Calc 454

See RECEIVER 14 C W N 580
I L R 43 Calc 124

See SALE BY GOVERNMENT

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

See SALE OF GOODS

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)
s 27 I L R 38 All 184

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 40 I L R 40 Bom 493

s 54 I L R 34 Bom 139
I L R 37 All 631

s 55 I L R 43 All 314
15 C W N 655

s 53 CL 4 (b) I L R 33 Mad. 446
I L R. 38 All 254

ss 55 123 I L R 34 Bom 287

ss 60 67 AND 93
I L R. 39 Mad. 896

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER.
I L R 35 Bom 269

———— agreement to recovery—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 54 I L R. 39 Bom. 472

———— application to set aside—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 244
14 C W N 823

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O XXI B. 90 I L R 38 All 358

See DEPOSIT IN COURT
I L R 43 Calc 100

See PAYMENT INTO COURT
I L R 43 Bom. 967

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R. 39 Calc 26

SALE—contd

- by Mahomedan to Hindu.
See PRE EMPTION I L R 45 Bom 658
- by mother—
See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MINOR
 I L R 37 Mad. 514
- by prior mortgagee—
See MORTGAGE I L R 45 Calc 702
- by servant or partner—
See ADULTERATION
 I L R 39 Calc 682
- Constructive Notice—
See NOTICE I L R 45 Bom 910
- by minor co-parcener—
See PARTITION SUIT
 I L R 45 Bom. 883
- by a Municipality without written contract
See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1901) ss 96
 AND 40 (6) I L R 45 Bom 797
- By natural guardian—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O
 XXXII s.7 I L R 44 Bom 574
- Compromise in a suit for land—
 whether a sale—
See LUNACY (DISTRICT COURTS) ACT 18 8
 I L R 1 Lah 109
- consideration—whether pas cohabitation sufficient—
See CONTRACT I L R. 44 Bom. 542
- claimant paying into Court the decretal amount to set aside sale—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXI ss 85 90 (2)
 I L R 45 Bom. 1094
- Execution proceedings transferred to the Collector—
See HIGH COURT CIVIL CIRCULARS F
 106 s. 17 I L R 45 Bom 1132
- Decree against a judgment-debtor who dies—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 2 CL (II) O XXI s 22
 I L R. 45 Bom 1188
- Oral evidence to prove transaction only a mortgage—
See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF
 ACT 1879 s 2 I L R. 44 Bom 217
- confirmation of—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 316
 I L R 33 All. 63
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s. 85.
 I L R 41 All. 526
- See* PRE EMPTION I L R 33 All 45
See SECOND APPEAL
 I L R 39 Calc 687
- contract of—
See CURRENT RIGHT
 I L R 42 Calc 28
See VENDOR AND PURCHASER.
 I L R 38 Calc 458

SALE—contd

- Deposit or Earnest money on—
See CONTRACT I L R 41 All. 324
- free of incumbrance—
See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III
 OF 1907) ss 20 22
 I L R 39 Mad 479
- in execution of a decree—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
 XXI s 90 I L R 38 All. 358
- knowledge of—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH
 I ART 120 I L R 38 Mad 67
- necessity of—
See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MINOR
 I L R 35 Bom 217
- of mortgaged property—
See MORTGAGE I L R. 37 Calc 282
- of mortgagor's rights—
See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION ACT (II
 OF 1907) s 3 I L R 37 All 467
- of right title and interest of mortgagor—
See TITLE I L R 37 Calc 239
- of trust property—
See TRUSTS I L R 43 Bom 519
- properties advertised for by the Official Receiver as subject to mortgage—
See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III
 OF 1907) ss 40 AND 22
 I L R 39 Mad. 479
- Patal Taluk—
See PATENT REGULATION 1819 s 14
 25 C W N 42
- right of repurchase reserved on—
See CONTRACT I L R 42 Bom 344
- stay of—
See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Calc 897
- suit for on a mortgage—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
 XXXIV ss 4 5 AND 10
 I L R. 40 All 109
 s. 5 I L R 40 All 203
- to prior mortgages after creation of a pulse mortgage—
See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Mad. 18
- validity of—
See CERTIFICATE OF SALE
 I L R 37 Calc 187
- See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 47 AND "O"
 I L R 38 Mad 1076
- See* TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF
 1882) ss 85 91
 I L R 37 Mad. 418
- I ——— Order for stay of—Order becomes effective only when communicated to the lower Court. An order by the Appellate Court for stay of sale takes effect only when communicated to the lower Court; and a sale by the lower Court;

SALE—contd

after the passing of the order but before the order was communicated is valid Besswanger Chowdhury v Horroosunder Moosunder 1 C W N 286 followed Hukum Chand Best v Kamala Nand Singh 1 L R 33 Calc 327 not followed MUTHUKUMARASAMI ROWTHEN MINDA NATINAR v KUPPURAMI AYYANGAR (1909)

I L R 33 Mad. 74

2 ———— Option of re-purchase—Suit by vendor's grandson against the vendee's daughter in law—Co-ena to re-purchase purely personal A deed of sale with an option of re-purchase contained the following clause— I have given the land unto your possess on if ye have at any time I require back the land I will pay you the afore-said Rs. 600 and any money you may have spent on bringing the land into good condition and purchase back the land In a suit brought 35 years after execution of the deed by the grandson of the vendor against the daughter in law of the vendee to exercise the option of re-purchase— Held that the covenant to re-purchase was purely personal and the suit was not maintainable GURUWATH BALAJI v YAMANAVA (1911)

I L R 35 Bom 258

3 ———— Sale by Receiver—Sale by the Court and sale by Receiver under direction of Court distinct between—Sale by Receiver if requires confirmation of sale certificate by Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act 1 of 1908) O XVI rr 9 and 24 A sale by a Receiver under direction of Court is not a sale by Court and in such a sale the Court does not grant a sale certificate nor does it confirm the sale Minaloonna B Bee v Alahoonna B Bee 1 L R 21 Cal 479 explained GOLAM HUSSAIN CASSIM ARIF v FATIMA BEGUM (1910) 18 C W N 394

4 ———— Covenant for title—Claim made against purchaser compromised ante suit brought—Right of purchaser to claim indemnity from covenantor The purchaser of immovable property concerning which the seller has covenanted to indemnify the purchaser in the event of the title proving defective is not bound to wait until a suit is brought and he is deprived of the property by reason of a decree passed thereon but if a claim which the purchaser has an incidental reason to believe to be valid is brought against him he may after notice to the covenantor compromise such claim and sue the covenantor on his covenant to recover the amount paid by him to effect the compromise Sauk v Compton 3 B & A 40 referred to. DURGAPPAH v KALI CHARAN (1913) I L R 35 All 168

5 ———— Contract for sale—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1887) s 54—Patri-Pent liability for—Mere possession without assignment of lease, effect of A contract for sale as defined by s. 54 of the Transfer of Property Act does not of itself create an interest in property and therefore a mere agreement to buy does not create a liability to pay the rent of the tenure the subject matter of the contract for sale Car v Pashop & Duggal 11 G 816 and Chatterbhuj Moroy v Jenson 1 L R 9 Bom 323 referred to. Mere possession on a patri will not render a man liable for rent if the lease has not been assigned to him Cass v Willshire 1 Den 112 Sandee v Benson 4 Den 350 Flit v Lingley 7 Sim 143 and Palch v Lonsdale 1 R. 41 CA 9 referred to. Ipsema Coomer Paul Choudhury v Keyash

SALE—contd.

Chander Paul Choudhury & N P 428 Macnaghten v Bheekare Singh 2 C L R 373 Kan Kar Sen v Salyendra Nath Bhadra 15 C W N 191 and Abdul Rob Choudhury v Eggar 1 L R 35 Calc 139 distinguished. AXANDA CHANDRA FOY v ABDULLAH HOSEIN CHOWDHURY (1913) I L R 41 Calc 148

6 ———— Court sale—Acceptance of bid—if incomplete without Court's sanction—Court and Nazir's respect & functions in regard to bids Per COXE J.—Under the rules it is the Nazir's business to complete the sale though the Court (as well as the Nazir) has a discretion to decline acceptance of the highest bid when the price offered appears so clearly inadequate as to make it advisable to do so. The Court has a quasi-judicial discretion in the matter and is not required itself to knock down the property. If a person goes to bid at a sale and in full knowledge of the condition offers bids for the property and the property is knocked down to him the mere fact that the Court has subsequently the discretion to confirm or annul the Nazir's act does not leave it open to the bidder to withdraw his bid. Quare Whether a second appeal lies from an order refusing leave to the decree holder to withdraw his bid. RAJENDRA PRASAD JHA v UPENDRA NATH JHA (1913) 19 C W N 633

7 ———— Execution sale decrees reverses & alters—Purchases in parts by decree holder by a defendant not a judgment-debtor and by a stranger how affected—Moth v infant defendants appointed guardian without express consent—Decree if binds infants—Infants interest if passes at sale A Court is not competent to appoint the mother of infant Defendants their guardian ad litem without her express consent. Where in a mortgage suit the mother who was proposed by the plaintiff as guardian did not appear or signify her willingness to act as guardian ad litem of the infant defendants, but the Court nevertheless appointed her guardian and the suit ended in a decree and a sale of the infants and others' properties. Held that the infants were not properly before the Court and were not bound by the decree and the sale did not pass the right title and interest of the infants. Where a decree is set aside subsequently to a sale in execution of the decree the sale will be cancelled if the purchase has been made by the decree holder but not when the purchaser is a stranger. The sale will also be cancelled when the purchaser though not the decree holder is one who was a party to the proceeding. Though s. 4 of O XXXIV of the Civil Procedure Code contemplates a sale of the mortgaged property as the decree must be suitably modified in exceptional circumstances e.g. when the mortgaged properties have already been converted into money by operation of law. HARENDRA CHANDRA MANDAL v JOGENDRA NARAYAN LOY (1914) 19 C W N 637

8 ———— Execution of rent-decree—Encumbrances—Bengal Tenancy Act (1111 of 1885), ss. 159, 163 to 167—Decree for arrears of rent—Sale under the Bengal Tenancy Act effect of—Increase by landlord Where a tenure is sold under the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act in execution of a decree for arrears of rent and the procedure provided in the Act has been observed the result therein decreed as follows namely the purchaser becomes entitled to annul

SALE—contd

all encumbrances other than registered and notified encumbrances, the consequences of the sale does not depend upon the amount of the bid offered by the successful purchaser, it is independent of the value of the bid. S 165 of the Act was enacted solely for the benefit of the decree holder, if the bid is not sufficient to satisfy his decree and costs it entitles him to have the property sold with power to annul all encumbrances, but it is not obligatory upon him to adopt this extreme measure and he is not in peril if he decides not to pursue this special remedy. Banbhai Aapur v Khetra Pal Singh Roy, 1 L R 38 Calc 293, not followed SALIMULLAH v. RAHNUDDIN (1915) 1 L R 43 Calc 283

9 ——— District Board, sale by—Im moved Im property—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 31—Incorporated Company—Suit dismissal of—Contract rescission of—Waiver—Respondent—Cross objection—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XLII, rr 22 (3), 33—Corporation, duty of, when it receives money under an illegal or ultra vires agreement S 64 of the Transfer of Property Act provides that a sale of tangible immovable property of the value of Rs 100 and upwards can be made only by a registered instrument. Title to land, therefore cannot pass by a mere admission when the statute requires a deed. Jad Nath v Rup Lal, 1 L R 33 Calc 967. Dharam Chand v Manji Sahu, 18 C L J 436, Aarak Lal v Mangoo Lal, 22 C L J 350, referred to. Hemadra Nath Mukerjee v Kumar Nath Roy 1 L R 32 Calc 169 distinguished. The effect of rr 93 and 98 of the Statutory Rules made by the Lieutenant Governor on the 15th December 1885 under s 138 (d) of Bengal Act III of 1885 is that no immovable property vested in a District Board can be sold except with the previous approval of the Local Government and except by an instrument under the common seal signed by the Chairman and by two members of the Board. It is well settled principle of interpretation that Courts in construing a statute will give much weight to the interpretation put upon it, at the time of its enactment and since, by those whose duty it has been to construe, execute and apply it, although such interpretation has not by any means controlling effect upon the Courts and may be disregarded for cogent and persuasive reasons. Baleshwar v Bhagprathi 1 L R 35 Calc. 701, referred to. When a public body or a Company is established by statute or is incorporated for special purposes only and is altogether the creature of Statute Law the prescriptions for its acts and contracts are imperative and essential to their validity. Ward v Beck, 13 C B (N S) 663, Stapleton v Haymen 2 H & C 918, The Andalusian 1 R 3 F D 182, Le Feuvre v Miller, 8 E & B 321. Cope v Thomas Haren, 5 Exch 441, Daggle v London and Blackwell Ry, 5 Exch. 412, Friend v Bennett, 4 C B (N S) 576, Cornwall Mining Co v Bennett 5 H & N 423, Irish Post Co v Phillips, 1 B & S 538, Bottomley v Case 16 Ch D 631 and J. R. Gifford and Bury Town Council 29 Q B D 363, referred to. A suit need not be dismissed merely because the authority for its institutions such as a certificate under the Penions Act, 1861 or s 78 of the Land Registration Act or s 60 of the Bengal Tenancy Act or s 4 of the Succession Certificate Act is not produced with the plaint. But this principle has no application to a case where the plaintiff at the date of the institution of the suit has no title at all. Sarat Chandra v Apurba Krishna, 14 C L J. 53, referred to. One contract is rescinded by another between the same parties, when the latter is inconsistent with and renders impossible the performance of the former, but, if, though they differ in terms their legal effect is the same, the second is merely a ratification of the first and the two must be construed together, where the new contract is consistent with the continuance of the former one, it has no effect unless and until it is performed. Hunt v South Eastern Railway Co 45 L J C P 87, Dodd v Chilton, (1897) 1 Q B 562, Palmore v Colburn, 1 Cr M & R 65, Thornhill v Nates, 8 C B (N S) 551, referred to. But where parties enter into a contract which if valid would have the effect, by implication of rescinding a former contract and it turns out that the second transaction cannot operate as the parties intended it does not have the effect, by implication, of affecting their rights in respect to the former transaction. Noble v Ward, 4 H & C. 149. L R 1 Exch 177, Dosdem Biddisip v Poole 11 Q B 713, referred to. Where the question is whether the one party is set free by the action of the other the real matter for consideration is whether the acts or conduct of the one do or do not amount to an intimation of an intention to abandon and altogether to refuse performance of the contract. The true question is whether the acts and conduct of the party evince an intention no longer to be bound by the contract. Mersey Steel and Iron Co v Naylor Benzon and Co, 9 App. Cas 434, General Billposting Co. v Atkinson, (1908) A C 113, referred to. The Court requires as clear evidence of the waiver as of the existence of the contract itself, and will not act upon less. Carolan v Brabator, 3 J & L 209, referred to. Where a corporation receives money or property under an agreement which turns out to be ultra vires, or illegal, it is not entitled to retain the money. The obligation to do justice rests upon all persons, natural and artificial, if one obtains the money or property of others, without authority, the law, independently of express contract, will compel restitution or compensation. Chapleo v Brunswick Building Society 6 Q B D 698, referred to. As an ordinary rule a respondent in an appeal is not entitled to urge cross objections except as against the appellant. But r 22 (3) of O XLII of the Code of 1908 has materially altered the pre-existing law by the substitution of the words "party who may be affected by such objection" for the word "appellant" contained in s 561 (3) of the Code of 1882. Further, r 33 of O XLII has conferred wide discretionary powers on the Court of Appeal to alter the decree of the Court below as the case may require. MATHURAN MOHAY SANA v RAM KUMAR SANA (1915) 1 L R 43 Calc. 760

SALE—contd

10 ——— Benami—Suit by purchaser under registered khabala against defendant in possession—Plaintiff, if has to prove pawning of consideration—Recital in deed admitting receipt of consideration null—Second appeal—Onus. A plaintiff has to prove his title when a defendant in possession pleads he is only a benamidar but he shows a prima facie title by producing and proving a conveyance which usually contains a recital of the receipt of consideration. The onus in such a case is on the defendant to show non payment of consideration. The fact that the defendant is in possession is an important element to be taken into consideration in determining whether the transaction is benami. But there is no presumption in favour of benami even where the defendant is in possession. Where the lower Appellate Court held that the plaintiff's purchase was benami being influenced by the erroneous view that the onus was on the plaintiff though it relied also on the fact that the defendant was in possession, the finding was reversed in second appeal and the case was sent back for rehearing. A recital in a deed of sale admitting the receipt of consideration is evidence though not conclusive against the vendor. DURGA CHARAN CHANDRA v THE KHARDA Co., Ltd (1915) 20 C W N 254

SALE—contd

11 ——— Sale of Tenancy—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885)—Status of the decree holder—Effect of the cessation of interest (partial or entire) of the landlord Where the decree holder continued to be the sole landlord at the date of the application for execution of the decree and in his character as landlord decree holder took the necessary steps for the sale of the under tenure in conformity with the statutory provisions, the effect of the execution sale is to pass the under tenure to the purchaser, even though the decree holder has lost his interest as landlord before the actual sale. Forbes v Maharaj Bahadur Singh I L R 41 Cal 926 distinguished Hem Chander Bhunia v Mon Mohini Das, 3 C W N 604 Chhatrapati Singh v Gopi Chand Bothra I L R 26 Cal 750 Srivastav Roy v Mahadeo Mahata, I I R 31 Cal 559 Akhara Pal Singh v Kartarhamoy Das I L R 33 Cal. 566 Profulla v Asanbannasa 24 C I J 331 referred to Syedunnissa Khatun v Amiruddi (1917) I L R 45 Cal 294

12 ——— Date of sale—Whether date of confirmation—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s 167, 169 The words date of sale referred to in s 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act mean the date when the sale is confirmed and not the date when the property is actually sold to the purchaser. Matangini Choudhury v Sreenath Das 7 C W V 552 referred to Banko Behary Das v Krishna Chandra Bhattach 18 C W N 349 13 C L J 170 approved. Yusuf Gazi v Asmat Mollah 17 C W V 410 dissenting from NANDA LAL BANERJEE v UNESH CHANDRA DAS (1917) I L R 45 Cal. 151

13 ——— Application to set aside—Limitation—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 47 O XXI r 90—Application to set aside a sale in execution of a decree on the ground that the property did not belong to the original judgment debtor—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch. II, Arts 166 181 An application under s 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure for setting aside the sale of a property on the ground that it did not belong to the original judgment debtor is governed by Art 166 of the Limitation Act and not Art. 185. BATISH CHANDRA KUNJUNOOR v NISHI CHANDRA DUTTA (1919) I L R 46 Cal. 975

14. ——— Application to set aside sale on the ground that application for execution was barred by limitation—grounds for setting aside sale which has been confirmed No application to set aside a sale held in execution of a decree on the ground that the application for attachment and sale was barred by limitation can be made after confirmation of the sale. Lakshu Rai v Maharaja Kesho Prosad Singh Bahadur 2 Pat L J, 157

SALE—contd

15 ——— Application to set aside sale—Fraud involving suppression of processes and submission of false returns, its continuing influence—Burden of proving clear and definite knowledge of facts constituting fraud—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115i In a case to set aside sale under O XXI, r 90 Civil Procedure Code the applicant must have knowledge not merely of the factum of the sale but a clear and definite knowledge of the facts which constitute the fraud before time can run against him or her. When by a fraud involving suppression of processes and submission of false returns, the applicant is kept out of knowledge of the sale of his property such fraud must be held to have a continuing influence. Indeed in such a case it is for the other side to show that the injured party had clear and definite knowledge of the facts which constitute the fraud at a time from which time as a starting point time is barred by limitation. Narayan Sahu v Mohanlal Damodar Das 16 C W N 891 and Rohimkhoy Habibkhy v Turner I L R 17 Bom 341 referred to. The Court below in shutting out evidence acted with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction. BRUSAN MANI DASI v PROFULLA KRISTO DAS (1920)

I L R 48 Cal 119

16 ——— Notice—In the case of an oral sale with possession and payment followed by a registered sale to another person with notice of first sale, it was held that first sale had priority and could claim a registered sale deed. DESAIBHAI JORABHAI v ISWAR JESHING

I L R. 44 Bom. 586

17 ——— Sale under mortgage decree—High Court Original Side—Mortgage Decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXI r 89 The provisions of O XXI r 89, of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) apply to a sale under a mortgage decree and in the Original side of a Chartered High Court. A Judge on the Original Side is ordinarily bound to consider with respect the decision of another Judge on the Original Side produced before him, but if he is convinced that the decision is erroneous, he is not under an obligation to follow it against his own judgment. Surendra Krieto Roy v Gurus Pada Ghosh 24 C W N 536 overruled Chaitram Rambhadr v Bruthchand Kervichand, I L R 42 Cal 1140 explained. CHITRAV DASS MOOLJI v BISWAS LAL HARGOVIND (1920)

I L R. 48 Cal 69

18 ——— Procured by fraud—Reconveyance—Where a sale under Act XI of 1859 was brought about by deliberate default on the part of the agent of one of the co-owners of the estate and the purchase at the sale was effected under a pre arranged plan to which the said agent was a party in the name of a person who under that arrangement was to hold the property for the benefit of himself and the other parties to it: Held—That the sale had no higher effect than a private alienation and the purchaser who had taken with notice of or was implicated in the

SALE—contd

fraud should be made to reconvey the property to the rightful owners KUMAR SATISH KANTO ROY v SATISH CHANDRA CHATTOPADHYA
24 C W N 682

19 ——— For rent arrears under Bengal Tenancy Act—In Orissa since the extension there to of Ch. XIV of the Bengal Tenancy Act 1895 a sale under Bengal Act VIII of 1905 is liable to be set aside under s. 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act upon the Judgment Debtor depositing in Court within 30 days of the sale the amount of the decree LAKSHMIDAR MAHANTI v JAYAKAR MANAPATRA I L R 48 Calc 811

SALE ABSOLUTE

See INSURANCE I L R 43 Calc 558

SALE BY GOVERNMENT

See WATER LANDS ACT 1863 s. 18
I L R 44 Calc 328

SALE CERTIFICATE

See ADVERSE POSSESSION
I L R 40 Calc 173
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—
s. 60 24 C W N 1011
s. 115 AND O XXI R. 66 2 Pat. L. J 130
O XXI, R. 64
S & MORTGAGE I L R 44 Mad 433

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE
20 C. W. N. 819

——— Misdescription of property to be sold—Right of auction purchaser to recover possession of property actually liable to sale
Where a holding is sold in execution of a rent decree the paramount description in the sale certificate is ordinarily the general description of the holding. The plot numbers are a subordinate description. RAJENDRA PRASAD SAHU v GANGAN KOER 2 Pat. L. J 673

SALE-DEED

See AGREEMENT TO SELL
I L R 35 Bom 446

See CONSTRUCTION OF DEED
I L R 39 Bom 119
I L R 40 Bom 74

See DEKAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT (XII of 1899) s. 3 CL. (y) AND 104
I L R 40 Bom 397
I L R 45 Bom 87

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872, s. 82
I L R 34 Bom 59
I L R 35 Bom 93

See LIMITATION ACT 1877 SCH II ARTS 139 144 I L R 35 Bom. 433

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 SCH I ART 91 I L R 42 Bom 638

See SUIT FOR CANCELLATION OF DOCUMENT I L R 35 All 232

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1899 s. 54 I L R 40 Bom 313
I L R 41 Bom 350

See TRUST ACT 1889 s. 88
I L R 43 Bom. 173

SALE-DEED—contd

——— for a low value from client—
See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT
I L R 40 Mad 69

——— mistake in—
See EVIDENCE ACT (II of 1872) s. 92 CL. (a) I L R 39 Mad. 792

——— Minor's suit to set aside—
See PRECEDENT RELIEF ACT 1877, s. 41 I L R 44 Bom 173

——— Old document—admissibility of—
See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s. 92
I L R 44 Bom 710

——— price specified in—
See EVIDENCE ACT (II of 1872), s. 92
I L R 38 Mad. 814

——— Covenant for title breach of—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Art 116—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1882) s. 55 (?)
A suit for compensation for breach of an express or implied covenant for the quiet enjoyment in respect of a sale-deed executed after coming into force of the Transfer of Property Act is governed by Art. 116 of the Limitation Act. Case law reviewed Sudhanya R. Dhar v Raja Gopala Riddhar (1914) Mod L J 376 approved. Covenant for title under s. 55 (2) of the Transfer of Property Act is annexed to the contract of sale as well as to the conveyance. ARUNACHALA v RAMASWAMI (1914) I L R 38 Mad. 1171

——— Unperfected agreement to reconvey—Mortgage by conditional sale—
The plaintiff purchased the property in suit for defendant in 1893 and at the same time passed an agreement to reconvey the property after 5 years. This document was not registered. Thereafter the plaintiff leased the land to the defendant from time to time and in 1916 sued to recover possession on the strength of the rent notes passed to him by defendant. The Court of First Instance allowed the plaintiff's claim holding that s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists Relief Act did not apply and that the agreement to reconvey could not be looked into for want of registration. The lower Appellate Court reversed the decree on the ground that the sale-deed was obtained by misrepresentation and that the defendant would never have passed the same if the plaintiff had not assured him that his ownership was not lost and that he would be allowed to redeem. The plaintiff appealed to the High Court: Held decreeing the suit (1) that the lower Appellate Court's view that the transaction must be considered a mortgage because there had been a misrepresentation at the time the document was signed could not be upheld; (2) that the defendant's case did not proceed upon the footing that the two documents together constituted a mortgage by conditional sale nor was there evidence before the Court to come to that conclusion; (3) that the case set up by the defendant was one for specific performance of an agreement to reconvey and that defence could not succeed in law. PER MACLEOD C J.
Where the question is whether a sale-deed and the agreement to reconvey make together a mortgage by conditional sale the Court has strictly speaking to look to the actual contents of the documents and to construe them accordingly. But it may to that there is such extrinsic evidence and circumstances which show the relation of the written language to existing facts, that therefore it would be possible to come to the conclusion that the documents which on the face of them constitute a sale, and an agreement to reconvey within a certain period or after a certain period amount to a mortgage. NANDU SATYAKAR v. DHANU (1920). I L R 44 Bom 961

SALE-DEED—concl'd

SALE FOR ARREARS OF RENT

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s 2

I L R 38 Mad. 832

See SALE

Purchase of putns—Opposition to purchaser's possession—Application for proclamation—The District Judge or the Collector the proper authority to issue proclamation—Pent Recovery (Under Tenures) Act (Beng VIII of 1865) s 3—Repealing Act (XVI of 1874)—Regulations VIII of 1819 ss 8, 9 15 (2), I of 1850 and VII of 1832, s 16 Cl (2) of s 15 of Regulation VIII of 1819 has not been affected by s 3 of Beng. Act VIII of 1865. Proceedings taken to annul the sale of certain putns lands sold for arrears of rent having terminated in favour of the purchaser and the sale having become final and conclusive, the purchaser in attempting to realise the rents from the cultivators of the lands comprised in the tenure purchased by him was opposed in his attempt by some of the intermediate holders who claimed interest between the late putns and the cultivators. Thereupon, he applied to the District Judge to issue a proclamation under s 15 of the Putni Reg VIII of 1819. The District Judge returned the application and directed that it should be made to the Collector who was the proper authority to issue the proclamation. Held, that the view taken by the District Judge was erroneous and that he had failed to exercise the jurisdiction still vested in him by law under cl (2) s 15 of the Putni Reg VIII of 1819. MAHMATIA NATH MITTER v. DISTRICT JUDGE, 24 PARAGANAS (1916)

I L R 44 Calc 715

Sale under Ben Act VIII of 1865—Deposit in Court—Setting aside sale. In Orissa since the extension thereto of Ch. XIV of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), a sale under Ben Act VIII of 1865 is liable to be set aside under s 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, upon the judgment-debtor depositing in the Court within 30 days of the sale the amount recoverable under the decree. Judgment of the High Court affirmed. LAKSHMINAR MAHANTI v. RATYAKAR MAHAPATRA, (1921)

I L R 48 Calc 811

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT 1907 ss 20 and 22 I L R 39 Mad. 479

See REVENUE SALE LAWS

See SALE

— Judgment Debtor remaining in Possession—Suit to recover—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 SCH I, ART 12A I L R. 45 Bom. 45

1 — Irregularity—Substantial Loss—Sale Notification, incorrect entry in—Notice—Beng

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—concl'd

Act VII of 1858 ss 8 11—Beng Act XJ of 1859, s 33. An incorrect entry in a sale notification resulting in misleading intending bidders is an irregularity such as is contemplated by s 33 of Bengal Act XI of 1859. Dronandan Singh v. Manabodh Singh I L R 32 Calc 111 discussed. Though s 8 of Bengal Act VII of 1858 prevents a plaintiff from proving any irregularity in the service of notice required by a 11, yet it would not prevent him from proving that a notice in contravention of the provisions of that Act was served in a wrong mahal which in itself and by its service supported the conclusion that the mis statement in the sale notification constituted a serious irregularity. RAJRAJ DAS v. GAYESH PRASAD SRICHANDAN MAHAPATRA (1910)

I L R 37 Calc 407

2. — Incumbrance—Is pendens if applies to property attached in execution of money decree—Attachment in execution of money decree, if creates a charge—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) s 52—Attachment, if incumbrance—Sale for arrears of revenue, if alienation by proprietor. The doctrine of is pendens is applicable to sales in salvum. The doctrine is applicable to proceedings to realise the mortgage money after a decree for sale of the property. But where a property not mortgaged is attached in execution of a money decree the doctrine of is pendens does not apply to the sale of that property. Where a property was attached in execution of a money decree and in the course of the execution proceedings was sold for arrears of revenue. Held, that the attachment did not create any title or charge on the property and did not constitute an incumbrance within the meaning of s 54 of Act XI of 1859. Frederick Peacock v. Madan Gopal, I L R 29 Calc 428 s c 6 C W A 377. Mota Lal v. Karabulund Singh, I L R 25 Calc. 179 referred to. Pears Lal Singh v. Chandu Charan Singh 5 C L J 80 s c 11 C W A 163 distinguished. Held, further that a sale for arrears of Government revenue cannot be regarded as an alienation made by the proprietor so as to make the doctrine of is pendens applicable. MAHMOO SARAN SAHU v. THAKUR PRASAD SINGH (1910) 14 C W N 877

3. — Incumbrance or under tenure how avoided and when—Meane profits—Liability of several classes of tenure holders—Damages. An incumbrance or under tenure is not ipso facto avoided by the sale of an estate for arrears of revenue, and is only liable to be avoided at the option of the purchaser at such sale. Titu Bih v. Mohesh Chunder Bagchi, I L R 9 Calc 553, followed. The law does not require any notice as a necessary preliminary to a suit to avoid an under tenure but the option of the purchaser may be exercised by the institution of a suit within the time approved by law. Where such a suit has been instituted the tenure must be regarded annulled from the date of the commencement of the suit. For the period antecedent to a suit for annulment of an incumbrance the possession of the under tenure holder is not wrongful and purchasers at the revenue sale are not entitled to claim by way of damages for use and occupation any sum in excess of what actually represents the rent payable by the tenure holder of the first decree. A decree for rent in such a case can be made only against such of the defendants as held the tenures directly under the defaulting proprietors, and not against all of them jointly and severally. In respect of mesne profits which accrue during the pendency of a suit for possession, the liability of different tenure-holders of the same degree, and of separate under-tenure holders of different degrees, should be apportioned according to the share of the profits intercepted by each. Jotindra Mohan Lahiri v Guro Prasanno Lahiri, 1 L R 31 Calc 597. L R 31 I A 91, referred to. A release of one joint wrong-doer without any intention to release the other joint tort-feasors, but only as a partial satisfaction, discharges the others only pro tanto. Where the plaintiffs released some of the wrong-doers from liability, the claim against the others have been split up by their own conduct, and a joint decree ought not to be passed against all the defendants. Biswanath Tewary v Aoplashdany Narain Singh, 2 May 297, followed. RAMKRAN KAPALI v ASWINI KUMAR DUTT (1910)

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

I L R 37 Calc 559

4. ———— Liability of auction-purchaser in respect of payment of arrears of revenue.—Appropriation of payment to particular kist, and acceptance and acknowledgment of Treasury Officer.—Subsequent appropriation by Treasury Officer to earlier kist.—Sale for arrears so created, suit to set aside.—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss 59, 60. Where the proprietor of an estate made a payment in respect of arrears of revenue, and in the document which accompanied the payment to the Government, expressly appropriated it to the satisfaction of a particular kist, and the money was accepted and acknowledged by the Treasury Officer as paid on that account. Held, it was not in the power of one of the parties to the transaction without the assent of the other, to vary the effect of transaction by altering the appropriation in which both originally concurred. After a payment had been so specially appropriated and accepted as paid in respect of a kist due in January 1902, the Treasury Officer applied part of it to the satisfaction of an earlier kist due in September 1901, and only paid the remainder towards the January kist, with the result that an arrear was created in the January kist to which the payment had been wholly appropriated and a sale took place for such arrear. In a suit to set aside the sale. —Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that no arrears in respect of the January kist were really due at the date of the sale which was therefore without jurisdiction and invalid. See ss 59 and 60 of the Contract Act (IX of 1872), relating to the appropriation of payments might have been applicable to the case, if the parties to the transaction had not by their own actions placed the matter beyond doubt. MANOWAT JAW v GANGA BHAY SINGH (1911)

I L R. 33 Calc. 537

5. ———— Incumbrances extinguished by sale under mortgage-decree—at the date of sale, not of confirmation.—Liability of mortgage purchaser for revenue.—Act XI of 1859 s 51. The appellant as a purchaser at a revenue sale of the property in suit sued to eject the respondent who claimed title under a certificate dated April 23rd 1900 confirming his purchase thereof on March 19th 1900, under a decree for sale obtained by himself as mortgagee. The revenue became in arrear on March 29th 1900. Held, that the respondent's proprietary title was complete on March 10th and that it passed to the appellant by the revenue sale. His mortgagee title could not be kept alive so as to operate on March 29th 1900, as an incumbrance within the meaning of s 54 of Act XI of 1859. BHAWANI KUWAR v MATHURA PRASAD SINGH (1912). L R. 39 I A 228

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

6. ———— Common Tenancy—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), ss 10, 11 and 63—Purchase at a revenue sale of an undivided interest of specific mouzas in an estate in respect of which separate accounts were opened, effect of.—Reference to a third Judge—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1852, s 375—Act V of 1890, s 98 (2). Per MOOKERJEE and VINCENT, JJ. (BRETT, J. dissenting), that a proprietor, who is not a recorded sharer of a joint estate held in joint tenancy, within the meaning of s 10 of the Revenue Sale Law, nor a recorded sharer whose share consists of a specific portion of the lands of the estate within the meaning of s 11, but is recorded as proprietor of an undivided interest held in common tenancy of a specific portion of the lands of the estate, but not extending over the whole estate within the meaning of s 70 of the Land Registration Act, is not entitled to acquire the estate purchased by him at a sale held for arrears of revenue, free of encumbrances. The expression "estate held in common tenancy" in s 10 of the Revenue Sale Law means an estate where all the sharers have a common right and interest in the whole of the estate. Where, therefore, various co-sharers have certain interest, not in the whole estate, but only in particular villages of that estate, it cannot be said that the estate is held in common tenancy. Aunoo Shaha v Ram Pershad Narain Singh, 21 W. R. 35, followed. MAHAMMAD MEHDI HASSAN KHAN v SHEORANKAR PERSHAD SINGH (1911). I L R. 39 Calc 353

7. ———— Government Land—Act XI of 1859, ss 2 and 3—Bengal Act III of 1868—Government tenure in mahal Panchannagram in the 24 Pergannahs—Katabhujat fixing date for payment of revenue in every year—Sale for arrears when no arrears were due.—Variation of contract of parties by general considerations or administrative rules not permissible. S 2 of Act XI of 1859 enacts that "if the whole or a portion of a kist or instalment of any month, of the era according to which the settlement and kist bands of any mahal have been regulated be unpaid on the 1st of the following month of such era, the sum so remaining unpaid shall be considered as an arrear of revenue." S 3 provides that the "Board of Revenue at Calcutta shall determine upon what dates all arrears of revenue shall be paid up in each district under their jurisdiction, in default of which payment estates in arrear shall be sold," and a notification duly published in compliance with that section on 6th October 1871 "fixed the 28th June of each respective year as the latest date of payment of the rents of all descriptions of tenures in Khas Mahal Panchannagram, in default of which payment on or previous to that date tenures in arrears in that Mahal will be sold." The appellant was the holder of a Government tenure in Dahi Panchannagram, to which, by virtue of Bengal Act VII of 1868, Act XI of 1859 was applicable, and the katabhujat under which he held stipulated for "payment of the whole jumma in the Collectorate within 28th

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

June every year' The revenue remaining unpaid on 23rd June 1902, the tenure was, after the preliminary procedure prescribed by the Acts sold for arrears of revenue on 16th March 1903, and purchased by the respondent Held (reversing the decision of the High Court) that on the construction of the Acts and the above notification, the revenue was not in arrear until 1st July 1902, and the date fixed as that on which the tenure could be sold in default of payment of the arrears was 23rd June 1903. There were therefore at the date of the sale no arrears of revenue and in accordance with the decision in Balkishan Das v Simpson 1 L R 25 Calc 333 L P 25 I A 151, the sale was consequently invalid. No variation of the contract of parties and the statutory provisions applicable thereto is possible by reason of general considerations of administrative rules which have not the sanction of Indian statute. HARI BUKSH ELANI v DURLAV CHANDRA KAR 1 L R 39 Calc 981

8 ——— Sale within 30 days of service of sale proclamation, if nullity—Revenue Sale Law Act (Act XI of 1859) ss 6-33—Question of one of due service—Beng Act VII of 1883 s 8—Second appeal—Finding of irregularity and inadequacy of price—Sale if must be held bad as matter of law The fact that the proclamation of sale was affixed in the Collectorate less than 30 days before the date of sale in contravention of the provisions of s 6 of Act XI of 1859, does not make the sale a nullity. The sale in such a case is a sale under the provisions of the Act and the restrictions imposed by it on the right of the defaulter to have the sale set aside apply. Lala Moharaj Lal v The Secretary of State, 1 L P 11 Calc 200, held not binding by reason of the decision in Tasadduk Rasul v Ahmad Hussain 1 L R 21 Calc 68 and Gobind Lal v Ramyanam 1 L R 21 Calc 70. Where the Court of Appeal below found (i) that the sale proclamation was affixed in the Collectorate within less than 30 days of the sale; (ii) and that the price realised at the sale was inadequate; (iii) but that there was no evidence to connect the inadequacy of the price with the irregularity and dismissed the suit to set aside the sale. Held that it was not open to the High Court in second appeal to hold as a matter of law that the inadequacy of the price was the consequence of the irregularity and the appeal was concluded by the findings of fact of the lower Appellate Court. Semble Per COX, J.—The question whether notice of the proclamation was served in time is part of the larger question whether it has been duly served within the meaning of s 8 of Beng Act VII of 1883. Janhari v Secretary of State 7 C W N 377, Sheikh Mohamed Aga v Jadunandan, 10 C W N 137 Sho Ratan v Aet Lal, 1 L R Calc 1, 6 C W N 638 doubted. GANGADHAR DAS v BHUKARI CHARAN DAS (1911) 16 C W N 227

9 ——— Suit to recover from person in wrongful possession from before sale—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), s 54—Purchaser of share of revenue paying estate—Limitation A purchaser at a revenue sale of a share in a revenue paying estate is not a person claiming from or through the defaulter but rather adversely to him and under a paramount title. A person who has not acquired title as against the defaulter,

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

by adverse possession for the full statutory period cannot resist the purchaser's suit for recovery unless his possession has been adverse to the purchasers for the statutory period. Kalamand Singh v Sarajaf Hosen, 12 C W N 528, not followed. BILAS CHANDRA MUKERJEE v ARSHOY KUMAR DAS (1912) 16 C W N 587

10 ——— Purchase by mortgagee in execution of his mortgage decree of the mortgaged property—Subsequent arrears of revenue and sale for such arrears—Liability of purchaser in execution of decree of Civil Court—Rights of purchaser at sale for arrears of revenue S. 54 of Act XI of 1859 enacts that when a share of an estate is sold "the purchaser shall acquire the share subject to all incumbrances and shall not acquire any rights which were not possessed by the previous owner. On 9th August 1886 a mortgage was granted in favour of the respondent over a certain share in 4 out of 71 villages. On 31st May he obtained a decree on his mortgage which was made absolute on 19th December 1899. He executed his decree and a sale took place on 19th March 1900 at which the respondent himself became the purchaser. On 26th March an instalment of Government revenue on the 71 villages fell into arrear, and the whole residuary share of 71 villages including the 4 villages purchased by the respondent, was notified for sale. The respondent did not pay the revenue due but on 23rd April he obtained a certificate confirming the sale of 19th March in execution of his decree. On 6th June 1900 the whole of the villages was sold for arrears of revenue and was purchased by the predecessor in title of the appellant. In a suit against the respondent for the share purchased at the execution sale—Held by the Judicial Committee (reversing the execution of the High Court) that the sale in execution of the mortgage decree took effect from the actual date of the sale and not from its confirmation and, therefore, from 19th March 1900 the respondent by his purchase became the proprietor of the estate sold and not merely the purchaser of such right, title and interest in it as the mortgagor might have had. He was, therefore notwithstanding the provisions of s 54 of Act XI of 1859 (which in fact rather confirmed the view taken) not in a position to maintain as against himself or as against third parties unconnected with mortgage transactions upon the property, the position that his mortgage still remained an incumbrance thereon. That incumbrance had become extinct by the mortgagee's overriding right when he became complete owner of the lands. To keep it alive as the respondent sought to do, would introduce confusion into the mechanism of transfer and insecurity into the rights in immovable property which were not warranted by the Act. BEHARI KUMAR v MATHURA PRASAD SINGH, (1912) 1 L R 40 Calc 89

11 ——— Share of estate not sold at auction—Payment of arrears by defaulting proprietor—Subsequent payment by co-sharer—Priority between depositors—Suit to set aside sale—Revenue Sale Act (XI of 1859) ss 13, 14, 33, 53 In respect of a certain low numerical separate accounts had been opened in the Collectors' register. The plaintiff had an interest in separate account No. 262, the 1st defendant in No. 168

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

and the 2nd defendant in No 222. Several of those accounts fell into arrears and among them was No 222 and a residuary share No 222, which formed the subject matter of the present suit, was, among others, advertised to be put up for sale, on the 20th September, 1909, but as no bid was received the Collector, under s. 14 of Act XI of 1859, declared that the entire estate would be put up for sale at a future date, unless the other sharer or sharers paid up the arrears within 10 days. On the 21st and 25th September 1909, the 1st defendant paid into the Treasury the whole of the arrears in respect of all the various accounts including No 222 and the residuary share. On the 30th September 1909, the plaintiff deposited into the Treasury the arrears due on some of the accounts including No 222, but exempting the residuary share. Subsequently, the Collector declared the defendant No 1 purchaser of the estates represented by the various separate accounts. On appeal to the Commissioner the decision of the Collector was upheld and the sale confirmed on the 9th February 1910. Thereafter the 1st defendant took possession of the several properties and on the 21st December 1910, he conveyed the same by sale to the 3rd defendant. On the 7th February 1911, the plaintiff presented his plaint for recovery of possession of No 222 and in the alternative for the possession of the half share in it but owing to the plaint being insufficiently stamped, time to pay in the proper court fee was granted to the plaintiff with the compliance of the defendants. At the expiry of such time some holidays intervened and it was not till the 2nd March 1911, that the plaint was actually filed. The District Judge having decreed the suit, the 3rd defendant alone appealed to the High Court. Held, that the question of limitation could not now be raised, but it is improper for a Court to extend the period of limitation for the institution of a suit merely for the convenience of the plaintiff. Held, further, that there could be no doubt that the 2nd defendant was the real purchaser both in the purchase by the 1st defendant in September 1909 and in the sale by the 1st defendant to the 3rd defendant in December 1910. Held, further, that in s. 14 of the Revenue Sales Act, 1859, the words "other recorded sharer must mean a recorded sharer of a share other than the share exposed for sale." Quære. Whether the Legislature intended to exclude a defaulting sharer of a share exposed for sale from purchasing such share under s. 14. Held, further, that the estate could only be sold if the whole of it was in arrears, and that it could not be said that the plaintiff's deposit was insufficient without proof of that fact. Held, further, that as soon as the payment was made the purchase was complete and there was nothing left for any one else to buy and that the Collector was bound to recognize the depositor who first paid the whole amount or if there were more depositors than one to recognize as joint purchasers those whose payments first amounted to the total arrears due. Debi Pershad v. Akho Koer & C. W. A. 465, referred to. Held further, that the suit was barred by s. 33 of the Revenue Sales Act 1859. Gosain Chaturbhooj Das v. Ishar Mul, I L R 21 Cal 841 and Gobind Lal Roy v. Ramjanam Misser, I L R 21 Cal 70, followed. RAHURTA SAMBHO KHAR v. HARINAR PHARAD (1914). I. L. R. 41 Cal 1092.

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

12. ———— Setting aside sale—Irregularity—Arrears under Act XI of 1859 paid—Embankment charges due—Sale under Act XI of 1859 as for arrears of revenue instead of under Public Demands Recovery Act (Beng Act I of 1895 as amended by Beng Act I of 1897)—Embankment Act (Beng Act II of 1892). In this case the High Court set aside a sale for arrears of revenue, holding that where the Collector had acknowledged payment in full of the arrears of land revenue of which the sale had been advertised, and had elected to proceed by certificate procedure against an arrear of different character, and had already directed a sale under that procedure, he could not turn round and treat the arrear under the certificate as an arrear of land revenue without any notice to the parties under s. 6, and proceed to sell under the land revenue proclamation on the mere ground that no special exemption had been passed. The embankment charges ordered to be levied under the Certificate Act (Beng Act I of 1890 as amended by Beng Act I of 1897) were taken out of the purview of Act XI of 1859 unless and until fresh notices were issued under s. 6, and they could not be treated as arrears of land revenue. The sale therefore, not being for an arrear of land revenue, was liable to be set aside. An appeal from that decision was dismissed by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee, who said they saw no reason to interfere with it. DURGA CHANDRA BOSE v. HARI DAS DIXI (1914). I. L. R. 42 Cal. 765.

13. ———— *Setting aside sale—Defect in specification of property to be sold in notification of sale—Jinali share in property where there are many separate accounts opened—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859) ss. 6, 10, 11, 13, 33—Inadequacy of price caused by want of proper specification of the property for sale. The jinali or joint share in a mahal in which 148 of the owners of specific but undivided shares had obtained from the Collector separation of accounts under ss. 10 and 11 of Act XI of 1859 was put up to sale for arrears of revenue, and purchased by the respondent. In the notification under ss. 6 and 13 of the Act, the specification of the share to be sold was in the following terms:—"Jinali share which cannot be specified excluding the separate accounts, number—". Then followed a list of the 148 separate accounts referred to and at the end it was stated that "All other shares besides that specified are excluded from the sale. And the entry in column 5 (the specification column) was "The jinali share cannot be particularised owing to separate accounts having been opened. The shares to be sold are those given in a separate sheet after excluding the shares in respect of which the separate accounts had been opened." In a suit to set aside the sale—Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the notification of sale was insufficient and irregular and not in compliance with the requirements of the law. Each case must depend on its own particular facts, and what had to be considered was whether, having regard to all the circumstances, the specification was sufficiently clear to induce likely buyers to appear and bid at the sale. It was not enough that they might go and obtain the requisite information from the Collector's office; the particulars in the notice should be sufficient in themselves to* tell purchasers what they were invited to bid for Held, also, on the evidence, that the property had been sold at an inadequate price, and that the lowness of the price was due to the defectiveness of the specification of the property to be sold in the notification of sale, which was not merely an irregularity but a defect that rendered the sale void PANANSHWAR PRASAD SINGH v BALWANT RAM GOENKA (1915)

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

I L R 42 Calc 897

14 ——— Purchaser of a share—Meaning of the words, "the purchaser shall not acquire any rights which were not possessed by the previous owner or owners"—Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), s 54 At a sale under s. 13 of Act XI of 1859 it is not the rights of the recorded proprietor that pass, but the share itself. The policy of the revenue law is to protect the revenue and make the share on which the revenue is assessed available for the arrears of revenue due upon it. Debi Das Chowdhury v Byro Charan Ghosal, I L R 22 Calc 611, followed Banolata Das v Monmaha Nath Goswami, 11 C W N 821, Kumar Kaland Singh v Syed Sarafat Hussain, 12 C W N 528, Rahmuddi Muvashi v Lalini Kanta Lahiri, 13 C W N 407, Balas Chandra Mulcrjee v Ashoy Kumar Das, 16 C W N 557, Bhawani Koor v Mathura Prasad, 7 C L J 1, Ananda Prasad Chose v Rajendra Kumar Ghose, I L R 29 Calc 223, and Gungadeen Muser v. Kheeroo Mundal, 14 B L R referred to KHEMESHI CHANDRA RAESHIT v ABDUL HAMID SIKDAR (1915)

I L R 43 Calc 46

15 ——— Adverse possession—Limitation—Incumbrance—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch 1, Arts 121, 122, 124—Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (I of 1880), ss 70, 71 In a suit for the possession and mesne profits in respect of certain lands purchased by the plaintiffs at a sale for arrears of Government revenue, the defendants contended that they had been in adverse possession of the said lands for a long time, that their occupation was in the nature of an incumbrance and that the plaintiffs were not entitled to avoid the same —Held, that the interest which the defendants acquired was an incumbrance within the meaning of Art 121 and the suit was barred by limitation Karmi Khan v Brojo Nath Das, I L R 22 Calc 214 and Ajfer Chandra Pal Chowdhury v. Rajendra Lal Goswami, I L R 23 Calc 167, approved Amar Kaland Singh v Syed Sarafat Hussain, 12 C W N 528, and Rahmuddi Muvashi v Lalini Kanta Lahiri, 13 C W N 407, distinguished PRASAKNA KUMAR DUTT v NARENDRA KUMAR DUTT (1915)

I L R 43 Calc. 779

16 ——— Co-owners of a share of estate subject to usufructuary mortgage—Mortgagee in possession, undertaking by, to pay revenue—Default deliberately made by agents of minor mortgagee—Purchase at sale for arrears by mortgagee's agents—Estate purchaser—Fiduciary relation between mortgagee and mortgagees—Suit by other co-owners to set aside sale—Terms on recovery of property—Contribution towards expenses properly incurred by mortgagee—Duty of counsel in ex parte case—Entry Council, practice of, Of 12 annas share of revenue paying estate, a 3 annas share belonged to the plaintiffs (respondents) subject to a usufructuary mortgage of that share for the benefit of the defendant (appellant) a minor who, as mortgagee in possession, undertook (as was stipulated in the mortgage deed) to pay the revenue to Government for the mortgaged share. The remaining nine annas belonged to others of the plaintiffs. In June 1905, a sum of Rs 3, annas 8 in excess of the quota payable was paid on the mortgagee's behalf by his agents. In September 1906 only 1 s 0 instead of Rs 12 was so paid, and that left a balance owing which in due course amounted to an arrear within the meaning of Act XI of 1859 and to recover this arrear the 12 annas estate was sold by the Collector on 20th March 1907 and purchased by the agents benami on behalf of the mortgagee defendant. The High Court, reversing the judgment of the Subordinate Judge who had dismissed the suit, found that the purchase was fraudulent, while their Lordships of the Judicial Committee acquitted the minor of any personal misconduct in relation to the default or sale, and were of opinion that regarding the position as a whole it led to the conclusion that the revenue was intentionally allowed by the agents to fall into arrear with a view to the property being put up for sale and bought on behalf of the minor Held, that the arrear which occasioned the sale was due to the insufficient payment made in respect of the three annas share, and this was none the less the result of the default of those interested in that share because an excess payment had been made in June 1903, that had been long absorbed and had ceased to be an excess credit in the ledger. However free from personal blame the minor may have been, he could not profit by his agents' deliberate default committed in breach of the terms of his mortgage. As against his mortgagees, therefore the mortgagee could not be allowed to hold for himself any advantage gained by the default for which his agents were responsible, nor could he be permitted to hold such advantage to the prejudice of the co-owners. Doorga Singh v Sheo Jeehad Singh, I L J 16 Calc 191, dissented from Fauzer Rahman v Maimuna Khatun, 17 C W N 1233 approved. The mortgagee here through his representatives had a duty to perform which was inconsistent with his becoming a purchaser in the way he did: his title, therefore, could not operate to the exclusion of his co-owners. It was no answer to say that Act XI of 1859 contemplates a purchase by a co-sharer. The sale would stand, but under the circumstances the transaction was in effect nothing more than payment of an arrear for the benefit of all. But that gave a right to contribution so that it must be a term of granting the plaintiff's equitable relief that they should contribute to the expenses properly incurred by or for the mortgagee in the purchase of the property. Where an appeal is heard ex parte it is the duty of counsel to bring to the notice of the Court adverse as well as favourable authorities. DEO NARAYAN PRASAD v JANKI SINGH (1916)

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

I L R 41 Calc. 573

17 ——— Defaulter—Defaulter—Assam Land Revenue Regulation (I of 1880), ss 63, 67, 68—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch 1, Arts 121, 122 Where persons are in actual possession of a part of the estate sold for arrears of revenue under the Assam Land and Revenue Regulation they are defaulters by reason of a 67 Ajfar Ali v. Dorendro Kulkarni Poy Chowdhury,

SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE—contd

24 C. L. J. 60, referred to. A suit for recovery of possession brought within 12 years from the date on which the Collector gave symbolical possession to the purchasers, is within time. Mosaffer Wahid v. Abbas Samad, 6 C. L. R. 639 followed. S. 63 cannot be construed as restricted to persons who profess to hold the land as included in the estate sold for arrears of revenue. MATRU CHANDRA CHOWDHURY v. PITARI LAL DAS (1916) 1 L. R. 44 Calc 412

18 ——— Notification of Sale—publication of—Act XI of 1859, ss 6 and 33—"Calcutta Gazette," the "Official Gazette" within the meaning of s 6—Non-publication in Urfia Vernacular Government Gazette not an illegality in sale proceedings—Grounds for annulling sale under s 33 of Act XI of 1859. The provisions of s 6 of Act XI of 1859 are, for the purpose of notifying a sale for arrears of revenue under the Act sufficiently complied with by the publication of the notification of sale in the Calcutta Gazette, which is the "Official Gazette" within the meaning of that section on its proper interpretation. Where a sale has been so notified the non-publication of the notification of sale in the Urfia Vernacular Government Gazette is not an illegality which renders the sale "contrary to the provisions of the Act," and is therefore not a ground for setting it aside under s 33. SHARFUDDIN HOSSEIN v. RADHA CHAMAN DAS (1918) 1 L. R. 48 Calc 255

19 ——— Act XI of 1859—secs 2 and 3—Bengal Act (VII of 1858)—Tenures in Dihl Panchannogram—Board's Notification regard time for sale, effect of—Sale for arrears of revenue when premature and ultra vires—Date of payment of revenue. The effect of the Notification of the Board of Revenue, dated the 6th October 1871, is that no holding can be sold till after the 23rd June next after the first day of the month following the month in which the revenue or rent should have been paid. The date on which the revenue is payable depends primarily not on general or administrative considerations such as the course of business in the Collectorate or the mode in which the accounts are kept but on the contract between the parties. Where a tenure was held under a kahulyat, dated the 10th November 1862, containing a stipulation to pay rent year by year in Dihl Panchannogram to which by virtue of Bengal Act VII of 1868 Act XI of 1859 was applicable, and the tenure was sold for arrears of revenue of 1914 and 1915 on the 17th May 1915, it was held that the sale was premature and ultra vires and conferred no title on the purchaser as the current demand for 1914-1915 was not payable till the 10th November 1914 so that the tenure could not be sold before the 23rd June 1915. MANMATHO NATH MULLICK v. MAHAMED SOLEMAN 26 C. W. N. 140

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

1 L. R. 40 Calc. 635

See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT

1 L. R. 45 Calc 780

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII of 1885), ss. 83, 159

1 L. R. 43 Calc 178

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908), s 47

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908.

s. 115, O XXI, s. 83

1 L. R. 43 Bom. 735

O XXI, s. 83 1 L. R. 40 Bom. 557

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

See EXECUTION SALE—

See PARTIES 1 L. R. 89 Calc 881

See SALE—

——— duty of Courts in India in conducting—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908), O XXI s. 66

1 L. R. 38 Mad 397

——— incorrect entry in sale notification—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

1 L. R. 37 Calc 407

1 ——— Caveat emptor doctrine of—Sale in execution of decree—Fiduciary of purchase money, suit for—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss 313-315 Under s 313 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), a purchaser can apply to have a sale set aside on the ground that the person whose property purported to be sold, had no saleable interest therein. The doctrine of caveat emptor has not the same effect under the Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 as under the old Code (VIII of 1859). Dorab Ali Khan v. Executors of Khajsh Mohomeddeen, 1 L. R. 8 Calc 806, and Bowdaminet Choudhrai v. Kishor Kishore Poddar, 12 W. R. 8 F. B. distinguished. Under s 315 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) a suit lies to recover purchase money paid at a Court sale for property to which the judgment-debtor had no title or saleable interest. Haz Doyal Singh Poy v. Shesh Samundin & O. W. N. 240, and Asitnund Roy v. Jugut Chandra Ghosh, 7 C. W. N. 105, followed. RAM KUMAR SHANU v. RAM GOUR SHANU (1909) 1 L. R. 37 Calc 67

But See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882, s 315

1 L. R. 25 All. 419

2. ——— Fresh proclamation—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI of 1882) ss 287, 291—Execution-sale proclaimed by July 13th, and held on July 20th without fresh proclamation—Sale upheld. A sale in execution was not in contravention of ss 287 and 291, Civil Procedure Code, merely because, having been proclaimed to be held at the monthly sale commencing on July 13th, it was not held till July 20th and then without a fresh proclamation. It appeared that July 13th was the day on which the monthly sales were to commence, that owing to the preaking officer's absence they did not actually begin till the 17th, that on that day a postponement was refused and that the monthly sale was continued on the 20th. RANG LAL SINGH v. RAVANESHWAR PERNHAD SINGH (1911) 1 L. R. 38 I. A. 200

3. ——— Claim or objection—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 47, O XXI, s 58 s 115—Claim or objection by purchaser during attachment in execution of money-decree, if may be entertained—High Court, Revisional jurisdiction exercised on appeal where order was without jurisdiction. Where after the attachment of the judgment-debtor's property in execution of a money decree, the property was sold in execution of a mortgage decree and the purchasers applied to the Court for exempting the property from sale. Held, that the purchase being subsequent to the attachment, the application could not be treated as a claim or objection under O XXI, r 53 of the Civil Procedure Code. That as the purchasers were really setting up an antagonistic title based on their purchase, they could not be said to be representatives of the judgment debtors for the purposes of s 47 of the Code. An order exempting the property from sale on the application of the purchasers, not being contemplated by any provision in the Code was without jurisdiction and can be set aside by the High Court in revision. MAHADEO LAL v DARSAN GOPE (1910) 15 C W N 512

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

4 ———— *Fraud—Execution sale—Suit to set aside as collusive and fraudulent, after application refused under s 311, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1908)—Bona fide purchaser allegation of—Misrepresentation by judgment debtor's pleader—Auction-purchaser is to be held responsible—Concurrent findings of fraud, reversed. In a suit to set aside an auction sale on the ground that it was brought about by the fraud of the decree holder and the judgment-debtor, it being alleged further that the auction purchaser was a besamdar of the judgment debtor, it was found that the debt and the decree of the decree holder were genuine, that the property was purchased by the auction purchaser who was a man of substance out of his own funds which thereupon went to pay off the judgment debtor's creditors. Held, on the evidence, that the allegation of fraud and conspiracy made against the auction purchaser had not been brought home to him, and that, under all the circumstances, there was no sufficient ground for setting aside a sale confirmed by the Court after prompt local enquiry and forfinishing on the auction purchaser a forfeiture of the considerable purchase money paid by him out of his own funds. Held, further, that if the allegation that the plaintiff's men were dissuaded from bidding at the sale by the pleader for the judgment debtor falsely assuring them that he had instructions to apply for a postponement, was true, the auction purchaser could not be held responsible for the misrepresentation. The concurrent judgments of the Courts in India holding the sale to be fraudulent and collusive reversed. BISHUN CHAND BACHHAOT v BHOJ SINGH DUDHURIA (1911) 15 C W N 648*

5 ———— *Understatement of value, if fraud—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) s 13, Sch 1, Art 166—Sale before Act, new or old Act applicable—General Clauses Act (V of 1897), s 6 Per COKE, J (TEUCON, J, expressing no opinion). An understatement of value in the sale proclamation cannot by itself justify an inference of fraud on the part of the decree-holder. See s 18 of the Limitation Act does not apply to a case in which the fraud is antecedent to the accrual of the right. Purna Chandra Mandal v Anukul Biswas, I L R 38 Cal 651, Rukmabai Hobibhoy v C 1 Turner, I L R 17 Bom. 341, referred to. Held, that s 13 can apply only to such fraud as amounts to concealment and is intended to keep from the injured party the knowledge of the wrong or its remedy. The section therefore can have no application* where the fraud alleged by a party applying to set aside an execution sale is understatement of the value of the properties in the sale proclamation. The burden of proving fraud lies on the applicant. See s 18 of the Limitation Act. An application to set aside on the ground of fraud an execution sale held prior to the coming into operation of Act IX of 1908 will be governed by Art 166 of Sch 1 of that Act if made after that Act came into operation. S 6 of the General Clauses Act does not preserve the right the applicant had to apply within three years from the date of the sale. RAIKISHORI DASIA v MUKUNDA LAL DUTT (1911) 15 C W N 985

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

6 ———— *Agreement between judgment-debtor and decree-holder, before confirmation, setting aside sale—Auction purchaser, if bound—“Party—Right to object—Right of appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, rr 23, 90, 92, s 148—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s 5—Extension of time to deposit decretal money etc., to set aside sale. Where, after the sale of a property in execution of a decree but before confirmation thereof, the decree holder consented to the sale being set aside on payment of the decretal amount by the judgment-debtor, and the payment was made and certified in Court. Held, that this did not preclude the auction purchaser, whose right is independent of that of the decree holder, from asking for confirmation of the sale in his own right. He would also, if his application were rejected, be entitled to appeal from that decision, being a party prejudicially affected by that order. See Purna Chandra v Doorga Prasad, 3 Shome 104, commented on. The High Court has no power to extend the time allowed to the judgment debtor by O 21, r 92 sub r (2) to deposit the decretal amount, etc., with a view to setting aside the sale, either under s 5 Limitation Act, or under s 148 Civil Procedure Code. SHAROFAN v MAHOMED HABIBUDDIN (1911) 15 C W N 685*

7 ———— *Application to set aside—Limitation Act IX of 1908 s 18, Sch. 1, Art. 16—Fraud employed to bring about sale, if may save bar of limitation—Fraudulent concealment, what amounts to—Fraud, plea of—Proof. When an application to set aside an execution sale was made more than 30 days after the sale, but it was urged that s 18 of the Limitation Act applied to the case. Held, that the fraud which it is necessary to prove to bring the case within s 18 of the Limitation Act may have occurred prior to the sale—for fraud, at any rate of the nature generally employed in bringing about an illegal sale, is a continuing influence and until that influence ends, it retains its power of mischief. Purna Chandra Mandal v Anukul Biswas I L R 38 Cal 651, explained. Rukmabai Hobibhoy v Turner, I L R 17 Bom 341, referred to. Fraud is not to be lightly charged or lightly found especially in cases of applications to set aside an execution sale, where this reserve is too often neglected. Misstatement of value, if it can be described as fraud, does not constitute fraudulent concealment, and non publication of sale proclamation in the mofussil even if it exposes the sale to attack at the instance of the judgment-debtor, would not by itself bring the case under s 18 of the Limitation Act, unless it is shown that the judgment debtor has, by means of fraud*

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

of which the decree-holder was guilty or to which he was accessory been kept from the knowledge of his right NARAYAN SAHU v. MONAHAN DAMODAR DAS (1912) 13 C W N 894

3 ———— Deposit—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 89—Previous purchaser of property not affected by the sale, if may apply to make deposit—Condition of deposit if valid—Withdrawal of condition, effect of—Deposit not made on the last day owing to absence of Judge—Effect Where on the last day allowed by law to make a deposit under r 89 of O XXI of the Civil Procedure Code for the purpose of setting aside a sale, the petitioner owing to the presiding officers having left the Court earlier than usual was unable to make the required deposit. Held, that the petition and the deposit were properly received on the next day, as no act of the Court itself ought to be allowed to prejudice the position of the petitioner. A conditional deposit is not a good deposit under r 89, O XXI, but where the petitioner withdrew the condition the moment the decree-holder auction purchaser objected. Held, that there were no sufficient grounds under the circumstances to treat the deposit as invalid. R 89 O XXI, does not confer a right to make deposit to a person who had purchased the property. Id so far back from the date of the sale and the execution proceedings that his interest was not affected by the sale. DILIPY MATURA DAS KOER v. DASSI DAS SINGH (1911) 13 C W N 894

9 ———— Setting aside Sale—Application to set aside sale by some of the judgment debtors, if whole sale can be set aside—Sale proclamation, gross understatement of value by decree holder, if by itself vitiates sale—If error by judgment debtor of fresh sale proclamation, if amounts to waiver of other irregularities Where a decree was obtained jointly against several persons and their respective liabilities were not ascertained thereon, and the decree holder proceeding against jointly had their property sold in execution. Held that upon good cause shown the whole sale should be set aside although only some of the judgment debtors applied within time to set aside the sale. The application of the other judgment debtors though made out of time could very well be treated as applications to be added as parties to the previous application of their co-judgment debtors having regard to the fact that all the applications were tried together and were thus virtually consolidated. Where on the date fixed for the sale of immovable property in execution of a decree, the judgment-debtor applied for a postponement and agreed that if the decree was not paid up by the adjourned date the sale might be held without the issue of fresh proclamation, and the decree not having been paid up the sale took place on the adjourned date. Held that in the absence of evidence to show that they were aware of the contents of the sale proclamation it could not be said that the judgment debtor had waived any irregularities in the sale proclamation which contained a gross understatement of the value of the attached properties. Chudhary Singh v. Hurda Narain, L R 3 I A, 251; 20 H R 44, Arunachalam v. Arunachalam L. J. 13 I A 171, I L R 12 Mad 19, distinguished. Where with the object of securing a very valuable property for the smallest possible

I L R EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

price, the decree holder grossly understated its value in the sale proclamation with the consequence that he was able to purchase the property without competition at a fraction of its real price. Held that the deliberate understatement of value in the sale proclamation was by itself a sufficient ground for vacating the sale. Sudan Mand Khon v. Pahl Kwar, I L R 20 All 412, I R 25 I A 146; 2 C B N 650, followed. Abdul Hashem v. Benode Lal, 12 C B N 757, not followed. KARLAVEND THAKUR v. PIRTHI CHAND LAL (MOWDTRY) (1911) 18 C W N 704

10 ———— *Setting aside sale—Material irregularity, allegation of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), r 287 288—Proclamation of sale—Sale fixed to take place at monthly sales, naming date, place and hour of commencement of such sales—Absence of presiding officer—A sale in execution of a decree was adjourned from 16th May until 13th July, and in the fresh proclamation of sale issued it was notified that in the absence of any order of postponement the sale would be held at "monthly sales commencing at 6 o'clock on the morning of 13th July 1903 at Monghyr." Owing to the absence of the presiding officer from the station, the monthly sales did not begin until 17th July, and in the course of them the sale in question was held on the 20th. On an application under s 311 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1902) to set aside the sale on the ground of "material irregularity" within the meaning of ss 287 and 291 of the Code. Held (affirming the decision of the Courts in India), that in holding the sale on 20th July the Court had not acted in contravention of the provisions of the Code, and there had been no "material irregularity" in publishing or conducting the sale. HANS LAL SINGH v. PAVANESHWAR PERNAB SINGH (1911)*

I L R 39 Cal 26

11 ———— Description of property in schedule to execution proceeding—Confirmation of sale—Order granting certificate of sale of property different from that described in schedule—Illeged mistake—Order set aside as having been made without jurisdiction Certain property to be sold under a decree was described in the schedule to the application for execution, and in the proclamation of sale as a six anna share of a mahal subject to an existing mortgage and after the sale had been confirmed the auction purchaser applied for a certificate of sale and, alleging, that a mistake had been made in the schedule by the omission of the word "not," asked to have the purchased property declared in the certificate to be a six-anna share of the mahal not encumbered by the mortgage. The alleged mistake was stated to have been corrected before the sale by an advertisement in the Calcutta Gazette. The Subordinate Judge granted a certificate of sale in that form, and his order was upheld by the High Court. Held (reversing those decisions), that what is sold at a judicial sale can be nothing but the property attached, which in this case was the property described in the schedule in the execution proceedings. It was not a case of misdescription which might have been treated as an irregularity. Identity and not description had here to be dealt with. An existing property was accurately described in the schedule and the order of the Subordinate Judge granted a sale certificate which stated that another and a different property had been purchased at the judicial sale. If by mistake the wrong property was attached and sold, the only course was for the decree holders to commence the execution proceedings over again. The advertisement in the Ozette purporting to correct the alleged mistake could not validate a sale of property which was not that to which the attachment related. The order of the Subordinate Judge was made without jurisdiction as there was no power to sell in the judicial proceedings the property which the certificate of sale declared had been purchased. Their Lordships set aside the order confirming the sale together with the sale certificate granted thereunder. THAKUR BAHADUR JIBAN RAM MAHWARE (1913)

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

I L R 41 Cal 590

12 ———— *Sale certificate—Purchaser at suit for rent by, after registration, under Land Registration Act—Decree obtained thereon, sale in execution of—Purchase by decree holder—Certificate sale subsequently cancelled—Rent-decree and sale, if thereby reversed A, having purchased property at a sale under the Public Demands Recovery Act, on 7th September 1908 sold it to B, who duly obtained a sale certificate from the revenue authorities, was placed in possession and had his name registered under the Land Registration Act. B then sued the tenant on the property for rent and obtained an ex parte decree in execution whereof the tenore was sold and purchased by the decree holder himself on 20th November 1909. The sale under the Public Demands Recovery Act was cancelled on 29th March 1910 on the ground that no notice had been served under s. 109 of the Act and that the proceedings were invalid and inoperative in consequence; Held, that the rent decree and sale thereunder which were duly and regularly had at the instance of a stranger who had no concern with the irregularities in connection with the certificate sale were not affected by the reversal of the certificate sale. NAGENDRA NATH BOSE v. PARBATI CHAMAN (1914) . 20 C W. N 819*

13 ———— It holds good when ex-parte decree set aside where property has been assigned by decree-holder purchaser to stranger—Decree subsequently passed of validates sale—Court's power to take notice of facts which have occurred since institution of proceedings The assignee from the decree holder who has purchased property in execution of his own decree is in no better position than his assignor, and the sale is set aside when the decree is set aside even when the decree holder has sold the property to a stranger. Satis Chandra v. Ramswari, 20 C W N 655, followed. As soon as an ex parte decree is set aside, the sale, where the decree-holder is the purchaser, falls through and is not validated by a fresh decree subsequently made. See Umedmal v. Srinath Roy, 1 L R 27 Cal 310, see 40 W N 692; Hazari Mull v. Jannak Prasad 6 C L J 92, and Pirm Yead v. Bindwari, 6 C L J 102, distinguished, the decree in those cases though temporarily set aside having been ultimately maintained. It is well settled that the Court may, in order to shorten litigation or to do complete justice between the parties, take notice of events which have happened since the institution of the proceedings and may afford relief to the parties on the basis of the altered conditions. ABDUL RAHAMAN v. SARAFAT ALI (1915)

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd

20 C W. N 667

14 ———— Sale in execution, when to be set aside when decree set aside—Decree holder purchaser—Purchase by stranger from latter before decree set aside—Equity The Court as a matter of policy has a tender regard for honest purchasers at sales held in execution of its decree, though the decree may be subsequently set aside, where those purchasers were not parties to the suit and the decree had not been passed without jurisdiction. But the same measure of protection is not extended to purchasers who are themselves the decree holders nor can purchasers from such decree holders claim that the Court owes them any duty or to be within the policy which prompts the extension of protection to strangers, since they have bought from one whose title is liable to be defeated. See Ismail Pancher v. Rajab Rauter, 1 L R 30 Mad 235, dissented from by SATISH CHANDRA GHOSH v. RAMESHARI DASSI (1914)

20 C W N 665

15 ———— If void or voidable when decree fraudulent—Suit to set aside decree barred by limitation—Sale if may be vacated A sale in execution of a fraudulent decree is not a void but a voidable sale till vacated by an appropriate proceeding, the rights created thereby are effective. Such a sale cannot be set aside without setting aside the decree, consequently where the right to have the decree set aside as fraudulent has become barred by limitation no decree can be made setting aside the sale only as made in execution of a fraudulent decree. Ram Sarayan v. Shew Bhujyan 1 L R 27 Cal 197, distinguished Raj Kumar Sarkel v. Raj Kumar Mali (1915)

20 C W N 652

16 ———— Sale of pawns in execution of decree for arrears of rent—Purchaser, if liable for arrears previous to confirmation of sale The plaintiff purchased a pawns taluq at a sale held in execution of a decree for arrears of rent due thereon. Some of the pawnholders applied to set aside the sale and while the proceedings for setting aside the sale were pending the zemindar brought the suit against the recorded pawnholders for arrears of rent subsequent to the period covered by the decree in execution of which the sale was held at which the plaintiffs purchased the taluq. The plaintiffs were made parties to this suit which was decreed and in execution of the decree the pawns was put up for sale and the plaintiffs whose purchase at the previous sale had been by that time finally confirmed deposited the decretal amount and saved the pawns from sale. Held, that in the absence of anything to denote the contrary, a sale of a tenure held in execution of a decree for its own arrears of rent passes it free from liability for previous arrears and the plaintiffs were not liable for the arrears of rent for the period to the date of confirmation of sale at which they purchased the pawns. MATHURA MOHAN SABA v. NABIN CHANDRA DUTY (1916)

20 C W. N 749

17 ———— Hindu Joint Family—Decree against father of joint mistakshara family—Suit by sons the other members of the family to have it declared that their shares were not affected by the sale under mortgage decree—Right, title and in-

SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE—concl'd

Interest of judgment debtor—Substance and not technicalities of transaction to be regarded in cases of this kind. In execution of a mortgage decree against the father of a joint mutaksham family who was alone a party to the mortgage the decree and the execution proceedings his two sons the other members of the family objected that only one third of a pattas taluk forming the joint family property could be sold, on the allegation that the debts in respect of which the decree had been made were contracted for illegal and immoral purposes, and the order for sale was amended by adding the words right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor as and containing what was to be sold which expression the Court said was not calculated to affect the case of either party. The property was sold and purchased by the decree holder. In a suit by the sons to have it declared that only one third of the property passed by the sale both Courts in India found that the debts were for legal and necessary purposes. The Subordinate Judge made a decree in the plaintiffs' favour which was reversed by the High Court on appeal. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court) that the proper construction of the order for sale, as amended was that if the plaintiffs succeeded in establishing that the debts had been incurred for immoral purposes only one third of the property would be affected by the sale while if they failed in that contention the whole of the property would be held to have passed by the sale. The expression right title and interest did not limit what was to be sold to a one-third share. In cases of this kind the substance and not the mere technicalities of the transaction should be regarded. Mahabir Pershad v Mohancharan Sahas 1 L R 17 Cal 534, L R 17 I A 11 followed. Sripat Singh Dugar v Prodyot Kumar Tagore (1916) 1 L R 44 Cal 524

18 ——— Benami purchase—Purchase on behalf of another person—Certified purchaser—Agreement to convey made after sale to carry out agreement made before sale—Civil Procedure Code, 1908 s 66 sub s (1) s 68 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 sub s (1) enacts that no suit shall be maintained against any person claiming title under a purchase certified by the Court in such manner as may be prescribed on the ground that the purchase was made on behalf of the plaintiff, or on behalf of some one through whom the plaintiff claims. The appellant purchased at an execution sale certain immovable property which he had before the sale agreed with the respondents to convey to them. After the sale agreements were made by which the appellant bound himself to carry out the original agreement with the respondents. In suits by the respondents against the appellant for specific performance the defence was that the suits were barred by s 68 sub s (1). Held that the fresh agreements made after the sale, though carrying out those made before the sale were not affected by s 68 and the suits were therefore not barred. Chetalappa v Jalappa (1919) 1 L R 42 Mad 615 approved. Vadivelu Mudaliyar v Peria Marikka Mudaliyar (1920)

1 L R 43 Mad. (PC) 643

SALE OF GOODS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 20

1 L R 28 All 308

SALE OF GOODS—concl'dSee CONTRACT

1 L R 43 Cal 77

L L R 47 Cal 458

1 L R 45 Bom 129, 1232

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872—ss 55 AND 63 1 L R 43 All 237

ss 76 to 123

s 103. 1 L R 40 Bom. 630

——— contract for—Stamp duty on—

See STAMP DUTY 1 L R 39 Cal 669

——— re-sale on purchasers default—

See CONTRACT

1 L R 39 Cal 568

——— return of rejected goods

See CONTRACT

1 L R 35 All 325

——— Warranty of fitness for purpose for which bought—

See CONTRACT

15 C W. N 981

1. ——— Contract for forward monthly deliveries—Construction—Anticipatory breach—Measure of damages. In a contract, dated June 4th, for the purchase of 300 tons of Java sugar it was stipulated shipments to be made by steamers during July to December 1914 the agreement to be construed as a separate contract in respect of each shipment. Without giving any delivery, on the 18th August the sellers repudiated the contract. In an action for breach of contract brought by the buyer on the 26th August claiming damages in respect of the whole contract for 300 tons: Held, that on the true construction of the contract the buyer had the right to demand delivery of the goods by separate shipments spread over the months from July to December, and the true measure of damages was the aggregate of the differences between the contract price and the market price at the appointed times of delivery in each month. Roper v Johnson, L R 8 C P 167, Wertheim v Chicoutimi Pulp Co. (1911) A C 301 Frost v Knight L R 7 Ex 111 and Brown v Muller L R 7 Ex 319, referred to. Per MOOREHEAD J.—In the circumstances of the case the instalments must be deemed to have been intended to be distributed ratably over the period appointed for the delivery of the whole quantity of the goods. Calamassini v Davalos Iron Co. 47 L J Q B 575 Coddington v Paleologos L R 2 Ex 193 referred to. Thornton v Simpson 6 Taunt 530 Taring v O'Riordan 3 L R Ir 50 Colonial Insurance Co. of New Zealand v Adelaide Marine Insurance Co. L R 12 A C 128 cited by MOOREHEAD J.—It being found that the principle applied by the Court of first instance in assessing damages was erroneous but that on the application of the proper principle the damages to be allowed would be larger on the defendant's appeal the Court declined to disturb the judgment or order a remand. BILLASTRAH TRADING CO. v GUNRAY (1916) 1 L R 43 Cal 305

2. ——— C I F Contract—Insurance of goods against war risk without buyer's instruction—Buyer not obliged to pay for such insurance—Payments against documents—Bill of lading must be tendered—Bill of lading, when

SALE OF GOODS—contd

is a—War—Government proclamations prohibiting trading with the enemy—Effect of proclamations on contract, goods shipped in enemy port—Performance of contract becomes illegal On the 8th June 1914 the defendants purchased from the plaintiff, 5 tons round copper bottoms c i f Mahomerah, July shipment, and agreed to pay for the said copper in Bombay on being tendered the bills of lading and other documents in respect thereof. The copper was shipped on board the S S "Tangatan," on or about the 28th July 1914 the plaintiff obtained relative bills of lading and insured the goods against ordinary marine risks. On the 5th August in consequence of war having broken out between Great Britain and Germany the plaintiff's agent in England, although not instructed to do so by the defendants, insured the copper against war risks and paid 10 per cent premium. The documents arrived in Bombay on the 7th September where upon the plaintiff tendered them to the defendants and demanded payment of the invoice price of the goods including the abovementioned extra premium of 10 per cent in respect of insurance against war risks. The defendants refused to pay the amount demanded on the ground that they were not liable to pay the afore said extra premium. Held, that in the absence of express instructions from the defendants to effect insurance against war risks, the defendants were not liable to pay the extra premium. By another contract dated 17th July 1914, the defendants purchased from the plaintiff 900 bags of sugar c i f Mahomerah, July shipment, and agreed to pay for the said sugar in Bombay on being tendered the bills of lading and other documents in respect thereof. The plaintiff got the sugar shipped at Hamburg on the S S "Nicomedia" on the 28th July 1914 and obtained, as he alleged, relative bills of lading in respect thereof and he insured the goods. Subsequently after the documents relating to the said sugar had arrived in Bombay the plaintiff presented them to the defendants and demanded payment but the defendants refused to accept the document or to pay the money on the grounds firstly that by reason of the state of war which existed and the Government proclamations prohibiting trade with the enemy, performance of the contract would be impossible, and secondly, that the documents which the plaintiff presented as bills of lading were not bills of lading and were not therefore the proper documents to be tendered in accordance with the terms of a c i f contract. Held, that in view of the Government proclamations the tender of the shipping documents was not a valid tender and that acceptance of and payment against the said documents would be a violation of the said proclamation. Duncan, Fox & Co v Schrempf and Bonke, (1915) K B 366, followed. Held, also, that a bill of lading as known to merchants is a receipt for goods actually delivered over and shipped on board the ship named therein and signed by the Captain or his representative and that the documents tendered to the defendants as bills of lading were not bills of lading but mere receipts for warehousing or shipment. As such they were no evidence of any shipment and a purchaser under a c i f contract, if tendered such a receipt, would be entitled to ask for a bill of lading, for he is not obliged to pay upon proof merely that the goods had arrived at the port of departure. Nissim Isaac Bekhor v Haji Sultanali Shantary and Co (1915) . I L R 40 Bom 11

SALE OF GOODS—contd.

3 ————— O I F contract —Payment to be made after goods had been landed—Breach of contract—Failure of vendors to deliver bill of lading or goods—Contract of affreightment—
Property consigned on enemy vessel—War declared whilst cargo at sea—Capture of vessel and cargo—Adjudication by Prize Court—Condemnation of vessel—Release of cargo—Effect of war on executory contract—Impossibility of performance—Toid contract—Contract Act (IX of 1872) s 56 On the 2nd February 1914, the defendant firm agreed to sell to the plaintiffs 150 tons of basic steel bars under a c i f contract, free Hooghly. The shipments were to be made in June, July and October and delivery to be completed within three days from the date of the landing of the goods. Furthermore, it was agreed between the parties that 45 days' credit from the date of the delivery of the goods should be allowed to the plaintiffs. In respect of the July shipment, the goods which consisted of partly Belgian and partly German manufacture, were shipped on the 2nd July, 1914, from Antwerp per S S Stensturm, a German steamer. On the 4th August, 1914, when war was declared between England and Germany, the S S Stensturm was at sea. She was subsequently captured with her cargo by a British cruiser and taken to Colombo for adjudication. The Prize Court condemned the vessel but released the cargo which was brought to Calcutta at the expense of Government. The Government thereupon, notified the vendors that the goods had arrived and the latter immediately communicated with the purchasers asking them to take delivery of the goods on payment of certain extra charges to Government. The plaintiffs having refused to do so the goods were sold by the defendants on purchasers' account and risk. In a suit for breach of contract and for damages Held that the variation of the terms as to the time of payment did not alter the nature of the contract as a c i f contract. Held, also, that it was an implied part of the contract of the 2nd February, 1914, that the defendants should procure a contract of affreightment under which the goods would be delivered in the Hooghly. Held, also that the contract between the plaintiffs and the defendants included the performance of an act (viz, the procuring of the contract of affreightment under which the goods would be delivered in the Hooghly) which after the contract was made became impossible by reason of the outbreak of war, within the meaning of s 56 of the Indian Contract Act and consequently the contract of the 2nd February, 1914 was void. MADHURAM HIRDO DAS v G C SATT (1917)

I L R 45 Cal 28

4 ————— Contract under C I F terms—Policy of insurance omitted from shipping documents—Payment made under mistake—
Bank remitting the money to the drawer—Instructions by drawer to withhold payment after remittance—Liability of the Bank as agent—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) s 72—Hoppel—Posting of a demand draft, whether equivalent to payment. In May 1915 the plaintiff entered into two contracts under c i f terms with one P. Vella for supply to him of certain goods. P. Vella drew a demand draft on the plaintiff and endorsed it over for collection to the Anglo Egyptian Bank, Ltd., Malta, who in turn endorsed it to the defendant Bank at Aden. On August 10th 1915 the plaintiff was informed by the defendant Bank that the latter held a demand draft upon him and would deliver shipping documents to him on payment of the draft. On August 12th, 1915, the plaintiff paid the amount due on the draft and removed from the Bank certain shipping documents among which on inspection at his office the plaintiff failed to discover the policy of insurance. On discovery of this omission, the plaintiff wrote to the defendant Bank on August 13th 1915, stating that the draft had been honoured under a mistake and requested the Bank not to pay the amount of the draft to the drawer of the bill, and in case the remittance had already been made to cable at the plaintiff's expense instructions to withhold payment. The defendants having refused to stop payment of the sum paid by the plaintiff the latter filed a suit claiming refund of the money. The defendant Bank replied that they were acting merely as agents for collection on behalf of the Anglo Egyptian Bank at Malta through whom the demand draft was received, and that they having given telegraphic intimation of the receipt of money to their principal on the 12th August, that is, before the receipt of the plaintiff's letter of the 13th idem, were unable to do anything further in the matter. The plaintiff's suit was dismissed by the Judge at Aden. He appealed to the Resident's Court and pending the appeal a reference being made to the High Court Bombay, under s. 8 of the Aden Act II of 1864, for consideration of questions inter alia (i) whether the money was paid by plaintiff to the defendant Bank under a mistake of fact as to the documents delivered in exchange therefor, (ii) whether the defendants could and should have stopped payment of the price as instructed by the plaintiff, (iii) whether the defendant Bank acted as principals or agents in collecting the price of goods, (iv) whether if defendants acted as agents in collecting the price of the goods they had any better rights than the sellers P. Vella, (v) whether in the circumstances the plaintiff was entitled to repayment of the price from the defendants under s. 72 of the Indian Contract Act 1872. Held (1) that the money was paid by the plaintiff to the defendant Bank under a mistake of fact, (2) that, although the posting of the draft was neither payment nor an act so prejudicing the defendant Bank that it would be inequitable to require them to refund yet in view of the telegraphic intimation to the defendant's principals at their express request to the effect that money had been paid by the plaintiff, he (the plaintiff) was estopped having regard to the peculiar relation of the parties and, therefore, the defendants could not nor should they have stopped payment of the price as instructed by the plaintiff, (3) that the defendant Bank were mere agents, (4) that the defendants had higher rights than P. Vella in consequence of estoppel arising from plaintiff's conduct; (5) that the plaintiff would not be entitled to repayment under s. 72 of the Indian Contract Act 1872, as that section should be read subject to the law of estoppel and in view of the facts in the present case there was a clear case of estoppel. Deutsche Bank (London Agency) v.

SALE OF GOODS—contd

SALE OF GOODS—contd

Barro & Co 73 L. T. 669, referred to. Saugan Chand v. The Govt., N. W. P. I. L. R. 1 A. 11 79, dissented from. Scolden & Jacob v. The National Bank of India, Ltd., Aden (1917)

I L R. 42 Bom 18

5. ——— Indentor who has accepted the shipping documents and the draft for the amount due but refused to take delivery on the ground of error in description with description non-Plea of failure of consideration—Whether admissible—C. J. F. Contract. Defendants accepted the shipping documents and the drafts for the amount due, but refused to take delivery on the ground that the goods were not in accord with the description as entered in the indents. The contract was a i f contract, and the indents also expressly showed that the indentors were bound to pay the drafts at maturity, and if they had any claim in regard to the nature of the goods they would bring it in the manner laid down in the indent. Held that the defendants could not in answer to the claim upon the drafts plead failure of consideration because what they contracted for were the shipping documents and not the actual goods. Marshall & Co v. Aguin Chand Phul Chand (37 Indian Cases 644), referred to. STERLING MASON AND CO v. JAWALA NATH BAGHWAN DAS

I L R. 1 Lah. 22

6. ——— Insolvency of purchaser before delivery—Vendor's right to refuse delivery—Official Assignee duties and rights of—Floclon within reasonable time—Tender of cash before delivery—Presidency Towns Insolvency Act (III of 1909), ss. 52, 62, 64—Joint Hindu family, insolvency of member of—Infant partner—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 247. On the insolvency of the karta of a mitakshara Hindu family, a suit is not maintainable by the Official Assignee for damages for breach of a contract entered into by the firm which was the joint business of the family. Under s. 52 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, the rights that passed to the Official Assignee were the rights the insolvent had under the contract as an insolvent hence, it was the duty of the Official Assignee to declare his election to take up the contract within a reasonable time, and to tender cash before calling for delivery. Ex parte Chalmers, L. R. 8 C. P. App. 289, and Morgan v. Davis, L. R. 10 C. P. 16, followed. GREY v. LAMOND WALKER (1913)

I L R. 40 Cal. 523

7. ——— Bought and sold notes—"Bought by your order and for your account from our principals"—Principal and Agent—Personal liability of broker—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 230 (2)—Broker, an intermediary—Contract of employment—Award Where a broker signed and sent to a party a bought note in the following terms: "We have this day bought by your order and for your account from our principals 250 bales of jute (name) Brokers" and a corresponding sold note was signed and sent by the broker to another party, the names of the principals being disclosed to each other, by the broker, at a subsequent date: Held in proceedings taken by the buyer, that the broker was merely an intermediary and not an agent for sale, and was not liable under s. 230 (2) of the Contract Act. The contract (if any) between the broker and the buyer was a contract of employment, the employment being to negotiate, and not to sell, on behalf of another. Southwell v. Booditch, L. R. 1 C. P. 374, followed. Gubby v. Aelcom, 1 L. R. 17 Cal. 419, distinguished. PATILAM BAKERJEE v. KANNANARAYAN Co., Ltd (1915). . . I. L. R. 42 Cal. 1050

SALE OF GOODS—concl'd

8 ———— Exception clause excusing delay due to late shipment—Failure of seller to deliver on due date—Tender on a subsequent date—Onus on party relying on exception—Shipment to be shown to be unavoidably delayed—“Shipment,” meaning of—Measure of damages Defendant contracted with plaintiff to deliver to him in Calcutta 50 tons of Rangoon rice in June 1909, and another 50 tons in July 1909. A clause in the contract provided that no objection was to be raised by the plaintiff in case of the delivery of the goods being delayed by reason of the non arrival in time of the steamer carrying the goods on account of the shallowness of water at Diamond Harbour, damages to the steam engine, accidents of the sea and other causes not under human control, as also owing to late shipment at Rangoon. The June consignment was not tendered by defendant until the 9th of July and the July consignment until the 3rd August. The market rates on both these days were the same as those on 30th June and 31st July, respectively. The plaintiff refused the tenders on both days and sued for damages, being the difference between the contract price and the market price on the said two dates. Defendant relying on the clause relating to late shipment pleaded that under the contract there was no particular due date of delivery. Held, that the defendant could not rely on that clause unless he was able to prove that the circumstances which led to delay in shipment were not attributable to his negligence. Dunn v. Bucknoll, (1902) 2 K. B. 614, 621, followed. That the burden of establishing that his case was covered by the exception on which he relied was on the defendant. Sandeman and Sons v. Tyzack and Branfoot Steamship Co., Ltd (1913) A. C. 680, 689, followed. The term “shipment” in the contract included not merely the loading of goods on board the ship but also the starting of the ship. That as soon as the contract had been broken, the obligation of the purchaser to take delivery of the goods vanished and he was not bound to accept the goods when they were delivered and that the right measure of damages was the difference between the contract price and the market price on the dates of delivery originally agreed upon by the parties. Grenon v. Lachmi Narain, 1 L. R. 24 Cal. 3, relied on. KALI KANTA SHARMA v. ISMAIL (1914). . . 20 C. W. N. 159

SALE OF GOODS ACT (56 & 57 VIC. C. 71).

——— ss. 45 and 47 ———— Stopped in transit—Ultimate destination of goods—Duration of transit—Pledge of bill of lading—Measure of damages—Sale of Goods Act (56 and 57 Vic. c. 71), ss. 45 and 47 The plaintiffs, a Bombay firm, imported hardware goods from M & Co., of Manchester for sale on commission, the business being carried on and financed in the following manner. M & Co., on shipping the goods, handed over the complete shipping documents to B, and received from him an advance of 65 per cent of the invoice price. B then handed over the shipping documents to the National Bank of India in England, and himself received a similar advance by drawing on a credit opened with the Bank by the plaintiffs. The Bank then forwarded the shipping documents to India, where they were handed over to the plaintiffs in exchange for trust receipt, the plaintiffs becoming responsible to the Bank for any short fall in the advances made to B. On 12th February 1907 M & Co., contracted to purchase from L & Co. 250 boxes of tin plates delivery to be f. o. b. Newport in four or five weeks after date. On 20th February M & Co. wrote to L & Co., enclosing instructions and marks for shipment of the 250 boxes to Bombay, and on 2nd March requested them to forward the goods to W & Co., at Newport in time for shipment in S. S. “Clan Macleod” for Bombay. On 21st March L & Co. enclosed to M & Co. an invoice for 200 boxes and on 27th March another invoice for the remaining 50 boxes, the material part of the invoice in each case being “No claim concerning these goods can be recognised unless made within fifteen days from delivery to Messrs W & Co., Newport, for shipment on your account.” The 250 boxes were put on board the steamer by W & Co., as the agents of L & Co., but in obtaining a bill of lading for 500 boxes (including the 250 in question) W & Co. acted as the agents of M & Co. The steamer left Newport on 4th April. Following the usual course of business as above described, M & Co. handed over to B the shipping documents relating to the 500 boxes and obtained an advance of £250 5 2 (being 65 per cent of the invoice value). B, on the 6th April, obtained a similar advance from the Bank. On the same day M & Co., suspended payment, and on 9th April L & Co., as unpaid vendors of 250 boxes, notified the steamship owners, the first defendants, to stop these goods in transit. The S. S. “Clan Macleod” arrived in Bombay on 13th May, and the bill of lading which had been duly handed over by the Bank to the plaintiff on 29th April, was in due course presented by the latter. They were informed, however, of the stop put on the 250 boxes and were offered a delivery order for the remaining 250 alone. This they declined, refusing to accept anything but the full payment of the advance or the full amount of the goods. On 29th June the plaintiffs repaid the Bank the amount of the advance, and the trust receipt of 29th April was duly cancelled. On the plaintiffs subsequently suing the steamship owners and their agents for damages. Held, that the transit did not cease at Newport, and L & Co. were entitled to stop the goods after they had started for Bombay. Ex parte Golding Davis & Co., 13 Ck. D. 628, followed. Held, further, that the plaintiffs were after 29th June,—on which date they had fulfilled their obligations to the Bank,—pledgees for value of the bill of lading if indeed they did not occupy that position from 29th April, being transferees of the Bank's rights in respect of the advance as against the defendants. Held, further, that the plaintiffs were entitled to join both defendants in the suit. The utmost benefit which the defendants were entitled to obtain from the position of L & Co. as sureties (So to the plaintiffs for the advance made by the latter to M & Co.) was the right

SALE OF GOODS ACT (56 & 57 VIC., C. 71)

—cont'd——— ss. 45 and 47—cont'd

SALE OF GOODS ACT (56 & 57 VIC., C 71)

—concl'd

ss 45 and 47—concl'd to the security of the 250 boxes which they were willing from the outset should be received by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs by refusing to take delivery of the 250 boxes had omitted to do an act which their duty to the surety required them to do, and to the extent to which that omission had resulted in loss the surety was discharged. In re West-Indians, 5 B & Ad 817, discussed. BAPUJI SORANJI v THE CLAN LINE STEAMERS, LD (1910) I L R 34 Bom 640

SALE OF LAND

See LIMITATION ACT (IV OF 1908), SCH I, ARTS 97, 92

I L R 37 Bom 538

See MORTGAGE

I L R 47 Cal 377, 974

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 55 (f)

I L R 39 Mad 997

—agreement for—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

I L R 38 Cal 805

By Municipality without written Contract

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT 1901 ss 96 AND 40

I L R 45 Bom 797

to pay revenue—Reservation of portion out of property sold—Agreement not binding on transferee. The vendor of a village reserved for her lifetime 196 bigas, and the vendee also agreed not to ask for rent of those 196 bigas. Vendee further did not insist upon payment of the proportionate share of Government revenue due from the vendor, but paid it himself. Held, that any agreement which might have existed as between the vendor and the vendee as regards the payment of Government revenue was a purely personal matter and could not bind the vendee after the death of the vendor when the land was in the possession of her legatee. Sri Thakurji Maharaj v Lachma Narayan, 11 All L J 212 Ram Gobind v Sri Thakurji Maharaj, 11 All L J 231, and Abd Hussain v Hakim-ullah, 11 L P 33 All 239, referred to. PACHAN SINGH v JANGIT SINGH (1916) I L R 39 All 168

Duty of vendor—Right of vendee to be put in possession. A vendor of land, when he holds himself out in that capacity, is bound to ascertain whether in fact, the subject matter of what he is selling exists, and he must be in a position to give possession of the physical thing which he has contracted to sell. The obligation is upon the vendor to give the vendee possession, and not upon the latter to get possession for himself especially when any difficulty arises in identifying the particular land sold. DARFAY KUR v KEDAR NATH I Pat L J 140

Contract of re sale—Time, essence of the contract—Doctrine applicable to contracts of sale whether applicable to contracts of re sale—Rule of English law, applicability of in India. The doctrine, that time may not be of the essence of the contract which arises on the construction of contracts of sale of immovable property, is not applicable to contracts of re sale of property conveyed. If the transaction is not a mortgage, the right to repurchase being an option must be exercised according to the strict terms of the power. Rule of English law followed—Joy v Birch, 7 R R 22 Pandey v Mellon, 62 F R 627, and Dobbins v Dibbins (1896) 2 Ch 313, referred to. SANABAPURI CHETTIAR v SUDARSANACHARI (1919)

SALE OF LAND—cont'd

I L R 42 Mad 802

Non payment of price—Right of vendee to sue for possession—Decree for possession, whether can direct payment of price or be conditional on payment—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 54 and 55. A vendee who has not paid the purchase money of the lands bought by him, is entitled to a decree against the vendor for possession of such lands. The Court cannot make the decree conditional on payment of the purchase-money, nor can it decree payment of the price to defendant in the vendee's suit. KRISHNANMA v MALI (1920)

I L R 43 Mad 712

Duty of, to protect vendee's title—Caveat emptor. Where, in a suit brought by a third party against a vendor and vendee of immovable property, the former admits the claimant's title and the suit is decreed upon that admission, he cannot, in a subsequent suit for the recovery of the purchase money paid to him by the vendee, plead that the former suit was wrongly decided. Per IMAM, J—In vernacular conveyingance the expression pak eaf means a flawless title. BHATTU RAM v GANOA PRASAD GORE 3 Pat L J 358

Sale of specific area of land—vendees evicted from part of the area—Vendor's liability—Transfer of Property Act, IV of 1882, s 55—Measure of damages—Indian Contract Act, IX of 1872, s 73. On the 16th September 1907 C D and his son M B, the predecessors of defendants 3 to 8, sold to the plaintiff 79 kanals and 4 marlas of land. The property comprised several plots of land which formed part of different Khasra numbers specified in the sale deed. The price paid by the vendees was Rs 83,160, and was calculated, as expressly stated in the deed, at the rate of Rs 1000 per kanal. The plaintiffs asserted that they got possession of the 79 kanals and 4 marlas, but were subsequently evicted by the defendants 1 and 2 from an area measuring 4 kanals 4 marlas. It was found that defendants 1 and 2 were as a matter of fact the owners of the latter area. Held, that as under the terms of the deed of conveyance the vendors sold 79 kanals and 4 marlas at so much per kanal to the plaintiffs, it was the duty of the vendors either to make good the deficiency or to pay damages for the loss caused to the vendees, having regard to the admission by the defendants that there was a guarantee of title and to the provisions of s 55 of the Transfer of Property Act. Held, further, that the measure of damages is the price of the land at the time of eviction—sic s 73 of the Indian Contract Act. AGARWAL SACHCHANDRA v AHMED KHAN (I L R 21 Bom 175), Ramchad Bhagwan v Manmohandas (I L R 32 Bom 165) and Abinichandras Saha v Krishna Barua (I L R 38 Cal 458), followed. JAI KISHOR DAS v ANA PRITI NIDHI SARKA I L R 1 Lah 260

SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY

See MORTGAGE I L R 39 Calc 527

SALE OR AGREEMENT TO SELL.See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT
I L R 37 Mad. 480SALE OR EXCHANGESee TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss. 54 118
I L R 37 Mad 423SALE-PRICE

See PRE EMPTION 14 C W N 295

SALE PROCEEDSSee CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST
I L R 41 Calc 844

See LIMITATION, I L R 41 Calc 654

— attachment of—

See RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION
I L R 46 Calc 64

— surplus of—

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Calc 907

— surplus sale proceeds in the hands of Collector attachment of—

See MORTGAGE 14 C W N 481

SALE PROCLAMATIONSee EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 39 Calc 482See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) ss 20 22
I L R 39 Mad 479

— decision of question of valuation—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 ss 2 AND 47
5 Pat L J 20

— Position of purchaser with notice of incumbrance—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XXI s 66
I L R 43 All 489

Valuation of property
To order property which is to be put up for sale in execution of a decree to be valued at twenty times the Government revenue is merely a colourable pretence of making the valuation required by law and such an order cannot be sustained. JAGGARNATH PERSHAD v CHITRAGUPTA NARAY SINGH
3 Pat L J 580

Insertion of part of valuation on legalty of The insertion of any valuation in a sale proclamation on other than the valuation fixed by the Court is calculated to mislead intending bidders and is therefore wrong. Neither the valuation assessed by the decree-holder nor by the judgment-debtor should be inserted. PAT BENT PERSAD v LODI SINGH
4 Pat L J 37

SALE WITH OPTION OF RE-PURCHASE.

See SALE.

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENTS.
I L R 40 Bom. 378

A deed of sale contained the following decree "I have ren the land into your possession. If perhaps at any time I require it back I will pay you the aforesaid

SALE WITH OPTION OF REPURCHASE—
co id

Rs 600 and any money you may have spent in bringing the land into good condition and purchase back the land. In a suit 35 years later by vendor's grandson against vendee's daughter in law Held the option was personal. GURUNATH RALAJI v YAMANTRA
I L R 35 Bom 259

SALTPETRESee NIMAR SAYAB MEHAL.
I L R 41 Calc 286SALT WORKS

See ASSESSMENT I L R 42 Bom 692

SALVAGESee CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O XXI s 89
2 Pat L J 676

See SHIPPING

SAMBALPUR DISTRICT

See APPEAL I L R 38 Calc 391
S e CENTRAL PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT 1881 s 136
1 Pat L J 290

SAME TRANSACTION

See JURY LIST OF TRIAL BY
I L R 37 Calc 467

SANAD

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE 1879 s 17
I L R 44 Bom. 110

See PROOF 16 C W N 633

See PRESUMPTION OF LAND
I L R 42 Bom. 668

— construction of—

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT, s 4
I L R 43 Bom 323

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1876) s 17
I L R 45 Bom. 463

See JAIGIR I L R 42 Calc 205

See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871) s 6
I L R 32 All 148

See RESUMPTION I L R 39 Bom 279

Sanad construction of —Grant creating title of Pash of Deur in 1857
—Meaning of Lands attached to Deur —Whether confined to lands in Satara where Deur is a hunter or extended to other lands in Bombay Presidency—
Use of contemporaneous exposition in interpretation of documents—Jaghir nature of tenure—Saranam—Inam—Salan—Hakk—Nature of evidence in interpretation of documents—Alte above of records
The plaintiff and the defendant were brothers descendants of the Bhoole family (Rajahs of Nagpur) whose powers only lapsed to the British Government in 1857. The object of the suit was to have it declared that the whole of the property in dispute (all situated in the Bombay Presidency) belonged to the two brothers in equal shares. The elder brother the defendant (appellant) was Pash of Deur and his defence was that he had succeeded to the property in suit under the law of primogeniture as an appanage to the title of Rajah conferred on him by a sanad issued by the Governor General Lord Canning in 1857. The question depended mainly on the construction of that sanad in which the express words "lands attached to Dour" has been interpreted by the Courts in India as given to the defendant only lands in the district of Patana in which Dour is situated the rest of the lands being declared to be partly between the two brothers. Held by the Judicial Committee (reversing those decisions) that on the true construction of the sanad a restriction is added by the history of the family and the other documentary evidence in the case, which is in the principle of contra proferentem as a guide to its interpretation, on the defendant was entitled to the whole of the property in the Beglar Presidency and not only to that in which he was an appellant to the title. This was to be inferred from the official documents for 30 years, the language used in all of them being applicable to the possession of the Pajats in the Bombay Presidency as a whole from the intention of the Government to make suitable provision for the newly created title and enable the holder to support it with becoming dignity which he could not do if less were given, and from the facts as gathered from documents, that the Rajahs (of Nagpur) had properties in the Central Provinces as well as in the Bombay Presidency and the footing on which the Government had along proceeded during a long period was to allot the latter as an appanage to the title and the former to be partitioned among the younger sons which was done in 1887, 1893 and 1899. As to the tenure on which the lands were held, the whole of the lands previous to the grant in 1899 were jaghir lands implying no grant of the soil, but a personal grant of the revenues to the grantee. A grant of such lands was personal, not hereditary and resumable at pleasure. The grant being personal and temporary the lands were necessarily impartible. The impartibility and unity which attached to personal service was not related to, but on the contrary was but an effect of the idea of succession by force of law to the impartible lands; therefore could not be decided to be subject to the rule of primogeniture. The Maratta equivalent for "jaghir" was asranjam which came in course of time to be applied to the lands.

SANAD—

Asranjam was not confined to the lands in Patana as held by the lower Courts. The terms "asranjam" and "inam" were not mutually exclusive. "Inam" was a term of mere generic significance applicable to a Government grant as a whole. It has in the Bombay Presidency been dealt with comprehensively and as covered not by one name but by all or at least many of the names applicable to land and revenue rights as "inam", "asranjam", "watan", "khatt" etc. The argument to the effect that the Patana property and that alone was treated as "asranjam", while the other properties were throughout treated as "inam" was contrary to what were admitted to have been the original entries in the Collector's books. No place therefore could be placed on such a decomposition of the lands. The original state of the records before the several corrections were made and with the doubtful and uncorroborated intercessions and alterations, was that to which a Court of law should have looked as evidence. Too restricted an application had been made by the Courts before of the term "the lands attached to Dour" which these Lords were of opinion extended to the whole of the lands in suit which was consequently dismissed. AGHOJIARAO SAREK & LAKSHMIBAI SAREK (1912) 1 L. R. 38 Bom. 63

SANAD—continued.

SANCTION

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 97

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 236
1 L. R. 45 Bom. 834

See PATRI LEASE
1 L. R. 42 Cal. 100

See SANCTIONS & PROSECUTION

the compounding of offences—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1898) s. 439

1 L. R. 39 Mad. 601

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

See APPEAL, RIGHT OF
1 L. R. 41 Cal. 804

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
1 L. R. 41 Cal. 734

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—
s. 115 1 L. R. 33 All. 512

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 4
1 L. R. 40 All. 641

ss. 191 to 197
s. 191 1 L. R. 37 Bom. 376

s. 403 (7) 1 L. R. 36 Mad. 309
1 L. R. 37 All. 107

s. 407 1 L. R. 34 All. 244

s. 437 1 L. R. 42 All. 129

s. 476 1 L. R. 37 Mad. 317

See FALSE INFORMATION
14 C. W. N. 763

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV of 1860)
ss. 156, 211 1 L. R. 34 All. 822
1 L. R. 36 All. 212

s. 190 1 L. R. 35 All. 53

See PERJURY 1 L. R. 35 Mad. 471

See JUDICIAL JURISDICTION OVER THE SUDAN SMALL CASES (OCT)
1 L. R. 37 Cal. 714

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE
ACT (III of 1901) s. 18
1 L. R. 39 All. 297

See USING FORGED DOCUMENT
1 L. R. 39 Cal. 463

Application to higher Court where lower Court refuse—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1895,
s. 195 1 L. R. 1 Lah. 802

Fabrication of False Evidence—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV of 1860),
ss. 192 and 193
1 L. R. 43 Bom. 669

for false complaint—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
of 1895), s. 193
1 L. R. 39 Mad. 1041

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

by single Judge of Chief Court—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,
s 193 . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah 259

public servants—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), ss 197, 230, 532

I. L. R. 43 Bom 147

refusal by 1st class Magistrate—

Whether Additional Session Judge may on appeal—See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,
s. 59 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 877

Subordination of Courts—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,
s 193 . . . I. L. R. 2 Lah 57

Perjury—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), ss 236, 195 537 (b), 164

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 834

refusal of—

See DEFAMATION I. L. R. 48 Calc. 388

1. ————— Contradictory statements—False statement before the Committing Magistrate retracted, and true evidence given, at the trial—Prosecution of witness for contradictory statements—Consideration of circumstances under which false evidence was given and repudiated—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195 It would be dangerous to hold that the mere fact of contradictory statements having been made by a witness would justify the Court in granting sanction to prosecute him for giving false evidence. It is necessary to consider the circumstances under which they were made and repudiated. Where a witness was arrested and, after pointing out the spot where the stolen property was concealed, as alleged, by one of the accused was released, but stayed with the police and was examined the next day in Court, before the date fixed for the hearing of the case, the question having been put by a police officer in violation of s 495 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and the evidence so given was false and was retracted at the trial, when he gave true evidence, alleging that he had been tutored and threatened by the same officer before his deposition in the lower Court. Held, that having regard to the events leading up to the examination before the Committing Magistrate, the conditions under which it was conducted and the fact that the witness did not persist in his false statements, but gave true evidence at the trial, sanction should not be granted. INFERIOR v. TRIPURA SHANKAR SARKAR (1910)

I. L. R. 37 Calc 618

2. ————— Procedure—Criminal Procedure Code, s 195—Court of bound to take evidence In disposing of the application for sanction to prosecute for bringing a false suit under s. 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code the Court has to decide whether the original suit was false, and whether, if it was false, sanction should be granted, and must make a full enquiry into the matter even if it involves trying the case de novo. So where there was no evidence in the records of the original case to prove that it was false, and the Small Cause Court refused sanction on the ground that it was not bound to go beyond the record, the Court ordered the case to be sent back and tried according to law. RANDEEN BANTA v. SEWBAK SINGH (1910). I. L. R. 37 Calc. 714

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd.

14 C. W. N. 808

3. ————— False information to Police—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 195 (b), 476 No sanction should be granted or prosecution directed, unless there is a reasonable probability of conviction, though the authority granting a sanction under s 195, or taking action under s 476, should not decide the question of guilt or innocence. Great care and caution are required before the Criminal law is set in motion, and there must be a reasonable foundation for the charge in respect of which a prosecution is sanctioned or directed. Ishri Parash v. Sham Lal, I. L. R. 7 All 871 Kali Charan Lal v. Basudeo Varan Singh, 12 C. W. N. 3, and Queen v. Banjo Lal, I. L. R. 1 Cal 450 referred to. Where there had been prolonged litigation between the petitioner and the opposite party, in which the former had been successful, so that the case was by no means improbable, and two Magistrates had, in the course of the judicial investigations preceding the trial, accepted the prosecution story as substantially true, and the Assessors had only found the case not proved. Held, that, under the circumstances, it was not a proper case for a prosecution under s 476 of the Code. JADU NANDAN SINGH v. EMPEROR (1900)

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 250

4. ————— Disobedience of order—Penal Code, s 188—Disobedience of order under s 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898)—Sanction to prosecute essentials for granting A Magistrate should not sanction a prosecution under s 188, Penal Code unless he thinks that all the elements necessary for a conviction are present. Where the order sanctioning a prosecution under s 188 Penal Code, for an alleged disobedience of an order under s 144 Criminal Procedure Code, did not show that the disobedience caused or tended to cause obstruction, annoyance or injury or a riot, the High Court set it aside in revision. PROJAPAT JHA v. THE EMPEROR (1909)

14 C. W. N. 234

5. ————— Forgery—Criminal Procedure Code, s 195 (c)—Sanction for prosecution, want of, effect of On the prosecution of the accused for an offence under s 467, Indian Penal Code, alleged to have been committed in respect of a document which was subsequently produced at the hearing of a suit tried on the original side of the High Court in which the accused was a party. Held, that the prosecution was incompetent without the previous sanction of the Court which tried the suit or of the Court to which it was subordinate. That s 463, Indian Penal Code, referred to in s 195 (c) of the Criminal Procedure Code covers forgery of the description for which penalty is provided under s 467, Indian Penal Code. TENI SHAN v. POLANI SHAN (1909)

14 C. W. N. 479

6. ————— Sanction refused by Magistrate—Appeal—Sanction granted by Subordinate Judge—Jurisdictional—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195—Civil Courts Act (XII of 1857), ss 21 and 22—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss 24 (1) (a) and 115 A suit having been dismissed by the Munsif and, on appeal, by the Court of Appeal, the defendants applied to the Munsif for sanction to prosecute the plaintiffs for offences under ss 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code. This application was refused, but, on appeal, the Subordinate Judge granted such sanction. Held, that the Court of the District Judge was the only Court to which such an appeal would properly lie. Per N R. CHATTERJEE, J.—For the purposes of s 190 of the Criminal Procedure Code a Munsif is not subordinate to a Subordinate Judge. RAM CHARAN CHANDA TALUK DAR v. TARIPULLA (1912) I L R 39 Calc 774

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd.

7. ——— Jurisdiction—Application to District Judge under s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898)—Transfer of such application to a Subordinate Judge for disposal.—Jurisdiction—Civil Courts (Act XII of 1857), ss 21 (2) (4) and 22 (1)—Appeal. An application made to a District Judge under s 195, sub s (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code, against the order of a Munsif, cannot be transferred by the District Judge to a Subordinate Judge for disposal. Ram Charan Chanda Talukdar v. Taripulla I L R 39 Calc 774, approved. Semble. An application under s 190, sub s (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code is not an "appeal" within the meaning of s 22 sub s (1) of the Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1887. HARI MANDAL v. KESHAB CHANDRA MANA (1912)

I L R 40 Calc 37

8. ——— Appeal—Right of—Grant or refusal of sanction by a lower authority—Application to superior authority whether a matter of appeal or revision—Limitation of the period of such application.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195 (6)—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 154. Sub s (6) of s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not confer a right of appeal to the superior authority, but only invests the latter with powers by way of revision. Hardeo Singh v. Hanuman Dat Narain, I L R 26 All 244, Mathuramunda v. Venu Chetti, I L R 36 Mad 337, discussed and distinguished. Hari Mandal v. Keshab Chandra Manna 16 C W N 993, Mohd. Hama v. Tota Ram, I L R 15 All 61, approved. Ram Charan Talukdar v. Taripulla I L R 39 Calc 774 referred to. Where the question arises with reference to Art. 154 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908), it has merely to be stated that there is a doubt as to whether an appeal lies or not in such a case in order to give the applicant the benefit of the longer period. The High Court accordingly directed the Sessions Judge to hear an application to revoke a sanction made to him after the expiry of a month from this date. In re North. Ex parte Hasluck (1895) 2 Q B 264, Gopal Lal Sahai v. Bakora, 15 C L J 126, followed. Pratt v. Meenan v. Chatterjee (1912), I L R 40 Calc 239

9. ——— Jurisdiction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 195—Verbal application—Jurisdiction—Revocation—Power of Court granting sanction—Practice. Where a verbal application was made by counsel for sanction to prosecute under s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code and granted by the Court, but no order could be drawn up as the application was not made upon formal petition. Held, that upon a formal petition being subsequently presented, the Court had jurisdiction to grant such sanction, the former sanction being inoperative. Held, further, that a Judge sitting on the Original Side has no jurisdiction to revoke a sanction previously granted by him, and that application for such revocation must be made to a Civil Appellate Bench of the Court. Kali Kinkar Seth v. Duxobandhu Nundy I L R 32 Calc 379, discussed. THADDEUS v. JANAKI NATH SAHA (1912)

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd.

I L R. 40 Calc 423

10. ——— Second sanction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195—Subsequent order, only a repetition of the first order—Revival of Proceedings—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss 193, 471—Limitation. Where there are two orders purporting to grant sanction to the same prosecution, the later order will ordinarily be taken to be merely a repetition of the first and the period of limitation will begin to run from the date of the first order. Durbari Mandal v. Jagoo Lal, I L R 22 Calc 573, referred to. DURGIA PRASAD PATHAK v. LACHMAN BANIA (1913)

I L R. 40 Calc 584

11. ——— Disobedience of prohibitory order—Necessity of application for sanction—Police report setting forth the facts of disobedience and containing a request for prosecution—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195 (1) (a)—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 138. A police report which sets out the facts of disobedience of an order, under s 141 of the Criminal Procedure Code, prohibiting the slaughter of cows on a certain day, and contains a request that the accused should be prosecuted, under s 188 of the Penal Code is a sufficient application for sanction within s 195 (1) (a) of the Criminal Procedure Code. Per CHAIRMAN J.—No application for sanction is necessary in cases falling under s 195 (1) (a) of the Code. PANCHU MANDAL v. EMPEROR (1913) I L R 41 Calc 14

12. ——— Discretion—Judicial decisions, application of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 4 (1) 195, 476, 492—S 195, scope of and practice under—Public Prosecutor. S 195 of the Code of Criminal Procedure vests in the Court an absolute discretion as regards granting sanction to prosecute; this discretion cannot be restricted by judicial decisions but must be fairly exercised according to the exigencies of each case, the Court being astute to see that there is no abuse of the administration of criminal justice. Gardner v. Jay L R 29 Ch D 50 and Saunders v. Saunders, (1897) F 89 referred to. Under s 195, no notice of the application for sanction need issue and the accused person need not even be named. The validity of the sanction cannot be questioned in the enquiry or the trying Court. Per STRANGE, J.—Proceedings under s 195 should frequently, and even usually, be ex parte. In re. Parso Kun Hammond I L R 26 Mad 116, Pamapathi Sastri v. Subba Sastri, I L R 23 Mad 210, In the matter of Gouri Saha, I L R 6 All 114, Ram Prasad Roy v. Sola Roy I C W, N 409 Padma Nath Laneyre, v. Khandu Mollah, I Marsh. 407, Queen v. Mahomed Hassan 18 W P C 37, Sharp v. Wakefield (1891) A C 173, Khepa Sahi Sikdar v. Ghosh Chunder Mukerji, I L R 16 Calc 739, Naperam Surma v. Gaurinath Dutt, I L R 20 Calc 471 Mahomed Bhaklu v. Queen Empress, I L R 23 Calc 532, In the matter of Muffy Lal Ghose I L R 6 Calc 308, cited and discussed by CHAUDHURI, J. An attorney is criminally liable for a false statement in an affidavit made by him in answer to a Rule issued against him under the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Court. In re An Attorney (1913)

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

I L R 41 Cal 448

13 ————— Jurisdiction of High Court and District Court—District Judge—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 195 (1), cl (b) and 476—Revision—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115 Neither the High Court nor the District Judge has power, under s 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code to direct prosecution for an offence committed before a Provincial Small Cause Court. Begu Singh v Emperor I L R 34 Cal 551, referred to. The High Court itself is precluded from granting sanction in such a case under s 195, sub-s (1), cl (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code, as a Provincial Small Cause Court is not subordinate to it within sub (7) cl (c), nor can it interfere under sub (6) with an order of a District Judge revoking a sanction granted by such Small Cause Court. Hameyyuddin Mondal v Damodar Ghose, 10 C W N 1026. Girya Sankar Roy v Binode Sheikb 5 C L J 222, and Muthuswami Mudali v Veenu Chetti, I L R 30 Mad 332, referred to. Where the District Judge revoked a sanction granted by a Subordinate Court to a District Magistrate on the ground that 'a sanction could not be granted to a third party,' and initiated proceedings under s 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Held, that he acted illegally in the exercise of his jurisdiction, and that the High Court had power to set aside his order under s 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908). Hameyyuddin Mondal v Damodar Ghose, 10 C W N 1026, distinguished. In re Ram Prasad Malla (1909)

I L R 37 Cal 13

14. ————— Jurisdiction—Resistance to attachment of movables on evidence only of the executing peon—Other evidence called for by the Court but not heard when produced, notwithstanding previous summonses on witnesses and adjournments for their appearance—Delay in granting sanction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195 The Court executing a decree has jurisdiction, if satisfied on the evidence, without cross-examination, solely of the peon, who was alleged to have been resisted in the attachment of movables, that a prima facie case had been made out, to sanction the prosecution of the persons so resisting execution under s 183 of the Penal Code notwithstanding the fact that the Court had previously called for evidence from both parties issued summonses on their witnesses, who were produced on the date of the hearing of the application for sanction and adjourned the case several times for their appearance. The High Court deprecated the dilatoriness in disposing of the application by the Court of first instance. Makhan Lal Saha v Sarojendra Nath Saha, (1920)

I L R 47 Cal 741

15 ————— Offences committed in the Court of a Deputy Magistrate—Transfer of same from the sub-division—Successor in office—Application for sanction to another Deputy Magistrate subsequently posted to the sub-division—Power of latter to grant sanction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 195 Where there are several Deputy Magistrates at a place, and one of them is transferred, the Deputy Magistrate who comes to fill the gap is not the successor in office of the outgoing Magistrate. Mohesh Chaitra Shah v Emperor, I L R 35 Cal 457, referred to. Where a proceeding under s 107 of the Code, during the course of which a forged petah was filed 'and evidence given in support thereof was disposed of by H K G, a Deputy Magistrate, who became afterwards the officer next senior to the Sub-divisional Magistrate, and on the transfer of the former, two other Deputy Magistrates became successively the next senior officers and ultimately K L M, a Deputy Magistrate, joined the sub-division as the next senior officer, and an application was made to him for sanction to prosecute the petitioners for offences under ss 471 and 193 of the Penal Code, committed in the Court of H K G. Held, that K L M was not the successor in office of H K G and had no power to grant sanction under the circumstances. Gurish Chandra Ray v Sarat Chandra Singh (1914) I L R 42 Cal 687

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

16 ————— Revisional jurisdiction of High Court over Presidency Small Cause Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 115—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 195—Stage in a judicial proceeding, what is—Oath—'Delay' A Judge of the Presidency Small Cause Court, Calcutta, had dismissed six applications for sanction to prosecute the plaintiffs for having made false claims. On an application to the High Court under s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code to set aside the orders. Held, that under s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code the High Court is the superior Court to the Presidency Small Cause Court and has power to deal with the order which was made by that Court. Held also, that an application for leave to sue is a stage in a judicial proceeding where such leave is necessary to give the Court jurisdiction. Held also, that the delay in making the application for sanction to prosecute had been satisfactorily explained, and was not in the circumstances such as to prejudice the plaintiffs. Burnu Lal v Chattu Gope (1915)

I L R 43 Cal 597

17 ————— Information to the police reported false—No subsequent application to the Magistrate—Order of Magistrate calling on informant to prove case, and examination of witnesses—Grant of sanction—Necessity of sanction when false charge made to the police but not followed by complaint—Complainant—Power of Magistrate to direct prosecution himself in such case—Judicial proceeding—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 4 (b), 19, (1) (b), 476 No sanction is necessary under s 195 (1) (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code to prosecute an informant under s 211 of the Penal Code when a false charge has been made by him only to the police. Karim Baksh v King Emperor, 2 Cr L J 60, Bhamaraya Venkateswarulu v Moota Baspu 13 Cr L J 430, Emperor v Sheikh Ahmad, 13 Cr L J 578, followed. But sanction is requisite under the section when he has subsequently preferred a complaint to the Magistrate praying for judicial investigation. Queen Empress v Sham Lal I L R 14 Cal 707, Jogendra Nath Mookerjee v Emperor, I L R 33 Cal 1, Queen Empress v Sheikh Beari, I L R 10 Mad 232, followed. When a person who has laid an information before the police, reported to be false, has not

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

subsequently applied to the Magistrate for an investigation or has not impugned the correctness of the police report and has not moved for a trial, he has not made a "complaint" within the meaning of s 4 (A) of the Code. An order for prosecution cannot be made under s 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code when the alleged offence under s 211 of the Penal Code has not been committed in Court, but in relation to a police investigation only Dharmadas Anwar v King Emperor, 1 C L J 323 Jadurandan Singh v King Emperor, 10 C L J 261 followed. The procedure of calling on the informant who is reported by the police to have made a false charge to turn them, to prove his case and the examination of witnesses is not contemplated by the Code and the proceeding is not a judicial one within s 470 of the Code. Munda Bawa v Nannu Singh, 4 C W J 351, followed. TATTELLIAH v EMPEROR (1916). I L R 43 Cal 152

18. Referring to false charge.
Refusal to revoke by superior Court. Application to High Court to set aside refusal and Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 195 (6), maintainable by Judge of High Court, not divided in opinion.—See Judge's opinion to proceed under cl 26 Letters Patent—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 429 and 430 applicability of, to such application.—Application to a superior Court under Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 195 to set aside a sanction given by an inferior Court not an appeal within the Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Art 151, Held, by the Full Bench: (i) An order refusing to revoke a sanction granted by a lower Court is one granting sanction, from which an appeal lies to a superior Court under s 195 cl (6) Criminal Procedure Code. Mukhanna Mudi v Iyer & Co, 1 I L J 30 Mad 332 followed. (ii) When Judges composing a bench of the High Court are equally divided on opinion on hearing an application under s 195 cl (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code against an order of the lower Court in a sanction matter the procedure to be followed is that laid down in cl 26 of the Letters Patent and not the one in s 429 or 430 of the Criminal Procedure Code; accordingly the opinion of the senior Judge prevails. PER CURIAM.—The power conferred upon the High Court by s 195 (6), Criminal Procedure Code, is not a part of the appellate and revisional jurisdiction of the High Court conferred by Chapters 31 and 32 of the Criminal Procedure Code, but it is a special power conferred by s 195 (6) of the Code. Held, by the Division Bench (SUNDARA AYYAR AND SPENCER, JJ.), that an application to a superior Court under s 195 cl (6), Criminal Procedure Code, to revoke a sanction granted by an inferior Court is not an appeal within the meaning of Art 164 of the Limitation Act and hence is not governed by the rule of 60 days allowed by that Art for criminal appeals. PER ERROR, J., in the Division Bench.—But delay in applying may be a ground for refusing to grant sanction. DARY v DARY (1912). I L R 30 Mad 730

19. False information to the police followed by a complaint to the Magistrate.—Complaint investigated by the Magistrate.—Necessity of sanction to prosecute informant only in respect of the false charge to the police.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 195 (1) (b). Where an information to the police is followed by a complaint to the Court based on the same allegations and the same charge and such complaint has been investigated by the Court the sanction or complaint of the Court itself is necessary even for a prosecution of the informant under s 211 of the Penal Code in respect of the false charge made to the police. Tayebuloh v King Emperor 24 C L J 331, 1 I L J 43 Cal 152, approved. Isuram Jandav v Mahomed Kamm 14 C W J 33, discussed. Jadu Bandan Singh v Emperor, 1 I P 37 Cal 250, distinguished. Emperor v Hardwar Lal 1 I L J 31 All 322 referred to. LAHAR v ANANDA LAL NEILLER (1916).

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

I L R 41 Cal 630

20. Jurisdiction of High Court.—Procedure.—Procedure.—But in the Presidency Small Cause Court.—Sanction made in the course of a judicial proceeding.—Sanction refused by Presidency Small Cause Court.—Process by single Judge sitting on the Original Side of High Court.—Process.—Process of the Chief Justice to remit case for retrial by Division Bench of High Court.—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 115.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 195 (5) and (7) (a), 425 and 430.—High Court Rules, Appellate Side (Ch II, r 1). The sanction of a Judge of a High Court in a matter of sanction to prosecute from the Presidency Small Cause Court be invoked only under s 195 (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code. Under that provision the only order which such a Judge is competent to pass is to revoke a sanction given or grant a sanction refused by the subordinate Court. He has no jurisdiction to remand the case to the Small Cause Court for further enquiry. Under the Rules of Court (Cl II, r 1) he would have such jurisdiction if this were a matter under s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code but as it falls within s 195 (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code, it can be decided only by a Judge or Judges to whom it may have been allocated by the Chief Justice. The Judge exercising jurisdiction under s 195 (6) of the Criminal Procedure Code is competent to take additional evidence to enable him to decide whether he should confirm or reverse the order of the Subordinate Court. TRIBUN LAL v CHATTU GORE (1916).

I L R 44 Cal 616

21. "Produced," meaning of.—Document called for by a party and brought into Court, and referred to by his pleader and the Court.—Antecedent forgery and used before the Sub Judge.—Subsequent production of document in Court.—Necessity of sanction.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) s 195 (1) (c). Where a document was called for by a party to a proceeding under s 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code, brought into Court and referred to by his pleader in argument and by the Magistrate in his judgement, though he expressly refrained from any opinion, as to its authenticity: Held, that the document was "produced." In the proceeding within the meaning of s 195 (1) (c) of the Code. Guru Charan Shaha v Gurnya Sundari Dassi, 1 I L R 29 Cal 887, Akhil Chandra Pe v Queen Empress 1 I L R 22 Cal 1001, See Bullok Singh v Ramdhan Bano, 14 C W J 806 and In re Gopal Sadashekar, 9 Bom L R 735, referred to. Where, before complaint made, a document has been produced in a Court by a party to a proceeding before it,

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

the sanction of such Court is necessary for his prosecution in respect of an antecedent forgery and antecedent user before a Sub Registrar Ten Shah v Bolahi Shah, 14 C B N 479, Emperor v Bhawan Das, 1 L R 33 All-169 and Pe Parameswaran Sambudri, 1 L R 39 Mad 677, followed Noor Mohamed Cassum v Kaikhoru Manasjee 4 Bom L R 263, disented from NALINI KANTA LAMA v ANUKUL CHANDRA LAMA (1917) 1 L R 44 Calc 1002

22 ———— Procedure—Propriety of process under s 500, Penal Code—Discharge—Accusatorial—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss 211, 500—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 195 Where an offence though described as an offence under s 500 of the Penal Code, still remains an offence 'punishable' under s 211 Process should not issue under the former section on the application of a person discharged or acquitted when the Court has refused sanction under the latter section Per RICHARDSON, J—The care taken to protect complainants from being harassed by prosecutions for instituting false cases is a clear indication that the Legislature never intended that upon refusal of leave to prosecute under s 211 a person who has been discharged or acquitted or allowed to fall back upon s 500 To permit such a course to be taken would render entirely nugatory the salutary provisions of s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code The question, moreover, does not rest entirely upon inferences in regard to the intention of the Legislature The offence charged in the present case, though it is described as an offence under s 500, is not altered by that description It still remains an offence 'punishable' under s 211 When the Magistrate had refused leave to prosecute under the latter section he ought not to have issued process under s 500 PRAFULLA KUMAR GHOSH v HARENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE (1916) 1 L R 44 Calc 970

23 ———— "Court"—"Court of Justice"—Calcutta Improvement Tribunal, whether a "Court"—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 195—Calcutta Improvement Act (Beng V of 1911), ss 70, 71 (a), (c) and 77, as amended by the Calcutta Improvement (Appeals) Act (XVIII of 1911)—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 3 The word "Court" in s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code has a wider meaning than "Court of Justice" under s 20 of the Penal Code, and includes a tribunal entitled to deal with a particular matter and authorized to receive evidence bearing thereon in order to enable it to arrive at a determination upon the question *Raghobhans Sahay v Kail Singh, 1 I P 37 Calc 872, and Chand Charan Giri v Gadadhar Pradhan, 22 O W N 165, referred to The Tribunal constituted by the Calcutta Improvement Act (Beng V of 1911) as amended by the Calcutta Improvement (Appeals) Act (XVIII of 1911), is a "Court" within the meaning of s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code *Hare Pandurang v Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 27 Bom 424, distinguished NAYDA LAL GANGULI v BHETRA MOHAN GHOSH (1916) 1 L R 45 Calc. 585

24. ———— Sanction by Deputy Collector in appraisal proceedings—Appeal from orders in such proceedings—Jurisdiction—Subordination of such Deputy Collector to the District

SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION—contd

Judge or Commissioner of the Division—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 69 and 70—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 195 (6), (7) (b) (c) A Collector, or a Deputy Collector exercising the powers of a Collector under ss 69 and 70 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), is a "Court" within s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code *Raghobhans Sahay v Kail Singh, 1 L R 17 Calc 872 followed Abdullah Khan v Emperor, 1 L R 37 Calc 57 referred to Proceedings under s 69 of the Bengal Tenancy Act are civil in nature, and the Court of the Deputy Collector acting thereunder is subordinate to that of the District Judge under s 195 (7) Per CHITTY, J—S 195 (7) (c) is intended to apply only where no appeal lies from any decision of a particular Court and not where a particular order is nonappealable Appeals from the Collector under the Bengal Tenancy Act do not ordinarily lie to the Commissioner of the Division In some cases they lie to him and in others to the Civil Court The Collector, in proceedings under ss 69 and 70 of the Act by reason of s 195 (7) (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code, is subordinate to the Court of the District Judge Per RICHARDSON, J—Cl (c) includes both a particular case or class of cases in which no appeal lies, and a Court from which no appeal lies in any case Nilaram Chandra Chakravarty v Akeloy Kumar Banerjee, 21 C B N 948 referred to Per CHITTY, J—The words "Principal Court of Original Jurisdiction" do not refer to a Court of any particular class but to a Civil Criminal or Revenue Court according to the nature of the case in which the question of sanction arises *Ajudha Prasad v Pam Lal, 1 L R 34 All 197 referred to by RICHARDSON, J CHANDI CHARAN GIRI v GADADHAR PRADHAN (1917)

25 ———— False suit—application for sanction to prosecute plaintiff for bringing a false suit—Force—Revision—Delay A defendant against whom an ex parte decree has been passed is not bound to have that decree set aside before applying for sanction to prosecute the plaintiff for bringing a false suit, and such sanction can be given even though the period of limitation for setting aside the ex parte decree has expired When an offence against public justice has been committed the offenders are liable to punishment irrespective of the state of affairs in the civil court Ordinarily delay on the part of a private prosecutor in obtaining sanction in respect of offences against public justice is material as bearing upon the question of bona fides but where the Government is in fact the real prosecutor the question of bona fides does not arise JAGDESHWAR PRASAD v RAJMO MISRA 2 Pat L J 638

26 ———— Delay in applying for—Whether is evidence of mala fides when Government is the applicant—Revision Generally delay by a private person in applying for sanction to prosecute indicates want of bona fides or culpable negligence or laches Where, however, the real applicant for sanction to prosecute for bringing a false suit was the Government, and before the application was made the Criminal Investigation Department of Bihar and Orissa had to make inquiries from the Criminal Investigation Department of the United Provinces, and a reference had also to be made to the Legal Attor-

949. HOW FOR PROSECUTION contd to agree and were never to dispute between the date of a seal of the paper the last of the agreement and that there was to be such as that we would all of us and I had intended to a future person for the government and and that I was in the way of a financial person

2 Feb. 1882

[illegible]

974 L. J. 374

28. ----- Expiry of sanction before date of complaint - This of g. 27 of Division 1 and 2 of sanction without any such - Division of failure of justice - Criminal Procedure Code (Art 1 of 1871), s. 337 (3). Section 337 (3) of the Criminal Procedure Code applies equally to the case of an appeal sanction as to one of a trial warrant of it. A conviction of an offence mentioned in a 175 of the Code cannot be reversed or altered on appeal or revision on the ground that the sanction required by the law was not expressed when the prosecution was instituted, unless it is shown that the absence of sanction has in fact occasioned a failure of justice. Where the accused pleads guilty it was further held that there had been no failure of justice in the case. Raj Chandra Mohandas v. Govd Chandra Marwari 1 I. L. R. 11 (Cal. 1904) affirmed. Sanjay Lal v. State of Madras, 1 I. L. R. 41 (Mad. 1915) approved. Jayaram Das v. Emperor 1 I. L. R. 31 (Mad. 1912) affirmed. Kutub Ali Khan v. Emperor 29 (1901) 1 I. L. R. 63 (Cal. 1901).

SECTION OF COLLET

for sale of Immovable property—de Textes I I P 43 Eccl 519

SANCTION OF GOVERNMENT

See LOTTERY I L. D. C. B. 24 274

SANCTION TO SELL

604 MUHAMMIDAN LAW—WAKF
L. L. R. 37 Cal. 870

SANCTUOS TO FIVE

del 1962 del 1962
del 1962 del 1962
del 1962 del 1962

EASTART CME

Orders of Russia listed separately with Mr. Tolstoy
 As the only Russian Miss. Institute, Art
 181 A. 29 I. L. 2 41 E. 2 177

SAMPLE CTC. 117.50

1 34
N4 Document 1 page
1 of 1 (1/1)

MENTAL PAROXYSM

6-4 DOWLINGTON PARK
6 Feb. 1933

ANTAL PAROANAN SETTLEMENT REGU-LATION 1972

10
11 12 13 14 15 16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25
26
27
28
29
30 31 32
33 34 35
36 37
38
39 40
41 42
43
44
45
46
47 48
49
50 51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58 59 60
61
62
63
64
65
66
67
68
69
70 71
72
73
74
75 76
77
78
79 80
81
82 83
84
85
86
87
88 89
90
91 92
93
94
95
96
97
98
99 100
101
102
103
104
105
106
107
108
109
110
111
112 113
114
115
116
117
118
119
120
121 122
123
124
125
126
127 128
129
130
131
132
133
134
135
136
137
138
139
140
141 142
143
144
145
146
147
148
149
150
151 152
153
154 155 156
157
158
159
160
161
162
163
164
165
166
167
168
169
170
171
172 173
174 175
176
177
178
179
180
181
182
183
184
185
186
187
188
189
190
191
192
193
194
195
196
197
198
199 200 201
202
203
204
205
206 207
208
209
210
211
212 213 214
215
216
217
218
219
220
221
222
223
224
225
226
227
228
229
230
231
232
233
234 235
236
237 238 239
240
241
242
243 244
245
246
247
248
249
250 251
252
253
254
255
256
257
258
259
260
261
262
263 264
265
266
267
268 269
270
271
272
273
274
275
276
277
278
279
280
281
282
283 284
285
286
287
288
289
290
291
292
293
294 295
296
297
298
299
300
301 302
303
304
305
306
307
308
309
310
311
312
313
314
315
316
317
318
319
320
321
322
323
324 325
326
327
328
329
330
331
332
333
334
335
336
337
338
339
340
341
342
343
344
345
346 347
348
349
350 351
352
353
354
355
356
357
358
359
360
361
362
363
364 365
366
367
368
369
370
371
372 373
374
375
376
377
378
379
380
381
382
383
384
385
386
387
388
389
390
391
392
393
394
395
396
397
398 399
400
401
402
403
404
405
406
407
408
409
410
411
412
413
414
415
416
417
418
419
420
421
422
423 424
425
426 427
428 429
430 431
432
433
434
435
436
437
438
439
440
441
442
443
444
445
446
447
448
449
450
451
452
453 454
455
456
457 458
459
460
461 462
463
464
465
466
467
468 469
470
471
472
473
474
475
476
477
478
479
480
481
482 483
484
485
486
487
488
489
490
491
492
493
494
495
496
497
498
499 500
501 502
503
504
505
506
507
508
509
510
511
512
513
514
515
516
517
518
519
520
521 522
523
524
525
526
527
528
529
530 531
532
533
534 535
536
537
538
539
540
541
542
543 544
545
546
547
548 549
550
551 552
553
554
555
556
557
558 559
560
561
562
563
564
565
566
567
568 569
570
571
572
573
574
575
576
577
578
579 580 581
582
583
584
585
586
587
588
589
590
591
592
593
594
595
596
597
598
599
600
601
602
603
604
605
606
607
608
609
610
611
612
613
614
615
616
617
618 619
620
621
622
623
624
625
626 627
628
629
630
631
632
633 634
635
636
637
638
639
640
641
642 643
644
645
646
647
648
649
650
651
652
653
654
655
656
657 658
659
660 661
662
663
664 665
666
667
668
669
670
671
672
673
674
675
676
677
678
679
680
681
682
683
684
685
686
687
688 689 690
691
692
693
694
695
696
697 698
699
700
701
702
703
704
705
706
707
708 709 710
711
712
713
714
715
716
717
718
719
720
721
722
723
724 725
726
727
728 729
730
731
732
733 734
735
736 737 738
739
740
741 742
743
744 745 746
747 748
749
750
751
752
753
754
755
756 757
758
759
760
761
762
763 764
765
766
767
768
769
770
771
772
773
774
775
776
777
778
779
780
781
782
783 784
785 786
787
788
789
790 791
792
793 794 795
796
797
798
799 800
801
802
803
804 805 806
807
808
809
810
811
812
813
814 815
816
817
818
819
820 821
822 823
824
825 826
827
828 829
830
831
832
833
834 835
836
837
838
839 840
841
842
843
844
845
846

On 11, 24 and 25 May 1962, the Court of Appeal in Wong v. Shewan (1962) 100 L.R. 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908,

ASTAX

"Can an 'average' person generally be not in the male sex. KENNEDY KENNEDY
 JAMES J. JOHNSON LAYMAN (1917)
 C. C. W. N. 238

APPENDIX

U. S. Supreme Court
1 L. R. 29 Rom. 188
14 C. W. N. 191

APLYDAS

See HINDU LAW--FRIEDMAN
I L. R. 43 Cal. 244
See HINDU LAW--LYNKAITAN, L.
I L. R. 42 Cal. 334

See HINDS L.A.W.—ADDITION
I L. R. 32 MAR. 77

SARANJAM.

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT,
1874, s 15 I L R 44 Bom 237

See REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT, s 4,
SUB-S. (a) I L R 34 Bom 232

See SARJAM . I L R. 36 Bom. 639

Grant of royal share of revenue—Resumption of Saranjam—Lands can be still held on payment of assessment—Suit to recover possession of land—Revenue Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876), s 4—Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871) s 4 It is well established that in the case of Saranjam or Jaghar (the terms being convertible) the grant is ordinarily of the royal share of the revenue and not of the soil and that the burden of proving that in any particular case it is a grant of the soil lies upon the party alleging it. Krishnarao Ganesh v Rangrar, 4 Bom H C R (A C) 1, Ramchandra v Venkatarao, I L R 6 Bom 538, 606, and Pamkrishnarao v Nanarao, 5 Bom. L R 333, followed. The right to the possession of the land in the case of the Saranjam grant of the royal share of the land revenue does not form part of the Saranjam and is independent of it. The Government can, therefore, resume what they granted as Saranjam, viz., the royal share of the land revenue, and the right to the occupation of the land subject of course to the payment of the full assessment can and does survive the resumption of the Saranjam. Neither s 4 of the Revenue Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876) nor s 4 of the Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871) bars a suit to recover possession of lands the Saranjam rights in which have been resumed by Government. GURURAO SHRINIVAS v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1917) I L R 41 Bom. 408

Inam rights—Miras (permanent tenancy)—Denial of Saranjamdar's title—Attornment to successive Saranjamdars—Estoppel—Claim to hold as Miras tenant—Limited interest—Adverse possession In an ejectment suit brought by an inamdar against persons claiming to hold as miras or permanent tenants, it was conceded that the inam rights in the land in suit appertained to a saranjam holder on political tenure and that the present incumbent of the saranjam was the plaintiff. The defendants resisted the plaintiff's claim to eject them on the ground that the inam rights were merely the right to receive the royal share of the revenue and that the proprietary rights in the soil were, prior to the date of the grant, vested in the grantee of the inam had descended to his heirs independently of the inam and furnished the lease hold or miras rights. Held, that the defendants' contention involved the denial of the title to the reversionary rights in the lands in the defendants' occupation of the successive, saranjamdars approved by Government. The defendants had, however, been continuously paying rent for their holding to the successive saranjamdars including the plaintiff. They were thus estopped by attornment, from disputing the plaintiff's title. Lawder Doss v Babaji Rao, 3 Bom H C R (A C) 175 and Doe dem Marlow v Higgins, 4 Q B 367, referred to. The rights of successive holders of hereditary and impartible estates not governed by the ordinary rules of inheritance but subject to the condition that Government shall approve of the heir may be barred by adverse possession. Telani Ram Chander Singh v Srimati Modho Kumari, L R 12 I A 197, referred to. Where in an ejectment suit by an inamdar it was shown that the defendants, for more than twelve years before the suit, openly asserted their claim to hold as permanent miras tenants. Held, that the defendants had acquired a title to the limited interest claimed by them and could not be ejected. TRIDHAR RAMCHANDRA v SURESH GULAM ZILAFI (1909) I L R 34 Bom. 329

SARANJAM—concl.

Succession to Saranjam—Title by inheritance—Saranjam, rr 2 and 5 under Act XI of 1852—Suit by previous holder of Saranjam—Subsequent holder filing a suit for the same relief—Res judicata—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 11—Adverse possession against the previous holder—Rights of successive holder barred by limitation—Establishment of right to levy assessment—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch I, Art 130 The plaintiff was a Saranjamdar of an ancestral and hereditary Saranjam village where the lands in suit were situate. The lands were in defendant's possession on tenure in consideration of rendering certain Shetpanadi services. The defendants having no longer rendered any service the plaintiff prayed for possession of the lands or in the alternative for a declaration establishing his right to levy assessment. The defendants contended that the suit was barred by limitation and also by res judicata in consequence of a previous decision in a suit (No 458 of 1888) between the plaintiff's brother and the predecessors in title of the defendants for substantially the same reliefs as claimed by the plaintiff. Held that the previous decision operated as res judicata as against the present plaintiff because he was claiming under the previous holder and was litigating under the same title as the previous holder in 1888. Held, further that since the decision in suit of 1888, the defendants and their predecessors in title had been holding adversely without payment of assessment and therefore the claim for assessment was barred by limitation inasmuch as neither special mode of devolution nor an incapacity of alienation would prevent limitation operating against an estate. Padhwal and Pemchandra Konkar v Anant Rao Bhagwant Deshpande I L R 9 Bom 193, followed. Per HEATON, J The words between parties under whom they or any of them claim litigating under the same title in s 11 of the Civil Procedure Code 1908, are intended to cover, and do cover, a case where the later litigant occupies by succession the same position as the former litigant. The words of the section are not intended to make any distinction between different forms of succession. MADHAYARAO HANDBARAO v ANANTYABAI (1916) I L R 40 Bom 606

SARANJAM RULES

S c SARANJAMDAR

I L R. 45 Bom 694

SARANJAMDAR.

Grant of sub inam and Miras rights—Enjoyment of sub inam for statutory period—Sub inam binding on succeeding Saranjamdars—Saranjam, r 5—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s 28 Art 130 The defendant was the Saranjamdar of the village of Bagn which was descendible by inheritance to the eldest member of his family. An ancestor of his had many years ago, granted a sub inam of two fields in the village to an ancestor of the plaintiff a suit when the plaintiff's family enjoyed the lands rentfree. After the introduction of the survey settlement into the village in 1903, the defendant levied assessment for the lands from the plaintiff. The plaintiff having sued to recover the amount of the assessment so levied from him—Held that the grant of a suit inam made by the Saranjamdar was binding on his successors, inasmuch as the Saranjamdar had, on the date of the subgrant absolute interest in the estate. Das Das v. Ishwardas Jag. vardas (1821) 15 Bom. 222 applied. Held further, that a suit to levy assessment on rent-free lands being a suit for possession of property under s. 23 of the Indian Limitation Act 1908, the effect of the failure to institute such a suit within the time allowed by Art. 139 of the Act was the extinguishment of the right to levy the assessment. Alkay (Karnal) v. Kally Pershad (Katterjee) (1857) 3 Cal. 949 followed. SARANJAM GUYED v. TRIMBAKRAO RANCHANDRAKRAO (1920)

SARANJAMDAR—contd.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 694

SARANJAM.

meaning of—

See LATYI LAKSH.

25 C. W. N. 309

SARBARAKARS.

in Orissa—

See LAND TENURE I. L. R. 45 I. A. 248

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 378

*status of a holder of tenure holder—In Orissa papers—resumption and settlement of—Effect—Lands reserved to Dalbheras of resumption, tenure in the jagirdars of the military jagirs into which under Native Rulers, the greater part of Kishik Khurda (in Orissa) was parcelled out (styled Dalbheras) and native revenue officers known as Pradhans, Bhulmala, Kutekharans, Kowri Bhagdas, when the jagirs were resumed by the British Government engaged with Government under the denomination of sarbarakars for the collection and payment of the revenue assessed by it. Held, on the evidence that although from 1818 onwards the tenancy of Government and of the majority of its officers was to regard the sarbarakars as mere officers holders, they themselves had never before 1831 distinctly acknowledged that this was their position, and on the other hand had asserted their status as tenants and there were circumstances connected with their tenure of the lands which militated against the Government's view of their position as servants and their status under their engagement with Government was something higher than that of servants. That from 1831 to 1850, defendant No. 1, the present sarbarakar and his father before him were regarded and treated as tenants and they have successfully asserted their status and maintained their possession as such. That the defendant No. 1's status is that of a tenure-holder Sarbarakars who were originally Dalbheras jagirdars could not in any case be ejected from lands which were reserved to the Dalbheras at the general resumption of the jagirs. KARABINDU JAY v. LAKHAYARD DAS (1913) 18 C. W. N. 74*

SARBARAKARI TENURESee BENGAL RENT ACT 1865 s. 13.

2 Pat. L. J. 75

SARBARAKARI TENURE—contd.See LANDLORD AND TENANT

14 C. W. N. 289

*Tenure holder of mouzas in Khurda in Orissa—Liability of Sarbarakar to dismissal for misconduct—Tenure is attached to dismissal—No revocable or transferable right in office of Sarbarakar. In this case which related to the tenure of a Sarbarakar in Orissa, and to the question whether the first defendant was a tenure holder under the plaintiff, or merely a Sarbarakar. Held, on the evidence (reports and other papers in "collections from the estate appendances on the settlement of the Khurda Estate in the district of Puri," Vols. I and II published in 1879 and 1881), that Sarbarakars in Khurda had under the Government no revocable or transferable right in their office of Sarbarakar or in the Sarbarakari jagirs; that they were liable to be dismissed for misconduct; and that on dismissal they lost all right to occupy any Sarbarakari jagirs; and that on the termination of a settlement they were bound to enter into a fresh engagement with the Government if they wished to be continued in the office of Sarbarakar. Kaddananda Mohi v. Govardhan Mohi 2 B. I. R. 230 16 W. R. 212, disapproved. Held therefore (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the first defendant was not a tenure holder; that he was liable to be dismissed for misconduct from his office of Sarbarakar; that he was rightly dismissed from that office; and that on his dismissal he ceased to be entitled to hold the Sarbarakari lands in mouzah Bhande; and that except as to the Sarbarakari lands in mouzah Panasa basta the plaintiffs were entitled to the decree in ejectment and for possession and to the declaration of title which the Subordinate Judge gave to them. PARAMANANDA DAS GOWAMI v. ANIPASINDBU POT (1918) I. L. R. 46 Cal. 378*

SARDESHMUKHI HAQSee PENSION ACT (XXIII of 1871) s. 4 AND 6 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 196SARDRAKHITI.See INDIAN PAPER EVIDENCE ACT, 1913, s. 3 I. L. R. 1 Lah. 567SARSA WANTA LANDSee GURJANATH TALVEDARS' ACT (HON ACT VI OF 1933) s. 31 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 97SATI.See PUNJ CODE, s. 306. I. L. R. 36 All. 20SATISFACTIONSee CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1882) s. 237A I. L. R. 38 Bom. 219See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXI s. 2

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 333

SATTA.See CONTRACT ACT 1872, ss. 20 AND 65 I. L. R. 42 All. 449SATTAORAHIA MOVEMENTSee HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF I. L. R. 44 Bom. 418

SAYADS.

of Kharkhanda—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)—

I L R 2 Lah. 383

SCANDALOUS MATTER.

See AFFIDAVIT . 14 C. W. N 153

SCHEDULED DISTRICTS ACT (XIV OF 1874).

Whether applicable to South Parganas—

See JURISDICTION I L R. 42 Calc. 116

s 7—R 44 not ultra vires—
Jurisdiction of High Court over conviction and sentences by Mewas Agent R 44 framed by the Government of Bombay under the Scheduled Districts, Act, 1874, is not ultra vires. The High Court of Bombay, may, therefore, take cognizance of any case decided by the Mewas Agent on the petition of a convicted party, and if it thinks fit send for the proceeding and pass a fresh decision. EMPEROR v NAZAR MAHOMED (1917)
I L R. 41 Bom. 657

IT 8, 16—

See AGENCY RULES OF GODAVARI DISTRICT . I L R 41 Mad. 325

SCHEME

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

[I L R 48 Calc. 493

SCHOLARSHIP.

See DEKHEAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF
Act, s 2 I L R 36 Bom 199

SCHOOLMASTER.

Contract of service—
Termination by notice—Reasonable notice, what is in case of schoolmaster—Custom, how proved. One G H W. was appointed a teacher at the Armenian College, Calcutta, for a period of three years, from the 1st March 1912. After the expiry of the period he continued in the employ of the College until July 1916, when he received notice terminating his service as from the 1st August, and in lieu of a month's notice, was paid a month's salary and a certain sum of money for a month's board and lodging. Held, that he was entitled to a reasonable notice and that in such a case, in the absence of misconduct, either three months' notice, or a term's notice would be reasonable notice. Toll v Kerrich, 8 Exch. 151, referred to. Held, further, that, on the evidence adduced, no custom had been established by virtue of which the plaintiff's employment could be terminated by a month's notice. Usage is proved by the oral evidence of persons who become cognizant of its existence by reason of their occupation in the particular trade or business and the evidence establishing custom or usage must be clear, convincing and consistent, and to prove an usage in a particular trade it must be shown that the usage is consistent and reasonable and was universally acquiesced in, and that everybody acknowledged it in the trade and knew of it or might know of it, if he took the pains to enquire. WITTENBACHER v J C. GALSTADT AND OTHERS (1917) . I L R. 44 Calc. 917

SCIENCE—

Gains of—whether partible property of a joint family—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY . I L R. 2 Lah. 40

SCOPE OF AGENCY.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

[I L R. 43 Calc. 511

SCREENING OFFENCE.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
ss 213, 214 I L R. 37 Bom 658

SCRIBE.

attestation by—

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872, s 68

I L R 35 All. 254

1 Pat. L. J 129

See MORTGAGE (MISC) 4 Pat L. J 511

See MORTGAGE BOND

I L R. 46 Calc. 522

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882,
s 59 I L R. 44 Bom. 405

SEA CUSTOMS ACT (VIII OF 1878).

notifications under—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s 56
I L R 40 Bom 301

ss 167 (3), 182, 183, 191—Attachment of silver ingots by Police—Inquiry by Customs clerk in absence of plaintiff—Sentence of confiscation and fine passed by the Collector of Customs merely on the report of the clerk—Civil suit by the plaintiff to recover value of silver confiscated and amount of fine levied—Jurisdiction of Civil Court to try the suit. A Sub Inspector of Police, while conducting a search of the plaintiff's house for a criminal offence, found no incriminating articles but came across silver ingots, which he attached and sent over to a clerk in the Customs Department. The clerk suspected that the silver was imported into British India without payment of duty, made an inquiry in plaintiff's absence, and submitted a report to the Collector of Customs. The Collector, without taking any evidence himself and without hearing the plaintiff, passed an order confiscating the silver under the provision of s 182, and fining the plaintiff in a sum of Rs 1,000 under s 167 (3) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. The plaintiff sued to recover the value of the silver confiscated and the amount of the fine levied, but the trial Court rejected the claim on the ground that it had no jurisdiction to hear the suit, as the Collector's decision was final under the provisions of s 182 of the Act. The plaintiff having appealed—Held, that the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to hear the suit was not ousted, if it appeared that there had been no legal adjudication of the matter by the Collector in accordance with the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. GANESH MAHADEV v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1918)
I L R. 43 Bom 221

SEAMAN.

See MERCHANT SEAMEN ACT (I OF 1839), s 83, cl 4 I L R. 39 Bom 558

SEARCH.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss. 98—105—

s. 103 . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 67

s. 163 . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 14

formalities of—

See RIOTING . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 836

irregularities in—

See Dacoity . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 350

Search by Police officers
Power to search the house of an accused for specific documents and things—Resisting such search—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 94, 165—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 353 See 94 and 165 of the Criminal Procedure Code extend to accused persons. The latter section authorizes a search of the house of the accused for specific documents and things necessary to the conduct of an investigation into an offence. Malomed Jackrab & Co v Ahmed Malomed, 1 L. R. 15 Calc. 109, followed. Nizam of Hyderabad v. Jacob, 1 L. R. 19 Calc. 82, referred to. Bayrangji Gope v. Emperor, 1 L. R. 33 Calc. 304, and Frankhang v. King Emperor, 16 C. W. N. 1078, commented on and explained. Jahwar Chandra Ghoshal v. Emperor, 12 C. W. N. 1016, distinguished. Where information was laid at the thana of criminal breach of trust by a servant, of a particular sum of money and he was arrested, and thereafter the sub-inspector of Police proceeded with the informant and searched a house in the joint possession of the suspect and his brothers, whereupon they and others resisted the search and assaulted the sub-inspector and confined and assaulted the informant; Held, that the search was lawful under s. 165 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and that the conviction therefor must be upheld. Biswar Mishra v. Emperor (1913).

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 261

SEARCH FOR ARMS.

See TREASPASS . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 853

Right of Magistrate to search for arms—Arms Act (XI of 1878), s. 25 Judicial functions—Trespass—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 36, 96, 105—Act XVIII of 1850 In a suit for trespass against the District Magistrate, instituted by one of the zamindars whose cutcherry had been searched and no arms of any kind found; Held (reversing the decision of the first Court and of the majority of the Appellate Court, and upholding the decision of BERRY, J.), that the search was warranted by the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898). A serious offence had been committed against the public tranquillity into which it was the duty of the District Magistrate to enquire and by virtue of his superior rank he was, at Jamalpore, the proper person to conduct the enquiry. By s. 36 Sch. III, and s. 96 of the Code, the power of issuing a search warrant was among his "ordinary powers," and therefore under s. 105 he had power to direct a search to be made in his presence if he thought it advisable to do so. That being so, it was unnecessary to decide on the other defences set up but, semble (agreeing with the majority of the Court of Appeal), that the District Magistrate not having complied with the preliminary condition prescribed by s. 25 of the Arms

SEARCH FOR ARMS—concll.

Act (XI of 1878) could not defend his action under that statute. Also (agreeing with BERRY, J.), that the District Magistrate in directing a general search of the plaintiff's cutcherry in view of an enquiry under the Criminal Procedure Code, was acting in the discharge of his judicial functions and had it been necessary might have appealed for protection to Act XVIII of 1850. CLARKE v. BRAJENDRA KISHORE ROY CHOWDHURY (1912). . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 953

SEARCH FOR EXPLOSIVES.

See MAGISTRATE . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 119

SEARCH WARRANT.

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 403

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV of 1860),

ss. 332, 323 . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 353

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III of 1867),

s. 5 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 597

See UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT (IV of 1910)—

s. 60 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 575

s. 63 . . . I. L. R. 25 All. 358

Endorsement of warrant by officer to whom issued—

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT 1867, ss. 3, 4, 6, 10 AND 11 . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 385

Issue of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 96, 98 . . . 22 C. W. N. 716

Search warrant for production of a person confined—Form of warrant—Use of warrant prescribed in Form 1111, Sch. V—Legality of warrant—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 100 It is immaterial what form is used for a search warrant under s. 100 of the Criminal Procedure Code, provided that the substance of it complies with the requirements of the section. A search warrant intended to be issued under s. 100 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and drawn up in accordance with Form VIII, Sch. V, relating to search warrants under s. 90, but with alterations adapted to meet the requirements of the former section, is legal. Guramiah v. King Emperor, 16 C. W. N. 336, approved. Bisw Halder v. Emperor, 11 C. W. N. 836, distinguished. LEGAL REVENUE OFFICER v. MOZAM MOLLA (1918). . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 905 Power of Magistrate to issue same—Condition of jurisdiction—Pendency of enquiry trial or other proceeding—Existence of materials on which he can form an independent opinion as to the necessity of granting it—Opinion of police officer as to such necessity unimportant—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 96 (1) A Magistrate must, under s. 96 (1), paragraph (3), of the Criminal Procedure Code, apply his mind to the question whether the purposes of any enquiry, trial or other proceeding under the Code will be served by a general search, and unless there are materials before him, connecting the person against whom the warrant is applied for with the offences alleged, upon which he can come to an independent decision on the point, he has no power to issue a search warrant. He cannot grant such warrant simply because a police officer informs him that it is necessary and asks him to do so Per CHAUDHURI J A Magistrate has no power to issue a search warrant under paragraph (3) when there is no enquiry trial or other proceeding under the Code pending before him, but there is only some investigation into alleged offences being made by the police Clarke v. Brojendra Kishore Poy Choudhury, I. L. R. 39 Calc 953, distinguished T R TRATT, v EMPEROR (1920) . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 537

SEARCH WARRANT—conclld.

Purposes of enquiry trial or other proceeding—Legality of warrant for production of infringing books, plates, letters and orders relating thereto, to be dealt with under s 10 of the Copyright Act—Order staying execution of warrant on the passing of a bond for the production of infringing books, etc., in Court—Legality of such order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 96—Indian Copyright Act (III of 1914), ss 7, 10 The Magistrate has power, under s 96 of the Criminal Procedure Code, to issue a search warrant for the production of copies of the infringing books, proofs, plates printed, and set up matters, together with letters and orders with reference to the book, for the purpose of making an order under s 10 of the Indian Copyright Act (III of 1914) Where the person against whom such search warrant was issued prays for the stay thereof, and offers and undertaking not to sell copies of the infringing books but to produce them before the Court whenever required the Magistrate has jurisdiction to stay execution of the warrant conditionally on the execution of a bond to produce the copies in Court Purna Chandra Bando padhya v Sasi Bhawan Mullick, 2 C W 322, distinguished KISHORI MOHAN BAGCHI v. HARI DAS BYRACK (1919) . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 164

SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT—

Power of the police to search the house of an absconding offender generally for stolen property on information of dacoity against him—Legality of Search—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 21 and 165—Rioting—Common object to resist such search—Right of private defence—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss 99, 147, 323, 353 S 165 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not authorize a general search for stolen property in the house of the absconding offender, against whom an information has been laid of having committed a dacoity It refers only to specific documents or things which may be the subject of a summons or order under s 94 of the Code, and the latter does not extend to stolen articles or any incriminating document or thing in the possession of the accused Jahwar Chandra Ghosal v Emperor, 12 C W 3 1016, referred to Where a Sub Inspector, on receiving information of the commission of a dacoity, searched the house of one of the alleged offenders accompanied by the complainant and the village officers, but without a search warrant, whereupon they were beaten by the petitioners who were charged with, and convicted of, rioting, with the common object of resisting the search, assault and causing hurt, under ss 147, 323 and 353 of the Penal Code — Held, that the search was illegal, and that, the common object having failed, the conviction under ss 147 was bad BAJRANGI GOPAL EMPEROR (1910) . I. L. R. 38 Calc 304

SEAWORTHINESS.

See BILL OF LADING
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 941

SEBAIL.

See BUSTEE LAND I. L. R. 41 Calc. 104
See LIMITATION L. R. 41 I. A. 267

See SHERAIT

— indemnity to estate of—

See PARTIES I. L. R. 37 Calc. 229

SECOND APPEAL.

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 38 Calc 391

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882, ss 584, 585 I. L. R. 34 All. 579

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

ss 14, 151, O XLVII, r 1

I. L. R. 32 All 71

ss 100 to 104 and O XLII.

s 110, O XLV, r 5

I. L. R. 42 Bom 609

O XLI RE 1 AND 3,

I. L. R. 43 All. 660

O XLI, R 23 AND 25

4 Pat. L J 645

See COURT FEES ACT 1870, s 17

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 628

See CUSTOM OR USAGE

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 285

See EASEMENT I. L. R. I Lah 206

See ESTOPPEL L. R. 44 I A 213

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872—

s 32 3 Pat L J 306

s 32 (5) I. L. R. 39 All. 426

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 45

See HOMESTEAD LAND

I. L. R. 42 Calc 638

See JUDGMENT 2 Pat. L. J 8

See JURISDICTION L. R. 46 I A 140

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s 5.

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 613

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 192 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 655

See ORISSA TENANCY ACT 1913, s 31

3 Pat L J 351

See POSSESSORY SUIT

I. L. R. 45 Calc 519

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 37 All 524

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS

ACT (IX OF 1897), SCH II, ARTS 3

AND 23 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 533, 538

APT 8 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 367

ART 13 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 131

See REWARD I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1104

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 888

See RENT . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 278

See REVIEW . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 809

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1011

SECOND APPEAL—contd

See SPECIAL APPEAL

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882) s. 41 I L R 38 All 308

See VATAN I L R 37 Bom. 700

— construction of document—

See CONTRACT I L R. 42 Bom 344

— from an order passed under O XXI,

r 89—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss 47 AND 104 I L R 44 Bom 472

— from order of Lower Appellate Court that appeal has abated—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O 1, r. 8 I L R 1 Lah 582 — interference by High Court on—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s 58 I L R 42 Bom. 352

— Misconstruction of document where confer a right of—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT 5 Pat L J 251

— In a rent suit as to the unit of measurement—If can be assailed in—

See RENT 25 C W N 328

— New point of law—Whether can be raised—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE. O XVII, R. 3

6 Pat. L. J 650

— on point of custom—certificate granted after time—limitation—

See PUNJAB COURTS ACT, 1914 s 41 I L R 1 Lah 245

— on point of onus probandi in custom case—

See PUNJAB COURTS ACT, 1918, s 41 I L R 2 Lah 167

— Restoration of appeal—Whether sufficiency of cause for, can be reopened—

6 Pat L J. 625

— where lower Appellate Court has placed onus on the wrong party—

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT 1881, s. 118 I L R 1 Lah 429

1. — Second Appeal of it lies from an order passed under O XXI, r 89 and 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss 2 49 104 (2). O XXI r 89 92, O XLIII, r 1 (5)—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1932) ss 310A 312 and 558 No second appeal lies from an order passed in first appeal from an order under r 89 or 92 of O XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 S 104 sub s (2) of the Code of 1908 takes away the right of second appeal where a second appeal could lie in cases under s 310A read with s. 244 of the Code of 1932 ANANDJI SURESH V SUNDARI BISI (1911) I L R 38 Cal 339

2. — Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1932), s 556—Valuation of suit, determined by plaintiff—Suit for mesne profits, tentative valuation, value if may be increased on appeal

SECOND APPEAL—contd

— Court fees Act (VII of 1930) ss 7, 11—Suits Valuation Act (III of 1937), s 8 The plaintiffs in a suit for mesne profits valued their suit at Rs 300 and prayed that if the amount of mesne profits were found to be greater than Rs 300 they might be awarded a decree for the excess amount upon payment of additional Court fees. At an enquiry held by a Commissioner the plaintiffs put forward a claim to a rate of a rent which if accepted would increase the total claim to above Rs 500. The Commissioner however did not accept that rate and the plaintiff did not take any steps to get the plaint amended nor offer to pay additional Court fee. The Munsif gave a decree for Rs. 223 and the plaintiffs appealed against that decree valuing the appeal at Rs 357 calculating the mesne profits at the rate at which they were claimed before the Commissioner. Held, that for purposes of jurisdiction the suit must be held to have been valued at Rs 300 and that therefore no second appeal lay. Jyotulla Bhuyan v Chandra Mohan Banerji, I L R 34 Cal 254 s c 11 C W N 1133 distinguished Sri Bollar Bhattacharya v Baburam Chattopadhyay, I L R 11 Cal 169, followed. It was not open to the plaintiffs in their appeal to put a higher value on their suit than in the plaint without an application to amend the plaint and such valuation did not have the effect of increasing the value of the subject matter of the suit. KALI KAMAL MAITRA v FAIZLAL RAHAMAN KHAN CHOWDHURI (1910) 15 C W N 454

3. — Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act (Beng VI of 1908) ss 87, 224, 264—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 190—Landlord and tenant. No second appeal lies to the High Court from the decision of a Judicial Commissioner passed on appeal against the decision of a Revenue Officer under s 87 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act. RAGHUBAR SARKI v TROTAP UDOT NATH SARKI DFO (1911)

I L R 39 Cal 241

4. — Sale application for confirmation of, by auction purchaser against judgment-debtor, under s 312 of the Code—Auction-purchaser is a necessary party in a proceeding under s 311 of the Code—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss 311, 312 No second appeal lies against an order refusing an application by the auction purchaser against the judgment debtor for confirmation of sale, under s 312 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 inasmuch as such a case between the auction purchaser and the judgment debtor cannot be regarded as a proceeding between the parties to the suit or their representatives under s 244 of the Code. The auction purchaser is not a necessary party to an application under s 311 of the Code. Karamat Khan v Mir Ali Ahmed Ali W N 2 (1909) 191, not followed. Ali Cusker Khan v Esmadhar I L R 15 All 407 distinguished. SURENDRA MONI DFO v AMAYEN CHANDRA CHATTERJI (1912)

I L R 39 Cal 637

5. — Land Acquisition Act (I of 1924) s 54—Bombay Civil Courts Act (XIV of 1932) s 16—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 56 (1)—Reference to Assistant Judge—Award not exceeding Rs 6000—Appeal to the District Judge—Second appeal to the High Court not maintainable. A reference having been made in accordance with the provisions of the Bombay

SECOND APPEAL—contd.

Civil Courts Act (XIV of 1869) to the Assistant Judge, he tried the reference and made an award under the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894) which did not exceed Rs 5,000. An appeal was presented against the said award to the District Judge and he having decided the appeal, a second appeal was preferred to the High Court. Held, that under s. 16 of the Bombay Civil Courts Act (XIV of 1869) the Court authorized to hear appeals from the Assistant Judge's Court where the value of the subject matter was less than Rs 5,000, was the District Court and not the High Court and no second appeal being expressly given by the Act, the (second) appeal to the High Court was not maintainable. ANVEDHAI HANIDHOY v WAMAN DHOTDU (1913) 1 L. R. 33 Bom 337

6. ——— Boundary dispute—Thak map and Government chittas, which to be preferred—Chittas assumed to be public documents and therefore preferred—Error of law affecting weight to be attached to evidence—Remand Where the lower Appellate Court in determining a question of boundaries preferred certain Government Chittas of the year 1844 to the Thak map, on the assumption, made without enquiry, that the chittas were public documents. Held, that if they were private documents, it was impossible for the High Court to say to what extent the lower Appellate Court was influenced by the idea that the chittas were public documents and the case should be remanded for a finding as to whether the chittas were public or private documents. That but for this, both the Thak and the chittas being evidence, it was for the lower Appellate Court to attach such value as it thought proper to each of them and the High Court in second appeal would not go into the weight to be attached to each. NAKUDRA KISHORE ROY v RAHIMA BANTU (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1015

7. ——— Second appeal, if lies in suit for rent other than house rent not exceeding Rs. 500 in value In suits for rent (other than house rent) although the value thereof does not exceed Rs 500 a second appeal lies to the High Court. BAHODRA MODALI v NABIN CHAND BORA (1914) 19 C. W. N. 1030

8. ——— Order of Settlement Officer settling rent, whether open to second appeal—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855), ss 105 & 106, 109A—Excess area. Per CURRIE When in a proceeding under s. 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act the Settlement Officer is asked to increase the rent under sub s. (4) in accordance with the rules laid down in s. 52, and the claim is refused on appeal to the Special Judge, on the ground that the land of the tenant is not proved to be in excess of the area for which rent has been previously paid a second appeal is not barred by s. 109A of that Act. RAMESWAR SINGH v BHOONESWAR JHA, 1 C. L. J. 133, and Grant v Ram Kelka Bhagat, 11 C. L. J. 110, considered. Per MOOKERJEE, J. If in any proceeding under s. 105 questions under s. 105A have been investigated and determined, the order of the Settlement Officer, though in form an order which settles a fair and equitable rent does in substance, embody a decision of questions within the scope of s. 105A, and consequently of s. 109. Such a decision is not one merely settling a rent within the meaning of s. 105A and is consequently liable to be challenged by way of second

SECOND APPEAL—contd.

appeal to the High Court. JANAKA SUNDARI CHOWDHURANI v ANUDI SARKAR (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 603

9. ——— Finding of fact—Benami transaction—Suit by husband on mortgage in name of wife—Wife impleaded as defendant—Presumption Held, (i) that the question whether a person who sues on a mortgage, not being the mortgagee named in the document is or is not the true owner of the mortgage is not a question of fact, and (ii) that where a person so suing impleaded the nominal mortgagee (who was his wife) as a defendant and no objection was taken by her, there was a reasonable inference that the plaintiff's statement that he was true owner of the mortgage sued on was as between himself and his wife, correct. DEJAI v SHIAM LAL (1915) 1 L. R. 38 All. 122

10. ——— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 100—Question whether custom exists if of fact or law While the question whether a given state of facts establishes a binding custom or usage is a question of law, the question whether such a state of facts has been proved by the evidence is a question of fact. KAILASH CHANDRA DATTA v PADMAKISHORE ROY (1917) 21 C. W. N. 972

11. ——— High Court, if can see whether case decided by lower Court on surmise and conjecture It is open to the High Court in second appeal to see whether the lower Appellate Court has as alleged, decided the case not on evidence but on surmise and conjecture. DHRUPADA CHANDRA KOLEY v HARI NATH SINGH (1918) 22 C. W. N. 826

12. ——— New point taken in second appeal if to be allowed—New point of law involving questions of fact if can be taken for the first time in second appeal—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1855) s. 29 if can be applied in second appeal where there is no finding by the lower Courts as to whether the tenant is an occupancy raiyat. Plaintiff sued for rent at Rs. 48 per year on the basis of a labdilyat, according to the terms of which a remission of Rs. 15 per year was to be allowed till the expiry of the lease and after which plaintiff would be entitled to realise at the full rate of Rs. 48. The suit was brought for rents of years after the expiry of the lease and defendant pleaded that the plaintiff had waived his right to realise at Rs. 48, by continuing to realise at the old rate even after expiry of the lease. On second appeal to the High Court a new point was taken that the lease was a mere device to evade the provisions of s. 29 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Held, that it was not right in second appeal, to allow a point to be taken which was not taken in either of the lower Courts and which involve two questions of fact. First, it had to be shown that the defendant was an occupancy raiyat, and even if that were shown, it would further have to be proved that the contract was a mere device to evade the provisions of the statute. JADAV CHANDRA MOULIK v MANIK SARKAR (1917) 22 C. W. N. 156

13. ——— Pleadings of both parties found false—Different facts found by lower Appellate Court on evidence—second appeal, High Court, if should proceed on pleadings Where the lower Appellate Court found the cases set up by both parties to be false. Held, on second appeal, that the High Court should proceed not on the pleadings but on the facts found. RAM NABESH OJHA v. GOUTI SHANKAR (1917)

SECOND APPEAL—contd.

22 C. W. N. 149

14. — Remand—whether court will remand in second appeal for admission of Record of Rights which was not in existence at the time of trial. The court will not remand a case for a fresh hearing in order that a Record of Rights, which was published after the decision of the first Court, might be taken into consideration. INITIAL HUSSAIN KHAN v. BEYVALI NONTA . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 584

15. — "Decree"—Execution of decree—order setting aside sale on ground of fraud whether second appeal lies from—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), ss. 2, 47, O XXI, r. 90 and O XLIII. It is not open to a party to impeach a sale under a 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, on the ground of fraud in conducting the sale. If a Court, professing to act under s. 47, sets aside a sale on the objection of the judgment-debtor, the order setting aside the sale is not a decree. O XLIII provides for an appeal from an order setting aside a sale on the ground of irregularity or fraud in publishing or conducting the sale, but no second appeal lies from such an order. O XXI, r. 90, covers a case of fraud committed after the publication of the sale proclamation. Where the decree holder agreed not to hold the sale if payment was made within a certain time, and he then fraudulently proceeded to sell the property in contravention of this arrangement. Held, that this amounted to fraud in the matter of the conduct of the sale. SHEIKH MAULI BUX v. RAQIB BAR GANJHU . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 645

16. — Findings on facts of lower Appellate Court should be clear, for the High Court in second appeal cannot go behind them. HANIPADA MUKHERJEE v. RADHA BOLLAV PAL (1919) . . . 23 C. W. N. 1018

17. — Filed orally as a revision and allowed by admitting Judge to be converted into an appeal on deposit of Court fees—whether the order is open to objection at the hearing—Limitation—date on which appeal must be filed to have been present—sufficient cause for extending period—Indian Limitation Act, IX of 1908, s. 5 Above was decided by the Lower Appellate Court on the 3rd of March 1915 and an application for revision was filed in the Chief Court on the 4th of June 1915 i.e., within ninety days. When it was pointed out to counsel who filed the revision that an appeal lay he merely stated that he had filed the revision instead of an appeal because he relied mostly on facts and not on law. The application coming on for preliminary hearing before a Judge in chambers he held that no revision lay as the defendant could file a second appeal and directed notice to issue to the opposite party. After hearing respondent's counsel the Judge, by his order, dated the 7th of February 1916, allowed the petition for revision to be treated as a second appeal subject to the payment of the necessary Court fee within one week. The Court fee was accordingly paid on the 11th of February 1916. The appeal coming on for hearing before a Division Bench it was contended on behalf of the respondent that it was time-barred. Held, that the appeal was one which under the rules of the Court had to be heard by a Division Bench, and that the order of the single Judge who admitted it was subject to all just exceptions and to anything which might be urged at the hearing. The appeal could not be considered to have been presented till the date on which the memorandum of appeal was properly stamped, and as there was no sufficient cause for extending the time under s. 5 of the Limitation Act the appeal was barred by time. Ram Takal Singh v. Dubri Pasi (I L. R. 23 All 319) and Reval Singh v. Shadi (95 P. R 1917), followed. Per SCOTT SMITH J. "It was argued here that the Judge in Chambers who allowed the petition for revision to be treated as an appeal in reality extended the time for payment of the Court fee within the meaning of s. 149, Civil Procedure Code. The appeal, however, was one which under the rules of the Court has to be heard by a Division Bench and we are of opinion that the Judge who admitted it did not intend to decide any question of limitation. He could not admit the appeal at all until it was properly stamped and his order of admission was of course subject to all just exceptions and to anything which might be urged at the hearing." UMED ALI v. MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, JHANG-MAGHIANA . . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 1.

SECOND APPEAL—contd.

18. — Power of Judicial Commissioner on second appeal to interfere with concurrent findings of fact of the lower Courts—Omission to decide real question in case or frame issue on it—Wrong decision on evidence—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 100 In this case the Judicial Commissioner in a second appeal set aside the concurrent findings of fact of the Courts below in favour of the appellants, on the grounds that the real question in the case had not been considered, nor had an issue been framed on it, and that those Courts had wrongly decided that on the evidence there was fraud on the part of the respondent. The Judicial Commissioner found that there was no evidence to support the finding of fraud, and that the real question in the case should, on the evidence, have been found in favour of the respondent, and made a decree in his favour. Held, that under the circumstances of the case, the Judicial Commissioner had on the terms of s. 100 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, power to act as he had done, and to decide what was the real question in the case, notwithstanding that an issue had not been framed on it. DANTRA v. ABDEL SAMAD (1919).

I L. R. 47 Cal. 107

19. — Court sale—Application to recover deficiency of price from a defaulting purchaser—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r. 71—Claim for rupees less than five hundred—Application must be treated as one made in execution of a Small Cause Court decree—No Second Appeal lies The plaintiff decree holder applied under O XXI, r. 71, Civil Procedure Code, 1908, to recover deficiency of price from a defaulting purchaser. The claim was made for rupees three hundred and sixty. Both the lower Courts disallowed plaintiff's claim. On appeal to the High Court, a preliminary objection was raised that no second appeal lay. Held, upholding the objection, that the application made by the plaintiff must be treated as one made in execution of a Small Cause Court decree and there was no second appeal from such an application. RAJACHARYA v CHEMANNA (1920) I. L. R. 45 Bom. 223

SECOND APPEAL—contd

20 ————— Held, that a memorandum of second appeal to the High Court must be accompanied by a copy of the judgment of the Court of first instance, and if the latter is not presented till after the period of limitation has expired, the appeal should ordinarily be rejected as barred by limitation. Dhanpat Mal v Mela Mal (67 P. R. 1917), followed. MOLU MAL v SRI RAM I. L. R. 2 Lah. 227

20 (a) ————— Misconstruction of a document does not always confer a right of second appeal. It must be shown that there is a question of the legal effect of a document of title or a contract. KULDIP NARAYAN RAI v BADWARI RAI . 5 Pat. L. J. 251

20 (b) ————— Held, that where the question of burden of proof involves a question of custom no second appeal is competent without a certificate. MILKHI v MAST POWNL I. L. R. 2 Lah. 348

21 ————— Held, that although the High Court in second appeal is bound by the findings of the lower Court such findings cannot stand when they have been arrived at on a consideration of the documentary evidence alone and without taking into consideration the oral evidence in the case. BANKARI RAI v KASHORI MANDAL . 6 Pat. L. J. 72

22 ————— Findings of fact when can be challenged in— In a suit for khas possession the defendants pleaded that they held under a lease. The Court of Appeal below found that the lease required to be proved that there was no document evidencing settlement nor in fact any evidence in settlement at all, and that though there were two rent receipts they were not properly proved. In the Court of first instance the said rent receipts were admitted in evidence without objection by the plaintiffs. Further as a matter of fact there was evidence both oral and documentary about the settlement. Held that the rent receipts having been admitted in evidence without objection in the Court of first instance, no objection could be taken in the appellate Court that they were not properly proved. Held further that when there was evidence of the settlement in question the finding of fact arrived at by the lower appellate Court on the point could be successfully challenged in second appeal. 25 C. W. N. 891

23 ————— Finding of fact arrived at on consideration of evidence not admissible. The Lower Appellate Court in considering the question whether plaintiff had proved that he was a minor when he executed a certain mortgage referred to a judgment which was not admissible in evidence but which he considered could not be wholly ignored in a subsequent case in which plaintiff's age was in issue. Held, that a finding of fact arrived at on consideration of evidence which is inadmissible and which proceeds partly on such evidence can be assailed in second appeal. Musammal Sumitra Kuer v Ram Kuer (57 Indian cases 561), followed. BALWANT SINGH v BALDEV SINGH I. L. R. 2 Lah. 271

SECOND APPEAL—concl

24. ————— Onus probandi—mortgage—admission by mortgagore before Sub Registrar of receipt of full consideration—onus on them to prove non receipt. R. and others, the defendants, executed a mortgage in favour of G. R., the plaintiff, for Rs. 4,580, made up of sums due to previous mortgagee, previous debts due on bank account, price of buffaloes and payment of debts due to other persons. Before the Sub Registrar the executors admitted receipt of full consideration, but at mutation they stated that the whole of the consideration had not been received. Mutation was therefore refused and G. R. was forced to bring the present suit for possession as mortgagore. The first Court dismissed the suit holding that plaintiff had failed to prove that consideration had passed and the District Judge on appeal confirmed the dismissal. Held, that the question of onus probandi arising in this case was a question of law rendering a second appeal competent. Held also, that the admission before the Sub Registrar that full consideration had been received was a clear one and the onus to show that consideration had not passed in full was therefore upon the defendants who had made the admission. Kishan Chand v Sohan Lal (26 Indian cases 913), followed. GANGA RAM v RULIA . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 249

SECOND MARRIAGE

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—BIGAMY
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 409

SECOND MORTGAGE

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 702

SECOND MORTGAGEE.

————— claim of—
See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 907
————— Sale by—
See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 682 ————— suit by, for surplus proceeds—
S & LIMITATION I. L. R. 41 Calc. 654

SECOND PROBATE

————— duty on—
See PROBATE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 625

SECOND SALE

See PATNI SALE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 780

SECOND SANCTION

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 584

SECOND TRIAL.

See ACTRESS'S ACCUSE
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1072

SECONDARY EVIDENCE.

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 33 ALL. 494
See EVIDENCE ACT
————— of Parsi marriage—
See PARSIS MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE ACT
(XV OF 1863) SE. 3 & 8 AND 9 TO 14
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 148

SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

See CAUSE OF ACTION

I L. R. 38 Calc. 797

See COSTS I. L. R. 40 Bom. 588

See CROWN

See EAST INDIA COMPANY

—delegation of Authority—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L. R. 38 Calc. 754

—if necessary party—

See PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT

(BENG I OF 1895) 14 C. W. N. 608

—liability of for Costs—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 524

5 Pat. L. J. 321

—non-liability of, for acts done in exercise of Sovereign powers—

See TORT I. L. R. 39 Mad. 351

—mortgage by—

See BOMBAY CITY LAND REVENUE ACT

(BOM II OF 1876), ss 30, 35, 39, 40

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 664

—notice of suit against—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF

1908), s. 80 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 113

—status of—

See PARLIAMENT, MEMBER OF—

17 C. W. N. 753

—suit against—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s 424

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 362

See JURISDICTION I L. R. 40 Calc. 308

391

See NOTICE I L. R. 40 Calc. 503

See PUNITIVE POLICE

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 452

—suit by—

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES

ACT (BOM III OF 1901), s 42

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 168

See PENALTY I. L. R. 43 Calc. 230

1. ————— Pay and Pension

—Cause of action—Pensions Act (XIII of 1871), s 4 The plaintiff, who was in the Educational Department drawing a salary of Rs 150 a month, was in 1881 employed by the Government on special duty under an agreement, one of the terms being "from the 1st September, 1881, his pay will be raised during good behaviour to Rs 300 a month." It was assumed that this meant "for the term of his natural life." The special duty was completed, but the plaintiff, in spite of his protests was retained on deputation till 1902, when he was made to revert to the Educational Department and was retired in 1904. Since or from shortly before his retirement he was paid only Rs 150 a month. In an action instituted by the plaintiff against the Secretary of State for a declaration that he was entitled to be paid Rs 300 a month for his natural life, and for arrears on the basis of that figure—Held, that the plaintiff must be taken to have treated the who's of his service under Government as one service, and that anything payable to him after the termination of that service was in the nature of a "pension" within the meaning of s 4 of the Pensions Act of

SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA—contd.

1871, and hence the suit was not maintainable
SARAT CHANDRA DAS v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1910) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 378

2. ————— Suit against in respect of illegal order of District Magistrate under Assam Labour Emigration Act (VI of 1901), s 91, and also for alleged defamation in a Government order—Damage, remoteness of—Liability of defendant under the Government of India Act, 1858, not liable here on the ground that the order was made in the course of employment, nor for acts done by Government servants in exercise of statutory powers—Alleged ratification by the Local Government—Government order—Absolute privilege Suit by the plaintiff, who represented the Assam Labour Supply Association in Ganjam and other districts, against the Secretary of State for India in Council for damages in respect of two orders of the District Magistrate of Ganjam suspending and dismissing one T. S., the local agent of the Association in Ganjam and closing his depot to recruiting under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act (VI of 1901), whereby the plaintiff was prevented from earning from the members of the Association his commission of seven rupees for each labourer sent to Assam, and for an alleged libel on the plaintiff in an order passed by the Governor in Council on appeals by the plaintiff and other against the aforesaid orders, in which it was stated that the plaintiff's own conduct was not altogether above suspicion.
Held, under the Notification issued pursuant to s. 91 of the aforesaid Act as amended relaxing the provisions of the Act in favour of the Association the District Magistrate had power to dismiss the local agent but not to suspend him or to close his depot to recruiting under the Act independently of the Notification. Semble That the damage to the plaintiff by reason of the loss of his commission was too remote. The defendant's liability to suit is the same as that of the East India Company before the passing of the Government of India Act, 1858; it can only be altered by Act of Parliament, and is not affected by s. 79, Civil Procedure Code.
Extent of such liability in respect of acts done in the exercise of sovereign powers not being acts of State, discussed. It was not sufficient to render the Company liable that an act of this nature had been done by its servant in the course of employment but without previous order or subsequent ratification. Ratification must have been by the Company and must now be by the Secretary of State. Essentials of ratification discussed. In the present case the defendant was not liable for the act of the District Magistrate on the further ground that it was done by him in the exercise of statutory authority and not as an agent of Government.
Further, as to the alleged defamation, the order of the Government of Madras, having been published in the execution of its duty and without exceeding it, was absolutely privileged, and in any case there was no evidence of malice. Bhagjee Dadajee v
East India Company, 2 Mor Dig 307, Pennineer and Oriental Steam Navigation Company v The Secretary of State, 5 Bom H C R Appx 1, Bari
Bhargy v The Secretary of State for India, I. L. R.
4 Mad 344, Sitabhojan v The Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 28 Bom 314, referred to. Vijaya Ragava v The Secretary of State for India, I. L. R.
7 Mad 466, questioned. Ross v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1913) I. L. R. 37 Mad. 55

3. ————— Held, by the Court on appeal (affirming the judgment in I. L. R. 37

SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA—concl

Mad. 55 above) that (i) as the action of the Collector and District Magistrate who was found to have acted without any malice was not directed against the plaintiff, but only against others and as the injury to the plaintiff if any, was not the direct consequence of the Collector's act but was only very remotely connected with it the plaintiff had no cause of action, and (ii) the Governor in Council was not liable for the publication of the defamation and the same was done on a privileged occasion i.e., in the course of its official duties. Held, further by SADASIVA AYYAR J (a) Even the Collector and District Magistrate was not personally liable as he only did his duty imposed on him by the statute [viz s 2 Cl (3) of Assam Labour and Emigration Act (VI of 1901)], and (b) as in doing so he was not the agent of the Government and as the act was not done on Government's behalf the Government could not ratify the same nor can Government be liable even if it had ratified the same. Held, further, by BAKEWELL J that so far as the plaintiff was concerned as he was neither an employer nor his agent he was, according to the Act carrying on an illegal business and his suit was liable to be dismissed also on this ground. ROSS v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915) I L R 39 Mad. 761

SECRET SOCIETY

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY
I L R 37 Cal 467

SECURITIES ACT (XIII OF 1896)

See GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

ss 3 sub-s (2), 6 sub-s (1) cl. (f)—
See RECEIVER I L R 37 Cal 754

SECURITY

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V 1908)
O XXXVIII R 5
I L R 39 Mad 903

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

S 123 I L R 35 Bom 271
Ss 39 123 I L R 37 Bom 178
See EXECUTION 24 C W N 265
See FORFEITURE I L R 47 Cal 190
See JURY I L R 44 Cal 98
See MORTGAGE I L R 44 Cal 388
See INDEMNITY ACT (I of 1910) ss 3 (1) 4 (1), 17, 19 20 AND 22.
I L R 39 Mad 1085

See PRIVY COUNCIL 14 C W N 420

See RECEIVER I L R 46 Cal 70

See SURETY 24 C W N 879

See STAY OF EXECUTION
I L R 41 Cal 160

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (II OF 1883) ss 7 AND 9
I L R 40 All. 81

demand of, by Magistrate—

See PRISER ACT (I of 1910) ss 3 (1) 4 (1)
17, 19 20 AND 22
I L R 39 Mad. 1083

deposit of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) O XXI, R 10 AND R 129
I L R 37 Bom 572

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 FOR 1 ART
164 15 C W N 102

SECURITY—concl

for production of insolvent debtor—
See FORFEITURE I L R 39 Cal 104

Investing on unauthorised—

See PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (VI OF 1876) ss 38 37
I L R 39 Mad. 101

See TRUSTEE I L R 38 Mad 71

mode of enforcement of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 145
O XXXIV, R 14
I L R 38 All 327

scope of—

See MORTGAGE I L R 43 Cal 595

SECURITY FOND—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 38 Cal 754
I L R 42 All 158

by the Secretary of State for India—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE
I L R 38 Cal 754

for decree-holder—

See PROCEDURE L R 46 I A. 228

Discretion of Court—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872) s 74
I L R 45 Bom 1213

SECURITY FOR COSTS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
ss 109 110 O XXI R 10
I L R 36 All. 325

O XXX R 1 I L R 35 Bom 421
I L R 36 Bom 415

O XXI, R. 10

See COSTS I L R 46 Cal 156

See INSOLVENCY I L R 43 Cal 243

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, ss 6 AND 16
3 Pat L J 132

See PROCEDURE I L R 48 Cal 481

Failure to comply with order for—

See PROCEDURE
I L R 48 Cal. 481

Infant plaintiff—Civil

*Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), Sec I O XXI, r 1—*It is not desirable to run any risk of stopping a suit filed on behalf of an infant, which may be a proper suit to bring merely because of some inability on the part of the next friend to give security for costs. BNARSHANKAR AMBARNATH KER v MEHJI ASHARAY (1910)
I L R 35 Bom 339

Appeal in forma pauperis—

Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XXI, r 10 not applicable to pauper appellants.

Security should not be demanded. The plaintiff having obtained a decree in the lower Court, the defendants appealed and applied for leave to appeal in forma pauperis. The application was granted. The defendant appellant (lower) resided out of British India and was not possessed of sufficient immovable property in British India. The plaintiff respondent having demanded security for costs incurred in the lower Court and costs of the appeal.

SECURITY FOR COSTS—contd

under O. XLI, r. 10 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1903. Held that the general provisions relating to appeals in O. XLI, r. 10, Civil Procedure Code, 1903 did not apply to pauper appeals so as to impose upon the Court the duty of demanding security from a pauper appellant who having been found to be a pauper ex hypothesi could not give security. Wille v. St. John, (1910), 1 C.A. 701 followed. KHEMRAJ SHETKISHANADAS v. KISAN LALA SURAJMAL (1917) 1 L.R. 42 Bom. 5

In an appeal the Lower Appellate Court called upon the appellant to furnish security for costs under O. XLI, r. 10 and the order not being complied with dismissed the appeal. Against this order an appeal was preferred to the High Court. Held, it was not appealable either as a decree or an order. ROMES CHANDRA DAS v. MONINDRA LAL DAS 28 C.W.N. 1020

SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898—

Ss 108 AND 109

S 110

Ss 118, 123 1 L.R. 36 All. 495

Ss 119, 200 437

1 L.R. 35 Bom. 401

Ss 119, 417 1 L.R. 38 All. 147

S 123 1 Pat. L.J. 212

S 478 1 L.R. 43 All. 180

See LEXAL CODE, s. 223B

1 L.R. 43 All. 185

1. ——— Joint inquiry against members of a gang—Admissibility of evidence of association with a gang and of acts by the members thereof—Inquiry into the fitness of Sureties—Rejection on the report of a subordinate Magistrate or police officer—Order of Judge on reference contents of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 117 (4) 122, 123 (3) 367, 424—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s. 11. An order under s. 113 (3) of the Criminal Procedure Code should show on the face of it that the Sessions Judge has considered the case of each accused on its own merits and separately from that of the others even if such order need not contain all the details required by a 367 Jamnat Mullick v. Emperor, 1 L.R. 35 Cal. 134 referred to. A joint inquiry under s. 117 of the Criminal Procedure Code against the members of a gang formed for the purpose of habitually cheating in concert, is not illegal under sub s. (4), though they were not all concerned together in each of the various acts alleged against them. When the question is whether a person is a habitual cheat the fact that he belonged to an organization formed for the purpose of habitually cheating in concert is not relevant under s. 11 of the Evidence Act, and it is open to the prosecution to prove against each person that the members of the gang do cheat. A surety cannot be called upon to state in writing what influence he has over the accused, nor can a Magistrate refuse to accept him on his failure to do so. Per EVES J. (COKE, J. contra). Under s. 122 of the Criminal Procedure Code the Magistrate passing an order for security should himself hold the inquiry into the fitness of the proposed sureties, and he can not decide the matter merely on the report of a subordinate Magistrate or of a police officer, which is not legal evidence. Queen Empress v. Prithi Lal Singh, (1898) All. W. N. 154 Emperor v. Tata 1 L.R. 23 All. 272, Emperor v. Balwant, 1 L.R. 27 All. 293, Abdul Khan, 10 C.W.N. 1027, and Suresh Chandra Basu v. Emperor, 3 C.L.J. 375, followed. KALI MIRZA v. EMPEROR (1899)

SECURITY FOR COSTS—contd

1 L.R. 37 Cal. 91

2. ——— Evidence of acts committed several years before the proceedings—Offences involving breach of the peace—Acts of highhandedness not accompanied with actual breaches of the peace—Liability of zemindar for acts of his naib and lathials committed in his interest—Abetment of offences involving a breach of the peace—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 110 (e). Evidence of acts falling within the scope of s. 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code but committed several years before the date of the institution of the proceedings thereunder, is admissible. Wahid Ali Khan v. Emperor, 11 C.W.N. 789, followed. To bring a case within the section a person must be found to have habitually committed attempted to commit or abetted the commission of, offences of which a breach of the peace is an ingredient. Arun Samanta v. Emperor, 1 L.R. 30 Cal. 366, followed. Where the only conviction against a zemindar was one under s. 150 of the Penal Code and there was evidence that he with his lathials (or his servants acting under his orders), took articles of food from bazar vendors, that he assembled lathials to enforce the performance of paise by his own peonies threatened a witness with violence for deposing against him and, with his lathials, uprooted some trees cut the crops of his opponents, molested rival fishermen in boats and attempted to stop a marriage procession, but no breach of the peace was committed or complaint made by the opposite party. Held, that such acts did not involve a breach of the peace so as to support a charge of habitually committing offences within cl. (e). But where the zemindar's naib had led several riots in his master's interest and had been convicted in several such cases, and there was evidence that certain lathials were always employed to help his cause. Held that he had habitually abetted the commission of offences mentioned in that clause. Asa Sundar Roy v. Emperor, 1 L.R. 31 Cal. 419 followed. A Magistrate should be careful to see that s. 110 is not employed by private persons to wreak vengeance under the guise of a Crown prosecution. KALI PRASAD BOSE v. EMPEROR (1910) 1 L.R. 39 Cal. 156

3. ——— Ostensible means of subterfuge—Return of absconding suspect home on writ of habeas corpus, and residence in his father's house without taking steps to conceal himself to commit an offence—Relevancy of evidence of previous connection with a criminal conspiracy or conviction under the Cr. P. Code—Support by father possessing substance—Jurisdiction of Magistrate to require a person to give an account of his presence while in another jurisdiction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 109, cl. (a), (b). Cl. (a) of s. 109 of the Criminal Procedure Code should be read in its entirety. The concealment referred to therein must be with a view to committing some offence. Where a person against whom a warrant had been issued, absconded from home for two years, but returned thereto after its withdrawal, and was found living in his father's house, without having taken any particular steps to conceal himself for the purpose of committing any offence thereafter, the fact of previous connection with a criminal conspiracy or of present correspondence with criminals outside the Magistrate's jurisdiction, is not relevant under s 109 though it might form basis or a substantive proceeding under s 110. A person cannot be called on to furnish security under s 109 in respect of an alleged temporary concealment in his father's house unconnected with any intent to commit an offence nor with any previous concealment outside the Magistrate's jurisdiction. As long as a young man, out of employment is staying in the house of his father, who is a man of substance and able, if necessary, to support him he cannot be held to be without ostensible means of subsistence. Where the account a person gives of his presence within the limits of a Magistrate's jurisdiction is satisfactory, e.g., that he has returned to, and is living in, his father's house in strict seclusion on the withdrawal of a warrant against him, he cannot be called upon by such Magistrate to give an account of his presence in any other jurisdiction. SATISH CHANDRA SARKAR v EMPEROR (1912)

SECURITY FOR COSTS—contd

I. L. R. 39 Calc 456

4 ——— Fair Trial—Proceedings taken and enquiry completed in one day—Production of party called upon for security under arrest before the Magistrate in Camp—Right of party to examine his own defence witnesses—Right of opportunity to examine or summon witnesses selected by such party—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) ss 110 (d), 112, 117—Practice Under s 117 (2) of the Criminal Procedure Code a person called upon to furnish security for good behaviour must be given time, as in warrant cases to bring his witnesses and have their evidence recorded. Where a person was produced in custody before a Magistrate in camp while on tour when only a simple mukhtaar was available and a proceeding under s 110 (d) was drawn up immediately read and explained to him after which prosecution witnesses were examined and cross examined and he was called upon for his defence and some of the spectators who happened to be present were examined on his behalf, and the enquiry was completed and the order for security passed on the same day. Held that the order was bad, as the person directed to execute a bond had not been given the opportunity of selecting his own witnesses and of producing them or having them summoned, and that he did not, therefore have a fair trial. KERAM UDDIN SARKAR v EMPEROR (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Calc 806

5 ——— Dissemination of matter likely to promote enmity or hatred—between classes—Necessity of intention—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 108 (b) Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s 153 A To justify an order under s 109 (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code, it is sufficient that the words used are likely to promote feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes, and it is not necessary to establish an intention to promote such feelings as it would be on a trial for the offence under s 153A of the Penal Code. Bhammalakda v EMPEROR, 12 Cr. L. J. 215, dissented from Joy Chander Sarkar v EMPEROR, 1 L. J. 38 Calc 211, Jarawanai Pat v Akhaurale, 5 Cr. L. J. 439, 10 P.W.J. 23, referred to. VITAL PRASAD v EMPEROR (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc 391

SECURITY FOR COSTS—contd

6 ——— Jurisdiction—Person within the local limits of the Magistrate's jurisdiction—Precedence—Commission of acts complained of within such local limits—Jurisdiction of Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895), s 110 S 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not require residence within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate who institutes proceedings thereunder. Where the habits of the persons called upon to furnish security for good behaviour were practised, and their evil reputation acquired, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Presidency Magistrate of the Northern Division of the town of Calcutta, though they might be occasionally residing elsewhere. Held, that the Magistrate was competent to take proceedings against such parties under s 110 of the Code. KETABO v Queen Empress, 1 L. P. 27 Calc 993, distinguished EMPEROR v DUTTA HALWA (1915) I. L. R. 43 Calc 153

7. ——— Previous convictions, proof of—Central Bureau register of thumb impressions, evidentiary value of—Extract from jail register with out proof of identity—Locus parentis—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) s 110 Whenever proof of previous convictions is required, whether under s 75 of the Penal Code or Chapter VIII of the Criminal Procedure Code such previous convictions must be proved strictly and in accordance with law, and unless so proved no Court can take them into consideration. A register produced from the Central Bureau purporting to contain the thumb impression of the accused that his descriptive roll with a list of his previous convictions, when there was no evidence how it came to be made and lodged in the Central Bureau nor from what particulars the previous convictions were recorded and certified, was held insufficient proof of such convictions. An extract from the jail register showing previous convictions of a certain person with aliases and certified copies of previous convictions of the same in the absence of evidence of identity with the present accused held insufficient to prove previous convictions of the latter. A person who has served the period of his imprisonment should be given a chance of reformation and should not be proceeded with under s 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code soon after his emergence from jail. Junab Ali v EMPEROR, 1 L. R. 31 Calc 733 referred to. Although general statement of witnesses, e.g., that the accused are all pick pockets and that every one is afraid of them, may not be wholly inadmissible in evidence no Court should act on a body of such evidence without testing the statements of the witnesses and obtaining from them some particulars of the facts in which their general statements are made. The case of each accused should be differentiated in the evidence and the order of the Court. EMPEROR v SHAKIB ABDUL (1916) I. L. R. 43 Calc 1128

8 ——— Menace—"Any person within the local limits"—Person in custody on the date of the initiation of proceedings—"Desperate and dangerous"—Menace to person and property—Association to spread a seditious doctrine—Recruit enemy army and recruitment by members thereof—Connection of Association with an organisation to commit dacoity—Excessive security—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1895) ss 108 110 111—Admissibility of evidence of finding of seditious essays and literature in the possession of one convicted as against the *rest, to ascertain the object of the association—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 10. Cl. (f) of s 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code is not limited to the case of menaces to property, but applies also where the security of the person is jeopardized. Rajendra Nara Singh v Emperor 17 O W N 233, explained and distinguished. A man of desperate and dangerous character means one who has a reckless disregard of the safety of the person or the property of his neighbours. Wahid Ali Khan v Emperor 11 O W N 739, approved. Where it was found that the petitioners were associated for the purpose of spreading disloyal doctrines among school boys and were conspiring to commit an offence under s. 121A of the Penal Code, that they were engaged in inculcating ideas of armed revolution in the minds of such persons and were collecting recruits and subjecting them to a course of self discipline, and further that they were connected with an organization the object of which was the collection of money by dacoity. Held that such facts involved a menace not only to the person but also to the property of the community, and brought the case within s 110, cl. (f) of the Code, though the time for the occurrence of the proposed revolution and dacoities had not been proved. The mere fact that s. 103 of the Code may be applicable to the findings does not necessarily make s. 110 applicable. Where the Sessions Judge used the finding of certain said literature and essays in the possession of one of the petitioners as evidence against the others under s. 10 of the Evidence Act to prove the object of the association and it was contended that he had done so wrongly thereunder as such literature might have been obtained and the essays written before the association was formed. Held that the fact of the literature having been bought and the essays written before the formation of the association would not preclude the Court from considering the possession of them as one of the facts in the case independently of s. 10 of the Evidence Act in order to ascertain the object of the association. The words "any person within the local limits" in s 110 of the Code do not imply residence but extend to the case of a person who has left the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate, and has been brought back within the same in police custody and is in jail under the Defence of India Act on the date of the institution of the proceedings. S 114 of the Code is not limited to arrest within the jurisdiction. Held also, that, under the circumstances the amount of the security was not excessive. MAHENDRA MOHAN SANYAL v EMPEOR (1916) . . . I L R 43 Calo 215*

SECURITY FOR COSTS—conold.

SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1893 —

Ss 106 AND 107

S 125 . . . I L R 33 All 624
I L R 35 All 103
I L R 37 Mad. 125
I L R 39 All 468
I L R 41 All 651

Ss 526, 107, 117 118

I L R 32 All 642

See LETTERS PATENT (24 & 25 VICT. C. 104), cl. 15. I L R 39 Mad. 539

SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE—conold

PROCEEDINGS FOR—

See TRANSFER . I. L. R 41 Calo. 719

1. ———— *Conviction under s 143 of the Penal Code—Absence of finding of acts involving breach of the peace or evil intention of committing the same—Legality of order for security—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893) s. 106. To bring a case within the terms of s. 106 of the Criminal Procedure Code the Magistrate should expressly find that the acts of the accused involved a breach of the peace or were done with the evident intention of committing the same or at all events the evidence must be so clear that, without an express finding a superior Court is satisfied that such was the case. Jib Lal Gur v Jagmohan Gur, I L R 25 Calo 576, followed. A finding that the common object of the unlawful assembly was by means of criminal force or show thereof to take possession of land cultivated by tenant of the rival land lord, and that, but for the direction of the latter to the tenants to retire, which was carried out, there might have been a serious riot, held insufficient to bring the case within the purview of s. 106 of the Code. ABDUL ALI CHOWDHURY v EMPEOR (1915) . . . I L R. 43 Calo. 671*

2. ———— *Criminal Procedure Code, s 107—Nature and quantum of evidence necessary before passing order for security. There must be definite evidence in the case of any and every person charged under s. 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, that there is danger of a breach of the peace by him. It is clearly insufficient against a collective body of persons to suggest that there are indulging in feelings of hostility towards another body of persons. Queen-Empress v Abdul Kader I L R 9 All 453, referred to EMPEOR v SHANBHU NATH (1916)*

I L R 38 All. 468

SEDITION

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 47 Calo. 190

See HIGH COURT I L R. 34 Bom. 378

See PENAL CODE—

Ss. 107 124A. I L R 34 Bom 394

Ss 124A 511 I L R 34 Bom. 378

See PRESS ACT.

See PRINTING PRESSES AND NEWSPAPER ACT

1. ———— *Attempt to publish sedition—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss 511, 124A Under the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) all that is necessary to constitute an attempt to commit an offence is some external act, something tangible and ostensible of which the law can take hold as an act showing progress towards the actual commission of the offence. It does not matter that the progress was interrupted. An attempt to publish sedition is complete as soon as the accused knowingly sells a copy containing the seditious article. It is none the less an attempt because something external to himself happens which prevents a perusal of the article by the buyers or any other member of the public. In cases of sedition, the question of intention is one of fact. EMPEOR v GANESHI BALVANT MODAK (1909) . . . I L R 34 Bom. 378*

2. ———— Wholesale imputation of bribery against ministerial and police officers and of neglect on the part of Govern- ment to inquire into such abuses—Sedition—Attempt to promote enmity between different classes—Invecting against Hindus and Mahomedans alike—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss 124A and 153A—Convictions at one trial under ss 124A and 153A of the Penal Code—Appeal to the High Court—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 35 (3), 408 prov (c) A single expression that the people of Bengal are trodden under the feet of outsiders used incidentally in a newspaper article, otherwise innocuous, does not constitute the whole seditious. An article imputing whole sale bribery to the ministerial officers of the Law Courts and to the lower officers of the police force, and expressing grave doubts as to whether the Government ever inquire into such abuses so much as it is occupied with investigations of boycott, dacoity and sedition, published when sedition is rife and the minds of people excited, may have the effect of creating a feeling that the Government is not doing its duty, and exceeds the limits of fair comment and is seditious, irrespective of the question of the truth of the allegations. Where the writer of an article inveighed both against the Babas and Moahs as professing brotherhood with the poor Mahomedan riyots and then robbing them, and referred to the alleged conduct of Christian missionaries towards their converts, by way of illustration, without any deliberate attempt to excite one class against another, the conviction under s. 153A of the Penal Code was set aside as bad in law. Per RICHARDSON J—If a particular article is charged as being seditious on the ground that it says more than appeals on the face of it, it is the duty of the prosecution to show that it has, in fact, the guilty meaning or intent attributed to it. See Semble. An appeal lies under ss. 35 (3) and 408, prov (c), directly to the High Court from a conviction and separate sentences under ss. 124A and 153A of the Penal Code passed on the same trial. JOY CHANDRA SARKAR v EMPEROR (1910) I. L. R. 38 Calc 214

SEDITION—contd.

3. — Liability of declared printer and publisher of a newspaper for seditious matter appearing therein—Sedition—Absence during the period of the publication of the seditious articles, bond fides not made out—Printing Presses and Newspapers Act (XXV of 1867), s 7 The declared printer and publisher of a newspaper containing seditious articles is responsible for them unless he makes out, on sufficient evidence, that he had in fact nothing to do with them. Where the editor of a newspaper was convicted and sentenced under s. 124 A of the Penal Code, and the accused made his declaration as printer and publisher thereafter, and continued so to act after the editor had resumed work on release from jail and further allowed his name to appear as such, though he was absent from the town of publication of the paper when certain seditious articles appeared therein and engaged during the period in his own private business without taking any interest in the paper, it was held that he had not made out the bond fides of his absence, and was, therefore, legally responsible for the articles. SHREYAS PRASAD TANIJI v EMPEROR (1910) I. L. R. 38 Calc 227

4. — Attack on rival political party—Did not on Government established by law in British India—Limits of legitimate criticism of acts and measures of Government—Construction of letter or article in a newspaper—Admissibility of articles in other issues not forming the subject of the charge when the identity of the writer is not proved—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 121A—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s 15—Liability of registered printer and publisher—Printing Presses and Newspapers Act (XXV of 1867), s 7 A letter or an article in a newspaper containing an attack on a rival political organization and not on the Government established by law in British India, is not seditious within the meaning of s. 121A of the Penal Code. A man may criticize or comment on any act or measure of the Government legislative or executive, and freely express his opinion on it. He may express the strongest condemnation of such measures, and he may do so severely and even unreasonably, perversely or unfairly provided he does not, whether in his comments on measures or not, hold up the Government itself to hatred and contempt. Queen-Empress v Bal Gangadhar Tilak, 1 L. R. 22 Bom 112, approved of. It is not sedition for a writer to describe the Reform Scheme as being monstrous and misbegotten, because it is not founded on democratic principles and not a genuine reform or a genuine initiation of constitutional progress, or to assert that some of the police officials and the judiciary are corrupt, unscrupulous and partial, or to state that if an organisation which he believes to be lawful is suppressed by proclamation it is arbitrary, and that in such case the responsibility will not rest on him for the madness which crushes down open and legal political activity in order to give a desperate and sullen nation into the hands of ferociously enthusiastic and unscrupulous forces, or to inculcate the doctrine of passive resistance or refusal of co-operation with the Government within legal limits, or to describe the British Courts in India as ruinously expensive. In construing a newspaper article its meaning must be taken from the article as a whole and not from isolated passages. Words and expressions such as arbitrary executive must not be looked at as if the writer was a constitutional lawyer instead of a journalist. Queen-Empress v Bal Gangadhar Tilak, 1 L. R. 22 Bom 112, approved of. Articles not forming the subject of the charge and appearing in other issues of the same paper, are not admissible to show the intention of the writer in the article complained of in the absence of proof of his identity. The declared printer and publisher of a letter or article in a newspaper is amenable to the law merely on proof that it is calculated to excite feelings of disaffection, hatred or contempt against the Government, but the prosecution must prove either that the writer does in fact excite such feelings or that his intention was to do so. The writer of an article may be guilty of sedition no matter how guardedly he attempts to conceal his real object, but the registered printer and publisher cannot be punished if the concealed object is not established by the evidence on the record. Queen-Empress v Amba Prasad, 1 L. R. 20 All. 35 referred to MANOHAR GHOSH v EMPEROR (1910).

SEDITION—contd.

5. — Publication, proof of—Necessity of proving posting or printing and publishing under the directions of the accused, when it is shown that the handwriting is his, and that the seditious matter was actually printed and published—Seditious manuscript transmitted by post but intercepted before it reached addressee—Attempt to commit sedition—Penal Code (Act XI of 1860), s 121A It is not necessary, in order to establish the fact of publication of seditious matter transmitted through the post office on a charge under s. 124 A of the Penal Code to prove the actual posting nor that it was printed and published under the directions of the accused. If the seditious writing is shown to be in the handwriting of the accused, and it is further proved that the contents were in fact printed and published, there is sufficient evidence of publication by him. Regina v. Lovell 9 C. & P. 462 followed. The sending through the post of a packet containing a manuscript copy of a seditious publication with a covering letter requesting the addressee to circulate it among others when the same was intercepted by another person and never reached the addressee constitutes an attempt within the purview of s. 124 A of the Penal Code. SURENDRA NARAYAN ADHICARY v. EMPEROR (1911) I L R 39 Cal. 522

SEDITION—could

6. ——— Handwriting, proof of—Admissibility and value of expert opinion not based on comparison made in Court with admitted or proved handwriting of the person alleged—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s. 194 A—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s. 45 On a charge under s. 124 A of the Penal Code the sending of a pamphlet by post addressed to a private individual not by name but by designation as the representative of a large body of students amounts to publication. It is necessary for the admission of the evidence of a handwriting expert under s. 45 of the Evidence Act that the writing with which the comparison is made should be admitted or proved beyond doubt to be that of the person alleged, and that the comparison should be made in open Court in the presence of such person. Cresswell v. Jackson 2 F. & P. 24 Cobbet v. Akin under 4 F. & P. 499 and Phooddes Bee v. Govind Chander Roy 22 W. R. 372 referred to. SURESH CHANDRA SANYAL v. EMPEROR (1912) I L R 39 Cal. 606

SEDITIONOUS LIBEL.

See FORFEITURE I L R. 47 Cal. 100

SEIGNIORAGE FEES OR ROYALTY

——— right of Government to levy—

See INAM I L R. 40 Mad. 268

SEIZURE IN CUSTOM HOUSE

See COCAINE IMPORTATION OF I L R. 41 Cal. 545

SELF ACQUIRED PROPERTY

See CUSTOM I L R. 2 Lah. 368

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY I L R. 32 All. 415

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION I L R. 34 Bom. 106

See HINDU LAW—SELF ACQUISITION I L R. 32 All. 394

——— blending of—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY I L R. 45 Cal. 733

——— Meaning of—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) I L R. 1 Lah. 365

SELF-ACQUISITION.

See ALIYASANTANA LAW I L R. 39 Mad. 12

See MALABAR LAW I L R. 38 Mad. 43

SELLER

——— duty of—

See CHUKANI RIGHT I L R. 42 Cal. 23

SENATE AND SYNDICATE

——— respective powers of—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877), s. 45 I L R. 40 Mad. 125

SENTENCE

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898—

S. 35 3 Pat. L. J. 188

S. 106 (J) I L R. 33 All. 48

S. 235 3 Pat. L. J. 433

Ss. 397 123 I L R. 37 Bom. 178

Ss. 408 415 I L R. 32 All. 510

S. 423 I L R. 39 All. 485

S. 439 I L R. 39 All. 549

See MURDER I L R. 44 Mad. 443

See OFFENCE COMMITTED ON THE HIGH SEAS I L R. 38 Cal. 487

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV of 1860), s. 69 I L R. 36 All. 395

See PRACTICE I L R. 35 Bom. 418
I L R. 39 Bom. 328

——— Alteration of—whether amounting to enhancement—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 423 I L R. 36 All. 485

——— enhancement of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 419 I L R. 36 All. 378

See RAILWAY PASSENGER I L R. 41 Cal. 279

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 433 25 C. W. N. 212

——— Exceeding Legal Maximum—

See CRIMINAL LAW I L R. 44 Mad. 297

——— Conviction and sentence for rioting and for being member of unlawful assembly causing grievous hurt val d ty of—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss. 71 147, 149 and 325—Convict on for rioting and causing grievous hurt val d ty of Where the accused were charged with offences under ss. 147 and 325 read with 149 of the Indian Penal Code and were convicted and sentenced on both charges. Held that the lower appellate Court could not substitute for the convictions under s. 325 read with s. 149 convictions under s. 325, and that the High Court in revision would not convict the accused of this offence in the absence of any opportunity to plead to a charge in respect of it. Held, that it is illegal to record separate convictions for offences under s. 147 and s. 325 read with s. 149 and that therefore separate sentences in respect of the two offences are also illegal. An accused cannot in addition to being convicted under s 147 be also convicted under s. 323 although it be shown that he himself caused grievous hurt to the opposite party PALIV SINGH v KING EMPEROR 3 Pat. L. J. 641

SENTENCE—contd.

SEPARATE CONVICTIONS.

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860)
ss. 71, 147, 323 I. L. R. 39 All. 623

SEPARATE OFFENCES

See CHARGE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 66
See POLICE ACT 1861 s 29
I. L. R. 42 All. 22

SEPARATE SENTENCES.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,
s. 235 3 Pat. L. J. 433
See CUMULATIVE SENTENCES
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 511
See MISJOINDER I. L. R. 38 Calc. 453

SEPARATE TRIAL

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 671

SEPARATION.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I. L. R. 35 All. 80
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1031

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 159

— evidence of—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179

SERVANTS' QUARTERS.

— acquisition of—

See LAND ACQUISITION
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 665

SERVICE INAM

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 179

See MADRAS PROPRIETARY ESTATES VII
LAGE SERVICE ACT (II OF 1894), ss
5, 10, CL. (2) I. L. R. 39 Mad. 830

— resumption of—Resumption not a fresh grant and does not put an end to prior encumbrances—Regulation—VI of 1831 s 2—Emoluments granted for gadaba service not within regulation
Resumption consists in putting an end to the grant, remitting the services and requiring the grantee to pay the full assessment. It has not the effect of putting an end to prior encumbrances. Gadaba or bearer service is of a personal nature and an inam for such service does not fall within Regulation VI of 1831, where the grantee of an inam for gadaba service mortgages the inam and the inam is afterwards resumed by Government, such resumption does not extinguish the mortgages. SREEVADU LAKSHMANA v DOKKHA KANNAMMA (1912) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 704

SERVICE OF NOTICE.

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 163
See NOTICE TO QUIT
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 458

SERVICE OF NOTICE—contd

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882,
s. 106

— effect of omission of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898), ss. 439, 422, 423
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 505

— order of—

See PUBLIC DEMANDS.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 496

SERVICE OF SUIT.

— on principals outside jurisdiction—

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 163

SERVICE OF SUMMONS.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE O 5.

See SUMMONS I. L. R. 42 Calc. 67

See SUMMONS TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 647

SERVICE TENURE

See GRANT I. L. R. 39 Bom. 68

See GRANT OF LAND I. L. R. 43 Bom. 37

See MADRAS REGULATION (XXV OF 1802)
s 4 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

SERVIENT ESTATE.

See EASEMENT.

— forfeiture of—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS
L. R. 46 I. A. 302

SESSIONS JUDGE.

— powers of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 339
I. L. R. 37 All. 331

— power of, to grant bail—

See BAIL I. L. R. 37 Calc. 439

SESSIONS TRIAL

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 339
I. L. R. 37 All. 331

See CROSS EXAMINATION

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 299
— Refusal to enforce at tendance of defence witnesses—Trial if vitiated thereby Where in a Sessions case the Judge refused to enforce the attendance of some defence witnesses who had been summoned by the Commis-sionary Magistrate but who did not appear, on the ground that the application should have been made at an earlier date, the High Court in appeal set aside the conviction and sentence holding that the trial was vitiated. FOZUDDIN v KING EMPEROR 24 C. W. N. 527

SET BACK.

See BOMBAY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM ACT
III OF 1889), ss 297, 301
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 161

SET FORWARD

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1889), ss 297, 301
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 161

SET-OFF

S e ATTORNEY

I L R 43 Calc 932

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 189^o s. 111

14 C W N 170, "88

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 70 O XXI n. 72

I L R 42 Bom 621

O VIII n. 6

O XXI n. 18 I L R 38 All 669

O XXI n. 18 19 20.

I L R 33 All 240

O XXI n. 19 I L R 40 Bom 60

See HANDNOTE. 2 Pat L J 451

See INSOLVENCY ACT s. 39

I L R. 33 Mad 53 & 467

decree holder allowed to bid—
Power of Court to allow set-off—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O
XXI n. 72 I L R. 44 Bom. 348

equitable—

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 Mad. 633

1 ——— Equitable set off when to be entertained—Court may impose terms on defendants—Barred debt, claim of set-off in respect of The right of set off exists not only in cases of mutual debts and credits but also where cross demands arise out of the same transaction or are so connected in their nature and circumstances as to make it inequitable that the plaintiff should recover and the defendant be driven to a cross suit. Clarke v. Rethnaveloo 2 Mad H C R.
296 followed. As the inquiry into the cross-demand made in this case by the defendant would involve great delay the High Court allowed the inquiry to be made in this suit on certain terms imposed on the defendants. RAMDHARI SINGH v.
PERMARUND SINGH (1913) 19 C W N 1183

2 ——— Lam ted Company

—Right of shareholder to appropriate a loan calls to wards debt due from him to Company—Joint Stock Company as Friendly Societies and Building Societies —Discrepancy between as to rule of set-off A shareholder in a Permanent Benefit Fund with limited liability who obtained a loan on executing a mortgage to the Fund which subsequently went into liquidation is not entitled to appropriate by way of set-off his paid up calls towards the mortgage-debt but is bound to pay the entire mortgage-debt before he can redeem the property Principle of set off in Court laid down in English decisions in the case of Joint Stock Companies and Friendly Societies as distinct from Building Societies, applied. In re Overend, Gurney & Co. Orinell's case L R 1 Ch. App. 578 In re Paragvanu Steam Transocean Company L R 8 Ch. App. 251 and In re
Harum Mazri & Lamp Company [1903] 1 Ch. 70 followed. Brown v. Russell, 8 A C 335 and Josh v. North British Building Society 11 A C
459 distinctly. THE MYLAPORE PERMANENT BENEFIT FUND LTD v. ARAGHAWAMY PILLAI
(1916) I L R 40 Mad. 1004

3 ——— A barred decree cannot on equitable grounds be set off against a decree under execution MOHAMMAD ALI v. AMIR CHAHAN DAS (191) 21 C W N 1147

SET OFF—contd

4 ——— Suit by liquidators on joint promissory note—Claim to set off separate debt—Ind an Companies Act (VII of 1913) s. 299—Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907) s. 30—Mutual deal ngs—Ind an Contract Act (IX of 1872)
s. 43 One of two defendants sued on a joint promissory note by the liquidators of a bank sought to set off an amount admittedly due to him from the bank on his own separate deposit account.
Held that under the Indian Companies Act (VII of 1913) s. 299 the provisions of the Provincial Insol- veny Act (III of 1907) s. 30 applied and the dealings in question not being mutual dealings with the meaning of that term on the amount claimed could not be set off As to the effect of s. 43 of the Indian Contract Act Per MacLEOD J
I do not think that the mere fact that a set could be set off one of two joint promissors could alter the fact that the original liability of defendant No. 2 was incurred not on his own account only but jointly with another and so result in the nature of the dealings taken as a whole being altered GOKHALE v. RAMCHANDRA TRIMBAK
(1901) I L R 45 Bom 1219

SETTING ASIDE.

S e AWARD I L R 47 Calc 806

See EXPARTE DECREE 14 C W N 182

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 ART 91

See SALE I L R. 48 Calc 811

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I L R. 42 Calc "65

——— Court Sale —

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O
XXI n. 89 to 9"

SETTLEMENT

See ANJAM LAND AND REVENUE REGULATION
s. 6 14 C. W N 990

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I L R 37 Bom. 251

See KHOJA MAHOMEDAN

I L R. 36 Bom 214

S e OCCUPANCY RAIYAT

I L R 46 Calc 160

See STAMP ACT 1909—

S 2 (4) SCH I ART "

I L R 35 Bom 444

S 4

I L R 37 All 153 204

See SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT ACT

I L R 36 Bom 290

——— entry at last Settlement—

See ANJA TENANCY ACT 1901 s. 9

I L R. 43 All. 615

——— of family property—

See REGISTRATION I L R 37 All 105

——— construction of—Settlement of malkans or dastard payable to amdar in 1780—Allowance as compensation for portions of land taken by Government for the creation of jagirs—Liability of jagirdars—Resumpt on by Government effect of—Suit for ann referred to as mal kans in settlement and account of 1865—Low neps exercise in ann set off in 1780 This was a suit in which the appellant the Maharaja of Darbhanga, claimed to be paid an annual sum of Rs 482 odd by the Government of India as dastur or malikana, an allowance by way of compensation to the proprietors for the loss of their proprietary rights in portions of their land taken by the Government for the creation of jagira (or revenue free holdings) and which until resumption by Government was payable by the jagirdars, but for the payment of which on resuming them the Government themselves became liable. The claim was based upon an order of 10th May 1865 by which the appellant alleged that the annual malikana payable to him in respect of land called Mauzah Sahu was permanently fixed at Rs. 482 0-3. The defence was that the malikana payable in respect of a jagir known as Meherullah Khan of which Mauzah Sahu formed part was settled in 1780 at Rs. 796 2-9, and nothing further was recoverable, and that the order made in 1865 did not give the right claimed. The sum of Rs. 796 2-9 had admittedly been paid to the predecessors in title of the appellant since 1780, and was still being paid to the appellant himself but he claimed to be paid the sum of Rs. 482 odd in addition. His contention was that the fixing of the malikana in 1780 was not a final ascertainment of the rights of his predecessors in title in respect of it, but was merely a temporary fixing of the percentage by which the amount should be ascertained from time to time, as it varied together with the variation of the amount of the proceeds of the land. Both Courts in India held that the appellant was entitled to nothing more than the Rs. 796 2-9 already paid to him. Held (affirming the decisions) that what was done in 1780 amounted to a final settlement of the owner's rights in respect of the malikana, the payment of which was to be made regularly every year from 1780, no term being fixed. That it was regarded as final by the parties concerned was clear from the fact that the payment was made thenceforward for a century without any suggestion that it was in any way wrong or was subject to revision. The settlement of 1865 only dealt with the method of payment of the malikana. It provided neither for any alteration nor for any addition to the malikana already fixed in 1780. The account attached to the settlement was made for the purposes of the settlement only, and the reference in it to malikana was made merely because the malikana was an item to be taken into account in fixing the annual jama to be paid by the person in whose favour the settlement was made in respect of the mouzas comprised in the settlement. That this was the right view to take of the settlement of 1865, and the account annexed to it, was confirmed by the fact that no claim was ever made by the appellant for payment of the malikana until 1892, 27 years after the date of the permanent settlement, and that no such payment had ever been made to him. RAMESHWAR SINGH v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1911) I L R 39 Cal 1

SETTLEMENT—contd

SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS

The Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882) s. 35—Trusts failing after settlor's death—Resulting trust in favour of settlor's heirs at the time of her death—The Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 191 effect of—The Probate and Administration Act (I of 1851) s. 4, effect of—Where by a deed of settlement a Hindu woman conveyed an immovable property to trustees on certain trusts, some of which failed after her death (as being in favour of persons unborn at the date of the settlement) Held, (i) that there was a resulting trust in favour of the settlor (ii) that the persons entitled to the property on the failure of the trusts were the heirs of the settlor to be determined at the time of her death. Where a person dies intestate and no administration is granted to his estate, the term 'legal representative' in s. 83 of the Trusts Act must include the person or persons beneficially entitled who represent the interests of the deceased by virtue of inheritance. The representative by inheritance is to be found according to law at the moment of the death of the deceased the maxim being "Solus deus hunc dem facere potest, non homo" DWARAKADAS DAMODAR v DWARAKADAS SHAMJI (1915) I L R. 40 Bom. 341

SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS—contd

SETTLEMENT COURT order of, relating to attached lands—

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND

I L R 37 Cal 331

SETTLEMENT OFFICER

enquiry by—

See 'JUDICIAL PROCEEDING'

I L R 37 Cal 52

order of—

See HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF

I L R 40 Cal 477

See SECOND APPEAL

I L R 43 Cal 603

power of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII OF 1880) s. 102 I L R 43 Cal 547

SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS

See MINOR I L R 43 Mad. 429

SETTLEMENT OF RENT.

See RECORD OF RENT

I L R 47 Cal 1006

SETTLEMENT REPORTS

See ITAM I L R 47 Cal 979

SETTLEMENT OF REVENUE

Temporary Settlement—Effect on permanent interest—Entry in settlement records effect of. Certain lands were held under the Government under a temporary settlement during the currency of which the holders granted a permanent sub-lease to the plaintiffs who before the expiration of the lease granted by Government granted a permanent lease to one of the grantors. Ever since then the sub-lessee and his successors in interest were in occupation of the land, the settlement being from time to time renewed by Government in favour of the original settlement holders or their representatives, but in the course of the last settlement the sub-tenants were not mentioned in the settlement records. Held (in a suit for rent by the plaintiffs) that the mere omission of the settlement authorities to make an entry in the settlement records in respect of the tenants and under tenancies cannot affect the rights of the parties; and the effect of the re-settlement by the Government with the original settlement holders was to keep alive the contractual obligation of the subordinate holders among themselves. The rights and obligations of the parties were mutual, the plaintiffs being bound to make good the title of the defendants as soon as by virtue of the resettlement they were placed in a position to continue the lease in favour of the defendants, and the defendants being under an obligation to continue as tenants under the plaintiffs on the basis of the lease and to pay rent accordingly. MOHENDRA NATH BISWAS v SHYAM LAL BANERJEE (1912)

SETTLEMENT OF REVENUE—contd

18 C. W. N. 997

SETTLEMENT PROCEEDINGS.

See WAJIB UL ABZ

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 793

SEWER PIPE.

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM ACT III of 1888), ss 303 AND 3 (w) (x) AND (y) I. L. R. 43 Bom. 122

SHAFI.

right of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 943

SHAFI MAHOMEDANS.

See WARF I. L. R. 37 Bom. 447

SHAFI-KHALIT.

See PRE EMPTION 4 Pat. L. J. 420

SHAH JOG HUNDI.

See HUNDI SHAH JOG

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 513

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, 1881, s 118 I. L. R. 1 Lah. 429

SHARE.

suit by a Mahomedan for a distributive share of estate of an intestate—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, SCH. I, ARTS 123 AND 144 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 519

SHARE CAPITAL.

See PROVIDENT INSURANCE

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 309

SHARE CERTIFICATES.

See SHARES I. L. R. 40 Calc. 331, 342

SHAREHOLDER.

See COMPANIES' ACT, 1882—

Ss 23, 45, 61 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 557

Ss. 45, 58 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 595

See COMPANY I. L. R. 42 Bom. 264

See COSTS I. L. R. 39 Bom. 383

See PREFERENCE SHAREHOLDERS

petition by—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 39 Bom. 16

SHARE OF ESTATE.

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1092

SHARES.

See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT.

25 C. W. N. 875

See IMPERFECT GIFT

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 986

See PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (XI of 1876),

s 23 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 138

allotment of—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 36 All. 412

pledge of—

See ADMINISTRATION

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 653

See COMPANY I. L. R. 42 Bom. 159

purchaser of at a Court Sale—

See COMPANIES ACT (VII of 1913), s 38

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 76

registration of—

See COMPANIES ACT (VII of 1913), s 38

I. L. R. 41 All. 619

sale of—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 36 All. 305

See DAMAGES I. L. R. 43 Calc. 493

1. ———— Transfer by a person in possession—Judicial possession—Possession for a particular purpose—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 103—Bond fide purchaser for value—Share certificate with blank transfer deeds, whether negotiable—Usage The defendant Bank bought 25 jute shares for one of their constituents which consisted of the share certificate and a blank transfer deed signed by the registered holder which were made over by the officer in charge of their Safe Custody Department to the Head Clerk of that Department in usual course. The clerk fraudulently disposed of them to Sham Das Bui, who again sold them to other persons. The plaintiff firm bought them from the defendant firm of Baidnath Champalali. Both the plaintiff firm and the defendant firm were bond fide purchasers for value. Held, that the Head Clerk was not in possession of the shares within the meaning of s 103 of the Contract Act and that the plaintiffs acquired no title in them. Held, also, that the share certificates with blank transfer deeds signed by the registered holder were not negotiable instruments. ROOP CHAND JANKIDAS v THE NATIONAL BANK OF INDIA, LD (1918)
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 342
22 C. W. N. 1042

2. ———— Transfer by a person in possession—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 103—Obtaining possession by fraud—Transfer to a bond fide purchaser for value—Negotiability by custom—Share certificate with blank transfers, whether negotiable—Negotiability by estoppel—Goods—Meaning of—Validity of the bond fide purchaser for value—Costs Share certificates accompanied by transfer deeds endorsed in blank by the registered holder are not negotiable. Before an instrument can be considered negotiable it must be in a form which renders it capable of being sued on by the holder of it pro tempore in his own name and it must be by the custom of trade transferable, like cash, by delivery. The right principle to adopt with reference to such blank transfers duly signed by the registered holder of the shares is to hold that each prior holder confers upon the bond fide holder for value of the certificate for the time being an authority to fill in the name of the transferee and is estopped from denying such authority, and to this extent, and in this manner, but no further, he is estopped from denying the title of such holder for the time being. The plaintiff firm claimed to be the owners of 25 jute shares which they purchased from the defendant L on the 7th May 1917 and got their names registered in the books of the Company. At the time of the sale the plaintiff obtained possession of the certificate for the said shares and a blank transfer deed signed by the registered holder. The defendant L bought the said shares from one U who fraudulently obtained possession of them from the defendant S who was the owner of the said shares. It was not clear what was the nature of the transaction between the defendants L and U. The purchase by the plaintiff was bona fide and for value. Held, that the plaintiff did not acquire any title to the said shares and were entitled to the value they paid for them from the defendant L with interest. HAZARI MAL SROKAVLAL v SATIS CHANDRA GHOSH (1918)

SHARES—contd

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 331
22 C. W. N. 1038

"SHAWLS, MEANING OF.

Railway administration, liability of parcel—Railways Act (IX of 1900), s 75 and Sch. II (m)—Value of contents of parcel if to be declared—Alien—Damages, suit, or—Costs
The term "shawls" in Sch. III, cl (m) of the Railways Act, refers to Indian Shawls of special value, and cannot be taken to apply to articles of inferior value such as alwans. SARAT CHANDRA BOSE v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc 1029

SHEBAIT.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 298
I. L. R. 42 Calc 440

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

See HINDU LAW—SHEBAIT

See LAND ACQUISITION

I. L. R. 39 Calc 33

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 42 Calc 244

See PARTIES I. L. R. 46 Calc. 877

See SURETY.

— appointment of—

See RELIGIOUS TRUST

I. L. R. 40 Calc 251

— It may be permitted to reside in houses provided for idol—

24 C. W. N. 1028

— power of—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 33 Calc. 528

— power of, to grant permanent lease

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 709

— Removal of—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1019

— title of—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, s. 23 . . . 15 C. W. N. 688

SHEBAIT—contd.

1 ————— Suit on security bond executed in favour of shebait of idol if maintainable by succeeding shebait—Limitation Act (IX of 1877), Art 132 The Plaintiff as shebait sued the Defendant who was tehsildar of the debutter estate for accounts on a security bond executed by the Defendant in favour of the former shebait. Held, that the contract entered into between the Defendant and the former shebait did not terminate on the death of the latter but could be sued upon by the present shebait. DASARATHI CHATTERJI v. ASIT MOHAN GHOSH MAULIK 24 C. W. N. 879

2. ————— Res judicata—Successor of a shebait, when bound by a decree passed against the shebait—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch. II, Art 124—Hereditary office of a shebait—Adverse possession of the office. The widow of a shebait of a certain temple who succeeded her deceased husband in that office, mortgaged some land, as also her interest in the temple income, to one J, who obtained a decree on his mortgage on the 24th of September 1880. In execution thereof he put up the temple income for sale, purchased it himself and obtained delivery of possession in 1892. The widow and the next reversioner then brought a suit to set aside the sale on the ground that the property sold was not saleable. That suit was withdrawn with liberty to bring a fresh suit. The widow alone then brought another suit which was dismissed on the ground that it was barred by s 244 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882). She having died, the reversioner brought a suit against the said J, on the 3rd of January 1910, for a declaration that he was entitled to the temple income inasmuch as it was not saleable. On objections taken by the defendant that the suit in so far as it related to the temple income was barred by the rule of res judicata and by limitation Held, that, inasmuch as there was no collusion or dishonesty about the former suits, and as in one of them the plaintiff himself was a party the decrees passed in the suit against the shebait (widow) would bind her successor (the plaintiff), and that therefore the present suit was barred by the rule of res judicata. Held, further, that Art 124 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act applied to the case, and that as the suit was brought more than twelve years after the date when the defendant obtained possession of the hereditary office by receipt of the temple income, it was barred by limitation. JHARULA DAS v JALANDHAR THAKUR (1912) . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 887

3. ————— Alienation, power of—Dedicated property, acquisition of—Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), s 31, cl (2)—Compensation money, withdrawal of The position of a shebait is analogous to that of the manager of an infant. He is entitled to possess and to manage the dedicated property, but he has no power of alienation in the general character of his rights. s 31, cl (2) of the Land Acquisition Act applies to a shebait since he is not competent to alienate the land. Kamini Devi v Promotho Nath Bhoosherjee, 13 C. L. J. 597, followed. RAMPRANAYNA NAIDU CHOWDHURY v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc 895

4 ————— Lease by a previous shebait in excess of his authority, suit for cancellation of, by succeeding shebait—New cause of action if accrues to each succeeding shebait—Adverse possession, when commences, and if interrupted by

SHETSANADI LANDS—contd

appointed one Y as the new shetsanadi but under the rules framed under Bombay Act XI of 1859 Government continued the shetsanadi lands to the family of B on condition of the r paying full survey assessment on the lands. The remuneration of Y was made payable out of the extra assessment recovered in 1905. Government resumed the lands and handed them over to Y for his services. Held that both the order passed in 1865 and the action taken under the rule framed under Bombay Act XI of 1859 had in law the effect of converting the land from a Shetsanadi talan into a rayatwari holding and investing the holder of the land with the rights of an ordinary occupant entitled to it so long as he paid the survey assessment. Held also that the proceedings of 1905 were on the supposition that what was done in 1865 on B's death had the effect of continuing the lands in dispute as one reserved for shetsanadi service but that was not its effect and the proceedings in question were ultra vires. YELLAPPA v MARLING GAFFA (1910) I L R 34 Bom 560

SHIAS

- See* MAHOMEDAN LAW—CITY,
I L R 38 All 289
See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAOF
I L R 38 All 431
See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GUARDIAN
I L R 36 All 466

SHIP

- See* ARREST OF SHIP
I L R 42 Calc 85
See CONFISCATION I L R 42 Calc 334
See PRIZE COURT I L R 44 Bom 61

SHIPOWNER

liability of—

- See* CHARTER PARTY
I L P 41 Bom 119

SHIPPING

- See* ARREST OF SHIP
See CONFISCATION
See MARINE INSURANCE
See MERCHANT SEAMAN ACT (I OF 18 9) s 83 CL (f) I L R 39 Bom 558
See PRIZE
See SALE OF GOODS
I L R 45 Calc 28
See CONTRACT I L R 41 Calc 670

SHIPPING DOCUMENTS

- See* C. I F CONTRACTS
I L R 42 Bom 473

SHIPPING ORDERS

- See* CONTRACT ACT (IV OF 1872) ss 56
60 I L R 40 Bom 529

SHIVARPANA

- See* CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 188 s 539
I L R 36 Bom 29

SHORT DELIVERY

- See* CARRIERS I L R 39 Calc 311
See RAILWAYS ACT s. 140
14 C W N 888

SHROTRIEMDAR

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s 8 EXCEPT

I L R 38 Mad 843

SHUDRAS

- See* HINDU LAW—SHUDRAS
See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
I L R 34 Bom 221 553
See HINDU LAW—LEGITIMACY
Adoption by widow though unchaste valid in Bombay—
See HINDU LAW I L R 45 Bom 459
Succession of illegitimate daughter to her mother in the absence of any nearer heir—
See HINDU LAW I L R 45 Bom 557

SICCA RUPEES

- See* SUIT FOR RENT
I L R 46 Calc 347

SIGNATURE

- See* TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1897) s 59 I L R 41 Bom 384
genuineness of—
See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE
I L R 38 Calc 805

SIKKIM

- Court of the Political Agent of—
See POLITICAL AGENT SIKKIM
I L R 38 Calc 859
15 C W N 992

SIMANADARS

Chaukidars Chakaram Land Act (Beng VI of 1870) s 1 whether applicable—Bengal Distr ct Gazetteer reference to by High Court. The High Court is entitled to use the Bengal Distr ct Gazetteer as a book of reference. The Chaukidari Chakaram Land Act applies to simanadars as the Gazetteer for Bankura shows that in thana Indas (where the lands in suit are situated) the simanadars perform those duties which are described in s 1 of the Act. LALU DOME v BEJOY CHAND MAHATAF (1915)
I L R 43 Calc 227

SIMILARITY OF NAMES

- See* TRADE NAME I L R 40 Calc 570

SIMPLE INTEREST

- See* RECEIPT I L R 42 Calc 546

SIMPLE MORTGAGE

- See* ADVERSE POSSESSION
I L R 39 Mad 811
I L R 44 Calc 425

SIMULTANEOUS ADOPTION

- See* HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I L R 38 Calc 694
I L R 39 Calc 582

SINGLE JUDGE

- See* HIGH COURTS ACT (24 & 25 VICT c. 104) ss 9 AND 13
I L R 39 Bom 604
judgment of—
See LETTERS PATENT APPEAL
I L R. 43 Calc. 80

SINGLE JUDGE—contd

— order by—

See APPEAL I L R 42 Calc 735
I L R 44 Calc 804

— revision by—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I L P 44 Calc 810

— ruling of—

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 s 17
I L R 1 Lah 25

SIR LAND

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)—

Ss 19 AND 20 I L R 32 All 383
S 104 I L R 38 All 223

See GROVE LAND I L R 42 All 433

— mortgage of—

See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT
(VI OF 1898) s 43 SUBS (1) (6)
I L R 45 I A 179

See ESTOPPEL I L R 48 Calc 591

See MORTGAGE I L R 33 All 434

Mortgage by proprietor having such land and sale in execution of mortgage decree.—A person whose proprietary rights in land comprised Sir land mortgaged his entire interest therein including the right in the Sir land in the decree for sale instead of including the cultivating rights in Sir should comprise the property with all actual and reputed rights as detailed in the mortgage. Held that in the face of the decree it was not open to the mortgagor to urge that the rights of the mortgagee to sell the Sir lands were taken away by the decree. GULAB SINGH v DIWAN RAHADUR BALLABH DAS
25 C W N 839

SISTER

See BURMESE LAW—INHERITANCE.
I L R 41 Calc 887

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
I L R 39 Calc 319

— Succession to self-acquired property—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)
I L R 1 Lah 433
I L R 2 Lah 98

— Succession of Muhammadan Rajputs Jullundur—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION)
I L R 1 Lah 1

— Whether an heir—

See HINDU LAW (SUCCESSION)
I L R 1 Lah 583 603

SISTER'S SON

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
I L R 39 Calc 319

SLANDER

See DETRAMATION

SLANG TERMS

See MISDIRECTION I L R 45 Calc 557

SLAUGHTERING FEES

See MADRAS DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES
Act 1881 s 191
I L R. 38 Mad. 213

SLAVERY BOND

See BOND I L R 42 Calc 742

SMALL CAUSE CASE

See APPEAL I L R 40 Calc 537

SMALL CAUSE COURT

See CIVIL AND REVENUE COURTS
I L R 40 All 51

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF
1908) s 24 I L R 38 Mad. 25

See COMPENSATION I L R 44 Calc 87

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, 1897 s 3
(25) I L R 35 All 156

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT 1887

See VATAN I L R 37 Bom. 700

— appeal from order of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898
s 105 4 Pat L J 609

— Decree of—amendment—after revision to High Court rejected—

See AMENDMENT OF DECREE
I L R 1 Lah 342

— Error by—

See HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF
I L R 39 Calc 473

— jurisdiction of—

See BHAGDAR 23 C W N 614

— new trial—

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (XV OF 1882) s 38
I L R 42 Bom. 80

— Suit by Zamindar to recover part of price of trees sold by tenant—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSES COURT
ACT 1887 SCH II ART 13
I L P 42 All 448

— suit not cognizable by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXI s 91
I L R 35 Bom. 29

1 ———— Suit by mortgagor against mortgagee for means profits. A suit by a mortgagor against the mortgagee for means profits for the period during which he held wrongful possession of the property is maintainable in a Small Cause Court. Art 31 of Sch II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act is no bar to such suit being instituted in a Small Cause Court. SABAH DUTT v. SURESH ANANDY (1910) 14 C W N 1001

2 ———— Provincial Small Cause Court of means profits. —Means profits if recoverable when plaintiff out of possession. —What must be proved.—In a Small Cause Court suit the Judge is no doubt competent to decide the question of title upon which the claim depends but if he does so it is incumbent on him to decide the question correctly and according to law. The maxim de minimis non curat lex should not be applied to Small Cause Court suits for damages in respect of immovable property for the importance of the case to the parties is not to be measured by the pecuniary limit of the claim. Prima

SMALL CAUSE COURT—contd

City v Ramji I L R 21 Bom 250, referred to ELAHU BEKSH MANDAL v RAM NARAYAN GHOSH
 (1911) 18 C W N 258

8 ————— Jurisdiction of,
 to try suit for specific sum of money involving possible examination of accounts—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) rr 6 & 7 O XLVI—Circumstances necessitating action under The plaintiff sued to recover from the defendant a certain aggregate amount made up by sums due on account of salary and house rent as also money borrowed by the defendant The plaint stated that if the correctness of the amounts was questioned the amount due may be determined on examination of the accounts
 The suit was filed in the Court of the Munsif who returned the plaint for presentation to the Court of Small Causes where on being presented the plaint was returned on the ground that Court had no jurisdiction. The plaint on being again presented before the Munsif was returned a second time Held that a suit for the recovery of a specific sum of money does not assume the character of a suit for accounts merely because in the determination of the question in controversy accounts may have to be examined and the present was not a suit for accounts and was cognizable by the Court of Small Causes That the Small Cause Court Judge instead of returning the plaint should have taken action under r 6 or r 7 O XLVI and submitted the record to the High Court with a statement of his reasons for the doubt as to the nature of the suit ASHUTHA NATH BAKHJI v KALIDASI DAS
 (1910) 21 C W N 784

SMALL CAUSE COURT DECREE

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 151
 I L R 34 Bom 135

See FRAUD I L R 48 Calc 298

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT 1862—

S. 43 I L R 45 Bom 1048

S. 48 I L R 47 Bom 972

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT 1887 s 17

I L R 62 All 438

See SECOND APPEAL.

I L R 45 Bom 223

SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

S. 24 I L R 39 All 214

I L R 49 All 525

S. 115 I L R 39 All 101

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT (IX of 1867)—

Sec II ART 8 I L R 41 Bom. 267

Sec II ART 131

I L R. 40 All 142

Sec. 23 AND 27 I L R. 38 Bom. 100

S. 23 I L R. 41 All. 42

Dismissed for default—

Application for restoration of suit—Procedural Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) O. IX, rr 1 & 9
 O XLIII, r 1—Provincial Small Cause Courts
 Act (IX of 1867) s 17 Where a Small Cause Court suit is dismissed for the plaintiff's default in

SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT—contd

the presence of the defendant, and an application made under O IX, rr 4 and 9 for the restoration of that suit is also dismissed for the plaintiff's default in the presence of the defendant's pleader, and where again an application is made under O IX, r 9 for the rehearing of the case and an other application for treating it as an application for review Held that an application under O IX r 9 lay O XLVII r 1, applied to all orders of the Court which may be reviewed under certain circumstances Held further that the provisions of s 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act did not apply to miscellaneous applications
Dejani Aschha Bibee v Hemant Kumar Pany, 19
 C W A 753, followed. DIPIN BHABH SHAHA v
ABDUL BAKI (1916) I L R 44 Calc 950

SOCIETY

See PROFIT & PREVENTION.

2 Pat L J 323

SOHAG GRANT

See DARUANA GRANT

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM

SOLDIER

—decree against a—

See ARMY ACT (44 & 45 Vic c 58)
 ss 145, 190 I L R. 43 Bom 368

SOLEHNAMA

See LEASE I L R 37 Calc 803

—construction of—

See LIMITATION I L R 46 Calc. 870

SOLICITOR

—duty of—

See GIFT I L R 39 Calc 933

Professional misconduct—mis conduct—Proceeding to strike off from Polls—Contempt of Court pursuing remedy in Criminal Court when Supreme Court refused civil remedy having disbelieved information of amounts to Forgery, striking out names of witnesses names by solicitor after informing responsible officer—Intent to defraud, if any—Bad faith—Right to be heard on matters relating to professional misconduct Where a plaintiff who has been refused a warrant for the detention of the defendant by a Civil Court straightway starts a criminal process on the same subject matter and by means of allegations to which the Civil Court attached no credit obtains his warrant from a different Court almost as a matter of course he undoubtedly runs several risks of a serious character. He is not however restricted by law to a single form of remedy. He may pursue all the legal remedies appropriate to his grievance and his conduct does not necessarily invite any punishable contempt of the Civil Court whatever may be its other consequences. Where in such a case the arrest by warrant of the Criminal Court was obtained without getting the necessary fiat of Government and it was even so but the prisoner was then discharged on the ground that the warrant was in excess of the Magistrate's jurisdiction and it appeared that the Magistrate was not misled into issuing the warrant by any concealment or deceit on the part of the applicant, but that it might have been due to the Magistrate's own in-

SOLICITOR—contd

advertence, and there was no evidence to show that the applicant did not believe in the justice of his claim and did not so instruct the solicitor who acted for him in the matter Held, that the conduct of the solicitor, though it might from other points of view be shown to be open to strong animadversion, could not in the absence of proof that the proceedings were tainted by his fraud be held to constitute contempt of Court, nor did it show bad faith on the part of the solicitor. Where two persons, on being served with subpoenas taken out by the solicitor on behalf of certain accused persons stated that they knew nothing of the case, and thereupon the solicitor took back the subpoenas and mentioned to a responsible Court officer that he wanted the names of witnesses to be substituted, and on his making no objection struck out their names and substituted those of two other persons in their place. Held, that there being nothing to show that the intent of the solicitor in so doing was to defraud, the facts did not establish the charge of forgery brought against him who at most had committed an irregularity and for which a pecuniary penalty of £20 imposed on him was an adequate punishment. That an order striking the solicitor's name from off the Rolls on account of the said two alleged offences of contempt and forgery, could not in the circumstances be maintained. References in the order to the solicitor's "conduct in other professional matters," when no such matters were specified in the information before the Court and upon which the solicitor had not been heard, could not be relied on against him. In the matter of TAYLOR 16 C. W. N. 386

SOLICITOR'S LIEN FOR COSTS

See Costs . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 673
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1079

Practice—Directed as a n of partnership—Assets in hands of receiver—Judgment—creditor—Charging order—Solicitor's lien for costs. The rule at common law that a solicitor is entitled to a lien for his costs on property recovered or preserved by his exertions has always been followed by this Court, and, where there are assets of a partnership in the hands of a receiver appointed in a partnership suit, the solicitors engaged in that suit are entitled to ask for a charge on those assets in priority to the creditors of the partnership. Hindu v. Thorne, [1902] 2 Ch. 311, followed. Where a plaintiff has obtained a decree against a partnership firm the available assets of which are in the hands of a receiver appointed in a previous partnership suit, his proper course is not to issue execution against those assets but to ask the Court for a charging order, and to undertake to deal with the charge according to the order of the Court. Keweenaw v. Atwell, 31 Ch. D. 345 followed. A. HARRISMAN AND CO v. RABINAT (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 484

Charge of Solicitors—Inspection of documents—Administration suit. The right to be extended by a Solicitor claiming a lien largely depends upon the circumstances under which he has ceased to act for his client, the test being whether the Solicitor has discharged himself or has been discharged by the client. The obligation on the Solicitor to give inspection of and to produce documents in his possession over which he has a lien in an administration action is confined to those cases where they are essential to the determination of those questions which arise in the normal administration proceedings when the estate is being actually administered. Bevington v. Eoughton, 23 Ch. D. 169 and In re Capital Fire Insurance Association, 24 Ch. D. 408, considered. ALSHABAR v. AHMED BIK ESSA (1910)

SOLICITOR'S LIEN FOR COSTS—contd

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 352

SOLVENT COMPANY—

See COMPANY (IN LIQUIDATION)

I. L. R. 1 Lab. 358

SON.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 547

after born—Effect of—

See HINDU LAW I. L. R. 1 Lab. 118

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 6

I. L. R. 1 Lab. 533

birth of, subsequent to the execution of the will—

See HINDU LAW—WILL

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 389

death of, before the testator—

See HINDU LAW—WILL

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 389

liability of—

See HINDU LAW—DEBT

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 662

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 643

See MALABAR LAW

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 527

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 40 Calc. 342

Locus standi of in deceased father's insolvency proceedings—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 43 Calc. 87

of a concubine (status of)—

See MAROMEDAN LAW—FERTILITY

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 259

Succession by—to office and property of grahiti, Goldi, Tumpi, Amritsar—

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS)

I. L. R. 1 Lab. 511, 540

SONTAL PARGANAS

See LEADNAV . 5 Pat. L. J. 656

See SONTAL PARGANAS ACT

1. ———— High Court Jurisdiction of—Suits exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value—Sontal Parganas Civil Rules, 1905 s. 23—Sontal Parganas Act (XXV of 1955) as amended (2) and 2—Sontal Parganas Settlement Regulations (111 of 1972) s. 27—Sontal Parganas Justice Regulation (V of 1937), s. 6—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 118—The Charter Act (24 & 25 Vic. c. 104) s. 15. In a suit in which the matter in dispute exceeds Rs. 1,000, the High Court is not debarred by anything in the local Acts and Regulations of the Sontal Parganas from revising the proceedings of the Subordinate Judge, who is subject to the jurisdiction of the High Court under the general powers of superintendence over the subordinate Courts, as contained in the Charter, and an order by the Subordinate Judge adjoining a mortgage sale, pending an enquiry directed to be made by the Deputy Commissioner, may be revised by the High Court. The High Court, however, cannot interfere with an order of the Deputy Commissioner directing an enquiry or with an enquiry by the Sub divisional Officer. Dungaram Marwary v Raykushore Deo, I L R 18 Calc 133, followed Tey Ram v Harshukh, I L P 1 All 101, referred to SARDHARI SAH v HICKLIN CHAND SAH (1914)

SONTHAL PARGANAS—contd

I L R 41 Calc 878

2 ————— Mortgage of land in, not completely settled—Suit in Civil Court at Bhagalpur on mortgage, if lies—Limits of Civil Court's Jurisdiction—Exclusive jurisdiction of special officers appointed by Lieutenant Governor—Stipulation in bond that suit might be instituted at Bhagalpur—Court having jurisdiction in Sonthal Parganas, if includes Civil Courts at Bhagalpur—Sonthal Parganas Regulation, III of 1872 (read with Act XXXVII of 1885 and Act X of 1887) ss—5, 6—Interest—usury rules enforceable by all Courts Sonthal Parganas Justice Regulation (V of 1893), s 9—Civil Procedure Codes (Act VIII of 1859, Act XLIII of 1861, Act X of 1877, Act XIV of 1882) how far applicable in Sonthal Parganas—Civil Courts Acts (Act VI of 1871 and Act XII of 1887), how far apply in Sonthal Parganas—Scheduled Districts Act (XII of 1874) if applied to Sonthal Parganas—Jurisdiction, objection to, taken at a late stage when entertainable Held, that on 20th June 1904, the date on which the present suit was instituted in the Subordinate Judge's Court at Bhagalpur to enforce a mortgage of properties two thirds of which was in the Sonthal Parganas, no suit could lie in any Court established under the Civil Courts Act of 1871 or 1887, in regard to any land or interest in or arising out of any land or for the rents or profits of any land, but such suits must have been brought under s 5 of Sonthal Parganas Regulation of 1872 before the Settlement Officers or Courts of officers appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal under s 2 of the Sonthal Parganas Act, 1865 and the Sonthal Parganas Justice Regulation of 1893 Part 2 so long as the land had not been settled and the settlement declared by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette to have been completed and concluded. That as it appeared that portions only of the mortgaged land had been settled and notification made prior to the institution of the suit of the completion of the settlement in respect of such portions only, the suit came within s 5 of the Sonthal Parganas Regulation of 1872 and the Subordinate Judge of Bhagalpur had no jurisdiction to entertain it. The provision in s 8 of that Regulation which places all contractual stipulation as to compound interest in a position of non enforceability and limits statutorily the total interest which can be decreed on any loan or debt is not one of procedure but of substance, and applies to all Courts having jurisdiction in the Sonthal Parganas and acting under and by virtue of such jurisdiction. All Courts having jurisdiction in the Sonthal Parganas in s 6 do not refer only to Courts locally situated in the Sonthal Parganas and dealing with matter purely local. A stipulation in the mortgage bond that the mortgagees might enforce it in the Court at Bhagalpur was inoperative, as the parties could not by consent give the Court jurisdiction thereby nullifying the express prohibition of s 5 of the Regulation of 1872. The Civil Procedure Codes of

SONTHAL PARGANAS—contd

1861, 1877 and 1882 applied to suits cognizable in the ordinary Civil Courts, and these, since the enactment of s 9 of Reg V of 1893, were suits of which the value exceeded Rs 1,000 and which were not excluded from their cognizance by, amongst others, the provisions of s 5 of the Regulation of 1872. Quære Whether the Civil Procedure Code was intended by the Notification of 19th August 1867 to apply to Courts held by officers appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in those suits in which they were not required to try and determine the case according to the several laws and regulations prevailing in Bengal. Semble The true interpretation of cl (1) of the Act XXXVII of 1885 (before its operation was modified by subsequent enactments and notifications) was that even suits on which the matter in dispute exceeded Rs 1,000 in value were to be tried by the special officers appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, but in trying and determining them, they were to observe the general laws and regulations obtaining in Bengal. Sorboyst Roy v Ganesh Prasad Misser, I L R 10 Calc 761, doubted. MAHA PRASAD SINGH v RAMANI MOHAN SINGH (1914)

L R 41 I A 197

I L R 42 Calc 116

18 C W N 994

SONTHAL PARGANAS ACT (XXXVII OF 1885).

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877

2 Pat L J 379

s 1—

See JURISDICTION I L R 41 Calc 915

See SONTHAL PARGANAS

I L R 41 Calc 878

s 2—

See JURISDICTION I L R 42 Calc 116

SONTHAL PARGANAS JUSTICE REGULATION (V OF 1893)

part 2, s 10—

See JURISDICTION I L R 42 Calc 116

SONTHAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGULATION (III OF 1872)

See JURISDICTION [I L R. 41 Calc. 915

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1877

2 Pat L J 379

See SONTHAL PARGANAS

I L R. 41 Calc 878

ss 5, 6—

See JURISDICTION I L R. 42 Calc 116

s 6—

See EXECUTION OF DECREES

4 Pat. L. J 49

ss 10 11—Sonthal Parganas Settlement Rules, No 27—Succession to jote held by Hindu gola—Local Custom (if applies to Hindu immigrants)—Point incidentally decided in settlement proceeding, res judicata A finding of the Settlement Officer in a proceeding under the Sonthal Parganas Regulation III of 1872, which was not necessary for the purpose of the proceeding and was arrived at only incidentally does not operate as res judicata R 27 of the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Rules under which resident relatives who have taken part in the management of the family jote are to be given preference as heirs, is only applicable to

SONTHAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGULATION (III OF 1872)—contd

ss. 10, 11—contd

suits before Settlement Officers. The Rule was intended to meet the peculiar customs of the Sonthals and aborigines in the locality and does not apply to persons governed by the Hindu Law, who have settled in the Sonthal Parganas. BASKI MAURET v SETHAL MAURET (1913)

18 C. W. N. 333

ss. 11, 14, 25, 25A—

1. Record of rights, effect of—Suits challenging record, maintainability of—Special limitation—Limitation Act (I.A. of 1908), s. 29, how far affects Regulation III of 1872—Minors, how affected by the Regulation. The plaintiffs some of whom were minors sued the defendants for partition of lands held in common but not as joint family property. In the record of rights prepared under Reg. III of 1872 the defendants had been recorded as proprietor and mokarardar in respect of the lands. The suit was brought after three years from the date of the publication of the record. Held, that the policy of Regulation III of 1872 was to have a complete record of rights and interests in land in the Sonthal Parganas and to exclude the jurisdiction of Civil Courts except in certain matters provided for in the Regulation. That the suit so far as it regarded the proprietary rights in the land was barred by limitation under s. 23A of the Regulation. That the Limitation Act is applicable to the Sonthal Parganas, but s. 29 of Act IX of 1908 saves all provisions of local laws as to limitation and does not therefore affect the three years' rule under s. 23A of the Regulation. That the Regulation does not make any exception in favour of minors and the minority provisions of the general Limitation Act has reference to the periods of limitation prescribed in that Act. That the notice provided by s. 14 is to the people of the village irrespective of age or intelligence and as the law makes the record of rights conclusive proof of the rights and interests therein recorded the defendants could not be called upon to prove the service of the required notices. JANCKI PERSAD JHA v BABU LAL JHA (1914)

19 C. W. N. 499

2. Effect of the Regulation on the jurisdiction of Civil Courts—Elements necessary for a suit to come within s. 23A—Sikmi ghatawali, Khorposh grant, share in it a right of a zamindar or other proprietor. The plaintiff brought a suit for declaration of his title to a share in a certain mauza in the Sonthal Parganas which formed the subject of a sikmi ghatawali Khorposh grant and for registration of his name in the settlement records in respect thereof. It appeared that rent was payable to the ghatawali and no land revenue was payable direct to the Government in respect of the land which was not free from Government revenue. Held, that the effect of ss. 11, 14 and 25 of Reg. III of 1872 was that the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts was absolutely excluded except in cases specially provided for in s. 23A. That in order that the plaintiff's case should fall within the provisions of s. 23A, it was essential for the plaintiff to show that he was a zamindar or other proprietor, and the interest in land like that claimed by the plaintiff did not come within the description of a right of a zamindar or other proprietor. That the only remedy the plaintiff had was to apply to the Gov-

SONTHAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGULATION (III OF 1872)—concl'd

ss. 11, 14—

ernment under s. 23 of the Regulation to direct the revision of the record of rights. NEMO DEO v PABHATI KUMAR (1914)

19 C. W. N. 549

ss. 11, 25, 25A—Entry in record of rights operating as decree—Claim not expressly negatived by Settlement Court, if open to investigation in Civil Court—Entry in record set up as plea in bar—What must be proved for entry to operate as res judicata—Proof that entry obtained by fraud. Where in a suit for rent instituted by the plaintiff in part as zamindar and in part as mokarardar, the defendants objected to the recovery of the rent alleged to be due to the plaintiff as mokarardar on the ground that in the record of rights prepared and finally published under the Sonthal Parganas Regulation, III of 1872, the defendants were recorded as proprietors only: Held, that under s. 11 of the Regulation the entry operated as a decree of a Civil Court. That it was not open to the plaintiff to urge that as there was no express decision of the Settlement Court upon the question of the mokarardar status of the defendants the matter was open for investigation in a Civil suit inasmuch as it must be held that there was such a decision by implication. Held however, that it was for the defendants who pleaded the entry as a bar, to establish the circumstances in which the decree was made and to prove conclusively that the decree does operate as res judicata. That the defendants must prove that in the preparation and final publication of the record of rights the requirements of the statute had been fulfilled, and it was open to the plaintiff to urge and prove that the entry which was to operate as a decree was obtained by fraud. Bom Narain Singh v Ram Runjan Chakraverty, 1 L. R. 13 Cal. 245, Nadar Chand Singh v Chandra Bikkor Sadhu, 1 L. R. 15 Cal. 763, Raj v Lakhan, 1 L. R. 27 Cal. 11, Asaram v Nundani, 1 L. R. 30 Cal. 369, relied on MOZAFFER ALI v KALI PRASAD SAHA (1913)

18 C. W. N. 271

s. 27—

See SONTHAL PARGANAS—

1 L. R. 41 Cal. 878

SOVEREIGN PRINCE.

suit against—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 86. 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 635

SOVEREIGN RIGHTS.

See ACT OF STATE.

1 L. R. 39 Cal. 615

See ASSESSMENT 1 L. R. 43 Cal. 973

SPECIAL APPEAL.

See SECOND APPEAL.

Civil Judge of Vinchur—Appeal to High Court—Regulation IV of 1872, s. 92—Regulation XIII of 1839, s. 6—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 4 and 100. A special appeal, on the grounds mentioned in s. 100 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), lies to the High Court, from the decision of the Civil Judge at Vinchur. RAMCHANDRA ANANDRAO v PANDU (1913)

1 L. R. 38 Bom. 340

Second Appeal in cases under Madras Rent Recovery Act VIII of 1865, s. 69—Civil Procedure Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 379—

SPECIAL APPEAL—contd

Civil Procedure Code (Act XII of 1882), s 584—Concurrent findings of fact—High Court ignoring concurrent findings and deciding contrary to them on second appeal. Although s 69 of the Madras Rent Recovery Act (VIII of 1865) only provides for a regular appeal (on law and fact), and there is no further appeal to the High Court from the decision of the District Judge on appeal from the Collector given by the terms of the Act itself, yet under s. 372 of Act VIII of 1859 which was the Civil Procedure Code in force when Madras Act VIII of 1865 was passed, and which regulated the procedure of the Civil Courts in India outside the Presidency towns, a special appeal lay "to the Sudder Court from all decisions passed in regular appeal by the Courts subordinate to the Sudder Court, and when the District Court was substituted for the Zillah Court and the High Court for the Sudder Court a special appeal lay from the District Court to the High Court. The terms of the latter Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) which was the Code in force when the suits out of which the present appeals arose, were instituted are clear on the point that on appeal lies from the order of the District Judge to the High Court unless that right is taken away by express legislation or some express provision of law. And a second or special appeal to the High Court in cases arising under Madras Act VIII of 1865 has been held to lie in Veeraswamy v Manojer, Pottapur Estate, I L R 26 Mad 518. The practice has been ever since the passing of the Act for such appeals to be preferred to the High Court and their Lordships would not be disposed to interfere with such a long standing practice even if they thought there was an implied rule against second appeals lying from the decisions of the District Judge with respect to adjudications under the Act by the Collector. S 584 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882 distinctly prohibits second appeals on questions of fact, and confines the competency of the High Court to deal with law and procedure. Where, therefore, in a suit by landlord under s 9 of the Madras Act VIII of 1865, to enforce acceptance of a patta by his tenants, and the sole question was whether on the evidence an arrangement which had been previously come to between the parties was permanent, and the Collector and the District Judge concurrently found in the defendant's favour that it was permanent, but the High Court on second appeal ignored that finding and held that the landlord was entitled to revert to a system of rates which had existed prior to such arrangement: Held, that the High Court had acted in inadvertence of s 584 of the Code and had thereby assumed a jurisdiction which it did not possess, and its decision was set aside and the case remitted to India. Durga Choudhury v Jerahir Singh Choudhury, I L P 18 Cal 23 s C L R 17 I A 122, followed Ravi Veeraswamy v Venkata Narasimha Naidu Bahadur (1914) I L R 37 Mad. 443.

Second Appeal in suit under Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 108, 109, A(2)—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 584—High Court entertaining second appeals where no ground existed within s 584—Perusing evidence and deciding contrary to decision of Special Judge, on facts—Disturbing findings of facts—Questions of law and fact. S 190A (3) of the

SPECIAL APPEAL—concl'd

Bengal Tenancy Act makes applicable to an appeal to the High Court from the decision of a Special Judge the provisions of Chapter XLII of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, and the right of appeal is therefore limited by the provisions regulating the right of appeal to the High Court from a subordinate Court contained in s 584 of that Code, the power as to the regulation of rents being dependent and consequent upon the alteration of the judgment on specified grounds, and only such grounds are permissible. Where, therefore, it was found that such an appeal to the High Court was not within any of the grounds in s 584, but that nevertheless the High Court had entertained the appeal, reversed the decree of the Special Judge on questions of fact, making suggestions of prejudice and unreasonable assumptions on his part for which there was no justification and so reversing the evidence with which it was not competent to deal. Held, that the High Court had exceeded its jurisdiction by exercising functions completely circumscribed by the provisions of a statute passed for the express purpose of securing some measure of finality in cases where the balance of evidence, verbal and documentary, arose for decision, and its decree and judgment so made were set aside. Questions of law and of fact are sometimes difficult to disentangle. The proper legal effect of a proved fact is essentially a question of law, so also is the question of admissibility of evidence and the question of whether any evidence has been offered on one side or the other. But the question whether the fact has been proved when evidence for and against has been properly admitted is necessarily a pure question of fact. MAFAR CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHURY v SHEKHAR SINGH (1918) I L R 46 Cal 189.

SPECIAL BENCH

power of—

See PARDON I L R 37 Cal 845

SPECIAL CITATION

See LETTER OF ADMINISTRATION

I L R 47 Cal 829

SPECIAL CONSTABLES

Dispute regarding ferry—Proceeding for security to keep the peace drawn up against one party—Appointment of members thereof as special constables—Refusal to act as such—Legality of appointment and of prosecution for such refusal—Police Act (V of 1861) ss 17, 19. The only legitimate object of appointing special constables under s 17 of the Police Act (V of 1861) is to strengthen the ordinary police force by the addition of suitable persons. When the appointments are not made with such an object, a prosecution under s 19 of the Act for refusal to act as such will not be permitted. When the members of one party to a ferry dispute were appointed as special constables, and the circumstances showed that it was never really intended to utilize them as police officers, the High Court quashed the order of the District Magistrate directing the prosecution under s 19 of the Act and the issue of warrants against them. PARDIN SINGH v EMPEROR (1916) I L R. 43 Cal 277.

SPECIAL COURT

— WFA n excludes jur s
Action of ordinary Courts Before the jurisdiction of the ordinary Courts of the country can be excluded by a Special Court there must be clear words in the statute excluding such jurisdiction.
SARKI BHUSAN HAIRA v SURESH ESHABAR ALI
NAZIR (1915) 19 C W N 636

SPECIAL DAMAGE

See LIMITATION I L R 40 Calc 893
See TORT I L R 33 All 237

SPECIAL JUDGE

— decision of—

See SECOND APPEAL
 I L R 46 Calc 189

— order of—

See APPEAL I L R 45 Calc 638

SPECIAL LEAVE TO APPEAL

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF
 I L R 41 Calc 568

SPECIAL PROCEDURE

See BAIL I L R 37 Calc 439

SPECIAL TRIBUNAL

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III of 1904) s 287 I L R 38 Mad 41

See RECORDS POWER TO CALL FOR
 I L R 43 Calc 239

SPECIFIC AREA

See LEASE I L R 37 Calc 293

SPECIFIC MOVEABLE PROPERTY

— Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) s 11—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXI r 31—Pleadings—Suit against a carrier—Non delivery of goods—Compensation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Arts 31 49 and 115—Motion general a specialibus non derogant applications of. In order to entitle the plaintiff to obtain delivery of specific moveable property by suit and to enforce the decree so obtained by the stringent methods provided in O XXI r 31 of the Code of Civil Procedure it is necessary that he should allege and prove facts which entitle him to compel the delivery of specific moveable under the provisions of s. 11 of the Specific Relief Act. Where in a suit a plaintiff carries the plaintiff asked for the recovery of one plank of wood that was not delivered to the consignee and also for Rs. 21 12 0 being the loss of interest but contends no allegation on that the defendant was in possession of the plank in question and it was obvious from the correspondence that he was not in possession of the same. Held, that in so far as the suit could be regarded as a suit for the return of the specific plank, the case did not come within s. 11 of the Specific Relief Act and the suit must be dismissed that if the suit was regarded as one for compensation for failure to deliver the plank in breach of the contract under the bill of lading it was governed by Art. 31 and not by Art. 49 or 115 of the Limitation Act. By the amendment in 1899 of Art.
 31 of the Limitation Act the Legislature clearly indicated its intent on that the Article should apply to a claim against a carrier for compensation for non delivery of goods irrespective of the question whether the suit was laid in contract or in tort.

SPECIFIC MOVEABLE PROPERTY—contd

 Art. 49 is inapplicable to such a case even if it were applicable its operation would be excluded by the special Art. 31 as amended on the principle general a specialibus non derogant. The British India Steam Navigation Co v Hajee Mahomed
Esack & Co I L R 3 Mad 107. Danmull v
British India Steam Navigation Co I L R 12
 Calc 477 and Creat Ltd and Peninsula Railway Co v Russell Chandmull I L R 19 Bom 165 referred to VENKATASUBBA PAO v THE ASIATIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO, CALCUTTA (1911.)
 I L R 39 Mad 1

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

See AGREEMENT TO LEASE
 I L R 47 Calc 495

See BYGAL AGRA AND ASSAM CIVIL COURT ACT 1837 s 18
 4 Pat L J 447

See CHOTA NAAGPUR ENDCUMBERED ESTATE
ACT 1876 s 17 4 Pat L J 580

See CHOWKIDARI CHAKRAM LANDS
 I L R 37 Calc 57
 I L R 48 Calc 173

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O II n
 I L R 38 Mad 698

See CONTRACT I L R 46 Calc 771
 I L R 45 Bom 1170

See CONTRACT ACT 1872 s 55
 I L R 40 Bom 289

See GUARDIAN AND MINOR
 I L R 38 All 433

See HINDU LAW (JOINT FAMILY)
 2 Pat L J 513

See JURISDICTION
 I L R 43 Calc 882

See LEASE I L R 39 Calc 683

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 ss 17 AND 49
 I L R 45 Bom 8

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1877 s 30
 I L R 34 All 43

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF
1882) s 54 I L R 41 Bom 438

— agreement whether complete and enforceable—

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908 ss 17 AND 49
 I L R 45 Bom 8

— of contract to sell—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1970) s 7
 CTS (v) AND (x) I L R 38 All 292

— partition and possession suit for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O I s 3
 I L R 40 Mad 365

— suit for—

See EJECTMENTS
 I L R 39 Mad 554

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
 I L R 38 Mad 1187

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)
 s. 27 I L R 38 All 184

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd.

—unstamped agreement for sale partly performed—

See CONTRACT . I L. R. 45 Bom. 1170

1. — Agreement to lease—Specific performance, suit for—Registration, if necessary—Indian Registration Act (III of 1877) ss 3, 17 (1) and 49—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 51—Present demise—Interest in land. Unless an agreement to lease certain premises operate as present demise, it does not, of itself, create any interest in or charge on the property agreed to be demised and can, therefore, be given in evidence for the purpose of enforcing specific performance of it, without its having been registered under the provisions of the Indian Registration Act Purmananddas v Dharsey, I L R 10 Bom 101, not followed Kondras Srinivasa v Cottumukkala Venkataraja, 17 Mad I J 218, followed. An unregistered agreement to lease provided for the grant of lease for a period of five years commencing from the day following the day on which the agreement was entered into and also provided that the proposed lessee would get a proper kabuliyat granted to him to be registered at his own cost. Held, that on the day the agreement was come to, there was no present demise, and, therefore, the agreement could be adduced in evidence for the enforcement of specific performance thereof SATYENDRA NATH BOSE & ANNI CHANDRA GHOSH (1908) 14 C. W. N. 65

2. — Sale of immoveable property—Marketable title, to the satisfaction of the purchaser's solicitors When a vendor of immoveable property desires to enforce a contract for sale with a condition that the title adduced should be to the satisfaction of the purchaser's solicitors, he must prove either that the solicitors did approve of the title or that there was such a title tendered as made it unreasonable to approve of it Clack v Wood, 9 Q B D 276, followed TREACHER & Co v MAHOMEDALLY ADAMI PRERBOY (1910) I L. R. 35 Bom 110

3. — Denial of execution of agreement by defendant—Conflicting evidence as to genuineness of signature—Consideration as to which story best agrees with admitted facts—defendant in pecuniary difficulties—Plaintiff in a position to "dominate his will"—Bargain onerous but not unconscionable—Absence of fraud or misrepresentation by plaintiff—Discretion in granting or refusing specific performance In a suit to enforce specific performance of an agreement dated 4th April 1906, for the sale of land, in which the defendant (appellant) denied that he ever signed the agreement, the evidence on that point was conflicting, though otherwise there was much unanimity on the general facts. The two lower Courts (of the Chief Court of Lower Burma) differed, the Original Court holding that the defendant's signature was a forgery, and the Appellate Court reversing that decision and making a decree for specific performance. Held, by the Judicial Committee, that the proper courts was to examine the admitted facts and circumstances as furnishing the safest guide to a correct conclusion. On this test their Lordships were of opinion that the plaintiff's (respondents) account of the transaction best fitted in with the admitted facts and that the defence was untrue. The defendant when he acquired the land in 1901, was admittedly in pecuniary difficulties, and had bought it with money raised by mortgaging it. In

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd.

1905 his mortgagee was pressing for payment, and another creditor had taken out execution. The arrangement he was obliged to make with the plaintiff was, therefore, necessarily of a somewhat onerous nature. Held, that in the absence of any evidence of fraud or misrepresentation on the part of the plaintiff, which induced the defendant to enter into the contract, or that the plaintiff under the circumstances took an improper advantage of his position or the difficulties of the defendant, and having regard to the character of the agreement, which, in their opinion, though onerous, was not unconscionable, their Lordships saw no reason in the exercise of their discretion for refusing to grant specific performance. The decree of the Appellate Court was therefore upheld DATIS & MAHA SHWE GOH (1911) I. L. R. 38 Cal 805

4. — Minor—Right to specific performance of contract entered into on his behalf by his guardian and manager of his estate—Contract for purchase of immoveable property and sale of it to minor—Power of guardian and manager—Want of mutuality In a suit for specific performance by a minor of an agreement for the purchase and sale to him of certain immoveable property, entered into by the manager of the minor's estate and his guardian on his behalf. Held, by the Judicial Committee, that it was not within the competence either of the manager of the minor's estate or of the guardian of the minor, to bind the minor or the minor's estate by a contract for the purchase of immoveable property, that as the minor was not bound by the contract there was no mutuality; and that consequently the minor could not obtain specific performance of the contract. MIR SARWARJAN v FAKRUDDIN MAHOMED CHOWDHURY (1911) I. L. R. 39 Cal 232

5. — Contract executed in exercise of power given by will—Will found false—Enforcement against executant as heir—Delay in suing, not amounting to waiver or acquiescence, if bar to relief The widow of the deceased owner jointly with another who as executor had obtained probate of a will alleged to have been left by the deceased executed an agreement for sale of land, the widow purporting thereby to exercise a power given by the will to assent to conveyances executed by the executor. The probate subsequently having been revoked. Held, that the contract was specifically enforceable against the widow to the extent of her interest. Horrocks v Rugby, 9 CA D 180, relied on. Delay which did not amount to waiver, abandonment or acquiescence and in no way altered the position of the defendant, did not disentitle the plaintiff to sue for specific performance. Kissen Gopal Salaney v Kali Prasanna Sett, I L. R. 33 Cal 633, followed; Moynul Lai v. Chotalai, I L. R. 10 Cal 1061, referred to. In the special circumstances of the case, specific performance of the contract was refused. KENDRA NATH SAMANTA & MANU BIRI (1911) 16 C. W. N. 247

6. — Agreement to renew a lease—When specifically enforceable against a subsequent lessee for value—Duty of subsequent lessee to enquire of terms of previous lease—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s 27 An agreement to renew a lease under certain conditions on the determination of the term of the lease can be specifically enforced against a subsequent lessee for value who has omitted to make an enquiry of the tenant

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd

could be granted. Wolverhampton and Walsall Railway Co v L. and N. W. Railway Co, L. R. 16 Eq 433, per Lord Selborne, referred to JATINDRA NATH BASU v PETER DEYE DEBI (1910)

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 990

10. ———— Contract to lend or borrow money—Suit for balance of mortgage money—Damages—Provincial Small Causes Courts Act (IX of 1837), Sch. II cl. 15, 16—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 113, O. XXI, r. 1 A suit for specific performance of a contract to lend or borrow money is not maintainable. Ropers v Challis, 27 Bear 170, Sichel v Mosenthal, 30 Bear 371, Larios v Garety, L. R. 5 P. C. 316, and The South African Territories v Warrington, [1898] A. C. 309 followed. Nor would a suit to recover the balance of the mortgage money, on a suit for the rectification of the instrument be cognizable by a Court of Small Causes (Vide cl. 15 and 16 Sch. II, Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1837) But a suit for damages for breach of contract is cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, if the amount is within its pecuniary jurisdiction. SHRIKH GALIM v SADARJAN BINI (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 59

11. ———— Contract modified—Specific performance of a contract of sale—S. 27 (6), Specific Relief Act (I of 1877)—Contract varied—Vendors asked to take out letters of administration and leave to sell—Effect of variation—Contingent contract—Order for sale—Title of purchasers under order of Court—Whether such purchasers are affected with notice of previous agreement—Dealings with purdashin ladies—Independent legal advice—Costs—Discretion of the Appeal Court in modifying order for costs made by the Court of first instance Two widows defendants Nos 1 and 2, entered into an agreement on the 23rd January 1910 for sale of certain properties for legal necessity with the plaintiffs at Rs. 8,000 per cottah. The agreement contained the following covenant on the part of the vendors:—"We shall at our own expenses do everything which your attorney shall consider necessary for rectifying and clearing the title deeds." The idea of applying for Letters of Administration was not present in the mind of any of the parties at the time of the agreement. Subsequently in order to obviate any objection of the reversioner on the score of legal necessity the plaintiffs asked the widows to apply for Letters of Administration with leave to sell to the plaintiffs. The widows obtained Letters of Administration and one of them actually obtained leave to sell to the plaintiffs. Subsequently the widows applied and obtained leave for sale to the defendants Nos. 3, 4 and 5 (described as the Nandi defendants) who offered a higher price and the property was conveyed to them. The Nandi defendants had notice of the agreement for sale to the plaintiffs at the time when they took the conveyance. In a suit by the plaintiffs for specific performance of the agreement of sale against all the defendants and in the alternative for damages against defendants Nos. 1 and 2 for breach of contract. Held that the contract as varied by mutual consent became a contingent one, and as the contingency had not happened (i.e., leave of the Court had not been obtained in their favour) the plaintiffs were not entitled to claim performance of the contract. Naran Patro v Ashok Naran Manna, I. L. R. 12 Cal. 152, and Sarb Chandra v Khetra Pal

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd

14 C. W. N. 451 s. c. 11 C. L. J. 346, followed. Held, also, that the plaintiffs were not entitled to claim damages as their action was based on the original contract and not on the contract as modified and as there was no breach of the modified contract. KALIDAS DASSEE v NOBO KUMARI DASSEE (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 929

12. ———— Agreement to reduce terms into writing—Contract, if complete before writing—Contract completed subject to insertion of "usual terms and conditions" if specifically enforceable—Vendor, if may waive such terms and enforce others—Earnest money, payment of if conclusively completed contract—Uncertainty—Variance between pleading and proof In a suit for specific performance of a contract for sale and purchase of immovable property where the purchaser agreed to buy the property at a certain price and agreed to certain terms and conditions as he understood them and paid earnest money and the terms of the contract were sought to be proved partly by evidence in writing and partly by oral evidence and it appeared that the parties contemplated a formal written agreement to be approved and afterwards executed embodying the special terms and conditions already supposed to have been agreed upon and the "usual terms and conditions" of sale and purchase and it appeared that there were a number of terms and conditions admittedly not agreed to or discussed between the parties which were afterwards embodied in a draft agreement prepared by the vendor's solicitor and submitted for the approval of the purchaser and which draft agreement the purchaser did not approve. Held that there was no completed contract between the parties capable of being specifically enforced. PER JENKINS, C. J.—It being expressly pleaded in the plaint that it was a matter of actual agreement and not merely the expression of a desire that the terms should be embodied in a written agreement there was, in the absence of such a formal contract in writing, no concluded contract between the parties. That where the terms of a contract are sought to be proved by oral evidence the provision for a prospective written agreement cannot be treated as negligible the more so where the supersession is of an oral by a written agreement and not merely of one writing by another. That even in the case of a supersession of a written document by a more formal writing the circumstance that the parties do intend to make a subsequent agreement has been held to be strong evidence that they did not intend the previous negotiation to amount to an agreement. That even if the main terms be substantially agreed upon and to that extent the purchaser may have considered that there was a contract and have used language appropriate to that position nevertheless where it appears that the prospective written agreement contemplated embodying the term agreed upon or supposed to have been agreed upon together with other terms and conditions described as "usual terms and conditions" the contract cannot be specifically enforced for uncertainty. That the mere payment of earnest money did not preclude the purchaser from pleading that there was no concluded contract. PER WOODHOUSE, J.—The Court will not enforce specific performance of a contract the terms of which are uncertain. The question whether a contract is uncertain is a question of fact which arises on the documents and oral evidence tendered in support of it. An Appeal Court is not bound to accept the first Court's appreciation of the facts of the case. Both the facts and law are open to the Court of Appeal. But appellant should satisfy the Appeal Court that the judgment appealed against is erroneous. The mere reference to a formal agreement will not prevent a binding bargain. The fact that the parties refer to the preparation of an agreement by which the terms agreed upon are to be put into more formal shape does not prevent the existence of a binding contract. The payment of earnest money is itself evidence of a concluded contract. Per MOOREHEAD, J.—It is well settled that the fact that the parties intended to embody the terms of the contract in a formal written agreement is strong evidence that the negotiations prior to the drawing of such writing are merely preliminary and not intended or understood to be binding. If it is definitely expressed and understood that there is to be no contract until the formal writing is executed there is plainly no binding agreement formed until this provision is complied with. It is also true that if all terms of the agreement have not been settled and it is understood that these unsettled terms are to be determined by the formal contract, there is no binding obligation until the writing is executed. But if the oral agreement or written memorandum is complete in itself and embodies all the terms to be inserted in the intended formal writing a binding obligation is fixed on the parties unless it is understood and intended that such contract shall not become operative until reduced to writing. The question is merely one of intention. If the written draft is viewed by the parties merely as a convenient memorial of record of their previous contract, its absence does not affect the binding force of the contract, if, however, it is viewed as the consummation of the negotiations, there is no contract until the written draft is finally signed. To determine which view is entertained in any particular case several circumstances may be helpful, as for example whether the contract is of that class which are usually found to be in writing, whether it is of such a nature as to need a formal writing for its full expression, whether it has few or many details, whether the amount involved is large or small, whether it is a common or usual contract, whether the negotiation itself indicates that a written draft is contemplated as a final conclusion of the negotiation. If a written draft is proposed, suggested or referred to during the negotiations it is some evidence that the parties intended it to be the final closing of the contract. The Court should refuse specific performance where there is substantial variance between the pleading and proof. The draft agreement containing terms which were never settled before between the parties, the legitimate inference to be drawn is that the parties intended the written draft to be the consummation of their negotiations which were to be treated as concluded only upon the final execution of the written agreement. Where many terms still remained undetermined it is a sure index that the contract has not yet been concluded. Where there is ambiguity in any of the conditions of sale in restriction of the rights of the purchaser the condition should be construed more strictly against the vendor. HYAM v. M. E. GUNBAR (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 88

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd.

13. ——— Unregistered agreement to mortgage on which an advance has been paid—Whether enforceable—Swamithopam, whether lease or mortgage. The plaintiff sued for specific performance of an agreement in writing but not registered by which the first defendant agreed inter alia to execute a deed of swamithopam in respect of the suit lands to be enjoyed by the plaintiff for twenty years for a consideration of Rs. 5,000 which could however be repaid at defendants' option after eight years from its date. The plaintiff having advanced about Rs. 4,000 and not having obtained possession of a mortgage-deed sued for specific performance. The first defendant pleaded that the agreement was one to execute a lease and as such required registration and not being registered, could not form the basis of a suit for specific performance, he further contended that even if the agreement were one to execute a mortgage, no suit for specific performance to enforce an agreement to grant a mortgage was sustainable. Held, that the agreement was one to grant a mortgage and as such did not require registration, and that a Court will not specifically enforce an agreement to lend or borrow money whether on security or not, but where money has been advanced either wholly or in part if the debtor is prepared to pay off the advance at once, the Court will not decree specific performance but if the borrower is not prepared to pay off the advance the Court should decree specific performance. South African Territories v. Wallington (1894) A C 309 referred to. Akshay v. Curran J. R. 12 Eq. 76, and Herman v. Hodges, L. R. 16 Eq. 13, followed. MEENAKSHUNAGARA MEDALIAN v. RATHNARANI PILLAI (1918) . . . L. L. R. 41 Mad. 959

14. ——— Oral agreement to grant a lease—Time for payment of premium left open—Whether delay a bar in the suit—Time of the commencement of the lease not specified—Whether the agreement is complete—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, whether a bar to proof of the time of the commencement of the lease—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 110. The plaintiffs brought a suit for specific performance of an agreement to grant a permanent lease made orally on the 30th December 1904. The period within which the premium was payable was left open. The sum of Rs. 400 was paid on the day following the agreement; but though subsequently the plaintiff tendered the balance the defendant declined to execute the lease. It was contended that the agreement was not complete as the time of the commencement of the lease was not specified and that delay in the payment of the premium was a bar to the suit. Held, that in view of s. 110 of the Transfer of Property Act the agreement was complete, although the time of the commencement of the lease was not specified. Held, that although delay on the part of a plaintiff in the performance of his part of the contract would be a bar to his claim for specific performance, provided that time was originally of the essence of the contract or had been made so by subsequent notice or that the delay had been so great as to be evidence of abandonment of the contract, the present case was not covered by either of the first two alternatives nor had the delay been so great as to be evidence of abandonment of the contract. The plaintiffs were entitled to succeed on proof that they indicated their willingness to perform the condition precedent within a reasonable time. Where there is an oral agreement to grant a lease, s. 12 of the Indian Evidence Act does not stand in the way of proof that there has been an agreement by implication or inferable from the circumstances, as to the time of the commencement of the lease. The Statute of Frauds has no application to this country. KAILASH CHANDRA BHOWMIK v. BEJOY KANTO LAHARI (1915) 23 C. W. N. 190

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd

15. — Agreement to sell in favour of a member (since deceased) of a joint Hindu family personally—Death of plaintiff—Applicant by widow to be substituted for her deceased husband—Legal representative. A deceased Hindu's wife (in the absence of male heirs) represents him in a suit for specific performance of a personal contract made with him, notwithstanding the fact that the deceased was a member of a joint Hindu family. JAI KALI v. BALDEO SINGH (1919) L. L. R. 41 All. 515

16. — Claim for possession.—In a suit for specific performance of a contract for the sale of land it is open to the plaintiff to join with his prayer for specific performance a claim for delivery of possession unless the contract expressly disemtitles him to such relief. The cause of action for delivery of possession may arise both upon the contract and the completed conveyance. If the plaintiff in such a suit omitted to ask for delivery of possession a subsequent suit to obtain delivery of possession might be barred under the provisions of O. 11, r. 2, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. But the Court will decree a claim for a conveyance only in cases where it embodies the substantial part of the agreement and where the Court can direct its execution without regard to the question whether or not its provisions can be specifically enforced. DEOVANDAN PRASAD SINGH v. JANKI SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 314

17. — Unregistered Sale-deed, whether can be regarded as an agreement to sell.—Suit by vendor for specific performance, whether maintainable. Where a sale-deed, purporting to be a conveyance of some lands, was executed and delivered to the vendee, but was not registered and the omission was not due to act of God or fraud on the part of the executant, it is not open to the vendee to treat the unregistered document as an agreement to sell and to use for specific performance of such agreement. VENKATRAM v. ARASAPPY (1933) 1 L. R. 15 Mad. 311, followed. See also RENDERS NATH DAS CHOWDHURY v. GOPAL CHAND R GHOSH (1910) 12 C. L. J. 464, disapproved from THAYAMMAL v. LAKSHMINATHAL (1920) L. L. R. 43 Mad. 822

18. — Agreement by which defendant has benefited. It was not defence to a suit for specific performance of an agreement under which the defendant took benefit to say that the plaintiff had failed to perform an undertaking given by him in reference to the agreement. RAVI HARASTO KUMARI v. THE MIDNIGHT EXIMINARY CO. 24 C. W. N. 177

19. — Unregistered "bainapatra" for grant of lease.—Registration Act. An unregistered "bainapatra" for grant of a pattas lease acknowledged receipt of part of the consideration money and contained a promise "to grant a pattas lease again from the date of the "bainapatra" and to Exchange patas and Katulyas before the 30th

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—contd

Aghran." Held, that the "bainapatra" did not affect a present demise and should be regarded as an agreement creating a right to obtain a pattas lease on the performance of certain conditions on or before the 30th Aghran. The document was not an agreement to lease and therefore did not require registration and so was admissible in evidence. HARINATH BANDOPADHYAYA v. PRODMOTHO NATH ROY CHOWDHURY 25 C. W. N. 551

20. — of agreement to grant a lease. Specific performance of an agreement to grant a lease cannot be decreed unless that agreement either expressly or impliedly fixes the date from which the terms is to run. SRI MATI GIRIBALLA DAS v. KALIDAS BHUTTA 25 C. W. N. 320

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877).

See INCOME TAX ACT (VII OF 1918), s. 51 L. L. R. 41 Mad. 718

See NUISANCE L. L. R. 40 Bom. 401

Applicability of to Sonthal Parganas. The Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation, 1872, read with the Sonthal Parganas Act, 1853, merely means that in suits exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value those laws will apply to the Sonthal Parganas which are proprio vigore in force in the whole of India. The Specific Relief Act, 1877, is not proprio vigore in force in the whole of India and, therefore, it does not apply to the Sonthal Parganas by virtue of s. 2 of the Sonthal Parganas Regulation, 1872. Declaratory reliefs cannot be granted in a suit instituted in a Court in the Sonthal Parganas. KUMAR SATYA NARANJAN CHAKRA VARTY v. DWARAKA NATH SARDHU 2 Pat. L. J. 379

Suit to recover possession of land previously dealt with under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code. Per RICHARDSON J.—When a Magistrate's order is attacked in a collateral proceeding as ultra vires it should be shown to have been without jurisdiction in the strict sense of the term, and not in the loose sense in which that term is sometimes used in proceedings for the revision of orders under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code, under the High Court's powers of superintendence under s. 15 of the Charter Act (now s. 107 of the Government of India Act of 1915). When an enquiry has been properly entered upon, it is not every error which makes the result invalid. Before want of jurisdiction can be established in such a case a vice must be clearly established which infects the whole proceeding. IAK MAHAMED SHAHA v. HEYAT MAHAMED SAHA (1917) 22 C. W. N. 342

s. 2—
See COURT FEE L. L. R. 39 Calc. 704

s. 3—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932), s. 40 L. L. R. 40 Bom. 493

ss. 3, 118, (9), 12, 27—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 34 L. L. R. 41 Bom. 438

ss. 8, 8—Suit for appointment based on title.—Court not competent in such a suit to grant a decree on the basis merely of previous possession. Where a plaintiff sues for possession on the basis of title and fails to establish his title, he cannot be granted a decree for possession under the first paragraph of s 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Ram Harakh Rai v Sheodhal Joti, 1 L R 15 All 334, and Mousi v Kachia, All Weekly Notes (1897) 115 overruled. Ramswami Chellu v Paraman Chetti, 1 L R 25 Mad 448, followed. Wajid Ali v Ram Saran, All Weekly Notes (1891) 30, and Chuthan Rai v Sheo Ghulam Fai, All Weekly Notes (1889) 89, referred to. Lachman v Shambhu Narain (1910) 1 L R 33 All 174

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contd.—§ 8, 9—contd.

—§ 9—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE—

s 11. 1 L R 39 All 717
O Ali N. 23 2 Pat. L J 61

See POSSESSORY SUIT

1 L R. 45 Cal 519

1. —Decree against landlord for khas possession—Order of tenants in execution—Tenant's remedy—Civil Procedure Code (Act XI) of 1852, s 332. Where in execution of a decree for khas possession obtained against the landlord, the plaintiffs who were tenants were dispossessed. Held, that the plaintiffs were not dispossessed otherwise than in due course of law within the meaning of s 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Kamini Sundari Dasia v Sankar Sunkh (1909) 14 C W N. 403

2. —Possessory suits dismissed—Application by plaintiff for revision rejected. When the plaintiff's suit under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, was dismissed, the High Court declined to interfere in revision upon the ground that it was open to the plaintiff to take another remedy and bring a regular suit on title. Juala v Ganga Prasad, 1 L R 36 All 331, followed. Ram Kishen Das v Jai Kishen Das (1911) 1 L R 33 All 647

3. —Tenants, dis possession of, if dispossession of landlord—Physical possession, if must be proved. Tenants settled by the plaintiff being dispossessed by the defendant relinquished the land to the plaintiff. Held, that the plaintiff was in the circumstances entitled to sue under s 9, Specific Relief Act. Bindubashini v Jahnava, 13 C W N 303, Jagannatha v Rama, 1 L R 28 Mad 233, relied on. Tarini Mohan v Ganga Prasad, 1 L R 14 Cal 649, Sonatan Shome v Sheikh Helim, 6 C W N 616, distinguished. Norin Das v Kailash Chandra Dey (1910) 13 C W N 294

4. —Dispossession in execution of decree obtained against third party, if in due course of law. Where the burgadars of a tenant were dispossessed from their land in execution of a decree against the tenant to which the burgadars were not parties and which was obtained upon a false admission by the tenant himself. Held, that the dispossession was in due course of law within the meaning of s 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Haran Chandra Pal v Madan Mohan Bantkhyia (1911) 15 C W N. 956

5. —Dispossession—Order of tenant, if dispossession of landlord. The order of a tenant is an order of the landlord for which the landlord can sue under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act. Bindubashini Chaudhuran v Jahnava, 13 C W N 303. Bindubashini Chaudhuran v Jankoli Chaudhuran, 13 C W N 307n,

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contd.—§ 9—contd.

Jankoli Nath Roy v Dinamoni Chaudhuran, 13 C W N 305, Shyama Churn v Mahomed Ali, 13 C W N 335, Habin Chunder Das v Koylakh Chunder Das, 12 C L J 453, followed. Sonatan Shome v Sheikh Helim, 6 C W N 616, not followed. Akhil Chandra Dey v Akhil Chandra Biswas (1911) 15 C W N. 715

6. —Thrice tenant, ejectment of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 116—Jurisdiction—Error of law. Where in a suit, brought within 6 months from the date of dis possession under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act, to recover lands from which the plaintiff was dis possessed by the end 1318, B S, the Munsif found that the plaintiff was in possession of the lands for the year 1318, B S, as thrice tenant or tenant-at-will, but holding that the said thrice right ceased after 1318 dismissed the plaintiff's suit. Held, that the tenant was entitled to a decree for possession of those lands. Held, also, that the Munsif's decision was a refusal to exercise jurisdiction vested in him, and the High Court could interfere under s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. Ramdayal Shamanta v Upendranath Shamanta (1912) 17 C W N. 501

7. —Decree stayed pending suit for confirmation of possession—Once as in suit for ejectment. Where a decree in a suit under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act is stayed pending a suit by the defendant for declaration of his title and confirmation of possession. Held, that the plaintiff in the latter suit must affirmatively prove his right to present possession. Monohar Pal v Ananta Moter Dass (1913) 17 C. W. N. 802

8. —Possessory title—Suit for recovery of possession—Plaintiff in actual possession without title ousted by defendants having no title at all. Held, that the purchasers of a house and site in a village who had actually held possession for some years, but who had otherwise no title, were entitled to succeed in a suit for recovery of possession as against persons who had in fact ousted them but could show no title at all to the possession of the house or site. Wah Ahmad Khan v Ayudha Kundu, 1 L R 13 All 537, and Lachman v Shambhu Narain, 1 L R 33 All 174, referred to. Umrao Singh v Ramji Das (1913) 1 L R 36 All 51

9. —Adhar, status of—If tenant or labourer—Possession as Adhar, if protected under s 9—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 115. Very largely an adhar was a tenant and, in the absence of proof that an 'adhar' in that part of the country was a labourer, the decision of the lower Court protecting his possession under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act was not one which the High Court would remove under s 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. Debn Nath Das Bhatnagi v Ram Sundar Bhatnagi (1915) 19 C W N 1205

10. —Possession, if includes joint possession—Suit by co-sharer. The words of s 9 of the Specific Relief Act refer to exclusive possession and the Court in a suit under that section has no jurisdiction to grant joint possession to the plaintiff. No order under this section can be made in favour of the plaintiff who claims an undivided share in the property from which he and his co-sharers have been ousted

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 9—contd

HARI NAMA DASS v SRIKSH NAJU (1912)

19 C. W. N. 120

11 Joint ownership

—Co-owner, dispossessed by other co-owners, if may sue Where a co-owner in physical possession of property jointly with other co-owners is dispossessed by the latter he can institute a suit for recovery under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act Hari Narain Das v Eleman Bibi, 19 C. L. J. 117, s.c., 19 C. W. N. 120, distinguished ATIMAN BIBI
v SRIKSH REASUT (1915) . 19 C. W. N. 117

12 Suit for recovery of possession of immovable property—Construction of plaint—Suit framed as a suit on title, but also referring to s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877—Practice In a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property from which the plaintiff alleged that his sub-tenants had been ejected by the defendants the plaintiff claimed (i) a declaration of his title to, and possession of, the land in suit, (ii) damages for dispossession, and (iii) costs. In the body of the plaint it was mentioned that the suit was under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, and, therefore, the full Court fees had not been paid. At the hearing, the plaint was amended by striking out the claim for a declaration of title, but the claim for damages was retained. Held, on a construction of the plaint, that the suit was in substance a suit for possession based on title, and should have been tried as such, notwithstanding the reference in the plaint to s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. NARAI Ahmed v Abid Ali, 3 A. L. J. 910, referred to NARAI DAS v HET SINGH (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All. 637

13 Suit, if lies after property attached under Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), s. 146 Where following upon the dispossession by defendant of the plaintiff, an order for attachment was made under s. 146, Criminal Procedure Code, in a proceeding in respect of the same property under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code. Held, that the plaintiff after this has no right to relief under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act. AZIMUDDIN AHMED v ALAUBDIN
BUDUJA (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 931

14 Possessory suit—
Decree given for land and crops thereon—Crops removed before execution—Subsequent suit for price of crops—Defendants not competent to raise question of plaintiff's title to the land The plaintiff brought a suit under s. 9 of the Specific Relief Act for the possession of certain land with crops standing thereon and obtained a decree. Before, however, he could obtain possession of the land the defendants cut and removed the crops. The plaintiff then brought the present suit for recovery of the value of the crops. The defendants denied his title to the land. Held, that the defendants could not, by cutting and removing the crops, annul the effect of the possessory decree, and have the question of the plaintiff's title to the land decided in that suit. MUNNA SINGH v ARBAH SINGH
(1918) . I. L. R. 41 All. 108

ss. 9, 42—Temple lands, possession of—Trustee of temple—Wrongful dismissal and dispossession by co-trustees—Suit for declaration, involving dismissal and injunction—Consequential relief—No claim to recover possession—Suit

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*ss. 9, 42—contd

so framed not maintainable—Landlord—Possession by receipt of rent—Dispossession—Interest capable of delivery and possession When A, the trustee of a temple who had been ousted from possession by his co-trustees, sued for a declaration that his dismissal from the trusteeship was invalid and for an injunction restraining his co-trustees and the temple committee from interfering with the exercise of his rights as trustee, there being no prayer for consequential relief in the nature of possession against his co-trustees. Held, that the suit was not maintainable. That the suit is brought by a trustee is no answer to the objection. That possession should have been sued for and not a mere declaration. An injunction is a discretionary relief and cannot be claimed by a plaintiff out of possession when he does not ask for possession against defendants who are actually in possession. KUNJ Bihari v Keshavlal Hirralal, 1 L.
R. 28 Bom. 507, dissented from Jagadindra
Nath Roy v Hemanta Kumar Deb, 1 L. R. 32
Cal. 129, referred to. Held, further, that notwithstanding the lands belonging to the temple were in the physical possession of tenants, yet the plaintiff has a right to receive rents was capable of possession which if disturbed entitled him to bring a suit for possession under s. 9, Specific Relief Act. Jagan-nath Chatterjee v. Rama Payer, 1 L. R. 23 Mad.
238, followed. Abdul Kadir v Mahomed, 1 L.
R. 15 Mad. 18, followed. Narayana v Shanikanni,
1 L. R. 15 Mad. 235, followed. RATHIASABA PATHI
PILLAI v RAMASAMI AIYAR (1910)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 452

s. 11—

See SPECIFIC MOVABLE PROPERTY

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1

s. 12—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 54

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 438

Suit for delivery of cattle —Specific performance of the contract or compensation—Alternative reliefs—Non maintainability of the suit—Art. 13, second schedule, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1937)—Substantial justice—S. 25, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act
The mortgagors entered into a contract with their mortgagees whereby, in consideration of the latter making an endorsement on the back of the mortgage-bond crediting Re. 215 to the mortgagor's account, the mortgagor agreed to deliver to the mortgagees certain heads of cattle. The mortgagees performed their part of the contract and then sued the mortgagors in the Small Cause Court for delivery of the cattle promised and in the alternative for damages. The Court having dismissed the suit as being a suit for specific performance of a contract and thus beyond its competence as a Small Cause Court. Held that under s. 12 of the Specific Relief Act no suit for specific performance would lie as, unless there was something remarkable about the cattle, it was obvious that adequate compensation for the breach of the contract could be given in money. Substantial justice was done by the High Court in the exercise of the powers under s. 25, Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, by directing that the plaint be amended by striking out the clause demanding specific performance and the suit be dealt with solely as a suit for damages occasioned by a breach of the contract. BHARAT MAHTO v NISARALI SRIKSH (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 1020

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s 12—contd.

*Mortgage decree satisfied by judgment debtor—subsequent attachment of decree in execution by another party to the attachment—Objection rejected—Suit by creditor for a declaration that judgment-debtor was his benamidar and that the attachment was invalid—Code of Civil Procedure (1 of 1908) O 112 r 54 and 63. The judgment debtor satisfied a mortgage decree which had been obtained against him. Subsequently, in a money suit against the same judgment debtor, another party attached the decree before judgment. The present plaintiff thereupon objected to the attachment under O 112 r 54 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The objection was disallowed, and the objector instituted the present suit for a declaration that at the judgment debtor was his benamidar and that he was the real beneficiary entitled to the money deposited in court. He also prayed for a declaration that the attachment was invalid. Held that the suit did not stand against the terms of s 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, and the mere fact that the plaintiff did not ask for recovery of the money was no bar to his obtaining the relief sought. Subsequent to the attachment above referred to the decree was also attached by another party in execution of a money decree against the same judgment debtor. That party was made defendant in the present suit. Held, that no claim with regard to this second attachment having been filed under r 55 the present suit under r 63 was not maintainable against the second attaching decree holder. HARI LAL SARTI v THE RANCHI MINISTRIAL OFFICERS URBAN CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT SOCIETY 3 Pat L J 182*

s 14 to 17—Contract entered into by person on his behalf and on behalf of minors—Form of decree in suit for specific performance of such contract, when contract found not to be binding on minors. Where a contract of sale entered into by a person on his own behalf and on behalf of minors is found not binding on the minors, no decree for specific performance can be passed against the interest of such minors in the properties. Ss 14 to 16 of the Specific Relief Act do not enable such contract to be separated as regards the adult person who entered into the contract; and s 17 of the Act precludes the passing of a decree against the share of such party alone or a decree for the whole against such person. The purchaser in such a case will be entitled, on offering to pay the whole purchase money, to a decree directing the adult party to convey all his interest in the properties. CHAKRA SUBRAMAN REDDY v VADLAMUDI BHATKACHALAM CHETTY (1900) 1 L. R. 33 Mad 359

s 15—

See HINDU LAW—ALLEGATION

1 L. R. 38 Mad 1187

*Contract by managing member of joint Hindu family and circumstances not binding on the other members—Right to specific performance—Hindu Law. Where the managing member of a joint Hindu family consisting of himself and his sons, some of whom were minors, entered into a contract to sell family lands to the plaintiff, under such circumstances, that the contract was held not binding on the sons: Held, in a suit for specific performance against both the father and the sons composing the joint family,* that under s 16 of the Specific Relief Act, the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree even as against the father. 8 Mys 134. In a case where a member of an undivided family agrees to sell part of the joint property in which he has only a share, and the circumstance that an undivided father has an interest in every portion of the undivided property does not take the case out of the operation of the section. Koovari Ramaraju v Isakury Pundarikumar 1 L. R. 16 Mad 74 and Srinivasa Reddy v Sivarama Reddy 1 L. R. 32 Mad 30, not followed. Poralu Subbaramu Peddi v Vadlamudi Seshachalam Chetty 1 L. R. 33 Mad 352, Corrado Vokker v Apudhakaya Iyer Mad N. V. 57, and Barrett v Ping 2 Sm & Giff 43; see, 65 F. F. 291 referred to. NAGIAN v K. KATARAM SASTHULI (1912)

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s 15—contd

1 L. R. 37 Mad 387

ss 15 and 17—

*Sale by managing member—Sale of family property not for necessity—Suit for specific performance—Specific performance of entire contract whether can be granted—Option of purchaser for specific performance as regards share of vendor on date of contract on payment of full consideration—Such share to be specified in decree. The managing member of a joint Hindu family, who, for purposes not binding upon the other co-parents and without their concurrence, agrees to convey a specific item of joint family property, cannot "perform" his contract in its entirety and the case falls within the provisions of s 15 of the Specific Relief Act. The purchaser in such a case cannot enforce specific performance of the entire contract. But Courts will grant specific performance by a conveyance of the share which the vendor had in the property at the date of the contract, if the purchaser elects to pay the entire consideration, and the share should be specified in the decree. Koovari Ramaraju v Isakury Pundarikumar (1903) 1 L. R. 16 Mad 74, and Srinivasa Reddy v Sivarama Reddy (1909) 1 L. R. 32 Mad 320, disapproved from Poralu Subbaramu Peddi v Vadlamudi Seshachalam Chetty (1910) 1 L. R. 31 Mad 359, and Nagiah v Venkatarama Sasthul (1911) 1 L. R. 37 Mad 387, approved. BALDEVANI AITAR v LAKSHMAN AITAR (1911)

1 L. R. 44 Mad (F.B.), 605

*Contract by one co-owner to sell property belonging to him in common with another—Not enforceable—Delay, effect of. Where one of two undivided brothers of a Hindu family agreed to sell immovable property held by them in common, and a suit was brought for specific performance of the contract by compelling the vendor to execute a deed of sale in respect of the whole of the property agreed to be sold: Held, that non-specific performance could be granted as the execution of a sale deed by the defendant would be ineffectual in respect of the moiety not belonging to him. The Court would not lend its sanction to a transaction devoid of legal effect and improper in itself as calculated to throw a cloud on the title of a third person which would give him a cause of action for a declaratory suit. Poralu Subbaramu Reddy v Vadlamudi Seshachalam Chetty 1 L. R. 33 Mad 359 referred to. Koovari Ramaraju v Isakury Pundarikumar 1 L. R. 16 Mad 74, Srinivasa Reddy v Sivarama Reddy, 1 L. R. 32 Mad 320, and Barrett v Ping, 2 Sm*

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contd

ss. 15 and 17—contd

d. Q 43, sc., 65 E R 291, distinguished S 17 of the Specific Relief Act prohibits the Court from directing specific performance of a part of a contract except in accordance with the preceding sections. Even in a case falling within s 15, the relief by way of a decree for part performance is discretionary and will not be granted where there has been great delay, and a consequent change of circumstances. GOVINDA NAIDU v APATHANAYA IYER (1912)

I L R 37 Mad 403

s 18—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s 325A I L R 36 Bom 510

s 21—

See ARBITRATION I L R 48 Cal 1041

See COMPROMISE DECREE

14 C W N. 451

Arbitration—Reference to arbitration pleaded in bar of suit—Effect of reference having become unenforceable before suit, Held, that an agreement to refer to arbitration which has not been acted upon and which has become from lapse of time unenforceable cannot be set up as a bar to a suit respecting matters which had been included in the agreement. Atma Ras v Sheobaran Ras, All Weekly Notes (1882) 58, Tahal v Bisheshar, I L R 8 All 57, and Adhikar v Gursandas Nathu, I L R 11 Bom 199. RAM KUMAR SINGH v JAG MOHAN SINGH (1910)

I L R 33 All 315

Partners, agreement amongst, to refer disputes to arbitration—Withdrawal of one without cause, from arbitration—Suit to recover a share in debt realised by the other partner, if lies. Where a person has agreed with another that all matters in controversy between them should be referred to arbitration, it is not open to that person to renege from the agreement unless for good and sufficient cause. A dispute between partners whose business has come to an end regarding the division of assets, can only be finally settled in a proper suit for dissolution of partnership and for adjustment of accounts, and it is not proper that each of the parties should proceed by separate suits in order to recover from the other any sums due to the partnership business which he alone may have realised. Where on the termination of a partnership business, the partners agreed to refer all matters in dispute between them relating to the partnership to arbitration, and then one of the partners withdrew from the arbitration without sufficient cause, and instituted a suit in the Small Cause Court to recover a half share of a partnership debt realised by the other partner. Held, that the debt in suit being one of the matters which the plaintiff had contracted to refer to arbitration, s 21, Specific Relief Act was a bar to the continuance of the suit. That the suit was not maintainable at all. RAM CHANDRA PAL v KUSHERA LAL PAL (1912)

17 C W N 351

Agreement to arbitrate—Suit, when demand and refusal not proved, if by itself a refusal to arbitrate—Implied refusal. Where two days after concluding an agreement to refer their disputes to arbitration one of the parties instituted a suit and it was urged in defence that the suit was barred by s 21 of the Specific Relief Act but there was no allegation in the written statement that the plaintiff refused to perform the contract to refer to arbitration nor was any evidence given to prove such a refusal. Held, per FLETCHER, J.—That the filing of the suit was not a refusal within the meaning of s 21 of the Specific Relief Act. Per SHAMSHUL HUDA, J.—Neither demand nor refusal need be express and both may be implied. That the institution of the suit in circumstances which showed that plaintiff was determined not to go to arbitration amounted to a refusal to perform the contract to arbitrate. DIVYABANDHU JANA v DURGA PRASAD JANA (1918)

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contd

s 21—contd

22 C W N. 382

ss 21 (b), 54

See TRUST I L R. 41 Cal 19

s 22—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

I L R 41 Cal 852

*Contract for sale of land in lieu of kushup of departmental enquiry against a public servant, if enforceable—Court of equity, jurisdiction of, to refuse specific performance of contract not valid or void under the Indian Contract Act. In a suit for specific performance of a contract for sale of land, it appeared that in consequence of a charge being laid at the instance of the plaintiffs against one of the defendants who was the record keeper of the Court of the District Judge a departmental enquiry into the matter by a Subordinate Judge was ordered and while this was in progress the two defendants who were father and son were approached by the plaintiffs who promised to kushup on the said enquiry if the defendants would execute a conveyance in their favour in respect of certain land and the result was the contract in suit. Held, that the contract was one of which specific performance ought not to be ordered. That there may be cases which cannot be brought within the four corners of the provisions of the Indian Contract Act as to the invalidity or voidability of agreements but in which nevertheless a Court of equity may properly refuse to exercise its jurisdiction under the Specific Relief Act. *GOBINDA CHANDRA CHAKRABORTY v NANDA KUMAR DAS (1914)

18 C W N 689

Specific performance, suit for—Sale not completed in time through vendor's non-performance of essential term within time assigned—Vendor, if may sell property to another after expiry of time—Delay—Hardship, brought on by vendor—Subsequent purchaser with notice making improvement, if entitled to compensation. Where a vendor agreed to satisfy the purchaser within a specified time that she had a valid saleable interest in the property, by showing a copy of the order of the Collector about the registration or her name in respect of the property, the will of her mother and other papers relating thereto, but neither the will (which had been filed in Court for probate) nor a certified copy thereof was shown, but the vendor produced a compromise petition between the parties to the probate proceeding. Held, in the circumstances of the case, that it was impossible to hold that the production of the will was a non essential term of the agreement, and non completion of the sale was not due to the default of the purchaser who had refused to accept the compromise petition in lieu of the will or a certified copy thereof. Where property which had been agreed to be sold to plaintiff was sold to defendant on 30th August, the conveyance being registered on the following day, and the plaintiff sued for specific performance on the 6th November on the re-opening of the Civil Courts which was closed for the Pusa holidays from 2nd October to 3rd November: Held there was not such a delay in instituting the suit as would justify the Court in refusing specific performance. Specific performance will be refused against a vendor on the ground of hardship as contemplated in s 22 (2) of the Specific Relief Act where the vendor has entered into the contract without full knowledge of the circumstances. Where a transferee of property buys with notice of a prior agreement to sell it to another and makes improvements in the property without inquiry of the latter: Held that in a suit by the latter for specific performance he was not entitled to be reimbursed for the costs of the improvements. HARADHOVE DEBYATH v BHAGABATI DAS (1914) 19 C W N 89

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contds 22—contd

s 23—

See CONTRACT I L R 42 Bom 344
I L R 38 Mad. 753

s 24—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
I L R. 43 Calc 980

s 27—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O I R 3
I L R 40 Mad 365

See HINDU LAW JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY.
I L R 44 Bom 967

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
I L R 40 Calc 565

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 54 I L R 39 Mad 462

Sale by unregistered deed

—Subsequent sale by registered deed—Suit by first vendee for registration on of deed and for declaration that the subsequent transaction was void. The first defendant sold the property in suit to the plaintiff by an unregistered sale deed and subsequently sold the same property to the second defendant by a registered sale deed. Plaintiff sued both the defendants. The reliefs claimed were (i) that the first defendant should be directed to register the first sale deed and (ii) that the transaction between the first and second defendants should be declared null and void and possession of the property given to the plaintiff. During the pendency of the suit the plaintiff and the first defendant entered into a compromise as a result of which a fresh deed of sale was executed by the first defendant in favour of the plaintiff and registered. The suit was contested by the second defendant and was eventually dismissed by the lower Courts. Held that the suit as framed was a suit for specific performance of the contract. Held further that the first sale to the plaintiff was a transaction affecting property and that therefore the unregistered sale deed was not admissible in evidence. MAHURAN v THAG SAN 1 Pat L J 455

—Transferee for value from lessor with constructive notice of agreement for renewal

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—contds 27—contd

in favour of lessee—Constructive notice—Possession of tenant notice of covenant—Specific performance. Occupation of property by a tenant ordinarily affects one who would take a transfer of that property with notice of that tenant's rights and if he chooses to make no enquiry of the tenant he cannot claim to be transferee without notice. Where on 11 7 06 during the currency of a jalkar lease for seven years executed by the owners in favour of the defendants on 23 1 01 the plaintiffs took a settlement of the jalkar from the lessor for a term of seven years from 1-5 08 on payment of a sum of Rs 600 and on the expiry of the defendants term sued them for recovery of possession of the jalkar. Held that an agreement for renewal of their lease upon certain conditions made between the defendants and their lessors on 1-5-01 was specifically enforceable by them against the plaintiffs who claimed title under the lessors and were affected with notice of the agreement of 1-5-01. That plaintiffs could not consequently recover. BARHAM BAG v MOHADEB CHANDRA PALLAY (1913) 18 C W N 341

Sale—Suit for specific performance of a contract to sell defendants being vendors under a registered sale deed—Priority—Registration Act (XVI of 1908) s 50. The owners of a village which had already been sold at an auction on sale in execution of a decree agreed to sell it to the plaintiff provided that the auction sale should be set aside. The auction sale was set aside; but subsequently the village was sold by means of a registered sale deed to a third party. Held on a suit by the plaintiff for specific performance of the contract to sell to him that the defendants vendees registered sale deed did not take priority over the contract in his favour and that it lay on the defendants to rebut the evidence given by the plaintiff to the effect that the defendants at the time of their purchase were aware of the existence of the contract in favour of the plaintiff. NAUBAT RAI v DHANRAJ SINGH (1916) I L R 38 All 184

s 28—Agreement of sale—Specific performance—Alternative relief—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O VII, r 7. Where in an agreement of sale it was stipulated that if the transaction fell through for default of the vendors (defendants) the vendee (plaintiff) would be free to enforce specific performance at law and would be entitled to be credited with interest on his deposit from the date on which it was made but if it fell through owing to the vendee's default then the latter would be entitled to the refund of the bare deposit without interest, and the vendors would be at liberty to dispose of the property in any other way they might choose, and the Court below refused a decree for specific performance and gave a decree for the refund of the deposit with interest though the plaintiff (vendee) did not ask for any such alternative relief. Held that the Court below was in the main right as it did not necessarily follow from the dismissal of a suit for specific performance that an order for the refund of any part payment of the purchase-money should also be denied. IBRAHIMBAI v FELDER I L R 21 Bom 327. Alokeshi Doss v Hara Chand Dasa, I L R 24 Calc 837. Amma Bibi v Udu Narayan Misra I L R 31 All 63, Hove v Smith 27 CA D 89 referred to. The vendee could, notwithstanding that his suit for specific performance has been dismissed, and no matter on what ground it failed have brought a suit for the recovery of his deposit. Paragodan Nair v Perumthoduka Illoil Chala, 1 L R 27 Mad 330, referred to Held, further, that the Subordinate Judge was right in refusing to relegate the parties to fresh litigation as there could have been but one result of another suit on the contract. Hovey v Smith, 27 Ch D 89, referred to RAGHU NATH SAHAJ v CHANDRA PRATAP SINGH (1912) 17 C W N 100

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 29—contd

s. 30—Specific performance—Award—

Suit to recover money payable under an award—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 113, 116, 120—Limitation By the terms of an award it was provided, inter alia, that the defendants should pay to the plaintiff the sum of Rs 500 on or before the 27th of June 1901 and in default of such payment the plaintiff could recover from the defendants Rs 350 with interest at 12 per cent per annum. Held, that a suit to recover on default of payment by the stipulated date, the sum above named with interest was not a suit for specific performance of a contract, and as such governed by Art 113 of the First Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, but was governed by either Art 116 or Art 120. Suiko Bhai v Ram Sukh Das, 1 L R 5 All 263, Raghubar Dyal v Bhojan Mohan Lal, 1 L R 16 All 3, Shro Narain v Beni Madho, 1 L R 23 All 285, Sornavalli Ammal v Muthayya Sastiryal 1 L R 23 Mad 593, Talewar Singh v Bahori Singh, 1 L R 26 All 497 and Bhagabari Saha Bankya v Behary Lal Basak, 1 L R 33 Cal 881. KALDIT DEBE v MAHAUL DEBE (1911) 1 L R 34 All 43

s. 31—

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 92

1 L R 39 Mad 792

In order to justify rectification of a contract or other instrument in writing there must be proof of a common intention different from the expressed intention and a common mistaken supposition that the intention was rightly expressed in the instrument. It matters not by whom the actual error was made. Notice to a purchaser by his title papers in a transaction will not be notice to him in an independent subsequent transaction in which the instruments containing the recitals are not necessary to him. See BIPIN KRISHNA ROY v PRIYA BRATA BOSH 26 C W. N 36 ss 34 and 41—Minors, mortgage in *favour of—Whether minor entitled to compensation—Contract Act (XX of 1872), ss 41 and 42—Suit for sale of rayati holding, maintainability of—Res judicata—Dictum in previous suit, effect of A mortgage executed in favour of a minor who has advanced the whole of the loan to secure which the mortgage was executed is not void and can be enforced against the mortgagor. But even assuming it to be void, s. 41 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, could be applied so as to grant compensation to the minor. Held in a suit on a mortgage of a rayati holding in Muzhum, that the plaintiff was entitled to a mortgage decree and that the lower Courts were wrong in holding that the provisions of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act 1908, which was not extended to Muzhum until 1909, operated before that date to prevent the plaintiff*

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*ss 34 and 41—contd

from obtaining anything but a money decree. D, the mortgagee's agent, received from the mortgagor the interest due on the bond for 1912 and refused to deliver to the mortgagee either the bond or the interest received by him. The plaintiff thereupon instituted a suit against D and the mortgagee, claiming from D the interest received by him and delivery of the bond, with an alternative prayer that, if it should be found that D and the mortgagor were colluding, then the whole amount covered by the bond should be adjudged to the plaintiff. The first Court passed a money decree against both defendants. In an appeal by D, the High Court dealt only with the first part of the plaintiff's claim and made a decree for the delivery up of the bond by D and payment by him of the interest received. With reference to the alternative claim, the High Court observed that after obtaining possession of the bond it would be open to the plaintiffs to proceed against the mortgagor for enforcing their security. But in the judgment there was a dictum to the effect that, as the plaintiffs were minors, the mortgage would be void. In a subsequent suit on the bond by the plaintiffs the mortgagor pleaded that the dictum of the High Court operated as res judicata. Held, that the dictum did not operate as res judicata. MAHARAJ KISHI v BAIKUNTHA KARNABH

4 Pat L J 652

s. 35—

See LESSOR AND LESSOR.

1 L R 42 Mad 243

s. 38—

See BHAGDARI AND NARWADARI TENURES ACT (BOM V OF 1862) s. 3

1 L R 39 Bom 358

s. 39—

See COMPROMISE

1 Pat L J 48

Court fees—Suit for avoidance of registered deed of gift—Court fees Act (VII of 1870) 7 (4) (c)—Consequential relief In a suit for avoidance of a registered deed of gift the Court is bound, if the suit is decided in plaintiff's favour to send a copy of its decree to the officer in whose office the instrument has been registered. The forwarding of the decree is a consequential relief upon which the plaintiff must pay an ad valorem court fee. MUSHAMMAT NOORUDDIN OJAY v SUIDHAR JHA 3 Pat L J 194

Evidence Act (I of 1872),

s. 52—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 106,

O VI, r. 6—Suit in aid of a sale deed—Specific *allegations of coercion made in the plaint—Allegations disbelieved—Different kind of coercion not probable on other circumstances and doubts—Finding not invidua allegata et probata—Substantial error in procedure—Ground for setting aside what might otherwise be a conclusion of fact* Plaintiff sued the defendant to set aside a sale deed on the ground of coercion of a particular kind under s. 33 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877). Both the lower Courts disbelieved the allegations of coercion made in the plaint but granted relief to the plaintiff on the ground that on a consideration of other circumstances the plaintiff must have been deceitfully decoyed into going quietly and privately to the defendant's masdar (open shed) and there through fear of possible violence made to sign the document. On second appeal by the defendant;

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 39—contd.

Held, reversing the decree and dismissing the suit that a suspicion of some kind or other undue coercion was not sufficient to support the plea of coercion, the plea being not secundum allegata et probata. Motte Lal Dyrshina v Jaggurnath Garg & W R P C 23 Lahenchun der Singh v Shamacharn Datta, 11 Moo L A 7, and Bala v Gargathar, 1 L R 32 Bom 225, referred to. Per HAYWARD, J. Where fraud or coercion are alleged detailed particulars must be given in the pleadings and parties must be strictly confined to that state of facts. Where particulars of coercion alleged, are wholly rejected and evidence disbelieved, and a vague and different kind of coercion is held to be more probable on other circumstances and doubt is there is a substantial error in procedure resulting in a finding not secundum allegata et probata and not sustainable in law. Per BEAMAN, J.—A plaintiff who comes to Court alleging fraud or coercion in respect of which the law requires him to give particulars and he being disbelieved upon every material one of them cannot be given relief. When a finding is absolutely unsupported by any evidence at all, that is a ground for setting aside what might otherwise be a conclusion of fact. When the Court has found a case required to be made by the plaintiff not proved and has found another case unsupported in its most essential point by any evidence at all, prove, and so substituted the latter for the former, there is a substantial error in procedure under s. 100 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). Pratishoran Daji v Pandurang Chintanav (1914) 1 L R 39 Bom 149

*Conveyance executed by accused in consideration of complainant withdrawing prosecution for non compoundable offence—Suit to set aside such sale-deed, if lex—Parties in particular to be entitled to declaratory relief—Court's discretion under s. 39.* The rule of law in England with regard to illegal contracts is that a Court of Law will not aid persons in enforcing the performance of an illegal contract or assist them to recover back property which they have given away under such an illegal contract when the persons and parties to the contract are themselves pari delicto in procuring this illegality. The Courts of equity in England have always refused to afford equitable relief in enforcing a contract void in law or restoring property which is based on an illegal contract where the illegality is apparent on the face of the document itself. The principle on which Courts of law and equity have refused to restore property given away under an illegal agreement, is equally applicable when the relief prayed for is by way of a declaration, after the party seeking such relief has secured to himself the benefit of the agreement. S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act in allowing relief to be granted in a proper and fit case, even when a contract out of which the right springs is void, leaves it entirely in the discretion of the Court to exercise the jurisdiction so conferred upon it. Where L. B.'s agent, having purchased property, B. alleged that it was purchased by L. as B.'s trustee whilst L. claimed to have purchased it in his own right, and the dispute culminated in civil actions brought by the parties against each other, and in B. instituting criminal proceedings against L. under s. 408-477 of the Indian Penal Code but at the instance of arbitrators appointed by mutual consent, the disputes were settled and B. withdrew the criminal and civil proceedings against L. and in consideration thereof L. inter alia, executed a sale-deed of the property purchased by him. Held, in a suit by L. to have the conveyance declared void and the sale set aside and cancelled that the whole of the contract was illegal as it was not possible to sever the legal from the illegal part. That there being no evidence that there was any undue influence, fraud or duress or that the plaintiff took a more innocent part in the illegal compromise than the defendant, the Court would not grant relief under s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act. BYNDESHARI PRASAD v LEKHRAJ SARTI (1916)

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 39—contd.

20 C W N 760

Mortgage-deed executed and registered—Suit by mortgagor for cancellation on the sole ground of non payment of consideration—Suit whether maintainable—Contract and executed conveyance distinction between—Mortgage whether void or voidable. Where a mortgage deed has been executed and registered a suit by the mortgagor for the cancellation of the deed, on the mere ground that the consideration for the mortgage has not been paid is not maintainable. When the matter has passed from the stage of contract to that of an executed conveyance mere non payment of consideration will not render the transaction void or voidable within the terms of s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act. Basa Lingappa v Veerappa & Bom. L. R 39^o, and Pashik Lal v Ram Narain, 1 L R 34 All 273, referred to. ABDUL HASHEM SARTI v KHADIR BACHA SARTI (1918) 1 L R 42 Mad. 20 ss 39, 40, 45—Suit for declaration that an endorsement on a document was fraudulently obtained—Consequential relief not asked for [Held, that a suit for the cancellation of an endorsement fraudulently obtained on a mortgage deed is maintainable, inasmuch as it is a suit of the nature indicated by s. 39 of the Specific Relief Act. The endorsement, fraudulently obtained, is by itself a document and is similar to the several parts of a document indicated in s. 40 of the said Act. To such a suit s. 42 of the Act does not apply.] RAM CHANDAN v GANGA SARAN (1916)

1 L R 39 All 103

ss 39, 42—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O XLI, s. 22. 1 L R 34 All 140

s. 41—

See s. 31 4 Pat L J 682

Minor—Representation made as major—Estoppel—Sale-deed, suit to set aside—Restoration of consideration money. The plaintiff sued to obtain a declaration that the sale-deed passed by her to her deceased husband's brother was not valid as having been executed during her minority and to recover possession of the property. The defendant contended that the plaintiff was estopped because she represented herself as being a major when she must have known that she was a minor. On these pleadings question having arisen (1) whether the plaintiff was estopped on account of the representation on made by her and (2) whether under s. 41 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877 the Court should have directed the plaintiff to restore the consideration money Held, that the plaintiff was not estopped there being evidence that the defendant was not deceived by what she told him, inasmuch as he had made enquiries about plaintiff's age from the plaintiff's father and from other sources and beyond that was himself the brother of her deceased husband and therefore a fair presumption arose that he must have known what the plaintiff's age was, (2) that there was no equity in favour of the defendant to direct the plaintiff to restore the consideration money GURSHIDDHAWANI v PANAWA (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 175

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 41—contd

s. 42—

See s 12. . . 3 Pat. L. J. 182

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 9

I L. R. 37 All. 313

1 Pat. L. J. 381

O II, R 2. . . 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 1162

O ALL, R 22 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 140

See COURT FEE I. L. R. 39 Calc. 704

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 245

I L. R. 44 Calc. 352

See DECLARATORY DECREE, SUIT FOR

I L. R. 43 Calc. 894

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 510

See ELECTION . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 384

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

2 Pat. L. J. 481

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L. R. 43 Mad. 4

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L. R. 41 All. 492

See MADRAS VILLAGE COURT ACT (I OF 1889), s 24 . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 808

See MINOR . I. L. R. 35 All. 497

See MUNICIPAL LAW

L. R. 43 I. A. 243

See PENAL ASSESSMENT

I L. R. 37 Mad. 298

See PROFIT A PRENDRE

2 Pat. L. J. 323

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT

See USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

3 Pat. L. J. 71

Brother of a lunatic suing in respect of property purchased with income of lunatic's property—

See ADMISSION . I L. R. 1 Lah 137

Illustration (c)—

See DECLARATORY DECREE.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 510

1. ———— Mahomedan Law—Waqf
—Rights of Mahomedans entitled to use such property in for a declaration that property is waqf. The plaintiffs, Mahomedan residents in the city of Kanauj, sued for a declaration that a certain adakh and the land adjoining it situated in a village in parwana Kanauj was waqf property. Held, that as Mahomedans who had a right to use

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 42—contd

the adakh they were entitled to sue and that no special permission was required to enable them to do so Zafaryab Ali v Bakhtawar Singh, I L R 5 All 497, and Jawahra v Albar Hussain, I L R 7 All 173, followed Wajid Ali Shah v Dianatullah Beg, I L R 8 All 31, distinguished MUHAMMAD ALAM v AKBAR HUSAIN (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 631

2 ———— Civil Procedure Code (Act VIII of 1859), s 15—15 and 16 Vic, c 86, s 50—Suit by plaintiff for mere declaration that the minor defendant was not his son—Investigation of claim without delay A Talukdar plaintiff brought a suit for a declaration that defendant 2, a minor, was not his son and that he was not born to the plaintiff's wife, defendant 1, and for an injunction restraining defendant 1 from proclaiming to the world that defendant 2 was plaintiff's son and from claiming maintenance for him as such son. The defendants contended that the suit was not maintainable under the provisions of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) and that it was premature. Held that the suit was maintainable, it being within the provisions of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877). Held, further, that in the interests of justice it was of the highest importance that such claims should be investigated and decided without unnecessary delay, and when the controversy had once been brought to trial the decision should ordinarily follow the usual course. Jool v Ewing, Ir Rep 1 Ch 434, distinguished BAI SHRI VARTUBA v THAKORE AGARSINGHI RAISINGHJI (1910) . . . I L R 34 Bom. 678

3 ———— Rent decrees obtained by defendant against plaintiff's tenants if amounts to dispossession—Throwing cloud on title—Declaratory suit, proper remedy Where the plaintiff sued for declaration of title to certain lands alleging that the same were in possession of his tenants but that the defendant had thrown a cloud of his title by recovering rent decrees against some of the tenants: Held, that the plaintiff could not in this suit ask for any further relief than a mere declaration of title, and was proceeding in the right manner in suing for declaration of the title only. Loke Nath Surma v Kesab Ram Doss, I L R 13 Calc 147, Chinnammal v Varadrayulu, I L R 13 Mad 307, Nirmal Chandra v Mahomed Siddik, I L R 26 Calc 11, relied on. SATISH CHANDRA BHUTTACHARYA v SATYA CHURAN MAJUMDAR (1910) . . . 14 C. W. N. 678

4 ———— Suit for declaration of abstract right—Cause of action—Act No VII of 1859 (Succession Certificate Act) s 8 A Hindu widow applied for a succession certificate to enable her to collect the debts of her deceased husband consisting mainly of a sum Rs. 4 000 odd on fixed deposit with a bank. Objections being raised by the next reversioners, an order was passed enabling the applicant only to draw the interest accruing due from time to time on this deposit. The applicant then brought a suit for a declaration that she was entitled to the whole sum of money. Held, that the suit was maintainable, the limitation upon her power to get in the money having been imposed at the instance of the reversioners. KESHO PAM SINGH v RAM KVAR (1910) I L. R. 32 All. 316

5 ———— Declaration, when will be given. In order that a suit can be held not

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 42—contd.

maintainable by reason of the proviso to s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) it must be shown that the defendant was in possession and that as against him the plaintiff could have obtained an order for delivery of possession. MALAYYA PILLAI v PERUMAL PILLAI (1913) 1 L R 36 Mad 62

6. ———— Hindu law—Reversioner—Suit for declaration of title—Cause of action—Will made by Hindu widow in possession—Limitation D, a separated Hindu and his son A died in 1891 on the same day the father dying first A & son S M died a week later leaving his mother H and his grandmother M. The property was then recorded in the names of M and H but M got possession and in 1908 executed a will in favour of her daughter S. The reversioners of D brought a suit in 1908 for a declaration that the will would have no effect on their reversionary right. S set up her right to the property ignoring that of H. Hell, that even during the lifetime of H the plaintiffs were entitled to institute a suit for a declaration only under the provisions of s. 42, Specific Relief Act. Held, further that the suit was not barred by limitation. Mutation of names in M's favour was more or less an equivocal act and might possibly have given a cause of action but when in 1908 M specifically declared that the heir to the property was S and S herself asserted her title the plaintiffs acquired a cause of action sufficient to entitle them to sue. SHEORAJI v RAMJAS PANDY (1911) 1 L R 33 All 430

7. ———— Declaratory decree, when should be made and when refused—Consequential relief, injunction of s. 42 of the Specific Act does not sanction every form of declaration but only declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to any legal character or to any right as to any property. Courts in this country should see that plaintiffs which pray for declaratory decrees only, conform to the terms of s. 42, Specific Relief Act. An injunction is a consequential relief. The limit imposed by s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act is on decrees which are merely declaratory and does not expressly extend to decrees in which relief is administered and declarations are embodied as introductory to that relief. For such declarations legislative sanction is not required as they rest on long established practice. But for all that the Court should be circumspect and even chary as to the declarations it makes, it is ordinarily enough that relief should be granted without the declaration. DROKALI KOER v KEDAR NATH (1912) 1 L R 30 Cal 704

18 C W N 838

8. ———— Fabrication of authority to adopt by widow does not justify suit by reversioner for declaring the authority not genuine. The mere fabrication of an authority to adopt by the widow, will not entitle the reversioner to claim a declaration under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act that the authority is not genuine. SREEPADA VENKATARAMAYNA v SREEPADA RAMALAKSHI MAMMA (1912) 1 L R 35 Mad 592

9. ———— Joint Hindu family—Widow alleged to be in possession of part of the joint property under a family agreement—Suit for declaration of rights of other members of the family. Under a deed of compromise the name of the widow of a member of a joint Hindu family was entered in the place of that of her husband and she was put in possession of the property that stood in his name. On an application being made for partition of one of the villages, the widow also applied for partition of the share which stood in her name. The plaintiffs objected on the ground that she was not entitled to partition and they were referred to the Civil Court to have their rights established. They then sued for a declaration that the deceased d & d while living jointly with themselves that the widow was not in possession as the heir of the deceased and that she was not entitled to obtain partition. s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act was set up in defence. Held that inasmuch as the possession of the defendant was clearly admitted and the real dispute between the parties was one of the nature of the possession of the widow, s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act did not bar a suit for declaration of title. RAM MAHARATH SINGH v DILRAJ KUNWAR (1913) 1 L R 36 All 126

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s. 42—contd.

10. ———— Suit for declaration of title—Waste land—Plaintiff out of possession—Held, that the fact that land was waste land and therefore of no immediate practical use was no bar to the application of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, where the plaintiff, being admittedly out of possession, claimed only a declaration of his title. RAMANUJA v DEVARAYALA, 1 L R 8 Mad 361, distinguished. INWAR SINGH v NARAY DAT (1914) 1 L R 36 All 312

11. ———— Assignee from tenant, if may sue landlord for recognition of his tenancy rights and declaration of incidents of tenancy—Landlord and tenant. The Court has power to pass a declaratory decree in a suit by an assignee of a lease against the lessor to have it declared that the lease is a permanent, heritable and transferable one, that the rent was fixed in perpetuity and that the lessor was bound to recognise the plaintiff as tenant of the leasehold. The law laid down in earlier rulings to the contrary has been modified by s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. MONOHAN GHOSH v EQUITABLE COAL COMPANY, LD (1913) 18 C W N 596

12. ———— Declaratory suit under, if maintainable where property not in possession of defendants and plaintiff cannot ask for ejectment. Where the property is not in possession of the defendants and the plaintiff cannot ask for ejectment as against them, a declaratory suit is maintainable under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. Subramanyam v Paramaswaran 1 L R 11 Mad 116 and Malayya v Perumal, 21 Mad L J 1022, followed. RAMESWAR MONDAL v PROVABATI DEBI (1914) 19 C W N 313

13. ———— Suit for declaration of title—Property involved in possession of Court of Wards for person entitled thereto—Parties to suit. On the death of a mahant, the right of succession to whose maih was disputed, the Court of Wards took possession of the maih and declined to hand it over until some one should establish his right to the mahantship. Held, in a suit for a declaration of his title to the mahantship brought by a claimant thereto, (i) that the Court of Wards was not a necessary party, and (ii) that this did not offend against the provisions of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. Gowrami Ranchor

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 42—contd

Lahji v Sri Girdhari 1 I L R 20 All 120 distinguished. JAGANNATH GIR v TIRUVA NAYD (1915). . . . I L R 37 All 185

14 ———— *Declaration suit for—Legal character or right to property, meaning of—Rights under a contract declaration as to, if maintainable—S. 42, not exhaustive—Ordinary rule—Exception—Kuri, subscriber to—Language from subscriber—Right of, if continue payment—Suit for declaration by, if maintainable. S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act does not contemplate a suit for a declaration that a valid personal contract subsists between the plaintiff and the defendant, as it is not a suit for a declaration of title to a legal character on a right to property. S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act is not intended to be exhaustive as regards the circumstances under which declaratory suits can be maintained. Robert Fisher v The Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 22 Mad. 270, referred to. Krislaya v Kanyani, 1 L R 9 Mad 55, referred to. But a declaratory relief will not be given in respect of rights arising out of a contract which would affect only the pecuniary relationship between the parties to the contract, unless there are exceptional circumstances in a case to take it out of the ordinary rule. Where the plaintiff, who was the purchaser of the rights of the second defendant who was a subscriber to a half ticket in a kurn started by the first defendant as its proprietor, sued the latter for a declaration that he was not a defaulter and was entitled to continue to pay the subscriptions to the kurn: Held, that the suit for declaration was not maintainable. RAMAKRISHNA v NARAYANA (1914). . . . I L R 39 Mad. 80*

15 ———— *Right to play music in public street—Whether the declaration of right can be claimed as a right—Civil Court. The plaintiffs, trustees of a Hindu temple, brought a suit for a declaration under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, that they were entitled to play music while going in procession past a Mahomedan mosque situated in a public street. Held, that the plaintiffs were not entitled to have the right to play music in a public street claimed and declared as a right. Per HEATON, J.—The right to use a street as a thoroughfare is a right which a Court might properly declare, but the right to pass along a street playing music is not a right which the Courts ought to recognise in that sense. VENKATESH APPASWEE v ABDUL KADIR (1918). . . . I L R. 42 Bom 438*

16 ———— *Declaratory decree—Treasurer in possession of property, which a Hindu widow was entitled—Execution of will by trespasser—Suit by reversionary heirs for declaration of their rights and to set aside will. On the death of the widow of a separated Hindu, in possession as such widow of her husband's property, the daughter of one of her sons, who had both predeceased the husband took possession of the property to the exclusion of her two daughters. While so in possession of the property the son's daughter executed a will bequeathing the property as if it were her own. Held, on suit by persons alleging themselves to be the reversionary heirs for a declaration, that the son's daughter had acquired no interest or proprietary right to the property and had no right to make a will in* respect thereof, that no such declaration could be granted. Umrao KUNWAR v Badri 1 L R 37 All 422, and Jaypal KUNWAR v Indar Bahadur Singh, 1 L R 26 All 1238, referred to. GANGA v KANHAI LAL (1918). . . . I L R 41 All 154

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 42—contd

17 ———— *Hindu Law—Suit by a Hindu for a declaration that a will alleged to have been executed by another member of the family giving his widow power to adopt is forged—Maintainability of. A member of a Hindu family can maintain a suit under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act for a declaration that a will alleged to have been executed by another member of the family giving his widow power to adopt is a forgery. Bobba Padmanabhu v Bobba Buchamma 35 M L J 143 followed. Sreepadam Venkatarammanna v Sreepadam Ramalalshamma 1 L R 35 Mad 592, not followed. SRATYIA v ANNAPURNAMMA (1919). . . . I L R. 42 Mad 699*

18 ———— *Suit by a reversioner of Hindu for a declaration that another is not reversioner, maintainability of—Order striking out defendant as party under O I r 10 (2), Civil Procedure Code and dismissing suit—Appeal from order, maintainability of. Though under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act a Court can, in its discretion, grant relief by way of declaration, it is a settled rule of practice not to grant such relief where the only question for decision is which of two persons (plaintiff or defendant) is the nearest reversioner or whether the defendant is a reversioner at all to the estate of a deceased Hindu. Savdagar Singh v Parsip Narayan Singh, 1 L R 45 Cal 510, referred to. An order in a suit striking out from the array of parties a defendant as an unnecessary party and dismissing the suit against him is in effect a decree and is appealable as such. RAMA RAO v THE RAJA OF PITTAPUR (1918). . . . I L R 42 Mad. 219*

19 ———— *Person entitled to a legal character, divorced wife of—Mother if can sue for declaration of legitimacy of child. The plaintiff sued her late husband for a declaration under s. 42, Specific Relief Act, for a declaration as to her marriage and the legitimacy of four children. The lower Court found that the plaintiff had been divorced some 20 years ago and refused the declaration about marriage, but decreed it as to the legitimacy of the eldest of the children who it was found, was born shortly after the divorce: Held, that the plaintiff who ceased to have the legal character of a wife 20 years ago was not entitled to ask the Court to make a declaration as to her marriage for there was no legal character in having been a wife and then divorced. That the decree of the lower Court as to the legitimacy of one of the children could not stand, for the mother of a child cannot be said to have a legal character as to whether her child, who is not a party to the suit, is or is not legitimate. LATIPAN MEAV v MOORTI JANAWA (1918). . . . 23 C W N 171*

20 ———— *Treasurer, suit for declaration by. The essence of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, is a title vesting in the plaintiff. No suit will lie at the instance of a trespasser for a declaration that he is a trespasser. SESH LAL SINGH v HALDHAR NARAYAN. . . . 1 Pat. L J 95*

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s 42—contd

21 —————Where through clumsy blundering the plaintiffs who have asked for a decree for pre-emption prayed only for a declaration of the right to pre-empt the suit as so framed was not maintainable under s. 42 of the Act but the lower Court was right in permitting the plaintiff in the suit to be amended although a fresh suit on the same cause of action would at the time have been barred by limitation on the plaintiff's object having undoubtedly been to pre-empt the land so that the cause of action was one and the same whether they sued for possession or not CHAMAN DAS v. AMIR KHAN (1930 P C)

25 C W N 289

22 —————Suit for declaration of right to a certain share of joint family property maintainability of A joint Hindu family of which the parties to the suit were members owned undivided shares in several villages in which there were many co-sharers not connected with the family. The plaintiffs severed themselves from the joint family and a dispute arose as to the extent of their share in the family property. Held that under the circumstances the plaintiffs were entitled to a declaration as to the extent of their share in the family property. The provisions of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act notwithstanding.
ASMAN SINGH v. TULSI SINGH

2 Pat L J 221

23 —————Temple property—Permanent lease—Invalidity of lease—Suit for declaration by worshippers—Maintainability of suit Worshippers of a temple can maintain a suit for a declaration on that a permanent lease of temple property granted to the defendants in possession is invalid.
VEERAMACHANENI RAMASWAMY v. SOMA PITCHAYYA (1930) I L R 43 Mad 410

24. —————Suit for declaration of title to property after it was attached under s 146 Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898)—Effect of Magistrate's attachment on the question of possession—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) s 23 and Arts 120 and 142 period of limitation applicable to the case Plaintiff was dispossessed from some lands by the defendant in April 1904 and in June 1904 the lands were attached under s 146, Cr P Code owing to disputes between the parties. Plaintiff brought the present suit for recovery of possession in May 1916. The lower Courts held that plaintiff had title but that the suit was barred by limitation. Held that the suit though framed as a suit for possession cannot be treated as such because the possession was not with the defendant but with the Magistrate who was not and could not be a party to the suit. The Act therefore applicable to the suit was Art 120 of the Limitation Act and not Art 142. The position of the Magistrate was that of a stakeholder and during the continuance of the attachment the property was in legal custody which must be held to be for the benefit of the true owner i.e. the plaintiff. And the possession of the Magistrate being in law the possession of the true owner the defendant's possession was determined upon the Magistrate's taking possession under the attachment in other words the plaintiff must be taken to have been restored to possession on constructively on the date of the attachment. He therefore got a fresh starting point for purposes of limitation, and the SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*could*s 42—could case can be treated as one of continuing wrong within the meaning of s. 23 of the Limitation Act. The suit was therefore not barred by limitation.

PAYA LAL BISWAS v. PANCHU RAI DAS

28 C W N 432

25 —————Held that although the words "legal character" in s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act have been held to be wide enough to include the right of franchise and also a right of being elected as a Municipal Commissioner, it was doubtful whether regard be had to the form of the suit and the declarations asked for in this case the case came within the words of the section.
CHAIRMAN MUNICIPALITY OF KORTUNG v. BISSESWAR GHOSH

28 C W N 91

26 —————Declaratory suit by a mortgagee for declaration of the right of mortgage I died leaving a widow and two sons and a will by which he appointed his widow as his executrix. The two sons mortgaged the property to Sand the widow, the executrix sold the property under mortgage to P. S. brought a suit for construction of G's will and for a declaration on that the rights of the sons had not been affected by the will and that the widow had no right of property. Held that the plaintiff must first of all establish his right as mortgagee and until that is done he has no cause of action for maintaining a suit for a declaration of the title of his mortgagors. The plaintiff should not at the appellate stage be allowed to amend the plaint to raise the question of his right as mortgagee as that would involve taking of fresh evidence and a trial de novo.
SRISI CHANDRA CHATTERJEE v. SM GOLAP MONI DAS

25 C W N 552

ss. 42 and 54—

See MAHABRAHMAN

I L R 43 All 159

s 43—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 11

I L R 44 Mad 778

s 45—

See DESIGN I L R 45 Calc 606

See LAND ACQUISITION

I L R 48 Calc 916

See MUNICIPAL CORPORATION

I L R 40 Calc 836

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I L R 39 Calc 598 754

I L R 45 Calc 950

I L R 46 Calc 119

See UNIVERSITY LECTURSHIP

I L R 41 Calc 518

— High Courts' power of interference—

See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF 1919)—

ss 3 15, Sch I

I L R 45 Bom 1064

ss 6 (1) (a) and (b) Sch II, cl. I

I L R 45 Bom 881

1 —————General principle under-lying interference by High Court—Municipal Act on petition—Jurisdiction and discretion of

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s 45—contd.

Chief Judge of Small Causes Court—City of Bombay Municipal Act (Bom. Act III of 1888 as amended by Bom. Act V of 1905), ss 33 and 34. A Municipal election petition having been lodged with the Chief Judge of the Small Causes Court, the latter unseated two of the successful candidates and found cause of objection against the candidate in whose favour were recorded "the next highest number of valid votes after those returned as elected." He declined to inquire further into the claims of any other candidate or to declare any other candidate elected as, on his interpretation of s 33 (2) of the Bombay Municipal Act (Bom. Act III of 1888 as amended by Bom. Act V of 1905), he was not able to do so. The two highest of the other unsuccessful candidates thereupon obtained rules against the Chief Judge under s 45 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), to show cause why he should not proceed to declare them elected under s 33 (2) above mentioned. Held, that the case fell within the general principle referred to in Ex parte Milner, (1851) 15 Jur 1037, that where an inferior tribunal improperly refused to enter upon a complaint, a mandamus would issue. S 33 having been held to empower the Chief Judge to set aside the election of any number of candidates returned as elected, there was nothing repugnant in construing the section as empowering the Chief Judge to fill up any number of vacancies so created from the list of unsuccessful candidates subject to the provisions of the section. It was clearly incumbent on the Chief Judge to deal with the question of filling up both the vacancies. He should accordingly proceed to place the unsuccessful candidates in order of valid votes. The two with the highest number of valid votes against whom no cause of objection was found should be declared to be deemed to be elected. If only one qualified, or none qualified, proceedings for filling the vacancy or vacancies would have to be taken under s 34. An application under s 33 (1) should name the persons whose election is objected to. In the matter of the SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, and In the matter of SAKAPALLY MAMDOOJI AND JAFFER JESUD (1910)

I L R 34 Bom. 659

2.—Where the Magistrate had refused to furnish such copies to a party, the High Court under s 43 of the Specific Relief Act ordered the records of the case to be brought up to High Court and kept with the Registrar, and allowed liberty to the party to take copies. BEVI MADHUS BANERJEE v. SAILENDRA NATH MUKHERJEE (1911) 15 C W N 770

3.—Universities of Madras—Senate and the Syndicate, respective powers of—Regulation 64 of the Madras University Regulations providing for protests to Government when ultra vires—Refusal of Syndicate to send protest to Government—Application for an order against Syndicate—Syndicate, a "public officer" protester, "an injured person" and by law, a "law for the time being" within s 43—Other specific and adequate remedy" in s 43, meaning of—Substance and not form of protest and restriction, to be looked at. In granting an application for an order under s 43 of the Specific Relief Act filed by a Fellow of the Madras University against the Syndicate thereof for the purpose of compelling the Syndicate to forward to the Government a protest of his under Regulation 64 of the

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd.*s 45—contd.

University Regulations against a resolution of the Senate. Held, under the Madras University Act of 1857 and the Indian Universities Act of 1904, that the Senate of the Madras University is the legislative and the Syndicate the executive government of the University. The scheme of the Acts is that general rules (called regulations) framed as to matters within the competence of the University are to be made by the Senate, in some cases with the sanction of the Government and that the Syndicate's powers are purely executive and limited to the application of those rules to the facts and exigencies of particular cases as they arise. No sanction of Government is required for the Syndicate's application of the general rules made by the Senate and the Syndicate is entitled to make its own standing orders, and subject to the Regulations of the University, to regulate its business without the sanction of the Senate. The Syndicate can bring forward regulations for adoption by the Senate. Such being the relative powers of these two bodies, a power given to the University by s 3 of the Universities Act VIII of 1904 to appoint University Professors and Lecturers and a specific power given by s 25 of the Act to the Senate of the University to make regulation subject to the sanction of the Government for the appointment and duties of the University Professors and Lecturers are exercisable only by the Senate and not by the Syndicate. Such a power cannot be included within the administrative or ministerial powers of the Syndicate which it is competent to exercise without the approval of the Senate. A regulation or a proposal brought forward by the Syndicate in respect of such a matter for the approval of the Senate becomes on adoption by the Senate a regulation or a resolution of the Senate itself, and as such liable to be submitted for the approval of the Government. Being entitled to make regulations consistent with the Act, the Senate has power to make a regulation providing for a protest to Government, by a Fellow of the University against any resolution of the Senate in such a matter and if, under such a regulation the Syndicate is liable eventually to submit the protest for the consideration and orders of the Government, the Syndicate has no power or discretion to refuse to send the protest, and the person protesting is on any such refusal entitled to obtain from the High Court an order in the nature of a mandamus compelling the Syndicate to submit the protest to the Government. Held, further, that the Syndicate of the Madras University is a statutory body of persons holding a "public office" within the meaning of s 43 of the Specific Relief Act though no emoluments are attached to that office. Where a statute appoints a body of persons to carry out purposes of public benefit the persons constituting such a body ipso facto become holders of a "public office." The person protesting is entitled to the relief sought for, as an "injured" person within the meaning of s 43 (a) even though there may be others equally entitled to protest in the same matter. The regulation of the Senate providing for the protest, being made under the powers given by the statute has the force of law and it is "a law for the time being" within s 43 (b). A regulation of the Senate providing for protests to Government in respect of all its resolutions will be ultra vires in respect of those which do not under the Act require the sanction for the Government.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*s. 45—concl'd

What in fact and substance is a resolution of the Senate amounting to a regulation passed after due notice must be deemed to be so however differently it may have been described. I document which in form and substance is a protest against a resolution is none the less a protest because it contains arguments against the validity of certain incidental matters leading to the passing of the resolution. The word resolution in Regulation 21 means only regulation. Per KUMARASWAMI SASTRI, J.—The proper course in applying for a mandamus against a statutory body is to take proceedings against the body as such in its official designation and not against each of the individuals composing the body. The fact that an applicant for a mandamus has other remedies is no bar to its issue unless they amount to other specific and adequate remedy which means equally convenient speedy beneficial and effectual remedy.

Other specific and adequate remedy in s. 45 (d) relate to a res cogens juris and not a remedy by the act of party. In re G. A. NATESAN AND K. R. PANAYATIAN (1916) 1 L R 40 Mad 125

ss 45 46—

See MANDAMUS 1 L R 33 Cal 533

See PLEADERSHIP EXAMINATION

1 L R 40 Cal 588

The petitioner having obtained a decree in the Court of the Subordinate Judge of Shahabad for recovery of possession against an infant whose estate was with the Court of Wards applied pending defendant's appeal to the High Court for an order under s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act calling upon the Members of the Board to release the estate. Held that the failure to impound the infant whose interest would be affected was fatal to the application. In the matter of ASHO PHOSAB SINGH

15 C W N 803

ss 52 to 56—

See INJUNCTION 1 L R 47 Cal 733

s 54—

See GAYAWAL 2 Pat L J 705

See MAHA BRAHMANS

1 L R 43 All 159

See TRUST 1 L R 41 Cal 19

ss 54 to 57 (Chap X)—

See FOOTINGS 1 L R 33 Cal 887

ss 54 56 (e)—

See INJUNCTION 1 L R 37 Cal 731

s 55—*Injunction—*but by Muhammads to prevent the Hindu defendants from interfering with the calling of the azan at a mosque by blowing conches etc.—Nuisance, explained. In a village occupied by about 600 Hindus and a little over 100 Muhammedans there are 2 mosques one just outside the abadi unconnected with the present case and one inside the abadi erected about 200 years ago. This had fallen out of repair and was repaired within recent years and was then used as a school and for other semi religious purposes, but more recently was used for prayers. The Hindus objected to the calling out of the azan, and when it was called out and at the time of subsequent prayer the Hindus blew conches, beat drums and created noise and disturbance. The Muham

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)—*contd*55—concl'd

madans then brought the present suit for an injunction to restrain the Hindus from interfering with the calling out of the azan and praying in the mosque. It was found as a fact that the object of the defendants in blowing conches was to stop the calling of the azan. Held that the Muham madans had an inherent right to call out the azan from the mosque. Held also, that the noise made by the defendants collectively and continuously at the time of calling out the azan for the sole purpose of frustrating the object of the call constituted a nuisance and it was no answer to the suit that the little noise made by each of the defendants personally did not amount to a nuisance. Lambton v. Mellish (3 CA 183) referred to also. Kerr on Injunction p 156 and 213. Held further that plaintiffs were entitled to the injunction prayed for because the nuisance caused by the defendants was not a reasonable exercise of their rights and was an infringement of the rule of give and take live and let live. Broder v. Seifford (2 CA D 692) and Christie v. Davey (L R 1 CA 316) referred to. JAWAB SINGH v. MUHAMMAD DIN 1 L R 1 Lah. 140

s 56 (E)—

See INJUNCTION 1 L R 37 Cal 731

s 58 III (1)—Suit for a junction, if lies against trespasser. A plaintiff who is out of possession should not be allowed to sue the defendant who is alleged to be in possession as a trespasser for an injunction. He ought to sue for recovery of the land. JAWAB LAL BANDHUI v. NANDA LAL CHAUDHURI (1913)

18 C W N 545

SPECULATIVE PURCHASER

See CERTIFICATE OF SALE

1 L R 37 Cal 107

SPES SUCCESSIONIS

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

1 L R 38 Bom 224

transfer of—

See KNOJAS 1 L R 38 Bom 449

SPIRITUAL WELFARE

See HINDU LAW—ALLEGATION

1 L R 43 Cal 574

SPIRITUOUS AND FERMENTED LIQUORS

See EXCISEABLE ARTICLES

1 L R 39 Cal 1053

SPY OR DETECTIVE

See ACCOMPLICE 1 L R 38 Cal 56

SRADH

offerings to the dead at—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT

14 C W N 1005

STABLES

See NUISANCE 1 L R 40 Bom 491

STAKEHOLDER

—Deposit of money—Valid assignment by depositor to his creditor—Neglect of the creditor to recover—Creditor chargeable with the amount. Where money deposited with a

STAKEHOLDER—contd

stakeholder was validly assigned by the depositor to his creditor in satisfaction of his debt and the creditor being able to recover the amount so assigned neglected to do so he was chargeable with the amount. GANPATRAO BALKRISHNA BHIDE v THE MAHARAJA MADHARAO SINDE (1910)

I L R 35 Bom 1

STAMP

See BUYDELKHAND ALIENATION ACT (II OF 1903) s 17

I L R 38 All 351

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) —

s 9" I L R 40 Bom 541

ss 107 149 O VII R 11 CL (c)

I L P 38 Bom 41

See EVIDENCE I L R 39 All 494See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899) —

Agreement of sale executed on an unstamped paper—Secondary evidence not permissible

See CONTRACT I L R 45 Bom 1170

on a promissory note executed in Hyderabad—

See PROMISSORY NOTE

I L R 42 Bom 522

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)

s 2 (5). — Attestation what is—A document written by person other than executant if attested by the writer who did not sign as attesting witness. The attestation referred to in s 2 sub-s (5) cl. (6) of the Indian Stamp Act means attestation on the face of the instrument. BIDRU BANJAN MAJUMDAR v MANGAN SANKAR

28 C W N 585

s 2 (5) arts 15 and 49 of Schedule I Court Fees Act (IV of 1870) *Schedule II art 6—Security bond by receiver bond by himself and his properties—Proper stamp—Whether liable under Stamp Act and Court Fees Act. A security bond in favour of a Court, executed by a receiver binding himself and his properties for the discharge of his duties must be stamped both under the Court Fees Act and under art 40 of Schedule I of the Stamp Act. Kulwant v Mahabir Prasad (1839) I L R 11 All 16 (F B) and Referred Case No 12 of 1911 followed. AMIRTHAMMAL v RAMALINGA GOUDAN (19 0)*

I L R 42 Mad. (F B), 363

s 2, cl (3) (b), s 35 (a)—*Shakayogi bundi insufficiently stamped admissibility in evidence—Payment of penalty. The plaintiff sued for recovery of money due on five instruments described as bundia. The documents bore an imposed stamp of 4 annas each, were each of them attested by a witness and the money secured thereby was made payable "to the respectable holder. Held that the documents in question were neither bills of exchange nor promissory notes but bonds within the meaning of s 2 cl. (5) (b) of the Indian Stamp Act and were admissible in evidence on payment of duty and penalty under a 35 (a) of the Indian Stamp Act. KESHARI CHAND SORANA v ASHARAM MAHATO (1915) 19 C W N 1323*

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—contd

s 2 (10) Sch I, Art 5 cl (c)—

See HIRE PURCHASE AGREEMENT

I L R 44 Calc 72

s 2 (14), Sch I Art 5—*Instrument—Entry in register as to hiring certain machinery attested by thumb marks of hirers—Memorandum of agreement—Stamp. In a book kept by the owner of certain machinery for the manufacture of sugar which purported to be a register of sums payable with respect to the letting out of wooden machines (charkhi) and rollers for pressing sugar cane and iron pans for boiling sugarcane juice was an entry to the following effect—Harkesh son of Kunwar and two others residents of mauza Saleem purchased a sugarcane pressing machine in consideration of a rent of Rs 15 from the plaintiff through his karinda (named) that they would pay the hire in Chait and in default would pay interest at 2 per cent per mensem. Below this entry were the thumbmarks of the persons who hired the machine. Held that this entry amounted to an instrument as defined in s 2 sub-s (14) of the Indian Stamp Act 1899 and was a memorandum of agreement within the terms of article 5 (b) of the first schedule to that Act. Mulchand Lal v Kashiuddin Biswas I L R 36 Calc 111 referred to. MUTASADDI LAL v HARESH (1913)*

I L R 36 All 11

s 2 (15) Sch I Art 45—*Final decree effecting partition what is. To make an order chargeable with stamp duty under s 2 (15) of the Stamp Act of 1899 it must effect an actual division of the property. An order declaring the rights of the parties and directing further proceedings for the ascertainment of the specific shares is not such an order. Courts ought not to pass interim orders and direct proceedings in execution for the ascertainment of the specific shares. The final order should be passed after the specific shares have been ascertained. A decree reciting a raznamah made by consent of parties allotting specific properties to the several parties and directing other parties to deliver possession on is chargeable with stamp duty under Art. 45 of Sch. I as a final order effecting partition within s 2 (15). Being made by consent of parties it is also an instrument whereby co-owners have agreed to divide property in severalty and falls within the first part of s 2 (15). THIRUVENKATATHANAR v MUGGIAH (1911)*

I L R 35 Mad. 26

Stamp—Partition—

*Final order for effecting a partition. Held that the words "final order" in s 2 cl (15) and Art. 45 (a) of Sch I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 referred to the final order of the lowest Court of original jurisdiction empowered to give an order for effecting a partition at the time it is passed. STAMP REFERENCE BY BOARD OF REVENUE (1914) I L R 36 All 137*

s 2 (16)—

See s. 25

I L R 41 Mad 466

s 2 (17) and Arts 40 and 64—Mortgage deed—Hypothecation letter of accompanying bill of exchange. Where a document runs as follows—"The executant being desirous of carrying on her deceased husband's business of which she is now the owner declares a trust in favour of the Bank of Madras in respect of machinery plant, fixture and furniture and stock in trade in con sideration of advances of money to be made by the Bank from time to time not exceeding in all Rs 4 50 000 for the purpose of financing the business. All such advances carry interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. The trustee has got full power to use, employ, sell or exchange or otherwise deal with the trust property in the ordinary course of business but should make good the property that may be sold with other goods of a similar nature and value. Any goods so substituted shall be included in the security. The trustee may retain in his hands the sum of Rs 20 000 annually in trust to pay and apply the same in payment of sums advanced by the Bank. Held that the document created a trust in express language in respect of the machinery etc. in or upon the business premises of the firm and that the object of the instrument was to give the Bank some rights by way of security and it was a mortgage-deed for the purpose of the Stamp Act. Reference under Stamp Act s 48 I I I 11 Mad 215, referred to. Semle. The document is not a letter of hypothecation within the meaning of the exemption in art 40. Obiter. A fiscal enactment should be construed strictly and in favour of the subject. THE SECRETARY TO THE COMMISSIONER OF SALT ADKARI AND SEPARATE REVENUE REVENUE BOARD MADRAS v MES OMA (1913) I L R 38 Mad. 646

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—contd— s 2 (17) and Arts 40 and 64—contd

— s 2 (21) 60, Sch I Art 43 (g)—Stamp—Power of attorney—Document authorizing holder to appear and do all acts necessary for execution of decree. Held that a document purporting to authorize the person in whose favour it was executed, who was not a certificated mukhtar or pleader, to appear and do all acts necessary for the execution of a decree of a foreign court which had been transferred to a court in the United Provinces for execution required to be stamped as a power of attorney with a one rupee stamp and not as a vakalatnamah or mukhtarnamah. FARUKHANI v SAT PRASAD (1911) I L R 33 All. 487

— s 25 (23)—82, 83 'Sarkhat—Memorandum of account—Receipt—Several items of over Rs 20 each—Each item to be stamped. Held that a memorandum of account between debtor and creditor which was left in the possession of the debtor and consisted of items entered from time to time of money advanced and repaid was a document which required a separate receipt stamp in respect of each item of over Rs 20. DUFRENOY v TUSHI RAM (1913) I L R 35 All. 290

— s 2 (23) Sch. I Art 53

See STAMP DUTY

I L R 37 Cal. 629, 634

— s 2 (24) Sch. I Art. 7—Instrument declaring trust—Fund composed of two parts—Absence of previous disposition in one part—Settlement—Disposition for charity of the other part—Appointment—Stamp duty. An instrument was prepared for the purpose of declaring trusts of certain funds devoted to charity. The funds amounted to about Rs 3 00 000 and came to the hands of the trustees from two sources. About Rs 1 00 000 was the result of appeals to various persons and the rest was provided by the executors of the will of one A H. The instrument declaring the trusts was engrossed on a stamp paper of Rs 15 and a question having arisen as to whether the instrument was properly stamped. Held that so far as the fund of Rs 1 00 000 was concerned there being no previous disposition in writing of any part of it though some of the contributions were accompanied by letters from the donors expressing their wishes with respect to the funds contributed, the instrument was a settlement according to the definition in s 2 (24) of the Indian Stamp Act (II of 1899) and was chargeable with duty on Rs 1 01 000 at the rate of 8 annas per cent. Held, also that so far as the fund of Rs 2 00 000 was concerned the provisions of the will of A H amounted to a disposition for a charitable purpose and the instrument was an appointment chargeable with a duty of Rs 15 under sch. I, Art 7 of the Indian Stamp Act (II of 1899). In re ABDULLA HAJI DAWOOD BOWLA ORPHANAGE (1911) I L R 35 Bom. 444

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—contd— s 2 (24) Sch. I, Art 7—contd

— s 3—

See DUNDLEHARD ALIENATION OF LAND ACT (II OF 1903) s 17

I L R 35 All. 351

— s 4—

1. Stamp—Settlement of family property effected by two deeds one modifying the other—Full duty paid on the first. Two brothers having come to an agreement as to the settlement of their joint property embodied this agreement in a deed which was duly stamped according to the value of the property dealt with thereby. Subsequently the parties to this deed executed a second deed of settlement which modified provisions of the first in a certain direction but dealt with no property which was not covered by that deed. Both deeds were contingent on the happening of events which at the time of the execution of the second deed were still future events. Held, that the transaction effected by two deeds fell within the purview of s 4 of the Indian Stamp Act 1899 and the full duty having been paid on the first deed the second required a stamp of one rupee only. STAMP REFERENCE BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE (1914) I L R 37 All. 159

2. Stamp—Settlement—Gift of property made by one deed—Agreement to secure expenses of donor entered into by another. Two brothers executed deeds each in favour of the other. One was a deed of gift of all the property of the executant and it was stamped to its full value. The other was a deed coming within no known category but is provided for the expenses during the life-time of the executant of the deed of gift and hypothecated certain property to secure the payment thereof only a portion of the property thus hypothecated however was included in the deed of gift. The second document bore a stamp of Rs 10. Held, that the two documents were part of the same transaction and amounted to a settlement within the meaning of s 4 of the Stamp Act, and the stamp duty paid was sufficient. STAMP REFERENCE BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE (1915)

I L R 37 All. 264

— s 5—

Stamp duty—Lease—Multifarious document—One lease with several parties concurring to it—Stamp Act (II of 1899).

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*contd*s 5—contd

s 5 23 (3), 35, 37 (1) The concurrence of several parties to one and the same lease does not make it a multifarious document within the meaning of s 5 of the Stamp Act. The stamp-duty on such a lease is the same as on a conveyance for a consideration equal to the amount or value of the fine or premium for which the lease is granted. In re PARAKA COLLIERIES LTD (1910)

I L R 37 Cal 629

Sale—Mortgage for due performance of covenants—Distinct matters, meaning of—Stamp payable. A sale deed in which the vendor mortgages lands not included in the sale as security for the due performance of his covenants need not be stamped both as a sale and a mortgage. Govindan Vaidudiri v Moidin (1918) I L R 41 Mad 469 (F B) overruled. SECRETARY TO THE COMMISSIONER OF SALT ABKARI AND SEPARATE REVENUE MADRAS (REFERRING OFFICER) (1920) I L R 43 Mad. (F B), 365

s 5 6 38, Sch I Arts 5 43—

See STAMP DUTY I L R 39 Cal 668

s 12 Sch I Arts 1 5—Stamp—Acknowledgment of a debt—Sarkhat—Stipulation for payment of interest—Agreement—Cancellation of adhesive stamp. In support of a claim to recover money lent, with interest, an acknowledgment or sarkhat was produced which was in the following terms:—“Sarkhat executed in favour of Sheoraj Ram Teli by Mahadeo Ram; borrowed Rs 200 interest rate Rs 1-8-0 per cent, per mensem date Baisakh Sudi 1st, samwat 1971.” At the top of the document was affixed a one anna stamp on which there was only one horizontal line drawn across it. Held that the sarkhat was not merely an acknowledgment of a debt but contained a stipulation to pay interest, within the meaning of art 1 of the first schedule to the Indian Stamp Act 1899 and therefore required to be stamped as an agreement under art 5 (c) of the same schedule. Udit Tyadhai v Bhavans Din I L R 27 All 84 and Dumha Kunwar v Mahadeo Prasad I L R 28 All 436 distinguished. Laxmidas v Ganesh Raghunath I L R 5 Bom 373 and Mulchand Lala v Ashokbhar Bhavani, I L R 35 Cal 111, referred to. Held also, that a stamp may be effectually canceled by merely drawing a line across it. S 12 of the Act does not mean that it is necessary to cancel a stamp in such a manner as to make it physically impossible for any disinterested person to make hereafter a fraudulent use of the stamp. Mohammad Amir Mirza Leg v Babu Kedar Nath, 15 Oudh Cases 58 referred to. MAHADEO KOWI v SHEORAJ RAM TELI (1916) I L R 41 All 169

s 25—Morapat—Counterpart of lease—Document giving a charge on improvements for arrears of rent—Stamp duty whether payable both as counterpart and as mortgage. Where a tenant executed a morapat in favour of a landlord agreeing therein that the arrears of rent if any should be a charge on the improvements that might be made by him. Held that a morapat is the counterpart of a lease or a deed executed by a tenant promising to pay a certain rent and that the document in question must be stamped both as a counterpart and as a mortgage. GOVINDAN NARAYAN v MORDIN (1917) I L R 41 Mad. 469

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*contd*s 25—contd

s 28 and 35—Mining lease—claim for royalty in excess of amount covered by stamp, main liability of. The provisions of s 28 of the Stamp Act, 1899, are governed by s 35 and, therefore, a lessee under a mining lease is entitled upon payment of the penalty under the latter section to recover the royalty provided for in the lease even though the amount claimed is in excess of the amount covered by the stamp used in the lease. KUMAR BRAJ MOHAN SINGH v LACHMI NARAIN AGARWALA 5 Pat L J 660

s 27, 64 (a)—Execution of document—Not containing statement of facts affecting duty—Stamp. Certain property was sold for Rs 20,000 to one R who paid Rs 1,000 in cash and agreed to give the vendors credit for Rs 19,000 to be drawn against as required. Shortly afterwards the parties agreed to rescind the contract and R sold the property to his vendors, giving them a conveyance in which the consideration was stated to be Rs 1,000 in cash, no mention being made of the extinction of his liability to pay the remaining Rs 19,000. Held on these facts that R had committed an offence within the purview of s 64 (a) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. EXPEROR v RAMESHAR DAS (1910) I L R 32 All 171

s 28 (3)—

See STAMP DUTY I L R 37 Cal 629

s 33 (1)—Impounding of document—Insufficiently stamped—Conditions necessary for the application of section—Suit for money on hatchia produced in Court in bound volume containing other hatchias—Jurisdiction of Court to impound those other hatchias. In a suit for recovery of money on a hatchia the plaintiff filed along with the plea in the hatchia which was in a bound volume which contained a large number of hatchias executed by other persons in favour of the plaintiffs. The hatchia on which the suit was brought being found to be insufficiently stamped the Munsif examined the other hatchias and impounded them under s 33 of the Stamp Act finding them to be insufficiently stamped. Held that under s 33 the Munsif had no jurisdiction to impound the hatchias other than the one which formed the basis of the suit. Before action can be taken under sub-s 1 of s 33 it must be established that the instrument in question was produced or came before the officer mentioned therein in the performance of his functions and having regard to the stage at which the Munsif took action it could not be said that the hatchias were produced or came before the Munsif in the performance of his functions. RAMJI MOHAN SHARMA v KUNCI KUNAR BISWAS (1916) 21 C W. N 246

s 35—

See s 5

I L R 37 Cal 629

See s 20.

5 Pat. L J 660

Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) O XXI r 31—Con rect Act (IX of 1872) s 18 cl (3)—Court-sale—Execution of the judgment—Mortgage had no saleable interest—Failure of consideration—Suit by auction purchaser for possession or return of purchase money—Fiduciary of the judgment-creditor and auction-purchaser—Suit not cognizable by Small Causes Court—Unstamped document regarded as non-existent

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*contd*s. 35—contd

A Court sale purchaser having discovered that the judgment debtors had no saleable interest in the property sold brought a suit against the judgment creditor for recovery of possession of the property, or in the alternative, return of the purchase money on the footing of total failure of consideration. A question having arisen as to whether the suit was maintainable. Held, that the suit was maintainable inasmuch as under the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) there was an implied warranty of some saleable interest when the right, title and interest of the judgment debtor was put up for sale, and the purchaser's right based on such implied warranty to a return under certain conditions of the purchase money which had been received by the judgment creditor was recognized. The relations of the parties, namely, the judgment creditor and the Court sale purchaser were also in the nature of contract. Held, further, that such a suit, though the subject matter was less than Rs 500, was not cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, there being a prayer for possession of immovable property. An unstamped document being inadmissible in evidence must be taken as non-existent. IRSTRONJI ABDESHIR IRANI v VINAYAK GANGADHAR BHAT (1910) I L R 35 Bom 29 ss 35, 36—Sch I, Art. 40, Exemp. (2)—*Bill of exchange written on several pieces of stamp paper, if properly stamped—Hypothecation, letter of, not stamped but registered, if admissible as evidence—Power of Appellate Court to question admissibility on the ground of insufficiency of stamp—Document not duly stamped, improperly registered, if to be therefore rejected—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s 57. A document which was in fact a bill of exchange, though it was loosely described as a Aundi, was properly stamped under r 6 of the Rules of the Governor General in Council when a portion of it appeared to have been written on each of three sheets of stamp paper of the aggregate value required by law. Where a registering officer having examined a document presented to him for registration came, rightly or wrongly, to the conclusion that, being a letter of hypothecation accompanying a bill of exchange, it was exempt from duty under Art. 40, Exemp (2) of Sch I of the Stamp Act and accordingly certified on the bill of exchange that it was properly stamped and registered the letter of hypothecation without requiring any further duty to be paid in respect of it. Held, that an improper registration in view of s 57 of the Registration Act could not possibly affect the validity of the document. That the Court of first instance having admitted the letter of hypothecation in evidence, the High Court was precluded from taking exception to it on the ground of its having been insufficiently stamped by s 36 of the Stamp Act. That it did not lie in the mouth of the representatives of the executant of the letter who was responsible for the proper stamping of the document to plead in a suit to enforce it that the contract was not binding upon him because he had succeeded in defrauding the Revenue authorities. SARADA NATH BHATTACHARJEE v GOVINDA CHANDRA DAS (1919) [23 C W. N. 531]*

s. 36—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 190
I L R. 33 Bom. 618

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*contd*s. 36—contd

See STAMP DUTY I L R. 39 Calc. 669

Unstamped acknowledgment accepted as evidence by trial Court, if may be rejected on appeal. A statement to the effect as follows. "Rs 2,115—balance due" followed by the date and the debtor's signature is an acknowledgment and should be stamped as such. But under s 36 of the Stamp Act if such a statement, though unstamped, has been admitted in evidence by the Court of first instance, it cannot be rejected by the Appellate Court. SITARAM v PAMA THOSAD RAM (1913) 18 C. W. N 897 ss 40, 57—Instrument certified by Collector to have been duly stamped—Reference by Chief Controlling Revenue Authority to High Court questioning correctness of Collector's decision—Jurisdiction. Held, that if a Collector has taken action under s 40, sub-s (1) (b) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and having received the deficient duty and the penalty imposed, has certified under sub-s (1) (a) that the instrument before him is duly stamped the effect of sub-s (2) is that the jurisdiction of the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority to refer to the High Court, under s. 57 of the Act, the question whether such instrument is in fact sufficiently stamped or not is ousted. Reference under Stamp Act, s 57, I L R 25 Mad. 752, followed. STAMP REFERENCE BY BOARD OF REVENUE (1917) I L R. 40 All 128

s 52—Partisan decree—Court fee stamp erroneously used for non judicial—Valuation of decree by filing of non-judicial stamp on appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 151. The plaintiff in a suit for partition by mistake filed a Court fee instead of a non judicial stamp in order that a decree might be drawn up thereon in accordance with Art. 43 of Sch. I of the Stamp Act, and the mistake was not discovered till after some of the defendants had preferred an appeal against the decree so drawn up and others had filed cross objections, when the plaintiff having applied for execution of the decree, the Subordinate Judge dismissed the application holding that there was no valid decree capable of execution. Held, on plaintiff's application in the appeal, that the High Court could, in the exercise of its powers under s 151 of the Civil Procedure Code, direct the plaintiff to file a non judicial stamp of the requisite value in the appeal, so as to validate the decree with retrospective effect from the date when it was drawn up. Chhayamannasa Bha v Banwar Fakamasa, I L R 37 Cal. 399 s c 11 C L J 265, referred to. The High Court in such a case cannot direct the refund by the revenue authorities of the value of the Court fee stamp thus erroneously used. S 52 of the Indian Stamp Act does not cover a case in which Court fee stamp has been erroneously used where non judicial stamp ought to have been used under the provisions of the Act. Reference under s 57 of Act II of 1899, I L R 23 All 213 referred to. SHAIKH RAFIUDDIN v LATIF AHMAD (1910) 14 C W. N 1101

s 57—

I L R. 37 Calc. 629

See s. 5

See s. 40. I L R. 40 All 182

Reference under Art. 5,
Sch I—Agreement or memorandum of agreement, meaning of—Proposal or offer in writing—Parol

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*cont'd.*s. 57—cont'd.

acceptance—Whether proposal or offer in writing requires to be stamped—Advance of loan or written declaration by a party as to his property—Entry in register of the declaration—Whether stamp necessary, Where it appeared on the evidence as to course of business of a bank, that the bank advanced loans on promissory notes payable on demand or otherwise, but before advancing money, it required the borrower to make a declaration in the confidential register in the form thereto annexed as to the property in his possession and to sign the same. Held, that the entry of the declaration in the register was not an agreement or a memorandum of an agreement which required to be stamped under Art. 5 of the sch. I of the Indian Stamp Act (II of 1899). Assuming that on the signing of the declaration there was a "proposal" or an "offer," a written proposal or a written offer does not become subject to stamp duty by reason of subsequent acceptance which is not in writing. Corlill v The Carbolic Smoke Ball Company, [1892] 2 Q. D. 484, Chaplin v Clark, 4 Ex. Rep. 403 and Clay v Crofts, 29 L. J. C. L. 361, followed. Quare. Whether the entry in the register amounted to a proposal or offer in writing. SECRETARY TO THE COMMISSIONER OF SALT, ABERDEEN AND SEPARATE REVENUE, v THE SOUTH INDIAN BANK, LD., TIRUNELVELLY (1913)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 349

—Reference by Board of of Revenue—Document to which reference relates not in existence. Held, that ss. 56 and 57 of the Indian Stamp Act empower the High Court to decide questions relating to instrument already in existence and which have been made the subject of action by the Collector acting under ss. 31, 40 and 41 of the Act. They do not empower the Court to give an opinion upon a deed which may or may not come into existence hereafter. STAMP REFERENCE BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE (1914)

I. L. R. 37 All. 125

s. 59—Undivided brothers—Instruments whereby co-owners divide property in severalty—Release—Partition—Stamp Instruments whereby co-owners of any property divide or agree to divide it in severalty are instruments of partition. One of three undivided brothers agreed to take from eldest brother, the manager of the family, as his share in the family property, moveable and immoveable, a certain cash and bonds for debts due to the family, and passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release. Subsequently one of the two brothers passed to the eldest brother a document in the form of a release whereby he and the eldest brother divided the remaining family property by the latter handing over to the former securities for money. A question having arisen as to whether for the purpose of stamp duty the said two documents were to be treated as releases or instruments of partition. Held, that the documents were instruments of partition. In re GOWD PANDURANG KAMAT (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 75

s. 59, Sch. I, Art. 35, cl. (a), sub-cl. (iii)—Lease—Lessee agreeing to pay annual rent plus Government assessment—Whether rent include assessment for purposes of stamp duty. A piece of land was leased for five years whereby the lessee agreed to pay to the lessor Rs. 100 as rent plus Rs. 16 8 0 on account of Government assessment. The question being referred whether the stamp duty should be levied on Rs. 100 or Rs. 116 8 0, the total amount of rent and Government assessment. Held, that the Government assessment did not form part of the profit and therefore the stamp duty was leviable only on Rs. 100 the annual rent, under Sch. I, Art. 35, cl. (a), sub-cl. (iii) of Stamp Act. GANGABAI NARAYANDAS TELI, In re (1915)

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*cont'd.*s. 59, Sch. I, Art. 35, cl. (a), Sub-cl. (iii)—cont'd.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 434

s. 60—

See s. 2. I. L. R. 33 All. 467

In order to determine whether a document is attested by a witness within the meaning of the Stamp Act it is permissible to look only at the document itself. Other evidence can not be referred to. MD. SADIQ v. AMIYA NATH DUTT.

2 Pat. L. J. 686

s. 61 (1); Sch. I, Arts. 15, 35 (a),

(1)—

See STAMP DUTY I. L. R. 46 Calc. 804

s. 62 (b), (c)—Proposal for loan in prescribed form of Bank and approval thereof by Manager if constitutes an agreement which should bear eight annas stamp—Intent to defraud Government. A certain local Bank received an application for a loan of Rs. 50 in its prescribed form. This application contained in the usual column of the form a sort of guarantee of payment by person other than the applicant recommending the granting of the loan on a bond and the Manager of the Bank approved the proposal or the loan and recommended it at a certain rate of interest as to which the Applicant and the guarantor were silent. Both the Manager and the Secretary of the Bank were prosecuted and the Manager was convicted under s. 62 (b) and the Secretary under s. 68 (c) of the Stamp Act. Held, that the statements in the proposal made by the Applicant himself and by the Manager did not represent a completed agreement, more particularly with regard to the rate of interest. At most they represented merely negotiations intended to lead up to the execution of a bond and the payment thereon of the amount of the loan, and the conviction of the Manager under s. 62 (b) of the Stamp Act could not be maintained. That the conviction of the Secretary under s. 68 (c) was also not sustainable as no intention to defraud Government was made out. RAJESHWAR BAGCHI v. KING EMPEROR (1917)

21 C. W. N. 758

Stamp—Award—

Unstamped award signed by parties to submission—Party signing "otherwise than as a witness". Where certain parties to an arbitration, who had signed the submission to arbitration, also signed the award, not as witnesses, but under the heading "signature of the heirs," and the award was not stamped: Held, that such parties did not fall within the purview of s. 62 cl. (1) (b), of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, as persons "executing or signing otherwise than as witnesses." EMPEROR v. BHAU PAL SARAN (1910)

1. L. R. 32 All. 198

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—contd.

ss. 62 and 63—

See s 2 (23) . I. L. R. 35 All. 290

s. 62; Sch. I, Art 5—Stamp—Petition to Court intimating compromise of suit—Agreement The parties to a suit came to terms out of Court, and presented a joint petition to the Court stating the terms of compromise arrived at and asking that a consent decree might be given in accordance therewith. Held, that such petition was to be stamped merely as a petition to the Court and did not require to be engrossed on a general stamp. EMPEROR v. RAM SARAN LAL (1917) I. L. R. 40 All. 19

s. 62 (b) and Sch. I, Art 35—Agreement to lease—no rent reserved—whether stamp necessary An agreement for a lease where by no rent is reserved and no premium is paid or money advanced, is not included in the scheme of the Stamp Act, 1899 and does not require a stamp. SUNDER KIER v. KING EMPEROR I Pat. L. J. 366

s. 64—

See s 27 I. L. R. 32 All. 171

ss. 64 (c), 68—

See STAMP DUTY L. R. 44 Calc. 321

s. 65—Receipt—Money remitted by postal money order and receipt signed on post office form—Further receipt not exigible from payee Where money is remitted by postal money order and the payee has signed the receipt in duplicate on the post office form, he cannot legally be compelled to give a further receipt to the payer and his refusal to do so will not render him liable under s. 65 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. EMPEROR v. BALMAKAUND (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 192

Sch. I, Art 1—

See ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 789

Sch. I, Arts. 1 and 5—

See s 12 I. L. R. 41 All. 169

Sch. I, Art 5—

See s 57 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 349

See s. 62 . I. L. R. 40 All. 19

See HIRE PURCHASE AGREEMENT

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 72

—Agreement to hire with option of purchase, stamp duty on An instrument was executed between the Linotype and Machinery, Ltd., and the Windsor Press whereby a machine was hired by the latter for a period on condition that the hirer would pay a fixed amount on execution of the deed and another fixed amount by equal monthly instalment with interest and that on payment of the full sum with interest the machine would become the property of the hirer but that until such payment was made the machinery would continue to be on hire. Held (on a reference by the Board of Revenue under s. 57 of the Stamp Act), that the document in question was an agreement within the meaning of Art 5, cl. (c) of Sch. I to the Indian Stamp Act and was therefore liable to a stamp duty of eight annas. In the matter of LINOTYPE AND MACHINERY, LTD (1916) . . . 20 C. W. N. 1252

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—contd.

Sch. I, Arts. 5 and 43.

See STAMP DUTY I. L. R. 39 Calc. 669

—Submission to arbitration, stamp upon Where certain contract notes, in addition to the intimation by the broker of the purchase or sale of the goods, contained submissions in writing by the buyer and seller to refer disputes to arbitration signed by the brokers as the authorised agent of the parties, and, being stamped with a one anna stamp according to a practice recognised by the Court for a long series of years, was held by the Trial Judge to be inadmissible in evidence on the ground that the submission to arbitration was chargeable with an eight-anna stamp under Sch. I, Art 3 of the Indian Stamp Act as an agreement not otherwise provided for, the Court of Appeal held that the Court was not prepared to question the practice on the materials before it and that the submission should be treated as duly stamped. In the matter of s. 11, and s. (2) of the Indian Arbitration Act of 1886, and in the matter of a Reference to Arbitration BAINATH v. AHMED MUSAJI SALEJI (1912) 17 C. W. N. 395

Sch. I, Art. 7—

See s 2 (24) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 443

Sch. I, Art 15

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act XIV of

1882), s 209 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 17

See STAMP DUTY I. L. R. 46 Calc. 804

—Sch. I, Art 22, Registration Act (III of 1877), s. 17, cl. (c)—Trusts Act (II of 1882) s. 5—“Composition deed”—Compounding of debts due—Transfer of immovable property—Registration not necessary With the consent of creditors to the extent of Rs. 1,22,000 out of the total number of creditors claiming Rs. 1,61,800 of the family firm represented by one B, the latter executed a deed making over all the specified assets of the family to certain nominated trustees. The creditors coming in (by a particular day) under the deed agreed that after all the goods and the properties had been made over to the trustees no other claim whatever with regard to the amounts due to them should remain outstanding against B and the minor members of the family, but the whole claim should be understood to be written off against them, and B and the minors were to make use of the deed as a release passed on their behalf. The deed also provided that the trustees were to manage the properties for the benefit of the creditors interested and the monies realized from time to time were to be distributed among such creditors in proportion to their claims. The properties comprised in the deed, moveable as well as immovable, were transferred to the trustees in due course. The deed was unregistered. Subsequently in a suit brought by the trustees to recover possession of a house comprised in the deed, a question having arisen whether the deed was a composition deed. Held, that the definition of the term “composition deed” as given in Art 22, Sch. I of the Stamp Act (II of 1899), meant the same thing as the term “composition deed” in s. 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) that the terms so defined covered three classes of instruments: (i) an assignment for the benefit of creditors; (ii) an agreement whereby payment of a composition or dividend was secured to the creditors; and (iii) an inspectorship deed for the purpose of working the debtor's business for the benefit of his creditors, that the inclusion of the term "composition deed" in s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) showed that it was intended to apply to a transfer of immovable property and not to a mere agreement to take fractional payment of money in settlement of claims, that the test of a "composition deed" was that there ought to be a compounding of debts due and that such a deed fell under cl (c) of s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) and did not require registration under that Act nor under the provisions of s 5 of the Trusts Act (II of 1882) Held, accordingly, that the deed in question was a composition deed within the meaning of s 17, cl 2, of the Registration Act (III of 1877), and did not require registration CHANDRASHANKAR v BAI MAGAN (1914)

STAMP ACT (II OF 1899)—*concl'd.*Sch I, Art. 22—cont'd

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 578

Sch. I, Art. 35—

See s 59 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 434

See s 62 I. Pat. L. J. 386

See STAMP DUTY I. L. R. 48 Calc. 804

Amaldustak, whether it requires stamp—Conviction under s 62 (b), if maintainable—Schedule of Stamp Act if exhaustive The schedule attached to the Stamp Act must be treated as exhaustive An agreement for a lease whereby no rent is reserved and no premium paid or money advanced is not included in the schedule and does not require a stamp Held, on a construction of amaldustak which was for a term of seven years but wherein no rent was fixed, that the document did not require stamp and so the conviction of exccutant of the document under s 62 (b) of the Stamp Act was set aside SUNDER KUEH v KING EMPEROR (1916)

20 C. W. N. 823

Sch. I, Art. 40—

See s. 2 (17) I. L. R. 33 Mad. 646

See s 35 23 C. W. N. 534

Sch I, Art. 45—

See s 2 (15) I. L. R. 36 All. 137

I. L. R. 35 Mad 28

Sch I, Art. 48—

See POWER OF ATTORNEY.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 134

See s. 2 (21) I. L. R. 33 All. 487

Sch I, Art. 53—

See STAMP DUTY

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 629, 634

Sch. I, Art. 55—Stamp—Release Partitioned deed Two persons, each of whom claimed the sole right to the property of a deceased relation, arrived at a compromise of their respective claims and gave effect thereto by means of two deeds of even date, by which deeds each relinquished in favour of the other his (or her) claim to a portion of the estate of the deceased Held, that these deeds were releases, assessable to stamp duty under Art 55 of the first schedule to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 Ekwal S Gowde v Jagannath S. Gowde, I. L. R. 9 Bom. 417, and Reference under Stamp Act, s. 46, I. L. R. 13 Mad 233, referred to. Reference under Stamp Act, s. 46, I. L. R. 12 Mad 198, distinguished JIBAN KUTWAR v GORIND DAS (1915)

I. L. R. 33 All. 56

STAMP-DUTY.

See ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 789

See ARBITRATION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 219

See HIRE PURCHASE AGREEMENT

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 72

See POWER OF ATTORNEY.

I. L. R. 33 All. 487

See STAMP ACT, 1899

See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899), s 62 (1) (b)

I. L. R. 32 All. 198

— ON a pauper plaint—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O

XXIII, RE 10, 11

I. L. R. 38 All. 469

1. — Acknowledgment—Money received by servant of a firm and handed over to fellow-servant—Consideration—Acknowledgment of receipt by fellow-servant of a sum larger than Rs 20, if liable to stamp-duty—Stamp Act (II of 1899), s 2 (23), Sch I, Art 53 Where a sum exceeding Rs 20 was received by an assistant in a mercantile firm from the cashier of the firm as advance made on the firm's behalf, and to be expended on the firm's behalf, and previous to disbursement of the sum in question a pay order was made out by the Accounts Department of the firm and was sent to the cashier who had paid the sum to the assistant and the assistant at the same time acknowledged receipt by signing his name or initials on the pay order Held, that the acknowledgment did not require a receipt stamp by reason of the assistant's signature on the pay order Attorney General v Carillon Bank [1899] 2 Q. B. 158, distinguished In re BURN & Co (1910) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 634

2. — Lease—Multifarious Document—

One lease with several parties concurring to it—Stamp Act (II of 1899), ss 5, 23 (3), 35, 57 (1). The concurrence of several parties to one and the same lease does not make it a multifarious document with the meaning of s. 5 of the Stamp Act The stamp duty on such a lease is the same as on a conveyance for a consideration equal to the amount or value of the fine or premium for which the lease is granted In re PARASEA COLLIERIES, LTD. (1910) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 629

3. — Bought and sold notes—Stamp Act (II of 1899), ss 5, 6 and 36, Sch I, Arts 5 and 43—Arbitration—Admission, by arbitrators, of document not duly stamped, effect of—Bengal Chamber of Commerce, arbitration by—Rules relating to—Umpire, omission to nominate, effect of—Disclosure of names of arbitrators if contemplated by the rules—Reference, provision for appearance of parties on A contract for or relating to the sale of goods comprised in bought and sold notes, which contain a provision to refer disputes to arbitration, is chargeable with a stamp duty of two annas on each broker's note under Art 43 of the Stamp Act, and not with a duty of eight annas as an agreement Kyd v Mahomed, I. L. R. 15 Mad 150, followed If a document, which is not duly stamped, were admitted in evidence by arbitrators on a reference, the provisions of s. 36 of the Stamp Act would prevent such admission being called into question at any stage of the same suit or proceeding except as provided in s. 61, and an application to the award of the arbitrators would be a "stage of the same proceeding" The arbitration rules of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, grammatically speaking require an umpire to be nominated before the arbitrators enter upon the reference but the omission to so nominate an umpire would not be a ground for setting aside or varying the award having regard to the provisions of rule VI (c) The arbitration rules of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce (rule A) contemplate that the names of the arbitrators shall not be disclosed to the parties Chooni Lall v Madhoram, 1 L R 36 Calc 333 13 C W N 29 and Hurdwary Mill v Ahmed Musaji Selaji, 13 C W N 63 dissented from Rule VI (g) provides that the parties shall not without the express permission of the arbitrators, be entitled to appear The parties have no right to appear, or even to ask for such permission BOMBAY COMPANY, LTD v THE NATIONAL JUTE MILLS CO LTD (1912) 1 L R 39 Calc 669

STAMP DUTY—contd

4. ———— Offences, regarding—Mere fact of putting a stamp not of proper value, whether an offence—Stamp Act (II of 1899) ss 64, cl (c), 65—Intention to defraud* In construing cl (c) of s 64 of the Indian Stamp Act, the words 'any other act' must be taken to mean an act of a like nature to those which are specified in cl (a) and (b), and the mere fact that a person puts a stamp on a document which he knows to be not of proper value would not come within cl (c) of s 64, unless there is an intention to defraud the Government Queen Empress v Somasundaram Chetti, 1 L P 23 Mad 155, referred to CHHAKMAL CHOOPRA v EMPEROR (1918) 1 L R 44 Calc 321

5. ———— Lease—Monthly tenancy—Stamp Act (II of 1899), s 61 (1) and Sch 1, Arts 15, 35 (a) (1) By a letter the defendant agreed to pay Rs 60 per month as rent of certain premises and to pay the said rent at Rs 2 per day to the plaintiff Held, that the tenancy was a monthly tenancy and came within Art. 35, cl. (a) sub-cl (1) of the first Schedule of the Indian Stamp Act, and the proper stamp-duty was the same duty as for a bond referred to in Art 15, viz., eight annas ASHOLIA v IBRAHIM ISHAK, In re (1919) 1 L R 46 Calc 804

STANDARD OF PROOF.

See CONTENT OF COURT 1

1 L R 45 Calc 169
See LIMITATION 1 L R 40 Calc 898

———— Civil and criminal trials—Presumption—English rules On the question of the standard of proof there is but one rule of evidence which in India applies to both civil and criminal trials and that is contained in the definition of "proved" and "disproved" in s 3 of the Evidence Act The test in each case is, would a prudent man after considering the matters before him (which vary with each case) deem the fact in issue proved or disproved? The Court can never be bound by any rule but that which, coming from itself, dictates a conscientious and prudent exercise of its judgment. There is a presumption against crime and misconduct and the more heinous and improbable a crime is, the greater is the force of the evidence required to overcome such presumption. The English rule in these matters does not, as such, apply in India Jarat Kumar Das v Bhanuwar Dutt, 1 L R 39 Calc. 215 explained WESTON AND OTHERS v PEARY MOHAN DASS (1912) 1 L R 40 Calc. 898

STANDARD RENT.

———— Additional charge for supplying light—

See RENT (WAR RESTRICTION NO 2) ACT (BOM ACT VII OF 1918), s 7 (1)
1 L R. 45 Bom. 188

STANDING COMMITTEE.

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III OF 1904) 1 L R. 38 Mad. 41

STANI.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SEC 1. ART 124 1 L R 41 Mad. 4

———— Kathavan, becoming a—

See MALABAR TARIKAT
1 L R. 39 Mad 918

STAPLE FOOD, PRICE OF

———— how ascertained—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
1 L R 37 Calc. 742

STARE DECISIS.

———— Principle of —

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879 s 216
1 L R. 45 Bom. 1260

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING
1 L R 48 Calc 184
24 C W. N. 818

STATEMENT

———— from a complainant, not a confession—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 164
1 L R 39 Mad 977

STATEMENT IN WRITING BY ACCUSED

———— admissibility of—

See CONFESSION 1 L R. 27 Calc 725

STATEMENT ON INFORMATION AND BELIEF

See CONTENT OF COURT
1 L R. 41 Calc. 173

See POLICE DIARIES AND REPORTS

STATUS OF TENANT.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, ss 5, 103B
1 L R 45 Calc 805

STATUTE LAW IN ENGLAND

———— apportionment under—

See LEASON AND LESSEE
1 L R. 38 Mad 86

STATUTES

———— II Geo. IV and I WILL IV, c. 68—
See COMMON CARRIERS

1 L R. 38 Calc 28
13 C. W. N. 226

———— 5 & 6 Geo V, cap. LXI—

———— s 107—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 115.
1 L R 39 ALL 254
See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII OF 1879), s 36 1 L R 40 ALL 183

STATUTES—contd

11 & 12 Vict., c 21—

See INDIAN INSOLVENCY ACT

21 & 22 Vict., c 106, ss 39, 40,

41, 42

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 38 Calc 754

15 C W N 475

24 & 25 Vict., c 104—

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT s 11

I L R 38 Calc 230

15 C W N 87

Power of Crown to appoint a sixth Puisne Judge—Criminal Procedure Code s 417—Appeal from acquittal—Procedure Held, on a construction of ss 1 and 2 of Letters Patent of the High Court for the North Western Provinces that it was competent to the Crown to appoint by means of its Letters Patent a sixth Puisne Judge to the said High Court. Held also following the decision of Queen Empress v Prag Das I L R 20 All 459 that in the Code of Criminal Procedure there is no apparent distinction between the right of appeal against an acquittal and the right of appeal against a conviction. Queen Empress v Robinson I L R 16 All 912 referred to. EMPEROR v GHURE (1914) I L R 36 All 168

44 & 45 Vict., c LVIII, s 138—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 60

I L R 33 All 529

58 & 59 Vict., c V, s 4—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908

s 60

I L R 33 All 529

STATUTE CONSTRUCTION OF

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOMBAY ACT III OF 1888) s 305

I L R 34 Bom 593

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 48

I L R 32 All 499

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908 O XXI) s 93

I L R 40 Mad 1009

See CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES

See INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, ART 134

I L R 36 Bom 146

See MADRAS HEREDITARY VILLAGE OFFICERS ACT (III OF 1895)

I L R 37 Mad 548

See SALE

I L R 43 Calc 790

Contradictory Sections—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s 18

25 C W N 9

Represents previous Statute—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT ss 52

25 C W N 230

1. ———— Not declaratory but amending—No retrospect or operation. Statutes which are properly of a declaratory character have a retrospective effect. But the nature of the statute must be determined from its provisions and the mere fact that the expression 'it is declared has been used, is by no means conclusive as to the true character of the legislation. JOTI RAM KHAN v JOTAKI NATH GHOSE (1914)

STATUTE, CONSTRUCTION OF—contd

20 C W N 258

2. ———— Bombay Land Revenue Code (Bom Act V of 1879), s 48. The Bombay Land Revenue Code (Bom Act V of 1879) is a taxing enactment and must be construed strictly in favour of the subject. SECRETARY OF STATE v LALDAS (1909) I L R 34 Bom 239

3. ———— Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 237A—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) repealing s 257A—Effect of the repeal on s 13 cl (c) of the Dekkan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) s 13 cl (c) of the Dekkan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) not having been expressly repealed is not affected by the repeal of s 257A of the Civil Procedure Code 1882 by the Civil Procedure Code of 1908. TRIDHAK KASHIRAM v ARAJI (1911)

I L R 35 Bom 307

4. ———— Statute—On construction. Where a statute creates a right not existing at common law and prescribes a particular remedy for its enforcement then that remedy alone must be followed. CHUNILAL VIRCHAND v AHMEDABAD MUNICIPALITY (1911)

I L R 36 Bom 47

5. ———— Where a later Act of Legislature does not purport to affect or supersede an earlier Act the Court will endeavour to read the two enactments together and to avoid conflict if possible. RANGACHARYA v DASACHARYA (1912) I L R 37 Bom 231

6. ———— Change in language if necessarily imports a change of law. A change in the wording of a section of an enactment does not necessarily involve a change in the law. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v PURNENDU NARAIN ROY (1912) 17 C W N 1151

7. ———— The express words of an Indian Statute are not to be overridden by reference to equitable principles which may have been adopted in the English Courts. KURRI PEARREDDI v KURRI BAPUREDDI, I L R 29 Mad 336 followed. THANGOWDA v BEVERGOWDA (1915) I L R 39 Bom 472

8. ———— Whether a statute codifies or amends the law if its provisions are expressed in clear and unambiguous terms resort should not be had to the pre-existing law although such reference may be useful and legitimate where the provisions are of doubtful import or are couched in language which had previously acquired a technical meaning. NILMASI KAR v RAJA SATI PRASAD GARGA BANADUR 6 Pat L J 230

STATUTORY OBLIGATION

See MADRAS LOCAL BOARD ACT 1884

S 95 I. L. R. 42 Mad. 331

breach of—

See CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

I L R 34 Bom 427

I L R 37 Bom 575

STATUTORY PRESUMPTION

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

I L R 46 Calc 160

STATUTORY RIGHT

See BENGOAL TENANCY

I L R 48 Calc 473

STAY OF CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS

Stay of criminal proceedings pending appeal in matter of which they are—Application for succession certificate—Allegation of fraud—Expiry under s 476 Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1908)—Order for process on undress ss 193 and 200 Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860)—Appeal pending in High Court—Stay of criminal proceedings—In the course of a proceeding upon an application for revocation of the grant of a succession certificate the District Judge found that the applicant for the certificate was not as he alleged related to the deceased in any way and ordered his prosecution under ss 193 and 200 Indian Penal Code. D then filed an appeal to the High Court and asked for stay of criminal proceedings pending the hearing of the appeal. Held that to make a declaration in the rule for stay of proceedings as to the correctness or otherwise of the order of the District Judge would be to pre-judge an issue which is likely to come before the Bench who will hear the appeal. The proceedings against the appellant under ss 193 and 200 Indian Penal Code were stayed pending the hearing of the appeal. DEBI MANTO v KING EMPEROR (1916) 20 C W N 1116

STAY OF EXECUTION

See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc 169See ARBITRATION ACT s 2

I L R 45 Bom. 1

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 47

O XLII R 5

See CHOTA NAAGPUR TENANCY ACT 1908

s. 215 4 Pat L J 371

See COMPANIES ACT (VIII of 1913) s. 207

I L R 33 All 407

See COURT FEES ACT 180 s. 10

4 Pat L J 417

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 38 Calc 754

I L R 35 All 119

See HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF

I L R 40 Calc 955

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF

I L R 42 Calc 739

Order not appealable

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) s 47 I L R 45 Bom 241

Pending appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908

O XLII s 5

I L R 2 Lab 61

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF

I L R 33 Calc 335

Refused by single Judge whether open to appeal under Letters Patent.—

See LETTERS PATENT APPEAL

I L R 1 Lab 348

Code of Civil Procedure

(Act V of 1908) O XLV s 14—Court—Appeal to Privy Council from Decree of High Court—Stay

STAY OF EXECUTION—contd

of execution pending disposal of appeal whether Subordinate Court may grant A Subordinate Court has no power to stay the execution of a decree passed by the High Court pending the disposal of an appeal to the Privy Council. The "Court" referred to in the first paragraph of O XLV s 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 is the High Court. RAM BANAHUR v THAKUR SRI SAI PADMA KRISHN CHANDERJI 3 Pat L J 40

Practice—High Court Original Side—Judge sitting in Chambers—Court which passed the decree—Delay—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XLV s 6 An application for stay of execution on the Original Side of the High Court pending an intended appeal must ordinarily be made to the Judge who tried the case and must be made without unreasonable delay. CHATURBUSTI CHANDANMALL v HASPRO DAS DAHA (1911) I L R 48 Calc 786

STAY OF PROCEEDINGS

See ARBITRATION

I L R 47 Calc 611 and 1020

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) O XLIII s 3 Sch. II cls. 110

I L R 35 Bom 637

See PECKHAM SCIT AGUINCY

15 C W N 54

See STAY OF SUIT

I L R 43 Calc 144

—against an insolvent—

See PRESIDENCY TOWN INSOLVENCY ACT

(III of 1909) s 18 (3).

I L R 41 Bom. 312

—appeal of preliminary decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

O XLV s 13 I L R 42 All 170

STAY OF SUIT

See ARBITRATION I L R 47 Calc 648See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—See HIGH COURT'S ACT (24 and 25 VICT

c 104) ss 29 and 33

I L R 39 Bom 604

See STAY OF PROCEEDINGS.

Reference to arbitration—Arbitrator unwilling to act—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) O XLII s. 3 sch. II cls. 18

AND 22 I L R 45 Bom 1181

Submission by three persons to refer—Suit filed by one—

See ARBITRATION ACT (IX of 1899) ss

s 8 s 9 15 and 19

I L R 45 Bom. 1

Jurisdiction—Civil

Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 10—Stay of proceedings in one of two suits in respect of same subject matter in different Courts A who carried on business at Karachi and employed B as his commissioner at Calcutta instituted on 16th February 1915 in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sind at Karachi, a suit against B for an account and the recovery of whatever sum should be found due on the taking of such account. On STAY OF SUIT—contd.

10th March 1915, B instituted in the High Court at Calcutta the present suit against A for the recovery of Rs. 26,655 or in the alternative an account. Thereupon, A applied to have the present suit stayed pending the determination for his suit in the Karachi Court:—Held, that the only question that required consideration was whether the Karachi Court has jurisdiction to grant the reliefs claimed. The plaint in the Karachi suit sets out allegations that clearly gave jurisdiction to that Court to try the case. The present suit, must, therefore, be stayed till the determination of the suit at Karachi. PADANSEE NARAINJEE v LAKHAMSEE RAISEE (1915)

I L. R. 43 Calc. 144

STEAMSHIP COMPANY.See CARRIERS . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 718See RAILWAY COMPANY.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 6

STEP-BROTHER.See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 863

STEP-IN-AID OF EXECUTION.See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 245—14 C. W. N. 481See EXECUTION OF DECREE

4 Pat. L. J. 35

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH. II, ART. 179 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 68
14 C. W. N. 486See *LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—*s. 19 SCH. I, ART. 182, CL. 5
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 47

SCH. I, ART. 179 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 695

SCH. I, ART. 182

Proof of service of affidavit—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) O XXI, r. 21. The filing of an affidavit in proof of service of a notice of attachment under O XXI, r. 21 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, is a step in aid of execution. THAKUR SINGH v SHRO BHAIJAN SINGH . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 521

STEP IN THE PROCEEDINGS.See ARBITRATION . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 611STEP-MOTHER.See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 214

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 286

STEP-SISTER & SON.See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

16 C. W. N. 1094

STILL-HEAD DUTY.See ADMINISTRATION

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 653

STIPEND.See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s. 2 . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 199STOCK EXCHANGE.

Member—Expulsion, validity of—Interference by the Court. The rules

STOCK EXCHANGE—contd.

applicable to cases of expulsion of a member of the Stock Exchange are based on the principle that the committee empowered to expel a member must make a fair enquiry into the truth of the alleged facts, after giving notice to the member concerned that his conduct is about to be enquired into and giving him an opportunity of stating his case to them. Labouchere v Earl of Warwick 13 Ch. D. 316, Russell v Russell, 14 Ch. D. 471, Darlings v Antrobus, 17 Ch. D. 615, and Cassell v Ingles, [1916] 2 Ch. 211 referred to. In order to determine whether a tribunal, in the exercise of quasi-judicial powers, has given a decision which cannot be successfully challenged, the Court has to investigate whether they have observed the rules of natural justice and also the particular statutory or other rules, if any, prescribed for their guidance. Andrews v Mitchell [1905] A. C. 78, referred to. The rules of natural justice demand that a man is not to be removed from office or membership or otherwise dealt with to his disadvantage without having a fair and sufficient notice of what is alleged against him and an opportunity of making his defence, and that the decision whatever it is must be arrived at in good faith with a view to the common interest of the society or institution concerned. If these conditions are satisfied, a Court of Justice will not interfere with the decision. A broker and member of the Calcutta Stock Exchange Association failed to deliver certain shares within a specified time to the purchaser thereof. The Committee of the Association, to whom the conduct of the broker was reported, decided, after hearing both parties, at a meeting held for the purpose of dealing with the case, that the broker should deliver to the purchasers the shares within a period of time specified by the committee. Upon the broker failing to deliver the said shares, the committee to whom the matter was again reported, further decided that the membership of the broker had ceased and he was warned not to enter the rooms of the Association. Held, that the action of the committee could not be impugned on the ground that the committee really made a new contract between the parties and that the broker was expelled from the Association, not because of his failure to carry out the original contract but because of his failure to carry out the order of the committee. MAHOMED KALIMUDDIN v A. B. STEWART (1920) . . . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 623

STOLEN PROPERTY.See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 520

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 253

See SEARCH WITHOUT WARRANT

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 304

STOPPAGE IN TRANSITSee CONTRACT . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 831See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872)—

s. 4, 61, 103 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 235

s. 103 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 630

Ultimate destination of goods—Duration of transit—Pledge of bill of lading—Measure of damages—Sale of Goods Act (36 and 57 Vic, c. 71), ss. 45 and 47. The plaintiffs, a Bombay firm, imported hardware goods from M & Co. of Manchester for sale on commission, the business being carried on and financed in the following

STOPPAGE IN TRANSIT—cond

manner M & Co., on shipping the goods, handed over the complete shipping documents to B, and received from him an advance of 60 per cent of the invoice price. B then handed over the shipping documents to the National Bank of India in Laghail and himself received a similar advance by drawing on a credit opened with the Bank by the plaintiffs. The Bank then forwarded the shipping documents to India, where they were handed over to the plaintiffs in exchange for a trust receipt, the plaintiffs becoming responsible to the Bank for any short fall in the advances made to B. On 12th February 1907 M & Co. contracted to purchase from L & Co. 250 boxes of tin plates, delivery to be F O B. Newport in four or five weeks after date. On 26th February M & Co. wrote to L & Co. enclosing instructions and marks for shipment of the 250 boxes to Bombay, and on 2nd March requested them to forward the goods to W & Co. at Newport in time for shipment in S S "Clan Macleod" for Bombay. On 21st March L & Co. enclosed to M & Co. an invoice for 200 boxes and on 27th March another invoice for the remaining 50 boxes, the material part of the invoice in each case being "No claim concerning these goods can be recognized unless made within fifteen days from delivery to Messrs W & Co., Newport, for shipment on your account." The 250 boxes were put on board the steamer by W & Co. as the agents of L & Co., but in obtaining a bill of lading for 500 boxes (including the 250 in question) W & Co. acted as the agents of M & Co. The steamer left Newport on 4th April. Following the usual course of business as above described M & Co. handed over to B the shipping documents relating to the 500 boxes and obtained an advance of £235 5 2 (being 65 per cent of the invoice value). B, on the 6th April, obtained a similar advance from the Bank. On the same day M & Co. suspended payment, and on 9th April L & Co. as unpaid vendors of 250 boxes notified the steamship owners, the first defendants, to stop these goods in transit. The S S "Clan Macleod" arrived in Bombay on 13th May and the bill of lading which had been duly handed over by the Bank to the plaintiff on 29th April, was in due course presented by the latter. They were informed, however, of the stop put on the 250 boxes and were offered a delivery order for the remaining 250 alone. This they declined, refusing to accept anything but the full payment of the advance or the full amount of the goods. On 29th June the plaintiffs repaid the Bank the amount of the advance, and the trust receipt of 29th April was duly cancelled. On the plaintiffs subsequently suing the steamship owners and their agents for damages, Held, that the transit did not cease at Newport, and L & Co. were entitled to stop the goods after they had started for Bombay. Ex parte Golding Davis & Co., 13 CA D 628, followed. Held, further, that the plaintiffs were after 29th June—on which date they had fulfilled their obligations to the Bank,—pledgees for value of the bill of lading if indeed they did not occupy that position from 29th April, being transferees of the Bank's rights in respect of the advance as against the defendants. Held, further, that the plaintiffs were entitled to join both defendants in the suit. The utmost benefit which the defendants were entitled to obtain from the position of L & Co. as sureties (as to the plaintiffs for the advance made by the latter to M & Co.) was the right to the security of the 250 boxes which they were willing from the outset should be received by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs by refusing to take delivery of the 250 boxes had omitted to do an act which their duty to the surety required them to do, and to the extent to which that omission had resulted in loss, the surety was discharged. In re West in Bank, 5 B & Ad 817, discussed. BAFJI SONABET v THE CLAY LINE STEAMERS, LIMITED (1910)

STOPPAGE IN TRANSIT—cond

I. L. R. 34 Bom 640

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS BANKRUPTCY ORDINANCE

See BANKRUPTCY I. L. R. 40 Mad 591

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS ORDINANCE (III OF 1893)

See EVIDENCE L. R. 43 I. A 256

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS ORDINANCE (VI OF 1896)

ss 17, 22—

See LIMITATION L. R. 43 I. A. 113

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS ORDINANCE (XXI OF 1907)

ss 133, 136—

See LIMITATION L. R. 43 I. A. 113

STRANGER

purchase by—

See COURT SALE I. L. R. 36 Mad 194

See PATRY SALE I. L. R. 47 Calc 337

STREET.

See BOMBAY MUNICIPAL ACT—

ss. 296, 297 I. L. F. 36 Bom. 405

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 462

ss 297, 301 I. L. R. 43 Bom 181

See HIGHWAY

See LAND ACQUISITION

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 500, 504

right of municipality to—

See MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 6

vesting of—

See MUNICIPALITY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 669

STRIDHAN

See DAUGHTERS I. L. R. 34 Bom 510

See HINDU LAW—HUSBAND AND WIFE
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1036See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
I. L. R. 34 ALL 234
I. L. R. 36 Mad 116

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I. L. R. 34 Bom 335.

15 C. W. N. 283, 1036

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 863

I. L. R. 23 Calc. 493

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319

non-technical—

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 618

STRIDHAN—contd

Widow—Succession—
Escheat On the failure of her husband's heirs, the Stridhan of a widow would go to her blood relations in preference to the Crown. GANPAT RAMA v SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1920)
 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1106

Preferential heir—Husband's younger brother or son adopted by father after mother's death and after marrying a second wife. GUNAMANT DAS v DEVI PROSANGA ROY (1919)
 23 C. W. N. 1038

STRUCTURE (TEMPORARY).

See EASEMENT. I. L. R. 37 Mad. 527

STUDENT.

disqualified for cheating at examination—

See UNIVERSITY ACT, 1904
 I. L. R. 2 Lah. 197

SUB-DIVISIONAL MAGISTRATE.

powers of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss 106 and 32. I. L. R. 37 All. 230

subordination of—

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF
 I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1041

SUB-LEASE.

See BUSTEE LAND I. L. R. 41 Calc. 164

See NOTICE TO QUIT
 I. L. R. 48 Calc. 768

by a fazendar—

See FAZENDARI TENURE
 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 316

Permanent lease by a raiyat not holding at a fixed rate—Ejectment—Estoppel—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 49 (b), 85 Where a lease, purporting to be of a permanent character, is granted on the face of the document, by a raiyat (not being a raiyat holding at fixed rate) to an under raiyat, the lease is not operative as a permanent lease between the raiyat and the under raiyat. Such a lease is terminable in the manner provided by s. 49 (b) of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Where a lease, purporting to be of permanent character, is granted by a person, who, on the face of the document, professes to have a higher status than that of a raiyat (for example that of a tenure holder or a raiyat holding at a fixed rate), the grantee, when his title as a permanent lessee is challenged by his grantor, may invoke the aid of the doctrine of estoppel and plead that the grantor cannot be permitted to prove the falsity of the recitals in the document (on the faith of which he took the lease) so as to enable him to derogate from his grant. Damodar Bakhtacharjee v Nilmadhab Saha, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 771, referred to CHANDRA KANTA NATH v AMJAD ALI HAJI (1920)
 I. L. R. 48 Calc. 783

SUBMISSION.

See ARBITRATION.
 I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1020

See ARBITRATION ACT 1899
 s. 4. I. L. R. 42 All. 525

SUBMISSION—contd

by three persons to refer dispute to three arbitrators—

See ARBITRATION ACT (IX OF 1899)
 ss. 2, 5, 8, 9, 15 and 19
 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1

SUB-MORTGAGE.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 20
 I. L. R. 35 All. 405

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 90
 I. L. R. 34 All. 63

by sureties—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 702

suit by Sub-mortgagee—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 770

Sub mortgage by deposit by mortgagee of mortgage deed—Discharge of mortgage by mortgagor—Indemnity, deed of, by mortgagee to mortgagor—Preliminary decree on sub mortgage, appealed to Privy Council—Appeal dismissed for non prosecution—Application for order absolute when barred—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch II, Art 179—Payment of decree more than three years after, if covered by deed of indemnity The mortgagee of certain properties after having created an equitable sub mortgage by depositing the mortgage deeds with a firm S. K. C. accepted payment of his mortgage dues and by a deed, dated 23rd April 1904, released the mortgaged properties from all claims under the mortgage and covenanted to indemnify the mortgagor from all losses, damages, actions, claims, etc., in respect of the mortgage deeds or any money owing or due thereunder or otherwise howsoever or for any act done by him the mortgagee in respect of the mortgage deeds. The firm of S. K. C. recovered a preliminary mortgage decree inter alia against the mortgagor on their sub mortgage on 26th August 1905, against which the mortgagor appealed to the Privy Council. But before the appeal was ready for hearing, the mortgagor on 2nd February 1910 made payments to an assignee of the decree, who having acknowledged satisfaction, the appeal to the Privy Council was not further prosecuted and the appeal was dismissed for want of prosecution on 16th April 1910. The mortgagor on 9th September 1912 sued the mortgagee to recover the amount paid to the assignee of the decree on the basis of the deed of Indemnity. Held, that the decree of 26th August 1905 became unenforceable under Art 179 of Sch II of the Limitation Act of 1877 by proceedings commenced after 26th August 1909, and time did not run either from the date when the appeal to the Privy Council was dismissed for default or from the expiry of the six months given for redemption in the decree of 26th August 1905, but from 26th August 1905 the date of the decree. That the payment of the decree on 2nd February 1910 was voluntary in the sense that the mortgagor could not have been compelled by any proceeding founded upon the decree to make the payment. That in view of the wide terms of the deed of indemnity, the fact that the payment was voluntary did not preclude the mortgagor from demanding payment from the mortgagee of the amount which they paid to the decree-holder in order to

SUB MORTGAGE—contd

been created by the mortgages depositing the title deeds with the firm of K. C. SACHINDRA NATH ROY & MAHARAJ BANADUR SINGH (P.C.)
28 C W N 839

SUBSEQUENTLY ACQUIRED PROPERTY

See UNDISCHARGED BANKRUPT

I L R 47 Calc 861

SUB TENANCY

annulment of—

See NOTICE TO QUIT

I L R 48 Calc 768

SUB TENANT

claim by—

See POSSESSION I L R 47 Calc 907

SUBORDINATE COURT

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII of 189) & 14 I L R 39 Mad. 1045

jurisdiction of—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872) ss 69 AND "O" I L R 39 Mad. 795

SUBORDINATE JUDGE

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT (III of 1873) & 17

I L R 38 Mad. 531

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 39 Calc 774

jurisdiction of—

See WAKF I L R 43 Calc 487

SUBORDINATE OFFICERS

acts of, how far binding on Government—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII of 1863) & 1 I L R 38 Mad 997

SUBROGATION

See COMMON CARRIER LIABILITIES OF

I L R 28 Calc 28

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872) & 70

I L R 40 Bom 646

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) SCH

I, Art 120 I L R 45 Bom 597

See MORTGAGE—REDEMPTION

I L R 38 Mad 426

See MORTGAGE—SUBROGATION

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT & 60

13 C W N 261

Pr or mortgage—

Fraudulent suppression of by vendor If A purchases a property subject to three successive charges X, Y and Z with full knowledge of the existence and retains a portion of the purchase-money in his hands with a view to satisfy the mortgages Y and Z but subsequently discharges the security Z he cannot on satisfaction of the mortgage X use it as a shield against the mortgage Y. Biswanath Prasad v. Lal Sarnan Singh 6 C L J 134 and Horn v. Vogel 69 Missouri 499 followed. But where the purchaser found on enquiry that there were only two subsisting charges Y and Z to be satisfied but discovered after his purchase that there was a pr or charge X which was falsely described as satisfied in the mortgage instrument of Y (in a suit upon bond X) Held that from whatever point of view the case may be considered the purchaser was entitled to priority in respect of the payment made by him to satisfy the first mortgage X. Mohesh Lal v. Mohant Bawan Das 1 I R 9 Calc 261 L R 10 I A 60 followed. Held also, that the purchaser was not entitled to priority on the basis of the payment made by him to satisfy the second mortgage 1. HAR SHYAM CHOWDHURY v. SHYAM LAL SAHU (1915) I L R 43 Calc 69

SUBROGATION—contd

SUBSEQUENT MORTGAGE

See MORTGAGE I L R 28 Calc 69

SUBSEQUENT PROSECUTION AFTER ACQUITTAL

See ACQUITTAL I L R 37 Calc 601

SUB-SOIL RIGHTS

See LEASE CONSTRUCTION OF

I L R 45 Calc 87

SUBSTANTIAL LOSS

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I L R 37 Calc 407

SUBSTANTIAL QUESTION OF LAW

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

s. 100

I L R 42 ALL 178

s. 110

I L R 43 ALL 313

SUBSTITUTED SERVICE.

See SUMMONS, SERVICE OF

I L R 43 Calc. 447

Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O V, r 17 O IX r 13—Ex parte decree— Orig nal Court jurisdiction on of to set aside an ex parte decree while an appeal is pending—

See the meaning of— Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch II Art 164 and Act IX of 1908 Sch I Art 64— Knowledge of the decree The term residence is not identical with ownership. In O V r 9 and 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908 it means the place where a person eats, drinks and sleeps or where his family or servants eat, drink and sleep. Under O V r 17 a substituted service can be justified only when it is shown that proper efforts were made to find the defendant. Where a defendant was not found in his ancestral family house and there was no one present upon whom a summons could be served (a fact he was working in a different district and living there for some years) a substituted service by affixing a copy of the summons at the outer door of the family house was not justified under the law. An Original Court can entertain an application to set aside an ex parte decree though an appeal by the contesting defendants is pending in the Appellate Court. Sarat Chandra Dhal v. Damodar Manna 12 O W N 885 followed. The period of limitation under Art 164 of Sch I of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) runs from the date when the defendant has knowledge of the particular decree which is sought to be set aside. KUMUD NATH ROY CHOWDHURY v. JOTINDRA NATH CHOWDHURY (1911) I L R 28 Calc 394

SUBSTITUTION

See COURT FEE STAMPS.

I L R 47 Calc. 71

See PARTIES . I L R 45 Calc. 882

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I L R 38 Mad. 409

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XXI,
R. 16 6 Pat L J. 358

O XXI, r. 4 . I L R. 39 All 551

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

5 Pat L J 314

— Of Parties—Execution of decree—
Claim against deceased debtor decreed against alleged adopted son represented by deceased's widow as guardian—Adoption set aside before execution—Execution if may be had against widow A who had a claim against B, on B's death sued C, an infant alleged to be the adopted son of B & his widow D being appointed guardian ad litem of C, and obtained a decree. Before execution was taken out it was declared in a separate suit that C had not been validly adopted. A then applied for substitution of D in the place of C and for execution against D. Held, that D was not bound by the decree and it was not competent to execute the decree against D. ASHI BHUSAN DAS v. PELAHAM MONDOL (1913) . . . 18 C W N 173

— Patna High Court Rules, Chapter VI, r. 5—partition suit against benamidar—appeal against preliminary decree, whether beneficiaries entitled to prefer. An ex parte preliminary decree having been obtained in a partition suit the defendant, during the proceedings taken by the plaintiff to obtain a final decree filed a petition stating that he was only a benamidar for certain beneficial owners. The names of the alleged beneficial owners were substituted for the name of the benamidar and the latter presented a memorandum of appeal against the preliminary decree. The plaintiff objected on the ground that the alleged beneficiaries were not parties to the decree and that the benamidar was not a trustee within the meaning of Chapter VI, r. 5 of the Patna High Court Rules. Held that the benamidar had not been sued in his capacity of trustee within the meaning of r. 5, and that therefore the alleged beneficial owners were not entitled to prefer the appeal. GOBIND RAM v. BADEI NARAIN*

5 Pat L J 258

— Of heirs—Application for, after preliminary decree in mortgage suit made after 6 months of mortgagor's death—Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908), Or. XVII, r. 4 death of sole Defendant after passing of preliminary decree in a mortgage suit—Application for Substitution of Heirs—Appeal from order dismissing application for substitut on made after 6 months of the Defendant's death, whether to be treated as an appeal from an order or from a decree—Second appeal, if yes—Or. XXII r. 12, application for substitution after the passing of the preliminary decree, it belongs to the category of "proceedings in execution of a decree." B obtained a preliminary decree in a mortgage suit against T, and applied subsequently, more than six months after the death of T, for order absolute and for substitution of the heirs of T, which having been refused, an appeal was preferred. The appeal was dismissed and a second appeal was preferred to the High Court. Held, that the appeal to the lower Appellate Court was not an appeal from an order. The order against which the appeal was preferred was an order rejecting the application to make the mortgage decree absolute. That order had the effect of finally dismissing the mortgage suit and was a decree, and hence a second appeal lay to the High Court. Held further, that the suit had abated as the application for bringing the heirs of the deceased defendant on the record had not been made within six months from the date of his death. Mohar Bibi v. Yakub Ali, 11 C W N 156 (1906) and Amuddin v. Bohra Bhim Sen, I L R 40 All 293 (1918) referred to. An application following on a preliminary decree for sale is not an application for execution. Until the final decree is passed the proceedings following the preliminary decree in a mortgage suit must be looked on as a proceeding in a pending suit. Amlook Chand Parrel v. Sarat Chunder Mukherji, I L R 38 Calc. 913 (1911) and Munna Lal Parrel v. Sarat Chunder Mukherjee, I L R 42 Calc. 776 s. c. 19 C W N 561 (P C) (1914), followed. BRUTNATH JANA v. TARA CHAND JANA . . . 25 C. W. N. 595 — Of Property—Right of purchaser in court auction to substituted properties—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 2 (d), 8, 26, 44 and 52—Contract to the contrary in s. 36 of the Transfer of Property Act. After a decree for sale on a mortgage, the mortgagor who was in possession gave a lease of his properties to the first defendant for one year from July 1907 till July 1908 with a covenant for payment of the rent on 10th January 1908. In ignorance of this lease and the reservation of a rent the mortgage properties and the crops were brought to sale in November 1907 and plaintiff purchased the lands together with the crops thereon and the sale was confirmed in December 1907. The crops were harvested in January 1908 by the lessee. In a suit by the purchaser for the rent of the whole year from the mortgagor and his lessee. Held (a) that the purchase of the right title and interest of the mortgagor to the lands and of the standing crops thereon entitled the purchaser to receive the whole rent reserved which was the thing substituted by the mortgagor for the crops, (b) that ss. 8 and 36 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) were inapplicable as the purchase was in Court auction (c) that a stipulation to pay rent of a year's lease at particular date is a contract to the contrary within the meaning of s. 36 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), which enacts that the right to rent as between the transferor and the transferee ordinarily accrues from day to day, and (d) that the creation of a lease for one year after a suit and decree on mortgage is not affected by the doctrine of lis pendens enunciated in s. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) as such a lease is an ordinary incident of the lis pendens enjoyment of a mortgagor allowed to remain in possession. SUBBARAO v. SETHUPATHARAJU (1914) . . . I L R 39 Mad 283

SUBSTITUTION—contd

SUCCESSION

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901)—

R. 22

I L R 22 All 314

I L R 34 All 419, 638

I L R 37 All 65

I L R 38 All 187, 325

I L R 41 All 629

SUCCESSION—concl'd an abjuration of Hinduism for all purposes—Different sections of the Brahma Community—Practice A Hindu by becoming a Brahma does not necessarily cease to be a Hindu. Some thing further than the mere becoming a Brahma is necessary for a man to cut himself off from Hinduism. A declaration under the Special Marriage Act, 1872, cannot be taken as an abjuration for all purposes of Hinduism but is merely a statement for the purposes of the Act itself large the goods of JAYENDRA NATH ROY

28 C. W. N. 800

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865).

See WILL

I L R. 35 All 211

Legacy given of a specified uncertain event shall happen, no time being mentioned in the will for occurrence of that event—Construction of wills made in India by natives of India
A testator made certain legacies in his will in favour of his son N and directed that in the event of N dying after the death of the testator without marrying or if married, without lineal heir, his share should revert equally to his surviving sisters or their heirs. The testator died and N claimed to be entitled to the legacies absolutely. Held, that the restriction sought to be placed on N's inheritance by the said provision of the will was nugatory, and that N took an absolute interest in all property bequeathed to him under the will. In constructing a will made in India by a native of India, it must be kept in mind that such a will cannot be construed by reference to cases on wills contained in the English Law Reports. Nordenfalk Nath Sircar v Kamal
Basni Das, 1 L R 23 Cal 563, 1 L R 23 I A 18, 26, referred to. Nowroji Pundraj (Sirdar) v
Petryalai (1912). I L R. 37 Bom 644

§ 2—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), as 2, 331—Hindu, meaning of—Hindu convert to Christianity, the law applicable to estate of,
and—Pleadings—Adverse possession not set up in plaint if may be relied on. Where a Hindu was converted to Christianity and died as a Christian the law applicable to his estate is that laid down by the Indian Succession Act. Under s 2, the Act is of universal application and a party who claims to be exempt from its operation must show that he is specifically exempted. Degree v Pacotti, 1 L R 19 Bom 783, De Souza v Secretary of State, 12 B L R 423, followed. To come under the exception in s 331 it is not enough to show that the deceased was born a Hindu, but that at the date when the question in issue arises he professes any faith of Brahminical religion or of the religion of the Puranas. Degree v Pacotti, 1 L R 19 Bom
783, Jogendra Chandra Bose v Bhagwan Coomari, 1
Punjab Law Report 251, Bhagwan Koor v J C
Bose, 1 L R 31 Cal 11, Abraham v Abraham,
9 Moo I A. 199, In re Fathier, 7 Mad H C. R
121, Ponnamma v Dorasami, 1 L R 2 Mad 209
Administrator General v Anandachari, 1 L R
9 Mad 488, Tellis v Sallanika, 1 L R 10 Mad 69,
Bu Baij v Das Santok 1 L R 20 Bom 53, Hastings v Gonzalez, 1 L R 23 Bom 539 referred to. Francis Choral v Cabri Choral, 1 L R 31
Bom 25, Edith Mulery v George Alfred, 52 P W.
R 1907, distinguished. NEREN BALA DEBI v SITI
KANTA BASERTEE (1910). 15 C. W. N. 158

§ 2 and 331—Hindu convert to Christianity—Law governing succession—Absence of power to elect—Pardamishin—Undue influence.

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—concl'd.

Succession to the estate of a Hindu convert to Christianity who dies a Christian and intestate is governed by the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865) since the passing of that Act a person ceasing to be a Hindu cannot elect to continue to be governed by Hindu Law in matters of succession. Abraham v Abraham, 9 Moo, 1 A. 195, distinguished.
Deed executed by a parda nishin lady relinquishing, substantially without consideration, her right of succession to a share in the estate of a deceased person in favour of one who, or whose representative, had submitted the prepared document to her and obtained her signature, held to be invalid.
In such circumstances the onus on those relying on the deed is to prove by the strongest and most satisfactory evidence that the transaction was a real and bona fide one, and fully understood by the executant. Sajjad Hussain v Wazir Ali Khan, 1 L R, 31 All, 455, 1 L R, 33 I A, 156, applied.
Judgment of the High Court reversed. KAMAWATI
v DIONWAI SINGH I L R. 43 All 525

§ 3—

See HINDU LAW—WILL—

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 175

See WILL

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 327

§ 7, 9, 10—Domicile—Domicile of origin—Domicile of choice—Domicile of origin acquired from parents at birth—Domicile of choice acquired from residence and intention that residence should be permanent—Change of residence per se for an indefinite period does not effect domicile of choice—Domicile of choice discarded by intention to abandon accompanied by actual abandonment—Declarations of a party abandoning domicile, how far relevant—Domicile of origin reviving proprio vigore on abandonment of domicile of choice—Onus of proof. One P. P. a Native Christian was born in Goa of parents domiciled in Goa in Portuguese Territory.
In 1858 at the age of fourteen, he came out to Bombay and lived there uninterruptedly, with the exception of brief visits to Goa, till his death in June 1915, when he was seventy one years old.
In 1871, he married his first wife, the mother of the defendants Nos. 1 to 3 and on her death in 1901 married the plaintiff in 1903. During the whole of his mature life in Bombay he carried on a flourishing coach building business, providing himself with a house near his factory. From his conduct and declarations from time to time it appeared that he had settled in Bombay meaning it to be his fixed habitation. It also appeared that sometime after 1913, and shortly before his death he formed an intention of returning to Goa and end his days there. On the 26th July 1909, he made a will in Bombay whereby he gave a legacy of Rs 7 a month to the plaintiff, if she chose to live separate from the defendant No. 1, a legacy of Rs. 500 to the defendant No. 3, and the coach building factory to the defendant No. 4, the minor son of defendant
No. 1. He appointed defendant No. 1, the sole executor and residuary legatee. The entire moveable property belonging to him in his own right was valued by the plaintiff for Rs. 71,000, and by the defendant No. 1 for Rs. 19,000. The plaintiff disputed the will of her husband and contended that the deceased had Portuguese domicile at the time of his marriage with her in 1903, as well as at his death and that under the Portuguese law she was entitled to a moiety of the estate left by the deceased. The defendant No. 3 who supported the plaintiff contended that in 1871, when the deceased

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—contd— ss. 7, 9, 10—contd.

married his mother the deceased had a Portuguese domicile, and that he too became entitled to a share in the estate of the deceased under the Portuguese law. Held, (i) that at any time between 1865 when the deceased had attained majority and 1913, the deceased had acquired a domicile of choice in Bombay in substitution for the domicile of his origin in Goa, (ii) that in spite of the intention of the deceased to return to the domicile of his origin, the domicile of choice continued in law to exist at his death, as the intention was not accompanied by the actual abandonment of the domicile of choice, (iii) that the making of the will and all other matters governed by the Indian law of succession must be determined as though the deceased had all along, from the year 1865 to the time of his death, been a British subject domiciled in Bombay, (iv) that the claim put forward by the plaintiff or the defendant No. 3 was not maintainable as the devolution of the estate of the deceased was not governed by the law of Portugal. The domicile of origin is that which a person acquires at his birth from his parents and follows the domicile of his parents. It is not necessarily in itself local, that is to say, merely the place of birth. The domicile of origin once ascertained in law clings and adheres to the person until he chooses to divest himself of it by substituting a domicile of choice for the domicile of origin. The domicile of choice is acquired by a combination of fact with intention. The fact is residence and the intention is that the residence should be permanent. The domicile of choice can be discarded as easily as it can be acquired by a fact and an intention, namely, the fact of abandoning the residence accompanied by the intention that that abandonment shall be final, and that upon any such mere abandonment of one domicile of choice without the acquisition of another, the domicile of origin revives proprio vigore and without the need of any further act or intention on the part of the person. The law leans very strongly in favour of the retention of the domicile of origin. Where there are no declarations of intention either way, the Courts would be slow to infer from the mere fact of residence however protracted that residence may be, the intention requisite to complete the substitution of domicile of choice for that of origin. The onus being upon the person alleging that a man has acquired a domicile of choice, he must prove to the Court that that man had that intention. A man having acquired a domicile of choice may after many years decide to abandon his domicile of choice and again accept his domicile of origin. But if with that intention clear in his mind he should fail actually to abandon his domicile of choice and die before thus far giving effect to his intention the result would be that the domicile of choice would persist and the distribution of his estate would be governed by it. The law of domicile in the Courts of England from the case of Druce v. Druce, 2 Bos. & P. 229, footnote, to that of Huntly v. Gaskill, [1896] A. C. 56, considered SANTOS v. PINTO (1916). I. L. R. 41 Bom. 687.

— ss. 48, 49, 50—

See PROBATE. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 249

— s. 50—

Will signed by some other person in the presence and by the direction of the testator Probate granted of a will signed by some other person than the testator in his presence and by his direction. Per MACLEOD, C. J. :—"It does not matter whether there are other words written by that person so long as those words do not destroy the effect of the signature, so as to make it appear that the name of the person signing is not to be taken as a signature intended to give effect to the writing as a will." TRENES v. FRANCIS MISQUITA (1920).

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—contd— s. 50—contd

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 989

Attestation, if must be as to same fact, e.g., execution or acknowledgment—Execution—Guiding the hand of executant in fixing mark It is not necessary that each of the attesting witnesses to a will should prove the same facts. One witness who saw the testator sign the will and another before whom the execution of the will was only acknowledged by the testator may both be good attesting witnesses to the same will. Where, on the evidence, it appeared that a will had been drawn up in accordance with the wishes of the testatrix as expressed during her lifetime before reliable witnesses, that it was read over to her when she was in possession of her senses, and then being asked by one S, whether he would sign the will for her, nodded her assent, whereupon S guided her finger to make the mark and then put down the testatrix's name under the mark by his own pen. Held, that the will was executed by the testatrix as required by s. 50 of the Succession Act. That as the execution of the will was complete the moment the mark was made, S became an attesting witness when he wrote his own name after the testatrix. MUKTANATH ROY CHOWDHURY v. JITENDRA NATH ROY CHOWDHURY (1915). 19 C. W. N. 1295.

— Execution of will, what is proper—Attestation—Indian mode of signature—Presence of the witnesses at the same time and attestation of identical state of things, if necessary. S. 50 of the Indian Succession Act differing from s. 9 of the English Act expressly provides that it is not necessary for both attesting witnesses to be present at the same time. The English system of executing the document at the foot does not usually obtain amongst Indians. Their custom is to execute the document at the top. Ordinarily the signature of the executant appears at the top right hand corner and when he executes the document himself and not by an attorney, he is accustomed to write "by my own pen." Where in a will written on four sheets of papers the signature of the executant appeared at the top left-hand corner of the first page as being made by his own pen, but his signature only on the next two pages, and his signature with date on the last page, and the signatures of all four attesting witnesses appeared alongside the signature of the executant on the first page and on each of the other three pages appeared the signatures of two of these four persons: Held, that the operative signature was the one on the first page and as on the evidence it appeared that at least two of the witnesses whose names appeared on that page subscribed their names animo attestandi, the will was properly executed as required by s. 50 of the Succession Act. Where the testator after having executed the will in the presence of one attesting witness took it successively to the houses of two other attesting witnesses who on his acknowledgment of his signature attested the document Held, that there was valid attestation by all three witnesses within s. 50 of the Succession Act SARITHI THAKURIAN v F A SAVI (1915)

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—*contd.*s. 50—contd.

19 C. W. N. 1297

Will of a marksman—

Mark not affixed by the testator himself but by another not a due execution—Absence of two attesting witnesses besides the person affixing the mark, not a due attestation Where with a view to execute a will the testator, who was a marksman, touched the pen and gave it to another who affixed to the will a mark and wrote against it the testator's name and added beneath it his own name as the person who affixed the mark, and the will did not contain attestations of two other persons besides that of the person so affixing the mark Held, that the will was invalid as not complying with the provisions of s. 50 of the Indian Succession Act As a marked will it was invalid, as the mark was not affixed by the testator himself, as required by the section Considered as a signed will as it might be, it was equally invalid as the testator's signature was put by another and there were not two other attestors besides the one so signing RADHAKRISHNA v SUBRAYA (1916) . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 550

s. 57—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I L. R. 38 Mad. 369

Will, revocation of—Tearing When a testator sent for his will, wrote the word "cancelled" thereon and signed in and according to his attorney's direction tore it partially Held, that this showed the intention of the testator to revoke the will and the partial tearing constituted a sufficient revocation of the will within the meaning of s. 57 of the Indian Succession Act Elms v Elms, 1 Sw. & Tr 155, distinguished. Babb v Thomas, 2 W Bl. 1043, referred to. JOHN LAL DEY v DHIRENDRA NATH DEY (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 304

ss 62, 67, 68, 69—

See WILL . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom 1

ss 82, 187—*Will—Request to widow, how to be construed—*S. 187 of the Succession Act does not debar a defendant from relying on a will in respect of which no Probate or Letters of Administration have been taken out, as he is not seeking to establish a right as executor or legatee. In a case to which the Hindu Wills Act applied, a testator made a bequest to his widow in the following terms:—'I give all the remaining properties of every sort which fell to my share to my wife Andala. Therefore, the aforesaid Andala herself should enjoy all the remaining property a'.—Held, on the construction of the will, that the widow took only a limited estate. The operation of the ordinary rule of Hindu Law that a bequest to a wife, without words creating an absolute estate, conferred only a limited interest, was excluded by s. 82 of the Succession Act. The fact that the donee was a widow, the absence of words of inheritance, and of words conferring powers of alienation were not sufficient to show that she took only a restricted

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—*contd.*ss 82, 187—contd.

ed interest. These circumstances however, coupled with the recital in the will that she should "enjoy" the estate, indicated the intention of the testator that she should have no powers of alienation. CABALAPATHI CHUNNA CHUNJAH v COTA NAMMALWARAH (1909) . . . I L. R. 33 Mad. 91

s. 84—

See WILL . . . I L. R. 35 All. 211

ss 83, 98, 100 to 102—

See HINDU LAW—WILL—

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 189

s. 91—

See INDIAN SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865) s 187 . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 474

ss. 98, 100 to 102—

See HINDU LAW—WILL—

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 189

s 99—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 29 Calc. 87

s 101—

See HINDU LAW—WILL 23 C. W. N. 526

ss. 101, 102, 111 and 126—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 446

ss 101, 107—

See WILL . . . I L. R. 46 Calc. 485

ss 105, 159—

See WILL . . . I L. R. 40 Calc. 192

s 107, Part XV—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I L. R. 41 Calc. 642

ss 107, 111—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 432

s. 111—

See HINDU LAW—SINDHAN 23 C. W. N. 1038See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I L. R. 2 Lah. 175

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

See WILL . . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 296

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 327

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 181

s. 118—

See WILL . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 192

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1038

ss 130, 131—

See s. 160 . . . 24 C. W. N. 592

s. 159—

See WILL . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 192

ss. 160, 130-134—Grant of an annual sum payable out of profits of specified property, whether annuity—Grant made of part of property allotted to legatee—Interest on arrears of unpaid legacy chargeable against colegate. The aggregation of any particular property out of which the amount is made payable by the Will is a common but not the only mode of indicating an intention to make an annuity perpetual. The Will may indicate an intention in other ways that the sum payable is really not an annuity or at any rate is intended to be perpetual. Where the Will made a sum payable to one of the sons of the testator out of the profits of immovable property allotted to another with a view to equalising their shares. Held—That the amount was not intended to be an annuity and was not limited to the life of the legatees but formed part of the properties allotted to him and was absolute and perpetual. Where on the death of the legatee the payment of the amount was stopped in a suit by his heirs for recovery of arrears thereon, interest at 12 per cent was properly awarded by the Court. s 130 to 131 of the Succession Act, which relate to interest on annuities or legacies payable by the executor not applying to the case. PAYOHU GOPAL MUKERJEE v. KALIDAS MUKERJEE 21 C. W. N. 592

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1885)—contd.— s 160, 130-134—contd.

— s 164—

See DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION

I L. R. 37 Bom. 211

— s 187—

See s. 82

I L. R. 33 Mad. 91

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL

I L. R. 37 Cal. 839

See WILL

I L. R. 38 Cal. 327

1 ——— Hindu Wills Act (XXI *of 1870) s 2 and 5—Indian Succession Act (X of 1885) s 187—Administrator General's Act (II of 1874) s. 36—Will made in Bombay—Property worth less than Rs 1000—Probate—Administrator General's certificate. A will made in Bombay is subject to the provisions of the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) and a person claiming as a legatee under the will is not entitled to sue without taking out probate as he would be bound by s 187 of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1885) which is incorporated in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870). The provision of the Administrator General's Act (II of 1874) is not affected by the incorporation in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) of s 187 of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1885). NARAYAN SHRIDHAR v. PANDURANG BAPUJI (1910)*

I L. R. 34 Bom. 506

2 ——— Scope of—Es- *tablishment without probate of legatee's right—s 91—Legacy, vesting of—Executor's assent—Acceptance by legatee, necessity of—Disclaimer by legatee. Where on appeal in a partition suit it was contended by the first defendant that the first plaintiff had no title to sue in ejectment as under a will of her mother which was not proved up to the date of the trial, such property vested in the second and third plaintiffs: Held, that s 187 not only affects the establishment of the right to a legacy by legatee himself or some person claiming under him, but also debars a person who desires to establish the legatee's right merely as a ius tertii for the purpose of his defence. The estate vested in a legatee under s 91 of the Act is not full or absolute, but it refers only to an interest in the legacy and not the legacy itself. Until the executor has given his assent to the legacy, the legatee has only an inchoate right to it. Backman v. Backman, 1 L. P. 6 All. 553, and Dox v. Guy 3, East 100, s c, 102 E. R.*

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1885)—contd.— s 187—contd.

513, followed. A legacy vested in the legatee under s 91 of the Act is divested by his disclaimer. The rule of English law that no legacy can vest in the legatee against his will may legitimately be adopted in deciding questions under the Indian law. In re Hotley Frele v. Calorady 32 CA 423, referred to. LAKSHMANNA v. PATNAMMA (1913) I L. R. 38 Mad. 474

3 ——— Conditional order *of Judge for grant of Probate—Non issue of Probate owing to non payment of Court fees—Heir of legatee, same as legatee—Probate or Letters of Administration alone evidence of right under s 187. A Hindu executing a will in the town of Madras made a bequest in favour of his son. After the death of the father, the son died leaving his mother the plaintiff, as his heir. On the application of the executor (defendant) for a Probate the fiat of the Judge was obtained but there was no actual order for the issue of the Probate and the Probate was not issued owing to the failure of the executor to pay the requisite court fees for the same. In a suit by the testator's widow as mother of his deceased son for an order of the Court directing the defendant to apply for probate of the will and for of the estate: Held (a) for the purpose of s 187 of the Indian Succession Act which governed the case, the plaintiff, though only an heir of a legatee was in the position of a legatee, (b) that the fiat of the Judge for grant of Probate was only conditional and was not equivalent to an actual grant of the Probate within the meaning of s 187 (c) that in the absence of a grant of Probate or Letters of Administration which was the only proof of right allowed by the section the plaintiff was debarred from claiming any rights flowing from the will and (d) that the mere production, proof and exhibition of the will as an ordinary exhibit in the case, were not equivalent to proof of the right by the product on of the Probate or the Letters of Administration as required by the section. Lakshmanamma v. Ratnamma I L. P. 38 Mad. 474, followed. Mungunram Marwari v. Gursahai Aand I L. R. 17 Cal. 317 distinguished. ALAMELAKMAL v. SRIYAPRAKASARAYA MUDALIAR (1915) I L. R. 35 Mad. 933*

— s 190

See RECEIVER

I L. R. 37 Cal. 754

*Letters of administration obtained by plaintiff after suit filed but before hearing and decree—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1889) s. 130—Order to banker to pay money held to the credit of customer, effect of when acted on—Stamp Act (II of 1899) s. 36—Resulting trust. One W had a deposit of Rs. 10,500 in a bank under a deposit receipt which fell due on the 7th of August 1912. W had a grand nephew H, to whom he wished to transfer the money, meaning that H should have the benefit of the money, but not intending that he should be able to make away with the money in W's life-time or to draw the interest without making due provision for W's maintenance. On the 8th of August 1912, W handed to H his deposit receipt duly endorsed and a letter to the following effect:—I hereby state that I have found my Bank Receipt. Herewith I am forwarding the same for the interest now due. I want it to be handed over to my nephew. I also wish you to hand over the amount of Rs. 10,500 which is a fixed deposit to my nephew, *Wilmot Charles

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—*contd*s. 190—contd

Harrison, to his account" H took these documents to the bank and asked for and obtained a new deposit receipt for Rs 10,000, the balance of Rs. 500 in cash and Rs 420 in cash by way of interest. On the 18th of October 1912, W died. On the 5th of August 1913, G, a grand niece of W, filed a suit against H as administratrix of the estate of W, claiming that the sum deposited with the bank, in the plaintiff stated to be Rs 10,000, formed part of the estate of W and that the plaintiff, as administratrix of his estate, was entitled to the same. At the date of the filing of the suit G had not obtained Letters of Administration to W's estate but did obtain them before the hearing of the suit. Held, that the plaintiff was defective in that it did not show that the plaintiff had obtained Letters of Administration and should on that account have been rejected on presentation, but that as the plaintiff had obtained Letters of Administration before the hearing and the hearing had been allowed to proceed, a decree passed in favour of the plaintiff was not contrary to s. 190 of the Indian Succession Act. Held, further, that where money mentioned in a deposit receipt was immediately payable and the receipt was presented duly endorsed together with an order to pay a given individual, that individual became the owner of the money upon payment by the banker or upon his promise to hold the money at the disposal of the payee, that an order on a banker to pay money which he held to the credit of a customer was not an assignment of a debt, but an authority to deliver property, which, if acted on, was equivalent to delivery by the customer, and that the letter of the 8th of August 1912 was such an order and had been acted on and though had an objection been taken at the hearing before the lower Court it might have been rejected for want of a stamp that such an objection could not be taken on appeal, the latter being on record. Held, further, that the intention of the donor, W, to benefit negatived the idea of any resulting trust in his favour. SETHNA v HENRICOWAY (1914) I. L. R. 38 Bom. 618 ss. 190, 191 and 239—Act VII of 1901—Grant of letters does not vest property of deceased in the administrator as from the date of death—Heirs of intestate Native Christian entitled to deal with their shares until grant of letters. The effect of s. 191 of the Indian Succession Act is not to vest the property of the deceased in the administrator as from the date of death. Subsequent to the passing of Act VII of 1901, which made ss. 190 and 239 of the Succession Act inapplicable to Native Christians, the heirs of intestate Native Christians have the power to deal with their shares in the property of the deceased until the grant of administration and their transactions in respect of such shares will not be made invalid by the subsequent grant. The property of the deceased vests in the administrator only at the time of the grant, though for certain purposes the grant may relate back to the death of the deceased. ANTONY CATE GOSWOLVES v MARIS BOOPALRAYAN (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 385

s. 191—

See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN BY TRUSTS. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 341

s. 244—Civil Procedure Code, 1908,

s. 2—Will—Probate—Application for probate dismissed—"Decree"—"Order"—"Appel"Held,SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)—*concld*s. 244—contd.

that the order of the District Judge granting or refusing probate of a will on an application made under the provisions of s. 244 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, is a 'decree' within the meaning of s. 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and appealable as such. Held, also, that the court fee payable on such an appeal is Rs 10 under Art 17, Cl (vi) of the second schedule to the Court Fees Act, 1870. Umrao Chand v Bindroban Chand, I. L. R. 17 All. 475, Ecof Hashim Dooply v Fatima Bibi, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 30 and Sheikh Azim v Chandra Nath Namdas & Co W A 748, MOUNT STEPHENS v GARNETT ORME (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All 448

—s. 250—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s. 81—Will—Probate—Caveator—Interest possessed by the caveator. The provisions of s. 81 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881 (which correspond with those of s. 250 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865), enact that the interest which entitles a person to put in a caveat must be an interest in the estate of the deceased person, that is, there should be no dispute whatever as to the title of the deceased to the estate, but that the person who wishes to come in as the caveator must show some interest in the estate derived from the deceased by inheritance or otherwise. Abhiram Dass v Gopal Dass, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 48 followed. PIROJSHAH BHAIJI v PESTONJI MEHWANI (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 439

—ss. 264B and 239—Administrators—Directions—District Court cannot but High Court can give directions. A District Court has no power to give directions to an administrator in regard to the estate, when Letters of Administration have already been granted. The power vests in the High Court by virtue of s. 264B of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865). WIKRON v WIKRON (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 682

ss. 311, 312—

See WILL. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 201

s. 331—

See s. 2. I. L. R. 43 All 825

See SUCCESSION

26 C. W. N. 800

s. 332—Aboriginal rules in Chota Nagpur—Inheritance—Law applicable—Special notification under s. 332 issued at the appellate stage, whether has retrospective effect. Notification, dated 2nd May 1913, issued by the Government of India under s. 332 of the Indian Succession Act at the appellate stage of a case did not apply where there had already been a decision of a competent court regarding the rights of parties. In the case of codified law the ordinary practice of the legislature is to make special provision when it thinks fit to do so for the saving of custom usage and ordinary rights. There is no authority that, after customary law has been stereotyped in the form of a statute which contains no provision saving custom, it is open to a Court to give effect to custom, much less to a custom inconsistent with the statute. As the Indian Succession Act contains no clause saving custom, the Courts are not competent to accept custom as a reason for deviating from the provisions of the Act. TESI CHARY v LAKA ORAON (1916)

20 C. W. N. 1082

1 Pat. L. J. 225

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908),
SCH I ART 62 I L R 37 All 434

See RECEIVER I L R 37 Cal 754

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)

— assignee suing on an assignment by heir of debt due to deceased—

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT 1889,
ss 4 AND 6 I L R 42 All 549

— certificate granted ex parte without service of notice on opposite party—

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT 1889
s 19 I L R. 42 All 512

1 — Assignee of deceased a representative, whether certificate may be granted to—
A succession certificate may be granted to the assignee of the representative of a deceased person RAMCHARITR SAHU v RAM NARAYAN
SAHU 2 Pat L J 350

2. — Possession of property by Receiver without Succession Certificate—Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), ss 4, 8, cl (c)—Indian Securities Act (XIII of 1886) s 3, sub-s (2), s 6 sub s (1) In the absence of any provision in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) and in the Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881) 'that no right to the property of an intestate can be established unless administration had been previously granted by a competent Court, the Receiver appointed by Court is competent to take possession of the securities and moneys without a certificate under s 4 of the Succession Certificate Act but regard being had to the provisions of the Indian Securities Act, 1886, and s 3 sub-s (2) s 6 sub-s (1) cl (f) and s 8, cl (c) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), a Succession Certificate would be needed if a suit was brought to establish a title to such funds by right of inheritance HARISHAR MUKHERJI v HARENDRA NATH MUKHERJI (1910)

I L R. 37 Cal 754

3 — Mitakhsa a Low-Impartible
Estate—Arrears of rent converted to a bond—Debt due to last holder of impartible estate if effects of the deceased 'in the hands of the successor—Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), s 4 Wherein lieu of arrears of rent a bond was given to the holder of an impartible estate Held, that the debt due is not in the hands of the successor to the estate a part of the effects of the deceased within the meaning of s 4 of the Succession Certificate Act but is in its nature, a family debt accruing to him by right of survivorship. Jagmohandas Kdaghaj v Allu Maria Duskul, I L R 18 Bom.
335, Beejraj v Bhyroperawad, I L R 23 Cal 912, Bhosa Chand Dudhura Bahadur v Chattrapat Sing,
1 C W N 32 Kalama Hatcher v The Rajah of Shivagunga 9 Moo I A 539 2 W R P C 31,
Siree Rajah Yanumula Venkayamah v Siree Rajah Yanumula Boochia Yankondora 13 Moo. I A 333, referred to GUR PERASH SINGH v DHANI RAI
(1910) I L R. 38 Cal 162

4 — Debt — Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889) s 4—'Debt' meaning of—Part of debt, if certificate can be granted in respect of—Appeal A certificate under the Succession Certificate Act can be granted in respect

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE—contd of a part only of a debt due to the deceased. The word 'debt' is a comprehensive term, which should receive a liberal construction Re Chawsham Das, (1893) All W N 84, and Mohamed Abdul Hossain v Sarayan, 16 C W N 231, approved and followed. Albar Khan v Bilkisara Begam, (1901) All W N 125, considered.

Bibee Boodhun v Jan Khan, 13 W R 265, Muhammed Ali Khan v Paltan Bibi, I L R 19 All 129, Dumaila Begam v Tawussul Hussain, I L R
32 All 335, and Ghafur Khan v Kalandari Begam,
I L R 33 All 327, not followed. ANNAPURNA
DASEN v NALINI MOHAN DAS (1914)

I L R. 42 Cal. 10

5 — Sui damnum for non-production of the certificate—Certificate, if may be filed in Appellate Court See MOORADSHAH ROY CROWDERY v MOHINI MOHAN KAR (1915)

19 C. W. N. 794

6 — Certificate refused —Matters to be proved to entitle applicant to a certificate A Government promissory note payable to one Madho Sahai was assigned by a registered deed by the legal representative of Mahdho Sahai to one Radhika Prasad. Upon the assignee applying for a certificate of succession in respect of this note, it was refused on this ground that it was not established that the assignor had himself a good and subsisting title to the note Held, that whether the assignor of the applicant had a valid title or not or whether the assignment conveyed any title to the applicant, or whether the debt secured by the promissory note was recoverable or not, were not matters which the court had to determine upon an application for a certificate
The only question which the court had to decide was whether the applicant was the representative of the person to whom the debt was alleged to have been due RADHIKA PRASAD BAPUDI v
SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916)

I L R. 38 All 438

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH I,
ART 182, cl. (5)

I L R. 37 Bom 559

— Preference as regards the granting of a certificate—Childless widowed daughter—Sons of a deceased daughter The parties were governed by the Hindu law of the Dayabhaga School and the question was whether preference was to be given as regards the granting of a certificate for the collection of certain debts due to the father to a widowed childless daughter or to the sons of a deceased daughter Held that the latter were to be preferred According to the Dayabhaga a widowed childless daughter would be no heir to her father Sreemutty Bimola v Dangoo Kansaree 19 W R C R, 189, not followed
Benode Koomaree Dabee v Purdhan Gopal Sahoe
2 W R C R 175 *Radha Kishen Manghee v
Rajah Ram Mundal* 6 W R C R, 147, and *Mokunda Lal Chakravarti v Monmohini
Dey* 19 C W N, 412, referred to SRINATH
PRAWALA DEVI v CHANDRA SREEKHAR CHATTERJEE
I L R. 43 All. 450

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

Certificate of succession

Joint certificate not illegal if granted with the consent of the grantees Held, that the grant of a joint certificate under the provisions of the Succession Certificate Act, 1889, is not illegal, provided that the persons to whom such certificate is granted all consent to its being granted in this form RAM RAJ v BAL NATH (1913) I L R 35 All 470

A Succession certificate can be granted to a minor KRISHNAMA CHARLU v VENKAMMAH

I L R 36 Mad. 215

Necessity of a certificate in case of a son belonging to a Mitakshara family—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) sec 22—Addition of Plaintiffs after period of limitation, if a sufficient ground for throwing out the suit as barred without any finding as to whether the added Plaintiffs were necessary parties In the case of a family governed by the Mitakshara law a son can maintain a suit for debts owing to his late father without a succession certificate under Act VII of 1889. A finding that some of the plaintiffs were made parties after the period of son can maintain a suit for debts owing to his limitation is not sufficient to hold the suit barred. There may be circumstances in which addition of parties subsequently brought on the record may not be essential and therefore there should be a finding as to whether the added parties are necessary SITAL PROSHAD PODDAR v KAIFUT SHEIKH 26 C W. N 488 ss 2, 4—Certificate not to be given for collection of part only of a debt—Debt in part irrecoverable—Mahomedan law—Dower Held, that no certificate could be granted to one of the heirs of a Mahomedan lady, who had died leaving her dower debt unrealized for collection merely of a part of the dower debt of the deceased. Muhammad Ali Khan v Pullan Bibi I L R 19 All 129, and Dismillah Begum v Tawarai Hussain I L R 32 All 335, followed. Shah Des v Dew Prasad I L R 16 All 21, and Akbar Khan v, Biksara Begum, All Weekly Notes (1901) 115, referred to. GHAJUR KHAN v KALANDARI BEGAM (1910) I L R 33 All 327

s 4—

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE.

I L R 33 Calc 182
I L R 42 Calc 10

1.—When certificate not necessary—Right to institute suits although no certificate has been obtained S 4 of the Succession Certificate Act 1889, is no bar to the institution of suits for arrears of rent due to a deceased person although the plaintiff has not obtained a succession certificate and has omitted to file probate papers. But in such a suit no decree can be passed until the succession certificate has been obtained or the probate papers filed. The Court should give the plaintiff time to do this ALICE THORP v SHEIKH SAMATULLAH 3 Pat L J 160

2.—Act No IX of 1908 (Indian Limitation Act) s 18—Suits against person wrongfully collecting debt due to estate of

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s 4—contd

deceased person—No succession certificate necessary—Fraudulent concealment—Limitation No succession certificate is necessary where what the plaintiff is claiming is not a debt due to a deceased person, but money which having been due to the deceased, has been wrongfully appropriated after his death by a third party. A mortgage was executed on the 18th of November 1891, in favour of S A and H. H died in 1892 and on the 30th of July 1910 S, and A brought a suit for sale. To this suit they impleaded as defendant H, a widow G, and an alleged adopted son B. They afterwards applied to be made plaintiffs and this was done. This suit was dismissed on the 23rd of November 1911, upon the ground that the whole of the mortgage debt had already been paid to S. With three years of the dismissal of that suit G, sued S to recover from him one half of the mortgage money paid to him as being the share due to the estate of her husband. Held that s 13 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, applied and the suit was within time. The defendant had not only concealed from the plaintiff the fact of his having collected the mortgage debt, but had brought the suit of 1910 which must have been false to his knowledge, to cover his tracks. SAHIB RAM v MURAMMAT GOVINDI I L R 43 All 400

3.—Muhammadan law—Dower—Husband and wife both dead—Claim by heir of wife against heir of husband for proportionate share of dower debt due by defendant No succession certificate is necessary where the suit is by one of the heirs of the wife to recover from one of the heirs of the husband the proportionate share of the wife's dower the liability to pay which had devolved upon the defendant according to her share by inheritance in the property of the husband. Ghajur Khan v Kalandari Begam I L R 33 All 327, distinguished. SHADI JAN v WARIS ALI I L R 43 All 498

4.—Reversionary heirs—If may apply for succession on Hindu widow's death—Debts accrued due during widow's life time—Government promissory notes of which certificate had been taken out by the widow—Certificate if necessary The right of the reversionary heirs of a deceased Hindu to take out succession certificate in respect of debts due to the estate of the deceased is not affected by the interposition of the estate of the widow and the Court cannot reject an application for succession certificate by such heirs merely on the ground of the deceased having died long ago. A sum of money awarded in a case under the Land Acquisition Act after the death of the owner and kept in deposit under s 32 of the Act, arrears of rent for non agricultural lands belonging to the estate, and a Government promissory note standing in the name of the widow as the certificated holder of her husband's estate were all debts for which it was necessary for the reversionary heirs to take out succession certificate. Bancharam Mondkar v Adyanath Bhattacharye, 13 C B N 965 s.c. I L R 36 Cal. 936, distinguished. ANIRAS CHANDRA PAUL v PROSODH CHANDRA PAUL (1911) 15 C. W. N 1018

5.—Deferred Dower—suit by one of several heirs for a portion of her share—Certificate

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s 4—contd

for a portion, if may be granted—Heirs' claims of joint or several—Severance of debt Where one of several heirs of a deceased Mahomedan lady sued her husband for a portion of the share of the deferred dower due by the defendant to the deceased, relinquishing the balance Held, that an application by the plaintiff for succession certificate in respect of the amount claimed by her in the suit was properly granted S 4 of the Succession Certificate Act does not require that the certificate should cover the whole of the debt, if the heirs do not see to realise the whole Ghaffar Khan v Kalandari Begum, I L R 33 All 327 dissented from In respect of deferred dower, each of the heirs of the deceased has a distinct right enforceable by himself though all may jointly sue and it is open to each to relinquish a portion of the claim The defendant husband being moreover one of the heirs, the debt, assuming it to be joint, is severed, and a certificate cannot in consequence be granted for the whole debt ABDUL HOSSEIN v SARIFAN (1911) 16 C W N 231

8 — Assignment—Succession certificate—Assignment of debt covered by certificate—Certificate also made over to assignee—Rights of assignee The widow of a separated Hindu obtained a certificate of succession for the collection of a debt due to her deceased husband. She assigned the debt and also handed over the succession certificate to the assignee Held, that the assignee were competent to sue and get a decree for the debt The widow could undoubtedly assign the debt, and it was not necessary, even if it were possible, for the assignee to obtain cancellation of the certificate granted to the widow and the issue of a fresh certificate in their favour Karuppanami v Pichay, I L R 16 Mad 419, distinguished. Allohdad Khan v Sant Ram, I L R 35 All 74 not followed, Durga Kunwar v Matu Mal, I L R 35 All 311, referred to. RAO LAL v ANNU LAL (1913) 1 L R 36 All 21

7. — Joint interest—Application for certificate—Applicant assigning himself to be joint with deceased and entitled to his estate by survivorship Where an applicant for a succession certificate stated in his application that he was a member of a joint Hindu family with the deceased to whose estate he had succeeded by survivorship Held, that a succession certificate was unnecessary and the application must fail. MATHURA PRASAD v DURGAWATI (1914) 1 L R 36 All 589

8. — Debt, part of certificate in respect of, if may be granted—Multiplicity of debts A certificate under Act VII of 1889 (Succession Certificate Act) can be granted in respect of a portion of a debt The principle of law, which prohibits a multiplicity of suits, is in no way affected by the grant of certificates in respect of fractional shares of a debt. Dibee Boodhun v Jan Khan, 13 W R 265, Muhammad Ali Khan v. Putan Bidi, I L R 19 All 129, Bismilla Begum v Tawakul Hussain I L R 32 All 335 Ghaffar Khan v Kalandari Begum, I L R 33 All 327 Albair Khan v Bilkisara Begum All W. N. for 1901 125, In the matter of the petition of Ghanabham Das. All W. N. for 1923, 84, Mohammed Abdul Hossein v Sarifan, 16 C. N. 231, referred to. ANANTYK V DABBY V. NALIST MOHAN DAS (1914)

18 C W. N. 836

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s 4—contd

9 — Letters of administration—Assignment of debt by holder of letters of administration—Debt covered by certificate—Rights of assignee A decree for possession of certain property and for mesne profits was passed in favour of A and his wife The wife died after the date of the decree A obtained letters of administration in respect of the estate of his wife and then transferred his own rights under the decree, as also those of his wife to H H applied for execution of the decree The judgment-debtors objected, inter alia, that the decree could not be executed without letters of administration or a succession certificate being obtained by transferee Held, that H could execute the decree without taking out fresh letters of administration. PER WAZIR I A person claiming as assignee of a debt which was due to the estate of a deceased person is not claiming "the effect of the deceased" from the date of assignment the debt due to the deceased ceases to be part of the deceased's effect The claim contemplated by sub-a, (1) of s. 4 of the Succession Certificate Act is a claim made by a person in the capacity of and as personal representative of a deceased person GOSWAMI SRI RAMAN LAL V HARI DAS (1916)

1 L R. 38 All 474

10 — Preference as regards the granting of a certificate—Childless widowed daughter—Sons of a deceased daughter. The parties were governed by the Hindu Law of the Dayabhaga School, and the question was to be given as regards the granting of a certificate for the collection of certain debts due to the father, to a widowed childless daughter for the sons of a deceased daughter Held that the latter were to be preferred According to the Dayabhaga a widowed childless daughter would be no heir to her father SRINATH PRANTHA DEVI v CHANDRA SHEKHAR CHATTERJEE

1 L R. 43 All 450

11. — Certificate not to be granted for collection of part only of a debt—Debt in part irrecoverable or extinguished—Mahomedan Law—Dower On the death of a Mahomedan lady to whom her dower was due the heirs were her husband, her brother, and three daughters The brother applied for a succession certificate in respect only of the share of the dower debt to which he was entitled as an heir On the objection being raised by the daughters that a certificate could not be granted for part only of the debt, the District Judge finding that a portion of the debt was satisfied by reason of the husband inheriting it as an heir and that the recovery of one of the daughter's shares was time barred gave the applicant a certificate in respect of the remainder Held that, on the reasoning upon which the Full Bench decision in Ghaffar Khan v Kalandari Begum, I L R. 33 All. 327 was founded, it was not competent to the District Judge to grant a certificate except for the whole of the dower debt Mohamed Abdul Hossein v Sarifan 16 C W N 123, and strictly Annapurna, Dassy v Nalini Mohon Das, dissented from SUGHRA BEGAM v MUHAMMAD MIR KHAN

1 L R. 43 All 341

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s 4 and 6—Assignment by heir of a debt due to a deceased person—Suit by assignee to recover debt.—Certificate necessary before assignee can obtain a decree. If the heir of the deceased person to whom at his death money was due, assigns the debt to a third person, the assignee cannot realize the debt without obtaining a succession certificate under Act No VII of 1889. A debt due to a deceased person does not cease to be part of the effects of the deceased by reason of such assignment. Goswami Sri Kaman Lalji v Hari Das I L R, 38 All, 474, not followed. Allah Dad Khan v Sant Ram, I L R, 35 All 74, Rang Lal v Annu Lal, I L R 36 All, 21, and Kadiska Prasad Bapud v The Secretary of State for India in Council, I L R, 38 All, 438, referred to. Karuppaasami v Pichu, I L R, 15 Mad, 419 and Vancharam Pranjivan v Das Mohali, I L R, 38 Bom, 316, followed. GULSHAN ALI v ZAKIR ALI. I L R 42 All 549

s 4, 7.—Certificate not to be given for collection of part only of a debt.—Mahomedan Law—Dower. Held, that no certificate could be granted to one of the heirs of a Mahomedan lady, who had died leaving a dower debt un realized, for collection merely of a part of the dower debt of the deceased. Muhammad Ali Khan v Pullan Bibi I L R 19 All 129, followed. Akbar Khan v Bilkisra Begam, All W N (1911) 125, referred to. BISMILLA BEGAM v TAWASSUL HUSAIN (1910). I L R 32 All 335

s 4, 8, cl (c)—

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE—

I L R 37 Calo 754

s 4, 16.—Succession certificate.—Holder of certificate not entitled to transfer his rights thereunder. Held, that the rights conferred by the grant of a succession certificate under the Succession Certificate Act, 1889, are personal to the grantee and cannot be assigned. ALLAH DAD KHAN v SANT RAM (1912). I L R 35 All 74

s 4 (1), 18.—Assignment of a debt.—Certificate obtained by assignor after assignment.—Suit by assignee without a certificate in his own name.—Decree, whether can be passed. An assignee of a debt from a person to whom succession certificate was granted subsequent to the assignment is entitled to a decree for the debt without obtaining a succession certificate in his own name. Raman Lalji v Hari Das, 14 A L J 677 followed. Allah Dad Khan v Sant Ram, I L R 35 All 74 dissented from. ARUNACHALAM v MATHU (1918). I L R 42 Mad. 130

s 7, 9.—Certificate of succession.—Security.—Application by widow of separated Hindu. Where, under s 9 of the Succession Certificate Act, 1889 the requiring of security is optional, security should not be taken from the widow of a separated Hindu asking for a certificate to enable her to collect debts due to her husband, in the absence of special circumstances rendering the taking of security necessary. NARAIN DEVI v PARMESHWARI (1917). I L R 40 All. 81

s 8—

See SPOUSAL RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877),
s 42. I L R 32 All. 318

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s. 9—

1.—Certificate in favour of Hindu widow to realize interests only.—Certificate ultra vires. Held that where a certificate was granted to a Hindu widow for collection of debts due to her late husband, it was not competent to the Court, in lieu of requiring security from the grantee to give a certificate for realization of interests only without disturbing capital. Shib Devi v Ajudhia Prasad F A J O, No 108 of 1910, decided on the 13th of February 1911, referred to. Jai Devi v BAWWARI LAL (1913). I L R 35 All 249

2.—Certificate to a minor can be granted.—S 9, no bar. A succession certificate can be granted to a minor. PERCURIAM s 9 of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889) presents no difficulty to the grant in such a case. Kali Coomer Chatterjee v Tara Prossunno Mookerjee, 5 C L R 517 and Ram Kwar v Sardar Singh I L R 20 All 352, followed. Ex parte Mahadeo Gangadhar, I L R 28 Bom 344, and Gulabchand v Moti, I L R 25 Bom 523 considered. KRISHNANA CHARL v VENKATMAH (1913). I L R 36 Mad. 214

s 9, 25, 26.—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 96.—Succession Certificate.—Condition of Security.—Appel. An order granting a succession certificate accompanied by a condition that security should be given, is appealable. An order directing that a certificate should not be granted unless security is furnished, is not appealable. Bai Devkore v Lalchand Jwandas, I L R 19 Bom 790, explained. Bai Nandkore v Shri MAGANTAL VARAJBHUKHANDAS (1911). I L R 36 Bom 272

s 16 and 17—

See PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT (XI OF 1876),
s 23. I L R 45 Bom. 138

s 16 18.—Certificate of succession.—Suit to set aside certificate and decree passed in favour of the holder. A succession certificate granted under the provisions of the Succession Certificate Act 1889 is conclusive as against the debtor under s 16 of the Act, and it can be revoked by the District Judge only under s 18 of the Act. No suit will lie to have a succession certificate and a decree obtained by the holder thereof set aside on the mere ground that the certificate was obtained by the use of false evidence. RUPAN BIRI v BHAGETU LAL (1914). I L R 26 All 423

s 18—

See s 4. I L R 42 Mad. 130

s 18 and 19.—Certificate of succession granted to one creditor for the whole of a debt due to himself and others.—Decree obtained by certificate holder for his share only of the debt.—Remedy open to the other creditors in respect of their proportionate share. Upon the death of a Mahomedan lady her claim for dower devolved upon (1) her husband to the extent of one-fourth, (2) her brother to the extent of one-fourth and (3) her daughter to the extent of one-half. The brother applied for a certificate of succession in respect of the whole of the dower debt, and this was granted to him. At the time of this application the daughter was a minor, and

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s. 18—contd

notice of the application was served for her on her father, notwithstanding that he was the person who himself was liable for the payment of the dower debt. On obtaining the certificate, the brother sued for and obtained a decree for his one-quarter share. Thereupon the daughter applied to the court asking either that the certificate granted in favour of the brother should be revoked and a fresh certificate made out in her name, or, in the alternative that her name should be associated with that of the brother in the same certificate to the extent of the half share claimed by her. The court rejected this application in toto Held, on appeal from this order, (1) that the appeal lay, the order being in effect one refusing to grant a certificate to the applicant and (2) that in the circumstances of the case the proper order to pass was one revoking the certificate already granted to the extent of one-half and granting a certificate for one half of the dower debt in favour of the applicant. Ghafer Khan v. Kalandari Begum I L. J. 33 All. 327, discussed BHARATUN NISA BIRI v. MASOM ALI I L. R. 42 All. 347

s. 18, 27—Certificate granted by specially empowered Subordinate Judge, if may be revoked by District Judge other wise than in appeal—Reg. 1 of 1799, Jurisdiction under, nature of. The fact that no appeal has been preferred against an order of a Subordinate Judge (who has been invested with the powers of a District Court under the Succession Certificate Act) granting a certificate is no bar to its revocation at any time when the circumstances enumerated in s. 18 of the Act are proved. The revocation must in such a case be ordinarily made by the Subordinate Judge when he is still exercising that jurisdiction in the district. The District Judge has in such circumstances no jurisdiction to make the revocation except where the case having been instituted and being pending before the Subordinate Judge has been withdrawn by the District Judge. The jurisdiction of the District Judge under Reg. 1 of 1799 is more administrative than judicial. He can act thereunder only when there is no claimant, and acting under that Regulation, he is bound to respect the order granting a certificate until the same was revoked by a competent authority. Sekaria Bewa v. Secretary of State for India (1914)

19 C. W. N. 551

s. 19—Certificate granted ex parte without notice having been served on the opposite party—Remedy available to the opposite party—Appeal—Proof of service of notice. The widow of a Hindu applied for a succession certificate for the collection of certain debts due to her deceased husband. She named, amongst others, as a party likely to be interested in the proceedings one Radhe Lal, a brother of the deceased. Attempts were made to serve notice of the application on Radhe Lal but apparently without success, and ultimately the application was heard ex parte and a certificate granted to the widow. Radhe Lal then appeared and filed an appeal against the grant alleging that he had in fact received no notice of the application and that he had a good objection to the granting of a certificate to the widow inasmuch as the deceased and himself were members of a joint Hindu family. Held

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889)—contd

s. 19—contd

that the appellant was entitled to come to court by way of appeal and was not bound to file an application to revoke the certificate. Held, also that the fact that a registered notice is returned endorsed "refused" is not by itself evidence that it was tendered to the person to whom it was addressed. INDO V. RADHE LAL

I L. R. 42 All. 512

s. 10, 25—Munsif invested with functions of District Court—Appeal—Jurisdiction. Held that an appeal from an order of a Munsif invested under s. 25 of the Succession Certificate Act 1889 with the functions of a District Court lies to the District Judge and cannot be transferred for disposal to any other Court such as the Subordinate Judge or Judge of the Small Cause Court not empowered under s. 56. HIRAY BIRI v. HIRAY BIRI (1911)

I L. R. 34 All. 149

s. 25 and 25—

Sec. 9 I L. R. 36 Bom. 272

SUCCESSION (PROPERTY PROTECTION) ACT (XIX OF 1841)

See CURATOR s. ACT, 1841

See RECEIVER I L. R. 37 Calc. 754

SUCCESSION DUTY

See PROBATE I L. R. 43 Calc. 625

SUCCESSIVE ADOPTION

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I L. R. 39 Calc. 582

SUCCESSOR

—final order by—

See COURT "MEANING OF" I L. R. 37 Calc. 642

SUDDER DEWANY ADALAT

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I L. R. 41 Calc. 173

SUDDER NIZAMUT ADALAT.

See CONTEMPT OF COURT

I L. R. 41 Calc. 173

SUDRAS.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L. R. 34 Bom. 321, 553

I L. R. 40 Calc. 545

See YATI I L. R. 40 Mad. 846

—illegitimate sons of—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L. R. 40 Bom. 389

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L. R. 39 Mad. 136

I L. R. 44 Bom. 185

—Leva Kumbis of Chaugdev in the East Khandesh District—

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L. R. 44 Bom. 166

SUFFICIENT CAUSE

- For allowing appeal out of time
 See LIMITATION L R 44 IA 218
 See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH I
 ART 15^o I L R 43 Bom 3^o6

SUICIDE

- abetment of—
 See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
 s 306 I L R 36 All 26
 — by prisoner on bail—
 See BAIL BOND 18 C W N 550
 See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
 OF 1898) s 514 (5)
 I L R 37 Mad 153

SUIT

- See ABATEMENT OF SUIT
 See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 188
 I L R 38 Calc 270
 See FRAUD I L R 37 All 535
 See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII
 OF 1890) SS 12^o 24^o
 I L R. 37 All 516
 See INDEMNITY BOND
 I L R 41 All 395
 See NOTICE I L R 48 Calc 45
 See PARTITION I L R 45 Calc. 873
 See PRE EMPTION I L R 37 All 529
 See RECEIVER I L R 46 Calc 352
 See RES JUDICATA I L R 37 All 485
 See REVIEW APPLICATION FOR
 I L R 40 Calc 541
 See SUIT FOR CANCELLATION OF DOCU-MENT
 — abatement of—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
 O XVII R. 4 I L R 41 All 283
 See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT s. 16
 I L R 33 Mad 342
 See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT
 I L R 33 Mad. 162
 — above Rs 5000—
 See JURISDICTION I L R 43 Calc. 828
 — Arrears claimed paid subsequent to suit to co-Lessor
 See AGRA TENANCY ACT 1901 s 198
 I L R. 3 All 448
 — by heir for recovery of her share—
 See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)
 SCH I ART C I L R 37 All 434
 — by a Hindu widow competency of transferee to continue—
 See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)
 SCH. I ARTS 132, 75
 I L R. 39 Mad 981

SUIT—contd

- by minor for possession—
 See MINOR I L R 39 All 154
 — by reversioner—
 See HINDU LAW—WILL
 I L R 37 All 422
 — by reversioner to set aside adoption—
 See ADOPTION I L R 37 All 496
 — by zemindar to recover haqq, cess, etc—
 See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT 1887 SCH II ART 13.
 I L R 40 All 663
 — Against Railway Company for loss or damage to goods—
 See LIMITATION ACT 1908 ART 31
 I L R 42 All 390
 See RAILWAY COMPANY
 I L R 42 All 655
 — by Rent free grantee to recover possession—
 See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL AND REVENUE
 COURTS I L R 42 All 412 — dismissal of for Plaintiff's non appearance—Inherent power of Court to restorer—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE ACT 1908—
 O IX R. 8 I L R 44 Bom 82
 O XVII R. 2 I L R 44 Bom. 767
 — dismissal of—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)—
 O V R. 3 O IX R 12
 I L R 39 All 476
 O IX, R. 2 I L R 38 All 357
 O IX RR 3 AND 6
 I L R 40 All 590
 O IX RR. 8 AND 9 s 171
 I L R 34 All 426
 O IX RR. 8 9 O XVII RR 3 9
 I L R 35 All 331
 O XI R. 21 I L R. 38 All 5
 O XVII R. 3 O IX R. 4
 I L R 34 All 123
 — for account—
 See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH I
 ART 116 I L R 39 All 355
 — for dissolution of partnership—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
 XVII R 4 I L R. 39 All 531
 — for joint possession—
 See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH. I
 ARTS 138 144 I L R. 39 All 460
 — for judicial separation—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s. 83
 I L R. 39 All 377

SUIT—contd

- for declaration of title—
See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)
 s 42 I L R. 37 All 185
- for ejectment—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)
 ss 58 177 (c) I L R. 38 All 465
- for money had and received—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)
 ARTS 29 36 120 I L R. 39 All 322
 ART 62 I L R. 37 All 40 233
 I L R. 38 All 676
- See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (VI OF 1907) s 16 (7) I L R. 41 Mad. 823
- for possession and mesne profits—
See LIMITATION ACT 1903 SCH ART 109
 I L R. 39 All 200
- for possession of land—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 28
 ART 47 I L R. 38 Mad 432
- for profits—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
 XXXVI NR 9 16 17 18
 I L R. 39 All 694
See LAMBARDAR AND CO SHAKAR
 I L R. 41 All 316
- for redemption of mortgage—
See COURT FEE I L R. 39 All 452
See MORTGAGE I L R. 38 All 148
- for refund of purchase money—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
 XXI NR 9^a 93
 I L R. 39 All 114
- for rent under registered agreement—
See LIMITATION I L R. 38 Mad. 101
- for damages for ejectment—
See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 25 C W N 930
- for Male oust prosecution—
See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION
- for money paid by mistake under coercion—
See CONTRACT ACT 1872 s 79
 I L R. 43 All 272
- for money due under an award—
See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSES ACT
 1887 SCH II ART 24
 I L R. 42 All. 169
- for profits—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT 1901 s 161
 I L R. 42 All 414
 I L R. 43 All 29 177
- for possession—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908
 s. 47 I L R. 43 All 170

SUIT—contd

- for refund of price on account of short delivery—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 70
 I L R. 42 All 430
- for return of moveable property deposited for safe custody—
See LIMITATION ACT 1903 SCH I ART 49
 I L R. 42 All. 45
- for a sum payable periodically—
See COURT FEES ACT 1870 s 7 (ii)
 SCH II ART 17 (i)
 I L R. 42 All 353
- in forma pauperis—
See PAUPER SUIT I L R. 46 Calc 651
- institution of in wrong Court—
See LIMITATION I L R. 47 Calc 300
- maintainability of—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 9.
 I L R. 37 All 313
- on a foreign judgment—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
 s 13 I L R. 41 All 521
- on lost bond—
See MORTGAGE I L R. 37 All 423
- place to last in law—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 20
 I L R. 39 All 368
- subject matter of—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXXIII NR 1 2 AND 5.
 I L R. 34 Bom 638
- to enforce payment of money charged upon immoveable property—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH
 I ART 13^a I L R. 37 All 400
- to recover money deposited with Bank—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH
 I ART 60 I L R. 37 All 252
- to recover property bailed—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH
 I ARTS 49 60 AND 145
 I L R. 41 All 643
- to obtain refund of octroi duty—
See U P MUNICIPALITIES ACT 1916
 s. 376 I L R. 42 All 207
- to recover revenue paid on an order revised on appeal—
See LIMITATION ACT 1908 S II 1 ART
 61 I L R. 42 All 61
- to enforce an award—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s
 89 AND 104 (1) (f) SCH II PARAS
 20 AND 21 I L R. 43 All 108

SUIT—contd.

to establish right of worship and procession in street—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 9
I L R. 44 Bom 410

to set aside adoption—

See ADOPTION I L R. 37 Cal. 660 to set aside decree against minor—

See MINOR I L R. 38 All. 452

to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 20 (c) I L R. 39 All. 607

transfer of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) s 24
I L R. 41 All. 351

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (IX OF 1887) s 17
I L R. 38 All. 425

valuation of—

See BENGAL, N W P AND ASSAM CIVIL COURTS ACT (XII OF 1887) s 21
I L R. 32 All. 222

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)—

O XXI R 63 I L R. 38 All. 72
R 66 I L R. 40 All. 505

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 115
I L R. 39 All. 723

withdrawal of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—

O LXIII R 1 I L R. 37 All. 328
I L R. 42 Bom. 155

R 1 s 115 I L R. 40 All. 612

See PARTITION I L R. 37 All. 155

1 Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss 30 (b) 37 105 107, 109—
Whether an application under s 105 of the Act a suit—Withdrawal of an application under that section effect of—Subsequent suit for enhancement of rent under s 30 (b) whether maintainable. An application under s 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act cannot be regarded as a suit. Upadhyaya Thakur v Persadh Singh I L R. 33 Cal. 723 referred to. Therefore although an application under s 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act was previously withdrawn without liberty to make a fresh application, a subsequent suit for enhancement of rent under s 30 (b) of the Act is maintainable. The provisions of s 37 or 109 of the Act are not applicable to such a case. Choudhury v Talwar Sivan (1912) I L R. 40 Cal. 423

2 Limitation—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss 104H sub s (c) 181 185—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) ss 23 15 applicability of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 89 A instituted a suit under s 104H of the Bengal Tenancy Act against the Secretary of State for India in Council on the 10th December 1910 in respect of a village the Record of Rights of which was finally published on the 2nd June 1910 A took exception to the latter Prior to the institution of the suit A served a notice on the defendant as required by s 80 of the Civil Procedure Code. Held that the suit was barred by limitation. Held, also that s 15 sub-s

SUIT—contd.

(2) of the Limitation Act which was made applicable to suits appeals and applications mentioned in Sch III annexed to the Bengal Tenancy Act by virtue of s 185 sub s (2) could not possibly apply to suits instituted under s 104H which were not mentioned in Sch III. On a plain reading of the provisions of s 185 of the Bengal Tenancy Act along with s 15 sub s (2) of the Limitation Act the latter could not be applied to extend the period of six months provided for the institution of suits under s 104H of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Radha shyam Kar v Dinabandhu Biswas 18 C W N 31 18 C L J 633 Sharoop Dass Mondal v Jogeesur Roy Chowdhry I L R. 26 Cal. 564 Dulhan Mathura Das Koer v Bannidhar Singh 16 C W N 904 Srinivasa Ayyangar v The Secretary of State for India I L R. 38 Mad. 92 referred to Dropadi v Hira Lal I L R. 34 All. 496 distinguished. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v GANGADHAR NANDA (1917)
I L R. 45 Cal. 934

SUIT FOR CANCELLATION OF DOCUMENT

Sale-deed—Alleged illegality of transaction—Sale by one deed of fixed rate and occupancy holdings. The plaintiff by one and the same sale-deed purported to transfer (i) a fixed rate holding and (ii) part of an occupancy holding. Held that he was not entitled to a decree setting aside the sale-deed merely because part of the property covered by it was by law not transferable. BAJEANGI LAL v GHURA RAI (1916) I L R. 38 All. 232

SUIT FOR DECLARATION OF RIGHT

See HIGHWAY I L R. 43 All. 692

SUIT FOR LAND

See POSSESSION

See SCIT

See JURISDICTION I L R. 42 Cal. 942

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT

I L R. 39 Cal. 739

recovery of possession and mesne profits—Litigation prolonged by defendant in prosecution appeal and mesne profits swelling to amount exceeding pecuniary jurisdiction of Original Court and re-filing of plaint in another Court—Proceedings in latter Court if continuation of original suit—Limitation. Where a person sues for recovery of possession he can in the same suit recover mesne profits which have accrued before the suit and those accruing pending the litigation. The fact that owing to the prosecution on appeal in higher Courts by the Defendant the mesne profits swell up to an amount beyond the limits of the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court which tried the suit originally thereby necessitating the transfer of the proceedings in the suit to a Court of higher jurisdiction does not amount to an interruption so as to make the subsequent proceeding in the higher Court a different suit. BAI KUNTHA NATH KUNDU v MOHANANAND BORAT MODUK 21 C. W N 312

SUIT FOR PROFIT

See AGRA TENANCY ACT 1901

s 201

I L R. 43 All. 697

s 164

I L R. 43 All. 29 177

SUIT FOR RENT

See AGRA TENANCY ACT, 1901, s 198
I L R. 43 AL 448

Rent reserved.—Company's Sica rupees, ambiguity of expression—Sika or Sica Rupee and Company's Rupee, meaning and history of, and difference between. In a kabuliyat, dated the 8th July, 1850 the annual rent reserved was stated to be Company's sica rupees 96. Held that the expression 'Company's sica rupees' mentioned in that document meant rupees in current coin and not sica rupee. PER CURIAM. The course of conduct, the date of the document, the stamp duty and the reference to current coin in the sentence referring to the Stamp Act lead us to the conclusion that in this case the rent annually payable is not the equivalent of 96 sica rupees but is 96 rupees in current coin. Ram Saran Singh v Gyan Singh, 6 C L J 637, Ram Ahluwam Singh v Kumor Rao, 6 C L J 667, Pameevar Koor v Goberdhan Lal, 7 C L J 202, Mr. Taparash Hossain v Gopa Arayan, 7 C L J 251, and Raja Kamalevarari Perashad Singh v Ramhari Singh, 19 C L J 318, referred to. MAHARAJ BAHADUR SINGH v JADAB CHANDRA GHOSH HAZRA (1918)

I L R 46 Cal 347

Suit for rent.—Claim for abatement of rent on the ground of eviction from a portion of the land by a person not having a title paramount.—Eviction by title paramount mean- ing of.—Physical dispossession, if necessary to amount to eviction.—Suit by stranger against tenant and allotment by latter to former in respect of a portion of the tenure under Court's decree.—Onus to prove eviction by title paramount if on landlord. An execution purchaser of some decretal lands obtained delivery of khas possession of the lands through Court and let out a portion thereof to B. Subsequently the Government settled with a third party some lands including a portion of the lands let out by the said execution purchaser. The Government lessee on the strength of the settlement sued B alone for recovery of the said lands and got a decree which provided that being a bona fide tenant B should not be ejected but should pay rent to the Government lessee in respect of the lands of which he was in possession. Subsequently the aforesaid execution purchaser brought a suit for rent against B who claimed proportionate abatement of rent in respect of the said portion. Held, that in order to be entitled to proportionate abatement of rent, forcible expulsion is not necessary, nor is it necessary that the tenant should actually go out of possession and if upon a claim being made by a person with a title paramount he consents by an allotment to such person to change the title under which he holds or enters into a new arrangement for holding under him, that will be equivalent to an eviction, and a fresh taking. But an eviction, whether actual or constructive, must be by a party with a title paramount. The Government lessee had no doubt obtained a decree against B, but that was not sufficient to show that he had a title superior to that of the execution purchaser. Nor was the onus to prove that the Government lessee had no title shifted on the execution purchaser in consequence of such a decree. BANKU BERNANI GHOSH v MADAN MOHON ROY

25 C W. N 143

SUIT IN FORMA PAUPERIS

See PAUPER SUIT

SUIT TO SET ASIDE A DECREE

Fraud.—Personal service.—conduct of Plaintiff. The mere fact that personal service of a summons has not been effected on a defendant will not render the proceedings against him absolutely abortive. But where the non service is due to the fraudulent conduct of the plaintiff in the suit and others acting with him and a decree is thereby obtained such decree may be set aside as fraudulent. TIKA RAM v DAULAT RAM
I L R 32 AL 145

Fraud.—What constitutes fraud.—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 90.—Application for a decree under s 90 without informing Court of previous refusal to grant such a decree. Certain mortgagees instituted a suit for sale on a mortgage and also asked in their plaint for a personal decree against the mortgagors under s 90 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882. The Court in that suit granted the plaintiffs decree for sale but refused them the decree asked for under s 90. Some years afterwards the plaintiffs again applied for a decree under s 90. Notice of this application was duly served upon all the judgment-debtors. They did not appear, and the Court granted a decree, but limited it to the assets of the deceased mortgagor. The judgment-debtors then filed a suit to have this decree set aside on the ground of fraud, the fraud alleged being mainly that the decree holders had not brought to the notice of the Court the fact that they had once before applied for and been refused a decree under s 90. Held, that the neglect to inform the Court of the fact that there had been a previous attempt at another stage of the litigation to get a personal decree even assuming that the neglect was wilful could not amount to fraud which would entitle the plaintiffs to set aside the decree which was obtained by the defendants under s 90 of the Transfer of Property Act. RAM RATAN LAL v DHURI BEGAM (1915)

I L R 38 AL 7

SUITS VALUATION ACT (VII OF 1887)–

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT (III OF 1873), ss 12, 13

I L R 39 Mad 447

s 3–

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1873

s 14

I L R 41 Mad 721

s 4–

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), Sec II, Art 17

I L R 39 Mad 602

s 8–

See JURISDICTION SUIT

I L R 44 Cal 890

See COURT FEE

I L R 40 Cal 245, 615

See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s 7

I L R 44 Bom 331

I L R 45 Bom 567

See JURISDICTION

I L R 38 Mad 795

15 C W N 523

I L R 34 Bom 267

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

SUITS VALUATION ACT (VII OF 1887)—

contd

s 8—contd

- See LIMITATION ACT, SCH I, ART 152
I L R 43 Bom 378
See SECOND APPEAL 15 C W. N 454
See VALUATION OF SUIT
I L R. 43 Bom 507

Court Fees Act (VII of 1870) s 7 sub s X cl (c)—Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887) s 8—Court fees payable in suit for specific performance of contract of lease
A suit for specific performance of a contract to grant a lease was valued at Rs 1,200 for determining jurisdiction of the Court and at Rs 32 for purpose of payment of Court fees, this being the amount of rent annually payable under the contract of tenancy sought to be enforced. A second appeal arising out of the suit was filed in the High Court and valued at Rs 32 only. On a reference under sec 5 of the Court Fees Act Held, that the court fees paid were sufficient. The value for the payment of Court fees was correctly assessed at Rs 32 under sec 7 of the Court Fees Act and the value for the purpose of jurisdiction was consequently only Rs 32 under sec 8 of the Suits Valuation Act. The right construction of sec 8 of the Suits Valuation Act is that the valuation for the purpose of jurisdiction should in the cases mentioned there follow and be the same as valuation for Court fees. The procedure to be adopted in cases of this character is to value the suit first for payment of Court fees in accordance with the rule embodied in sec 7, sub sec (X) cl (c) of the Court Fees Act and then to adopt the value so determined for the computation of Court fees as the value for purposes of jurisdiction. SAILENDRA NATH MITRA v RAM CHANDRA PAL
25 C W N 768

s 11—

- See BENGAL, AGRA AND ASSAM CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1887 4 Pat L J 447
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 104
O XLIII, E 10 (a)
I L R 36 All 58
See RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS
I L R 34 Bom. 236
See VALUATION OF SUIT
5 Pat L J 397

SUMMARY CESS

- See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH II, ART 144
I L R 36 Bom 174

SUMMARY DISMISSAL

- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XII, E 11
I L R 36 Bom 116

SUMMARY EVICTION

- See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879) s. 79A
I L R 35 Bom 72

SUMMARY JURISDICTION

- See COMPANIES ACT (VI OF 1882), s. 72
I L R 35 All 173

SUMMARY PROCEDURE

- See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE, ss 200 to 265

On negotiable instruments—

- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)
O XXXVII

See ATTORNEY AND CLIENT

- I L R 46 Calc 249

SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS

- See CONTEMPT OF COURT
I L R 41 Calc 173
See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT
I L R 41 Calc 113

SUMMARY RELIEF

- See COMPANY I L R 47 Calc 901

SUMMARY SETTLEMENT

- See INAM LANDS I L R 38 Bom 2,2
See KADIM INAMDAR
I L R 42 Bom 112

Inam Dharmadaya—Sanads—
Bombay—

- See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1876), s. 12
I L R 45 Bom 463

SUMMARY SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM ACT VII OF 1863)

- See REGULATION XVI OF 1824
I L R 38 Bom 272

Land granted to a mosque—At summary settlement land continued to the mosque on payment of annual quit rent—Alienation of land by mutawals of the mosque—Full assessment cannot be demanded by Government from the alienee. At the time of the summary settlement held in 1879, the land in dispute which had been granted to a mosque was continued on payment to Government of an annual quit rent under the Sanad which ran as follows — By Act VII of 1863 of the Bombay Legislative Council is hereby declared that the said land subject to the payment to Government of an annual quit rent of Rs 1780 seventeen and annas eight only, shall be continued forever by the British Government as the endowment property of the Jumma Masjid without increase of the said quit rent, but on the condition that managers thereof shall continue loyal and faithful subjects of the British Government. Nearly sixty years before suit the then manager of the mosque alienated (it was assumed that the alienation was unlawful) the land to a stranger. From 1912 onwards the Government levied full assessment on the land in the hands of the alienee. A suit having been brought to recover the extra assessment so levied Held by SHAR and HAYWARD JJ (HEATON, J. dissenting), that the provisions of the Summary Settlement Act, 1863, and the terms of the Sanad pointed to the conclusion that the condition that the land must continue to be the property of the mosque in order that the holder for the time being may have the benefit of the exemption from settlement allowed by the Sanad could not be implied and that the Government did not get any right

SUMMARY SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM. ACT VII OF 1863)—contd

under the Sanad to levy the full assessment even when the property ceased to be the endowment property otherwise than by a lawful alienation
SHANKARLAL TATIDAS : THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1918) I L R 43 Bom. 583

SUMMARY TRIAL.

See WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT, 1859, s 2 I L R 43 All. 281

outside British India—

See EUROPEAN BRITISH SUBJECT
 I L R 39 Mad. 942

1 Recording of evidence in non-appealable cases—Destruction by Magistrate of his notes of the evidence—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898), ss 263 and 355 ss 263 and 355 of the Criminal Procedure Code must be read together. If the Magistrate is unable at the commencement of the trial, to determine whether the proper sentence to be passed should be an appealable one or not, he must make a memorandum of the substance of the evidence of each witness as his examination proceeds. But if he can, at this stage determine that the sentence will be, in any event non-appealable he need not record the evidence. If, however, he actually does so, the notes of the evidence form part of the record of the case and cannot be destroyed by him. Where the Magistrate had destroyed such record, the High Court was unable to form an opinion on the propriety of the conviction and set it aside.
Jayshil Prasad Lal v Emperor, 21 Cr L J 229, approved SATISH CHANDRA MITRA v MAN MATHA NATH MITRA (1920)
 I L R 48 Cal. 280

2 Charge, if should be drawn up in Although in a summary trial the Magistrate need not frame a formal charge still he must specify the offence charged in such a way as will give sufficient notice to the accused
JHARU SUZUKI v KING EMPEROR (1912)
 16 C W N 696

3 Warrant Case—Omission to examine the accused—Charge—Accusation of house breaking by night to commit theft—Fitting of different talent—Necessity of charge specifying the same—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1898) ss 263, 342
S 263 of the Criminal Procedure Code is governed by s 342 and there must, therefore be an examination of the accused in all warrant cases; the words "if any" in cl. (v) of the former section, not being applicable to such cases. Where the case against the accused is one of theft or house breaking to commit theft and the Magistrate finds that it has broken down but that there is another object apparent on the evidence it is his duty to give the accused notice of that by drawing up a charge clearly stating what it is that he is accused of doing.
MAHAMED HOSSEIN v EMPEROR (1914)
 I L R. 41 Cal. 743

SUMMONS

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

O Y R 15 . I L R 35 All. 556
 I L R 33 All. 649

SUMMONS—contd

See PEVAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s 173 I L R 40 All. 577

See THIRD PARTY NOTICE
 I L R. 45 Bom. 111

non-service of—

See RIGHT OF SUTY
 I L R 37 Cal. 197

service of—

See FRAUD I L R 32 All. 145

See PRACTICE I L R 35 Bom. 213

to accused to produce document or thing

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 94 I L R 37 Mad. 112

Service of summons—

Indian Marine Service—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), O V, rr 15, 17 and 27—Ex parte decree—Officer or mechanic in the employ of the Indian Marine Under the Civil Procedure Code an officer or mechanic in the employ of the Indian Marine is subject to exactly the same rules as any other person as regards service of summons. They come within the operation of rules 15 and 17 of O V of the Code of Civil Procedure
ISTU MEAR MISTRY v DARBURGH BRITAN (1914)
 I L R 42 Cal. 67

SUMMONS CASE

Magistrate bound to examine accused before convicting him—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898) s 342 I L R. 45 Bom. 672

proceeds (has) of warrant case—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 256
 I L R. 39 Mad. 503

SUMMONS, SERVICE OF

Substituted service—

"Due and reasonable diligence"—Practice—Appeal from order refusing to set aside ex parte decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), O V, rr 12, 17, O IX, r 13—Costs For substituted service of summons to be effective it is essential that the requirements of the rules of the Code should be strictly observed. Knowledge of the institution of the suit, derived by the defendant alunde is not sufficient in the absence of proper service of the summons. Where the serving officer on three separate occasions went to the place of business of the defendant a firm under the erroneous belief that it was his ordinary place of residence and asked for the defendant and, on not finding him posted a copy of the writ of summons on the outer door of the premises. Held, that this was not sufficient service. Proper enquiries and real and substantial effort should be made to find out when and where the defendant is likely to be found.
Cohen v Nursing Dress Auddy, 1 L R 19 Cal. 201, followed KASIM ENBARAH SALEH v JOHURMULL KHEMKA (1913)
 I L R 43 Cal. 417

Under the Civil Procedure Code an officer or mechanic in the employ of the Indian Marine is subject to the same rules as regards service of summons. They come within ss 15 and 17 of O. V. Intu MEATH

SUMMONS, SERVICE OF—contd

MISTRY v DARBUSKH BHUIYAN

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 67

SUMMONS TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS.

Books of a firm—Materials on which such order may be made—Complaint and subsequent application for summons and examinations of complainant thereon—Practicity of service—Directions to Magistrate to decide what books were necessary for the purpose of the enquiry—Directions as to mode of inspection—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 94. Where a complaint was made against a certain person before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, who examined the complainant and directed a local investigation and an application was made thereafter by the complainant for summons under s. 94 of the Criminal Procedure Code and granted after his further examination thereon—Held, that there were sufficient materials on which an order under s. 94 could properly be made, and that it was so made. Where in obedience to a previous order of the High Court the Magistrate's head clerk delivered certain books to M, who gave a receipt for them as the agent of the petitioner, but the latter further appointed Q, without the knowledge of the Magistrate, to take them over immediately from M—Held, that the summons under s. 94 was properly served on M, and even if it was not so that the High Court would not order the return of the books to the petitioner, but would direct the issue of an amended summons to be served on him. The High Court directed the Magistrate to inquire and determine, in the presence of the petitioner, how many and which of the books were necessary for the purposes of the complaint before him, taking into consideration any undertaking given by the petitioner for production of the books as required but which he now ordered to be returned. The Magistrate was further directed to give definite instructions as to when and where and by which officer the inspection was to be held. The inspection was also directed to be made in the presence of the petitioner. T. R. PRATT v LAFERON (1920)

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 647

SUNDARBANS.

See BENGAL TENANCY

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 473

Lease from Government, of lands in—Permanent tenure granted by lease—Condition that rent will not abate in case of diluvion, if valid—Onus of proof—Reg. III of 1828, s. 73. Where tenants took a permanent lease of lands in the Sundarbans stipulating that "we shall not object to the payment of rent on the ground of drought, inundation, death, desertion, overflow of salt water, diluviation by river, etc."—Held, that it was for the tenants if they impeached this stipulation as being inconsistent with the provisions of s. 52 of the Bengal Tenancy Act to establish that the tenure was not situated in a permanent settled area. R. 13 of Reg. III of 1924 does not ignore or invalidate any permanent settlements made by Government before 1924.

SUNDARBANS—contd

It also authorises similar settlements subsequently made by Government. It is, therefore, erroneous to hold that there could not be a permanent tenure in the Sundarbans. That the stipulation barred not only a plea of reduction of rent in defence, but also a suit for abatement of rent. KHETTRAMANT DAS v JIBAN KRISHNA KUNDU (1914). 19 C. W. N. 546

SUNNIS.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE.

I. L. R. 30 All. 458

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.

I. L. R. 41 All. 562

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 34 All. 478

SUPERFLUOUS MATTER.

See COSTS . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 415

SUPERINTENDENCE.

See CROSS EXAMINATION

5 Pat. L. J. 545

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, 1915

3 Pat. L. J. 581

See DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT

4 Pat. L. J. 277

See JURISDICTION . 4 Pat. L. J. 154

See RECEIVER . 4 Pat. L. J. 20

———— High Court Powers of—

See GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1915,

s. 107 1 Pat. L. J. 36, 465 and 576

———— Interlocutory order—Interference with—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 32.

5 Pat. L. J. 550

SUPERINTENDENT.

See TRUST . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 19

SUPERSTITIOUS BELIEF.

See PENAL CODE s. 301

25 C. W. N. 676

SUPPLEMENTARY AFFIDAVIT

See CONTENT OF COURT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

SUPPORT.

———— right of, for a building—

See EASEMENT . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 527

SUPREME COURT.

See CONTENT OF COURT.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

SURAT DISTRICT

See DEBARKH ALLOWANCE
1 L. R. 45 Bom 948

SURETY

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908
ss 55 AND 145 5 Pat L. J. 417

O XXXVIII n. 5 ss 115 145
1 L. R. 41 Bom 402

See CONTRACT ACT 1872—
ss 120, 140. 1 L. R. 42 All. 70

ss to 178 147
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (1 OF 1898) s. 122 14 C. W. N. 709

See EXECUTION OF DECREES
2 Pat L. J. 197

See FITNESS OF SURETY GROUNDS OF
1 L. R. 44 Calc 737

See HINDU LAW (MITAKSHARA)
3 Pat L. J. 396

See MORTGAGE 1 L. R. 45 Calc 702

See PROMISSORY NOTE.
1 L. R. 39 Mad. 680

— attachment of property —

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s. 145 O XXXII n. 6
1 L. R. 41 Mad. 40

— discharge of —

See CONTRACT ACT (1A OF 1872) ss
134 137 1 L. R. 39 Bom. 52

See EXECUTION OF DECREES
1 L. R. 41 Calc 50

— fitness of —

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss
110 121
25 C. W. N. 140

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
1 L. R. 37 Calc. 91, 446

— for insolvent's debt whether "creditor" —

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s. 37 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 783

— liability of —

See HINDU LAW SURETY
1 L. R. 38 Mad. 1120

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898
s. 514 1 L. R. 2 Lah 204

See PRINCIPAL AND SURETY
1 L. R. 44 Calc 978

— rights of, against principal debtor —

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT
(XXVI OF 1881) ss 30 47 59 74 84
1 L. R. 39 Mad. 965

SURETY—contd

— application to enforce liability against —

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 145
1 L. R. 44 Bom 34

— security for good behaviour—order rejecting sureties—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss.
110 AND 122 1 L. R. 44 Bom 385 — Written agreement by surety that he would not claim his legal rights—

See CONTRACT ACT (1A OF 1872) s. 133.
1 L. R. 45 Bom. 157

1 — Surety to Administration Bond—Right of surety to apply for cancellation of bond on administration being completed. A surety to an administration bond cannot when the administration is complete and the bond becomes void and ineffective apply to the Court to have the bond vacated and to be discharged from his suretyship. There is nothing in the Indian Succession Act or in the Rules of Practice to authorise such an application. In the matter of ARTHUR GERALD VENTON HENDRY (1900).
1 L. R. 33 Mad. 372

2 — Father's liability as surety—
Hindu Law—Whether son is liable to pay debt incurred by father as surety. Under the Hindu Law a son is liable for a debt incurred by his father as a surety. Tukarambhat v. Gangaram Mulchand Gujar 1 L. P. 23 Bom. 451 and Maharaja of Benares v. Ramkumar Misr 1 L. R. 26 All. 611 referred to. PABU LAL NANDAI v. SINGHESWAR PAI (1912)
1 L. R. 39 Calc. 843

3 — Promissory note executed by agent after settlement of accounts—Representatives in interests of and surety for deceased agent by principal—Surety if entitled to go behind promissory note and have account taken in his presence—Set off if can be pleaded—Interest when to run from. The plaintiff sued for the recovery of money due on a promissory note executed by the deceased agent S in the favour after settlement of accounts for the sum due to them. The defendants, who were the brothers of S, were sued both in their character as representatives in interests of S and as sureties for him under a surety bond executed by them in favour of the plaintiff S.
The defendants disputed the amount due and claimed as set-off the amount payable by the plaintiff to their brother on account of salary.
The Court after taking accounts made a decree in favour of the plaintiff S for a smaller sum than that mentioned in the promissory note. Held that the principle that as between a principal and an agent artificial accounts will not be re-opened unless fraud or undue influence is established is limited in its application only as between a principal and an agent and as the defendants were sued not only as representatives in interest of the deceased agent but also as sureties they were entitled to go behind the promissory note and to have the accounts examined in their presence.
The defendants were also competent to plead a set-off. S. 111 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1874) does not take away from parties any right to set off whether legal or equitable which they would have independently of that Code.

SURETY—contd

and such right exists not only in cases of mutual debts and credits but also when cross demands arise out of the same transaction, or are so connected in their nature and circumstances as to make it inequitable that the plaintiff should recover and the defendant should be driven to a cross suit. Held, further, that the plaintiffs were entitled to interest by way of damages from the date of the institution of the suit, and not merely from the date of the decree of the Court of first instance. KALAYUND SINGH v GIR PRASAD DAS (1913) 17 C W N 1080

4. — Surety-bond for judgment-debtor's appearance in Court—Death of judgment debtor before time of appearance—Liability of surety Where the decree holder applied to enforce the condition of an undertaking given as surety that the judgment debtor would apply in insolvency within a specified time and that he would appear in Court whenever he was required to do so, and the judgment-debtor died before the time of appearance had arrived. Held, that the decree holder lost his remedy against the surety. The event which occurred was not in contemplation of either party and therefore put an end to the obligation that there was under the contract. NABIN CHANDRA HAZARI v MRITUNJOY BARBIEK (1913) 17 C W N 1241

5. — Fitness—Grounds of rejection of sureties—Reasonableness of grounds—Pecuniary fitness—Want of control over principal—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893) s 122 The grounds on which a Magistrate has power to refuse to accept a security, under s. 122 of the Criminal Procedure Code, must be such as are valid and reasonable in the circumstances of each case as it arises. In re Soobodithree 22 W R Cr 37, followed. Ram Farahad v King Emperor 6 C W N 593 and Adam Sherik v Emperor 1 L J 35 Calc 400 commented on. Jalil v Emperor, 13 C W N 80. Jafar Ali Panjwala v Emperor, 1 L R 37 Calc. 416 referred to. Where the Magistrate found that the sureties, who were the brothers of a person bound down under s. 110 of the Code, were pecuniarily fit but that the latter was a notorious dacoit and that there was a consensus of opinion in the neighbourhood that they would not be able to keep him in control. Held that the ground of the rejection was not unreasonable in the circumstances. EMPEROR v ASIRADDI MANDAL (1914) 1 L R 41 Calc 764

6. — Surety for an administrator of estate II, may be discharged or substituted—Surety creating charge on his immovable property—Release of charge—Surety bond, discharge of and substitution—Administration account if may be examined by Court Letters of Administration were granted to the estate of the deceased A Hindu governed by the "Dayabhaga" law to R one of his first cousins who for purposes of such administration was also appointed guardian of deceased's infant son, and R's two brothers stood sureties for the administrator. The estate being a very large one the Court required the sureties to charge their immovable properties in the surety bond besides making them personally liable. The infant having died without issue and intestate his paternal grandmother succeeded to the estate as his heir. R thereupon applied to Court stating that he had tendered an account of the estate as administered by him to the lady and that she had the same examined by her constituted attorneys and that they were satisfied with the account and that the residue of the estate had been made over to her and prayed that the sureties be discharged and the charge on their immovable property be also discharged. The Court ordered that on the lady's constituted attorneys filing a verified certificate together with the account or abstract thereof stating that they had examined and found it correct, and on the administrator filing the receipts for the debts paid to the satisfaction of the Registrar the surety bond creating a charge on the immovable properties of the sureties would be discharged conditional upon the sureties executing a fresh security bond making themselves personally liable for the administration of the estate by the petitioner. Pai Narain Mukerjee v Ful Kumari Devi, 1 L R 29 Calc 63, referred to. The account of the administrator need not be investigated by the Court there being no procedure or practice for doing so. KAVAI LAL KHAN In the goods of (1913) 18 C W N 320

SURETY—contd

7. — Rejection of—only on Police report—without judicial enquiry into their fitness—Inquiry to be held by the Magistrate passing the order for security—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893) ss 118 122 Sureties tendered by a party bound down under s. 118 of the Criminal Procedure Code should not be rejected on a police report as to their fitness but only after a judicial inquiry under s. 122 and by the Magistrate who has passed the order for security. KABAR ALI MAHOMED v EMPEROR (1914) 1 L R 42 Calc. 706

8. — Bail-bond—Forfeiture on failure of accused to appear—Suit by surety against third person upon promise to indemnify—Contract, legality of A bail bond having been forfeited owing to the failure of the accused to appear the surety sued a third person who had agreed to indemnify the surety for recovery of the amount forfeited. Held that the contract to indemnify was illegal and could not be enforced. PRASAD KUMAR CHUCKERBUTTY v PROKARN CH DUTY (1914) 18 C W N 329

9. — Duty of Magistrate to enquire into fitness of each surety on evidence taken by him—Delegation of enquiry to the police or others—Rejection of sureties on a police report—Ground of rejection—Want of control—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893) s 122 Under s. 122 of the Criminal Procedure Code a Magistrate must personally hold a separate inquiry as to the fitness of each surety and decide the matter on evidence taken for the purpose and he cannot delegate to a police officer or other person the function entrusted by law to him alone. Sureek Chandra Das v Emperor 3 C L J 515. In re Abdul Kham, 10 C W N 1027, Akbar Ali Mahomed v Emperor, 1 L R 42 Calc 706, and Kaifu Mir v Emperor, 1 L R 37 Calc 91, followed. Queen Empress v Irtifa Pal Singh, (1853) All W N 151, Emperor v Tola, 1 L J 25 All 272, Emperor v Gulam Mustafa 1 L R 26 All 311, Emperor v Lalchand, 1 L R 27 All 293. Pharwan Singh v King Emperor, 12 All. L J 1001. King Emperor v Farmanjhar, 1 Cr L J 423. Kamchand Singh v King Emperor, 4 Cr L J 248. Jai Chaud v Emperor, 13 Cr L J 427. King Emperor v Kaifu

SURETY—contd

Kham (1906) Punj Rec 18 Emperor v Mahro 10 Cr L J 225 Emperor v Kunal, 10 Cr L J 237 Emperor v Iltahad no 12 Cr L J 410 Emperor v Haja Usman 11 Cr L J 497 Piru Abdulla v Emperor 15 Cr L J 378 Muhammad Ibrahim v Emperor 16 Cr L J 100 approved Want of sufficient control over the person bound down is not a valid ground for the rejection of a surety Kala Mirza v Emperor 1 L R 37 Calc 91 Siva Natha v Emperor 16 Bom. L R 138 Queen Empress v Raim Baksh, 1 L R 29 All 206 and Sheikh Fakir v Emperor 12 All. L J 785 referred to RAYAN KHAN v EMEROR (1916) 1 L R 43 Calc 1024

10(a) ————— Money paid by for non production of judgment debtor — f to be certified as a decree—Judgment debtor arrested in execution of money decree and released on furnishing a cash bond—Money paid by surety for non production of judgment debtor will not be certified against decree A judgment debtor arrested and imprisoned in execution of a money decree was released on furnishing a surety for a sum of Rs 500 the surety undertaking to produce the judgment debtor in Court the event of his not applying to be adjudicated insolvent within a month. The judgment debtor failed to apply for adjudication as an insolvent and the surety to produce him. Held that the payment of Rs 500 made by the surety was to be certified against the decree and it was not to be made available to the decree holder over and above his decretal amount. Koylash (Khandal) v Chit to phal 1 L R 15 Calc 171 1937 referred to SURENDRA NATH GUPTA v KESTIALAL GOSWAMI 25 C W N 38

10 ————— Grounds of fitness—Pecuniary sufficiency—Inability of control—Discretionary power of the Court on the facts of each case—Propriety of the order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 120 The question as to the fitness of a surety is one of discretion in each case and the High Court has only to consider whether the order of the Magistrate is reasonable and proper in the circumstances of the particular case. Jalil v Emperor 13 C W N 80 Jafar Ali Panjalia v Emperor 1 L R 37 Calc. 449 and Emperor v Auruddin Mandal, 1 L R 41 Calc. 764 approved Ram Parshad v King Emperor 6 C W N 893 Adam Sheikh v Emperor 1 L R 35 Calc 400 and Rayan Khan v Emperor 1 L R 43 Calc 1024 not followed ABDEL KARIM v EMEROR (1916) 1 L R 44 Calc 737

SURETY BOND

See DECREE 1 L R 36 Bom. 42

See SURETY

— forfeiture of —

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 514 516 14 C W N 239

— Excluded in favour of Court f prevents annihilation of hypothecated property—Surety bond how enforceable—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) ss 67 68—At annihilation for consideration on by vendor known to be indebted if had as being in fraud of creditors—Participation in suit on necessary The execution of a security bond in favour of a Court has not the effect of

SURETY BOND—contd

availing all subsequent alienations. The execution of the bond has a right to transfer the property hypothecated in the surety bond subject to the lien created by him in favour of the Court. When property is given in security and the security is sought to be enforced that should be done by bringing a suit under s 67 of the Transfer of Property Act and it makes no difference whether the security bond is in favour of a Court or a party to a suit. The mere fact that a purchase of property which has the effect of defeating or delaying the vendor's creditors was for good consideration is not enough to protect the purchaser. It must also be shown that he acted in good faith. But the mere fact of the indebtedness of the vendor or knowledge on the part of the purchaser that the sale may defeat or delay the creditors is not sufficient to negate the bona fides of the purchaser. If there was good consideration and the intent on the part with the whole interest is proved and it is not shown that the transfer was a mere cloak for retaining a benefit to the vendor it is valid against the creditors. But if the object of the transfer is to defeat or delay his creditors and that object is known to the transferee and he aids and assists in its execution then the transfer is not a good faith. KAMINI KRISHN ROY v HIRA LAL LAL CHOWDHURY (1919) 23 C W N 789

SURETY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR

— Pecuniary qualification but not power of control—Grounds of rejection—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 120 In determining the fitness of a surety under s 120 of the Criminal Procedure Code the first matter to be inquired into is his ability to pay the amount of the bond in case of default by the principal but there may be other matters also to be considered as grounds of objection which must be dealt with in each case as it arises. Where a surety is competent in a pecuniary sense the fact that he is not in a position to exercise control over the person bound down, so as to ensure his good behaviour in future is not a sufficient ground for his rejection. Ram Parshad v King Emperor 6 C W N 593 Adam Sheikh v Emperor 1 L R 35 Calc 400 and Jalil v Emperor 13 C W N 80 referred to JAFAR ALI PANJALIA v EMEROR (1910) 1 L R 37 Calc 446

SURVEY SETTLEMENT

See LAND REVENUE CODE (Bom. Act V of 1879) ss 3 CL (20) AND S. 217 1 L R 43 Bom 77

SURFACE WATER

See PRESCRIPTION 14 C W N 825

SURPLUS COLLECTIONS

— suit for —

See MORTGAGE 1 L R 33 All 244

SURPLUS SALE PROCEEDS

See ARREARS OF REVENUE 1 L R 47 Calc 331
See LIMITATION ACT 1908 s 31 1 L R 44 Mad. 823

SURPRISE

doctrine of—

See RIGHT OF REPLY.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 426

SURRENDER.See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT
1898, s 35 . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 88*See* EXTRADITION I. L. R. 47 Calc. 37*See* HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 100

I. L. R. 39 Mad 1035

See RAYATI HOLDINGS

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

Occupancy tenancy, transfer of part of—Subsequent surrender of whole or part of tenancy An occupancy raiyat, who has transferred part of his non transferable holding, is not competent to surrender to his landlord the portion so transferred, either by surrender of that portion alone or by surrender of the whole inclusive of such portion SYED MOHSEN UDDIN v BRAGO BAY CHANDRA SUTRADHAR (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Calc 605

SURRENDER OR ABANDONMENT.

of holding—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908), s 80, ETC

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 608

SURVEY ACT.See BENGAL SURVEY ACT*See* BOMBAY SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT ACT*See* MADRAS SURVEY AND BOUNDARIES
ACTSURVEY MAP.See* FOOTINGS I. L. R. 38 Calc. 687*See* WASTE LANDS ACT

L. R. 43 I A 203

SURVEY SETTLEMENT.See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (Bom.
ACT V of 1879), ss 3 (11) AND 217

I. L. R. 24 Bom. 686

Growth of sandalwood trees on occupancy lands subsequent to—See FOREST ACT (VII OF 1878), s 75 CL. (c), r. 2 . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom 110right of Inamdar to enhance assessment at end of period of settlement—See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE ACT, 1879
s 217 . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 110

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 61

SURVIVING MEMBER OF COMMITTEE.

suit by—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 39 Calc 364

SURVIVORSHIP.See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O.
XXXVIII, r. 5

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 105

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION

I. L. R. 37 Calc 703

See MARUMAKATAYAM LAW.

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 387

SUSPENSE ACCOUNT.See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 34 Mad 125SUSPENSION.See* LEGAL PRACTITIONER

13 C W. N 521

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, s 14

13 C. W. N. 415

15 C W N 269

of Business—

See COMPANY I. L. R. 47 Calc. 654

of period—

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 48 Calc. 65SUSPENSION OF RENT.See* LANDLORD AND TENANT

14 C W. N. 446

SUSPENDED POLICE OFFICER.See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 318

SUSPICION.See FALSE INFORMATION

I. L. R. 48 Calc 427

SYMBOLICAL POSSESSION.See LIMITATION I. L. R. 36 Bom. 373*See* POSSESSION I. L. R. 43 Bom. 559*See* RIOTING I. L. R. 39 Calc. 696

Effect as between parties —Presumption of continuance of possession, if conclusive Delivery of symbolical possession is conclusive evidence, as between the parties, that possession was delivered but is not in the least conclusive evidence that the possession so delivered continued There may be a presumption that such possession would continue until the contrary was proved, but that is all Where it was found that the plaintiff to whom symbolical possession was delivered never got actual possession, the finding can only mean that the possession delivered did not continue at all, so that Art 142, and not Art 144, of the Limitation Act applied to the case.
Where it appeared that the plaintiff had recovered rent decrees from raiyats within 12 years of the suit and the decrees were not open to question as collusive and fraudulent, the plaintiff's possession of the lands held by the raiyats through them within the statutory period of limitation was established. DRONADAN PERSAD v LUTI HANAI
SIRON (1914) . . . 18 C. W. N. 240

SYNDICATE AND SENATE.

respective powers of—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877)

s. 43 . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 125

T

TACKING OF POSSESSION.

Adverse possession—

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 107.

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 440

One trespasser cannot tack his wrongful possession to that of another—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ARTS. 142 AND 144 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 570

TAGAVI ADVANCE.

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XYII OF 1879)

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 483

TALABI BRAHMOTTAR

See GRANT I. L. R. 44 Calc 585

TALAB-I-ISHHAD.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 636

TALAB-I-MAWASIBAT.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 636

See PRE EMPTION I. L. R. 34 All. 1

TALAK.

See ITIMAK I. L. R. 47 Calc 979

See PARTITION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 236

See PUTVI REGULATION

delegation of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 141

power of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 141

TALAKNAMA.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 44

TALUKDAR

See BOMBAY COURT OF WARDS (BOM ACT VI OF 1883), s 31

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 832

See GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM. ACT VI OF 1888), s 29E

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 44

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879), ss 144, 160

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 6

See OUDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)

I. L. R. 33 All. 344

ss. 8, 10 I. L. R. 38 All. 552

ss. 8 AND 22, SUB S (II).

I. L. R. 32 All. 599

See TALUKDARS (GUJARATH) ACT

mortgage by—

See BROACH AND KAIRA INCUMBERED ESTATES ACT (XXI OF 1881), s 28

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 546

TALUKDAR—contd.

transfer by—

See OUDH ESTATES ACT, 1869, ss. 2 AND 16 I. L. R. 42 All. 422

1. ——— Rights of Talukdar—Payment by relatives of talukdar holding sub proprietary rights on his estates—Rules framed by British Indian Association of Oudh for maintenance of such relatives—Basis of calculation of such payments in second and third generations—Jurisdiction of Rent Court The question between the parties to this appeal was as to the true construction of certain rules framed in 1867 by the British Indian Association of Oudh, and agreed to by the talukdars, making provision, inter alia, for maintenance for the relatives of the latter holding sub-proprietary rights on their estates The portion of the rules applicable was as follows —This class will remain in possession of what they actually had at annexation "rent free" during their lifetime, but subject to the payment in the second generation of 25 per cent to the talukdar, and in the third 50 per cent, and will not have transferable rights If such persons pay the Government revenue plus 10 per cent to the talukdar they will have heritable rights in addition Held (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner) that the bulk sum on which the percentages were to be calculated was the "assumed rental" which formed the basis for the ascertainment of the Government revenue payable by the Talukdar (the Government revenue being half the "assumed rental") This construction had the advantage of giving a fixed basis for calculation, which was greatly in the interests of the talukdars with reference to the charges on the property, and enabled all parties concerned to understand, year after year, and to forecast, their exact financial position Payments of 25 and 50 per cent respectively on the "gross rental" demandable in each particular year, together with 10 per cent in the sense of the rules (as contended for by the appellant, the talukdar), besides being made on a varying basis, might exceed not only the Government revenue but the entire receipt of rental actually obtained for particular years, reducing greatly the rights of the relatives in possession as sub proprietors and rendering precarious their provision for maintenance A construction which would bring about such results was not warranted on a sound reading of the terms of the maintenance provisions The additional sum of 10 per cent payable to the talukdar (at any rate by the third generation) for the provision for maintenance of a heritable character might, under the circumstances that the payments to the talukdar might not be regular, and that in any view the talukdar's responsibility to the Government for the revenue was full and direct whether he received such payments or not be considered as a reasonable commission or insurance, and had accordingly been sanctioned in the rules under construction as well as by the rules regarding sub settlement and other subordinate rights of property in Oudh scheduled in Act XXVI of 1868 The Court of Wards, who represented the appellant during his minority, made, on account of maintenance, certain payments to the respondent to which the appellant objected The Court of the Judicial Commissioner declined to open up that matter in the present suit, holding that "it is not within the province of a Rent Court to determine whether the maintenance was or was not payable;" and their Lordships of the Judicial

TALUKDAR—contd.

Committee were of opinion that that was a right decision NAWAB ALI KHAN v. WAZIR ALI (1903)
I. L. R. 32 ALL. 92

2 ———— Settlement of Oudh—Talukdar settled with on terms as to which no evidence could be given—Second summary settlement—Villages included in talukdar's estate and not recovered by payment of money due on account of them—Trustee or lien holder—Redemption barred by Act No. I of 1869, s. 6—Adverse possession. This affair related to certain villages in Oudh which belonged prior to the annexation of that Province to the widow of the predecessor in title of the appellants, and were under some arrangement of the exact nature of which there was no evidence, included in the estate of the ancestor of the respondent a talukdar, in whose possession they were found at the settlement in 1859. The widow at that time applied as owner for the settlement of the villages. Her claim was resisted by the agent of the talukdar on the ground that he was entitled to possession until sums paid by him on account of the villages were paid off, and the settlement was made in accordance with possession, the widow being directed by the settlement officer to proceed by separate application to get the villages released by payment of the money due by her, but she took no steps to get the property released, and when in 1867 she applied for regular settlement of the villages her claim was dismissed on 31st October 1868, on the ground that they were included in the sanad granted by Government to the talukdar. In a suit brought in 1903 by representatives of the widow for possession of a share of the property on the ground that the settlement proceedings in 1859 constituted the talukdar either a mortgagee or a trustee on behalf of the widow it was admitted that the claim for redemption was barred by s. 6 of Act No. I of 1869. Held (upholding the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner) that there was no warrant for the contention that the correlative obligation that lay on the talukdar to release the villages on payment of the money due on account of them created a trust or constituted him a trustee for the widow, who took no steps to comply with the directions of the settlement officer, and allowed the talukdar to remain in possession and set up a distinctly adverse title in 1867, when she applied for regular settlement. Hassan Jafar v. Muhammad Asker I. L. R. 26 Cal. 879. L. R. 26 I. A. 229, distinguished. From the date of the dismissal of her application in 1868 possession was adverse to her, and the suit, not having been brought until 1903, was clearly barred by lapse of time. Muhammad Baksh v. Muhammad Baksh Ali Khan (1910). I. L. R. 33 ALL. 125

3 ———— Will of Talukdar—Oudh Estates Act (I of 1879)—Sanad executed by talukdar through the medium of family friends—Whether document was testamentary or non testamentary—Registration of document—Indian Registration Act, 1877, ss. 17 and 49—Instrument affecting immovable property—Ground not specially taken in argument in courts below—Costs. A talukdar in 1902, in compliance with the directions issued by the Government, made a declaration that, "I wish to file this application, that after my death Umrao Singh the eldest son (sic) my estate should continue in my family undivided in accordance with the custom of the rajpoots, and that the younger brothers shall be entitled to get maintenance from the gaddis-shahs." Held (affirming the decision of the Courts in India), that it was a valid testamentary disposition by the talukdar of his estate in favour of his eldest son. The same talukdar, having three sons, with one of whom he was on bad terms, executed in 1884 the following document, which he called a sanad—"For Prithpal Singh, who is my son, I fix Rs 300 annually, so that he may maintain himself. Besides this whatever I may give I will give equally to the three sons except provisions which they may take from my godown (kothar). The marriage and ganna expenses of the sons and daughters shall be borne by me. After me the three sons are to divide the property, moveable and immoveable. This has been settled through the mediation of Thakur Joto Singh of Bihat and Thakur Ratan Singh of Rojah. Held (reversing the decision of the Judicial Commissioner's Court), that it was a non testamentary instrument. It was a family arrangement arrived at by the mediation or arbitration of two gentlemen, friends of the family and interested in its honour and it was plainly intended to be operative immediately and to be final and irrevocable. Held also that it required to be registered under s. 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) in order to make it effective as regards immoveable property, and, being unregistered, was, so far, void. On an objection that it was not open to the appellants to contend that the document was not a will the fact that they had throughout the proceedings in the Courts below, taken conflicting views as to the nature of the document was held not to preclude their Lordships from considering and determining the real question in the case and that they were bound to give effect to the real character of the document. Neither party had pursued a consistent course in the matter. Their Lordships permitted the appellants therefore, to raise that contention but in allowing the appeal on that ground they did so without costs to the appellants on this appeal or in the Courts below. UMRAO SINGH v. LACHMAN SINGH (1911)

TALUKDAR—contd.

I. L. R. 33 ALL. 344

TALUQA

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I. L. R. 40 ALL. 470

See OUDH ESTATES ACT, 1869, s. 14

I. L. R. 43 ALL. 245

See TALUK

TALUKDARI PROPERTY

See COMPROMISE I. L. R. 47 Cal. 932

• See OUDH ESTATE ACT 1869 s. 14

I. L. R. 43 ALL. 245

— Incumbrance by Talukdar and his son—

See GUJARAT TALUKDARI ACT (DOM ACT VI OF 1898) s. 31

I. L. R. 44 DOM. 832

Construction—"Successors." Primogeniture sanad— Construction—"Successors." A sanad granted in 1862 to a Muhammadan lady conferred a talukdari estate in Oudh upon her and her heirs for ever subject to the payment of revenue; it provided "in the event of your dying intestate or any of your successors dying intestate, the estate shall descend to the nearest male heir according to the rule of primogeniture, but you and all your successors shall have full power to alienate the estate." The sanad further made it a condition that the grantee should promote the agricultural prosperity of the estate and maintain all subordinate rights, and concluded, "as long as the above obligations are observed by you and your heirs in good faith, so long will the British Government maintain you and your heirs as proprietors." Held that the word "successors" in the sanad meant those designated parties who would succeed under the sanad upon an intestacy, and that the estate having passed by demise out of the line of succession designated, its further devolution was according to Muhammadan law. GHULAM ABBAS KHAN v AMAT UL FATIMA J L R. 43 ALL 297

TALUQDARI PROPERTY—contd.

TALUQDARI SETTLEMENT OFFICER

See GUJARAT TALUQDARI ACT (BOM ACT VI OF 1888 AS AMENDED BY BOM ACT II OF 1905), ss 29 29B (1), (2), (3) AND 29F I L R 38 Bom. 604

TALUQDARI VILLAGE.

Power of district Magistrate to appoint inferior village police—

See BOMBAY VILLAGE POLICE ACT VIII OF 1867, s 9 I L R 44 Bom. 377

TANK.

See ESTOFFEL I L R. 39 Calc 439

TANKHAS

Tankhas granted by the Maharaja of Burdwan are heritable allowances in the nature of property and therefore assignable. LALA MUKTI PROKASH NAYDE v SRIMATI ISWARI DEVI DEBI . . . 24 C. W. N 938

TARWAD.

See MALABAR LAW I L R 36 Mad. 581 I L R 39 Mad. 317

Presumption as to ownership of property acquired in the name of junior member of tarwad—Presumption of fact and not of law. No presumption of law can be raised as to whether properties acquired in the name of a junior member of a tarwad belong to him or to his tarwad. Any presumption to be raised is one of fact. GOVINDA PATILKAR v NANI (1913) I L R 36 Mad. 304

TAULIATNAMA.

testamentary character of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF I L R. 46 Calc. 13

TAX.

See ADEN SETTLEMENT REGULATION (VII OF 1900), s 13 I L R. 40 Bom. 446

See ASSESSMENT I L R 42 Bom. 682

See CANTONMENTS ACT, 1880, s 22 I L R. 38 Bom. 293

TAX—contd

See COSTS . I L R. 39 Bom. 353 I L R. 40 Bom. 538

to recover money levied as—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH II, ARTS 2, 61, 62, 120 I L R. 32 ALL 491

TAXATION OF COSTS.

See BOMBAY REGULATION II OF 1827, s 62. I L R. 37 Bom. 303

See COSTS . I L R. 40 Bom. 588 I L R. 45 Bom. 1234

Power of High Court to give direction as to how costs should be taxed—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1870), s 12 I L R. 45 Bom. 1177

TAXING JUDGE.

reference by—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), ss. 5 AND 7 I L R. 23 ALL 20

TAXING OFFICER.

See APPEAL, VALUATION OF I L R. 37 Calc. 914

See COURT FEES . 3 Pat L J. 443

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), ss. 5 AND 12 . I L R. 32 ALL 59

TEA.

Tea or tea dust, whether an article of food or drink, Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899), s 495 Tea or tea dust is an article "of human food or drink" within the meaning of s 495 of the Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng III of 1899) Hinde v Almond, 52 J P 151, explained and distinguished. Definition of "food" in the Sale of Food and Drugs Act (38 & 39 Vic, c 63), s 2 as amended by 62 & 63, Vic, c 51, s 28, adopted CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA v PAGLI (1919) I L R 47 Calc. 53

TEA GARDEN.

See INCOME TAX I L R. 48 Calc. 161

TEISHKHANA PAPER.

Evidence—Official record—Road cess returns—Bengal Cess Act (IX of 1850), s 95—Road-cess return filed by a co-sharer landlord, and assessment made on the basis of it—Whether such return is admissible in evidence against the other co-sharers. Teishkhana paper is a register kept for the information of the Collector, but it is in no sense an official record; therefore, before a teishkhana paper could be used in evidence, it must be proved that it had been kept in due course by the registered patwari. Bairnath Singh v, Sulhu Mahon, I L R 18 Calc 534, and Samar Dasgupta v Juggal Kishore Singh I L R 23 Calc 366, distinguished. Persons interested to the extent of a one fourth share of the superior interest filed a road cess return under the provisions of the Bengal Cess Act, and they stated therein, as they were bound to do under the law, the names of the tenants in occupation of specific lands. The statement which they made was against their interest. No similar return was filed by the persons who represented the remaining three fourths share of the superior interest, and the Revenue authorities assessed the road cess, as they were entitled to do, upon the return filed by the one fourth shareholders Held, that the return filed by the one fourth shareholders is admissible in evidence as against the remaining shareholders of the superior interest Nusseerun v Gourie Sunkur Singh, 22 W R 192, distinguished S 95 of the Bengal Cess Act (IX of 1880) is not exhaustive. It was intended to restrict the operation of s 21 of the Evidence Act, and a road cess return may be admissible in evidence as against persons other than the one who has made the return CHALHO SINGH v JHARO SINGH (1911)

TEISHKHANA PAPER—contd

I L R 39 Calc 995

"TEJI MANDI" TRANSACTIONS

See WAGERING I L R. 37 Bom 264

TELEGRAM FROM COUNSEL

See BAIL. I L R 38 Calc. 293

TEMPLE

See IDOL I L R 36 Bom 135

See OFFERINGS TO A TEMPLE

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX of 1863), s 3 I L R 38 Mad 1176

See TEMPLE COMMITTEE

See TRUSTEES OF A TEMPLE

— dispute concerning—

See OFFERINGS TO DEITY

I L R 38 Calc 387

— Election of Mahant—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L R 37 All 298

— Manager of—right to remove idol—

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS OFFICE

I L R 44 Bom 466

— right to worship in and to carry procession into street—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 9

I L R 44 Bom 410

— right to perform festival in a—

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM

I L R 40 Mad 1108

— right of management of—

See PARTITION. I L R 39 All 651

— Suit by pujaris against guravs to recover offerings made at—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) s 9 and 92

I L R 45 Bom 683

TEMPLE COMMITTEE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) s 92 I L R 40 Mad. 212

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX of 1863), s 10 I L R 38 Mad. 594

— powers of—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX of 1863), s 3 I L R 38 Mad 1176

I L R. 39 Mad. 700

TEMPLE COMMITTEE—contd.

— VACANCY IN—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX of 1863), s 10 I L R 40 Mad. 793

TEMPLE PROPERTY.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (Act V of 1908) s 92 I L R 42 Bom 742

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XXXIX

See INJUNCTION 19 C W N 442

— Conditions of grant of temporary injunction—Co owners—Build up by co owner—Undue advantage—Review by High Court—Charter Act (24 & 25 Vict. c 104) s 15 Where plaintiffs who were joint owners with defendants in respect of the property in suit sued them for declaration of title thereto and applied for an injunction to restrain the defendants from building on the land and the lower Appellate Court set aside the temporary injunction granted by the Court of first instance Held, that sold occupation by one co sharer did not necessarily constitute ouster of the other co owners. But a co-owner who was, with the tacit or express consent of his co sharer, in sole occupation of a portion of joint property, was not entitled to change the nature of that possession or to use the property in a mode different from that in which it had previously been used Durgendra Narain Poy v Purnendu Narain Roy, 13 C L J 189 followed Held, further, that in granting an interim injunction what the Court had to determine was whether there was a fair and substantial question to be decided as to what the rights of the parties were Moran v River Steam Navigation Co, 14 B L R 352, followed. The real point was not how these questions ought to be decided at the hearing of the cause, but whether the nature and difficulty of the questions was such that it was proper that the injunction should be granted until the time for deciding them should arrive Walker v Jones, L P P C 60 followed Held also, that under circumstances like these the matter for consideration at that stage was where did the balance of convenience lie, was it desirable that the status quo should be maintained or was it right that defendants should be allowed to continue to alter the character of the land Jones v Pacey Builders and Produce Company Ltd., [1911] 1 A D 455, Aynsley v Glover, L R 13 Eq 544, Currier's Company v Corbett 2 Dyer & Sm. 355, Mason v Pender, 27 CA D 43, referred to. Held further, that in a case of this description (where a substantial portion of the building had been erected after the defendants had become aware of the institution of the suit and of the application for temporary injunction) the Court would if necessary, proceed not only to grant a temporary injunction restraining the further erection of the building but also to direct that the building already erected be taken down Daniel v Ferguson, [1891] 2 CA 27, Van der Vort v Horsley [1895] 2 CA 714, referred to. Held, that the High Court was competent to interfere under s 15 of the Charter Act (24 & 25 Vict. c 104) in view of the conduct of the defendants which amounted to a defiance of the authority of the Court Iran v. SHAMBER KARNAN (1913) I. L. R. 41 Calc. 426

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION—contd.

2. ————— Temporary injunction, subsequently dissolved—Order to be obeyed while it lasts—Order binding on party though it prohibits receiving payment from Government and Government authorised to pay by statute—Order operates in personam—Government's duty to ascertain and obey law—Question of construction, question for Courts Where in a suit for dissolution of partnership and accounts a Receiver of the partnership assets was appointed and a temporary injunction was granted restraining the defendants, inter alia from receiving certain payments from Government and the Government which was no party to the suit made payments to one of the defendants in alleged exercise of power reserved to it by statute and subsequently the injunction was dissolved the plaintiff's case having failed Held, that an injunction although subsequently discharged because the plaintiff's case failed, must be obeyed while it lasts That although the injunction could not bind the Government not to pay or make the Government responsible for that obedience to the law which the Court was entitled to expect, the man who received its breach of the order was guilty of a contempt in no way cured by the payment by Government The non-existence of any right to bring the Crown into Court such as exists in England by petition of right, and in many of the Colonies by the appointment of an officer to sue and be sued on behalf of the Crown, does not give the Crown immunity from all law, or authorise the interference by the Crown with private rights at its own mere will There is a well established practice in England in certain cases where no petition of right will lie, under which the Crown can be sued by the Attorney General Dyson v Attorney General, [1911] 1 K R 410, and Burgess v Attorney General, [1912] 1 Ch 175, referred to Is it the duty of the Crown and of every branch of the Executive to abide by and obey the law If there is any difficulty in ascertaining it, the Courts are open to the Crown to sue and it is the duty of the Executive in cases of doubt to ascertain the law in order to obey it, not to disregard it The Government in this case having made its payment with notice of the Court's order: Held, that although with regard to the payments made under statutory powers, the action of the Executive might be justifiable the question whether any particular sum mentioned in the contract in suit was payable as for "labour and supply" (so as to be within the Government's power to pay under the statute) was a question of construction and therefore of law for the Courts That the proper course in the present case for the Executive would have been either to apply to the Court to determine the question of construction of the contract and to pay accordingly or to pay the whole amount over to the Receiver and to obtain an order from the Court on the Receiver to pay the sums properly payable according to the true construction of the contract EASTERN TRUST COMPANY v MACKENZIE MANN & Co., Ltd (1915) . . . 20 C W. N. 457

3. ————— When may it be granted—Balance of convenience to be considered—"Irreparable injury"—"Claim of right" Upon an application for interim injunction, it is sufficient if the plaintiff makes out a prima facie case in support of the title asserted by him Where a plaintiff, who is out of possession, claims possession, the Court will not grant injunction against a defendant in possession under a claim of right unless the threatened injury would be irreparable It is only in cases where property which it is essential should be kept in its existing condition during the pendency of the suit, is in danger of being wasted, damaged or alienated, that the Court ought to interfere The plaintiff must show that the interference of the Court is necessary to protect him from irreparable or at least serious injury before the legal right can be established at the trial By the term "irreparable injury," however, it is not meant that there must be no physical possibility of repairing the injury or all that is meant is that the injury would be a material one, and one not adequately reparable by damages Money compensation may not be an appropriate and adequate remedy in every case of injury relating to immovable property, and the question of "irreparable injury" depends upon the circumstances of each case Lundee v Bettle, L. J. 33 Ch 451, Krishna Prasad Singh v Srinivas Prasad Singh, I L J 33 Cal 791, The Mogul Steamship Co v M Grier & Co., 15 Q B D 476, Hilton v The Earl of Granville, 1 Cr & 1A 253, Bodlam v Jhansal Singh, 1 C B 429, Krich v Burrell, L. R. 7 Ch D 551, Hemanta Kumar Poy v Barenagore Jute Factory Co., 19 C B N 412, and Jural v Shamsur Rahman, I L R 41 Cal 426 referred to BENG. DECLOS & Co v SATISH CHANDRA CHATTERJEE (1919) . . . 1 L R 46 Cal 1001

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION—contd.

TENANCY.

See PENT I L R. 41 Cal 347

See SALE I L R. 45 Cal. 294

determination of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 38 Mad. 710

division of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
14 C W. N. 335

From year to year—Determination of annual tenancy—Notice to quit Ordinarily, unless there is an express agreement for the expiry of a tenancy on a certain day, a tenancy from year to year is only determined by a notice to quit BITARAM BUKARI v SADRU (1913)

I L R 38 Bom 240

Tenancy created by lease—Fruit of person not party to contract holding under lease to show that purpose of tenancy was different Held, per D. R. CHATTERJEE, J.—That although where it is shown by a lease unambiguous in its terms that the land was originally acquired by the tenant for cultivating it by himself or by hired servants or by members of his family the character of the tenancy is not altered by the mere fact that the land was subsequently let out to tenants and although in such a case the land may as between the lessor and the lessee be taken to have been acquired for the purpose as stated in the lease itself, it is certainly open to a person who is no party to the contract to show that the real purpose for which the land was acquired by the lessee was other than what was stated in the lease RAJAKI KANTHA MUKHERJEE v WEST ALL (1916) . . . 21 C. W. N. 183

TENANCY AT WILL.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L. R. 36 Mad. 557

Yearly rent reserved—
Lease, whether by registered instrument only—
Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s. 107
Section 107 of the Transfer of Property Act does not lay down that a lease of immovable property can be made only by a registered instrument but it can be made only by a registered instrument in three cases, viz (i) a lease from year to year (ii) a lease for any term exceeding one year and (iii) a lease reserving a yearly rent. The fact that the rent is reserved at so much a year does not conclusively show that the tenancy is from year to year. The terms of a tenancy which does not come within s. 107 of the Transfer of Property Act can be proved by oral evidence. Lala Surabhi Narain Lal v Catherine Sophia 1 C W N 248. Fazil Sheikh v Kerumuddin Sheikh 6 C W N 268. Sita Nath Pal v Kartick Gharam 8 C W N 434 and Tenataris Zamindar v Raghava 1 L R 3 Mad 157 referred to. SARAT CHANDRA DUTT v JADAB CHANDRA GOSWAMI (1916)

I L. R. 44 Calc 214

TENANCY BY SUFFERANCE

See GRANT

I L. R. 37 Calc 674

TENANCY IN COMMON

See JOINT ESTATE.

I L. R. 43 Calc 103

See TENANT IN COMMON

See WILL

I L. R. 43 All. 600

A tenant in common is entitled to sue for his share of the property demised when a forfeiture has been incurred under the terms of the lease. Forfeiture cannot ordinarily be relieved against in the case of a mining lease. SYED AHMAD SAHIB SHUTTANI v MAGNETITE SYNDICATE LIMITED 1 L. R. 39 Mad 1049

TENANT

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT ss 379 379A

I L. R. 36 Bom 81

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s. 8

SCH I ART 47 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 432

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908) s. 8 EXCEPT

I L. R. 38 Mad. 843

See MADRAS RENT RECOVERY ACT

I L. R. 34 Mad. 179

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882 ss 105 to 117

holding over suit to eject—

See JURISDICTION

I L. R. 38 Mad. 795

interested in subject of dispute—

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND

I L. R. 37 Calc 285

liability of—

See DRAINS

I L. R. 33 Calc. 268

TENANT—contd

liability of, to pay compensation for loss of crops—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD ACT I OF 1908) ss. 4 27 73 AND 143

I L. R. 40 Mad 640

right of—

See IRRIGATION CHANNEL.

I L. R. 40 Mad. 640

See MALABAR TENANTS IMPROVEMENTS ACT (MADRAS I OF 1900) ss 3 6

I L. R. 38 Mad. 954

status of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1885 ss 5, 103B

I L. R. 45 Calc 805

suit to recover immovable property from—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870) s. 7, CL (5) SUB-CL. (2) (cc)

I L. R. 39 Mad. 873

Suit for ejectment of non-occupancy tenant—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT 1901 ss 10 AND 58

I L. R. 42 All. 38

surrender by, of waste lands—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s. 8

I L. R. 38 Mad. 891

status of—Consolidation of raiyats holdings if makes it a tenure—Permanency claimed by tenant—Onus to explain a denial of rent extends thereto—Habit on land of tenancy if raises presumption of permanency—Landlord's abstention from enhancing rent or making land khas if ground for inferring permanent grant—Abstention explained—Tikka tenant in 24 Pergannas meaning of—Marfaldars rent receipts grant of if recognition of tenant—Transferability—Onus in case of agricultural and homestead lands respectively—Decree for rent plus drainage charges if rent decree—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 1 (5) and Bengal Drainage Act (VI B C of 1880) s. 42 (a)—Decree holder expressing intent on to buy tenure at rent-sale at a given price and buying it at said price without fraud if makes sale a private sale—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s. 167—Adverse possession commencing before creation of tenure if incumbrance—Adverse possession commencing after if incumbrance and must be annulled—Incumbrance created by sub tenant if to be annulled—Arrest of adverse possession on rent sale. The mere fact of consolidation of a number of separate raiyats holdings cannot alter the nature of the tenancies and convert them into a tenure unless the landlord and the tenant agreed at the time that the holdings should thenceforth be a tenure. It is for the tenant defendant who asks the Court to presume that the tenancy is permanent to explain apparent variations in the rent since the date of the permanent settlement, not merely by showing that there was variation in the area but also by showing that the additional rent was assessed at some rates of rent fixed according to the class and quality of the land. The existence of habits on lands the subject of a tenancy does not raise any presumption of permanency. The mere fact that rent has not been changed for a long time by itself is not sufficient to show that the original contract was for payment of rent by the tenant at a fixed rent is over. In this case the fact that the landlord did not for a long period make any attempt to enhance the rents of the holdings or turn them into shares was held to be sufficiently explained by the fact that the yield of the land to the tenant was until recently quite small. The word tenancy as used in relation to the tenancies in dispute though they are situated in the "4 Per gannas" means interests which are not permanent. Where rent receipts asked for in the name of the purchaser of a holding were expressly refused by the landlord who granted receipts in the name of the old tenant the purchaser being described merely as marfadar. Held that there was no recognition on the part of the purchaser as a tenant. It is for the tenant defendant who claims his holding of agricultural land to be transferable to prove it. There is no onus of proving non-transferability of the tenure upon the landlord. In the absence of a custom to the contrary the incident of non-transferability is common to tenancies from year to year of homestead lands created before the passing of the Transfer of Property Act s 108 cl (j) of the Act not being applicable to them. Where a decree for rent included certain drainage charges it was a rent decree within the meaning of Ch XIV of the Bengal Tenancy Act drainage charges payable under s 42 (a) of the Bengal Drainage Act being money recoverable as rent as defined in s 1 cl (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Where before the sale of a holding in execution of a rent decree the judgment debtor being anxious to procure good prices for the holding at the sale approached the decree holder and the latter expressed his intention to bid up to a certain amount and at the sale the property was knocked down to the decree-holder for that amount. Held that in the absence of fraud, this circumstance would not deprive the purchaser of the benefit attaching to a sale under the Bengal Tenancy Act or render it a private sale. Quare. Whether the purchaser of a plot is bound to annul encumbrances created not by the putnadar but by the darputnadar. Quare. Whether the person who may have acquired a statutory title by adverse possession for 12 years against the putnadar does not stand in the same position as an unrecorded co-sharer of the putnadar and whether such right does not pass at the rent sale without the necessity of annulling it as an encumbrance under s 107 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. MAHMOOTH NATH MITTER v ANATH BANDHU PAL (1918) 23 C W N 201

TENANT—contd

TENANT IN-COMMON

- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 188⁷ ss. 13
46⁷ I L R 26 Bom 53
See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R. 38 Mad. 684
See MORTGAGE I L R 47 Cal 175
I L R 35 Bom 371
L R. 46 I A 2²

See PARTIES JOINER OF
I L R. 42 Bom 87

See POSSESSION I L R 37 All 203

See TENANCY IN COMMON

TENANT IN COMMON—contd

Hindu Law—Mitakshara—Daughters inhering property from their father—Shares separate and absolute. When the property so inherited is not physically divided, it is held by the daughters as tenants in common and not as joint tenants and there is no survivorship between them. VITHAYPA v SAVITRI (1910) I L R 34 Bom. 510

Co-lessees—Lease by Mahomedan co-lessees—Mining lease—Forfeiture clauses—Lease determined by one lessor—Suited by one tenant in common in settlement maintainable if of—Suit for whole or for share, or a rateable part of—Penal provisions strict construction of—Effect against forfeiture—Covenants in a mining lease except on to rule—English and American law rules of. A tenant in common is entitled to sue for his share of the property demised where a forfeiture has been incurred under the terms of the lease. Sri Rajah Simhadra Appa Rao v Prathipati Ramaya I L R 29 Mad 29 Koragala v Narayana 25 Mad L J 315 and Eshwara Per Mahomed v Cursey 31 Bombay Decree I I P 31 Bom 641 followed. Gopal Ram Mohani v Dhakshar Perahad Narai 5 Nigh I L R 35 Cal. 807 dissented from. Though the aim of law generally is in favour of giving relief against forfeiture in the case of leases in the case of mining leases a proviso for re-entry should be strictly construed and forfeiture cannot ordinarily be recovered against English and American law considered. Dor v Church Wardens of Rye 4 Q B 19 and Doe d Lyod v Ingly 15 M d W 465 153 E R 953 followed. E. Lambhat v Vannayak Ganpat Rao I L R 35 Bom 239 referred to. STEED AHMAD v MAGNISTE SYNDICATE LTD (1916) I L R 29 Mad. 1649

TENDER

- See CONTRACT ACT 187⁷ s 38
See INTEREST I L R 34 Mad. 320
See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS
I L R 34 Bom. 13
See MORTGAGE I L R 42 All 420
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882
s 60 I L R. 43 All 95 & 638
s. 84 I L R 33 Mad 100
I L R 36 All 139

— by debtor—

See LIMITATION I L R 38 Mad 374
— essentials of a valid—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908) ss. 54 AND 78 CL (2)
I L R. 38 Mad. 629

— methods of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I of 1908) ss. 54 AND 78, CL (2)
I L R. 38 Mad. 629

TENEMENTS

— severance of—

See EASEMENT I L R 38 Mad 149

TENURE

- See BOMBAY CITY LAND REVENUE ACT
(BOM II of 18 6) ss. 30 35, 39 40
I L R 39 Bom 664
See JAIGIR I L R 42 Cal 305

TENURE—contd.

1. ————— whether permanent or temporary—Tenancy held by original grantee or his successor in interest for 70 years under four doul kabulyats for terms—"Sarasari" whether applies to rent only or tenure itself—Fact or law, question of—Construction. In a suit by the landlord, under s. 106, Bengal Tenancy Act, for correction of an entry that the tenancy of the defendants was a permanent tenure, for doul kabulyats were relied upon to prove the contract of tenancy, bearing dates 1250, 1277, 1285 and 1295 B. S. All these were for terms of years, and they did not contain the words "from generation to generation." But the successive settlements were either with the original tenant or his heir, the oral evidence being to the effect that the dead man's heir was recognised as having a moral claim to succeed to his rights. All the kabulyats bound the tenant to keep the trees intact and restrained him from making transfer of the land, the last three adding that he must not partition the land, and providing for the landlord's right of re-entry in the event of the tenant not entering into a fresh arrangement. They also spoke of the tenancy as sarasari (temporary). The lower Appellate Court upon these materials held that the tenure was considered by the landlord to be heritable, that it was permanent but not transferable and that the rent was liable to enhancement. Held, on second appeal, that the question whether the tenure was permanent or not was not merely one of fact. That at any rate it depended to a large extent on the construction of the kabulyats, "the question, for instance, whether the word "sarasari" referred to the variability of the rent or the nature of the tenancy being one of construction. That the tenure was neither permanent nor heritable. Per WALMSLEY, J.—The tenant who claims a hereditary right under a document which does not contain the words "from generation to generation" has a heavy onus to discharge. That the temporary character of the tenancy was not limited only to the amount of rent. That repeated renewals of an agreement do not change its character and regard should be had to the later rather than the earlier kabulyats, and the fact that during a period of 70 years only four kabulyats were passed and the settlement made again and again with the same man or his successor in interest did not alter the nature of the agreement. PROBYOT KUMAR TAGORE v SARAT CHANDRA DAS (1917) 21 C. W. N. 809

2. ————— Decree for rent of a tenure against the recorded tenants who are some of the several tenants of the tenure, effect of—Unrecorded tenant not a party, if bound by rent sale. Where a landlord obtained a decree for arrears of rent of a tenure against all the tenants who were the recorded tenants except one who after acquiring title by purchase never got his name registered in the landlord's shrestha. Held, that the entire tenure, and not merely the interest of the recorded tenants, passed by the sale in execution of such a decree and it was not open to the unrecorded tenant, though he was not a party to the rent suit, to sue for a declaration of his right on the ground that his share in the tenure did not pass by the sale. PROFULLA KUMAR SEN v SALINULLA BANADUR (1918) 23 C. W. N. 590

3. ————— Uniform payment of rent for less than 20 years before final publication of record of rights but for an aggregate period of over 20 years—Presumption of permanency if arises under Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss. 35, 50, 115—Natural presumption—Court when may refuse to enhance rent as inequitable. Where it appeared that a raiyat had been holding land as tenant on payment of a uniform rent for over 20 years before the institution of the suit, but that there having been a record of rights in respect of the holding, the period during which before the final publication of the record of rights the rent had been so paid fell short of 20 years. Held, that the presumption of fixity of tenure under s. 20 of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not arise. Where a tenancy appeared to have been created only 40 years ago. Held, that uniform payment of rent during this period did not raise a natural presumption that the tenancy was a permanent one. GURI CHANDAN NANDI v SARAB ALI (1919) 23 C. W. N. 1041

TENURE—contd.

TENURE-HOLDERS

———— liability of—

See REVENUE SALE.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 559

TERMINATION OF SERVICE.

See SCHOOL-MASTER.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 917

TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION.

See DIVORCE.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 215

TESTAMENTARY AND INTESTATE JURISDICTION.

See PROBATE.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 387

TESTAMENTARY CAPACITY.

See PROBATE.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

See WILL.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1043

TESTATOR.

———— capacity of, to execute will—

See WILL.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 355

———— domiciled abroad—

See LIMITATION.

L. R. 43 I. A. 113

20 C. W. N. 833

———— money belonging to, but not known to him—

See WILL.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 109

THAK MAPS.

———— Evidentiary value of—

See PUBLIC NAVIGABLE RIVER.

24 C. W. N. 639

See REVENUE SALE LAW, s. 37.

15 C. W. N. 706

See LAKHNERAJ LANDS.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 574

———— Jungle lands, possession of, presumption as to—Ex parte entry in thakbust records without enquiry, value of. Certain plots of land were entered in the thakbust maps as belonging to a certain Pergunnah in which the plaintiff claimed them to be, and no question of the de-

THAK MAPS—contd.

markation of boundary of these lands was raised in any of the many disputes which arose between the parties during the survey proceedings. It was further found that the title to those lands was with the plaintiffs: Held, that, having regard to the nature of the property which was jungle land, possession must be presumed to have been all along with the plaintiffs. A mouzah appertaining to Pergunnah Pukkuria had not been separately measured or thaled in the course of the survey proceedings. On a statement being called for from the person in possession of the mouzah for its non appearance on the thak map, his agent appeared and stated that the mouzah was wholly covered with jungle, that it being situated by the side of Garhgajali which was defendant's property had been measured along with it and that 10 gundas share of Garhgajali should be taken for that mouzah. Proceeding on these allegations the Deputy Collector made an entry to that effect. A petition made by the defendants Nukhtoor denying the allegations of the plaintiffs' agent was rejected as the matter had been disposed of. With the help of this disputed entry the Subordinate Judge proceeded to mark off a certain area as belonging to the plaintiff as part of the said mouzah. The High Court set aside that decision. Held, that as the decision of the Subordinate Judge was based on the entry made ex parte and without enquiry and on an allegation of the zemindar's agent which was immediately contradicted the decision of the High Court was correct. JAGA DINDRA NATH ROY v. HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI (1911) 15 C W N 887

Value of, as evidence of title and possession. Thak and survey maps may be presumed to have correctly delineated the boundaries of villages and thus to furnish valuable evidence of possession at the time they were made and consequently also of title. But such presumption falls where the maps were promptly challenged and found inaccurate. MOHENDRA NATH BISWAS v. SHAMSUNNESSA KHATUN (1914) 19 C W N 1280

Thakbust maps, value of, as evidence—Condition of land how far affects value of thak maps—Map prepared by Government on behalf of private proprietor, how proved—What circumstances must be established before using such map against a party—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss 74, 83, 90—Applicability to private maps made at the instance of Collector—Ss 12, 13—Admissibility to prove ascertainment of title. S 90 of the Indian Evidence Act only shows that a document was prepared at the time at which it purports to have been made by the officer whose signature it bears, but it does not establish the accuracy of the document. The question whether a map is a public document within the meaning of s 74 of the Evidence Act is prima facie a question of fact and the fact that a map was treated as a public document in a previous suit to which the plaintiff was not a party would not make it binding as such on the plaintiff. A map prepared at the instance of the Collector when in charge of a private estate is a private document and s 83 of the Evidence Act has an application to such map. So before such a map can be used against a party not only must its accuracy be strictly proved, but other circumstances which may affect its evidentiary value such as the purpose for which the map was prepared, must be duly considered; for a map prepared for one purpose cannot be used for a totally different purpose, and in considering the value of such maps the Courts must consider how far the boundaries now in dispute had been in contemplation when the map was prepared. Such a map, unless proved to have been prepared with the assent or at any rate the knowledge of a party, is of very little value as evidence against such party, and in the absence of signature of the parties on the map the mere recital on the map that other persons had notice of the proceedings would not be conclusive. Although the evidentiary value of a thak map would be affected by the condition of the lands at the time of the survey, the map cannot be ignored merely on a general allegation that the lands were jungle at the time without considering whether it was still capable of being surveyed. Possession of jungle lands is prima facie with the person whose title is established. PRITA NATH MAJUMDAR v. MAHENDRA KUMAR MITRA (1911) 16 C W N 317

THAK MAPS—contd.

Value of, as evidence—Thak maps of 1852, if to be presumed as unreliable. Thak maps have always been considered by Courts as good evidence, and although the value of a Thak map depends upon its accuracy there is no presumption that Thak maps must be inaccurate. Opinion of Captain Hurst in his "Notes on the old Revenue Surveys" and JAGA DINDRA NATH ROY v. Secretary of State for India L R 30 I A 44 s c I L R 30 Cal 291, 7 C W N 193 referred to. KRISHNA KALYANI DAS v. R. BRAUFFELD (1915) 20 C W N 1028

If evidence of conditions at Permanent Settlement—Second appeal—Chitta of lands escheated to Government, if public document. It cannot be laid down broadly that a thakbust map prepared in 1865 is no evidence of the state of things at the Permanent Settlement. Where in deciding whether certain lands in dispute were included within one estate or another at the time of the Permanent Settlement the lower Appellate Court relied on the thakbust map. Held that the finding could not be questioned in second appeal. A chitta prepared by Government of lands which had escheated to it stands on the same footing as a chitta prepared in respect of lands in which Government is interested as a proprietor. Such a chitta is not a public document. FATEL RAHIM v. NABENDRA KRISHNA ROY (1912) 17 C W N 151

THAK SURVEY.

Decision of Survey authorities arrived at in the presence of parties concerned, value of, as evidence when acquiesced in by parties and made basis of important transactions—Such decision, if estoppel. Where the question whether certain lands were included within a mahal was in 1849, in the course of a Thak survey, determined by the Survey authorities in a proceeding in which opportunity had been given to all parties interested of making their claims, raising their objections and producing their evidence, Held, that though the parties were not estopped by the decisions arrived at, these were obviously of high authority and when acquiesced in by all the parties interested for a length of time and made the basis of important transactions should not be disturbed unless upon the clearest proof that they were erroneous. SURJA KANTA ACHARYA v. SARAT CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHURY (1914)

THAK SURVEY—contd.

18 C. W. N. 1281

THEATRES

See BYE LAWS L. L. R. 47 Calc 547

THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE.

*Keeping open a theatre after prescribed hour—Joint proprietors, liability of—Penalty for offence or on offender—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng 111 of 1899), ss 559 (52), 561—Bye laws 83 and 85—Validity of bye law 55—Bye law 85 framed under s 559 (52) of the Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng 111 of 1899) is not ultra vires by reason of s. 561 thereof, and each of the joint proprietors of a theatre is liable to a fine to the extent of Rs 20 for keeping it open after 1 A.M., in contravention of bye law 83. Amrita Lal Bose v Corporation of Calcutta, 21 C. W. N. 1009, overruled Peg v Shouder Ghenar, 7 Bom H C R 39, distinguished Rex v Clark, 2 Conv 610 Queen v Littlechild, L R 6 Q B 293, referred to. Per MOOKERJEE, J—As a general principle of criminal law, all who participate in the commission of an offence are severally responsible, as though the offence had been committed by each of them acting alone consequently each must be separately punished. AMRITA LAL BOSE v CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1917)*

I. L. R. 44 Calc 1025

THEFT.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901), s. 124 . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 40

See AUTREFOIS ACQUIT

I. L. R. 45 Calc 727

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1898), ss. 397-423

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 178

See CONVICTION 3 Pat. L. J. 354

See LURKING HOUSE TRESPASS

I. L. R. 44 Calc 358

See PENAL CODE, ss 378 to 382

1. ——— Penal Code, s 379
—Theft—Claim of title by the accused—Conviction for theft illegal unless the Court finds the claim to be a pretence. In a case of alleged theft of fish from a tank which the accused claimed to have been in their possession and not in the complainant's: Held, that if the accused asserts a claim to the thing alleged to have been stolen by him, he should not be convicted unless the Court is in a position to say that the claim is a mere pretence. DURENDRA MOHAN GOSSAIN v EMPEROR (1909)

14 C. W. N. 408

2. ——— Penal Code, s 379
—Dishonest intention—Retaining passenger's umbrella to make him pay fare. The accused, an employee under a Steamer Company, whose business it was to check the tickets of passengers, asked to see the complainant's tickets but the complainant not having got one, the accused took possession of his umbrella as security that he might be compelled to pay his fare: Held, that there being no suggestion that the accused intended either to get any wrongful gain to himself by compelling payment of the fare or to cause any wrongful loss to the complainant who was bound to pay his fare, a conviction for theft was wrong. MATABBAR SZEIKH v EMPEROR (1910)

THEFT—contd

14 C. W. N. 936

3. ——— Theft of fish in irrigation tank—Fish, offence of theft of—Depend upon power of fish to leave the tank. Although the capture of fish in an ordinary irrigation tank will not of itself amount to theft, yet if the water in the tank become so low as to permit the fish leaving the tank, the offence may be committed. Subba Reddy v Munsoor Ali Sahab, I L R 21 Mad. 81, explained Re SUBBAN SERVAL (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 472

4. ——— Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 370—Custom, plea of—Conviction under s 379 unsustainable without the finding that the accused had no right to the subject matter of the theft. Where the accused is charged with theft or of causing wrongful gain or wrongful loss without a clear finding that he had no right to the subject matter of the theft. HARENDRA NARAYAN DAS v RAMJAN KHAN (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc 433

5. ——— Dishonest intent—Bond fide claim of right to property, or mere pretence—Proper question for consideration by the Criminal Courts—Criminal trespass—Evidence of complainant's possession, illicitory—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss 379, 417. The removal of property in the assertion of a bond fide claim of right, though unfounded in law and fact, does not constitute theft. But a mere colourable pretence to obtain or keep possession of property does not avail as a defence. Whether the claim is bond fide or not must be determined upon all the circumstances of the case, and a Court ought not to convict unless it holds that the claim is a mere pretence. Rex v Hall 3 C & P 409, Reg v Wade, 11 Cox 549, Rex v Jenner, 7 L J M C. (O S) 79, Reg v Leppard, 4 F & F 51, Nassib Choudhry v Annoo Choudhry 15 W R Cr 47, Runnoo Singh v Kali Churn Musser, 16 W R Cr 18, Mahomed Jan v Khadi Shekh, 16 W R Cr 75, Khetter Nath Dut v Indro Jahia 16 W R Cr 78, Empress v Budh Singh, I L R 2 All. 101, In re Madhab Hari, I L R 15 Calc 390n, Pandita v Rahimulla Akund, I L R 27 Calc 561, Emperor v Sabalsang, 4 Bom. L. R. 930, Algarasaurus Teron v Emperor, I L R 28 Mad 304, Hari Bhuvamal Emperor, 9 C W N 274, followed. Held upon the facts, that even if the accused had failed to establish his title and possession to the land, it was a case of a bond fide dispute, and that the conviction of theft was bad. ARFAN ALI v EMPEROR (1916)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 66

THEKADAR.

See ODIA PENT ACT (XXII of 1886), s 3 (10) AND CH VIIA

I. L. R. 40 All. 541

See USEFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

I. L. R. 40 All. 429

THIRD JUDGE.

— duty of—

See PRINTING PRESS, OFFICIAL OF.
I. L. R. 39 Calc 202

THIRD PARTY.

— appearance of—

See COSTS

I L R. 48 Calc 352

Practice—Third party procedure—Directions, refusal to give—Discretion. The general principle on which a Court will issue third party directions is—(i) That there must be a clear case of contributions or indemnity from the third party (ii) that all the disputes arising out of a transaction as between the plaintiff and the defendant and between the defendant and a third party can be tried and settled in one suit and (iii) that in cases of contract and sub contract it must appear that the contract between the plaintiff and the defendant has been imported into the contract between the defendant and the third party. Under the rules now in force the third party cannot be cited so as to be bound by the trial of one particular question which is identical as between the plaintiff and the defendant and as between the defendant and the third party. Bazler v France (No 2) [1893] I Q B 591 followed W & A GRAHAM & Co, v CHUNILAL HARILAL & Co (1909)

I L R 34 Bom 423

THIRD PARTY NOTICE

See LETTERS PATENT 1865, CL 15

I L R. 45 Bom 428

High Court Rules, Original Side, Chapter VIII, Rules 127 to 133—Defendant claiming to be indemnified by third party—Third party rendering out of the Original Jurisdiction of the High Court—Notice served on third party by registered post—Chamber Judge issuing a summons for directions after the issue of third party notice—Summons made absolute and order for directions given—Leave of the Court not obtained—Letters Patent cl. 12—Res judicata—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 11 Ex II—Practice and procedure. In a suit filed by the plaintiffs for recovering money due in respect of certain cotton contracts the defendant pleaded that he was entitled to be indemnified by one K. E. S. against the claim made by the plaintiffs. The defendant thereupon obtained an order from the Chamber Judge for the issue of third party notice to be served on K. E. S. by registered post to his address at Peshawar. Subsequently, a Chamber Summons was issued for an order for third party directions. K. E. S. put in an affidavit stating that the High Court had no jurisdiction to try the question between him and the defendant. The Chamber Judge made the summons absolute and ordered that the third party should file his written statement and the question of liability of the third party to indemnify the defendant should be tried at the trial of the action but subsequent thereto. The third party thereafter put in a written statement contending inter alia, that the High Court had no jurisdiction as between him and the defendant inasmuch as the whole cause of action had arisen outside its jurisdiction and that if part of the cause of action be held to have arisen within its jurisdiction leave to sue under cl 12 of the Letters Patent had not been obtained. The trial Court held that it must be assumed from the order made on the summons for directions that the Chamber Judge decided the point of jurisdiction against the third party and that the question was therefore res judicata. On merits the Court passed a decree against the third party, holding that the defendant was entitled to succeed on the contract of indemnity. The third party appealed.—Held, reversing the decree of the trial Court, (1) that the question of jurisdiction was not res judicata inasmuch as the Chamber Judge never in fact decided that the Court had jurisdiction to deal with the third party and that accordingly the question remained to be decided at the hearing of the action, (2) that the effect of the order on the summons for directions was that the third party came into the suit as if he was an added party defendant and that it was open to him at the trial to raise any issues which an added defendant was entitled to raise one of which being whether leave ought not to have been given under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent as he was residing outside the jurisdiction; (3) that it could not be assumed that leave under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent was given merely because the order for the issue of third party notice directed that the notice should be served by registered post to the address of the third party at Peshawar, (4) that it must be proved that an application was made to the Judge under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent and that if the Judge made the order it should appear clearly on the face of it that he was giving leave under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent. Per MACLEOD C J.—When a defendant asks the Court to issue a third party notice in a case in which leave has to be obtained under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, then an application should be made to the Judge for such leave to be endorsed on the notice in the same way as it is endorsed in a plaint. KARIN ELABI SMITH v SHEK ARMED (1920) I L R 45 Bom 24

THIRD PARTY NOTICE—contd.

THREATENING LETTER TO COURT

See UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

I L R. 43 Calc 685

THUMB IMPRESSIONS

— evidentiary value of—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

I L R. 43 Calc. 1128

Evidence—Taking of thumb impression out of Court without objection made—Admissibility of such impression in a subsequent trial for giving false evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 132, and proviso—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s 193. Where a Magistrate, believing that the complainant had given false evidence in the course of a trial, by denying the fact of a previous conviction, had his thumb impression taken out of Court, for the purpose of identification in a future prosecution under s 193 of the Penal Code and there was nothing to show that the latter had objected to the taking of it.—Held, that the thumb-impression was admissible in a subsequent trial for giving false evidence and that the proviso to s 132 of the Evidence Act was not applicable inasmuch as (i) the taking of such an impression was not equivalent to asking a question and receiving an answer, (ii) no objection was made to the taking of it, and (iii) it was not taken in the course of a trial. Queen v Gopal Dass, I L R 3 Mad 277, and Mohar Sheikh v Queen Empress I L R 21 Calc. 392, referred to. TUKOO MIA v EMPEROR (1911)

I L R. 39 Calc. 345

TIGGA TENANT

See TENANT . 23 C W. N 201

TIDAL RIVER

See FISHERY [I L P 42 Calc 489

TIM'BEP

— appropriation of by tenant'—²⁰

See CUSTOM 19 C W N 1188

— compensation for a land acquisition.
How divisible and whether it comprises bamboos—

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT 1894
6 Pat L J 127

TIMF

See ARBITRATION I L R 46 Calc 1059

— computation of—

See LEAVE TO APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
I L R 42 Calc 35

— essence of contract—

See CONTRACT (IX of 1872) s 55
I L R 38 Bom 77

— extension of for paying mortgage amount

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXXIV BR 3 S
I L R 39 Mad 882

— when of the essence of a contract—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872) s 55
I L R 40 Bom 239

TIME-BARRED DEBT

See CONTRACT ACT (IX of 1872) ss 126
128 I L R 42 Bom 444

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R 41 Bom 347

TITLE

See BOMBAY CITY IMPROVEMENT ACT,
1898 I L R 36 Bom 203

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS
I L R 41 Calc 841

See FRAUD I L R 37 Bom 217

See GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM ACT
VI of 1888) s 31

I L R 37 Bom 380

See INSTRUMENT OF TITLE
I L R 40 Bom 630

See LAND ACQUISITION
20 C W N 1028

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 45 Calc 756

See LIMITATION I L R 37 Bom 231

See MADRAS LAND ENCROACHMENTS ACT
(III of 1905) I L R 38 Mad 674

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSES COURTS
ACT (IX of 1887) ss 15 23
I L R 37 Bom 575

See PUBLIC DRAFT
I L R 44 Calc 689

See REVIEW I L R 40 Calc 140

TITLE—contd

See SMALL CAUSE COURT
16 C W N 283

See TRADE MARK I L R 42 Calc 262

— covenant for—

See SALE DEED I L R 38 Mad. 1171

— evidence of—

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1888)
s 49 I L R 33 All 728

— impeachment of—
See KNOTI SETTLEMENT ACT (BOM ACT I
OF 1880) ss 9 10
I L R 38 Bom 769

— priority of—

See COMPANY I L R 36 Bom 334

— proof of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 145
I L R 34 Mad 138

See FISHERY I L R 42 Calc 489

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
I L R 41 Bom 300

— question of—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877) ss. 5
AND 7 I L R 34 Bom 589

See PUBLIC NUISANCE
I L R 42 Calc 158

— suit for—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1877) s 42
I L R 41 All 154

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1808)
SCH I ART 120 I L R. 41 All 569

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1880)
s 42 I L R 36 All 312

— to Subsequently Acquired Property—

See UNDISCHARGED BANKRUPT
I L R 47 Calc 981

1 ——— Priority of Title—Mortgagor and Mortgagee—Deposit of Title Deeds—Right to decree for Foreclosure—Equity of Redemption—Sale of right title and interest of Mortgagor at Court sale on execution of decree. This was a case of contested title to two plots of land near Moulinein.
The title of the plaintiff (appellant) was that by deed of 26th July 1890 (Ex B) the property was mortgaged to a firm who by deed of transfer, dated 8th November 1894 (Ex A) assigned the mortgage debt and transferred the security for it to one A B and he in October 1895 deposited the title deeds with the plaintiff by way of equitable mortgage. In 1901 the plaintiff enforced the mortgage by suit against A B and on 31st December of that year obtained a decree for sale in default of payment in pursuance of which the right title and interest of A B in the property comprised in the above title deeds were sold by auction and the plaintiff who had by leave of the Court become the purchaser a certificate to that effect under the seal and seal of the Court being endorsed on Ex A.
The other title was set up by a person who was not one of the original defendants (the mortgagors of 1890), but a person added as a party defendant by convent subsequently to the filing of the suit. He stated that after the assignment to A B of the mortgage debt, the original mortgage was satisfied by the mortgagors making over the mortgaged property to A R, who by deed dated 14th March, 1893 mortgage it to the defendant, and he brought a suit on the mortgage and on 21st July, 1902, obtained a decree for payment in six months or in foreclosure, and on default being made became as a late owner of the property. The District Judge found (issue 2) that the mortgaged property was not made over to A R in satisfaction of the mortgage debt and so holding thought it unnecessary to decide issue 3, 'Did A R mortgage the property to the defendant?' and issue 4, 'Did the property, by virtue of the decree of 21st July 1902, become the absolute property of the defendant?' He held that the plaintiff had acquired the rights of the original mortgagor in the property under Ex B, and gave him a mortgage decree with interest. On appeal, the Chief Court reversed that decision substantially on the ground that A R had no interest in the property at the date of the sale to the plaintiff. It was pointed out, inter alia, on appeal to the Judicial Committee that the mortgage of 14th March 1893 was a usufructuary mortgage on which the defendant had no legal right to a decree for foreclosure, that that mortgage, by reason of the defendant being himself only a mortgagor, the equity of redemption being outstanding in the original mortgagors, was beyond the power of the defendant to grant and was therefore void, that the plaintiff was not a party to the decree of 21st July, 1902 and therefore could not be affected by it; and that, notwithstanding the alleged mortgage of 1893, the title deeds remained in the possession of A R. Their Lordships were of opinion that the decision of the Chief Court was untenable, and finding that it was impossible to pronounce a final judgment without serious risk of doing injustice to one or other of the two parties principally concerned, allowed the appeal, set aside the decrees of the lower Courts, and remanded the suit to the District Judge for finding on issues 3 and 4 with an inquiry as to the priority between the plaintiff and the defendant, and for retrial. MAUNG THA HATIN v MAUNG MYA SU (1909) 1 L. R. 37 Cal 239

TITLE—contd

2 — Title suit for—Partition—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Permanent tenure—Estates Partition Act (Beng VIII of 1876), ss 7, 111, 149. The plaintiffs and the defendants were co-owners of a certain taluk. In the course of proceedings under the Estates Partition Act (Beng VIII of 1876), the plaintiff raised a claim to a miras or permanent tenure, in respect of certain lands comprised in the said taluk. The Revenue Officer held in favour of the defendants that the plaintiff's title to the miras was not established. Thereupon, the plaintiff sought relief in the Civil Court asking that his title to the miras be declared. The contention raised on behalf of the defendants appellants was that the order of the Revenue Officer was made under s 111 of the said Act, and that the suit was not maintainable by reason of s 149 of the same Act. Held, that s 111 of the Act provided for cases of permanent intermediate tenures, and prescribed the mode in which partition was to take place when the fact of such permanent tenure was established, and had no application to the present case, and that a suit for declaration of title to the permanent tenure was maintainable, the object of s 149 being not to exclude the jurisdiction of the Civil Court in matters which involved a question of title Andau Ashore Chowdhry v Datta Thakurain, 1 L. R. 36 Cal 726, referred to Held, further, that if in the course of a partition proceeding under Bengal Act VIII of 1876, any question arose as to the extent or otherwise of the tenure, the tenure-holder not being a party to the proceedings, he was not affected in any manner by the decision which might be arrived at by the revenue authorities for the purpose of partition between the proprietors. It would be unreasonable to hold that a party who appeared before the revenue authorities in his character as a proprietor should be finally concluded by a decision upon a question of title, which would not have been binding upon him, if he had been a stranger to the proceedings. Where the tenant based his title to the permanent tenure on the existence of the tenure for 75 years and more, prior to the institution of his suit for declaration of his title, and on his purchase and possession from the date of his purchase up to the date of the partition proceedings under the Estates Partition Act. Held, that under the circumstances the tenancy was a permanent one. Miratan Mandal v Jnanu Khan, 1 L. R. 32 Cal 51. Yaba Kumari Devi v Behari Lal Sen 1 L. R. 34 Cal 592 referred to Abdul Wahed Khan v Shaluka Bibi, 1 L. R. 21 Cal 196, distinguished. The only effect of such a decree is to decide that the tenure is permanent, and the question as to whether the rent is or is not fixed in perpetuity is left open for decision in a suit properly framed for the purpose. JAYAKI NATH CHOWDHRY v KALI NARAIN ROY CHOWDHRY (1910)

TITLE—contd

1 L. R. 37 Cal 662

3 — suit for declaration of—Transfer of estate made to plaintiff by widow of Oudh Taluqdar in possession as heir of her husband —Transfer made with consent of all the then existing next reversioners—Refusal of revenue authorities to record name of plaintiff as proprietor—Title set up by defendant under alleged will of deceased Taluqdar which was found by first Court not to have been executed—Transfer found to be valid—Appeal by defendant and admission by him during hearing of appeal of his want of title—Practice—Failure to maintain appeal. This appeal arose out of a suit which related to the transfer to the plaintiff of an impartible estate called Mahawan by the widow of an Oudh Taluqdar in possession of his estate for a Hindu widow's interest under the Mitakshara law. The transfer was made with the consent of the only next reversioners in existence at the date of the execution of the deed of transfer who both attested it. The defendant set up a title under an alleged will of the deceased Taluqdar. In a suit brought for a declaration of the plaintiff's title to the estate in consequence of the refusal of the Revenue authorities to have his name recorded as proprietor, the Subordinate Judge held that the defendant had no title as the deceased husband had never executed the alleged will and that the transfer to the plaintiff was valid. On the hearing of an appeal to the Judicial Commissioner's Court by the defendant, he admitted the correctness of the first court's decision as to his want of title. Held, that the Court of the Judicial Commissioner was wrong in then allowing the appeal and dismissing the suit on the ground that the widow had no power to transfer the estate. The defendant having no title had no interest which enabled him to support the appeal which should have been dismissed on his admission. CHANDRAN BAKSH SINGH v. INDAR BIKRAM SINGH (1916) . . . I L R 35 All 440

TITLE—contd

4 ————— Estoppel—Grantor and Grantee—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s 83, sub-s (1), construction of—Conveyance of the section, effect of—Estoppel, its application. The title of a grantee who can fall back upon prior possession as tenant or otherwise, cannot be defeated by mere proof of conveyance of a 85 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and as between grantor and grantee, the rule of estoppel applies when the elements essential to attract its operation are proved to exist. The creation of complete relation of landlord and tenant in law estops the tenant from denying the validity of the title which he has admitted to exist in the landlord. The estoppel arises not by reason of some fact agreed or assumed to be true, but as the legal effect of carrying the contract into execution, of the tenant taking possession of the property from the hand of the lessor. Bhaganda Beua v. Himmat Baidyalar followed, 21 C L J 103. It is no more open to the defendant than to the plaintiff to prove facts contrary to the allegations which formed the basis of the contract, after the contract has been carried into execution and the contracting parties have enjoyed benefits thereunder. Madan v. Jakt, 6 C W N 377, Gopal Mondal v. Eshun Chunder Banerjee, I L R 29 Calc 148, Tamraddi v. Asgar Houdadar, I L R 36 Calc 256, Janaki Nath v. Prabhakar, 22 C L J 99, Lani v. Muhammed, 20 C W N 943, Gonesh v. Thakur, 21 C L J 539, referred to. BAMANDAS BHATTACHARYA v. NILMAHADAB SAKA (1916)

I L R 41 Calc 771

5 ————— Benami purchase—Purchase giving right to get a title but not giving actual title—Transfer by true owner—Action of father making transfer creating estoppel binding son—Conduct causing change of position in transferee—Onus of proof on person asserting minority of transferor. The plaintiff (respondent) purchased the village of Badam in the zamindari of the late Raja of Deo, from R, a dancing girl, the natural daughter of the Raja, who was the father of the defendant (appellant). In 1899 the Raja's estate being heavily involved in debt, the provisions of the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act (VI of 1876 as amended by V of 1894) were extended to Deo by a special Act and a manager was appointed who, acting under the powers given him by the Act, sold the village by public auction and it was purchased by K who, afterwards appeared, was a benami for the Raja who provided the purchase money. No conveyance of the village was ever made by the manager to K. When the management came to an end in 1896, and the estate was restored to the Raja he caused L the son of K (who had died) to execute a conveyance of Badam in favour of P in order to benefit her and if her mother, L merely acting on the command of the Raja. R being then a minor put in through M a petition for registration and mutation of names, and the Raja himself assisted her, asking that her petition might be granted, and her name be inserted on the register, and stating that he had no objection whatever to that being done, and R's name was accordingly entered on the register as proprietor of the village. In October 1895 the Raja died and, his son being a minor, the estate came under the Court of Wards whose manager in 1899 summarily ejected R who was in possession, and conveyed the village to the surviving widow of the deceased Raja as being gur property and descendible from Rani to Rani. An application by her for mutation of names was opposed by R and rejected. The Rani thereupon filed a suit against R and the appellant basing her case on the allegation that K was benami for her. But the Subordinate Judge held that he was a benami of the late Raja, and dismissed the suit, a decision which was affirmed by the District Judge. In 1903 R executed the conveyance in favour of the plaintiff who brought the present suit against R and the appellant for declaration of title and for possession. The defence was a denial of R's title to convey, and a denial of her power to do so as being a minor. The Subordinate Judge upheld both defences and dismissed the suit. The High Court reversed that decision and gave the plaintiff a decree. Held (affirming that decision), that the onus of proving R's minority was on the appellant and he had not established his assertion. Held, also, that the sale by auction, though it gave A a right to get a title, did not give him an actual title. Both Courts found that A had failed to prove he was a true purchaser for value. When, therefore, L executed the conveyance in favour of R the late Raja was the true owner. K was a trustee for him, and the trusteeship was all that L succeeded to. The late Raja too was proprietor of the estate of which Badam was a part, so that if by renunciation or limitation the right of K to get a conveyance became extinct, the full right and title were in the late Raja, and not only did he cause L to execute the conveyance but he actually assisted R to get registration of her name as owner. By so doing he caused her to change her position, for by such registration she became bound to the Government for all the liabilities attaching to the registered holders of immovable property. If the late Raja had lived and attempted to regain the property, that conduct would have estopped him from doing so. The appellant was his son, and succeeded by gratuitous title, and he could not, therefore, do what his father would have been unable to do. RAJA OF DEO v. ABDULLAH (1918) . . . I L R 45 Calc 909

TITLE—contd

6 ————— Possession, inference from as regards title. Where plaintiff proves that he is in possession for a number of years and has been paying rent to the admitted landlord, the legal inference is that the plaintiff is in possession by virtue of a title derived from the landlord although the plaintiff may have failed to prove the specific title on which he bases his claim. The plaintiff is entitled in such a case to a decree as against a defendant who has no title to possession. ADHAR CHANDRA PAL v. DIBAKAR BHUTAN (1913) . . . I L R 41 Calc 331

7 ————— Suit for declaration of title—Benami—Purchase at an execution sale—Assignee of purchaser—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss 60, 317. In a suit for declaration of title against a purchaser at an execution sale and his assignee, where the sale took place and was confirmed before 1st January 1902, but the sale certificate was issued later: Held, that the suit against the assignee was good and the provision of s 317 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1892), and not of s 65 of the Civil

TORT—contd

v The Bristol Water Works Company I H & N 369, referred to RAM CHANDRA v JOTI PARASAD (1910) I L R 33 All 287

2 ———— Overflow of water into plaintiff's land—from tank—Belonging to stranger caused by defendant lowering level of his own land to make it cultivable—Plaintiff's right to injunction and damages Where the defendants with a view to make their land cultivable lowered its level with the consequence that water in a tank belonging to a third party passed to that land and subsequently overflowed into lands belonging to the plaintiff. Held, that no right of the plaintiff had been infringed by the act, and the plaintiff was not entitled to a mandatory injunction to compel the defendant to raise an embankment in order to prevent this overflow or to damages for harm caused by such overflow. Rylands v Fletcher, L T 3 H L 330, distinguished. Smith v Kenrick, 7 C B 515, Nield v London and N W Ry Co, L R 10 Ex 4, referred to Where the owner of land without wilfulness or negligence uses his land in the ordinary manner though mischief thereby accrues to his neighbour he is not liable for damages but if with a view to use the land in an unusual manner he brings upon the land water, which would not naturally have come upon it he will be liable for damages for the escape of the water into the land of his neighbour. Hodgson v Major, etc of York, 28 L T 836 Chasemore v Richards, 7 H L Cas 349, relied on KENARAM ARHULI c SRISTIDHAR CHATTERJEE (1912) 16 C W N 575

3 ———— Negligence of servants of the Public Works Department—Suit against the Secretary of State for India in Council for damages if maintainable—Stacking of gravel on a military road—Making and maintenance of roads—Governmental or Sovereign function—nature of—Non-liability of East India Company and Secretary of State for acts done in exercise of Sovereign powers—Exceptions—English and American Law Plaintiff sued the Secretary of State for India in Council for damages in respect of injuries sustained by him in a carriage accident which was alleged to have been due to the negligent stacking of gravel on a road which was stated in the plaint to be a military road maintained by the Public Works Department of the Government. The defendant pleaded a general denial of liability. Held, that the plaintiff had in law no cause of action against the Secretary of State for India in Council. Per WATKINS, C J—In respect of acts done by the East India Company in the exercise of its sovereign powers it could not have been made liable for the negligence of its servants in the course of their employment. The provision and maintenance of roads especially a military road, is one of the functions of Government carried on in the exercise of its sovereign powers and is not an undertaking which might have been carried on by private persons. The liability of the Secretary of State for India in Council is similar to that of the East India Company. P & O Co v Secretary of State for India 5 Bom. H C R App 1, followed, Secretary of State for India v Momen 40 I A 48 referred to; and Vijaya Raghava v Secretary of State for India, I L R 7 Mad 466, doubted. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J—The analogy of the Crown in England has no application to the Secretary of State for India in Council. The principle that the Crown can be sued only for remedies contemplated by the Petition of Right is confined in its operation to the United Kingdom and a general liability for torts is dependent upon the law of the particular dominion wherein the action is instituted. Under 21 and 22 Vict., cap 106 the Secretary of State for India in Council is under the same liability as the East India Company was subject to. The East India Company had two distinctive functions which are even to day exercised by the Government of India, namely (i) the exercise of sovereign rights, and (ii) the carrying on of transactions which could have been carried on by private individuals or trading corporations. In the former case, the East India Company was generally exempt from liability. The distinction between sovereign power and powers exercisable by private individuals is that in the former case no question of consideration comes in whereas the essence of the latter is that some profit is secured or some special injury is inflicted in the exercise of the individual rights. The making and maintenance of roads is a Government or sovereign function. English and American Law on subject considered. THE SECRETARY OF STATE v COCKCRAFT (1914) I L R 39 Mad 351

TORT—contd

4 ———— Defamation—Suit for damages—Defamatory statement made and published outside British India—Defendant resident in British India—Suit in British India if maintainable—Order of excommunication from caste passed by Raja of Cochin—Communication of it to the Karasta of a Temple in British India—Transmission by Karasta to Pattamalas—Publication, meaning of—Justification A Court in British India has jurisdiction to entertain a suit for damages for a personal tort committed by a person beyond the limits of British India if he resides within the local limits of its jurisdiction at the time of the suit. This rule is in accordance with the principles of Private International Law recognized in England and the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) indicates that the same rule is to be followed by the Courts in British India. When the cause of action alleged in a plaint is a personal tort committed outside the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Courts of British India, unless the act is wrongful according to the law both of British India and of the place where the act is committed, the suit will not be sustainable. The Al Mozam, (1876) P D 107 The Halley, L R 2 P C 107, Phillips v Eyre, L R 6 Q B 7, and Carr v Francis Davies & Co, [1902] A C 176 followed. Publication in regard to libel and slander does not require communication to more persons than one; there need not be anything like publication in the common acceptance of the term. King v Burdett, 4 B & Ald 35 and Fullman v Hill and Co, [1891] 1 Q P 524 referred to Where a subordinate officer received from his superior in the course of his official duty a copy of an order alleged to contain defamatory statements regarding the plaintiff, and transmitted the same in his turn (as he was bound to do) to his official subordinate. Held, that he was not liable in damages for defamation against the plaintiff, as his action was justified in law. GOVINDAN NAIR v ARCHANA MENON (1915) I L R 39 Mad. 433

5 ———— Negligence—Non-capitalist liability of—Repair of road—Independent contractor—Heaping of gravel on road without

TORT—contd.

Right—Injury to plaintiff—Damages—Statutory bodies liability of—District Municipalities Act (I of 1951), ss 172 and 173—Madras Motor Vehicles Act (I of 1931)—Absence of licence, effect of. The plaintiff sued the Municipality of Vizagapatam to recover compensation for injuries sustained by him owing to the negligent stacking of gravel in a municipal road which was being repaired by a contractor employed by the municipality. The defendant pleaded non liability under the general law and also on the ground that it had employed an independent contractor for the repair of the road. Held that the municipality was liable to pay damages to the plaintiff for the injuries sustained by him. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—In laying and maintaining a road municipalities in this country are not exercising purely sovereign functions and consequently they are liable for misfeasance. The Secretary of State v Cockcroft, 1 I R 39 Mad 351, distinguished. The absence of a provision for payment of damages in the District Municipalities Act which directs the application of the Municipal fund in a particular manner does not affect the right of a person against whom a wrong has been committed by the statutory body to recover compensation for such injury. The fact that the plaintiff did not obtain a licence under the Madras Motor Vehicles Act at the time of the accident did not disentitle him to damages. Although an employer is not ordinarily liable for illegality or neglect on the part of a contractor employed by him, there are certain recognised exceptions to the rule, namely—(i) Where the employer is aware that the doing of a contract work involved a public danger, he ought to see that the contractor so discharges his duty as to avoid such a danger; The Corporation of the Town of Glasgow v. Anderson, 1 I R 19 Cal 415, referred to. (ii) Where statutory bodies are entrusted with the performance of a public duty, their liability can be shifted to a contractor. Hanokar v. The District Council, [1938] 1 Q B 331, referred to. Per Napier, J.—(i) A statutory body like a municipal council cannot be said to be either the servant or the agent of the Crown unless it is so constituted by the provisions of the Act. (ii) With regard to statutory bodies, the liability does not depend on their levying tolls or taxes on account of the work undertaken by them. (iii) S. 177 of the District Municipalities Act does not control the provisions of s. 173 of the same Act. (iv) Where a statutory authority has power to do something to a road which will make it dangerous while it is being done it is liable for any negligence in the doing of that which has to be done, whether the action be that of its own servant or of an independent contractor. MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF VIZAGAPATAM v. KORTA (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 338

6. ———— Trespass—Trees overhanging one's land—Right to cut off overhanging branches—Injunction to remove overhanging branches in absence of damage. A person is entitled to cut off those portions of the trees which overhang his land. He can obtain an injunction to remove the overhanging portion though he may not be able to prove any damage. VISHNU JAGANNATH v. VASUDEO RAGHUNATH (1918) . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 164

7. ———— Wrongful assault—Master and servant—Liability of a Railway Company for wrongful assaults committed by its servants—

TORT—contd.

The Railway Company not liable for acts of the servants which the Company itself is not authorised to do—The Indian Railways Act (IX of 1926), ss 104, 121, 123, 131, 132—Arrest of a passenger for pulling the communication chain not authorised by the Indian Railways Act. The plaintiff and his wife were third class passengers in one of the defendant Company's trains. The plaintiff's compartment which was intended to hold ten passengers became greatly overcrowded at a particular station to the inconvenience and discomfort of the occupants numbering about twenty five. After ineffectual efforts to obtain assistance from the guard and the station master at the station the plaintiff stopped the train by pulling the communication chain, being afraid that he would be molested by other passengers in the compartment. No step was taken to relieve the overcrowdedness of the compartment and the train was re-started. When the train had gone some little distance further on its journey, the plaintiff again stopped it by pulling the communication chain. Thereupon the driver and the guard got down from the train; and the driver pulling the plaintiff out of the compartment cuffed and slapped him, the guard assisting in the assault. The plaintiff was arrested by the driver and the guard at a subsequent station where he was handed over to a station master and after his statement was recorded by the police he was released and allowed to travel to his destination. The plaintiff sued the defendant Company in the sum of Rs. 3,000 as damages for the wilful assault committed by the engine driver and the guard. The plaintiff complained that the assault was aggravated having taken place in a public place in the presence of his wife and other passengers in the train in consequence whereof he had to suffer a good deal of public humiliation and mental agony. Held, (i) that inasmuch as the assault was an incident of the arrest and the defendant Company had no authority under s. 104 of the Indian Railways Act to arrest the plaintiff for pulling the communication chain, the defendant Company was not liable for assaults committed by its servants; (ii) that the special provision of s. 108 of the Indian Railways Act, which expressly provided for a particular kind of obstruction could not be controlled by the more general language of the wider ss. 121 and 123 of the Act. FULLON v. LONDON AND SOUTH WESTERN RAILWAY CO., 1 R 2 Q B 531, followed. Bayly v. Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway Co., 1 R 7 C P 415 and Goff v. The Great Northern Railway Co., 30 L J Q B 148, distinguished. Barker v. Edger, [1898] A C 743, referred to. The master is liable where the servant, acting in a matter which is within the scope of his authority, that is, within the course of his employment, commits a wrong by exceeding the authority vested in him. The act itself which constitutes the wrong may be, and usually is, in excess of the servant's authority, but if in thus transgressing his authority the servant is doing in the master's interests one of the class of acts which the master has employed him to do, then the master is liable. GRISHANKAR DAYASHANKAR v. R. JL and C I RAILWAY CO (1917) . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 103

7 a. ———— Damage to the property of another caused by the cutting of a bund—An order to save the lost farmer's land from ruin da-

TORT—contd.

tion Where there is a natural outlet for a natural stream, no one has power for the safety of his own property, to divert or to interfere with its flow, and if he does so, he is ordinarily liable to pay damages to any one who is injured by his act. The right of a person to protect his land from extraordinary floods extends to the doing of anything which is reasonably necessary to save his property, but he cannot actively adopt such a course as might have the effect of diverting the mischief from his own land to the land of another person, which would otherwise have been protected. Defendant through fear lest, in a season of heavy rainfall, the normal outlets to a certain tank on which his land abutted would be insufficient to carry off the surplus water and with the object of saving his own land from possible inundation, cut a bund to the maintenance of which the plaintiff had a prescriptive right and thereby caused certain lands belonging to the plaintiff to be flooded and the crops thereon destroyed. Held that the plaintiff had a good cause of action in damages against the defendant. Whalley v Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway, 13 Q B D, 131, and Ram Lal Singh v Lall Dary Mahlon 1 L R 3 Cal 776, referred to. SAMI ULLAH v MARIND LAL

I L R 43 All 688

8 ———— Defamation—Bond fide suspicion by defendant of poisoning—Communication by defendant to his subordinates for inquiry—Privilege, absolute or qualified—Absence of actual malice—Liability of defendant Where the defendant, who was the general manager of the estates of the plaintiff a firm under a bond fide impression that he had been poisoned at the instigation of the plaintiff, expressed his suspicion to two of his subordinates with a view to their making inquiries into the matter. Held that the communication was privileged and, there being no proof of actual malice, the defendant was not liable for defamation in a suit for damages for defamation. Togood v Spyring, 10 C M & P 181, followed. Statements made to protect the interest of the speaker, and statements made to protect a common interest form distinct heads of privilege. LEALIZ ROODERS v HAJEK FAKIR MAHOMED SAIT (1918)

I L R 42 Mad 132

9 ———— Legal Act cannot be contribution as between joint tort-feasors False defence whether is a tort An act which is not legally wrongful cannot be treated as a tort. Although the rule of non-contribution between joint tort-feasors exists in India it ought only to apply in cases where the parties are wrong doers in the sense that they know or ought to have known that they were doing an illegal or wrongful act. The only cases in which it will be enforced are those in which liability arises out of a joint wrong or where the equities of the case demand that the plaintiff shall not recover, as where the party sued was merely a formal defendant in the previous suit and not personally interested in the suit. In appropriate cases the liability may be apportioned in unequal shares. There is nothing wrong in a defendant putting the plaintiff to proof of the facts necessary to prove his claim by denying in the written statement the existence of such facts, even if such facts are capable of proof to the knowledge of the defendant and the defendant's motive in denying them is malicious. There is a right of contribution between joint defendants in respect to the costs awarded against them and paid by one of them in such a case. MAHABIR PRASAD v DARBHANGI THAKUR 4 Fat L J 456

TORT—contd.

TOUT

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, s 26
15 C W N 1009
I L R 40 All 153

TOWN NUISANCES

See MADRAS TOWN NUISANCES ACT 1889

TRADE.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R 37 Bom 340
See HINDU LAW—MIXOR
I L R 34 Bom 72
——— when carried on so as to be a

Nuisance—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,
s 133
I L R 1 Lah 163

TRADE LICENSE.

See LICENSE I L R 47 Cal 509

TRADE-MARK

See COUNTERFEITING TRADE MARK
See INJUNCTION 24 C W N 135
——— meaning of—
See PEVAL CODE, s 478

19 C. W N 957

1 ———— Infringement of Trade-mark—Essentials necessary to maintain action for It is a settled law that a dealer in, or a manufacturer of, a particular article who adopts a name for that article whether the name be a purely fancy name or a descriptive name cannot restrain another dealer from using the same name simply upon and the ground that the article so named has acquired a reputation, even though it may be that the public have grown accustomed to buy the article in question only relying on the name and without examining the quality of the article. For a trader to be entitled to restrain another from using a particular name with reference to a commodity is not shown that the public have grown to associate that particular name with himself as the manufacturer of, or dealer in the article. Jarosc v Chakrabarti 1 L R 24 Cal 361, referred to. MAHOMED FAKIR v RAJAGOPAL PILLAI (1909)

I L R 33 Mad. 402

2 ———— Infringement of Trade-mark—Registration, effect of—Vendor's mark—Passing off action—Injunction, grant of An action for the infringement of a trade-mark is maintainable, even though the plaintiff be not the manufacturer or selector of the goods, but merely a vendor of them. There is no system of registration of trade marks in India which gives a statutory title. In a suit for the infringement of a trade-mark the plaintiff claimed the right to be the exclusive owner of a flower of a particular design, but the evidence was directed to establish that his goods were recognised by the general custom of a flower (flower mark) —

TRADE-MARK—contd

Held that in the circumstances of the case, an association had been established between the plaintiff's particular design and the goods sold thereunder and inasmuch as the defendant had adopted the plaintiff's trade mark for his own purposes, the plaintiff was entitled to an injunction. Although no specific objection was taken on appeal to the form of the injunction ordered in the Court of first instance which proceeded on the erroneous assumption that the goods sold by the plaintiff were prepared by him, a variation should be introduced into the terms of the injunction so as to fit with the facts actually established. JAWALA PRASAD v. MURVA LAL SNOWDARE (1909)

I L R 37 Cal 204

3 ——— Assignment—Trade name—Goodwill—Infringement. Where a cigarette manufacturer, carrying on only one business and being the proprietor of several trade marks which he used indiscriminately purported to assign to another cigarette manufacturer "all that the trade mark, name and label known as the 'Sri Durga' trade mark used upon packets of cigarettes sold and known as 'Sri Durga' cigarettes and the goodwill of his business so far as the same relates thereto, and continued dealing in his cigarettes under the other mark. —Held that the assignment was void and unoperative. For the assignment of a trade mark to be operative in law, it is not sufficient that an assignment of goodwill should accompany or follow the transfer of the trade mark so as literally to comply with the rule that a trade mark cannot be transferred in gross, but the trade mark must continue to be a representation of the truth as warranting the origin of the goods to which it is attached within the limits of deviation sanctioned by the usage of trade and commerce. Leather Cloth Company v. American Leather Cloth Company 11 H L 523 Hall v. Barron, 4 De G J & S 159 Singer Manufacturing Company v. Wilson L R 2 Ch D 434, Singer Manufacturing Company v. Loog L R 8 A C 15 Pinto v. Badman, 8 R, P C 191, and Edwards v. Dennis, L P Ch D 454 referred to. BRITISH AMERICAN TOBACCO CO., Ltd v. MAHMOOD BURN (1910)

2 11 L R 38 Cal 110

4 ——— Imitation—Abandonment—Infringement—Defendants improperly representing that their business to be business carried on by plaintiffs—Injunction—Raising of issues—Practice—Procedure. The plaintiff had since the year 1887 been importing into and selling in India watches manufactured at the St. Imier Factory in Switzerland. These watches bore the name "Berna" on the dial. In 1907 the plaintiffs complained of the watches supplied by the St. Imier Factory and began to import watches largely from other manufacturers while they ceased giving orders to the St. Imier Factory. In the year 1908 the St. Imier Factory was purchased by the defendants and at the time of purchase the defendants asked the plaintiffs whether the defendants could positively count upon the plaintiffs to be their regular customers for the articles previously taken from the St. Imier Factory. The plaintiffs replied that they were willing in principle to reserve a part of their orders for the defendants, but that it would first be necessary for the latter to give an idea of what they were going to manufacture and the improvements they were going to make in the quality of the watches.

TRADE-MARK—contd

In one of their catalogues printed in 1907 the plaintiffs announced—We take this opportunity of informing our customers that the name 'Berna' will be changed to 'Service' as soon as our present stock of these watches is sold out. The trade mark will in other respects remain unaltered. The alteration of the name is done to secure a trade mark which cannot be imitated in India or elsewhere. On the 6th of November 1908 the defendants opened a place of business in Bombay and issued a circular, dated February 1909 in which on behalf of the defendant Company, they referred to the plaintiffs as the defendants' agents who had sold 800,000 watches made at the St. Imier Factory in past years and proclaimed that Berna Company's watches would no longer be sold by their former sole agents importers (meaning the plaintiffs) as the defendants had decided to get rid of any middlemen and to deal directly themselves. The plaintiffs thereupon filed a suit on the 2nd April 1909 against the defendants to restrain them from using and imitating various trade symbols alleged to belong to the plaintiffs and from representing that the defendants' business was the business carried on by the plaintiffs. Held, that the plaintiffs for the last three years both in their dealings with the supplying factory and with their customers evinced very clearly and consistently the intention to abandon the name 'Berna' as a quality mark for their watches, and it followed that they could no longer claim any exclusive title to the use of that name either alone or in a trade mark. Held further, that the plaintiffs were entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants their servants, agents, travellers and representatives respectively from in any manner representing that the defendant Company had been or were carrying on the business carried on by the plaintiffs or were the successors in business of the plaintiffs. Per Curiam—The importer who by advertising and pushing the sale of goods under a particular mark secures a wide popularity for the mark in relation to the goods sold by him is entitled to the protection of the Court for that mark in the country of importation even against the producer of the goods. Damodar Ruttonjee v. Hormazy Adarji (unreported) Appeal No. 342 of 1935 and Lavigne v. Hooper, 1 L R 8 Mad 119, referred to. The fact that the user of a word or mark always uses it in conjunction with his own name is not conclusive to show that the word or mark cannot be claimed as a trade mark or that the user has waived his rights in it as a trade mark. The question of abandonment is one of intention to be inferred from the facts of the case: Mousson & Co v. Böhme, 1 L R 26 Ch D 395 and Lavigne v. Hooper 1 L R 8 Mad 149, followed. The practice of raising a number of issues which do not state the main questions in the suit but only various subsidiary matters of fact upon which there is not agreement between the parties is very embarrassing. Issues should be confined to questions of law arising on the pleadings and such questions of fact as it would be necessary for the judge to frame for decision by the jury in a jury trial at nisi prius in England. WEST END WATCH COMPANY v. BERNA WATCH COMPANY (1910) 1 L R 35 Eom 425

5 ——— Using a false trade-mark—Possession of instruments for counterfeiting a trade mark—Selling umbrellas with counterfeit trade mark—False name, use of, by rival manufacturer—Using a false trade description—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss 482, 485 and 486—Merchant Marks Act (IV of 1889), ss 6 and 7 A trade mark must be some visible and concrete device or design affixed to goods to indicate that they are the manufacture of the person whose property the trade mark is. It must consist of a name impressed in some distinctive way. There is a distinction between a trade mark and a trade-name: Singer Manufacturing Co v Loog I R 8 A C 10, referred to. Where a tradesman alleged in his complaint to the Magistrate that his trade mark consisted of a particular device with the name 'Butto Kristo Pal' or 'Sri Butto Kristo Pal' said to be that of his son, but at the trial claimed only the name as the trade mark while one of the partners disclaimed the device except the name, and the former's son claimed the name as representing his own trade mark in a separate business, and the rest of the prosecution evidence did not establish the possession or use of any such trade mark. Held that the complainant had not proved that he had a trade mark for the infringement of which a rival trader using a similar device with the same name could be convicted under ss 482, 485 or 486 of the Penal Code, and that the case was of a civil nature. When a manufacturer has no exclusive right to manufacture a certain article or even articles of a particular brand all that he can claim is that no other manufacturer should so mark such articles as to pass them off as the former's when they are not. See 618. The mere use of a trade name may fall under s 5 of the Merchant Marks Act (IV of 1889) and be punishable under s 6 or s 7 as a false trade description. ANATH NATH DEY v EUGENIA (1912) I L R 42 Cal 281.

TRADE-MARK—contd

6 ———— Licensee's Estoppel—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 117—Licensee's right to question Licensor's title—Public Policy—Assignment of trade marks—Not merely standard or quality of manufacture—Assignment of trade mark—Incoming Partner, liability of, for obligations of firm—Costs Two partners of a trade mark is estopped as against his licensor from questioning the latter's title to the trade mark. The fact that the licensee has repudiated his contract with his licensor cannot give him the right to question the licensor's title, for the latter's concurrence is necessary to rescind the contract. Johnstone v Milling, 16 Q B D 469, referred to. Where jute trade marks bearing the name of the original proprietor of those marks, have come by usage of trade to indicate, not the skill in selecting jute of the original proprietor so as to make those marks personal to him but merely a certain standard kind quality, or mode of manufacture of goods irrespective of the person in whose hands the business might be, the assignment of such marks is not a fraud on the public or against public policy. A licensee for four out of seven trade-marks the remaining three having been abandoned is valid. British American Tobacco Co, Ltd v Mahboob Buleh I L R 39 Cal 110, distinguished. As the right to a trade-mark might be acquired so it might be abandoned and no length of time is required for acquiring the right, or apart from statutory law, to constitute an abandonment. Inverry v Hooper I I R 8 Mad 119, approved. An agreement by an incoming partner to make himself liable to creditors of the firm before he joined it, may be established by indirect evidence, and the Courts lean in favour of such an agreement and are ready to infer it from slight circumstances. Ex parte Jackson, 1 Ves Jun 131, Ex parte Peile 6 L J 20 Jun 602, and Relle and the Bank of Australia v Flower Saling & Co, L R 1 P C 27, approved. JAGANNATH & Co v CRESSWELL AND OTHERS (1913) I L R 40 Cal 814.

TRADE-MARK—contd

7. ———— Title—Assignment—Trade mark in selection of natural products as indicating quality—Goodwill—License to use trade marks—Action for royalty—Estoppel—Licensee estopped from questioning validity of license—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 117—Damages, action for In India the law of trade marks is not governed by statute there being no statutory system of registration. Rights and liabilities in connection with trade marks are determined by reference to the principles of the common law of England. British American Tobacco Co, Ltd v Mahboob Buleh I L R 38 Cal 110 referred to. A trade mark cannot be transferred or descend in gross, but only together with the goodwill of the business to which it relates. A trade mark represents the origin of the goods to which it is attached or their trade association; the truth of the representation is essential. By usage, successors in business may use their predecessors' trade marks where the representation still continues to be substantially true. A selector of natural products like jute may have a trade mark in connection with such selection as indicating good quality. Major Brothers v Franklin & Son [1908] I K B 712 followed. Meaning of 'good will' explained. Inland Revenue Commissioners v Muller & Co's Margarine, Ltd, [1901] A C 217, referred to. In a suit for royalty, brought by the licensors of certain jute trade marks against the licensees, the defence taken was that the plaintiffs had no title to the marks in question and that the license was void. Held, that by virtue of s 117 of the Evidence Act the licensees were estopped from questioning their licensors' title or the validity of the license. At any rate s 117 cast on the defendants the burden of proving that the goodwill of the business had not passed to the plaintiffs to support the transfer of the trade marks and the defendants having failed to do so the plaintiffs were entitled to the royalty claimed. Claim to damages by the licensors for depreciation in the value of the trade marks due to the default of the licensees, refused on the facts of the case. The Decision of IMAM J in Jagannath & Co v Cresswell I L R 40 Cal 814, affirmed. HANMAN v JAGANNATH & Co (1914) I L R 42 Cal 262.

8 ———— Infringement—Action for—Id verisimile and circular—Cause of action—Jurisdiction of Court where advertisement is published A trader is not entitled to pass off his goods as goods of another trader by selling them under a name which is likely to deceive purchasers (whether immediately or ultimately) into the belief that they are buying goods of another trader. The defendant a resident of Cava, published advertisements and distributed handbills at Muttra in the Agra Judgeship advertising his medicine known as Aali 'Sudha Sindhu'. The plaintiff alleged that 'Sudha Sindhu' was his registered trade mark and he brought this suit for an injunction and for damages in the Court of the Subordinate Judge of Muttra held that a trade mark could be infringed by means of advertisement and as the cause of action arose partly at Muttra, the courts there had jurisdiction to entertain the suit. Jay v Lallu L R 40 Ch D 619, Bourne v Swan and Edgar, limited, L R 1 Ch 211, Frank Reddaway v George Hanham [1896] A C 199, referred to KHESTRIA PAL SHARMA v PANCHAM BINGH VARMA (1915)

TRADE-MARK—contd

I L R 37 All 446

TRADE-NAME

See INJUNCTION

24 C. W. N. 155

See TRADE MARK I L R 38 Calc. 110

I L R 40 Calc 281

Similarity of names of Insurance Companies—Oriental—Word known in business—Intention to deceive—Injury to plaintiff—Injunction—Provident Insurance Society—Provident Insurance Societies Act (V of 1912), ss 5 and 6—Indian Life Assurance Companies Act (VI of 1912)—User. On an application by the plaintiff company, an old large and well known Insurance Company registered in Bombay, and having a branch office in Calcutta, for a temporary injunction to restrain the defendant company, which was incorporated in Calcutta in November 1912 with a small share capital, but with the widest powers of doing life and other insurance business though its present rules limited its life insurance business to the issue of policies for sums not exceeding Rs 500 from using or carrying on business under the name it had adopted—Hell, that, inasmuch as the term 'Oriental' had become identified with the plaintiff company, an injunction should issue restraining the defendant company from using the term 'Oriental' in its name as such user would be likely to deceive the public, and the defendant company would be a source of danger to and would be liable to cause damage to, the plaintiff company. Merchant Banking Company of London v Merchants Joint Stock Bank, L R 9 Ch D 569, Accident Insurance Company Ltd v Accident, Disease and General Insurance Corporation, Ltd, 51 L J Ch 104 and Guardian Fire and Life Assurance Company v Guardian and General Insurance Company Ltd, 39 L J Ch 251, referred to. The circumstance that the field of operation of the defendant company was in the Orient, did not entitle it to the use of the term 'Oriental'. Hendricks v Montague L R 17 Ch D 638 followed. Rugby Portland Cement Co, Ltd, v Rugby and Acobold Portland Cement Co, Ltd, 8 R P C 241 (C A) 2 R P C 46, distinguished. Smile An Insurance Company, incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, is not a Provident Insurance Society within the scope of the Provident Insurance Societies Act of 1912. ORIENTAL GOVERNMENT SECURITY LIFE ASSURANCE CO, LD v ORIENTAL ASSURANCE CO, LD (1913)

I L R 40 Calc 570

Manufacturers of cloth affixing numbers on pieces sold—Cloth known by the numbers affixed as being of a particular manufacture—Numbers, not quality marks—Agents and middlemen ordering out goods by numbers alone—Use of numbers protected, when they are part cular marks of a manufacturer's goods—Numbers, when a trade name—Cases of actual deception not necessary. The plaintiffs were manufacturers of cloth on a large scale at their Mills in Nagpore, Central Provinces. In the year 1904 they commenced to manufacture a certain quality of black twill and to distinguish this particular cloth from all other cloths of their manufacture stamped on each piece of cloth the No 2051 and immediately below that number stamped each piece with the No 10 which denoted the colour and shade of the cloth. There was also on each piece of cloth a woven device of a serpent surrounded by a scroll containing the name of the Empress Mill. This twill had acquired a great reputation in the Indian markets and particularly in Sindh, the North West Frontier Provinces, and the Punjab, where the plaintiffs had got their selling agents at Amritsar, Peshawar and Karachi. The dealers in these towns and other smaller towns would apply to the selling agents for the plaintiffs' cloth and the cloth would be distributed by these dealers to smaller dealers in smaller towns and villages and so on until it ultimately found its way to the consumer. In or about July 1913 the defendants began to manufacture black twill cloth and on every piece of such twill put on the No 2051 with the No 10 below in the same position as No. 10 stamped on the plaintiffs' cloth. In addition the defendants annexed a label thereto representing an image of the Sun known as the 'Sooorj Chap' or Sun label and also a white ticket bearing the defendant company's name and other particulars in English, Gujarathi and Urdu languages. The plaintiffs alleged that by the year 1913 their No. 2051 had become identified with their goods and any black twill cloth stamped with the No 2051 would be ordinarily taken by purchasers as being the well known No 2051 cloth of the plaintiffs and would be very likely passed off by rival companies as being the plaintiffs' goods. The plaintiffs contended that they were entitled solely to the use of the No. 2051 on their black twill and the use of that number by the defendants on a similar twill constituted an infringement of their rights. The plaintiffs accordingly sought to restrain the defendants by injunction from selling their black twill cloth with the No 2051 stamped on it and for an account of the profits made by the defendants by the sale of their black twill with the No 2051 stamped on it. The defendants pleaded that the No 2051 was merely a quality mark descriptive of goods and was so adopted by several dealers in black twill. They further relied on the fact that they had taken particular care to distinguish their goods from those of the plaintiffs by using different labels and devices. The trial Court decreed the plaintiffs' claim for injunction and account. On appeal by the defendants, Ald (1) that the plaintiffs having established that the particular No 2051 was an invariable indication of the cloth being of their manufacture, they were entitled to claim an exclusive right to the use of that number in connection with the black twill which they put on the market. Barlow v Goendram, 1 L R 24 Calc 364, distinguished. Walkerpoole v Currie, L R 5 H L 508, and Birmingham Vinegar Brewery Company v Powell [1897] A C 710, followed. (2) that it was not necessary for the plaintiffs to prove cases of actual deception if the defendants had put into the hands of middlemen a means whereby ultimate purchasers were likely to be

TRADE-NAME—contd

TRADE-NAME—corcll

defendants Singer Manufacturing Company v Leong, 18 CA D 335, 412, and Leter v Goodwin, 36 CA D 1, followed MADHAVJI DHARMSEY MANUFACTURING CO v THE CENTRAL INDIA SPINNING, WEAVING AND MANUFACTURING CO (1916) . I L R 41 Bom. 49

TRADE-USAGE

See JUTE . I L R 44 Calc 98

TRADING LICENSES

— granted to hostile firms—

*See CONTRACT WITH ALIEN ENEMY
I L R 41 Bom 390*

TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

*See BILL OF EXCHANGE
I L R 41 Bom. 566
I L R 46 Calc. 184*

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss 58 (2), 65 I L R 40 Bom 570

*See SALE OF GOODS
I L R 40 Bom 11*

*Acts done and directions given before date of the Ordinance, relevancy of—Subsequent ratification—“Trading”, meaning of—Directions to an agent to take delivery of goods lying in London, and to sell to German firm against payment—Supply of goods to agent and sale by him to German firm—“Destined” meaning of—Legal and actual destination—Goods shipped to enemy country before the war but taken up by English firm in London—Exportation of goods to accused’s agent in Italy refused by such firm because of Royal Proclamation—Abetment of supply to, or of trading by the agent—Power of Appellate Court to alter conviction of principal offence to one of abetment—Discretion of Court—Commercial intercourse with Enemies Ordinance (VI of 1914), s 3—Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No 2, cl 5 (7) (9)—Fogal Proclamation of 15th October 1914—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 423 Where a case of mica was shipped by the accused to a German firm before the war but arrived in London after its outbreak and was taken up by an English firm, whereupon he wrote, before the date of the Ordinance VI of 1914, viz., 14th October 1914, to a Bank in London, to make over the case to the English firm, and also to the latter to take it up and send the same to his agent at Genoa on application by such agent which, however, the English firm refused to do by reason of the prohibition of the export of mica to Italy by Royal Proclamation, and further wrote to the agent to apply to the English firm for the mica, and to deliver it to a German purchaser against payment, and where, after the date of the Ordinance, the accused again wrote to his agent informing him of his aforesaid letters and instructions to the Bank and the English firm, and directing the agent to apply for the case of mica to the latter and to deliver it to the German purchaser against payment, which directions were not in fact carried out on account of the refusal by the English firm to export the mica to Italy—Held, that, as the Ordinance was not retrospective, the only acts and directions which the Court could take into consideration, to establish the offence of trading with the enemy,*

TRADING WITH THE ENEMY—contd

*were such as were done or given after the date of its enactment, unless the previous acts and directions were ratified thereby Quare Whether mica directions to an agent to apply for goods in the possession of a third person, and to deliver the same to an enemy against payment amount to trading within the meaning of the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No 2, cl 5 (7) The word “destined” when used with the term “trading” in the same sub-clause means “intended for” and not “on the way to” Legal destination must not be confused with actual destination The Court must determine whether the goods were actually destined for an enemy and with reference only to acts done and directions given after the date of the Ordinance VI of 1914 If the English firm had really purchased the goods outright they were not in existence, so far as any disposition of them by the accused was concerned after the date they were taken up and paid for and could not be destined for an enemy But assuming that the said firm had merely taken over the goods on behalf of the accused and subject to his further instructions, a direction to the agent to apply for and deliver them to a German purchaser against payment was insufficient to give the goods an enemy destination in fact, as such direction had no operation on receipt thereof by reason of the refusal of the English firm to export the goods to the agent at Genoa Held, also, that as the point was not free from doubt the accused was entitled to the benefit of it It is not a universal rule that in no case can an Appellate Court convict an accused of abetment when he is charged only with the principal offence But it is discretionary with the Appellate Court to allow such fresh charge being tried on appeal The Court refused under the circumstances of the case to alter the conviction to one of abetment of supply to or of trading by the agent Where the agent of the accused sold and delivered some cases of mica, and handed over the shipping documents for certain other cases lying in London, to a German firm or its agent in Genoa—Held per BEACHCROFT and GREAVES, JJ, that the accused was guilty of the offence of supplying goods to the enemy within cl 5 (7) of the Trading with the Enemy Ordinance No 2 INDAR CHAND : EMPEROR (1916)*

I L R 42 Calc 1094

Attempting to trade with enemy—Commercial intercourse with Enemies Ordinance (VI of 1914), s 3 “Obtaining” in ss 5 (7) and 5 (9) of the Royal Proclamation, meaning of—Penal statutes, generally not retrospective The accused a trader in Madras dealing in tobacco, cabled on 28th July 1914, to one Ruppell, a German residing in Germany for certain bales of tobacco In compliance with this order Ruppell sent to certain agents of the accused at Amsterdam some bales of tobacco about the end of September 1914, and these agents again shipped them on 7th October 1914 to Messrs Lancelot and Dent, the agents of the accused in London Having received the same before the 14th October 1914, the London agents reshipped them to the accused who received the same in Madras between the 21st and 26th November 1914 War was declared between England and Germany on 4th August 1914 A Royal Proclamation prohibiting trade with the enemy was made on 2nd September 1914 and an Ordinance

TRADING WITH THE ENEMY—contd.

(Commercial Intercourse with Enemies Ordinance VI of 1914) to the same effect was passed on 14th October 1914, and it came into force on that day. On these facts, the accused was charged and convicted by a Magistrate of the offence of trading with the enemy under s. 3 of the Commercial Intercourse with Enemies Ordinance VI of 1914 on the ground that he obtained in Madras between 21st and 26th November 1914, goods from an enemy and from an enemy country. He was also convicted by the Magistrate of the offence of attempting to trade with the enemy under the same section, writing two letters on 26th November 1914, one to a neutral subject in Holland and another to an enemy in Germany, requesting them to secure for him his merchandise in Germany. Held on the second charge, that the accused was guilty of attempt to trade, even if the goods in the enemy's country became his own before the outbreak of the war or even if there were no goods of his share at the time he wrote the letters. Reg v J. G. S. I J (N S) M C 116, and Reg v Oppenheimer and Colbeck, [1915] 2 K B 735 followed. Held on the first charge that the conviction could not be sustained, as the charge was not proved as laid. Per WALLIS, G J.—The charge of trading is bad for two reasons—(1) the ordinance, or proceeding was before the 14th of October 1914, the date when the Ordinance came into force, and (2) even this proceeding was in London by the accused's agents, an offence which Courts in India have no jurisdiction to try. Semble. Trading with the enemy is a Common Law offence in England if not in India also. The Royal Proclamation and the Ordinance have no retrospective effect. The words "obtaining goods" in their ordinary meaning include "procuring or ordering goods" as well as "taking delivery of them on arrival." Per Courts Trotter, J.—The offence committed, if any, was one of obtaining goods by way of transmission under the latter part of s. 5 (f) of the Royal Proclamation an offence with which the accused was not charged. Semble. Trading with the enemy is a Common Law offence both in England and in India. Obiter. A person may be guilty of illegally obtaining goods twice, once through his agents and thereafter by himself. It is no defence to the charge of obtaining goods under the Ordinance that some acts constituting the offence took place before the date of the Ordinance. Reg v Griffiths, [1891] 2 Q B 145, referred to. The charge of trading having failed, their Lordships refused in the circumstances of the case to amend the charge into one of obtaining goods by way of transmission under the latter portion of s. 5 (f) of the Royal Proclamation. PROPER v KING EMPEROR (1916)

I L R 40 Mad 31

TRADING WITH THE ENEMY PROCLAMATION NO 2— cls (1) (2) —See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

I L R 42 Cal 1081

TRAFFICKING IN OFFICES*See* CONTRACT I L R 43 Cal 115TRANSFER.See* CHAUKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS.

I L R 45 Cal 705

TRANSFER—contd.See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, 19th s 10 L

I L R. 45 Bom. 87

See FRAUDULENT TRANSFER*See* HINDU LAW—WIDOW

16 C W. N 106

See ITAM I L R. 47 Cal. 979*See* MAHOMEDAN LAW ENDOWMENTS.

I L R. 47 Cal 886

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

14 C. W. N. 63

See PRG EXEMPTION I L R 38 All 301*See* TRANSFER OF HOLDING*See* TRANSFER OF SHARES*See* TRUSTS ACT, s 5

I L R 38 Bom. 328

— by father, effect of—

See TITLE, PROOF OF

I L R. 45 Cal 303

— by lessee—

See LESSON AND LESSPE.

I L R 37 Cal 633

— by mortgagee—

See MORTGAGE BY MINOR.

I L R. 38 Mad. 1071

— effect of—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS.

I L R 45 Cal. 515

— fraudulent—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT, 1907,

s 39 . 2 Pat L J 101

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882,

s 53 . 2 Pat. L J. 546

— of application—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 24.

I L R. 34 Bom. 411

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R. 40 Cal. 37

— of decree—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

5 Pat L J 639

I L R 37 Cal. 574

See HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS,

s 161 . I L R 39 Mad 485

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

I L R. 43 Cal 990

— of Civil Case—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss

22 to 24

— to High Court—

See APPEAL.

I L R. 47 Cal. 1104

— of Criminal Case—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss

526 to 529

— of EXTRADITION

I L R. 48 Cal. 51

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT

I L R. 44 Cal. 595

TRANSFER—contd

of Criminal Case—contd

See PEVAL CODE, s 228

I L R 38 All 284

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 42 Cal 667

See TRANSFER OF MAGISTRATE

I L R 40 Mad 108

of goods to creditor—Effect of—

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT
(III of 1909), s 57

I L R 39 Mad 250

of Magistrate who has written but not delivered judgment—See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1908) s 367

I L R 40 Mad 108

of Management—

See TRUSTEES OF A TEMPLE

I L R 39 Mad 456

of Proceedings—

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869) ss 3, 16, 37, 44

I L R 40 Bom 109

of portion of jote—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 37 Cal 687

of shares—

See COMPANY I L R 36 Bom 334

of suit—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
ACT (IX OF 1897) ss 23, 27

I L R 38 Bom 180

of tenants rights—

See PARTIES 14 C W N 703

oral—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss 118 to 120, 54 and 55, CL 6
(b)

I L R 38 Mad 518

to Bona fide purchaser—

See SHARES I L R 46 Cal 331

to landlord—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS
I L R 45 Cal 685Transferee taking possession before execution of agreement—

See AGREEMENT TO TRANSFER

24 C W N 463

with consent of reverend—

See TITLE, SUIT FOR DECLARATION OF
I L R 38 All 440Bona fide transferee for value without notice of mortgage—See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT s 10A I L R 45 Bom 871 ——— Transfer of share of a claim in respect of property not in possession of valid A transfer by a person of a share of his claim with respect to property of which he is not in possession on is valid and operative. An agreement between the transferor and the transferee that it shall not be competent to the former to confess judgment in favour of the defendant or to enter into compromise or withdraw the claim in respect of the whole or any part of the subject matter of the suit in tituled for the recovery of the property, is valid and should be given effect to. Lal Achit Ram v Kazi Hussain Khan L R 32 I A 113 see 9 C W N 477 followed. In such a suit if the transferor wants to withdraw, he may be permitted to do so but the suit may proceed at the instance of the transferee. RAMDHAN LUNI v GOSSAIN DALMIH PURI (1909) 14 C W N 191

TRANSFER—co 11

2. ——— Transfer of a suit under s 92 Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) from the Court of a District Judge to that of the Additional District Judge—Authority of Additional District Judge to try such suit—Civil Courts Act (XII of 1887) s 8, sub s (2)—Convenience. An Additional District Judge by virtue of the assignment of all the functions of a District Judge under the provisions of sub s (2) of s 8 of Act XII of 1887 is empowered to exercise the same powers as the District Judge in suits under s 92 of the Civil Procedure Code. See Any other Court empowered in that behalf by the Local Government in s 92 of the Code, probably refers to Courts such as the Subordinate Judges Courts. Transfer of the suit was ordered in this case on the ground of convenience the opposite party being compensated by payment of his costs. TOHAROH RAHMAN v HAZI ABUL FATHIM (1920) I L R 48 Cal 53

3. ——— Notification by Local Government empowering a particular Judge to deal with a part heard case pending in another Court, how far legal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 9.—Power of District Judge to transfer a case from his file by virtue of such notification. A notification by the Local Government under s 92 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), directed to a particular Judge and purporting to deal with a particular litigation which was already pending in the Court of the District Judge, is ultra vires. A District Judge therefore has no power to transfer a case brought under s 92 of the Civil Procedure Code which was pending in his Court to the Court of a particular Subordinate Judge who was empowered by Local Government to try it by virtue of such a notification. ABDUL KARIM ABU AHMED KHAN v ABDUS SOBHAN CHOWDURY (1911) I L R 39 Cal 146

4. ——— Appeal—Powers of Court to whom case is transferred for trial—Limitation—Practice. When an appeal has been transferred for trial by a District Judge to a Subordinate Judge the Subordinate Judge has, for the purpose of disposing of the appeal under the Bengal North Western Provinces and Assam Civil Courts Act, all the powers which could be exercised by the District Judge. Where therefore an appeal was presented to the District Judge after the period of limitation owing to a mistake of law as regards the appealability of the suit and the District Judge admitted the appeal under s 6 of the Limitation Act and transferred the appeal to the Subordinate Judge for disposal the Subordinate Judge has power to consider whether the appeal was competent or barred by limitation.

TRANSFER—contd

Moties Sahoo v Om sh Chunder Sircar 1 L R 5 Calc 1 not followed VISHNADEV DAS v SITA NATH ROY (1912) 1 L R 40 Calc 259

5 ————— Application for adjournment to move the High Court for transfer—Criminal case—viante g of—Proceedings for security to keep the peace—Criminal Procedure Code Act V of 1838 as 107 8th (3). A proceeding under a 107 of the Criminal Procedure Code is a criminal case, and is subject to the application of cl (3) of s 520 WAZED ALI KHAN v FAKHRAH (1913) 1 L R 41 Calc. 710

6 ————— Transfer by District Judge of parties for case to Additional Judge—Civil Courts Act (XII of 1837) as 8 sub a (9) 2nd sub-a (9)—Roba e and Administration Act (I of 1837) as 51, 63 It is competent to a District Judge to transfer a particular case to an Additional Judge under the provisions of sub a (2) of s 8 of the Civil Courts Act of 1837 RAT KISHORE LAL v NEMAN BIRI (1914) 1 L R 42 Calc. 512

7 ————— No notice to parties—Dismissal for default—application for rehearing—Code of Civil Procedure (Act I of 1908) O VII, r 19—“sufficient cause” Where an order of transfer made notice should be given to the parties or their representatives On the 16th July the hearing of an appeal pending before the District Judge was postponed until the 21st August On the 9th August the appeal was transferred to the Court of the Subordinate Judge and on the 10th August the Subordinate Judge ordered the case to be put up on the 21st The order of transfer was not communicated to the parties On the 21st neither of the parties appeared before the Subordinate Judge, and he dismissed the appeal. Held that under the circumstances there was sufficient cause for granting rehearing of the appeal. RAM SUKHAL PATHAK v MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH 3 Pat L J 218

8 ————— Criminal case—Grounds for Expression of opinion by Judge in counter case The basis of all applications for transfer is that the accused must have a reasonable apprehension that he will not receive a fair trial But a Judge is not incompetent to try a case of rioting merely because he has tried and decided a counter case and expressed an opinion therein AMRIT MOYDAL v KING EMPEROR 1 Pat L J 399

TRANSFER DEED

See LIVERPOOL CITY

1 L R 43 Calc. 933

TRANSFER OF APPEAL

When an order of transfer is made notice should be given to the parties or their agents RAM SUKHAL PATHAK v MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH 3 Pat L J 218

TRANSFER OF HOLDING

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 520

1 L R 31 All 533

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

1 L R 40 Calc 570

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV of 1860)

s 182 1 L R 33 All 163

See TRANSFER

TRANSFER OF HOLDING—contd

Gomastha if can be d landlord by recognising transferee of jote a question of fact—Burden of proof of the gomastha authority if lies on landlord—Transfer of holding recognition of what constitutes It cannot be laid down as an inflexible rule of law that a landlord is not bound by the act of gomastha in recognising a transferee of an occupancy holding The question of the gomastha s power to bind his landlord is one which must be decided on the particular facts of each case The burden of proof is in the first instance upon the landlord to prove the extent of the authority of the gomastha as a matter peculiar within his knowledge Where therefore a gomastha of the landlords accepted rent from a transferee of a jote and the landlords failed to show that the gomastha acted beyond the scope of his authority—Held that the facts constituted sufficient recognition of the transferee by the landlord SUDHAN JAMADAR v BHENARI MAHTOV (1911) 15 C W N 953

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

See RIGHT OF SUIT

1 L R 36 Mad. 373

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 6 CL (a)

1 L R 32 All 88

to the jurisdiction of another Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) as 37, 38 and 150

1 L R 37 Mad. 462

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT

1 L R 39 All 627

See MORTGAGE 1 L R 43 Bom. 703

1 L R 35 All 48

applicability of, to Crown lands—

See LEASE 1 L R. 40 Mad 910

Vendee s right to possession against unpaid vendor—Lender only entitled to statutory charge The provisions of the Transfer of Property Act that the vendee after conveyance is entitled to possession and that the vendor has a statutory charge on the property for unpaid purchase-money are clear and it is not competent to the Courts in a suit for possession by the vendee to pass a decree for possession conditional on the vendee paying the balance of the purchase money Bhai Nath Singh v Palla, I L R 39 All 125 not followed VELAUTUTHA CHETTY v. GOVINDASAWMI NAIDHY (1910)

1 L R. 34 Mad. 543

In the absence of evidence to the contrary a homestead land comprised in a tenancy created before the Transfer of Property Act 1882 was passed must be presumed to be non-transferrable AMRICA PRASAD SINGH v BALPPO LAL 1 Pat. L J 253

Lease created before—Holding over—Reservation of a yearly rent—Presumption that tenancy one from year to year—Lease before Registration Act (VIII of 1871) reserving a yearly rent if required registration Where it appeared that the tenant took settlement of a holding for a term of one year by executing a kabuliyat in 1273, and after the expiry of the term he and his successors in interest were holding over until the present suit to eject upon 22 days' notice to quit was instituted by the land lord Held, that a stipulation in the kabuliyat that the tenant would be liable "to pay the rent of which assessment notice will be served by the landlord," and on his failing therein the landlord would be free to settle the holding with somebody else, did not take away the right of the landlord to eject the tenant after service of notice to quit according to law, even if the landlord did not choose to exercise his right to call upon the tenant to pay additional rent and settle the land with others in the event of the tenant refusing to pay such rent. That the tenancy having been created long before the Transfer of Property Act, s 106 or s 116 of the Transfer of Property Act did not apply, and inasmuch as a yearly rent had been reserved, the tenancy was to be presumed to be a yearly tenancy, even though the rent was payable according to monthly instalments. That the tenancy having been created before the Registration Act, VIII of 1871, the stipulation reserving a yearly rent could be validly made without a registered instrument. That the tenancy could be terminated by a reasonable notice to quit. CHAKU CHANDRA NAI v SATYA SEBAK GHOSAL (1919) 23 C W N 641

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

— ss 2, cl (c), 116—Ijaradar for a term, sub lease for residential purposes granted by before 1882—Holding over and acceptance of rent by next such ijaradar, effect of—Transfer of Property Act, effect of, on such tenancy—S 2, cl (c), s 116, conditions necessary for the application of—Notice required to terminate such tenancy The defendant was brought upon the land as a tenant under a verbal lease before the Transfer of Property Act came into force by an ijaradar of the land, who held for a limited term which expired after the Transfer of Property Act had come into operation. The tenancy was created for residential purposes. The defendant continued in occupation of the land and was treated as tenant by the next ijaradar who accepted rent from the defendant. The landlord, the lessor of the ijaradar, never accepted rent from her. Held (in a suit for ejectment of the defendant), that in order to entitle the defendant to avail herself of the benefit of cl (c) of s 2 of the Transfer of Property Act it is necessary for her to establish that her right as it exists at present arose out of a legal relation constituted before the Transfer of Property Act came into force, in other words, that the tenancy created by the first ijaradar continued in operation even after the termination of the first ijara. That the tenancy of the defendant came to amend when the ijara during which it was created expired, and the true effect of the acquiescence by the second ijaradar in the continuance of the possession by the defendant and the acceptance of rent from her was to create in her a new tenancy and the provisions of cl (c) of s 2 of the Transfer of Property Act were consequently of no avail to the defendant. That in order to come within the scope of s 116, the defendant, besides proving that she as under lessee remained in possession of the property after the determination of the ijara granted to her lessor, had to establish that the lessor or his legal representative

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

— ss 2, cl. (c), 116—contd
accepted rent from her. That the expression "legal representative" is not defined in the Transfer of Property Act, but it clearly implies a person who occupies the same position as the lessor and it could not include the second ijaradar who had transferred to him only a fraction of the interest possessed by the lessor. That the land in suit having been leased for a purpose other than agricultural or manufacturing, the tenancy must, even if s 116 applied, be deemed, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, to have been a lease from month to month terminable by fifteen days' notice expiring with the end of a month of the tenancy. DURGI NIKHINI v GOORODHAN BORA (1914) 19 C W N 525

— s. 2 (d)—Mortgage—Assignment of mortgage—Application of rule of damdupat The fact that the person entitled to sue on a mortgage happens by assignment to be a Parnes cannot affect the (Hindu) mortgagor's right to claim the advantage of the rule of damdupat if it existed when the mortgage was entered into. It is not proper to infer that, because it has been expressly enacted that nothing in Chapter II of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) shall be deemed to affect any rule of Hindu Law, the Legislature has deprived a Hindu mortgagor of the protection afforded him by the rule of damdupat. The right of a mortgagee to sue for his principal and interest is a right arising from a contract and must be taken to be made subject to the usages and customs of the contracting parties. JEEWANRAI v MANODAS (1910) I L R 35 Bom 199

— ss 2 (d) 8, 36, 44, 52—
See SUBSTITUTION OF PROPERTY AND SECURITY I L R. 39 Mad 283

— ss 2 (d), 36—
See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (IX OF 1887), SCH II, ART 7
I L R 41 Mad 370

— ss 2 (d), 52—
See COMPANY I L R 42 Bom. 215

— ss 2, 54—
See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879), s. 74 I L R. 41 Bom. 170

— ss 2, 108 (h)—
See LANDLORD AND TENANT—TREES,
I L R 37 Cal 815

— s 3—
See MORTGAGE, I L R 45 Cal. 1
See NOTICE 25 C. W. N 49
See PRESCRIPTION ACT, 1877 s 17
25 C. W. N. 49

— Actionable claims, transfer of—Mortgage-debts, book-debts and promissory notes, gift of—Unregistered instrument, validity of, to effect gift—Law before and after amending Act of 1900 Under the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 as originally passed, mortgage-debts were assignable as actionable claims, and the assignment of the debt passed the security with it under s 8 of the Act. But in consequence of the amendments made in 1900 of the original Act, mortgage-debts, being excluded from the definition of actionable claims, can only be transferred together with the security as immovable property and therefore only by a registered instrument. Where however the law still admits of the separate transfer of the mortgage debt as by the endorsement of promissory notes secured by a deposit of title deeds or by attachment and sale in execution of a mortgage debt under the Civil Procedure Code, s 8 of the Transfer of Property Act still operates, to carry the security with it. Where certain mortgage debts, book debts and promissory notes were transferred by way of gift under an unregistered document the gift of the mortgage debts, was invalid under s 123 of the Act but the gift of book debts and promissory notes fell under Chapter VIII of the Act (Transfer of actionable claims) and not under Chapter VII (Gifts), and was valid and took effect. Where there is a gift of immovables and moveables but the former fails owing to want of registration, the latter may nevertheless be held good, the question to be considered being whether the latter was conditional on the validity of the former. Godman v Godman (1920) P. 261, followed. Polak Nauker v Naganna Nauker (1915) 30 M L J, 63, distinguished. PERUMAL NAJUKER v PERUMAL NAJUKER (1921) I L R 44 Mad 198

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—s 3—contd

Bare right to sue

assignment of—Claim for unascertained damages—Comparison between the English and Indian law The Defendants entered into a contract with one B undertaking to take delivery of certain goods in accordance with the contract and on their failure to do so the matter was referred to arbitrators who gave an award to the effect that the Defendants were to pay for and take delivery of the goods B, therefore, resold the goods which fetched a lower amount than that contracted for. He then brought a suit against the Defendants for the balance and then assigned to the Plaintiff all his claim in and the right to proceed with the suit and all advantages and benefits of all proceedings thereof. Held, that the suit was not maintainable inasmuch as the claim was for unascertained damages for breach of contract and the assignment was an assignment of a mere right to sue. Glegg v Bromley (1) referred to. That there were no materials justifying the application of sec 107 of the Contract Act and the resale was not justified by the award so that the claim was one for unascertained damages. That on a true construction of the terms of the assignment the subject matter of the assignment was not property with an incidental right to sue but a mere right to sue for unascertained damages for alleged breach of contract with the meaning of sec 8 (e) of the Transfer of Property Act. JEWAN PAM v RAYAN CHAND KUNER CHAND 28 C. W. N. 235 —ss 3 and 41—Doctrine of constructive notice—Court-sale in execution—Certified purchaser—Benami—Mortgagee of certified purchaser—Civil Procedure Code (Act IV of 1882), s 317 (Act V of 1908) s 6 The mortgagee of the certified purchaser at a Court-sale is entitled to rely upon the title of his mortgagor including such immunity from suit as the law provides in support of the statutory title. S 86 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908)—which may be called in aid for the purpose of assisting in the construction of s 317 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act IV of 1882)—support's the conclusion Hari Govind v Ramchandra I L R 31 Bom 61 followed. The doctrine of constructive notice applies in two cases, first, where the party charged had actual notice that the property in dispute was charged incumbrance or in some way affected, in which case he is deemed to have notice of the facts and instruments to a knowledge of which he would have been led by an inquiry after the charge or incumbrance of which he actually knew, and, secondly, where the Court has been satisfied from the evidence before it that the party charged had designedly abstained from inquiring for the very purpose of avoiding notice. This does not conflict in any way with the statutory definition of notice in s 3 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). A purchaser of property is under no legal obligation to investigate his vendor's title. But in dealing with real property as in other matters of business regard is had to the usual course of business; and a purchaser who wilfully departs from it in order to avoid acquiring a knowledge of his vendor's title is not allowed to derive any advantage from his wilful ignorance of defects which would have come to his knowledge if he had transacted his business in the ordinary way. This is what is meant by 'reasonable care' in s 41 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). Occupation of property which has not come to the knowledge of the party charged is not constructive notice of any interest in the property. MAHAI KARTIKAR v HOORBAI (1910) I L R 35 Bom 342

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—ss 3 and 41—contd

—*Benami sale—Sale by benamidar—Estoppel—Notice—Wilful abstinence from calling for title-deeds and from making an enquiry as to title—Infant, if may be estopped by his own fraudulent misrepresentations—Acts and admissions of guardian, if bid word B executed in favour of R a benami sale deed which as well as the property conveyed (a patti tenure) he kept in his own possession. R subsequently purported to transfer the property to the defendant: Held, in a suit by the representative of B against the defendant for recovery, that if it was found that the latter made no attempt to take the title deeds of the property including the sale deed of B in R's favour, the wilful or negligent abstinence on the part of the defendant to call for the title-deeds would deprive him of the protection which a Court of Equity would extend to a bona fide purchaser for value without notice, and the defendant would not be allowed to set up the plea of estoppel against the plaintiff. Quare Whether in a case of fraudulent representation an infant may be bound by an estoppel. Held, that an infant is not estopped by the acts or admissions of other persons in this case his mother and natural guardian. Held further, that as the mother of the infant did not place the benamidar of his father, R, in a position where she knew R would be able to commit a fraud (there being no finding and it being unlikely that she even knew of the existence of the benami conveyance to R) there was no ground for a plea of estoppel as contemplated by s 41 of the Transfer of Property Act. A purchaser is bound to make enquiry into the title and if he does not take reasonable care to do so,*

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*ss 3 and 41—concl'd

he takes the chance of his claim being defeated by the real owner RAM CHARAN DAS v JOY RAM MAJHI (1912) 17 C W N 10

ss 3, 78—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 43 Calc 1052

ss 3 and 136—

See LEGAL PRACTITIONER'S ACT (XVIII of 1870), s 13 I L R. 37 Mad 238

s 4—

See DAMDUPAT, RULE OF

I L R. 42 Calc 826

See MORTGAGE 2 Pat L J 168

ss 4 and 54—Unregistered sale-deed for land of less than Rs 100 in value invalidity of, when no previous oral sale—Evidence, inadmissibility of, to prove adverse possession—Possession change of, in cases of oral sale, how to be effected A sale of tangible immovable property of the value of less than Rs 100 effected by an unregistered instrument (without any prior oral sale) followed by delivery of possession is invalid and inoperative to pass the title to the property under s 54 Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). A document which affects immovable property and which is required by law to be registered is if it is not registered, inadmissible in evidence to prove the nature of possession of the person claiming under it such as the adverse character of the possession Per CURRIE If an oral sale is made of immovable property of the value of less than Rs 100 to a person already in possession of the property it is sufficient to pass title if the vendor converts by appropriate declarations or acts the previous possession into a possession as vendee and it is not necessary that to satisfy the section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act the person in possession should give it up formally and take it afterwards as vendee Sivendrapada Banerjee v Secretary of State for India I L R 34 Calc 207 not followed MUTHUKARUPAN v MUTHU (1914) I L R 38 Mad 1158

ss 4, 105 107—

See KABILIVAT I L R. 39 Calc 1016

ss 4 and 107—Indian Registration Act (XVI of 1908) ss 17 and 49—Unregistered lease for six months—Whether admissible to prove tenancy S 49 of the Registration Act applies only to instruments which are required to be registered by s 17 of that Act and is not applicable to instruments which have to be registered under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. Hence an unregistered lease for a period of less than one year which is required to be registered under s 107 of the Transfer of Property Act but not under s 17 of the Registration Act is admissible in evidence to prove the nature of the possession under the instrument RAMA SASTI v GOWRI RATHO (1921) I L R. 44 Mad. (F.B.) 55 ss 5, 6, 7 and 127—Minor—Validity of transfer in favour of a minor Held, that inasmuch as there is nothing in the law to prevent a minor from becoming a transferee of immovable property so a minor in whose favour a valid deed of sale has been executed is competent to

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*ss 5, 6, 7 and 127—co cl'd

sue for possession of the property conveyed there by Ujjat Rai v Gauri Shankar I L R 33 All 657, and Raghunath Baksh v Haji Sheskh Mubim mad Baksh 18 Oudh Cases 116 referred to Mohori Bibee v Dharmadas Ghose I L R 30 Calc 539 and Naralotti Narayan Chetty v Loganigga Chetty I L R 33 Mad 312 distinguished MUNNI KUNWAR v MADAN GOPAL (1915) I L R 38 All 62

ss 5, 54—

See DEPOSIT I L R 35 Bom 403

s 6—

See s 3 . 26 C W. N 285

See CONTRACT FOR SALE
I L R 36 Bom 139

See EXPECTANCIES
I L R 39 Mad 554

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER
I L R 48 Calc 536

See HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE
I L R 44 Bom 498

See MAHAMMADAN LAW—DOWER
I L R 33 All 457

See MAINTENANCE
I L R 38 Calc 13

See OFFERINGS TO A TEMPLE
I L R 41 Calc 2E

See REVERSIONARY INTEREST
25 C W N 496

—Of a contingent right of inheritance

See MAHOMEDAN LAW
I L R 41 Mad 365

1 ——— Transfer of expectancy Compromise between Hindu brothers that property of a brother dying without male issue should be divided amongst survivors—Hindu law—Dayabhaga—Administration—Suit to enforce administration bond—Limitation Held that a provision in a family settlement whereby certain Hindu brothers divided the family property belonging to them amongst themselves and agreed that upon the death of any one of them without male issue his share should pass to the surviving brothers was neither in contravention of Hindu Law nor obnoxious to the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act s 6 (a) as being a transfer of an expectant interest in property Ram Narayan Singh v Prayag Singh I L R 8 Calc 138, followed. Held also that where the assignee of a bond given by an executor for the due administration of the estate sues to enforce the bond, time does not begin to run against him necessarily until the death of the obligor KANTI CHANDRA MUKHERJI v ALI NABI (1911) I L R 33 All 414

2 ——— Compromise of claim to possession of property of deceased person—Such compromise not a transfer of reversionary rights D claimed adversely to M the property left by M a deceased father. The claim was compromised, and D for a consideration of Rs 5000 and some immovable property, withdrew his claim and recognized the title of M as absolute owner. M died, and the property passed to her husband K who sold part of it to S. Held, on suit by S to recover possession of the property so purchased that the compromise by B of his claim against M was not of noxious to the prohibition contained in s 6 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 as being a sale of reversionary rights. Mohammad Hashmat Ali v Kaniz Fatima, 13 All L J 110, referred to. BARATI LAL v SALIK RAM (1915).

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

I L R 38 All. 107

3 ———— Compromise of claim to possession of property of deceased person.—Such compromise not a transfer of reversionary rights. Of four separated Hindu brothers, Hazari the second, died first leaving a widow, Musammatt Mulo who married the eldest brother Parmal. Next, another brother Pransukh, died, without issue, leaving a widow, Musammatt Indo. A question having arisen as to the legal effect of the remarriage of Musammatt Mulo, the two surviving brothers, Parmal and Gokul, entered into an arrangement by which, in consideration of his being allowed to retain the property of Hazari, Parmal agreed to make no claim against Gokul to the property of Pransukh on the death of his widow Musammatt Indo. Held that this was a valid agreement and did not offend against the provisions of s 6 (a) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Rani Meena Kuar v Rani Hulas Kuar L R 11 A 157, Kanti Chandra Mukerji v Ali Vahi I L R 33 All 414, Nawab Ali v Fayaz Ali Rahman, I L R 33 All 475, Mohammad Hashmat Ali v Kaniz Fatima 13 A L J 110, and Barati Lal v Salik Ram I L R 38 All 107, followed. Olavi Pullak Chetti v Tara Darajulu Chetti, I L R 31 Mad 474 referred to. Bayrang Singh v Bhagwan Baksh Singh, 11 Oudh Cases 301, referred to by Piott J Chaulvi v Parmal (1919). I L R 41 All. 611

4 ———— Release by reversioner of his interest in certain promissory notes executed on death of present holder. The reversioner executed a document purporting to be a release in favour of the widow of his interest in certain Government promissory notes to which the widow was entitled during her life. Held, that this was a transfer of the chance of an heir apparent succeeding to property and therefore void. Sham Sunder Lal v Achhan Kuar I L R 21 All 71, referred to. MARGAWAN MAGAN v BALI NATH DAS (1909).

I L R 32 All 88

5 ———— Hindu temple offerings to—Pujari's right to a share of alienable—Entropel—Res extra commercium. The chance that future worshippers will give offerings to a temple is a mere possibility within the meaning of s 6 (a) of the Transfer of Property Act and as such cannot be transferred. Such a transfer being prohibited by statute the transferor is not estopped from questioning its validity. Per SHANMUGAN, J. The right of the pujari of a Hindu temple to take a share of the offerings is a res extra commercium. TRICHAI THAKUR v BINDERHAI THAKUR (1915).

19 C. W. N. 580

6 ———— Hindu law—Adoption—Post ponement of adopted son's estate during the widow's life—Transfer made by adopted son of property forming part of the estate in the widow's life time—Spec successful. An agreement depriving an adopted son of his right to take possession of the property of his adoptive father is not prohibited by law. Kali Das Dyal v Shankar, I L R 13 All 391, and Isakulakshi Ammal v Sivararnien, I L R 27 Mad 577, referred to. Where such an agreement has been entered into, for example an agreement giving a life estate to the adoptive mother and the remainder to the adopted son, the interest of the son is not merely that of a contingent collateral Hindu reversioner, but he has vested interest in the property of his adoptive father which he is competent to deal with, subject only to the previous life estate. He is not barred by the provisions of s 6 (a) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, from dealing with the property. BALWANT SINGH v JOTI PRASAD (1918).

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

I L R 40 All. 692

——— Maha Brahmin—Mortgage by of right to receive dues of office. There is nothing in the law to prevent a Maha Brahmin mortgaging his right to offerings receivable by him in his professional capacity. Raghoo Pandey v Lassy Parey I L R 19 Cal. 73, referred to. SUREN LAL v BISHAMBHAR (1916).

I L R 39 All. 186

——— Transfer of lessor's interest—Breach of condition prior to the transfer—Right to enforce forfeiture by the transferee. A mutuus lease provided that the lessee was not to alienate the property leased. The lessee committed a breach of the condition by sale of his rights under the lease to defendant No 2 in 1908. In 1911, the plaintiff purchased the landlord's rights from the lessor who had not given the lessee notice of his intention to enforce the forfeiture before the transfer. The plaintiff having sued to recover possession of the property on breach of the condition, defendant No 2 contended that the plaintiff could not take advantage of the breach of condition incurred before the assignment in his favour. Held disallowing the contention, that the plaintiff was entitled to recover possession of the property from defendant No 2. VERSHYWAR v MAHA BLESHWAR (1918). I L R 43 Bom 28

——— s 6 (e)—'Mere right to sue'—Assignment of decree for mesne profits. A and B, holders of a decree for (a) possession of immovable property and (b) directing an enquiry as to mesne profits obtained possession through the Court and, thereafter, sold to C and D their right to recover the mesne profits. All four applied to the Court to ascertain the amount of mesne profits and the Court ordered accordingly. Held that the sale was valid, the right of A and B under clause (b) of the decree not being a 'mere right to sue' within the meaning of s 6 (e) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Held further that proceedings under a decree directing an enquiry as to mesne profits are proceedings in the suit. C and D acquired a right to carry on the suit without giving the leave of the Court under O XX r 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908. They should have applied for leave under that rule but their omission to do so under the circumstances of this case was not fatal to their claim. The order of the Court on the petition presented by A B C and D was equivalent to the grant of leave. HARI PRASAD MISHER v KORO MARYA.

1 Pat. L J 427

——— Assignment of a decree passed for immovable property and for ascertainment of mesne profits—Transferee a right to be

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—cond

s 6 (e)—cond

made a party and to mesne profits Where the right to mesne profits has been declared by a decree, but the exact amount has been left to be ascertained at a future stage in the same suit, a transfer of such right is not invalid under s 6 (e) of the Transfer of Property Act as the transfer of a "right to sue" VENKATARAMA AYYAR v RAMASAMI AYYAR (1921) . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 539

Right to sue, assignment of—Tort—Assignment of claim founded on, validity of—Damages for negligence of agent, assignment of claim for A mere right to recover damages for the negligence of an agent in failing to collect rents cannot be transferred. Such a right is nothing more than a right to sue within the meaning of s 6 (e) of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). If such a claim is founded on tort, it is not assignable. Dawson v Great Northern and City Railway, [1905] 1 K B 260, and Deffre v Milne, [1913] 1 Ch 93, referred to. Held, also, that the claim is founded on contract was unassignable in law being transferred after breach. Abu Mahomed v S C Chunder, 1 L R 36 Cal 315, applied. Shyam Chand Koondoo v The Land Mortgage Bank of India, 1 L R 9 Cal 675, referred to. Mahodas v Ranj Palak, 1 L R 16 All 256, distinguished. Dawson v Great Northern and City Railway, [1905] 1 K B 260, explained. VARAHASWAMI v RAMACHANDRA RAJU (1913) . I. L. R. 35 Mad 138

Transfer of right to past mesne profits, illegality of A transfer of a claim for past mesne profits is invalid under clause (e) of s 6 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). Varahaswami v Ramachandra Raju, 34 Mad L J 293, followed. King v Victoria Insurance Company, [1896] A C 250, distinguished. SREETHAMA v VENKATARAMANAYTA (1913) . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 308

Settlement for concubinage—Immoral object carried out—Right to annul the settlement It is a well established rule of equity that a person who has transferred a property to another for an illegal or immoral purpose cannot get it annulled if the intended purpose has been carried out, and s 6, (h) of the Transfer of Property Act has not the effect of modifying it. Ayeri v Jaitias, L R 18 Eq. 275, followed. Per OLFIELD, J—It is the sense of the community as a whole that decides whether a certain purpose is immoral; the fact that in a certain section of the community concubinage is allowed and it is not regarded as immoral does not make a settlement made by a member of such community in consideration of concubinage any the less immoral. DEVIYAYAGA PADAYACHI v METTU REDDI (1921)] I. L. R. 41 Mad. 329

ss. 5 and 7—

See s 6 I. L. R. 33 All. 62

s. 7—

See MINOR . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 308

s. 8—

See s. 3 . I. L. R. 44 Mad 196

See SUBSTITUTION OF PROPERTY AND SECURITY . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 233

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—cond

s 8—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Cal. 748

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, ss. 17 AND 49 . I. L. R. 43 All 1

s 10—

See LEASE I. L. R. 45 Cal. 940

Hindu Law—Grant, deed of, for maintenance and other expenses—Grant by zamindar to his wife and minor son—Estate of grantees—Restraint on alienation—Lease for fifteen years by mother as guardian, if void, or voidable by minor—Repudiation by zamindar as natural guardian, mere act of, if sufficient—Suit to set aside—Decree in such suit necessary—Suit by guardian—Dismissal for default, effect of—Suit by lessee for rent—Objection by tenants as to validity of lease A zamindar made a grant of certain lands to his wife and his minor son for their maintenance, clothing and other expenses. The deed of grant contained a provision that the grantees were not to alienate the properties by sale, mortgage, etc. The mother of the minor son granted a lease of the lands for fifteen years in favour of the plaintiff, and died a few months thereafter. The zamindar, the father and natural guardian of the minor, sued to set aside the lease, but the suit was dismissed in consequence of the zamindar's default in obeying an order of the Court to appear in person. The plaintiff as the lessee of the lands, sued to recover melvaram due to him from the defendants who were the ryots but did not join the minor grantees as a party to the suit. The defendants contended that the lease to the plaintiff was not valid and that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover rent from them. Held (on a construction of the deed), that both the mother and the minor son obtained under the grant an estate in the property and were tenants in-common during the life time of the mother after which the son was to hold the whole property. The provisions against alienation contained in the deed of grant were absolute restraints on alienation and were void under s 10 of the Transfer of Property Act and under the Hindu Law. The lease for fifteen years granted to the plaintiff by the mother acting as guardian of her minor son, even if it was beyond the powers of a guardian, was not void against the minor but only voidable by him. The party who is entitled to avoid a transaction may do so by an unequivocal act repudiating the transaction or by getting a decree of Court setting it aside. When a guardian (natural or appointed) of a minor has given a lease, another guardian cannot set it aside by a mere act of repudiation, he can do so only by obtaining a decree of Court in a suit which may be instituted on behalf of the minor during his minority, but his action in instituting a suit to set it aside (which was dismissed for his default) has no greater effect than his mere act of repudiation. Held, consequently, that the plaintiff was entitled to recover rent from the defendants under the lease. MUTHUSUMARA CHETTI v ANTHONY UDAYAR (1914) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 867

ss. 10 and 11—

private religious gift to Brahmins—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 304

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

ss 10, 108 111—

See LEASE I Pat. L J 1

ss 10, 111 117—

See KHOD KAST JATEY
I L R 48 Calo 359

s 14—

See LEASE I L R 44 Mad 230

ss 14 40 and 45—

See CONTRACT I Pat. L J 238

s 36

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.
I L R 38 Mad 86See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSES COURT ACT, 1887, s 11 ART 7

I L R 41 Mad 370

ss 36, 44 and 52

See SUBSTITUTION OF PROPERTY AND SECURITY I L R 39 Mad. 283

ss 36 and 108

See LESSOR AND LESSEE
I L R 38 Mad. 86

s 33

See HINDI LAW—DEBT
I L R 35 Mad 108

s 40 Specific Relief Act (I of 1877)

s 3—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1822) s 41—Suit for declaration and possession—Sale—Prior agreement of purchase—Notice—Subsequent purchaser, a trustee Plaintiff sued for a declaration of title to and for possession of immovable property from the defendant. He based his title upon a registered sale deed dated the 5th December 1911 from one A. Prior to this date the plaintiff had notice of the execution of a contract of sale of the same property by A to the defendant. The defendant relied upon his possession under the contract of sale and contended that he had paid to A portion of the purchase money agreed upon and the balance was to be paid after the sale deed was passed. Both the lower Courts allowed the plaintiff a claim for possession though it was found that the plaintiff had notice of the defendant's contract of sale and that nearly half the purchase money was in fact received by A from the defendant under the contract. The defendant having appealed. Held, that the plaintiff having purchased with notice of the defendant's contract his suit for possession must fail. He stood in the position of a trustee for the defendant of the land purchased by him and could not profit by his conveyance except to stand in the shoes of his vendor and receive the balance of the purchase money due, on payment of which he would have to convey to the defendant. Latchand v Lakshman I L R. 23 Bom 466, and Kurri Yerrareddi v Kurri Bupreddi, I L R 29 Mad 330 doubted. GANGARAM v LAXMAN GANGA (1916) I L R 40 Bom. 498

s 41—

See s 3 I L R 35 Bom 342
17 C W N 10See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 47
I L R. 45 Bom 812

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 41—contd

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF
ACT, 1879, s 10A.

I L R 45 Bom 87

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT
I L R 47 Calo. 866

1 Osteensible owner
—Owners of property minors at date of transfer—Act (Local) No 11 of 1901, s 201 The owner of certain zamindari property died leaving him surviving a widow and two minor sons. During the minority of the sons their mother not only got herself recorded in respect of one-third of the property left by the husband (her proper share being one-eighth and the balance being her sons), but she mortgaged it to one A. A sold his rights to B who brought a suit for sale on his mortgage and having brought the property to sale purchased it himself. He subsequently transferred it to M. M brought a suit for profits against the sons and got an ex parte decree. Held, on suit by the sons for declaration of title to their share in the property excluding the one-eighth belonging to their mother or in the alternative for possession, (i) that the suit was not barred by the provisions of s 41 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, and (ii) that the proviso to s 201 of the Agra Tenancy Act 1901, protected the present suit. Dalibos v Gopibai, I L R 26 Bom 43, and Dambur Singh v Jaisirs Anwar, I L R 29 All 292, referred to. ABDUL LAH KHAN v MUSAMMAT BUKKI (1911).
I L R. 34 All 22

2 Osteensible owner
—Binding as to question of fact—Second appeal Held, that the questions whether a person in apparent possession of immovable property is the 'osteensible owner' with the consent, express or implied, of the real owner within the meaning of s 41 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, and whether a transferee from such a person took the transfer bona fide after taking reasonable care to ascertain the title of his transferor are questions of fact, the finding on which by the lower Appellate Court, cannot be disturbed in second appeal. JANNA DAS v UMA SHANKAR (1914).
I L R 36 All 308

3 Husband's property sold by wife—Bona fide purchaser for value without notice—His rights—Without notice, significance of the expression—Husband's right to redemption Where, during the husband's absence on pilgrimage the wife sold a piece of land which had before the husband's departure been mortgaged by her the purchaser who paid off the mortgage having by proper enquiries satisfied himself that the wife was owner. Held, that the husband could not recover the land nor was he entitled to be allowed to redeem the mortgage. NIRAS PURSE v TETAT PARSIN (1915).
20 C W N 103

4 Osteensible owner, transfer by when bona real owner—Res judicata In a suit by A to recover from B property the title to which was disputed between A and B. B in whose favour B had on 14th March 1893 executed a usufructuary mortgage—in lieu whereof on 21st January 1895 another mortgage was executed in his favour by B—was made a defendant apparently on the ground of his being a transferee

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1892)

—contd

s. 41—contd

under the mortgage of 14th March 1893. The suit was decreed. In a suit by M to enforce his mortgage of 21st January 1893, which the representative in title of A contested the High Court held that the decision in the previous suit was res judicata, and also that s. 41 of the Transfer of Property Act did not apply to give M a title, although B had got his name entered in the Revenue papers as owner because the application for the entry having been opposed by A, B could not be said to have been entered as ostensible owner with A's consent, and also because if M had made enquiries before he advanced money to B, he could have discovered the fact of B's opposition and facts showing B's title. The Judicial Committee on appeal found the judgment of the High Court to be so satisfactory and sufficient that they felt themselves justified in advising the dismissal of the appeal without following the practice of making an elaborate report. NAYESHAR PRASAD PANDE v PATESHRI PARTAB NARAIN SINGH (1915)

20 C W N 265

5 ————— Equitable estoppel—Hindu law—Mistakshara—Joint family—Karta's name recorded in survey papers in respect of joint property—Alienation by Karta whether other members of family estopped from challenging—Constructive notice—Suit for partition—Admission of separation by plaintiff, effect of. The mere fact that the name of the karta of a joint family is entered in survey papers as the owner of the family properties is not sufficient to show that a minor member of the family had held the karta out to be the ostensible owner of the properties within the meaning of s. 41 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1892. A person dealing with the karta of a Hindu family governed by the Mistakshara must inquire whether, and how far, the other members of the family are interested in the family property, and is not entitled to rely on entries in collectorate registers and survey papers. The presumption is that all the members of the family are interested in the property. If the person dealing with such a karta has had previous transactions with him and is a neighbour not only is he bound to enquire as to the interests of other members of the family but he is charged with notice and knowledge of the title of such members. The reasonable care referred to in the proviso to s. 41 is the care that is expected of an ordinary man of business. Where a Hindu and his nephew were members of a joint family and the uncle executed a mortgage in the presence of the nephew who attested it, held, that the mere presence of the nephew did not involve any notice or knowledge that his share of the joint family property was being mortgaged, and that he was not estopped from subsequently claiming his share unless it was satisfactorily proved that he was aware that the document dealt with his share of the property and that it was intended that his interest should be effected thereby. KAMRU LAL MAHWARI v PALU SAHU 5 Pat. L. J. 821

6 ————— Ostensible owner—Duty of transferee to inquire into transferor's title—Transferor in possession as sister's son of last full owner—Duty of transferee to ascertain if any collaterals existed. Defendant took a mortgage

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1892)

—contd.

s. 41—contd

of a house from a person who was the son of a sister of the last full owner (a Hindu). The house was entered in the municipal register as in the possession of the mortgagor, but the mortgagee did not appear to have made any inquiry as to the title, although there was reason to suppose that he must have been aware of the existence of collaterals of the last owner. Held, on suit by the collateral heirs for recovery of possession of the house, that the defendant mortgagee, not having made proper inquiries as to his mortgagor's title, was not entitled to the protection afforded by s. 41 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1892. BALLU MAL v RAM KISHAN I L R 43 All 263

7 ————— Rights of a mortgagee purchaser in execution of a decree upon a mortgage by a widow in whose name her husband had purchased the property—Rights of a purchaser in execution of a money decree against the husband—Such purchaser if estopped from disputing the rights of a mortgagee purchaser—Bona fide transferee for value without notice, actual or constructive. A Hindu husband purchased some lands in the name of his wife, who after his death mortgaged them and the mortgagee purchased them at a sale held in execution of the decree obtained upon the mortgage. In the meantime the lands had been sold in execution of a money decree against the husband and taken possession of by the decree holder purchaser. The mortgagee purchaser thereupon sued for a declaration that the lands belonged to the wife and for possession. The Kabulyants, town counter foil rent receipts stood in the name of the wife and the mortgagee had taken the mortgage in good faith after making proper inquiry. Held—That so far as there were occasions for doing so the husband held out his wife as the real owner, and therefore the purchaser in execution of the money decree against the husband, being the successor in interest of the said husband was estopped from disputing the title of the wife and should not be allowed to defeat the rights of the mortgagee who is a transferee in good faith from the ostensible owner without notice, actual or constructive, of the husband's title. The mortgagee was not bound to inquire into the financial position of the husband at the time when the purchase was made in the name of the wife. ANANDA MOHAN ROY v NURMAHAI DEBI

25 C. W. N. 436

s. 43—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION
I L R 40 Cal 173

See BENAMI TRANSACTION
I L R 46 Cal 566

See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT,
1892, s. 4 . 4 Pat. L. J. 505

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882,
s. 317 . I. L. R. 23 All. 332

s. 323A . I L R 36 Bom. 510

See MADRAS PROPRIETARY ESTATES REGULATION SERVICE ACT, 1894 s. 5
I L R. 29 Mad. 830

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 43—contd.

1 ——— Held, that a permanent lease by fractional co sharers was binding on them when they subsequently acquired the whole property PILAY MOHAY BAKERYER v RAJ KRISHNA GHOSH 25 C W N 420

2 ——— Deshgat Vatan—Mortgage—Subsequent enlargement of the mortgagor's estate—Private property—Mortgagee's claim to hold the property against the mortgagor's heir—Reg XVI of 1827 A mortgagee of Deshgat Vatan knew that the property which was mortgaged to him was land appurtenant to an here diary office and mal enable beyond the life time of the incumbent Subsequently to the mortgage the estate of the mortgagor was enlarged so as to be alienable in the life time of the holder After the enlargement the mortgagee having claimed to hold the property against the heir of the mortgagor Held that the mortgagee took only such estate as the holder of the Vatan property was capable of conveying to the mortgagee at the time of the mortgage and that the mortgagee could not claim to retain the property in virtue of the mortgage after the death of the mortgagor GANGABAI v. BASWANT (1909) 1 I L R 34 Bom 175

3 ——— Benefit of section can be claimed only by person who has acted on the erroneous representation of another The benefit of s 43 of the Transfer of Property Act can be claimed only where the person claiming such benefit has acted on the erroneous representation of the party who subsequently acquired interest he claims An undivided Hindu father had two sons A and B A, who was entitled only to one third of the family property, mortgaged one half of it to C, who knew that A was entitled only to one-third and did not bargain and pay for a half share Subsequently A's father died and A having become entitled to a half share C sued on his mortgage seeking to make A's half share liable Held that he could enforce his mortgage only against the one third share which belonged to A at time of mortgage PANDIT BANGARAN, v. HARMOOHY SUBBARAO (1910)

1 I L R 34 Mad 159

4 ——— Estoppel, feeding of by after acquired property when transferor had no title at date of transfer—Principle of applicability to Hindu conveyances The observation in Dooly Chand v Brij Bhookun Lal Awasthi 10 C L R 61, 6 C L R 528 that the principle of English law which allows a subsequently acquired interest to feed on estoppel does not apply to Hindu conveyances was treated as obiter and held that when a grantor of a lease by a recital is shown to have stated that he is seized of a specific estate and the Court finds that the parties proceeded upon the assumption that such an estate was to pass an estate by estoppel is created between the parties and those claim ag under them, in respect of any after acquired interest of the grantor the newly acquired title being said to feed the estoppel. The principle is not inapplicable to a case where there was originally no title at all and is not confined in its application to cases where there is an enlargement of an existing interest. KRISHNA CHANDRA GHOSH v RASIK LAL KHAN (1916)

21 C W. N 218

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 43—contd.

5 ——— Permanent lease by fractional co sharers who subsequently acquire title to the whole property effect of — Permanent lease by widow, if operative against her sons, the reversionary heirs—Legal necessity—Such lease if void or voidable if the lease has to be avoided before suit for possession—Tenancies of homestead or agricultural lands created before the Transfer of Property Act transferability of—Custom and contract A widowed daughter of a Hindu M, and her two male cousins, J and S, held a property in equal shares M and S granted a permanent lease of the entire property to the Defendant Subsequently J died making a testamentary disposition of his properties to M and S in equal shares On the death of M her sons and J's widow brought a suit to recover the property from the Defendant Held, that the lease was operative in respect of a two third share during the life time of M and S But the one third share of J having subsequently vested in M and S the provisions of sec 43 of the Transfer of Property Act applied and the share of J became available to perfect their title and consequently the title of the Defendant in the entire property That the lease did not bind the reversionary heirs of M as she did not execute it for any legal necessity Alienation by a Hindu widow is not absolutely void but voidable at the election of the reversionary heir It is not, however necessary for him to take steps to avoid the lease before he brings an action for possession Held further that under the law as it stood before the Transfer of Property Act, tenancies whether of homestead or of agricultural lands were not transferable in the absence of a custom to the contrary or of an express contract to that effect SULIV MOHAY BAKERYER v RAJ KRISHNA GHOSH 25 C W. N 420

ss 44, 52—

See SUBSTITUTION OF PROPERTY AND SECURITY 1 I L R 39 Mad 283

s 45—

See JOINT TENANCY

1 I L R 34 Mad 80

ss 45 and 55—

See CROSS OBJECTION 5 Pat L J 328

s 48—

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

1 I L R 40 Bom 378

ss 51, 51, 118—

See ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT

1 I L R 40 Mad 1134

s 52—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 47, O XXI, s 2 1 I L R 43 Bom 240

See COMPANY 1 I L R 42 Bom 215

See SUBSTITUTION OF PROBATE AND SECURITY 1 I L R 39 Mad 283

See LIASPENDENS 1 I L R 41 Mad 458

1 ——— The rule of lis pendens will operate in favour of a plaintiff who at the time of the transfer was erroneously prosecuting his suit in a Court which from defect of

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 52—contd

jurisdiction was unable to entertain it and in consequence returned it for presentation to the proper Court which Court ultimately decreed the suit on the basis of a lawful compromise. TARON MAJHI v JALADHAR DEARI (1909) . 14 C W N 322

2 ————— Suit on prior mortgage—Fresh mortgage pending suit to pay off mesne mortgages—Effect—Subrogation Where during the pendency of a mortgage suit a fresh mortgage was executed with the object of paying off certain mesne mortgages. Held, that in so far as the mortgagees under the new mortgage was entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the mesne mortgagees, the transfer was not affected by the rule of lis pendens. That in the absence of evidence to show an intention to extinguish the mesne mortgages paid off, the presumption was that they were intended to be kept alive. TARA PRASAD MONDAL v KRISTA PRASAD PANDA (1910)

15 C W N 261

3 ————— Lis pendens—Suit to enforce simple mortgage ending in compromise—Execution sale pending suit—Purchaser, if bound by compromise—“Contentious suit”—“Immovable property,” suit respecting The mere fact that a suit is terminated by a consent decree does not take the suit out of the operation of the doctrine of lis pendens as enunciated in s 52 of the Transfer of Property Act. A suit to be “Contentious” within the meaning of s 52, need not be contested in all its stages. A contentious suit is one in which a party having difference with another puts the law in motion as against the other. Kailas Chandra v Pul Chand B B L R 474, Kusumunness v Airostina, I L R 8 Calc 183, distinguished Kishory Mohan v Mazafar Hussain, I L R 18 Calc 79, referred to Fayaz Hussain v Prag Narain L R 34 I A 102, relied on. The doctrine of lis pendens applies to a suit to enforce a simple mortgage. Fayaz Hussain v Prag Narain, L R 34 I A 102, referred to. The doctrine applies to a purchase at an execution sale pending the suit. Kadha Madhub v Monohur, L P 15 I A 97, Moti v Kurabuddin, L R 24 I A 170, Fayaz Hussain v Prag Narain, L R 34 I A 102, relied on. TINOODHAN CHATTERJEE v THAI LOENYA CHARAN SANTAL (1912)

17 C W N 413

4 ————— Lis pendens—Partition between defendants under as if the property in dispute—Partition affected by lis pendens—Plaintiff’s omission to bring partition to the notice of the Court—Practice—Array of parties—Plend ing—Change of parties in pending litigation—Procedure The plaintiff, who owned a third share in an equity of redemption obtained a decree to redeem his share of the mortgaged property from its four mortgagees. The plaintiff paid the redemption money in the Court but after the expiry of the period fixed by the Court. The Subordinate Judge held that the payment was validly made and ordered possession of the property to be delivered to the plaintiff. This order was reversed by the District Judge on the 7th January 1902. On the 10th January 1902, the four joint mortgagees effected a partition inter se, and the property the subject matter of the suit, fell to the share of one of them, Gopal. The plaintiff

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 52—contd

if appealed to the High Court from the District Judge’s order on the 14th January 1902. The next day, that is, on the 15th January 1902, Gopal died, leaving him surviving a widow Gangabai. In the High Court appeal, the fact of partition dated the 10th January 1902 was not mentioned, but Gopal’s death was brought to the Court’s notice, but it was held that the right to sue survived against the other defendants. The High Court reversed the order of the District Judge and remanded the suit for extending the time of payment if any good cause were shown for it. In the District Court Gopal’s name was removed from the array of parties and time was extended. The plaintiff paid the money within the time so extended and obtained an order to recover possession of the property. Gopal’s widow, Gangabai, intervened on the ground that as she was no party to the District Judge’s order, she was not bound by it and could not be dispossessed. The Subordinate Judge granted the application. The plaintiff thereupon brought a suit to establish his right to the possession of the property. The Subordinate Judge decreed the plaintiff’s claim, but on appeal, it was dismissed by the District Judge. On appeal to the High Court, the decree was confirmed on the ground that the plaintiff’s right was affected by his own negligence in omitting to bring upon the record the representatives of Gopal; and his right was not affected by the partition of the 10th January 1902 which did not fall within s 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. On appeal, under the Letters Patent. Held, that the plaintiff could not be defeated on the ground that in another proceeding he did not communicate to the Court the fact of Gopal’s death, which he did not know. Held further that the partition in question fell within s 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 for it was a transfer or, at any rate, a dealing with the property in suit. PER CURIAM. It is part of any litigant’s right so far as the subject matter and conduct of the suit are concerned to know precisely where he stands. He is entitled to know who his opponents are, and, when that has been definitely and finally ascertained, to insist that no dealing on their parts with the property in suit, shall compel to go further afield, and bring in new parties, who but for such dealing, could have had no locus standi at all. A complete right needs a person of incidence as well as a person of inheritance. No party during the conduct of a suit has any power, by dealing with the property, to change the person of incidence or inheritance to the detriment of the other. ISHWAR LINGO v DATTU GOPAL (1913) . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 427

5 ————— Lis pendens—Main matter decreed—Execution proceedings after a long period—Alienation of property during the period—Active prosecution In 1902, defendant No 1 obtained a maintenance decree which declared a charge in her favour on the family property. In 1906 the judgment-debtors sold a portion of the property to plaintiff. Defendant No 1 applied in 1907 to execute the decree. In the execution proceedings, one of the lands sold to plaintiff was put up to sale and purchased by defendant No 3 in 1910. The plaintiff sued for a declaration that the sale to him was not affected by the subsequent sale. The lower Court rejected his claim on the ground that the sale in plaintiff's favour was affected by his pendens. On appeal Held, reversing the decree that the doctrine of lis pendens had no application to the case, for the decree was passed four years earlier and no execution proceedings were taken, and it could not be said that the purchase by the plaintiff was made during the active prosecution of a contentious suit or proceeding. BHOJE MADHDEV PARAB v GARGA BAI (1913) I L R 37 Bom. 621

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

— 4. 52—contd

6. ——— Lis pendens—

Contentious suit meaning of—Friendly suit, no contest—Plea of lis pendens not taken in the written statement—Point of Law—Plea permitted after revival? The words 'contentious suit' in s 52 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) are used in contradistinction to a friendly suit in which there is no contest. Every suit other than such a friendly suit by its origin and nature falls within the definition of a contentious suit. Jogendra Chandra Ghose v Fulkumari Dassi I L R 27 Cal 77, followed. Krishna Kamini Devi v D no Many Choudhary, I L R 31 Cal 655 and Upendra Chandra Singh v Mohri Lal Narwar I L R 31 Cal 745 dissented from. Fayaz Hussain Khan v Prag Narain I L R 29 All 339, referred to. A point of law such as lis pendens which was argued before the first court and which required no further facts than those already on record must be considered by the Appellate Court though the defendants did not plead it in the written statement. KATHIR v VARENDHARA (1913) I L R 38 Mad 450

7. ——— Lis pendens—

Attachment before judgment—Claim to attach property by third party allowed—Suit by decree holder against claimant to establish his right to attach—Suit dismissed—Appeal by decree holder—Judgment-debtor not a party to suit or appeal—Sale in execution of another decree by another decree holder pending appeal—Decree on appeal—Subsequent sale in execution—Validity of prior sale. A decree holder had attached the property of his judgment-debtor before decree in his suit, and while he was seeking to establish his right to attach and sell such property as the property of his judgment-debtor by suit against a successful claimant, another decree holder attached the same property and brought it to sale during the pendency of the appeal in the claim suit. The judgment-debtor was not made a party to the claim proceedings or the subsequent suit or appeal. The property was again sold in execution of the decree of the former decree holder who purchased it and sued to recover possession. Held, that the auction purchaser in the prior sale was not affected by the doctrine of lis pendens and his purchase was valid as against the purchaser in the subsequent auction sale. Per WALLIS C J—The doctrine of lis pendens was inapplicable on the ground that the judgment-debtor was not a party to the claim proceedings or the subsequent suit and could not be considered to be represented in that suit by the plaintiff therein. Lala Mulji Thakar v Kanki Das I L R 10 Bom 400 referred to. Even if the judgment-debtor was a party thereto, there is no lis pendens as the doctrine of lis pendens applies only to alienations which are inconsistent with the right which may be established by the decree in the suit here as the sale in execution proceeded on the very footing that the property belonged to the judgment-debtor, the doctrine is inapplicable. Per NATHAN, J—The doctrine of lis pendens does not apply as the judgment-debtor was not actually or constructively a party to the claim suit. Phul Kumari v Ghanshyam Misra, I L R 35 Cal 202, explained. Krishnappa Chetty v Abdul Khader Sahib, I L R 33 Mad 535, dissented from. PETHU AYYAR v SANKARANARAYANA PILLAI (1916) I L R 40 Mad. 955

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

— 8. 52—contd

8. ——— Lis pendens doctrine of—Suit which is compromised and in which a consent decree is passed, whether falls within the scope of the doctrine—Contentious suit—significance of. In a suit for declaration of title to a certain zemindari certain mortgagees, who too were impleaded as Defendants set up their title by purchase in execution of a mortgage decree. After being hotly contested for some time the suit was compromised with the said Defendants but was continued against the other Defendants. The suit was eventually decreed partly in terms of solenama and partly on contest. The purport of the compromise was that the compromising Defendants relinquished in favour of the Plaintiff whatever interest they had in the zemindari for a consideration of a sum of money which was secured by a mortgage on the zemindari, as the Plaintiff was unable to pay the amount in cash. The present suit was subsequently brought to enforce a mortgage security executed by the Plaintiff in the previous suit after the institution of the said suit and the above mentioned Defendants, who had compromised were also made parties. They set up the mortgage executed in their favour and contended that though subsequent in point of time, it had priority over the mortgage in suit by the application of the doctrines of subrogation and lis pendens. Held—That the compromise and the mortgage executed in the previous suit constituted one entire and indivisible transaction and when the said decree gave effect to the compromise, it validated the whole contract between the parties inclusive of the mortgage. The mortgage in suit, executed after the institution of the previous suit, was affected, by virtue of the rule of lis pendens, by the consent, decree in the suit which incorporated and gave effect to the mortgage executed in connection with the said compromise. If a suit is not collusive, it is a contentious suit if it was so in its origin and nature and even if it is subsequently compromised. Fayaz Hussain v Prag Narayan L R 34 I A 302. s c I L R 29 All 339 II O W N 561 (1907), Bandon v Beecher, [1835] 3 Cl & F 479, Annamalai v Malayand, I L R 29 Mad 425 (S B) (1906) and other cases, referred to. Kailash v Fulchand 9 B L R 474 (1877) considered. Further, unless a compromise shows that the suit was in its origin and nature contentious, otherwise there would be nothing to compromise. Hence a consent decree falls within the scope of the rule of lis pendens enunciated in sec 52 of the Transfer of Property Act. London v. Morris, [1832] 2

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 52—conclld

L. J. Ch 35, 5 Sim 247, and other cases referred to BHARAT RAMANUJ DAS MOHANTA v SRI NATH CHANDRA SAHOO

25 C. W. N. 806

8. ———— Contentious suit—Suit decided ex parte but not fraudulent If a suit is neither fraudulent nor collusive it may be none the less a contentious suit within the meaning of s. 52 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 notwithstanding it was decided ex parte RAM BHAROSE v RAMPAL SINGH

I L R 42 All. 319

ss 52, 56, 81—

See APPEAL . I L R 41 Calc 418

ss 52 and 91—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE ACT (V OF 1908) O XXI, r 103 AND O XXXIV, r 1 I L R 43 Mad 696

s. 53—

See ATTACHMENT I L R 44 Calc. 662

See DECREE, ASSIGNMENT OF I L R 37 Mad. 227

See FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE

I L R 33 Mad 334

I L R 41 Mad. 612

See MORTGAGE BY MINOR

I L R 38 Mad 1071

1. ———— Subsequent creditors are within the rule in cl (1) of the section—Presumption in cl 2 of section applies to subsequent creditors Subsequent creditors are within the rule enunciated in the first clause of s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act and a settlement can be avoided at the instance of subsequent creditors Hussain Bhai v Haji Ismail Sait 5 Bom L R 255 referred to. The presumption in cl 2 of s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act applies in the case of subsequent creditors THOMAS PILLAI v MUTHURAMAN CHETTIAR (1909)

I L R 33 Mad 205

2. ———— Mortgage in fraud of creditors, validity of A, being in insolvent circumstances mortgaged certain property to B where having been a failure in payment of part of the consideration money, C holding a money decree against A, impeached the mortgage as fraudulent. Held, that the fact that the mortgage was for an amount larger than was really paid, was no reason for not upholding it to the extent that it was supported by a debt existing at the date of the mortgage and that A was entitled to a decree for the amount actually paid by him Chidambaram Chettiar v Sams Aiyar, I L R 30 Mad 6 distinguished. Isham Chander Das Surcar v Bishu Sardar, I L R 24 Calc 325, followed. See CHITRA PITCHAIAN v PEDAKOTIAM (1913)

I L R 36 Mad. 29

3. ———— Fraudulent transfer—Transfer voidable at the option of the person defrauded—Purchaser at Court sale not a subsequent transferee—Person having interest at the property means person having interest at the date of the transfer. The plaintiff purchased certain lands in 1906.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 53—conclld

In execution of a money decree against the vendor, the lands were sold at a Court auction and purchased by the defendant in 1909, with full notice of the sale of 1906. The defendant having been put into possession of the lands, the plaintiff sued to recover possession relying on the sale of 1906. The defendant contended that the sale was not genuine and was not supported by consideration and was made with the object of defeating the creditors of the vendor. The trial court negatived the contentions and decreed the plaintiff's claim. The lower appellate Court held that the sale of 1906 was bad under s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, as the consideration was grossly inadequate, the sale was effected with the object of defeating and delaying the creditors of the vendor, and the plaintiff participated in the fraud. The plaintiff having appealed—Held, that the sale of 1906 could not be avoided, under s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), at the option of the defendant, who was not a creditor of the vendor, or a subsequent transferee or a person having an interest in the property, within the meaning of the section. Having regard to the preamble as well as s. 5 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), a person who steps in by operation of law and not by any act of the owner is not a subsequent transferee or a person having an interest in the property within the meaning of s. 53 means the person who has such interest at the time of the transfer objected to. VASUDEO RAGHUNATH v JAYARDHAN SADASHIV (1915) I L R 39 Bom. 507

4. ———— Transfer to defraud or defeat single creditor, validity of—Bond fide transfer effect of S. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1885, is not limited in its application to cases where there is an intention to defraud or defeat the general body of creditors. The section is applicable where a debtor disposes of his property with the intention of defeating even a single creditor. But if the property of the debtor is transferred for consideration to a bond fide purchaser then, even though such transfer has the effect of putting the debtor's property out of the reach of the creditors the transfer will be effective and the creditors will not be entitled to have the transfer set aside or declared void. TAKIRA SINGH v MARGO SINGH 2 Pat. L. J. 546

5. ———— A suit by the purchaser of property sold in execution of a decree for a declaration that a conveyance by the judgment-debtor was fraudulent and for possession is not a suit on behalf of all the creditors within the meaning of s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. SRI THEAKUTUJ v NARAYAN NARAY SINGH, 6 Pat. L. J. 43

6. ———— Fraudulent alienation to defeat and delay creditors—Attachment of alienated property—O XXI, r 63, suit under—Plea of attaching creditor as to fraudulent nature of alienation, validity of In a suit by an alienor, whose claim to property attached under a decree has been rejected to set aside the order and establish his title, it is open to the attaching creditor to plead in defence that the transfer was in fraud of creditors. Subramania Aiyar v Muthia Chettiar (1915) I L R 41 Mad 612 (F. B.) and Palu-

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932)

—contd.

— s 53—contd.

And: Chetty v Appanna Chettyar (1916) 30 M Y J 565, overruled RAMASWAMI CHETTIAR v MALLAPPA REDDIAR (1920)

I L R 43 Mad. (F B) 760

7 ————— Debtor and Creditor—Suit to set aside deed as being void as delaying or defeating creditors—Deed made on good consideration—Preference by debtor to one creditor rather than another where debtor retains no benefit for himself In this appeal their Lordships of the Judicial Committee upheld the decision of the High Court, which is reported in I L R 31 Cal 999, at page 1003 The transfer which defeats or delays creditors is not an instrument which prefers one creditor to another, but an instrument which removes property from the creditors for the benefit of the debtor The debtor must not retain a benefit for himself He may pay one creditor, and leave another unpaid In re Moroney, L R 21 Ir 27 and Middleton v Pollock, L R 2 Ch D 194 followed When it was found that the transfer impeached was made for adequate consideration in satisfaction of genuine debt and without reservation of any benefit to the debtor, it followed that no ground for impeaching it lay in the fact that the plaintiff (appellant), who also was a creditor was a loser by payment being made to the preferred creditor—there being in the case no question of bankruptcy MUSAHAN SAHU v LALA HAKIM LAL (1915)

I L R. 43 Cal 521

8 ————— Mortgage in fraud of creditors The first defendant mortgage two properties, viz., a parcel of land and a hut on second parcel to the plaintiff Subsequent to the mortgage the second defendant a creditor of the first defendant, purchased the hut in execution of a decree for money obtained by him against the first defendant prior to the mortgage In a suit by the plaintiff to enforce the mortgage security the lower Appellate Court made a decree for realisation of the mortgage money by sale of the first property alone although it found that at the date of the mortgage which was for an antecedent loan and an alleged cash payment which was not proved the plaintiff was not aware of the decree obtained by the second defendant nor of its impending execution against the first defendant, and that there was no evidence to show that there were other creditors of the mortgagor at the time of the mortgage transaction who were intended to be defrauded or defeated Held, that the facts found were not sufficient to bring the case within the scope of s 53 of the Transfer of Property Act That even assuming the mortgage to be within the mischief of s 53 the second defendant was under that section which rendered the transaction only voidable at the option of the person defrauded entitled to question the mortgage only in so far as it affected the property acquired by him, and therefore the Court's order directing the sale of the first property was not open to exception That the Court in proceeding to grant relief by way of avoidance of the transaction would do so only on equitable consideration and would apply the principles of justice equity and good conscience and as it appeared that the second defendant acquired the hut subject to the lien of the plaintiff,

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932)

—contd.

— s 53—contd.

he should be granted relief only on condition that he satisfied the lien The plaintiff was therefore entitled to a decree for his dues also as against the second property in the hands of the second defendant KRISHNA KUMAR NANDY v JAI KRISHNA NANDY (1915) . 21 C. W. N 401

9. ————— Transfer to stranger for value in fraud of creditors—Knowledge of intention to defraud, if sufficient A transferee who is not himself a creditor and who takes the transfer with full knowledge of the fraudulent intention of the transferor to defeat his creditors is not a transferee in good faith and such a transfer is void as against a creditor even if the transferee has paid full value of the property purchased by him Such a transfer cannot be held to be valid on the ground that a portion of the consideration money was applied by the transferor in payment of some debts which he owed to third persons ATTABUDDIN CHAUDHURY v BASANTA KUMAR MUKHAPADHYAYA (1916) 22 C W N 427

10 ————— Transfer made with intent to defeat or delay the creditors—Whether the transfer void in toto or void in so far as there is no consideration One J mortgaged his property with the plaintiff for Rs 4,000 in 1911 In the same year, the defendant, a creditor of J brought a suit against him and obtained a decree in execution of which the properties mortgaged to the plaintiff were attached The plaintiff having failed to raise the attachment sued for a declaration that the defendant was not entitled to attach the properties Both the lower Courts found that out of the consideration of Rs 4,000, the only sum for which the plaintiff was a creditor of J at the time of the mortgage transaction, was Rs 1,000 and dismissed the plaintiff's suit on the ground that the plaintiff and J had an intention to defeat or delay the creditors of J in effecting the transfer On appeal to the High Court it was contended that the plaintiff was entitled to a declaration that he had a lien to the extent of the debt existing at the time of the mortgage Held, that it being found that both the transferor J and the transferee plaintiff had the intention of defeating or delaying the creditors of the transferor and the consideration of the mortgage being treated as one and indivisible, under s 53 of the Transfer of Property Act, the document must at the option of the person defeated or delayed be treated as void in toto and not merely as void in so far as there was no consideration Ex parte Chappin In re Sinclair, 26 Ch D 319 and Hakim Lal v Moosahana Sahu I L R 34 Cal 999 at p 1017, relied on DHIRKARSI MULJIBHAI v PARACKAND (1919) . I L R 43 Bom 707

11. ————— Transfer in fraud of creditors—Attaching decree holder—Claim petition by transferee, allowed—Right of suit of attaching decree holder and an ordinary creditor—Form of suit—Whether representative suit on behalf of all creditors, necessary—English and Indian Law—Statutory right of suit under O XXI, r 63, Civil Procedure Code—Objection to form of suit if permissible on appeal for the first time An attaching decree holder, whose attachment has been raised on the claim petition of a transferee of the attached property, is not bound to bring a representative

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 53—contd

suit on behalf of all the creditors of the judgment debtor to set aside the transfer as fraudulent under s 53 of the Transfer of Property Act but is competent to institute a suit to establish his right to proceed against the property under O XXI r 63 of the Civil Procedure Code. Subramania Ayyar v Mutha Chetty or I L R 41 Mad 612 and Palaniand, Chetty v Appavu Chettiar, 30 M L J 865, explained and distinguished English and Indian cases reviewed. Quare Whether an ordinary creditor who seeks to set aside an alienation as fraudulent under s 53 Transfer of Property Act, is bound to sue in a representative capacity on behalf of all the creditors of the transferor? Per KRISHNAN, J There is no rule either in English or Indian Law justifying the dismissal of a suit brought under s 53, Transfer of Property Act because it is not brought in a representative capacity, and objections to the form of the suit should not be allowed to be taken for the first time in appeal. Adopting the English rule an attaching decree holder has a personal right to sue by himself to avoid the transfer. Further as the defeated party in a claim petition the attaching creditor has a statutory right of suit given to him under O XXI r 63 Civil Procedure Code and that suit must necessarily be one brought by himself alone and is not a representative suit, such right of suit cannot be defeated by any rule of practice which has no statutory basis. POKKER v KUNHAMAD (1918)

I L R 42 Mad 143

s 54—

See s 4 I L R 38 Mad. 1158

See s 5 I L R 35 Bom 403

See ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT

I L R 40 Mad 1134

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM) 1879

s 74 I L R 41 Bom. 170

See MORTGAGE I L R 48 Calc 509

I L R 44 Calc 542

See OFFICIAL RECEIVER

I L R 46 Calc 887

See PRE EMPTION I L R 2 Lah 199

See REGISTRATION ACT s 17

25 C W N 985

See SALE I L R 41 Calc 143

I L R 43 Calc 780

Compromise in suit for land—
whether a sale—

See LUNACY (DISTRICT COURTS) ACT,
1859 I L R 1 Lah. 109

oral sale followed by—registered sale—

See SALE I L R 44 Bom 586

1 Pre-emption—

Whether sale is complete before registration. Defendant No. 4 sold the property in dispute to defendant No. 2 by a Kobala, dated the 14th July, 1911. The Kobala was registered on the 17th. At 6 A M on the 17th plaintiff heard of the sale. At 3 P M he went to the Registration Office and put in a petition praying that the registration of the sale deed might be stayed. Held that the petition to the Sub Registrar was not a sufficient compliance with the rules of Muhammadan Law with regard to the performance of the Talabi mauasibot and the Talabi istislah. Per MULLICK, J A sale is not complete till legal ownership passes no matter whether there has been payment and delivery and a pre-emptor's title in the case of property worth more than Rs 100, does not arise until after registration. KHRYALI PRASAD v MULLICK NAZRUL ALUM I Pat L J 174

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 54—contd

2

Sale of mortgaged property by mortgagor—Institution of suit by mortgagee—Registration of sale-deed—Purchase by mortgagee in execution of decree—Suit by mortgagee against vendee for possession, whether maintainable. Where an instrument which purports to transfer title to property requires to be registered the title does not pass until registration has been effected. Therefore, where a mortgagee instituted a suit on the mortgagor on the 7th November and the mortgagor had sold the property on the 11th August by a deed which was registered on the 24th November, and the mortgagee purchased the property in execution of his decree but was resisted in taking possession by the mortgagor's vendee. Held that in a suit by the mortgagee against the vendee the mortgagee was entitled to decree for possession and not a decree for sale only. TILAKDHAR SINGH v GOUB NARAIN 5 Pat L J 715

3

Salvage—Compromise—Land worth less than Rs 100—Registration of deed, or delivery, of possession not necessary. The terms of a compromise affecting a claim to land of the value of less than Rs 100 were reduced to writing. The document was not registered, nor was the transaction accompanied by delivery of possession. The material provisions of the deed were as follows—You and we are co-sharers in your and our land, Survey No 20 there is a well. Therein you and we have a joint share. Partition is to be made including it. After the said (survey) number is divided we shall give 9 pands more from our share and both of us should put up a bandh (embankment) in the middle of the well, and possession and enjoyment should be carried on according to our respective shares. According to this condition we should not cause obstruction to each other. One who will act in contravention of this agreement will be able to ruin burrs loss which may be caused. The lower Appellate Court regarded the transaction as a sale which under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) required delivery of possession in order to validate it. Held that the terms of the deed did not bring the transaction within the category of a sale as defined in the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). Held further that the document in question merely embodied a compromise between the parties and was in effect an acknowledgment of existing rights and that therefore no delivery of possession was necessary. Pani Meva Kuar v Pani Hulas Kuar, L R I I A 157, followed. KRISHNA TANHAJI v ABA SHETTI PATIL (1909) I L R 34 Bom. 139

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 54—contd

4 ————— Interim Registration Act (III of 1877) ss 17 (b), (c) and 49—Agreement of sale—Registration—Possession given subsequently—Deed operating as transfer The plaintiff's guardian executed in favour of the defendants a registered agreement of sale and received Rs 100. The agreement provided that in consideration of the defendants' helping the plaintiff's guardian with money to carry on litigation to recover possession of certain property, the latter agreed to sell half of the property to the defendants when recovered. The suit was brought, the property recovered and the defendants were put in possession of the moiety. No registered conveyance accompanied the delivery of possession. Subsequently the plaintiff brought a suit to eject the defendants alleging that in the absence of a registered conveyance the title to the property was still in him. Held, dismissing the suit that the transaction was intended to operate as a sale on the recovery of the property and that the deed operated as a transfer on the fulfilment of the condition. KONDU BIN KACHOLI v VISWAN MORESHVAR (1912) . I L R 37 Bom 53

5 ————— Sale compulsorily registrable, to defendant by unregistered kholra—Part performance—Payment of purchase money and delivery of possession—Subsequent sale by registered kholra to plaintiff with notice of defendant's rights—Plaintiff if may recover—Equity—Specific performance—Registration Act (XVI of 1908) ss 17 and 49 Where a purchaser of immovable property under an unregistered kholra paid Rs 500, the agreed price to his vendor and was placed in possession: Held, that in the absence of circumstances showing that such purchaser was not entitled to sue his vendor for specific performance, a subsequent purchaser of the property under a registered conveyance could not succeed in a suit to recover possession of the property from the former purchaser. The defendant is entitled, apart from the provisions of the Registration Act, to resist such a suit and to permit such a defence to be taken does not amount to an invasion or evasion of the Registration Act. Walsh v Lonsdale, L R 21 Ch D 9 followed. PRUTHI LAL v KUNJ BEHARI LAL MONDAL (1913)

18 C W N 445

6 ————— Sale—Condition attached to the payment of the purchase money—Public policy Where a deed purporting to be a sale-deed contained a stipulation that the price should be paid within one year, provided that possession was obtained within that time, if possession was not obtained, then the payment of the price should be postponed, and further that in the event of the vendee not getting the property, the price should not be paid at all. Held, that the transaction amounted to a sale within the meaning of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, and the condition postponing the payment of the consideration was not contrary to public policy. KAGLISHAR PRASAD MISRA v ABADI BIRI (1915) . I L R 37 All 631

7 ————— Sale—Agreement to reconvey—No bar to recovery of possession—Construction of statute An agreement by the plaintiff to reconvey the property to the defendant made

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 54—contd

contemporaneously with the sale deed cannot be pleaded in bar of plaintiff's right to recover possession under the deed of sale. The provisions of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act are imperative. The express words of an Indian Statute are not to be overridden by reference to equitable principles which may have been adopted in the English Courts. KURU VEERARATHI v KURU BAPURATHI, I L R 29 Mad 335 followed. TIRUN GOWDA v BRUNGGOWDA (1915)

I L R 39 Bom 472

8 ————— Agreement to sell land not creating any interest therein—Rule of perpetuities not offending—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) s 27 (b)—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 37 A contract to convey or reconvey immovable properties, whenever demanded, for a certain amount is only a personal contract and does not create any interest in immovable property and is therefore enforceable and not void as contravening the rule against perpetuities. South Eastern Railway v Associated Cement Manufacturers, Limited, (1910) 1 Ch 12, 33, followed. KOLATHU APPAR v PANGA VADHYAR I L R 33 Mad 111, distinguished. Per CURHAM—The contract is also enforceable according to s 37 of the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) against the representatives of the contracting parties. CHABAMUDI v RAGHAYYU (1915) . I L R 39 Mad 462

9 ————— Sale-deed of property in possession of tenants—Deed should be registered A house which was in the possession of defendants as tenants was sold to them by the owner in 1909 for Rs 60 by an unregistered deed of sale. It was again sold in 1910 by the owner to the plaintiff by a registered sale deed. The plaintiff having sued to recover possession. Held that the defendants were entitled to set up their sale-deed to defeat the plaintiff's claim for the deed though earlier in point of time required registration, as the only interest which the vendor had at the date of the sale was a 'reversion' in the house within the meaning of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). BRASKAR GOPAL v PADMAN HIRA (1915)

I L R 40 Bom 313

10 ————— Transfer of immovable property of less than Rs 100 in value to mortgagee with possession on failure to pay off mortgage—Oral transfer—Delivery of possession, necessity of—Formal delivery Where immovable property of less than Rs 100 in value was first mortgaged to A with possession and then on mortgagee's failure to pay up the mortgage amount, the latter on 5th March 1906 orally sold the property to B, and at the same time formally delivered possession by pointing out boundaries by endorsing on the back of the mortgage bond the fact of the sale and by handing it over to A, and the mortgagee later on on 6th June 1906 sold the property to B by a registered deed. Held, that every thing that could be done to deliver possession to give effect to the sale of 5th March 1906 was done and the requirements of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act having thus been satisfied, title passed to B and B's suit to recover the property from A must fail. Sibendrapada Panerjee v

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

s 54—contd.

Secretary of State for India, I L R 31 Calc 207, distinguished SONAI CHUTIA v SONARAI CHUTIA (1915). 20 C W N 195

11. ——— Agreement for sale of immovable property—Possession taken under the agreement—No registered conveyance—Suit by vendor to recover possession—Agreement for sale, whether a valid defence to the suit—Agreement capable of specific enforcement at the date of the suit—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s 3, Illustration (y) and ss 12 and 27—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), ss 41, 95 Where the plaintiff being the owner of certain immovable property seeks to recover possession of that property and there are no facts operating to his prejudice it is a valid defence to the suit that the plaintiff has agreed to sell the property to the defendant, the agreement being at the date of suit still capable of specific enforcement, but there being no registered conveyance passing the property to the defendant who has taken possession under the agreement for sale and is willing to perform his part of it with the plaintiff BAFU APAJI v KASHINATH SADOBA (1917) I L R 41 Bom 438

12. ——— Indian Registration Act (XVI of 1908), ss 17, 50—Sale of land below Rs 100 in value by unregistered deed of sale and delivery of possession—Sale valid on proof of sale and delivery of possession—Secondary evidence of unregistered deed of sale, whether admissible On the 10th May, 1899, defendant No 1 sold the land in dispute to the plaintiff's father for Rs 40 and delivered possession thereof to him. At the same time defendant No 1 executed a sale deed in favour of the plaintiff's father which was not registered. The plaintiffs remained in possession till 1911 when they were dispossessed by defendant No 2. In the suit to recover possession of the lands, the plaintiffs having lost the unregistered deed of sale adduced secondary evidence of its contents. The lower Courts accepted the evidence and decreed the suit. The defendants having appealed. Held, that the appeal failed inasmuch as the plaintiff's title was based on a contract of sale accompanied by delivery of possession which was proved. Per BRAMAN, J.—I am clearly of opinion that neither the original unregistered deed of sale of 1899 nor secondary evidence of it was admissible in the present case to support the plaintiff's allegation that in 1899 there was a complete and valid sale of the property in suit effectuated by delivery of possession." Per MACLEOD, J.—In my opinion in cases of transfer of property under the value of Rs 100, if the transfer is effected by delivery of possession accompanied by an unregistered document that document can be adduced in evidence in order to show what was the character of the possession given by the vendor of the land to the purchaser." DAWAL PIRATSHAH v DHANMA RAJARAM (1917)

I L R 41 Bom 550

13. ——— Sale of immovable property of less than Rs 100 in value—Delivery accompanied by an unregistered conveyance—Conveyance if admissible in evidence—Oral evidence to prove sale if admissible When the property sold is less than Rs 100 in value and the sale is effectuated or completed by delivery of possession, there is no reason why the transaction should not

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

s 54—contd

be evidenced by a writing in the terms of a conveyance even though the document is not registered. The document does not confer title and is merely evidentiary, but having regard to s 91 of the Evidence Act it may be the only admissible evidence of the nature and terms of the transaction, though that section would not exclude proof of the fact of delivery of possession JUMAN SHEIKH v MOHAMMAD NOBINEGAR (1917)

21 C W N 1149

14. ——— Effect of section on doctrine of part performance where vendor has paid full purchase money and obtained possession The plaintiff sued to recover possession of land which originally belonged to him and was purchased by D at a sale in execution of a decree for money against him. Symbolical possession was taken by D who agreed to convey the lands to the plaintiff in consideration of a certain sum and actually executed a conveyance which however was not registered for non payment of the whole of the consideration money. Thereafter the land was sold in execution of another money decree against the plaintiff, who remained in possession, and purchased by the defendant. Subsequent to this the plaintiff obtained a second kobala from D which was duly registered. It was found that the whole of the purchase money was paid by the plaintiff to D before the purchase by the defendant and he was in possession at that time. Held that the plaintiff at the date of the purchase by the defendant had acquired a right to the property and as D could not at that date enforce any right against the plaintiff he could not contend that he had no interest in the property which could be purchased by the defendant. That in Mauing Shwe Goh v Mauing Inn I L R 44 Calc 542 s c 21 C W N 500 the Privy Council only pointed out that s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act differs from the rule of English law to this extent that it expressly lays down that a contract for the sale of immovable property does not of itself create any interest in or charge on such property. The question whether the equitable doctrine of part performance which arises from the fact that the vendor has paid the full purchase money and has obtained possession of the property agreed to be sold is inapplicable by reason of the provisions of s 54 of the Transfer of Property Act was not considered nor decided by their Lordships JHAN CHANDRA DAS v HARI MOHAN SEN (1917)

22 C W N 522

15. ——— Sale of equity of redemption by unregistered document—Admissibility of document to show satisfaction of mortgage Two plots of land were mortgaged to the defendant stipulating that he should keep possession of them for a fixed period in satisfaction of the debt and interest. Subsequently the mortgagee sold one plot to the defendant and thus paid off the mortgage and took back the other plot. The conveyance of sale was by an unregistered document. In a suit by the mortgagee for recovering possession of the plot sold. Held per CHITTY, J. That the property being in the possession of the mortgagee the sale was of the equity of redemption and being a sale of an intangible thing could under s 54, Transfer of Property Act only be effected by a registered document. The conveyance was therefore inadmissible to prove the sale or to show

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 54—contd

when and how the mortgage was satisfied. Per WALMSLEY J (upon finding that the plot was sold free from incumbrance)—That the sale was never the less ineffective for want of delivery of possession. HUSEMAT SUREKH v SUREKH JAMIN (1918)

23 C W N 513

16 ————— *Purchaser of immovable property, suit to recover possession by—Agreement to reconvey to person in possession of certain taluk was sold in execution of a mortgage decree. The auction purchaser transferred the properties to the plaintiffs by a conveyance. The plaintiff sued for declaration of title to and possession of the land by virtue of the conveyance, while the defendant in possession alleged that the purchase was for his benefit and the plaintiff was his benamadar. It appeared that prior to the purchase there was an agreement between the plaintiff and the defendant that the properties would be reconveyed. Held, that the Transfer of Property Act did not contain the whole law on the subject of the transfer of property because there are other Acts which contain provisions relating to the same subject and s 54 of the Act was not of itself sufficient to enable the plaintiff to succeed in the contention that title being in the plaintiff by virtue of the conveyance, the defendant cannot resist his claim for possession on the basis of a mere agreement to reconvey. Held (as to the argument that the defendant could not rely on the agreement because it was too late for him to sue for specific performance)—That it might be that the defendant could not actively enforce his rights under the agreement by legal proceedings but possession is itself a title (at any rate to remain in possession) which a plaintiff must displace before he can succeed. SHARIFUL HUSSA CHOWDHURY v KRISHNA GOVINDO DUTT (1918)*

23 C W N 294

ss. 54, 55—

See s 118 I L R 38 Mad 519

See MIRON I L R 38 All 154See SALE OF LAND

I L R 43 Mad 712

Purchase money non-payment of portion—Sale of nevertheless complete—Registration of complete conveyance—Non-delivery to purchaser—Intention—Vendor a lien if may be given effect to in purchaser's suit for possession—Equity is—Subsequent purchaser's rights—Costs—False allegations in plaint. Where it was found that there was no intention on the part of the vendor or the purchaser to postpone the operation of a conveyance with consideration and been actually paid and the conveyance was executed and registered, but not delivered to the purchaser, and a part of the purchase money remained unpaid. Held that the conveyance was completed and title in the property passed to the purchaser. That the vendor had a lien on the land for the unpaid balance of the purchase money and though the lien does not entitle him after execution of the conveyance to resume possession of the land sold it gives him the right to keep the title deeds until payment. A Court of equity can direct the vendor

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

ss. 54, 55—contd

to be again let into possession, if on a sale directed by it for enforcement of his lien, the property is found unsaleable at an adequate price. The right of the purchaser to obtain possession under s 55 (1) of the Transfer of Property Act and the right of the vendor to realise the unpaid balance of the purchase money under s 55 (4) (b) may be enforced in one action. In the suit by the purchaser for recovery of the land sold he was directed to deposit in Court the unpaid balance of the purchase money within a time specified failing which the suit was directed to be dismissed. Certain persons to whom the vendor had again sold the property for consideration, having been joined as parties to the suit were given liberty to withdraw the unpaid balance of the purchase money to be deposited by the purchaser. The purchaser plaintiff was made liable for the costs of the litigation as he had come to Court with a false plea, viz. that the whole of the purchase money had been paid to the vendor. NILMADHAR PARIH v HARA PRASHAD PARIH (1913).

17 C W N 1161

—ss 54 and 118—Usufructary Mortgage—Oral arrangement that mortgagee should give up possession of the mortgaged property in part and receive the equity of redemption in part—*Sale or Exchange—Price, meaning of—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 29—Adverse possession by mortgagee. A usufructuary mortgagee of items A and B sued to redeem item A, alleging that item B had been previously redeemed by him. The defendant pleaded that more than 12 years prior to suit the mortgage had been extinguished by an oral arrangement by which the mortgagor orally sold item A to the mortgagee in consideration for the latter surrendering item B to the mortgagor freed from the mortgage lien. The defendant also contended that the possession of the mortgage became adverse from the date of the arrangement, and that the suit was barred by limitation. Per CURRAM, J. Held, that the transaction pleaded was not merely a compromise in acknowledgment of existing right but amounted to an exchange of property within s 118 of the Transfer of Property Act if it was not a sale, and was invalid for want of a registered instrument. Per MILLER, J. The transaction could not be proved for showing the change of the mortgagee's possession into adverse possession, since the intention to discharge the mortgage involved the intention to make certain transfers and it could not be said that if those transfers failed, both the parties nevertheless intended to discharge the mortgage. Per SADA SIVA AYYAR, J. All transfers by conveyance, if they are not settlements or declarations of trust were intended by the Legislature to come within one of the 'advertisements', 'transfers' or 'gifts' in the Transfer of Property Act. The respondent charior v Ranganatha Aiyangar, 13 Mad. L. J. 500 directed from. Price means not only money in current coin but includes money due on prior debt and the words 'price paid' will cover cases where the vendor's claim to the receipt of the price is satisfied by giving him what he accepts as tantamount to such payment. A mortgagee in possession as such cannot by merely asserting possession as owner under an invalid sale convert his possession into adverse possession so as to*

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 54 and 118—contd.

presented for a title under the Limitation Act. Yazari v Pulamra, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 39, Jagannath v Konda Chait Mahade, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 279, Ramanna v Attal Varma Laksh Rija, I. L. R. 15 Mad. 158, and Ahiraymal v Dasm, I. L. R. 32 Cal. 296, applied. A mortgage created by a registered instrument may be proved to have been discharged by admissible evidence (including oral evidence) of payment of the mortgage amount, or by admissible evidence of any other transaction which operates as mode of payment. Ramachand v Tulsi Prasad Singh 14 C. L. J. 517, Kattila v Panayannam v Kattila Kristannam, I. L. R. 10 Mad. 231, Karampalli Unai Krasu v Thekku Vellu Melharakutti, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 195 and Gouti Subba Poo v Varipanda Narayannam, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 367, referred to. But oral evidence of an invalid oral conveyance (of which evidence is legally inadmissible) of the equity of redemption in a portion of the mortgaged property in discharge of the mortgage debt is inadmissible. ARIVATUPPA v METTICKOMARAWAMI (1912)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

Mutual sales of property effected by registered deeds—Subsequent agreement to exchange portions of the property and agreement acted upon, but without execution of written instrument—Legal position of parties. In 1903, A by means of a duly registered deed, sold property X, with other property, to B, and B similarly sold property Y, with other property, to A. Possession of items X and Y was however, not transferred, and shortly afterwards A and B agreed to exchange the two properties. No deed of exchange was ever executed, but the parties remained in possession of the properties in question from 1905 onwards. In 1915 some of the heirs of B sued to recover property X from A in virtue of the sale deed of 1903. Held, that in the circumstances the plaintiffs were not entitled to recover. Kurri Veerappa v Kurri Rappreddi, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 336, and Chidambara Chettiar v Vealinga Padayachi, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 512, disapproved. Mahomed Musa v Aphore Kumar Gangul, I. L. R. 12 Cal. 801, Mudhoon v Alderson S. A. C. 467, Sumoudin Ghulam Hussain v Abdul Hussain Kalimuddin, I. L. R. 31 Bom. 165, Karala Nanubhai Mahomedhai v Manekhrum Yakatchand, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 400, Ram Ballesh v Mughlani Akhanam, I. L. R. 26 All. 566, Begam v Muhammad Yakub, I. L. R. 16 All. 344, Muhammad Talib Hussain v Inayat Jan I. L. R. 33 All. 513, Jhampu v Avramani, I. L. R. 32 All. 626, and Maung Shwe v Maung Inn, I. L. R. 44 Cal. 512 referred to. SALAMAT UZZAMIN BEGAM v MASHA ALLAH KHAN (1911)

I. L. R. 40 All. 187

s. 85—

See EQUITY RIGHT

R. 42 Cal. 28

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 330

Vendor's lien for unpaid purchase money—Consideration paid in part—Bond executed by vendee promising to pay balance of purchase money by instalments. The acceptance by a vendor of immovable property, of a separate bond given by the vendee to secure payment

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 55—contd.

by instalments of the balance of the purchase money, does not in any way imply an intention on the part of the vendor to relinquish the lien given to him by s. 55 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Webb v Macpherson, I. L. R. 31 Cal. 57, referred to. BASHIR AHMAD KHAN v NAZIR AHMAD KHAN I. L. R. 43 All. 544

Sale of land—Covenant of title—Failure of consideration—Warranty implied—Absence of express covenant to the contrary—Mortgage for balance of unpaid purchase money (if may be enforced on failure of consideration for sale)—Adverse claim compromised by purchaser—Vendor, if bound—Notice of compromise. A conveyed a property to D and D executed a mortgage bond for a part of the purchase money yet remaining due. At the time of the sale there was some dispute between A and some other persons relating to some part of the lands sold. Subsequently after D's purchase a suit was instituted by one R for a part of these lands and the suit was ultimately decreed in the first Court. Against that decree D appealed to the High Court where it was compromised on terms by which D gave away 133 bighas of the lands. Held that A's legal representative who acquiesced in the decision of the original Court could not contest the validity of the compromise made in the appeal Court in her presence and without any protest on her part that it was improvident. The law relating to compromise of an adverse claim by the purchaser with or without notice to the vendor, as affecting the vendor's covenant of title discussed. That the purchaser was entitled to a reduction of the price settled because the vendor had failed to convey all that he had agreed to sell and the consideration for the mortgage, being unpaid purchase money, the liability under it should be reduced pro tanto. That D was entitled to the benefit of s. 55 of the Transfer of Property Act although there was no active fraud on the part of A as there had been a failure of consideration with reference to 133 bighas. Any express covenant to the contrary relied on as a bar to the plaintiff's claim to be indemnified under s. 55 of the Transfer of Property Act, must be in plain and unambiguous language. DIGAMBAR DAS v NISHIBALA DEBI (1910)

15 C. W. N. 635

s. 55, Sub-s (1), cl. (b)—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 852

s. 55 (1) (g)—

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 458

Sale free from incumbrances of property subject to mortgage charges—Incumbrances discharged by purchaser—Right of purchaser to be indemnified—Payment of incumbrances by purchaser, if voluntary—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), sec. 69—Arrangement by vendor with a third party to pay off incumbrances, if enforceable by purchaser, when no trust created. Where a deed of sale of properties which in fact were subject to mortgage charges contained an express declaration that the property was sold free from incumbrances, the vendor was, under sec. 51 (1) (g), sub-sec. (2) of the Transfer of Property

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)—*cond.s. 55 (1) (g)—*cond.

Act, liable to the purchaser for moneys paid by the purchaser either for redemption of the mortgages existing on the property purchased at the date of the purchase, or for purchase of the properties on sales under such mortgages or to prevent such sales. Semle.—It is difficult to accept the view that purchasers of a property are not compelled to pay off mortgages who have obtained decrees for sale, even though a sale is not immediately threatened. Where after the sale the vendor sold another item of property to a third person, and it was agreed between them that the latter should discharge the incumbrances on the property which the vendor had sold to the first purchaser free from incumbrances Held.—That a suit by the first purchaser against the second purchaser for recovery of the amount of incumbrances was misconceived the former being no party to the latter's purchase deed and no trust having been thereby created in his favour. NATHU KHAN v. THAKUR BUNOVATH SINGH (P C) 28 C. W. N. 514

s. 55, (2)—See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 73

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 338

See CROSS OBJECTION 5 Pat. L. J. 323See SALE DEED I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1171s. 55 (4) (b)—See DEBT I. L. R. 42 Cal. 849

Vendor has no absolute title to interest in all cases irrespective of equities—Right of vendor in possession to interest S. 55, cl. (4) of the Transfer of Property Act, does not give the vendor an absolute title to interest in all cases irrespective of equities. It only provides that the vendor shall have a lien for interest when it is payable. Interest on the purchase money cannot be claimed so long as the vendor remains in possession of the property sold. MUTHIA CHETTY v. SINGA VILLIAM CHETTY (1912) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 625

Sale of land—Vendor and purchaser—Vendor's direction to pay purchase money to a third party on his behalf—Existence of vendor's Lien, in spite of. A contract to forego the vendor's charge for unpaid purchase money is not to be necessarily inferred when the whole or part of the consideration for the purchase of immovable property is agreed to be paid by the purchaser to a third party on behalf of the vendor. Abdulla Beary v. Mamnani Beary I. L. R. 33 Mad. 416, and Sivasubramania Mudaliar v. Unnan Sambanda Pandarab Sannadhi, 21 Mad. L. J. 339, overruled. Webb v. Macpherson, I. L. R. 31 Cal. 57, referred to RIVASUBRAMANIA AYYAR v. SUBRAMANIA AYYAR (1916)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 997

Sale—Consideration

therefor—Covenant by purchaser to discharge liabilities of seller—Breach of covenant gives rise to action for damages only—Statutory charge under cl. (4) (b) negatived by contract to the contrary arising by implication. When a purchaser of immovable property covenants in consideration of the transfer on such property to him to discharge certain liabilities of the seller and further stipulates, 'but upon his failure to do so he shall be liable for any damages resulting from such default. Held, that upon breach of such a covenant the seller is entitled to be compensated in damages but has no charge upon the property in the hands of the purchaser under s. 55, cl. (4) (b) of Act IV of 1882. To negative the statutory charge afforded by s. 55 it is sufficient if 'a contract to the contrary' arises by implication. Webb v. Macpherson, I. L. R. 30 I. A. 233, referred to In re Albert Life Assurance Company v. Western Life Assurance Society, 11 Eq. 164, followed. Ramakrishna Ayyar v. Subramania Ayyar, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 305, distinguished. ABDULLA BEARY v. MAMNANI BEARY (1916)

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)—*cond.s. 55 (4) (b)—*cond.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 448

Sale—Vendor's lien—

Lien not enforceable against subsequent purchaser without notice. The vendor's lien for unpaid purchase money provided for by s. 55 (4) (b) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, cannot be enforced against the property in the hands of subsequent transferees for value without notice of the lien. Webb v. Macpherson, I. L. R. 31 Cal. 57, distinguished. GUR DAYAL SINGH v. KARAM SINGH (1916) I. L. R. 38 All. 254

On a sale of immovable property a suit for preemption was brought and succeeded. At the time of the sale part of the purchase money had been left in the hands of the purchasers to pay off incumbrance, of which fact the preemptors had notice. As a matter of fact however, owing to a suit for preemption the incumbrance was not paid off. Held that the vendor had a lien on the property in the hands of the preemptors, to the extent of the unpaid purchase money. RAMA NAND BHARTI v. SREO DAS I. L. R. 43 All. 514 ss 55 (6) (b), 123—Registration Act

(III of 1877), s. 17—Exemption of assessment in lieu of services rendered or to be rendered—Document granting exemption not stamped or registered—sale—Gift—Hindu Law—Nibandha. In consideration of services already rendered or thereafter to be rendered by the defendant to the predecessor in title of the plaintiff the latter executed two documents whereby he released the defendant from payment to him of the assessment on certain lands. Those documents were not stamped or registered. The plaintiff sued to recover arrears of assessment from the defendant, who pleaded exemption under the two documents. The lower Appellate Court found the transaction to be one of sale, and applying s.

55 (6) (b) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, ordered the plaintiff to pay to the defendant what the Court calculated to be the equivalent of purchase-money before he (the plaintiff) could recover the assessment. Held, that the transaction evidenced by the documents could not be regarded as a sale, for the consideration could not be regarded as

"price", and even if it could be assessed in money value, it was vitiated by the fact that it was vague and uncertain as to future services. Held, further, that the transaction must be regarded as one of gift. It was a gift of the grantee a right to assessment, and such a right is regarded as Nibandha in Hindu Law and therefore immovable property.

The documents not having been registered, the gift did not operate. Held, also that there having

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

ss 55 (6) (b), 123—contd

been no registered instrument in support of the defendant's title the right set up in defence must be negatived. MADHAVRAO v KASHIBAI (1909).

I L R. 34 Bom 287

ss 55, 58, 100—

See RATES AND TAXES

I L R. 42 Calc 625

s 56—Marshalling—Application of doctrine as between purchasers of different properties subject to the same mortgage—Act No III of 1907 (Provincial Insolvency Act), ss 16 and 34—Insolvency—Property of applicant sold in execution of decree before order of adjudication but after filing of application The rule of equity stated in s 56 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, does not apply to a case between purchaser and purchaser, the section being limited in its operation to the case in which the party claiming marshalling is a purchaser and the party against whom it is claimed is the original mortgagor Magniram v Mehdi Hosein Khan, I L R 31 Calc 95, followed Held also, that s. 16, cl. (6), of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, does not control s 34, cl. (1), of the Act But where property of the applicant in insolvency is sold in execution between the dates of the application and of the order of adjudication, the property sold vests in the auction purchaser and not in the receiver Sri Chand v Murari Lal I L R 31 All 623, followed, Basarmal Acsatmal v Khemchand Daryanomal, 11 Indian cases, 433, approved. DIN DAYAL v GUR SARAN LAL.

I L R 42 All 336

ss 56 and 81—

See APPEAL I. L. R. 41 Calc. 418

ss. 56, 81, 88—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 35 Bom 395

s 57—

See MORTGAGES I. L. R. 39 Mad 419

See MORTGAGE DECREE 2 Pat. L. J. 118

s 58—

See s. 6 I L R. 39 All 196

See CONSTRUCTION OF DEED I L R. 40 Bom. 74, 373

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, sec 5, ART 132 . 25 C. W. N. 57

See MORTGAGE 1 Pat L. J. 563

See RATES AND TAXES

I L R. 42 Calc. 625

Mortgage—Construction of document A bond was executed in the following terms—"I have borrowed Rs. 1000 from so and so . . . and ½ out of the entire 20 biswa zamindari property in . . . belonging to me, and have brought the same to my use I therefore covenant and give it in writing that I shall repay the aforesaid amount with interest, etc Until the repayment of the aforesaid amount I shall not transfer the aforesaid property . . . If I do so then such transfer shall be invalid. I have, therefore, executed these few presents by way of a bond (tamassuk) Held, that the document did not constitute a simple mortgage as there was no transfer of a specific interest in im

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 58—contd

moveable property to the lender nor any power of sale conferred on him Dalip Singh v Bahadur Ram I L R 34 All 416 referred to by PIGGOTT, J MOHAN LAL v INDOMATI (1916)

I L R. 39 All. 244

Mortgage by conditional sale—Sale and agreement to re-sell same transaction, whether a sale or a mortgage—Construction—Intention of parties—Surrounding circumstances, terms of instrument or oral evidence of intention, whether can be considered—Decisions of Privy Council on transactions before Transfer of Property Act—Applicability of, to those after the Act Where in one and the same transaction land is sold abso- lutely but with a right of re purchase to be exercised before a certain date, the transaction does not necessarily become by virtue of s 53 of the Transfer of Property Act a mortgage by condi- tional sale, whatever the intention of the parties might have been The Privy Council have laid down that in transactions before the Transfer of Property Act not governed by Bengal Regulation XVI of 1866, instruments of the above kind are to take effect according to their tenor, unless it appears from the terms of the instrument or the surrounding circumstances excluding oral evidence of intention as inadmissible that the intention was to effect a mortgage Though such decision dealt with transactions before the Act, they still govern transactions after the Act which has not effected any change in the pre existing law on this subject Pattabhiramer v Venkatarao Naiken, 13 Moo I A 560, Thumbusamy Moodley v Hossein Routher, I L R 1 Mad 1, Situl Purshad v Luckm Purshad, I L R 10 Calc 30, Bhagwan Sahai v Bhagwan Din I L R 12 All 337, Bal kishen Das v W F Legge, I L R 22 All 149, and Jhanda Singh v Wahid ud-din I L R 38 All 370, relied on, Palanappan v Subbaraya Goundan, I L W 50, overruled MUTHUVELU MUDALIAR v VYTHILINGA MUDALIAR (1919)

I L R 42 Mad 407

ss 58, 59, 70 and 71—

See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

2 Pat L J. 293

ss 58, 59, 68—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 44 Calc 388

ss. 58, 60, 68—Possessory mortgage, "1891 for one year with a covenant to treat it as sale, in default of payment—Anomalous mortgage—No right to redeem after one year A document of 1891, which was described as a "Swadina Tanaka Meddattu Sharatu Pattiram" which may be translated as a possessory mortgage deed con- taining a condition for a period fixed contained among others, the following terms "within three months a house site together with a thatched house thereon we have mortgaged that is, we have kept it as a possessory mortgage and have received Rs 10 from you So having paid the principal and interest pertaining to these Rs. 10 within the end of a year from the said date we shall take possession of our house and site If we do not act according to the said condition we shall quit the land and house as if this is a sale." In a suit for redemption brought after the date fixed for redemption: Held that the transaction was as an anomalous mortgage as described in s

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

ss 53, 60, 93—contd.

53 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), that the rights of the parties were governed by the terms of the mortgage document and that accordingly the plaintiff had no right to redeem after the period of one year fixed by the document. The right of redemption given by a 60 of the Transfer of Property Act to every mortgagor has no application to cases governed by a 93 of that Act. Sreenivasa Iyengar v Radakrishna Pillai, I L R 33 Mad 667, referred to Uman Aksh v Dasanna I L R 37 Mad 515 distinguished. HAKHEM PATTE MOHAMMAD v SHAIK DAVOOD (1916) I L R 39 Mad 1010

ss 53, 67 and 68—

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE.]

I L R 45 Bom. 523

—Usufructuary mortgage

—Failure of mortgagor to deliver possession—Right of mortgagee to sue for sale. Held by the Full Bench—Where a mortgagor fails to deliver possession to his mortgagee, the mortgagee is not a usufructuary mortgage within the meaning of a 53 (d) of the Transfer of Property Act and the mortgagee is entitled to bring a suit for sale of the mortgaged property ss. 53 (a) and (d), 67 and 68 (c) of the Transfer of Property Act referred to. Ram Narayan Singh v Adhindra Nath Mukherji, I L R 44 Cal 331 followed. Arunchalam Chetti v Ayyanayyana, I L R 21 Mad 475, overruled. SUBRAMMA v NARAYANA (1917)

I L R 41 Mad. 259

ss 53, 100—

See MORTGAGE

I L R 34 All. 446

Construction of document—Mortgage—Charge. A deed commenced by reciting that the executant had borrowed a certain sum of money from certain persons, and then proceeded to refer to certain shares in a property, and finally there was a clause by which the executant undertook that until repayment of the amount he would not transfer the property by sale mortgage, gift or in any other way, but there was in no part of the document any expression conveying the idea of mortgage or hypothecation, nor was there any reference to any right of sale in the property. Held by RICHARDS, C J that it was the intention of the parties to make the property mentioned therein security for the loan and interest and that the document created a charge within the meaning of a 100 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. But as there was no transfer of any interest for the purposes of securing the loan, in the property mentioned in the deed it was not a simple mortgage without the meaning of a 53. PER BAXENDT, J (concur). The intention was that the persons who had lent the money should have a right to realize their money from the property by causing it to be sold. The document was therefore a simple mortgage within the meaning of a 53 of the Transfer of Property Act. Martin v Parson, N W P. H C 124, referred to. JAWAHAR MAL v INDOMATI (1914) I L R 36 All. 201

s 59—

See ATTESTATION I L R 37 Cal 526

See ATTESTING WITNESSES.

I L R 48 Cal. 61

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

s 59—contd.

See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

I L R 33 Cal. 824

2 Pat. L J. 293

See EVIDENCE I L R 41 Cal. 345

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s 78

1 Pat. L J. 129

See MALABAR LAW

I L R. 44 Mad 341

See MORTGAGE

I L R. 43 Cal. 895

I L R. 45 Cal. 748

See MORTGAGE BOND.

I L R. 46 Cal. 522

See NOTICE

25 C. W. N. 49

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1877, s 17

25 C. W. N. 49

See USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

I L R. 39 Cal 227

1. —Executant if may attest so as to bind co-executants—Improperly attested mortgage-bond, if operates as a charge. A party to a document cannot under any circumstances be allowed to sign a document as an attesting witness and a person who has once signed as an executant of a mortgage bond and as one of the persons who were borrowing the money on the bond cannot be allowed to have his position altered from an executant of the bond to that of a witness for the purpose of rendering the document valid as a mortgage against the other executants. DEBENDRA CHANDRA ROY v BHUBAI LAL MUKHERJEE (1912) 16 C. W. N. 1075

2. —The "attestation" of certain mortgage-deeds by two witnesses required by a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act is attestation of the actual fact of the execution. Ganga Das v Shyam Sundar, I L R 26 All. 69, overruled. SHAMU PATEL v ABDUL KADER RAUF TRAI (1912) 16 C. W. N. 1009

I L R. 35 Mad 607

3. —Mortgage bond—

Attestation by only one witness—Bond judicially found to be invalid and unenforceable—Government notification—Retrospective effect—Exemption of certain Districts from the operation of a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882)—Subsequent suit to enforce the mortgage—Res judicata—Rights vested under decrees not affected. In execution under a money decree certain property mortgaged to the plaintiff on the 8th September 1893 was attached and was about to be brought to sale. The plaintiff, thereupon, applied that the property should be sold subject to his mortgage lien. The Court rejected the plaintiff's application on the ground that the mortgage-bond was invalid and not enforceable because it was attested by only one witness and not by two as required by a 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). The plaintiff, thereupon, brought a suit in the year 1906 for a declaration that his mortgage-bond was valid and operative according to law and, therefore, enforceable. The suit came up in second appeal to the High Court which on the 14th August 1908, finally decided that the plaintiff's mortgage was void and, therefore, inoperative.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.— s. 59—contd.

under s. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) In the meanwhile on the 24th June 1908, the Government of Bombay issued a notification exempting certain districts including the Poona District in which the mortgaged property was situate, from the operation of s. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882). The notification was given a retrospective effect from the 1st January 1893. On the strength of the said notification, the plaintiff applied to the High Court for review of judgment and his application being rejected, he, in the year 1910 instituted the present suit to enforce his mortgage and both the lower Courts having rejected the claim on the ground of res judicata the plaintiff preferred a second appeal. Held confirming the decree, that the decree passed by the High Court in 1908 still subsisted and was not affected by the Government notification although the notification on had retrospective effect. The notification could not abrogate rights which had been judicially declared and had been merged in decree Kay v Goodwin, 6 Bng 576 and Lem v Mitchell [1912] A C 400 followed. LAKSHMANRAO KRISHNAJI v BALKRISHNA RANG NATH (1912) I L R 36 Bom. 617

4. — Where a deed was executed by two pardanashin ladies in the presence of their husband and the latter after seeing the execution of the document signed his name underneath but not where other witnesses signed and apparently just to notify his approval Held he was not an attesting witness SIRVATI BAI KUBARI ALAK MANJARI KUBARI v SIRVATI BAI NARAD COMPANY 6 Pat L J 473

5. — Equitable mortgage—Deposit of title deeds of property situate in mofussil—Intention to create charge, proof of—Registration The plaintiff deposited with the defendant in Bombay title deeds of his property situate at Nauk and borrowed a sum from the defendant. The defendant also at the same time executed in favour of the plaintiff a writing setting forth the clear intention of the defendant that the deposit of title deeds should be security for the loan from the plaintiff and binding the defendant to execute on demand a proper legal mortgage of the property covered by the title deeds deposited. This writing which was the only evidence available of the defendant's intentions in making the deposit of title deeds, was not registered. Held that the deed required registration as it created a charge upon the property, that in its absence there was no evidence whatever of intention to connect the deposit of title-deeds with the debt, and that the mere fact that there was a subsequent or contemporaneous loan was not sufficient in law to warrant a presumption apart from any other evidence that the contemporaneous or antecedent deposit of title-deeds was necessarily made as security for the loan. DENRAM RASHID v SOHARJI PASTORJI (1913) I L R 38 Bom. 372

6. — Mortgage deed executed by pardanashin ladies, attestation of—Requirements as to identity of executants, and as to how incense being signatures made—Waiver of right of priority by first mortgagee in favour of second mortgagee—Right to recover unsatisfied portion of claim in subsequent suit from purchaser of mortgagor's interest in other property comprised in mortgage In a suit on a mortgage executed by two pardanashin ladies, the defendant objected that the deed had not been duly attested in accordance with the provisions of s. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), as interpreted in the decision of the Privy Council in Shamu Patter v Abdul Kadir Barudhan I L R 35 Mad 607; I L R 39 I A 218, and was therefore not operative as a mortgage. On this point the High Court differed Sir H G RICHARDS C J, finding that the attestation was not complete, because the attesting witnesses had not actually seen the signatures of the executants put on the deed, and Sir P C. BANERJI being of opinion that that requirements as well as all others necessary had been observed Held (upholding the finding of BANERJI, J.) that the deed had been duly attested within the meaning of s. 59 of the Act. Two at least of the witnesses were well acquainted with the executants, and though they did not see their faces they recognized their voices and saw them sign the mortgage deed. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that the plaintiffs (respondents) had not in a former suit insisted on their right as prior mortgagees but had waived it in favour of the second mortgagees and so lost their claim only partly satisfied did not, under the circumstances of the case disentitle them from recovering the unsatisfied portion of the debt in the present suit from the appellants (defendants) who were purchasers of the mortgagor's interest in other portion of the property comprised in the mortgage. PANDIT HALWAI v PAM NATH UPADHIA (1913) I L R 37 All. 474

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.— s. 59—contd.

7. — Attestation—Document attested by one witness only—Mortgage—Charge A document purporting to be a deed of mortgage bore the signature of one attesting witness and the name of another person was written on the margin by the scribe but there was no signature or mark made by his second person. In a suit brought upon the document after his death it was held that the document was not duly attested by two witnesses within the meaning of s. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act, inasmuch as there was nothing to show that the person whose name appeared on the document as an attesting witness had authorized the scribe to sign it for him and therefore it could neither operate as a mortgage nor create a charge on immovable property. PARAM HANS v PANDIT BHOU (1916) I L R 38 All. 461

7 (a). — Attestation of mortgage deed—Scribe who signs for and on behalf of the mortgagor is competent to become one of the attesting witnesses—Personal decree, when allowable The executant of a certain mortgage deed was illiterate and she executed the instrument 'by the pen of' the scribe of the document who also signed the document as one of the attesting witnesses. Held—That the document was not legally attested by the scribe according to the provisions of sec. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act. Where no mark, seal or thumb impression of the mortgagor appears on the mortgage deed, the scribe who executes the document for and on behalf of the mortgagor is not competent to become an attesting witness to attest the signature he himself has written out. (pendra

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 59—contd

v Hutum, I L R 48 Calo. 522 s c 23 C W N 290, approved and followed. A personal decree for the money is only allowable if the suit is brought within 6 years of the date of the Bond or for any payment within section 20 of the Limitation Act. SRISTIDHAR GHOSH v PAKHYAKALI DAS

28 C W. N 264

8. Mortgage bond—

Attestation on—Person subscribing as scribe if attesting witness Per CHAMBER C J—To be an attesting witness within the meaning of s 59 of the Transfer of Property Act the witness must not only have seen the execution of the document but should have also subscribed as a witness. Shamu Potter v Abdul Kadir I L R 39 I A 218 s c I L R 35 Mad 607 16 C W N 1000 Raj Narain Ghose v Abdul Rahim 5 C W N 451 Dinamoy Deb v Dow Behari Kapur 7 C W N 160 and Badr Prasad v Abdul Karim I L R 35 All 251 referred to. Where a person who subscribed a mortgage bond as scribe was proved to have been present when the document was executed and the lower Appellate Court upon this and other evidence found that he had seen the document executed and held that he was an attesting witness within the meaning of s 59 of the Transfer of Property Act. Held per CHAMBER C J—That although on the finding he must be held to have seen the mortgage deed executed the scribe was not an attesting witness as he did not subscribe as a witness. Per JWALA PRASAD J—That in the absence of evidence showing that he had witnessed the execution it could not be presumed that he had. A scribe of a deed who has witnessed the execution may sign the deed because he has done so and yet describe himself as a scribe. RAM BAHADUR SINGH v AJODHYA SINGH (1916)

20 C W N 699

9. Deed of mortgage

Attestation—Execut on—Mark by illiterate executant—Mark described by the scribe—Signature—General Clauses Act (X of 1897) s 3 cl. 52 An illiterate person signed a deed of mortgage by putting his mark to it which mark was described by the scribe of the deed. It was attested by two witnesses. The deed was sought to be proved by the testimony of one of the witnesses and the scribe. Held that the deed was duly proved for its execution was completed when the executant made his mark and the object of the scribe in describing the mark was to authenticate the mark, that is to vouch the execution. Goverdhan BHAIJI v BHAIJI GOPAL (1916)

I L R 41 Bom. 384

10. Mortgage deed executed by the scribe on behalf of the mortgagor—Attestation only by the scribe and one witness if sufficient Where the mortgagor not being able to sign his own name the mortgage deed which contained no mark or seal or thumb-impression of the mortgagor was executed by the scribe on behalf of the mortgagor. Held, that the scribe having executed the document for and on behalf of the mortgagor was not competent to attest his own signature as an attesting witness even in the view that the subscription of his own name as the

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 59—contd

scribe amounted to attestation within the meaning of s 59 of the Transfer of Property Act. RAJANI KANTA BHADRA v PANCHANANDA (1918)

23 C W. N 290

11. Mortgage—Attestation—Execution—Scribe, whether an attesting witness, meaning of—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 68 A mortgage bond was written and signed at the writer's house where one of the attestants put his attestation on the deed but the other witness attested the document in the Sub Registrar's office. Both the lower Courts held that there was no proper attestation of the document as required by the Transfer of Property Act 1882. On appeal to the High Court it was contended that the scribe who signed the document should be treated as an attesting witness. Held that a writer of a document who put his signature at the end of a document could not be treated as an attesting witness within the meaning of s 68 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, unless he actually signed as an attesting witness in the document. Attesting witness is a witness who has seen the deed executed and who signs it as a witness. Goverdhan Bhikaji v Pohn Gopal (1916), 41 Bom. 384 distinguished. Renu v Laxmanrao (1908) 33 Bom. 44 followed. Dalit CHAND SHIVRAM v LOTU SAKHARAM (1919)

I L R 44 Bom. 405

12. Validity of mortgage bond when scribe who executed the deed on behalf of the mortgagor, attested his own signature—

Evidence Act (I of 1872) secs 63 and 70 proof of the deed by the scribe who also acted as an attesting witness, if sufficient where execution of the deed is admitted. In a suit upon a mortgage bond the Defendant admitted the execution of the bond but pleaded inter alia that the bond should not be regarded as a mortgage bond. The first Court held that the execution of the bond being admitted the necessity of its proof did not arise and decreed the suit. On appeal it was held that the scribe having executed the deed on behalf of the Appellant was not competent to attest his own signature and there being no other evidence dismissed the suit. Held—That the validity of a mortgage bond and the proof of its execution are two different questions. The question of the validity of a mortgage bond with reference to the provisions of sec. 59 of the Transfer of Property Act can arise even though the document might be proved according to law or is not required to be proved by calling an attesting witness under sec. 68 of the Evidence Act by reason of the execution of the document being admitted by the executant as laid down in sec. 70 of the Evidence Act. Where in the above circumstances the Plaintiff produced only the scribe who executed the deed on behalf of the executant to prove the deed, although the names of other persons appeared as attesting witnesses in the document. Held—That instead of dismissing the suit the plaintiff should be given an opportunity of producing evidence that the document was duly executed. PATAN KHAN v BADAL SARDAR.

20 C W N 950

ss 59 100—Mortgage—Charge—

Attestation—Document attested by one witness only Held that a document which purported to be a mortgage, but which was attested by only one witness

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

ss 59, 100—contd.

ness, could not operate either as a mortgage or as creating a charge on immovable property within the meaning of s 100 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Shamu Patter v Abdul Kadir Rautan, 1 L R 35 Mad 607, referred to COLLECTOR OF MIRZAPUR v BHAGWAN PRASAD (1913)

I. L. R. 35 ALL 164

s. 60—

See s 58. . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1010

See s 98. . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 589

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 43 Bom 334

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 37

1. ————— Mortgage—

Redemption—Tender of mortgage money as a condition precedent to a suit for redemption S 60 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, does not necessarily mean that before a suit for redemption can be instituted the amount due on the mortgage must be paid or tendered and this would obviously be impossible when, the mortgage being usufructuary, the plaintiff's case is that the debt has been liquidated by the profits of the property mortgaged. Bansi v Gurdhar Lal, Weekly Notes, 1894, p 143 Narain Singh v Achhai Singh, 1 L R 36 All. 36, Muhammad Ali v Baldeo Pande, 14 A L J 56 Meera Ram Singh v Ganga Ram, 17 A L J, 910 and Muhammad Mushtaq Ali Khan v Banke Lal, 1 L R 42 All 420, referred to HET SINGH v BHARI LAL

I. L. R. 43 ALL 95

2. ————— Mortgage—

Redemption—Mortgagee to remain in possession so long fruit bearing trees remain on land—Whether the term operated as a clog on equity of redemption—Dekhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), s 13 A mortgage deed of 1867 provided that on payment of the principal sum on the expiry of twenty one years the mortgagor shall be entitled to recover the land and trees free of all charges and that if the money was not so paid the mortgagee will be allowed to develop the land by growing fruit bearing trees on it and will not be required to give up possession until the trees had ceased bearing fruit. The mortgagor did not redeem at the expiry of the stipulated period of twenty one years. The mortgagee who remained in possession planted a number of fruit bearing trees on the land. In 1913, the mortgagor sued for redemption. Of the mortgage of 1867 under the Dekhan Agriculturists' Relief Act contending that the stipulation in the deed postponing the mortgagor's taking possession so long as there were fruit bearing trees on the land was a clog on the equity of redemption. Held, that the provision in the deed postponing the mortgagor's taking possession so long as there were fruit bearing trees did not operate as a clog on the equity of redemption. Held, further, that the proper relief which the mortgagor was entitled to was that under s. 13 of the Dekhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, namely, the taking of an account from the beginning of the mortgage up to the date of the suit. The words "at any time after the principal money has become payable" in s. 60 of the Transfer of Property Act, mean become payable according to the terms of the contract. PER HUTTON, Acting C J—S 60 of the Transfer of

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 60—contd.

Property Act merely enacts that redemption is to be according to the terms of the mortgage contract and there is nothing in the Transfer of Property Act which says anything about clogs on the equity of redemption. GEYU v NARAYAN (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 117

3. ————— Suit by assignee of Hindu widow a right to annuity charged on properties a portion whereof acquired by plaintiff—Apportionment of the plaintiff's claim between properties acquired by him and rest of charged properties—Widow's right whether personal or transferable A Hindu widow in consideration of releasing her life interest in her husband's properties, obtained from her two brothers in law a deed of maintenance whereby she was entitled to receive Rs 100 per annum in cash and certain rice from them with the payment whereof certain properties were charged. The plaintiff the assignee of this right of the widow, subsequently purchased a portion of the properties not free from encumbrance created by the deed of maintenance. The first Court partly decreed the plaintiff a suit to enforce the charge. The lower Appellate Court decreed the whole of the suit against the properties not purchased by the plaintiff. Held, that the case was covered by the last few words of the final clause of s. 60 of the Transfer of Property Act. A mortgagee having become a partial owner of the equity of redemption is bound to apportion the money which he seeks to recover as between the properties acquired by him which were subject to the charge and the rest of the mortgaged properties. Held, also that this was not a personal right of the Hindu widow. It was a claim which the widow had under a deed of covenant for which there was a charge on certain properties and it was capable of transfer in the same manner as in other cases. The mere fact that the grantee of the deed of covenant happened to be a Hindu widow did not prevent her from transferring her interest, if she thought fit so to do. RAJAT KAMINI DEBI v RAJA SATYA NIBANJAN CHAKRABARTY (1919)

23 C W. N. 824

4. ————— Mortgage—Suit for redemption—Tender of mortgage money not a condition precedent—Usufructuary mortgagee planting trees—"Improvement" It is not necessary that a mortgagor who wishes to redeem should make a tender or payment of the money due on the mortgage before instituting a suit for redemption. All that s 60 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, provides is what constitutes the right of redemption, and there is nothing in the section which requires that a tender of the mortgage money should be made as a condition precedent to the institution of a suit for redemption. The planting of trees on the mortgaged property by a mortgagee in possession is not such an improvement as entitles him to claim compensation from the mortgagor, but he is entitled to cut down and remove those trees. RAGHUNANDAN RAI v RAGHUNANDAN PANDE . I L. R. 43 ALL 638

5. ————— One of several mortgagors may redeem whole mortgage—Mortgagee foreclosing without making transferee of one of the mortgaged properties party—Latter if bound to re-

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 60—contd

deem that property only—English law and Indian law on the point, if different. It is not the law in India, any more than it is in England, that one of several mortgagors cannot redeem more than his share unless the owners of the other shares consent or do not object. Subject to proper safeguarding of the right to redeem which these other owners may possess, he is entitled to redeem the mortgage in its entirety, unless something had happened which extinguished the mortgage in whole or in part. The concluding part of sec 60 of the Transfer of Property Act does no more than declare applicable what is but the law as established in England. In English law, the transferee of a part of the security is entitled to redeem the entire mortgage on the properties generally and correlatively cannot compel the mortgagee to allow him to redeem his part by itself. MIRZA KADALI BEG v. TURK RAM (F. C.)

25 C. W. N. 241

s 60, 61, 62—Mortgage in the possession and charge on the same property in favour of the same person—Assignment of equity of redemption—Breach of contract by mortgagor—Loss to mortgagee—Rights of assignee of equity of redemption to redeem mortgage in the possession without paying amount due on the charge and the loss sustained by mortgagee. A mortgagor has a statutory right under s. 62 (b) of the Transfer of Property Act to redeem a usufructuary mortgage on property which is also subject to a simple mortgage, without redeeming the latter also. Therefore where a person mortgaged some of his properties with possession and regained possession of them by executing a rental agreement giving a charge thereon and on other properties for all arrears of rent held that the mortgagor could redeem the properties mortgaged with possession alone without being obliged to pay at the same time any amount due under the simple mortgage. Tajoo Bibi v. Bhagwan Prasad, (1894) I L R 16 All. 295, followed. The losses which the mortgagee might have sustained by reason of breach of contract committed by the mortgagor and which were not specifically charged on the mortgaged properties are recoverable only from the mortgagor and not from the mortgaged properties in the hands of his assignee. Bakra Thakur Das v. Collector of Algarh (1910) I L R 32 All. 612 (P. C.) followed. Per WALLIS C. J.—Quere whether in India a mortgagor has the right to redeem one mortgage on a property without at the same time paying off another mortgage on the same and other properties as well. Per BHESAGIRI AYYAR J.—Whatever may be the rights of a mortgagor in India to compel the mortgagee to consolidate mortgages upon the same property, the rule is not applicable against purchasers of the equity of redemption. The rule in Vint v. Padget (1848) 2 Dr G. J. 611, s. c. 44 F. P. 1126 is not applicable to India. RAMADEVANMOOR v. MANA RAJAH OF VENKATAGIRI (1921)

or I L R. 44 Mad. 301

s 60—Document in favour of redemption—Previous suit by mortgagor to compel mortgagee to sell—Decree in favour of mortgagor was defendant, for redemption and recovery of the mortgage in execution—Decree, not executed by mortgagee or mortgagor—Suit for redemption by mortgagor, Maintainability

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

ss 60, 67—93—contd

of—Res judicata. Where a mortgagee sued for sale on a mortgage bond of 1864 and obtained a decree in 1872 which contained a provision, in favour of the mortgagor who was a defendant therein, for redemption and recovery of possession of the mortgaged lands in execution of the decree but the decree was not executed by either party. Held, that a fresh suit instituted by the mortgagor for redemption of the mortgage was barred by the rule of res judicata. Vedapurath v. Vallabha Vahya Raja, I L R 25 Mad 300, and Adipuram Pillai v. Gopalamm Mudali, I L R 31 Mad 351, referred to. Rama v. Bhagchand, I L R 39 Bom. 41, dissented from. RAMA AYYANGAR v. NARAYANA CHARIAR (1915)

I L R 39 Mad. 896

ss 60, 74, 91—

See MORTGAGE I L R 34 Mad. 115

ss 60, 69 and 95—

See REDEMPTION . 3 Pat L J. 490

ss 60 and 91—Redemption, suit for, by the owner of a portion of the equity of redemption—Mortgagee in possession—Vendee from other co-owners of the equity of redemption—Payment by vendee of his share of mortgage-amount to the mortgagee—Possession, surrender of, by mortgagee to vendee of aliquot portion of lands—Objection by mortgagee and vendee to redemption of the whole mortgage and surrender of the whole mortgaged property—Redemption of plaintiff's share only on payment of his share of debt—Possession of lands, right to, by fair partition in a suit for redemption—Equities on partition—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 91, construction of. Where the plaintiff (an owner of a half share in the equity of redemption) sued the mortgagee and the owner of the other half of the equity of redemption, who had redeemed one half of the mortgage, for redemption of the whole mortgage and for the recovery of possession of the whole of the mortgaged property, the High Court on Second Appeal passed a decree for redemption of the plaintiff's half-share on payment of half the mortgage-amount and for partition and delivery of possession of half the mortgaged lands in respect of such share. The owner of a portion of the equity of redemption is not entitled as matter of right to redeem the whole of the mortgage and recover possession of the whole of the mortgaged property, on payment of the whole of the mortgage-amount against the will of the mortgagee in possession and of the vendee of another portion of the equity of redemption who was put in possession of some of the lands by the mortgagee on payment of an aliquot portion of the mortgage-amount. The question whether the Court will allow redemption of the whole of the mortgage at the instance of a person entitled to a part only of the equity of redemption must depend on the circumstances of each case and the rights acquired by the mortgagee or by third persons subsequent to the mortgage. Kwayi Mal v. Furan Mal I L R 2 All. 363, Munshi v. Davlat, I L R 29 All. 262, and Narad Azmat Ali Khan v. Jowahir Singh, 13 Moo. I A 404, followed. Ruthasan Nambudri v. Parameswaran Nambudri, I L R 22 Mad 209,

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*ss 60, and 91—contd

dissented from S 91 of the Transfer of Property Act, explained. RATHA MUDALI v PERUMAL REDDY (1912) . I L R 38 Mad. 310

ss 60 and 98—

See s 58 . I L R 39 Mad. 1010

Mortgage deed, simple and usufructuary combined—No anomalous mortgage—Redeemable—Mortgage, to be vendee on mortgagor's failure to pay at the stipulated time—Whether mortgage by conditional sale Where the usufructuary mortgage deed provided that if the mortgage amount was not paid on the stipulated date, the mortgage was to work itself out as a sale for the principal amount and further contained a covenant that the mortgagor would pay to the mortgagee the costs of the construction of earth work, etc., on the date fixed for redemption as per the accounts of the mortgagee. Held that it was not an anomalous mortgage as defined in s 98 of the Transfer of Property Act the word 'not' in s 98 governing equally the words 'a combination of the first and third or the second and third of such forms' in the section and that therefore it was redeemable. Amarchand v Kula Marar, I L R 27 Bom 600 and Ammanna v Guruswami, I L R 16 Mad 64, dissented from. Perayyan v Venkata, I L R 11 Mad 403 and Akinedu v Subbiah I L R 35 Mad 744, followed. Per Sadasiva Ayyar J It is a combination of a simple mortgage and a usufructuary mortgage clogging the equity of redemption. A mortgage deed which begins as a mortgage transaction, cannot be called a mortgage by conditional sale, though it is a mortgage giving the mortgagee after a certain time and on breach of certain conditions, a right to claim title as vendee. Per Srinivasan J It is either a usufructuary mortgage deed with a clog on the equity of redemption or a usufructuary mortgage combined with a mortgage by conditional sale and in either case redeemable under s 60 of the Transfer of Property Act. Gopalasami v Arunachella, I L R 13 Mad 304, referred to. Kanpaya Gurukul v Kalimuthu Annan, I L R 27 Mad 526 distinguished. Srinivasa Ayyangar v Radhakrishnan Pillai (1913) . I L R 38 Mad 687

s 61—

See MORTGAGE 25 C W N 129
I L R 1 Lah. 103

ss 61 and 62—

See s 60 . I L R 44 Mad. 301

ss 61, 85 and 89—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O XXXIV, rr 1 and 11—Mortgagee holding two mortgages—Sale on the second mortgage subject to his interest in a prior mortgage—Maintainability It is open to a mortgagee to bring a suit for the recovery of his debt by sale of the properties mortgaged to him subject to his interest in a prior mortgage. Srinivasa v Balasubramania (1915) I L R 38 Mad. 927

s 63—Accession to mortgaged property, mortgagor's right to, if depends on special advantage of mortgagee as such in acquiring the accession—Mortgagee also co-owner of the property—acquisition by mortgagee of rayatti holdings in the property—Mortgagee's right on redemption of

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*s 63—contd

mortgage Where the plaintiff's share in a mehal was mortgaged to the co-proprietors of the mehal and the mortgagees during the continuance of the mortgage bought in some of the rayatti holdings of the mehal from the tenants and obtained possession thereof, separating the lands purchased from those in the possession of the tenants. Held, that on redemption of the mortgage, the plaintiff was entitled to get khas possession of the lands to the extent of the share in the mehal on payment to the mortgagees of the proportionate share of the expenses incurred in acquiring them. Per N R CHATTERJEE, J—The purchases were accessions to the mortgaged property within the meaning of s 63 of the Transfer of Property Act. The mortgagee's right to the accessions to the mortgaged property under s 63 of the Act does not depend upon whether the mortgagee had any special advantage by reason of his position as mortgagee in acquiring the accession. Kudendatti v Mumtaz Ali I L R 3 Cal 193 referred to. S 63 of the Act applies to a case where the mortgagee holds the property both as co-proprietor and as mortgagee. RAM BHAU VARMA SINGH v AMBEKA PRASAD SINGH (1913)

17 C W N 586

ss 63, 72, 76—

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE

I L R 43 Bom 69

s 65—

See s 68—

2 Pat. L. J 490

See MORTGAGE I L R 35 All. 43
I L R 38 Mad. 18

Duty of a mortgagor in possession to pay public charges, partly personal—Acquisition of equity of redemption by trespasser—Non-payment of public revenue and purchase by trespasser in revenue sale—Extinction of mortgage The implied covenant on the part of the mortgagor in possession mentioned in s 65, of (c) of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), to pay all public charges is in the nature of a personal covenant and is not one arising by virtue of his being in possession of the mortgaged property. Hence if after the creation of a simple mortgage, a stranger acquires the equity of redemption by adverse possession as against the mortgagee, the acquirer is under no duty towards the mortgagee to pay the public revenue payable on the property; and therefore, if after allowing it to be sold for arrears of revenue, he buys it himself, he holds it free from the mortgage. The rule that no man can take advantage of his fraud does not apply to a case like this where the party charged with fraud does not stand in any fiduciary relation to, or has a joint interest with, the person defrauded and is under no duty to protect his interests. Nawab Sadique, Nawab Ally Khan v Fajal Ojodhyar Khan, 10 Moo I d 640, distinguished. Quare Whether an assignee for value from the mortgagee is affected by the mortgagor's covenant to pay the public charges? FERRIS v RAM PRASAD (1916)

I L R, 30 Mad. 939

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 67—

See MORTGAGE I L R 47 Calc. 175
I L R 39 Mad 17

Usufructuary mortgage

—Date payable within a fixed period—Expiry of the period—Mortgagee's right to an order for sale Where under a usufructuary mortgage the mortgage debt is made payable within a fixed period, the mortgage is not purely a usufructuary mortgage and the mortgagee has in the absence of a contract to the contrary the right to an order under s 67 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) that the property be sold after the debt has become payable. Mahadaji v Joti I L R 17 Bom 4-5 and Ashwini v Hari 10 Bom I R 615 explained. DATTABHAT RAMBHAT v KRISHNABHAT (1910).

I L R 34 Bom 482

Right of purchase mortgage

—Mortgagee to sue for sale only if prior mortgagee—Suit for sale by first mortgagee without impleading subsequent mortgagee—Purchaser in execution rights of—Right of purchase mortgage to sue for sale against purchaser—Purchaser in purchase mortgage's suit right of Where a prior mortgagee sued for sale on his mortgage without making a purchase mortgage a party to his suit and obtained a decree and in execution of the decree the property was sold and purchased by a third person the purchase mortgagee is entitled to sue for sale on his mortgage subject to the prior mortgage after making the purchaser a party to his suit. Mulla Fattul Seethi v Achuthan Nair 21 Mad L J 213 followed. Venkatagiri v Sadigoyya Chinnar 21 Mad L J 122 and Venkataramamiah v Ponniah I L R 2 Mad 103 discussed in Muhammad Usan Borth n v Abululla I L R 24 Mad 171, Venkatarama Iyer v Comperiz I L R 31 Mad 425 and Rangayya Chinnar v Parthasarathi Navekar I L R 20 Mad 190 referred to. Case law on the subject reviewed. Rights of purchasers in the prior or subsequent mortgagee's suits discussed. CHITTEL PILLAI v VENKATASAMY CHETTIAR (1915).

I L R 40 Mad 77

Mortgage—Suit by one mortgagee to recover his individual share in the mortgage debt—If debt amounts to a severance of the interests of the mortgagees Certain property was mortgaged by K to B and J. Then other property was mortgaged by G (K's brother) also to B and J. Subsequently K and G made a usufructuary mortgage of both properties in favour of B alone ostensibly in lieu of the former mortgages and B purported to give the mortgagees a discharge of those mortgages. Held, that in these circumstances it was competent to J to sue the mortgagees for the recovery of his share in the mortgage debts due in respect of the two earlier mortgages, the action taken by B amounting in law to a severance of the interests of the mortgagees with the consent of the mortgagees. Cobind Ram v Sunder Singh 1899 All Weekly Notes 416 distinguished. JATHARI SINGH v GANGA SARAI (1919).

I L R 41 All 631

Mortgagee's right to a decree for sale when the mortgage is an English mortgage—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) Or XXXI s 6—Mortgagee's right to a personal decree against the mortgagor when after the transfer and redemption clauses in the mortgage

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 67—contd

deed there is a covenant for payment of the mortgage debt—Appellate Court's power to pass a personal decree in the appellate stage Under the provisions of sec 67 of the Transfer of Property Act a decree for sale may be made in favour of the mortgagee when the mortgage is an English mortgage. When the mortgagor covenants to transfer the hypothecated properties indefeasibly to the mortgagee with the usual clause for redemption and further covenants to pay the mortgage debt with interest to the mortgagee his heirs and assigns the latter clause is a personal covenant to pay out of properties other than the hypothecated properties as the latter clause would be entirely superfluous if the parties had no intention that the mortgagor should be personally liable to pay to the mortgagee the money due to him. Therefore in such cases the mortgagee is entitled to a decree for sale as also to a personal decree against the mortgagor. A personal decree may be made against the mortgagor at the appellate stage. ASHWAN BAI v GOBURNAN BOWRA. 26 C W N 318

ss 67 and 68—

See s 58 I L R 41 Mad 259
I L R 45 Bom 523

ss 67 83—

See s 83 I L R 39 Mad 898

ss 67 80 100—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE O XXXIV,
RR 4 5 14 AND 15 2 Pat L J 55

s 68—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O
XXXIV R 14 I L R 39 All 36See MORTGAGE I L R 44 Calc. 388
3 Pat L J 162

Usufructuary mortgage

—Dispossession on of mortgage—Right of mortgagee to sue for debt. A usufructuary mortgagee who has failed in a suit by a subsequent mortgagee to take a defence which would have preserved the security is not entitled to sue for the mortgage money under s 68. DUVIA LAL CHOWDHURY v MISRAMAT BOWBATAN ROY.

2 Pat L J 490

2 ——— Mortgage with dispossession—Dispossession by person having higher title than mortgagor—Right to sue for mortgage money. The mortgagee of the mortgagee by a person holding a better title than the mortgagor comes under the provisions of s 68 (c) of the Transfer of Property Act and entitles the mortgagee to sue for the mortgage money. Nakchedi Ram v Ram Charitar Bai Weekly Notes 1397 p. 14 referred to. PAN SUBAT MISRA v CHER PRASAD. I L R 43 All 434

3 ——— Usufructuary mortgage invalid for want of attestation—Deprivation of possession not by mortgagor but by title paramount—Suit for mortgage money whether maintainable. S. 88 of the Transfer of Property Act does not entitle a person who takes a usufructuary mortgage which is invalid for want of attestation and who is deprived of his possession by title paramount

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 68—contd

mount and not by any act of his mortgagor, to sue for the mortgage money. The default referred to in s. 63 (b) as entitling the mortgagor to sue for the mortgage money is one anterior to the deprivation of possession, and failure of the mortgagor to establish the possession when called upon as against the strangers dispossessing the mortgagee is no default within s. 64 (b). Jam Narayan Singh v Abhimata Nath Mukherji, 11 J. 41 Cal. 335, distinguished. MUTTER v PERIAKARTHA KAVUNDAV (1919). I L. R. 42 Mad 578

s. 69—Sale by mortgagee—Surplus proceeds retained by mortgagee—Whether attachable under warrant under Criminal Procedure Code (V of 1895), s. 356—Priority of Crown over attaching creditor. A mortgagee sold the mortgaged property under a power of sale and after discharging his own dues, retained the surplus sale proceeds for payment to the mortgagor. The mortgagor was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine which, if recovered, was directed to be paid to the complainant. A warrant for recovery of the fine was issued under s. 356 of the Criminal Procedure Code against the funds in the hands of the mortgagee who paid the amount to the bailiff. The plaintiff, who had attached the mortgaged property in execution of a decree against the mortgagor, disputed the right of the Crown to proceed against the fund, or at least in preference to him and sued the Secretary of State for India and the complainant to whom the amount was paid. Held, (i) that the surplus amount retained by the mortgagee was money held in trust by him for the mortgagor under s. 61 of the Transfer of Property Act; (ii) that a warrant could be issued for the levy of the fine by distress on the amount in the hands of the mortgagee under s. 356 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and (iii) that the fine was a Crown debt which had priority over the plaintiff's debt, though the fine if recovered, was directed to be paid to the complainant. PICHU VANDHAR v THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916).

I L. R. 40 Mad 767

s. 70—

See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE

2 Pat. L. J. 293

Mortgage of mukarrars right Where a mukarrandar mortgaged his mukarrari right and the mortgagee obtained a decree on the mortgage for sale of the mortgaged property. Held, that the decree holder was not entitled in execution of the decree to sell the mukarrari right in the property which had been acquired by the mortgagor subsequent to the passing of the decree. HARADHAN CHAKRABARTY v HANGORIND DUTTA. 6 Pat. L. J. 347

ss 70 and 71—

See EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

2 Pat. L. J. 293

s. 72—

See MORTGAGE

1 Pat. L. J. 589

I L. R. 46 Cal. 448

I L. R. 38 Mad. 18

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE

I L. R. 43 Bom. 69

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 72—contd

Mortgage—Redemption

—Purchase by mortgagee of portion of mortgaged property—Right of mortgagee to put whole burden of mortgage debt on remainder—Enhancement of revenue assessed on mortgaged property whose mortgagor makes himself liable for it and mortgagee pays it to protect property. In 1848 a village named Kachaura was mortgaged to the predecessors of the respondent (defendant), and in 1870 the same mortgagor mortgaged 11 biswas of Kachaura and 6 biswas of another village called Agrana to the same mortgagee. Under the terms of the later mortgage the mortgagee was to have possession of the mortgaged properties, realize the rents and profits and pay therewith the Government revenue which was separately assessed on the two shares. Out of the balance he was to retain the interest of the loan and pay the mortgagor a yearly sum as malikana. As a fresh settlement was in progress the mortgage further provided that if at the recent settlement the Government revenue is enhanced or decreased to some extent (the mortgagor) shall be entitled to and liable for it, and the mortgagee shall have nothing to do with it. The revenue on the two properties was enhanced, on Kachaura by Rs 89 and on Agrana by Rs 469. In 1873 the equity of redemption in Agrana was purchased by the predecessor of the appellants (plaintiffs) who afterwards sued and obtained a decree for the apportionment of the malikana due in respect of his share of Agrana, which amount they subsequently received annually less the enhanced amount of the Government revenue assessed on it. In 1878 the mortgagee purchased the whole of Kachaura in execution of a decree obtained by him on the mortgage of 1868 but he only obtained possession of an 11 biswas share of it. The mortgagee had from the date of the enhancement up to the time of his purchase paid the enhanced revenue assessed on Kachaura for which the mortgagor had made himself liable on the terms of the mortgage. In a suit by the appellants to redeem their 6 biswas share of Agrana on payment of a proportionate amount of the mortgage money, and for surplus profits if any. Held, by the Judicial Committee (affirming the decree of the High Court) that Agrana was liable for the whole mortgage debt, and the applicants could not therefore redeem on payment of only a proportionate amount. Held, also, (reversing the decree of the High Court), that in calculating the amount to be paid on redemption the mortgagee was not entitled to tack on to the mortgage debt the amount he had paid for the enhanced revenue on Kachaura. The mortgagee was, on the terms of the mortgage, liable to pay the Government revenue. The clause as to the enhanced revenue could not be construed as meaning that the mortgagor agreed to pay every year separately the enhanced revenue nor did it alter the liability of the mortgagee to meet the demand for the Government revenue. In the case of Agrana he had protected himself by deducting the enhanced revenue from the malikana; but he had omitted to do so in the case of Kachaura, and could not now be allowed to throw the burden of his laches on Agrana. It was not the mortgagor who was seeking to redeem the property, and any equity that might have been invoked against him, did not, in their Lordships' opinion, arise as against the appellants.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 72—contd

BOMBA THAKUR DAS v COLLECTOR OF ALICHAH (1910) I L R. 32 All. 612

Mortgage—Right of mortgagee in possession to charge for repairs and additions to the mortgaged property. During the subsistence of a mortgage of a house the mortgagee being in possession a portion of the house, consisting of a kachcha room fell down. The mortgagee replaced this at a cost of Rs 147 6 making it pucca. But he then proceeded to add without the consent of the mortgagor an upper storey at a cost of Rs 113 and a staircase costing Rs 40 8 6 and on suit by the mortgagor for redemption he claimed a right to add the various sums so spent to the principal mortgage money which was Rs 400. Held that the mortgagee's claim could only be allowed in so far as it fell within the terms of s 72 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 and it was allowed as to the first item but not as to the upper storey or the staircase. Arunachella Chetti v Sikkaya Ammal I L R 19 Mad 377 and Samana v Abdul Wahid Ali Weekly Notes 1883 208 followed. Nikmatullah v Yusuf Ali 10 All L J 124 and Shppard v Jones 21 Ch D 469 referred to. RUPAY SINGH v CHAMPA LAL (1914)

I L R 37 All. 81

Laying improvements by mortgagee. Though a mortgagee is entitled, apart from the provisions of section 72 of the Transfer of Property Act to claim the value of lasting improvements the claim will depend upon what are reasonable improvements. A mortgagee should not be allowed to improve the property to such an extent as to deprive the mortgagor in effect of the right to redeem. Asaf Ali v Chandasana (1918) 43 Bom. 89 referred to. DNYANU LAXMAN v FAKIRA.

I L R 45 Bom 1301

s 73—

Puina created and registered after mortgage of revenue paying estate—Act XI of 1859 ss 40 41—Decree on mortgage against proprietor and putnadar—Sale of estate for arrears of revenue—Transfer of lien to sale proceeds of revenue—Puinai interest from liability to sale. The proprietor of a revenue paying estate executed mortgage in favour of A and subsequently granted a puina to B who had it registered under s 40 of Act XI of 1859. The mortgagee A, obtained a decree on his mortgages in a suit in which the putnadar B was made a party. After the decree the estate was sold for arrears of revenue subject to the encumbrance of the puina. The mortgagee withdrew the surplus sale proceeds in part satisfaction of his decree and for the unsatisfied balance applied for sale of the puina interest. Held that s 73 of the Transfer of Property Act by providing that the mortgage lien is to be transferred to the surplus sale-proceeds did not relieve the puina from liability to sale in satisfaction of the mortgagee's decree. A mortgagee is not bound upon receipt of notice of an application for registration of an encumbrance under s 41 of Act XI of 1859 to oppose such application. Quare Whether such opposition by a mortgagee would be a sufficient ground for the reject on of the application by the revenue officer. Kristo Dass Kundoo v Ramkanti

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 73—contd

Raj Chowdhry I L R 6 Calc 142. Gosto Behary Pyne v Shab Nath Dutt I L R. 20 Calc. 241. Ramala Kant Sen v Abdul Barkat I L R 27 Calc 181, considered. SUSILALAL DASI v DINA BANDHU NATHI (1909) 14 C W N 186

Mortgagor in possession—Compulsory acquisition of land—Application for purchase money by mortgagor—Whether mortgagee entitled to injunction. Where during the pendency of a suit by a mortgagee in which he obtained a preliminary decree a part of the mortgaged property was compulsorily acquired under the Land Acquisition Act 1894. Held the mortgagee was entitled to an injunction restraining the mortgagor from taking the purchase money out of the hand of the Land Acquisition Deputy Collector. ASHUTOSH RAI v BABU LAL JHUGAN. 5 Pat L J 650

s 74—

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Cal 589
I L R 34 Mad. 115

Prior and subsequent mortgages—Subsequent mortgagee redeeming prior mortgage—No receipt obtained for the payment made to prior mortgagee—In lieu of receipt mortgage deed secured—Subsequent mortgagee gets a right to sue for amount on the first mortgage. If a second mortgagee pays off the first mortgagee without obtaining an assignment of the mortgage and without getting a receipt for the amount paid, but in lieu thereof obtains the actual mortgage document it cannot be said according to the principle of justice equity and good conscience that the first mortgage is extinguished and that the second mortgagee has no right to sue for the amount due under the first mortgage. Mahomed Ibrahim Hossain Khan v Ambika Pershad Singh (1912), 32 Calc. 527 followed. NARAYAN BUDHANI v POSHA JANA (1900) I L R 45 Bom 1112

Mortgage—Prior and subsequent mortgagees—Right of purchaser of mortgaged property in execution of a decree of a subsequent mortgagee who has paid off a first mortgage as against a second mortgagee suing for sale. A mortgaged certain property first to B and afterwards to C and finally sold it to D. D mortgaged the property to E who paid off B's mortgages and brought the property to sale in satisfaction of his own mortgage, and it was purchased by M. Held on suit for sale on behalf of mortgagees by C the second mortgagee that M was entitled to hold up as a shield against C the mortgages in favour of B which had been satisfied by E. Rafin v Sant Lal Ali Weekly Notes (1896) 129. Baldeo Prasad v Uman Shankar I L R 32 All I 1 and Munir v Ramji Lal I L J 15 referred to. Bayanah v Murli dhar All Weekly Notes (1907) 85 distinguished. MATI ULLAH KHAN v BANWALI LAL.

I L R 32 All. 138

s 75—

See DEKKHAY AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT (XVII OF 1879)

I L R 40 Bom. 483

See MORTGAGE I Pat L J 582

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE.

I L R 43 Bom. 69

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

— ss 70—contd

Mortgagee in possession, obligations of—Mortgagee in possession as lessee, obligations of— There is a difference between the case of a mortgagee who enters into possession of the mortgaged property by virtue of a lease under which a rent is payable to the lessor and the case of a mortgagee who enters into possession of the mortgaged property by virtue of a lease under which the rent is appropriated by the lessee towards the reduction of the mortgage debt. In the former case he is not chargeable as a lessee in possession under s 70 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and in the latter case he is so chargeable. KISHUNDAYAL v MAHABIR BHAGAT, 5 Pat L J 492

— ss 76, 92—

See LIMITATION ACT, s 23 SCH II
ARTS 36 115 116

I L R 33 Mad 71

— s 78—

See MORTGAGE L R 43 Calc 1052

— s 81—

See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc 418

— ss 81 and 88—

See MORTGAGE I L R 35 Bom 395

— s 82—

See MORTGAGE (CONTRIBUTION)

Mortgage—Contribution—Principle upon which contribution is to be assessed— Where of two properties belonging to the same owner one is mortgaged to secure one debt and then both are mortgaged to secure another debt for the purpose of apportioning the liability of the respective properties in regard to the subsequent mortgage the value of the two properties must be taken into account and credit given for the amount due upon the earlier mortgage out of the value of the property comprised in the subsequent mortgage. Where the amount due upon the earlier mortgage exceeds the value of the property comprised in that mortgage the necessary result is that the whole of the amount of the second mortgage is recoverable from the other property comprised in the latter mortgage. GHULAM HAZRAT v GOBARDEAN DAS (1911)

I L R 33 All 387

Mortgage—Contribution—Principle upon which contribution should be assessed—Civil Procedure Code (1908) O XXI, s 30— Where a mortgagee is suing the other co-mortgagors for contribution upon the allegation that the portion of the mortgaged property in which he is interested has been made to discharge more than its proper share of liability under the mortgage, the Court in assessing contribution has first to ascertain the values of the various items of property in question as they stood at the date of the mortgage; next the rateable liability of each item for the amount payable under the decree; next how much each item has contributed to the payment of the decretal amount, disregarding any purchase money which any of the purchasers has paid or retained and it should then proceed to apportion the liability between the different items. BHAGWAN SINGH v MAHAR ALI KHAN (1914)

I L R 26 All 272

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

— s 82—contd

Mortgage—Contribution—Charge— In the year 1830 one Tikam Singh, who with several sons constituted a joint Hindu family, executed a mortgage of a village forming part of the joint family property. In 1889, he with five of his sons executed a second mortgage of the same village. In 1891, he with two of his sons, executed a third mortgage of the same village. Tikam Singh died and the sons partitioned the village amongst them into several mahals. The first mortgagee brought a suit for sale on his mortgage and having obtained a decree brought to sale the share of Het Singh one of the brothers and the mortgage was discharged. Thereafter Het Singh brought a suit for contribution and obtained a decree. After the satisfaction in this manner of the mortgage of 1880 the other brothers discharged the later mortgages of 1889 and 1891 and then brought the present suit for contribution against Het Singh. Held, that in these circumstances the plaintiffs were not entitled to a decree against Het Singh. Har Prasad v Raghunandan Prasad I L R 31 All 166, referred to. HASHI PAM v HET SINGH (1914)

I L R 37 All 101

— ss 82 and 86—Mortgage—Contribution between several properties subject to the same mortgage—Part of mortgaged property passing to auction purchasers at a court sale—Mortgage money realized from property remaining in hands of mortgagor—Mortgagor's right of contribution against the auction purchasers— Some out of several properties covered by a mortgage were sold, subject to the mortgage in execution of a simple money decree against the mortgagor. The mortgagees then brought to sale in execution of his decree on the mortgage a village, L which still remained in the possession of the mortgagor, and the proceeds of the sale of the village being insufficient to satisfy the decree subsequently caused a share in another village D in the possession of the mortgagor, to be sold. In this way the mortgage decree was fully satisfied. Thereafter, the mortgagor brought a suit for contribution against the auction purchasers of the villages above referred to upon the ground that the village L had been made to contribute more than its rateable share of the mortgage debt. Held that the suit would lie and the plaintiff, after the sale of L was entitled to get contribution from the other villages which had been sold subject to the mortgage in execution of the simple money decree. Magniram v Mohd. Hossain Khan, I L R 31 Calc 95 and Ibn Hasan v Brijbhawan Saran I L R 26 All 407 distinguished. Bhagwan Das v Karam Hussain I L R 33 All 708, referred to. PAMA SHANKAR PRASAD v GHULAM HUSAIN I L R 43 All 580

— ss 82 100—Mortgage—Contribution—Equitable lien—Limitation—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908) Sch I, Arts 6^o 170 and 132— The owner of a property which is mortgaged with other properties to secure a single debt acquires by virtue of the provisions of ss 82 and 100 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882, a charge against such other properties when his property has been sold in execution of a decree on the mortgage and has contributed more than its rateable share of the mortgage debt and none the less if the owner of such property has neither redeemed the mort-

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

ss 82, 100—contd

gaged property nor has the sale of his property alone discharged the mortgage-decree. A claim to enforce such a charge is governed by Art 132 of the first schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. Ibn Hasan v Brybhukan Saran, I L R 26 All 407, Muhammad Ishtiyaq v Rashid ud-din, I L R 31 All 65, Rajah of Lusanagram v Rajah Satruchera Samasaharan, I L R 26 Mad 686, and Bhagwan Das v Har Day, I L R 26 All 227, referred to. Per BAKER and CHAMBER, JJ (dubitante RICHARDS, C J).—If property against which a charge for contribution would otherwise have accrued has been sold and has realized more than the amount remaining due on the mortgage, an equitable lien on the surplus sale proceeds arises in favour of the person entitled to contribution. A suit to recover contribution in virtue of such a lien is governed by Art 62 of the first schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, if not, perhaps by Art 120. Berkhamjee Pershad v Tara Chand I L R 23 Cal 92, Gosta Bihary Pyne v Shab Nath Dutt I L R 20 Cal 211, Kamala Kant Sen v Abul Barkat, I L R 27 Cal 180, Mahomed Wabib v Mahomed Ameer, I L R 32 Cal 627. The Rajputana Malwa Railway Co-operative Stores, Limited v The Ameer Municipal Board, I L R 32 All 491, and Guru Das Pyne v Ram Narain Sahu, I L R 10 Cal 360, referred to. BHAGWAN DAS v KARAM HUSAIN (1911).

I L R 33 All 708

s 83—

1. Deposit paid to mortgagee—Balance of mortgage debt promised—Mortgage not discharged. The consequences resulting from a payment into Court under s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, only occur when the amount paid in is found to be or is accepted by the mortgagee as being equivalent to the full amount due under the mortgage in suit. HAN DAYAL v IRTIJI SINGH (1903).

I L R 32 All 142

2. Tender under s 83 in one Court subsequent to suit by mortgagee, in another Court to enforce his mortgage invalid—Where mortgagee entitled to possession, mortgagee must be put in possession before deposit under s 83—Costs, right of mortgagee to. Where after the institution of a suit by the mortgagee to enforce his mortgage in one Court, the mortgagor deposits the amount in another Court under s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act, the deposit is not a valid one and cannot have the effect of stopping the running of interest on the amount deposited. Where the mortgagee proposes to take action under s 83 of the Act, he must have a valid right to redeem under his contract with the mortgagee. No deposit can be made if the mortgagee being entitled to possession is not put in possession. Ram Sonji v Krishnaji, I L R 26 Bom 312, followed. A mortgagee is entitled to his costs unless there are special reasons disentitling him to them. BAIYA SAO v NARASINGA MAHAPATRO (1911).

I L R 35 Mad. 209

3. Redemption of mortgage—Money payable on last day of Jeth—Deposit in Court on last day of Jeth—Notice served on mortgagee after month of Jeth—Effect of such deposit. A deed of usufructuary mortgage provided

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

s. 83—contd

that, if the mortgagor wished to redeem the mortgage, he could do so on the last day of Jeth in any year. The mortgagor filed a suit for redemption and paid the mortgage money into court on the last day of Jeth, 1910. Held, that it was no reason for dismissing the suit that notice could not be given to the mortgagee within the time limited. Even if the tender was not enough to warrant the Court in passing a decree for redemption from the date of the deposit, it was certainly proper and legal for the Court to pass a decree from the last day of Jeth next succeeding the date of the deposit. Hai Singh v Bhari Lal, I L R 43 All 95, referred to. SAYYID AHMAD BEG v DHARM V RAI.

I L R 43 All 424

4. Usufructuary mortgage—Hypothecation—Deposit of usufructuary mortgage amount only—Refusal by mortgagee—Subsequent deposit of hypothecation amount—Compound interest at enhanced rate—Penalty—Deposit of compound interest at the original rate only, sufficiency of—Acceptance by Court, as reasonable compensation, effect of—Mene profits claimed for, by plaintiff from date of deposit, if sustainable. The plaintiff, as the vendee of certain lands which were subject to a usufructuary mortgage as well as a hypothecation in favour of the defendant sought to recover the property on payment into Court of the amount due under the usufructuary mortgage under s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act. The defendant claimed that the plaintiff should deposit the sum due under the hypothecation bond also. The plaintiff paid subsequently into Court an amount as due for principal and interest on the latter bond, but calculated compound interest at the original rate and not at the enhanced rate after default as mentioned in the bond disputing the provision as penal. The Court held the provision to be penal and accepted the amount paid for interests as reasonable compensation. The plaintiff claimed mene profits from the date of his first deposit, but the defendant disputed his right to any mene profits as the plaintiff did not deposit the full amount specified in the bond. Held, (i) that the plaintiff was bound to deposit the amounts due under both the bonds, and (ii) that the plaintiff was not bound to deposit the penal rate of interest but that the payment of an amount as reasonable compensation which was accepted by the Court as proper, was legally sufficient to entitle the plaintiff to mene profits from the date of the second deposit. ATTAKUTTI MAN KONDAN v PERIYASWAMI KAVENDAN (1915).

I L R 39 Mad. 579

ss 83, 84—

Withdrawal by mortgagor, effect of—Interest on mortgage amount does not cease to run—Costs of mortgage in redemption suit. Where the mortgage amount deposited by the mortgagor under s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act has been withdrawn by the mortgagor on the mortgagee's refusal to accept it, interest in such amount does not cease to run under s 84. The continuance of the deposit is necessary to justify the claim to the cessation of interest. The mortgagee is entitled to his costs in a redemption suit. It will be forfeited by some improper defence or misconduct.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

ss. 83, 84—contd

but not by merely claiming a larger amount than is due KRISHNASAMI CHETTIAR v RAMASAMI CHETTIAR (1910) I L R 35 Mad 44

Deposit in Court—Title of mortgagee's legal representative in dispute in suit—Withdrawal by mortgagor before decision in suit—Cession of interest Where a mortgagor, who had deposited in Court under s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act the money due from him on the mortgage, withdraw the amount from Court before the title of the legal representatives of the mortgagee, which was then in dispute was established in a suit Held that the mortgagor was not entitled to exemption from interest on the mortgage amount from the date of the deposit under s 84 of the Transfer of Property Act Krishnasami Chettiar v Ramasami Chettiar, I L R 35 Mad 44, referred to. THEVARAYA REDDY v VENKATACHALAM PANDITHAN (1916)

I L R 40 Mad 804

Mortgage—Redemption—Right of owner of share in property mortgaged to redeem the entire mortgage The owner of a portion only of the equity of redemption is competent to maintain a suit for redemption of the entire mortgage even against the will of the mortgagee Norender Narain Singh v Devika Lal Mundur, I L R 51 A 18 Huthasanan Nambudri v Parameswaran Nambudri, I L R 22 Mad 209, Velayudhan Chetty v Alangaran Chetty 15 I C 605 and Mustafa Khan v Shadi Lal 10 Oudh C 31, referred to. Cirish Chunder Dey v Juramoni De, 5 C W N 83, dissented from. FAKIR CHAND v BABU LAL (1917) I L R 39 All 719

s 84—

Tender, what amounts to Under s 84 of the Transfer of Property Act, interest ceases to run on the principal amount from the date of tender, it is not necessary that the mortgagor should after such tender always keep the money ready for payment VELAYUDHAN CHETTY v HYDER HUSSAIN KHAN SAKIB (1909)

I L R 33 Mad 100

Held that an offer by letter of the amount due on a mortgage is not a good tender within s 84 It is necessary that the money should be actually produced unless the person entitled to receive has waived this condition. CHETAN DAS v GOBIND SARAN

I L R 36 All 139

s 85—

See ATTACHMENT I L R 44 Mad. 232

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT (XII OF 1879) ss 47 AND 48
I L R 36 Bom 624

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I L R 33 All 7, 71
I L R 36 All 353

See HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE.
I L R 42 Calc 1068

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Calc 60
I L R 39 Calc 627
I L R 45 Calc 1

See NOTICE 25 C W N 49

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

s. 85—contd

Suit upon mortgage—Mortgage executed by adult members of the family—Suit brought against all members excepting a minor—Decree—Sale of mortgaged property in execution—Minor seeking to exempt his share from sale—Representation of the minor by the adult members A Hindu family living jointly consisted of S, his son M, and his two grandsons S² and R (minors) by a predeceased son S mortgaged a house for purposes allowed by Hindu law The deed of mortgage was signed by S M and S² represented by his mother The mortgagee sued on the mortgage and joined S M and S² as party defendants The suit passed into a decree, in execution of which the house was sold at a Court auction and purchased by the plaintiff In a suit by the plaintiff against M, S² and R (S having died) for possession of the house R claimed to exempt from the sale his share in the house which was one fourth on the ground that as he was not a party to the suit, he was not bound by the decree Held that though R was omitted from the suit he was represented by the adult members who were the managing members of the family Held also, that the debt was contracted by S, the grandfather of R and R was bound by it unless it had been contracted for illegal or immoral purposes RAMKRISHNA v VINAYAK NARAYAN (1909)

I L R 34 Bom 354

ss 85 89—

See LIMITATION I L R 42 Calc 778

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s.
156 AND SCH V

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 All 407

Civil Procedure Code (1908) O XXXIV, r 5—Mortgage—Suit on prior mortgage without impleading puisne mortgagee—Effect of failure to implead—Suit for sale by puisne mortgagee impleading prior mortgagee—Duty of puisne mortgagee to redeem the prior mortgage A prior mortgagee without impleading the puisne mortgagee, sued for and obtained a decree for sale on his mortgage under the provisions of s 83 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 After the Code of Civil Procedure of 1908 has come into force the decree holder obtained a decree absolute for sale Before however the sale actually took place, the puisne mortgagee instituted a suit for sale on the basis of his mortgage and in such suit he contended that the prior mortgagee by omitting to implead him had forfeited his right to execute his decree Held that this was not so The position of the puisne mortgagee was rendered neither better nor worse by his not having been impleaded in the prior mortgagee's suit If the prior mortgagee was valid the puisne mortgagee was not entitled to a decree for sale without giving the prior mortgagee an opportunity of redeeming him Janki Prasad v Kishan Dutt I L R 16 All 452 dissented from Pam Prasad v Bakari Das I L R 26 All 464 Drobal Kunwar v Alim-un-nissa Bids Weekly Notes 1901, p 22 and the judgment of BANKS J in Bhawanji Prasad v Kallu I L R 17 All 537, referred to. Het Ram v Shadi Ram, I P 45 I A 130, distinguished. HUKAM SINGH v LALLANJ

I L R 43 All 204

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—

ss 85 80—

See MORTGAGE I L R 40 Calc 342

ss 85 91—Mortgage suit—Parties

Non joinder of attaching money-dee holder—Sale, validity of. Where after attachment by a money decree holder of certain property previously mortgaged by the judgment debtor the mortgagee brought a suit on the mortgage without impleading the attaching decree holder as a party obtained a decree for sale and himself bought the property in execution of his decree. Held that the order for sale and the sale held thereunder were not binding on the attachment decree-holder and that the latter was entitled to bring the properties to sale under his attachment. An attaching decree-holder has under s. 91 Transfer of Property Act an interest in the mortgaged property entitling him to redeem the mortgage and is a necessary party in a suit on the mortgage. Gulam Hussain v D Na Nath I L R 23 All 467 referred to VENKATA SEETHARAMAYYA v VENKATARAMAYYA (1912) I L R 37 Mad. 418

ss 85 93—

See s 61 I L R 38 Mad. 927

See MORTGAGE I L R 41 Calc 727

ss. 86 to 90—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O XXXIV

ss 88 89 and 90—Mortgage decree for sale—Decree silent as to costs whether costs recoverable against mortgagor personally. In a mortgage decree for sale costs are part of the amount due upon the mortgage and are recoverable from the mortgaged property and not personally from the debtor unless the decree itself so directs. Such a direct on cannot be presumed where the decree is silent on the point. Per ATKINSON J.—Costs awarded by a decree prepared under the joint provisions of ss 86 and 88 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 can only be realised from the mortgaged property. MATHEDHARI SINGH v RAMDAS SINGH 2 Pat L J 51

s 83—

See s 86 2 Pat L J 51

See MORTGAGE I L R 35 Bom 395

See MORTGAGE DECREE 4 Pat L J 213

ss 88, 89—

See MORTGAGE I L R 38 Calc. 913

See MORTGAGE DECREE 4 Pat L J 213

Joint decree for sale—Application for order absolute made by some of the decree holders after the coming into force of the Civil Procedure Code 1908—Civil Procedure Code 1908 O XXXIV—General Clauses Act (X of 1907). s 6. A decree for sale under the provisions of s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 was passed jointly in favour of B and K. B died before any order absolute for sale was passed. On 30th April 1909 the sons of B made an application for an order absolute for sale under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act. K was not made a party to it. Held that the application would lie inasmuch as the sons of B being joint decree-holders with K were entitled to apply for an order for sale (whether or not such order be in fact a final decree) their right to do so being inherent in the decree under s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act. The subsequent repeal of the act on could not "affect any right acquired or liability incurred" thereunder. GANGA SINGH v BANWARI LAL (1911) I L R 34 All 72

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd—ss. 88, 89—contd

Application for order absolute for sale—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch. II Art 179. Where a preliminary decree for sale on a mortgage was passed on 23rd September 1898. Held, that an application for order absolute made more than three years after that date was barred by limitation—such an application on being a proceeding in execution. Kista Bar v Bananoy Debba 19 O W N 470 reversed. Munna Lal v Sarat Chandra Mukerjee 21 C L J 118 s c 19 C W N 581 referred to. Batuk Nath v Munna Devi I L R 36 All 284 s c 18 C W N 740 and Abdul Majid v Jawahar Lal, I L R 36 All 350 s c 18 C W N 863 followed. KISTA BAR v BANANOY DEBBA (1915) 19 C W N 649

Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s. 244—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) Sch. II Arts 178 179—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s 97 O XXXIV rr 1 and 5—Order passed under s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act if not appealed against cannot be questioned in an appeal from the decree absolute for sale. In 1907 a suit was filed to recover the mortgage amount by sale of the mortgaged property. A preliminary decree was passed on the 30th of June 1910 as contemplated by O XXXIV r 4 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ordering among other things defendants Nos. 1 and 2 to pay the mortgage amount within six months to the plaintiff and in default directing a sale of the mortgaged property. The payment was not made and a final decree for sale was made on the 15th March 1912. Defendant No 1 appealed against the decree of 1912 and raised substantially points against the decree of 1910. The lower Appellate Court held that the defendant not having appealed against the preliminary decree within time was precluded by s 97 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) from disputing its correctness in an appeal preferred from the final decree. The defendant appealed to the High Court contending that the suit having been filed in 1907 the right of appeal which he had under the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 was not taken away by the Civil Procedure Code of 1908. Held that whether an order absolute for sale was treated as an order falling under s 244 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) and appealable on that footing or not it was quite clear that even under the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 the correctness of the decree under s 88 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) corresponding with O XXXIV r 4 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 could not be questioned in an application for an order absolute under s 89 or in an appeal from an order absolute made on such an application. MULJIDHAR NARAYAN v VISHNUDAS (1915) I L R 40 Bom. 321

s 89—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O XXXIV r 6 I L R 42 All 817

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 89—contd

See MORTGAGE I L R 42 All 364
I L R 37 Cal 897

See PRIVY COUNCIL—PRACTICE OF

I L R 38 All 350

See REDEMPTION 3 Pat L J 490

Execution of a decree—

Benamidar Held, that in an application under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act the fact that the Court came to the conclusion that the applicants transferees were benamidars was no bar to its granting an order absolute. A benamidar is competent to take out execution of a decree. Intikhab Husain v Pafin Hussain, All Weekly Notes, (1907) s 39, Yad Ram v Umrao Singh, I L R 21 All 380 Nawad Kishore Lal v Ahmed Ali, I L R 18 All 69, Bachcha v Gayadkar Lal, I L R 23 All 44, Parmeshwar Datt v Anandan Datt, I L R 37 All 113 referred to KAMTA PRASAD v KONDANI (1915)

I L R 37 All 414

Suit on prior mortgage —Second mortgagee not made a party—Sale of property and purchase by decree holder—Subsequent suit by second mortgagee on his mortgage—First mortgagee purchaser, if may claim to be paid on the foot of mortgage contract or the amount decreed—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 89 An order made under s 89 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) for the sale of the mortgaged property has the effect of substituting the right of sale thereby conferred upon the mortgagee for his rights under the mortgage and the latter rights are extinguished. Where a first mortgagee obtained a decree for sale upon his mortgage in a suit in which he did not make the second mortgagee a party and purchased the mortgaged property at such sale Held, in a suit by the second mortgagee upon his mortgage, that the first mortgagee purchaser had no greater rights than any stranger would have had who had purchased the property under the mortgage decree and paid cash for it and the latter was entitled to set up only the amount of the decree made in his suit. Het Ram v Shadi Lal I L R 45 I A 139 22 C W N 1013 (1913) followed. Umash Chand v Sircar v Musummat Zakoor Fatima L F 17 I A 291 (1909) distinguished. LALA MATHU MAL v MRSAMMAT DURGAL KUKWAR (P C) 25 C W N 307

s 90—

See s. 89 2 Pat L J 51

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s. 47
I L R. 35 Bom. 452

See MORTGAGE . 47 Cal 370

See SUIT TO SET ASIDE A DECREE

I L R 33 All 7

1 Civil Procedure

Code (Act XIV of 1857), ss. 43 and 50—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 89—Suit to recover mortgage-debt by sale of mortgaged and unapportioned property—Decree against mortgaged property alone—Sale—Amount realized not sufficient—Application for supplemental decree to recover balance by sale of other property—Insulation—Putting forward allegations of a late stage. In a suit upon a mortgage dated the 18th April 1887 the plaintiff claimed on the 18th April 1899, to recover the mortgage-debt by sale of the mortgaged property and the balance if any from the non hypothecated property of the mortgagor. The decree was passed in plaintiff's favour against the mortgaged property alone. The amount realized by the sale of the mortgaged property being insufficient to satisfy the decree the plaintiff applied under s 90 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) for a supplemental decree against the other property of the mortgagor. The first Court found that the claim for a personal decree against the mortgagor was time barred. On appeal by the plaintiff he attempted to prove that the claim was within time owing to an intermediate payment by the defendant but the Appellate Court found that the plaintiff failed in his attempt and confirmed the decree. On second appeal by the plaintiff Held confirming the decree, that the mortgage in suit being of the year 1887 and the suit of the year 1899 the plaintiff's right to a personal decree against the mortgagor was time barred. The plaintiff having failed to show the ground on which exemption from the law of limitation was claimed Held, further that the plaintiff could not be allowed at a late stage of the suit to bring forward for the first time allegations which it was necessary to prove in order to show that he was entitled to a further decree against the defendant personally. GILAN HUSSAIN v MAHAMADALI IBRAHIMI (1910) I L R 34 Bom 540

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 90—contd

2 Mortgage—Sub mortgage—Purchaser from mortgagor—Mortgage money forming part of consideration for sale—Personal liability of purchaser—Sale of mortgage rights. In this case it was held (affirming the decisions of the Courts in India in Jamna Das v Pam Astar Lande I L R 31 All 35) that the purchaser of the mortgaged property was not a person from whom the balance of the mortgage debt was "legally recoverable" within the meaning of s 90 of the Transfer of Property Act IV of 1882. JAMNA DAS v RAM ATAR LARIE (1911) I L R. 34 All. 83

3 Mortgage Decree

—Decree for costs of a personal decree. A decree had been passed on appeal in a mortgage suit upholding the mortgage and ordering that the appellant who was a transferee of a portion of the mortgaged property from the mortgagor do pay costs to the respondents, the mortgagee. The mortgaged property having been sold in execution of the decree, the decree-holder applied for execution of the decree for costs against the transferee personally. Held on a construction of the decree, that there was a personal liability imposed by the decree. In such cases regard should be had to what decree was passed rather than to what decree ought to have been passed. MOHAYYA QAN v I AM BANARAS SINGH (1912)

16 C. W. N 731

4. One decree on mortgage for sale at also on personal covenant for sale of other properties, if mortgaged properties fail to satisfy decree, if legal—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1857), s 316—Sale set aside before confirmation—Second suit before former sale set aside, if passes title—Delay in litigation. The words of

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932)

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932)

—contd—

—contd—

s. 90—contd

s. 90 of the Transfer of Property Act are satisfied when the Court in passing a decree in a mortgagee's suit granting him the necessary relief under the mortgage proceeds in addition to provide that if the proceeds of the sale be not sufficient to cover the amount secured by the mortgage with interest till the date of realisation the balance should be recovered from the other properties of the mortgagor. Where property previously sold in execution of another decree was before confirmation of such sale sold again and the sale was never confirmed by reason of its being subsequently set aside. Held that under s. 316 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1902 which was in force at the date the property remained the property of the judgment debtor notwithstanding the sale and passed by the second sale. There is delay in bringing litigation to a final hearing. Jai Va Rani v Parmeshwar Nara, Yan Manthra (1918) 23 C. W. N. 490

s. 91

See s. 60 I L. R. 35 Mad. 310

See s. 83 I L. R. 37 Mad. 418

See ATTACHMENT s. 1 I L. R. 37 Mad. 418

I L. R. 44 Mad. 232

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s.

XXI, r. 107 I L. R. 43 Mad. 696

See MALABAR LAW

I L. R. 43 Mad. 393

See MORTGAGE I L. R. 38 Mad. 426

I L. R. 34 Mad. 115

1 ————— Redemption mortgage of fixed rate tenancy—Death of tenant without heirs—Right of zamindar to redeem—Excluded to Crown—Agra Tenancy Act (Local II of 1901) ss. 3, 13, 20, 57. Held that on the death of a fixed rate tenant without heirs his tenancy does not escheat to the Crown but reverts to the zamindar. Ram Dihal Rai v The Maharaja of Vizianagram I L. R. 39 All. 485 overruled. Panoo Sant Kowar v Maharaj Ramnath Bahadur I R. 31 4 92. I L. R. 1 Cal. 391 distinguished. Tilash Ram Baru v G. B. Dyal Singh (1910) I L. R. 33 All. 111

2 ————— Mortgage suit—Attaching creditor if necessary party—Right of purchaser in execution of money decree to redeem purchaser pending attachment in execution of mortgage decree—Attachment effect of. Although an attaching creditor is entitled to redeem a mortgage under s. 91 Transfer of Property Act he has no interest in the mortgaged property. A purchaser at the sale in which the attachment culminated has no right to redeem the purchaser at the mortgage sale, or to resist his getting possession of the property. Ghulam Hussain v Dina Nath I L. R. 23 All. 467, 469 commented on. Fredrick Peacock v Madan Gopal I L. R. 22 Cal. 429 and Masbil v Karaballia I L. R. 25 Cal. 179, referred to. Shamanda Chandra Pal v Sri Nath Ray Chowdhury (1912) 17 C. W. N. 871

3 ————— Mortgage—Right to redeem—Attaching creditor. Certain property was mortgaged on the 4th of April 1861. One

s. 91—contd

A. A. obtained a simple money decree against the mortgagor on the 25th of May, 1880. Before judgment A. A. had attached the property, and it was subsequently sold by auction and purchased by L. R. on the 24th of September, 1902. In 1897, the mortgagor sued on their mortgage without impugning either A. A. or L. R. In execution of their decree the property was sold and purchased by defendant's father who obtained possession on the 25th of April 1900. I. I. brought suit for recovery of possession or, in the alternative, for redemption. Held, that under s. 91 (f) of the Transfer of Property Act A. A. was entitled to redeem, and the plaintiff as a person claiming under him is also entitled to redeem. Lakshmi Bai v Fakiruddin (1917) I L. R. 39 All. 536

s. 92

See LIMITATION ACT 1877 s. 23, SCH. II.

ART. 36 I L. R. 33 Mad. 71

See MORTGAGE I L. R. 47 Cal. 377

— ss. 92 and 93. Power of mortgagee to apply for sale of mortgaged properties. In a suit for redemption of a mortgage (the mortgage not being a simple mortgage or a mortgage by way of conditional sale) where the mortgagor fails to pay the mortgage amount according to the decree, he may apply for sale of the mortgaged properties. Paragraph 2 of s. 93 Transfer of Property Act, while giving the defendant mortgagee a right to apply for sale does not take away such right from the plaintiff mortgagor. Govinda Taragan v Vethay (1913) I L. R. 36 Mad. 32

s. 93—

See s. 80 I L. R. 39 Mad. 696

s. 95—

See s. 54 I L. R. 39 Mad. 1010

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1909), SCH.

I, ARTS. 134, 144

I L. R. 38 All. 133

See MORTGAGE 14 C. W. N. 617

See REDEMPTION 2 Pat. L. J. 490

ss. 95, 100—

See LIMITATION I L. R. 46 Cal. 111

See MORTGAGE (REDEMPTION)

6 Pat. L. J. 630

s. 96—

See MORTGAGE I L. R. 47 Cal. 682

s. 98—

See s. 60 I L. R. 39 Mad. 1010

I L. R. 38 Mad. 667

See MALABAR LAW

I L. R. 44 Mad. 344

— ss. 98 and 60—Anomalous mortgage—Mortgages defined in s. 58 and combined mortgages under s. 98—Claw on equity of redemption, validity of—Applicability of provisions of the Act to ordinary and anomalous mortgages—Terms of the deed and local usage, how far binding—Construction of document. Where the mortgage was put in possession of the lands mortgaged under a deed executed in 1900, which provided that the principal with interest at a specified rate should be repaid on a certain date eleven years thereafter and that in default the mortgagor should give up the lands as sold to the mortgagee and execute a proper sale-deed and further that the latter should enjoy the property paying the revenue due to Government and where the mortgagor sued in 1914 to redeem the mortgage and the mortgagees pleaded that the former could not redeem after the time limited under the deed Held (by the Full Bench) that the transaction evidenced by the deed was not a mortgage by conditional sale or an anomalous mortgage under s 92 but a combination of a simple mortgage and a usufructuary mortgage and that consequently the stipulation in the deed which fetters the equity of redemption was invalid as opposed to s 60 of the Act Held (by WALLACE C J and SESHAGIRI ATYAR J)—In the case of anomalous mortgages referred to in s 98 the provisions of s 60 as to the right of redemption do not apply when there is a contract or local usage to the contrary KANDULA VENKIAH v. DONGA PALAYA (1900) I L R 43 Mad. (F B) 589

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*ss 98 and 60—co id.

s 99

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O

XXXIV—

R. 4

2 Pat L J 55

R 14

I L R. 35 Bom. 248

See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION

2 Pat L J 587

See MORTGAGE

I L R 47 Cal 377

14 C W N 579

I L R 42 Cal 780

Civil Procedure Code

(1908) O XXXIV r 14—*Hindulaw—Joint Hindu family—Mortgage by father alone—Suit on mortgage and on money decree—Sale of mortgaged property in execution—Suit by sons for redemption—One V S the father and managing member of a joint Hindu family executed a simple mortgage of joint family property in favour of R L. R L brought a suit for sale on this mortgage against A S alone not impleading his son but in that suit he released the security and took a simple money decree against V S in execution of which he attached and brought to sale the mortgaged property and purchased it himself. The sons of V S neither objected to the passing of the decree against the father nor to the sale of the property but subsequently filed a suit against R S for redemption of the mortgage. Held that the mortgagee could not by taking a simple money decree for his debt and bringing the property to sale in execution of such decree divest himself of his character as a mortgagee and that the sons of the mortgagor not having been made parties to the original suit for sale were still entitled to sue for redemption of the mortgage made by their father. Mayan Palanis v. Patuman I L R. 2nd Mad 317 Mariand Balakrishna Rhat v. Dhondra Domodar Kallarni I L R 2nd Bom 674 Panham Lal Chowdhury v. Kulkarni Prakash Misra 14 C W N 579 and Kharajmal v. De m I L R. 3rd Cal 906 referred to Debi S Singh v. Jia Pasm, I L R. 13th All 211 Tara Chand v. Indad Husa I L R 13 All 325 Paramanand v. Daulat Ram I L R 24 All 449 Pankaj Lal v. Manu Lal I L R 27 All 450, *Muhammad Abdul Rasid Khan v. Dilrukht Esi

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—*contd*s. 99—contd

L R 27 All 51st Kishan Lal v. Umrao Singh I L R 30 All 146 and Muham v. Karaypan 17 Mad. L J 163 distinguished. SARDAR SINGH v. RATAN LAL (1914) I L R 36 All 516

Sale of mortgaged property in contravention of terms of auction—Right of redemption of mortgagor to redeem. If a mortgagee brings the mortgaged property to sale in contravention of the provisions of s 99 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 such sale is not void but merely voidable. If such a sale is confirmed the auction purchaser whether he be an outsider or the mortgagee bidding with the leave of the Court obtains an indefeasible title and the right of the mortgagor and those who represent him to redeem is absolutely extinguished. Tara Chand v. Indad Husa I L R 13 All 325 Muhammad Abdul Rasid Khan v. Dilrukht Esi I L R 27 All 517 Madan Lakund Lal v. Jamna Kaulpur All L J 123 and Mangli Prasad v. Pahi Ram I All L J 360 followed. Jhabba Lal v. Chhazay Mol 4 All L J 73 overruled. Sardar Singh v. Raon Lal I L R 36 All 516 Ashwath Sedar v. Behari Lal Khatua I L R 35 Cal 61 and Pancham Lal Chowdhury v. Ashwin Pershad Muser 14 C W N 579 referred to. LAL BAHADUR SINGH v. ANBARAN SINGH (1915) I L R 37 All 125

Held that where a mortgagee in contravention of s 99 has attached the mortgaged property and brought it up to sale and purchased it himself the mortgagor or his transferee cannot successfully maintain a suit for redemption of the property without first getting the sale set aside. Assuming that upon purchase by the mortgagee himself the equity of redemption is a contravention of s 99 the mortgagee merely becomes a trustee for the mortgagor in respect of it. Held by the majority of the Court that the mortgagor is right to recover the property cannot be enforced by a suit for redemption within art 148 of the Limitation Act 1904. UTTAM CHANDRA DAW v. RAJ KRISHNA DALAL 24 C W N 230

s 100—

See s. 59 I L R 36 All 20

See s. 59 I L R 35 All 164

See s. 8th I L R 33 All 708

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O

XXXIV R. 4 2 Pat L J 55

See LIMITATION I L R 46 Cal 111

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (1908) s. 5 I L R 4th Mad. 114

See MORTGAGE I L R 34 All 446

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS

ACT no. 2 of 1913 5 Pat L J 248

See RATES AND TAXES

I L R 42 Cal 625

Construction of document—Charge created where words though wide are definite. Where by a document the property is of one of the parties is made liable and it appears on the construction of the document that the word "properties" does not mean the property as of such party generally but certain specific properties as —could.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

— s 100—could.

charge will be created on such specific properties alone. A distinction must be drawn between wideness and indefiniteness of language. Bheri Dorayya v Madhi Patil Ramayya 1 L. R. 3 Mad 35, considered. MATHURAM PILLAI v ARDINARA YANA PILLAI (1910) 1 L. R. 34 Mad. 47

A document which is imperative as a mortgage by reason of its not being properly attested cannot take effect as creating a charge under s 100. Transfer of Property Act. DEBENDRA CHANDRA ROY v BENARI LAL MUKERJEE (1912) 16 C. W. N. 1073

— s 101]

See MORTGAGE 1 L. R. 33 Bom. 24
1 L. R. 33 Mad. 18

First and subsequent mortgages—Purchase of mortgaged property by prior mortgagee. Suit for sale by subsequent mortgagee. Held, that a prior mortgagee who had in the exercise of a right of redemption purchased the property mortgaged to him had a right to be repaid the money due in respect of his mortgage before a subsequent mortgagee could bring such property to sale in execution of a decree on the mortgage held by the latter. RATHO PRASAD v. UMAN SHANKAR (1907) 1 L. R. 32 All. 1

Purchase—Intention of mortgagee on property purchased—Intention of purchaser to keep mortgage alive for his benefit—Presumption. In considering the question whether an incumbrance should be deemed to continue to subsist on the ground that the continuance of it was for the benefit of the person who has acquired the property, the point of time to be regarded is the date of the acquisition of the property. If an intention to keep alive a charge on property is inconsistent with the real intention of the parties to the deed by which the purchaser of the property takes an assignment of it, the charge cannot be treated as still subsisting simply because the purchaser afterwards finds that it would have been better for him to have kept the charge alive. Liquidation Estates Purchase Co v Willoughby, (1898) A. C. 321, followed. Pradeshkur Singh v Pandit Balraj Sahai 10 Oudh Cases, 42 and Mohesh Lal v Bawa Das, 1 L. R. 9 Cal. 561, referred to. JOGAL KISHORE v RAM NARAIN (1912) 1 L. R. 34 All. 268

Extinction of charge—Mortgage having two charges—Purchase by mortgagee at the sale under the first mortgage—Second mortgage cannot be enforced. O took a mortgage of certain lands in 1886. They were mortgaged to him again in 1894. In 1895, he sued on his first mortgage and obtained a decree. In execution of the decree the lands were sold subject to the mortgage of 1895 and purchased by O with the permission of the Court. In 1905 a partition took place between O's heirs, at which the certificate of sale went to the share of the defendant and the mortgage-deed of 1895 went to the share of the plaintiff. The plaintiff next sued the defendant to enforce the mortgage against her. Held that at the plaintiff could not sue the defendant on the mortgage, for after what had occurred in 1895 O could have had no right to sue himself in a double capacity as mortgagee under the

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—could.

— s 101—could

mortgage of 1894 and mortgagor under the sale certificate of 1905, that is he could have had no cause of action against himself, and the plaintiff as his heir could have no higher rights. LAXMAN CHANDRAN v MATHURANAI (1913) 1 L. R. 38 Bom. 389

s 103. Lease—Proof—Khatuliyat executed by alleged licensee if sufficient. A khatuliyat by itself does not prove a lease being only an undertaking by the prospective tenant to take the lease. Abad Lal v Hanuman Das, 1 L. R. 26 All. 368. Aashir Giv v Jagendra Nath Ghosh, 1 L. R. 27 All. 136. Turaj Sahib v Enaf Sahib 1 L. R. 39 Mad. 327 approved. MUHAMMAD NAKKAR v. HOUL DAS (1907) 14 C. W. N. 73

— ss 105 and 107 -

See COMPROMISE 2 Pat. L. J. 253

See Khatuliyat 1 L. R. 39 Cal. 1016

Agreement to let land on payment of annual rent—Construction of building in reliance on agreement—License—Remedy of licensee for wrongful eviction. The defendant's father gave the plaintiffs permission to build a gada or market place on a certain plot of land, the latter agreeing to pay Rs. 6 a year as ground rent, but no lease was executed. The plaintiffs began to build the gada but before it was finished they were evicted by the owner of the land. Held, on suit by the plaintiffs for possession and for an injunction to prevent the defendant from interfering with the gada, that the plaintiffs were not licensees, but merely licensees and that their remedy if any was by way of a suit for damages for the wrongful eviction of their license. HARSHO RAI v. DWARKA RAM (1915) 1 L. R. 33 All. 178 ss 105 and 109. Whether lease can give notice to quit a monthly tenant who has not been informed of the lease. One H. P. leased his house to the plaintiff on the 1st October 1917. The defendants were in possession of the house as monthly tenants of H. P. The plaintiff on the 16th February 1918, gave the defendants notice to vacate the house before the 16th March. The defendants replied that they had no knowledge of the plaintiff's lease and did not recognize him as the landlord. Then, at the plaintiff's request H. P. sent a notice to the defendants on the 23rd March to quit within a week. As the defendants did not comply with the notice the plaintiff brought the present suit for ejectment and for Rs. 79 12-0 on account of rent. The only question was whether the plaintiff's notice to the defendants of the 16th February 1918 was valid no notice having been given by the owner to the defendants of the lease in favour of the plaintiff. Held that it was not necessary for the landlord to inform the defendants that he had leased the house to the plaintiff. Our's Law of Transfer, 4th Edn. p. 1701, referred to. Held, also, that the plaintiff as lessee was a transferee of a part of the lessor's interest in the property, and under s 109 of the Transfer of Property Act, possessed all the rights of the lessor as to the property transferred and was consequently entitled to serve the defendants with a notice to quit. Manikam Pillai v. Rathamanni Nadar (43 Indian Cases 210), approved. PANNU RAM v. TEJ CHAND 1 L. R. 1 Lah. 241

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s 106—

See EJECTMENT I L R 40 Calc 858

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 46 Calc 458

ss 106 107—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 44 Calc 403

Land held not for agricultural or manufacturing purpose on oral settlement of an annual rent—Presumption that tenancy annual—Contract to the contrary not valid because not registered—Notice, length of Where, there being no written lease the tenants were found to have been holding the land on an annual rent of Rs 15 and not for an agricultural or manufacturing purpose Held that from the fact that the rent was an annual rent the presumption ought to be drawn that the tenancy was an annual tenancy That in the absence of anything to rebut the presumption, s 106 of the Transfer of Property Act if it stood alone would be inapplicable, there being a contract to the contrary' within the meaning of that section This contract, however not being in writing and registered was invalid under s 107 That the tenancy was therefore terminable under s 106 on fifteen days' notice expiring with the end of a month of the tenancy Durga Nilasini v Gobardhan Bost, 19 C W N 525 s c 20 C L J 448, 454, referred to AKLOO v EMARON (1918)

I L R 44 Calc 403

20 C W N 1005

Lease without registered instrument for purposes other than agriculture or manufacture at a fixed rent a year without any settlement as to duration of tenancy—Effect of holding over with acceptance of rent by landlord—Notice necessary to terminate tenancy, nature of Notice signed by an mukhtar is valid—Fifteen days from date of notice calculation of The defendant took the premises in suit for a stationery shop as a tenant from the commencement of the Bengali year the rent being fixed at a certain amount a year but the period during which the tenancy was to continue was not settled The tenant continued in occupation after the end of the year and the landlords accepted rent for the next year The plaintiff landlords subsequently served a notice to quit by registered post The notice was signed by an mukhtar and was dated the 16th Baisakh and called upon the defendant to vacate the premises within the 31st Baisakh The registered cover which was addressed to the defendant at his place of business was returned to the sender by the Postal authorities with an endorsement that the addressee had refused to accept it There was no oral evidence to show where the cover was posted or when and where it was tendered to the defendant On the cover were the seals of the office of posting and the office of destination as also an endorsement that the letter was returned as the addressee refused to receive it the seals and the endorsement bearing date corresponding to the date of the notice Held that under s 107 of the Transfer of Property Act which was in force at the time a lease of immovable property from year to year or for any time exceeding one year or reserving a yearly rent could be made only by a registered instrument and consequently the defendant became a tenant for one year only and in the absence of an agreement to the contrary within the meaning of s 116 of the Act, the effect of his holding over was that after the expiry of the year in which the tenancy took effect it was renewed from month to month and was terminable by the lessors by fifteen days' notice expiring with the end of a month of the tenancy That the notice was a fifteen days' notice and was properly signed. It was not intended to lay down in Subadani v Durga Charan, I L R 28 Calc 118 s c, 4 C W N 790, that in calculating the 15 days the day on which the notice was served as also the date on which the notice expired were both to be excluded. GOBINDA CHANDRA SHAHA v DWARAKA NATH PATTA (1914) 19 C W N 489

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

ss 106, 107—contd

*Notice to quit—Construction of—*A notice of ejectment served by a landlord on his tenant contained besides the usual terms of a notice to quit a further statement that if the tenant did not vacate the house by the time specified the landlord would hold him liable from that date to rent at an enhanced rate The tenant did not attempt to treat this latter statement as an offer to renew the tenancy at the enhanced rate Held that the notice was a good notice and the landlord was entitled to a decree for ejectment SHANKAR LAL v BABU RAM

I L R 43 All 330

s 107—

See s. 4 I L R 44 Mad 55

See s. 105 L L R 38 All 178

See COMPROMISE 3 Pat L J 255

See HABULIYAT I L R 39 Calc 1016

See LEASE 25 C W N 225

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908 ss 17 and 90 I L R 36 All 176

See TENANCY AT WILL

I L R 44 Calc 214

1 ———— Lease exceeding one year—Registration—Unregistered lease cannot be received as evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 91—Oral evidence of the lease cannot be given—Tenant admitting landlord's title—Amount of rent can be proved by other evidence—Parties—Admission—Estoppel—Practice The plaintiff owned a one third share in certain salt pans which share was during her minority leased by her guardians for a period of three years at an annual rental of Rs 500 The plaintiff having attained majority she at the expiration of the period let her share to the same lessees for a further period of two years at the rent of Rs 1000 a year The new lease though in writing was not registered The plaintiff sued to recover the rent for the two years at the rate of Rs 1000 a year and also Rs 653 for rent due on the first lease The defendants admitted the plaintiff's ownership and their tenancy under her, but disputed the amount of rent Held that the plaintiff could not be allowed to rely on the lease set up by her because it was not registered (s 107 of the Transfer of Property Act) nor could she be allowed to give oral evidence of the lease (s 91 of the Indian Evidence Act) Held, further that the defendants having admitted the ownership of the plaintiff and that they were in ss her tenants

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

§ 107—contd.

proof of the relation of landlord and tenant became unnecessary. Held, also, that the plaintiff could only recover as for use and occupation for the two years of the tenancy admitted, at the rate claimed by her which was not excessive. RAMCHANDRA SHIVATIGAM v TAMA (1912)

I L R 36 Bom. 500

2. ———— Signature of lessor, necessity of, to registered instrument. The registered instrument which under s 107 of the Transfer of Property Act, is necessary to create a lease within the section, need not necessarily be an instrument signed by the lessor. Such a lease may be created by a registered instrument signed by the lessee and accepted by the lessor. Tufos Sahib v Esuf Sahib, I L R 30 Mad 322, overruled. Per THE CHIEF JUSTICE AND AYLING J.—If a registered instrument signed by the lessee and accepted by the lessor is not a lease the mere fact that the instrument is signed by the lessee does not preclude him from denying his liability thereunder. Per KRISHNASWAMI AYYAR J.—If a registered instrument signed by the lessee and accepted by the vendor is not a lease the lessee will not be liable except on the footing of use and occupation. SYED AJAM SAHIB v MADURA SREE MEENATCHI SUNDARESWARI DEVASTANOM (1910)

I L R 35 Mad 95

3. ———— Oral lease for a year, with delivery of possession—Renewal every year by annual oral lease. Leases, of valid Non-delivery of possession—Holding over where a lessee, to whom possession of the demised land was delivered under an oral lease for one year, continued to hold the land under successive oral leases each of one year's duration: Held, that even if these later leases be invalid on the ground of non-delivery of possession. Sibendrapada v Secretary of State, I L R 34 Cal 207, there was a holding over by the lessee with the lessor's assent, within the meaning of s 116 of the Transfer of Property Act. A series of successive leases each for one year is quite different from a lease from year to year. MITRAJIT MANTON v SUTIKH LEAKUT HOSSAIN (1914)

18 C W N 858

§§ 107, 108 (b)—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 375

I L R. 33 Mad. 102

§ 108—

See HOMESTEAD LAND

I Pat. L J 253

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R. 37 Cal 815

See LEASE. 2 Pat. L J 713

See LESSOR AND LESSEE

I L R 38 Mad. 86

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.

I L R 37 Cal 683

Applicability of to Crown Lands—

See LEASE. I L R. 40 Mad. 910

I L R. 43 Mad. 132

1. ———— Failure of lessor to put lessee in possession—Absence of request by lessee to be put in possession—Applicability of section to agricultural leases. In a case where the

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

§ 108—contd.

lessor does not put the lessee in possession, but there is no obstruction or likelihood of obstruction to the lessee taking possession of the same, and he neither tries nor requests the lessor to put him in possession. Held, in a suit by the lessor for rent, that the lessee is liable. NARAYANASWAMI NAIDU GURU v YERANATHI RAMAKRISHNAYYA (1910)

I L R 33 Mad. 499

2. ———— Landlord and tenant—Sub-lessee—Avoidance of lease—Vacant possession—Holding over. The plaintiffs were lessees of a godown for one year from 1st April 1908 at a monthly rent. From 1st May 1908 they sublet it on the same terms for the remainder of their lease to the defendant who used it for storing bags of sugar. On 5th December the godown was partially destroyed by fire, and a quantity of sugar therein considerably damaged. The defendant's insurers came in to take charge of the salvage, but soon after sold the remains of the sugar to G M, and the latter then took possession on, and continued in possession, storing the sugar until 16th February 1909. Meanwhile on 10th December the plaintiffs had written to the landlord advising him of the fire and of their termination of the lease in consequence. The landlord, however, insisted on their liability to pay rent until such time as vacant possession should be given to him. The defendant in answer to a bill for rent wrote to the plaintiffs to the effect that he had terminated his lease on account of the fire, and would not pay more than the proportionate rent for the first 5 days of December. As however vacant possession was not given until 16th February (on which day G M went out of possession) the plaintiffs sued the defendant for rent and for use and occupation. Held, that the plaintiffs could not exercise their option to terminate the lease until they put the landlord into possession. If the avoidance of the lease under s 108(e) of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) was effectual without surrender of vacant possession, the plaintiffs by failing to give vacant possession were holding over after the termination of their lease and were liable for rent under an implied monthly tenancy on the same terms as before. If the avoidance was ineffectual, the lease continued until put an end to by mutual consent. Held further, that the abandonment to the insurers by the defendant was effected for his benefit, and, in the absence of evidence that the insurers and their vendee G M kept the sugar in the godown in spite of protests by the defendant the latter (as between the plaintiffs and the defendant) must be taken to have been in occupation either under his original tenancy or under a similar one resulting from his holding over. SINICK HAJI HOOGZIN v BRUEL & Co. (1910)

I L R 35 Bom 333

3. ———— Working of new mines by lease—Mining lease from the holder of maintenance grant for life—Absence of express authorisation to work new mines in deed of grant—Contract of parties reliance on, for ascertaining intention of grantor—Open mine, what is. Three of the principal defendants held a mining lease of the disputed properties from defendant No 1.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 108—contd.

to whom the property had been given for her maintenance for life by the former proprietor. The deed did not contain any express provision authorising the grantee to open new mines and to appropriate the minerals therefrom. The plaintiff who was a proprietor by right of purchase sued for a declaration that these four defendants had no right to open new mines and to raise minerals therefrom on the disputed property, also for a perpetual injunction to restrain them from opening and working new mines and from further working the new mines which they had opened. Held, that s. 108 of the Transfer of Property Act which defines the rights and liabilities of lessor and lessee provides in cl. (a) that in the absence of a contract or local usage to the contrary the lessee must not work mines or quarries not open when the lease was granted and no question of local usage arising in the present case and there being no express provision authorising the grantee to open new mines and to appropriate the minerals therefrom in the deed which was one for maintenance for the life of the grantee, the grantee had no right to grant a mining lease for the purpose of opening and working new mines. Circumstances under which a mine may be said to be open considered. CHRISTIAN v. NARBADA KORI (1914)

19 C W. N. 798

4. Fixtures, right of tenant to remove.—Acquisition of land with building by Government.—Tenant if only entitled to price of material. Held, (as to the contention that under s. 108 of the Transfer of Property Act, the right of the tenant to remove fixtures must be exercised during the continuance of the lease) that the provisions of s. 108 of the Transfer of Property Act are subject to local usage, and in the present case the leases not being determined by any notice to quit and the decree in the mortgage suit under which the respondents lost their right not having given them an opportunity to remove the building, they should be allowed to remove them unless the appellant chose to take them on payment of compensation. In the circumstances of the case, the respondents were given one-half of the amount awarded on account of the building. KANATLAL JALAN v. RANEE LAL SADHUKHAN (1914)

19 C W. N. 361

s. 108 (a) and (e)—Lease—Disturbance of possession by paramount title holder.—Lessor's liability to indemnify.—Lessor's defective title, if a material defect in the property with reference to its intended use. R., the registered proprietor in possession of the estate left by her husband granted a surgepasi lease of certain properties to the plaintiff and others. C., the brother of the husband of R., instituted a suit against R. and obtained a declaration that on the death of R.'s husband, he became the rightful owner of the estate, and R. had no title in it. The plaintiff remained in possession till he was dispossessed by C. The plaintiff sued R. for the recovery of his share of the surgepasi money and for damages for loss sustained by him in consequence of his dispossession. There was no evidence to warrant a finding that the defect in R.'s title was one which the plaintiff could have with ordinary care

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 108 (a) and (e)—contd.

discovered. Held, that s. 108, cl. (e) of the Transfer of Property Act is wide enough to include disturbance of possession by a person with a paramount title. A defect in the lessor's title is not a 'material defect in the property with reference to its intended use' within the meaning of s. 108, cl. (a). Those words have reference to the nature and condition of the property demised. Held, further, that s. 108, cl. (a) is inapplicable to the present case and the defendant is liable for damages for the interruption of the plaintiff's possession under the provisions of s. 108, cl. (e). MUKHTAR AHMED v. SUNDAR KORN (1913)

17 C W. N. 960

s. 108 (e)—

See LESSOR AND LESSEE

I L. R. 43 Mad 132

Lease of colliery—Destruction by fire—Notice by lessor to determine lease if should be 15 days' notice. A notice by the lessee under s. 108 (e) of the Transfer of Property Act avoiding the lease on the ground of destruction of the lease hold property by irresistible force taken effect immediately on service. S. 108 of the Act has no application to such a notice. DANODA COAL COMPANY LIMITED v. HIRMOOK MARMARI (1915)

19 C W. N. 1019

s. 108 (h)—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879) s. 83

I L. R. 38 Bom 716

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L. R. 38 Mad 710

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT 1909

s. 3 I L. R. 37 Mad 1

s. 108 (i)

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L. R. 37 Cal 377

See LEASE

I Pat L. J. 1

Lease or license—

Agricultural land left for building purposes under special agreement and afterwards included in bazaar bearing town. Some fifty years ago, by an agreement between the Government, the zamindars and certain butchers a certain area of cultivated land adjoining the city of Allahabad was let in plots to the butchers for building purposes at a uniform rent of Rs. 10 per bigha. There was also a proviso against arbitrary enhancement of the rent. Subsequently, the land upon which the butchers had settled was included in the municipal limits of the city of Allahabad and was called muhalla Atala. One of the butchers having sold his house the zamindars evicted him and his vendee under the terms of the wajib-nam claiming either one-fourth of the price, or, in the alternative, that the site might be cleared and possession made over to them. Held, that in the circumstances these sites were not subject to the ordinary law with reference to village sites occupied by agricultural tenants, but the butchers must be taken to be lessees, and in the absence of a contract to the contrary their rights as such were transferable without reference to the zamindars. ABDUL HAQ v. DATTA LAL (1914)

I L. R. 37 All 144

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s 108 (j)—contd.

—Lessor and lessee—
Mortgage with possession by lessee—Mortgagee not liable to the lessor for rent—Privy of estate, meaning of A mortgagee with possession from the lessee is not liable to the lessor for rent as there is neither privy of estate nor of contract between them. PER WALLIS C J—Privy of estate is a technical term of English Law and under that law, such privy arises only where the whole of the lessee's interest is assigned over and not where a subsidiary interest is carved out of the lessee's interest. The Transfer of Property Act in enacting s 108 (j) does not seem to have introduced any departure from the English Law. English and Indian cases reviewed. THRETHALLAN v THE ERALPAD RAJAH CALICUT (1917) 1 L R 40 Mad 1111

—Lease from year to year in existence from before 1882—Transferability—Custom—Onus—Sublease transfer by way of—Landlord if may recover his possession A lease of homestead land from year to year which was in existence before the passing of the Transfer of Property Act is not governed by that Act and s 108, cl (j) of that Act does not make it transferable absolutely or by way of sublease. Such leases are not transferable except by custom, the burden of proving which is on the party who sets it up. Whether a tenant from year to year had power before the Transfer of Property Act to transfer the holding by way of sublease or not, where it appeared that the tenant had abandoned the lands without arranging for payment of rent, and no rent had been paid by him since the year and that the transaction was in substance though not in form an assignment. Held that the landlord was entitled to recover his possession of the land. ANANDA MOHAN SARKAR v GORINDA CHANDRA RAY CHOUDBHURY (1915) 20 C W N 322

—s 108 cl (o)—Principles applicable to agricultural leases—Mulgeni tenant has no right to fell timber standing at time of grant Although Ch V of the Transfer of Property Act does not apply to agricultural leases the principles embodied therein may be applied to such leases. The rules contained in s 103 (k) (o) will apply to mulgeni leases and a mulgeni tenant is not entitled to cut trees standing at the date of grant. The law applicable to occupancy tenants will not apply to such leases as the former is not a tenant but one holding divided ownership. QASIMAMMA v BHOM MAKKA (1909) 1 L R 33 Mad. 253

ss 108, 117—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

L R 37 Calc 723

s 109—

See s. 106

L L R. 1 Lab 241

ss 109 and 111—

See s. 6

I L R 43 Bom 28

—s 111 (d) (f)—Merger doctrine of—
Application to tenures in India—Equitable considerations The predecessors of the defendants who held a malguzari tenure directly under the 16 as samundar afterwards took a mokurari lease from the patwadar under s 8 as 1st gd malka. Held, that the conditions which would make s 111, cl s 111 (d) (f)—contd.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

(d), or s 111, cl (f), of the Transfer of Property Act, applicable did not exist in the case and the malguzari interest did not merge in the mokurari either under these provisions or under the general law. The English doctrine of merger has never been held to apply to land tenures in India in their entirety. On the other hand very eminent Judges have doubted that it does. Woomesh Chandra Goopla v Raj Narain Ray, 10 W R 15, and Jibanti Nath Khan v Gocool Chandra Choudhuri 1 L R 19 Calc 760, referred to. Raja Kishen Datt Ram v Raja Muma Ali, 1 L R 5 Calc 193 was not decided on the ground of merger. In Promatho Nath Mitter v Kaly Prasanna Choudhury 1 L R 28 Calc 741, Surja Narain Mandal v Nanda Lal Sinha 1 L R 33 Calc 121⁹ and Ulfat Hussain v Gayans Dast, 1 L R 36 Calc 80⁹, apart from the application of s 111, cl (d), of the Transfer of Property Act, there was no equitable consideration to prevent the merging of rights whereas in the present case there was no equitable consideration to attract the application of the doctrine of merger. In deciding whether there is a merger in equity what must be first looked at is the intention of the parties and if that be not expressed, then the Court looks to the benefit of the person in whom the interests coalesce. Gokuldas Gopal Das v Puran Mal 1 L R 10 Calc 1935 referred to. ANATOO v SURESH MUKSUD ALI (1914)

19 C W N 435

s 111 (g)—

See s 6 . I L R 43 Bom 28

See EJECTMENT 1 L R 45 Calc 469

See BHOD KANT JOTES

I L R 48 Calc 359

See LEASE 1 Pat L J 1

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

1 L R 41 Mad 629

I L R 42 Mad. 589, 654

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.

I L R 38 Mad 445

—Suit for lease possession on breach of covenant of lease—Over-act of lessor determining lease as condition precedent—Limitation Act (IV of 1908) Art 143—Period of limitation and point of time whence period runs A lease provided that the lessee was to enjoy the land from generation to generation for purpose of residence without any power of alienation, and that in the event of such alienation the lessor would be entitled to his possession. The lessor sold the land and the lessor sued to recover possession. Held—Art 143 was applicable and the period of limitation was 12 years and time began to run from the date of alienation and not from the date when the lessee surrendered possession to the transferee. That under cl (g) of s 111 of the Transfer of Property Act it was necessary for the plaintiff to establish that the lessor had prior to the institution of the suit done some act showing an intention to determine the lease. Where the rights and obligations of the parties are regulated by cl (g) of s 111 of the Transfer of Property Act there is no determination of a lease by forfeiture immediately on breach of covenant but such breach must be followed by an

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 111 (g)—contd

overt act on the part of the lessor before the institution of the suit for ejectment; the institution of the suit cannot be rightly regarded as the requisite act because the forfeiture must be completed and the lease determined before the commencement of the action. Nourang v. Jannardan, I. L. R. 45 Calc. 469. s. c. 22 C. W. N. 312, 27 C. L. J. 277 (1917), approved. A suit for ejectment does not lie in respect of a portion of the lands of a tenancy which has been forfeited or a condition whereof has been broken. Gopalram Mohuri v. Dhulakshwar Pershad Narain Singh, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 807 (1908) and Syed Ahmad Sahib Shailari v. Magnesite Syndicate, Ltd., I. L. R. 39 Mad 1049 (1915), referred to. MOTILAL PAL CHAUDHURY v. CHANDRA KUMAR SEN

24 C. W. N. 1084

—Landlord and tenant
—Denial of title—Suit for ejectment of tenant—Landlord's intention to take advantage of denial of title to be expressed before suit The denial of his landlord's title by a tenant, in order to work a forfeiture under s. 111 (g) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, must be an unequivocal and unambiguous denial mere non payment of rent or even the mortgaging of the premises as belonging to the tenant does not necessarily constitute such a denial. A landlord wishing to take advantage of his tenant's denial of title to determine the lease must do some act showing his intention to do so before he can file a suit for ejectment. PRAG NARAIN v. KADIR BAKSH (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All 145

—Landlord and tenant
—Forfeiture—Ejectment—Cause of action—Intention to determine the lease—Whether institution of the suit to eject, a sufficient manifestation of intention. A landlord sued to eject his tenant on the ground that the lease was determined by the tenant's disclaimer of the landlord's title. The tenant contended that the landlord had no cause of action inasmuch as he had never before filing the suit done any act showing his intention to determine the lease as required by cl. (g) of s. 111 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Held, that the mere institution of the suit and the assertion in the plaint as to the repudiation of the landlord's title constituted a sufficient manifestation of the landlord's intention to determine the lease. ISABALI TAYABALI v. NAHADU EKORA (1917)

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 195

s. 114—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 834

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 654

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 629

See LEASE . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 300

s. 116—

See s. 2 . . . 19 C. W. N. 525

See s. 106 . . . 19 C. W. N. 489

See s. 107 . . . 18 C. W. N. 858

See PENAL CODE, s. 341

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 531

s. 117—

See KHOD KAST JOTES

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 359

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd

s. 117—contd.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 723

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 654

See UNDER RAYATI HOLDING.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 751

s. 118—

See s. 54 . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

I. L. R. 40 All. 187

See ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1134

ss. 118, 119, 120, 54 and 55, cl. 6 (b)—

Exchange of lands of the value of one hundred rupees or upwards—No registered instrument—Oral transfer, invalid—Parties placed in possession of the lands—Sale by one of the parties of lands obtained on exchange—No estoppel against the transferor or his creditor—No estoppel against statute—No charge for the value or price of the lands on the date of the transactions. An exchange of immovable property the value of one hundred rupees and upwards can be made only by a registered instrument under ss. 118 and 54 of the Transfer of Property Act. No estoppel can be pleaded against the directions and the prohibitions enacted by the statute law and against the rights accruing to any party by reason of such directions and prohibitions. A party to an exchange which is not valid in law is not entitled to a charge on the property obtained by him in exchange for the price of such property on the date of the exchange under ss. 120 and 55, cl. (b) of the Transfer of Property Act. Kurri Veerareddi v. Kurri Bapireddi, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 336, followed. Ram Bakhsh v. Mughlani Ahanam, I. L. R. 26 All. 268, dissented from. Karaha Narubhai v. Mansukhram, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 400 distinguished. Mutha Venkatachellapathy v. Pynda Venkatachellapathy, 23 Mad. J. 662, referred to. CHIDAMBARA CHETTIAR v. VAIDILINGA PADAYACHI (1913) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 519

s. 119—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ARTS

113 AND 143 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 690

ss. 122, 123, 126—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 434

s. 123—

See s. 3 . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 196

See s. 55 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 687

See s. 55 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 287

See GIFT

See LIMITATION . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 244

I. L. R. 46 I. A. 285

See OTHER ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869), ss.

13, 16 AND 17 . I. L. R. 32 All. 227

Gift of land—Oral gift

—No registered deed of gift—Gift inoperative—Unauthorized occupation and use of land—Owner of land making an oral gift of land—Acquiescence—Estoppel—Indian Evidence (Act I of 1872), s. 115. In 1903, the defendant Municipality took plaintiff's land into its possession and used it for making a new road through it. After a major portion of the road was constructed, the plaintiff's

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 123—contd.

Father objected to the unauthorised occupation and use of his land but he was prevailed upon to give the land in gift to the Municipality. The gift was orally made, and no writing was made or registered. The plaintiff's father died in 1906. The plaintiff sued in 1914 to recover possession of the land from the Municipality. Held, decreeing the suit, that the absence of a registered deed of gift invalidated the gift owing to the provisions of s. 123 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and that the mere consent of the plaintiff's father to make the gift was not sufficient to vest the land in the Municipality. Held, further, that the plaintiff was not estopped, under s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, from denying the gift, because the defendant had occupied the land and laid out a substantial part of the road, before the plaintiff's father was prevailed upon to make the gift. KUVENJI KAYABJI v MUNICIPALITY OF LONAVALA (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 164

Gift—Attestation—Meaning of attested. A deed of gift was attested by two witnesses. At the trial of the suit, only one witness was examined and he deposed that he was at some distance when the deed was being written and that he did not see the executant making his mark on the deed. Held, that the deed of gift was not properly executed within the meaning of s. 123 of the Transfer of Property Act 1882. The word "attested" in s. 123 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, meant the witnessing of the actual execution of the document by the person purporting to execute it. Shamu Patter v Abdul Kadir (1912) 14 Bom. L. R. 1034, relied to AMARAPPA v RACHAVA (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 231

—s. 123 123—Gift—Validity of gift of immovable property—Mahomedan law Where a Mahomedan had made a gift of immovable property which was valid according to Mahomedan law, it was held that the gift was none the less valid because the donor had executed a deed of gift purporting to convey the property to the donee, which owing to a defect in the attestation, was invalid according to the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. KARAM ILAH v SHARI UD DIN (1916) I. L. R. 38 All. 212

s. 128—

See GIFT . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 933See OCCUPANCY HOLDING . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 434

s. 127—

See s. 5 . I. L. R. 38 All. 62

s. 129—

See s. 123 . I. L. R. 38 All. 912

s. 130—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 60 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 471See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 43 Mad. 803See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1885), s. 190 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 618

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)

—contd.

s. 130—contd.

Instrument in writing—Transfers by way of security The appellant and the respondent were rival claimants to the proceeds of the policy of insurance on the life of their debtor which had been paid into Court by the Insurance Company as a defendant in a suit brought for the money in which the appellant was also a defendant. The appellant relied on an assignment by the debtor of the policy by an instrument in writing, and the respondent based his claim on a deposit of the policy with him by the debtor unaccompanied by any written instrument. Held (reversing the decision of an Appellate Bench of the High Court), that the case was governed by s. 130, sub s. (1), of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882 as amended by Act II of 1900) which precluded the application in India of the principles of English Law, and the title of the appellant, as being based on an instrument in writing, and so conforming in all respects with the provisions of that section, was absolute as against that of the respondent who acquired no right to the policy or its proceeds by reason of the deposit. The right to the proceeds was an "actionable claim", and s. 130 covered transfer by way of security, as well as absolute transfers, as appeared from Illustration 2 to the section. MULRAJ BHATTA v VISHWANATH PRABHURAM VAIDYA (1912) . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 198 notice of—Duty of debtor on receiving notice from transferee. Where a creditor hypothecates a debt due to him and authorises the person to whom the debt is hypothecated by power of attorney in writing to recover the debt from the debtor, the debt is absolutely transferred to the transferee under s. 130 of the Transfer of Property Act.

—s. 130, 131, 134—Transfer of debt

Notice of the transfer is not necessary to perfect the title of the assignee but until the debtor receives notice of the assignment in accordance with law his dealings with the original creditor will be protected. The notice of transfer need not necessarily be free from any condition or qualification. A debt was assigned absolutely, and the debtor received notice of assignment from the transferor, who at the same time requested the debtor to pay only if the liability forming the consideration for the transfer was not discharged. The debtor also received notice of the assignment from the transferee who claimed payment. The transferee did not represent that he had discharged the claim on account of which the transfer was made. The debtor after receiving the above notices refusing to recognise the assignment paid the amount to the transferor. Held, that the payment was inoperative and that the transferee was entitled to recover from the debtor. Ut tunc facta assignamentum et de validitate in disputata the only safe course for the debtor who has received notice of the assignment is not to pay either party but to ask them to interplead. William Brandts & Sons v. Danubius Reiter Co., (1905) A. C. 454, referred to COPALA KRISHNA IYER v GOPALAKRISHNA IYER (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 123

—s. 130 and 134—Mortgage in writing of a promissory note—Assignee's right and liability to sue on the promissory note By virtue of ss. 130

s. 130—"Actionable claim"—Claims to proceeds of policy of insurance by depositors of policy and by assignees of policy by an

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)TRANSFER OF SHARES.

See COMPANIES ACT (VI OF 1882), ss. 58, 147 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 134

See COMPANY . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 365

—concl.

ss. 130 and 134—contd.

and 134 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), a mortgage in writing of a promissory note, executed in favour of the mortgagor by a third party, creates an assignment of the promissory note in favour of the mortgagee even without an endorsement, and as the right of the promisee to sue on the note becomes vested in the mortgagee, the mortgagee alone is entitled to sue on the note and in taking accounts he is liable to be debited with the amount of the note if he without any justification allows the recovery of debt barred by limitation Mulraj Akatar v. Yashwanth Prabhuram, I L R 37 Bom 198, followed Shyam Kumari v. Rameshwar Singh, I. L. R. 32 Cal 27, followed MUTHURICHINER v. VEERARAGHAVA IYER (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad 297

s 132,

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882), ss. 268, 278, 283

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 631

Where a mortgage is transferred without the privity of the mortgagor the transferee takes, subject to the state of accounts between the mortgagor and mortgagee at the date of the transfer but not subject to any independent debt in no way connected with the mortgage. SUBRAMANIA AYTAR v. SUBRAMANIA PATTAR,

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 683

s. 134—

See s. 130,

See DEBT, HYPOTHECATION OF

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 53

s. 136—

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, 1879,

s 13 . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 238

s. 137—

See CONTRACT . . . I. L. R. 41 Cal 670

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss. 4, 61, 103 . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 255

See VENDOR AND SUB VENDOR.

I. L. R. 38 Cal 127

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY AMENDMENT ACT (III OF 1885).

s 3—

See KABILYAT . . . I. L. R. 39 Cal 1016

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY (VALIDATING ACT (XXVI OF 1917).

s. 3, proviso 5—

Review of judgment—Judgment reviewed that of appellate court—"Former Court" Where action is taken by an appellate court on an application for review presented in accordance with the provisions of Act No XXVI of 1917, and an appeal which had been dismissed is restored, the "former court" mentioned in proviso (3) to the section is not the court of first instance but the appellate court KAMPA DEBI v. KISHORI LAL

I. L. R. 42 All. 430

TRANSFER OF SUIT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 24

I. L. R. 41 All. 381

5 Pat L. J. 588

*Transfer of a suit under s. 92, Civil Procedure Code (Act I of 1908) from the Court of a District Judge to that of the Additional District Judge—Authority of Additional District Judge to try such suit—Civl Courts Act (XII of 1887) s. 8, sub-s (2)—Convenience An Additional District Judge by virtue of the assignment of all the functions of a District Judge under the provisions of sub s (2) of s 8 of Act XII of 1887, is empowered to exercise the same powers as the District Judge in suits under s. 92 of the Civil Procedure Code. Semble "Any other Court empowered in that behalf by the Local Government" in s. 92 of the Code, probably refers to Courts such as the Subordinate Judges' Courts. Transfer of the suit was ordered in this case on the ground of convenience, the opposite party being compensated by payment of his costs MOHABOR RAHMAN v. HAZI ABDUR RAHIM (1920) . . . I. L. R. 48 Cal. 53*

TRANSFERABILITY.

See BUILDING LEASE

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 377

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

I. L. R. 45 Cal 434

I. L. R. 48 Cal. 184

I. L. R. 42 Cal. 172

I. L. R. 44 Cal. 272, 720

See OFFERINGS TO A TEMPLE

I. L. R. 43 Cal 28

See PALAS OR TURN OF WORKSHIP

I. L. R. 42 Cal 455

See UNDER RAITATI HOLDING

I. L. R. 42 Cal. 751

TRANSFERABLE RIGHT.

See SABARAKARI TENURE

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 378

TRANSFEREE.

See DEPOSIT IN COURT

I. L. R. 43 Cal. 100

— from benamidar, right of, to sue—

See MORTGAGE . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad 435

— from execution-purchaser—

See PARTIES . . . I. L. R. 39 Cal. 881

— of trust estate, liability of—

See TRUSTEE . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 115

TRANSIT.

— duration of—

See SALE OF GOODS ACT (56 AND 57 VIC. c. 71), ss 45 AND 47

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 640

TRANSMISSION BY POST

See SEDITIOUS I L R 39 Calc 522

TRANSPORT

See EXCHANGABLE ARTICLES

I L R 39 Calc 1053

TRAVELLING WITHOUT TICKET

See RAILWAY PASSENGER

I L R 44 Calc 279

TREASURY OFFICER

appropriation of payment by—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I L R 39 Calc 537

TREATY

See EXTRADITION I L R 48 Calc 328

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT
(X of 1870) s 1^o

I L R 45 Bom 463

TREES

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 34 All 545

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (Bom
Act V of 18 0) s 87

I L R 38 Bom 716

See TIMBER

overhanging one's land—

See TORT I L R 43 Bom 164

right of removal of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 37 Calc 815

partition of—

See JURISDICTION (CIVIL AND REVENUE)
I L R 42 All 574

whether temporary right to take fruit of is immovable property—

See PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT 1913

I L R 1 Lah 567

GROWING ON BOUNDARY BETWEEN 2 FIELDS—

See EASEMENT I L R 44 Bom. 605

Growth of sandalwood trees on occupancy lands subsequent to survey settlement—

See FOREST ACT (VII of 1878) s 75
CL. (c) R. 2 I L R 45 Bom 110

Trees planted after lease —Right of removal of trees by tenant—Fruit doctrine of—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s 23—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 2 105 (A) In the absence of any special provision in a lease granted before the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) came into force the property in the trees planted by the lessee after a lease had been granted does not vest in the landlord. The rule laid down in s 105 cl (A) of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) has no application to such a case. The lease in the present case not being for agricultural or horticultural purpose s 23 of the Bengal Tenancy Act has no application. The doctrine of the TREES—contd.

English Law of Fixtures cannot be appropriately extended to this country on equitable grounds
Barnes v Brand 1 App Cas 762 Meares v Callender (1901) 2 Ch 388 Elvins v Maw 2 Smith's Leading Cases 189 3 East 38 Ness v Pocard 2 Pelly 137 referred to. The Law of Fixtures is not recognised under the Hindu or Mahomedan laws
Thakoor Chunder Paramanick v Ramdhone
Bhattacharjee 6 W R 2^o3 B L R F B 525
Secretary of State v Charlesworth Pilling & Co
1 I R 26 Bom 1 Khodetram Serna v Tr. Lohani
1 Vac Sel Rep 35 Jankee Singh v Bhukhoor
Singh (1856) Beng S D A 761 Jogose v Nyamun toothak (1858) Beng S D A 1517 Brin Bhokhar v Dabee Dynal (1863) 2 Agra S D A 480 Kales Peshad Dutt v Gourree Pershad Dutt 5 B R
108 relied upon. Before the passing of the Transfer of Property Act the doctrine of the English Law of fixtures did not prevail in this country and the provisions of that Act substantially reproduced the law on this subject as recognised by Hindu and Mahomedan jurisprudence.
Imma Kanu Routhan v Nazarat Sahib I L R
27 Mad 211 referred to MOFIZ SRIKANT
RANK LAL GHOSE (1910)

I L R 37 Calc 815

TREE PATTAS.

Effect of cancellation of on land pattadar—No resumption or grant to the latter—Right of tree-pattadar for the trees on after cancellation on as against land pattadar—Possessory right protect on of as against trespasser
A person who was in possession on until dispossessed by defendants who having no title as owners were mere trespassers is entitled to rely on his possession on and succeed in a suit to eject them Anwar and Pao v Dharmachar I L R 26 Mad 514 and Subbaraya Chetty v Aiyar I L R 32 Mad 36 followed. In the absence of proof to the contrary a cancellation of patta issued by the Government in favour of the plaintiff in respect of trees standing on certain lands for which land the patta was being issued a favour of defendants does not amount to a resumption of possession of the trees by the Government or to a grant of them by the Government to the defendants
The only effect of cancellation of the patta for the trees was that the Government no longer made any demand on the tree pattadars for revenue in respect of the trees. The facts that when both pattas were in existence the land pattadar was credited with whatever revenue was collected from the tree pattadar and that on cancellation of tree-patta the whole revenue was payable by the land pattadar cannot amount to a grant of the trees to the land pattadar. On the right of the tree pattadar and land pattadar
Reference under s 39 of Madras Forest Act I L R
1^o Mad 203 and The v Pandthan v Secretary of State for India I L R 21 Mad 433 referred to KENOGODA GOUNDAN v VARADAPPAN (1913)

I L R 36 Mad 143

TRESPASS

See ARREST OF SHIP I L R 42 Calc 85

See CRIMINAL TRESPASS

See EASEMENT I L R 37 Bom 491

TRESPASS—contd.

See FOOTING. I. L. R. 33 Calc. 687

See GRAVE YARD I. L. R. 40 Calc. 548

See JURISDICTION I. L. R. 42 Calc. 942

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), Sec. 1, Arts. 120, 144

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 333

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV of 1860) s. 297 . I. L. R. 33 All. 773

See TORT . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 184

—sue for declaration by Trespasser—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1877, s. 42

I Pat. L. J. 95

—when supported by Land-lord—sue by tenant—

See EJECTMENT] . I Pat. L. J. 430

1. —what constitutes—The foundation of trespass is the doing of an illegal act, forcibly and without legal authority, as against the property of another. To sustain trespass the illegality and the wrongfulness of the act must be established by proof. If the act is not illegal no right is infringed. DANAI DAS v GOVINDA GREDI

I Pat. L. J. 533

2. —Sue for damages—Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887), Art. 31, Sch II, Jurisdiction under Where the plaint alleged that the defendants had trespassed upon plaintiff's land and removed his crops and assessed damages at the profit thus wrongfully obtained by defendants: Held, that the suit was one for damages for a single act of trespass and not exempted from the jurisdiction of the Provincial Small Cause Courts by Art. 31, Sch II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887). Annamalai v Subramanyam I. L. R. 15 Mad. 238, followed: and Pankaja Rao v Muthu Aiyar, 18 Nat. I. J. 31, dissented from RAMAIAH v SAMINATHA AYYAR (1912) . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 728

3. —Right of Magistrate to order search for arms—Criminal Procedure Code (Act I of 1893), s. 36, 94, 96, 105 Sch III (5)—Jurisdiction to issue search warrant—Arms Act (XI, of 1878), s. 25—Provision as to recording grounds for belief, s. 25, whether mandatory or directory—Protection of Judicial Officers—Directing search where offence has been committed is judicial action—Charge of want of bona fides and malice rebutted For some time prior to 27th April 1907 much illfeeling existed in and about Jamalpore, a sub-division of Mysnensingh, between the Hindu and Mahomedan communities, and much excitement and resentment had been aroused on account of the action of the Hindus in attempting some days before that date to enforce a boycott of badeks or foreign goods. On 27th April, at night, a Mahomedan was wounded by a revolver shot fired by one of a party of Hindus, dressed as Mahomedans, who after the occurrence took refuge in some cutcherries belonging to the leading zamindars of the neighbourhood who were active sympathisers with the action of the Hindus. A crowd of Mahomedans at once collected and proceeded to the cutcherries but were prevented from attacking them by the District Superintendent of Police, and the Sub-divisional Officer who, hearing of what had occurred, proceeded to the cutcherries, and restrained the mob thereby averting a serious riot. A large number of Hindus, some of them with arms, had collected in a temple close by, and having bolted and barred the doors refused admittance which was demanded by the District Superintendent of Police and the Sub-divisional Officer. Shots were fired from inside the temple and a man in the crowd outside was wounded. The District Magistrate was then sent for and on his arrival on the morning of 28th April, he decided, in consultation with the District Superintendent of Police and the Sub-divisional Officer, that it was necessary to search the cutcherries to obtain possession of the arms used on the 27th, and others which it was reported to them were concealed there, and also for the purpose of, and in connexion with, the investigation of the offences committed. The cutcherries were found locked and as no officer or servant of the zamindars could be found, they were broken open under the District Magistrate's orders and instructions, and a search was made therein by the District Superintendent of Police and the men acting under his orders. No arms of any kind were found. In a suit for trespass against the District Magistrate instituted by one of the zamindars whose cutcherry had been searched Held (reversing the decision of the first Court and of the majority of the Appellate Court, and upholding the decision of BRETT, J.), that the search was warranted by the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898). A serious offence had been committed against the public tranquillity into which it was the duty of the District Magistrate to enquire, and by virtue of his superior rank he was, at Jamalpore, the proper person to conduct the enquiry. By s. 36, Sch III, and s. 96 of the Code the power of issuing a search-warrant was among his "ordinary powers," and therefore under s. 103 he had power to direct a search to be made in his presence if he thought it advisable to do so. That being so, it was unnecessary to decide on the other defences set up but, semble (agreeing with the majority of the Court of Appeal), that the District Magistrate not having complied with the preliminary condition prescribed by s. 25 of the Arms Act (XI of 1878) could not defend his action under that Statute. Also (agreeing with BRETT, J.), that the District Magistrate in directing a general search of the plaintiff's cutcherry in view of an enquiry under the Criminal Procedure Code, was acting in the discharge of his judicial functions and, had it been necessary, might have appealed for protection to Act XVIII of 1860. The charge of personal misconduct advanced and reiterated without any shadow of proof, deserved the severest reprobation. CLARKE v BRAJENDRA KISHORE ROY CHOWDHURY (1912)

TRESPASS—contd.

[I. L. R. 39 Calc. 953

4. —Who may sue for tenant or owner—Title by adverse possession not pleaded if may be allowed in the Court of Appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O. XLII, r. 24—Adverse possession against Municipality or the Crown Per SANDERSON, C. J., and MOOREHEAD, J.—The tenant is the proper plaintiff to sue for trespass committed in respect of the land, and the reversioner can only sue for trespass if the alleged trespass is injurious committed in respect of the land, and to the reversion Per SANDERSON, C. J.—Even though the trespass is accompanied by a claim of right, it is not necessarily injurious to the reversionary estate Baxter v Taylor, 4 Barn & Ad 72, referred to Per Woodroffe, J—It is not sufficient for the plaintiff in an action in ejectment to prove possession. He must show title Per Mookerjee J—Mere previous possession will not entitle a plaintiff to a decree for recovery of possession, except in a suit under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act Permeswar v Brojpal, 1 L R 17 Calc 256 Nishachand v Kancharam 1 L R 26 Calc 579 s c 3 C W N 563, Shama Charan v Abdool 3 C W N 155 and Manik Boras v Banicharan, 13 C L J 649 referred to. The plaintiff may be allowed to succeed on a title by adverse possession pleaded for the first time in the Court of Appeal provided such a case arises on the facts stated in the plaint and the defendant is not taken by surprise Sundari Doss v Madhu Chauder, 1 L R 14 Calc 592, Vasudeta v Magun, 1 L R 23 I A 81 88 s c 5 C W N 545 Majkal v Thunbuswamy (1914) Mad W N 734, Soma sundaram v Paduriv, 1 L R 31 Mad 531 Shirokumari v Govind Shaw 1 L R 2 Calc 413 Joytars v Mahomed Mobaruck 1 L R 8 Calc 975 and Bijoya v Bydonath 24 B R 444 referred to. To establish a title by adverse possession the plaintiff must prove enjoyment possessing the same characteristics as are necessary for presumption of a lost grant and consequently that the possession was adequate in continuity, in publicity an extent to extinguish the title of the true owner Subramania v Secretary of State, 21 Ind L J 130 and Radhamani v Collector of Kuluva 1 I R 27 Calc 943 s c 4 C W N 593, 690, referred to Per Woodroffe, J—Where in a suit for declaration of title and possession the plaintiff did not in the alternative plead title by adverse possession, the plaintiff cannot ask the Court to frame such an issue on appeal except by amendment and O LXI r 24, which authorises the Court to remodel the issues does not apply to such a case RAM CHANDRA SIL v RAMANMANI DAS (1918)

TRESPASS—contd.

20 C W N 773

TRESPASSER.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 102
14 C W N 812

See EJECTMENT 1 L R 37 Mad. 281

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 8 EXCEP

1 L R 38 Mad 843

See MISRE PROFITS 4 Pat L J 301

See PUBLIC RELIGIOUS TRUST
1 L R 41 Calc. 749

purchase by—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1932), s 85 (c)

1 L R 39 Mad. 959

tenant as—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s. 28,
ART 47 1 L R 38 Mad 432

Tenants entitled by trespasser—Principle of Basad Lal Pakrash's Case if applies when tenant never got possession—Basad fides. The principle of the Full Bench case of Basad Lal Pakrash v Kailu Pramanick 1 L R

TRESPASSER—contd.

20 Calc 708, is an encroachment upon the ordinary rule of law that a grantor is not competent to confer upon the grantee a better title than what he himself possesses and must be cautiously applied and is not to be extended. In order to make the principle available it is essential that the lesser should be in possession of the disputed property as de facto landlord and that in good faith he should have inducted into the land a cultivator who has accepted the settlement in good faith. Want of good faith either on the part of the lessor or the lessee makes the rule inapplicable. The principle could not be applied in favour of the plaintiff who took a lease from the owner after his interest had been sold in execution of a decree who never obtained juridical possession of the disputed property and who had to be bound down by a Criminal Court to prevent him from interfering with the possession of the defendant KRISHNA NATH CHAKRAVARTI v MAHOMED WAFIZ (1915) 21 C W N 93

TRIAL.

See CONTENT OF COURT

1 L R 45 Calc 169

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 255

AND 342 1 L R 38 Mad. 302

s 360 1 L R 42 Bom 202

See JOINT TRIAL.

See SUMMARY TRIAL.

1 L R 39 Mad. 842

— a new, demand for—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 367

1 L R 40 Mad. 108

— conduct of—

See PRESIDENCY MAGISTRATES.

1 L R 42 Calc 313

— Reduction in Bench of Magistrates during—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 16
1 L R 44 Bom. 400

— of an offence with the aid of assessors—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s 238

1 L R 45 Bom 619

— Practice condemned—Grant—Elvarama—Lease or License—Construction—Practice Cases ought not to be tried pecuniary: such a method may facilitate the disposal of a case but certainly does not conduce to the administration of justice MOHITL SING v LALJI SING (1912)

17 C W N. 166

TRIAL BY JURY

See EVIDENCE 1 L R 47 Calc 671

See JURY, TRIAL BY

See REFERENCE.

1 L R 42 Calc. 739

TRIAL BY JURY—contdCharge to the Jury—

Misdirection—Omission to explain the law as to abetment—Uncertainty in the meaning of the Judge's direction relating to a confession—Omission to direct the Jury upon the evidential value of a retracted confession Where one accused was charged under s 52 of the Post Office Act (VI of 1893) and s 380 of the Penal Code and the other under s 52 read with s 70 of the Post Office Act and s 112 of the Penal Code and the Judge omitted to direct the Jury to consider what evidence there was of abetment and to explain the law in connection therewith—Held that the law was not adequately explained and that the omission of any explanation with regard to the charge of abetment constituted a misdirection. Abbas Peada v Queen Empress 1 L R 25 Cal 736, referred to Where it did not appear clear in the charge to the Jury whether the Judge intended to require them to consider how far the statements of the accused amounted to admissions of guilt or how far they believed them to be true—Held that the uncertainty in the meaning of the charge when the statements formed a large part of the evidence against the accused was a misdirection The omission to direct the Jury that a retracted confession should have practically no weight as against a person other than the maker, and that the very fullest corroboration was necessary, far more than was required for the sworn testimony of an accomplice on oath Held to be a serious misdirection on Fauz v King Emperor, 1 L R 28 Cal 639 followed HEMANTA KUMAR PATHAK v EMPEROR (1919)

1 L R 47 Cal 46

Charge to the Jury—

Record of heads of charge—Directions on the law actually given to be embodied in the record—Verdict of Jury justified by the evidence—Retrial not ordered—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) s 367 (5) proviso A mere statement by the Judge in the record of the heads of charge that he referred to certain sections of the Penal Code and explained the law relating thereto is insufficient The record must itself embody the directions on the law actually given so as to enable the High Court on appeal to determine whether the constituent elements of the offence or offences charged were correctly and fully explained to the Jury The Court, however refused to direct a new trial for such defect in the record when the Jury were justified in convicting on the evidence in the case KASIMUDDIN NASYA v EMPEROR (1920)

1 L R 47 Cal 795

The law requires the judge to record only the heads of charge to the jury but this record should be sufficient to enable the High Court to ascertain what was actually said to the jury ABDUL GOFUR v KING EMPEROR

26 C W N 998

Jury trial by—Misdirection on points of law and improper direction on facts The three accused were found guilty by the unanimous verdict of the jury two under sects 302-34, Indian Penal Code and one under ss 302 149, Indian Penal Code and further all under ss 304 148 I P C The Sessions Judge in charging the jury said—Sec 34 provides that where it is doubtful which of several persons has taken the chief part in any given crime committed in furtherance of the common intention of all of them each of such persons is severally liable as if he alone had done the deed—Held—That it is necessary for the Judge to read the very words of the section itself to the Jury if he purports to give them what are the provisions of the section and then if necessary to explain what is the meaning of the section and the direction with regard to s 34 was not a proper direction In charging the Jury as to what constitutes murder the Sessions Judge said—Murder is the intentional killing of another human being with malice aforethought—Held—That it is not the way in which Judges ought to charge the Jury in this country It is usual to refer to the sections which relate to culpable homicide and to direct the Jury as to what is culpable homicide and in what circumstances culpable homicide amounts to murder As to the charge under ss 302 149 the Sessions Judge charged the jury as follows—

TRIAL BY JURY—contd

—This charge is to some extent redundant and strictly applies only to one accused A for the other accused are supposed to have been the actual murderers By s 149 A becomes a constructive murderer and liable for the substantive offence Just as by s 34 all the accused are equally liable for the murder as though each of them had committed it single handed—Held—That this was a misdirection Held further—That the Sessions Judge was in error in not drawing the attention of the jury to some material evidence and to the fact that many of the prosecution witnesses were related to a person who was the prime mover in the prosecution or to one another and to the discrepancies in the evidence and his direction on the evidence in one instance was not borne out by the record That the attention of the jury should have been directed to the individual cases of the three accused On the ground of misdirection the High Court set aside the verdict of murder as regards all the accused and holding that there was no misdirection as to the charge under s 364 Ind an Penal Code upheld the conviction of two of the accused on that charge but set it aside in the case of the other accused and set aside the conviction of two of the accused under s 148 and upheld it in the case of the other KING EMPEROR v DURGA CHAMAN BEPARI

26 C W N 1002

TRIBAL COMMUNITY, PUNJAB

See CUSTOM 1 L R 44 Cal 749

TRIBUNAL OF APPEAL

See BOMBAY CITY IMPROVEMENT ACT 1898;
1 L R 36 Bom 203

TRUST.

See ADMINISTRATOR 2 Pat L J 642

See CHARITABLE OR RELIGIOUS TRUST
1 L R 40 Bom 439

See CHARITABLE TRUST

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882—

ss 13, 539 . 1 L R 33 All 752

s. 539 . 1 L R 26 Bom 19

1 L R 34 All 468

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) s 97 1 L R 57 Bom. 95

TRUST—contd.

- See CONTRACT. I L. R. 38 Mad. 785
 See COURT FEES ACT 1870, Sec 111
 (ART) 2 Pat L. J. 611
 See HINDU LAW—FIDUCIARY
 L. R. 46 I A. 204
 See KMOJA MAHAMEDANS.
 I L. R. 36 Bom. 216
 See LIMITATION ACT (N OF 1908), s. 10,
 Sec 1, Arts 14 120
 I L. R. 39 Bom 572
 See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL
 I L. R. 38 All. 827
 I L. R. 41 Bom 372
 See MAHOMEDAN LAW—TRUST
 I L. R. 34 Bom 604
 See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL
 I L. R. 42 Calc 933
 See MORTGAGE I L. R. 38 All. 209
 See PUBLIC TRUST
 I L. R. 42 Mad. 335
 See RESULTING TRUST
 I L. R. 40 Bom 341
 See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 104
 I L. R. 38 Bom 618
 See TRUSTEES I L. R. 33 All 125
 See TRUSTEE
 See TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882), s. 49
 I L. R. 34 All. 306
 See TRUST FUND
 See WILL I L. R. 38 All. 214

1. ———— Deed of trust, construction of —Uncertainty—Gift for religious acts (dharma-karmarthi) and for "religious purposes" (dharma-dake)—Works of public good—Discretion of trustee. A settlor in a deed of trust in the Bengali language after declaring that for religious acts (dharma-karmarthi), with a desire for the spiritual benefit of the deceased forefathers, and to please Vishnu, she made over the properties covered by the deed for religious purposes (dharma-dake) proceeded to direct that certain *Thaloo*s should be worshipped and maintained and the annual Dargotab performed out of the income of the trust estate and further by the sixth clause, of the trust deed provided that out of the income which should remain after incurring the expenses above a sum not exceeding one thousand rupees should be applied in supporting the poor the blind and the destitute and in imparting education in upanayan (assumption of the sacred thread ceremony) in removing marriage difficulties (zetting gis married) or in works of public good. It was to be paid at the discretion of the trustee towards dispensaries, hospitals, charitable societies, schools, or any students' education, feeding of the poor etc., marriage, upanayan etc., excavation and consecration of tanks etc., in villages having a dearth of water or in the reconstruction and consecration of ghats and maths. The trustee for the time being had under the deed discretion to render assistance beyond a thousand rupees and had also, full power to decide where or for whose education, upanayan or for whose daughter's marriage the same should be applied. Held, that such direct ones as were contained in the sixth clause of the trust deed, were void and inoperative for vagueness and uncertainty. Trakumdas Damodhar v Haridas Morari, I L. R. 31 Bom. 583, Grinstead for Macintyre v Grinstead, (1905) A C 124 Bul Chaudhary v Dady Dussanji, Dady I L. R. 26 Bom 632, Williams v Acreham, 5 C1 d F. 111, Subbomungala Dabbe v Vokchedranath Nath I L. R. 4 Calc 503, and Panchodas Chandraswamy v Laxmi Bai, I L. R. 23 Bom 723, I L. R. 26 I A 71, referred to. NARAY CHANDRA GHOSH v PRATAP CHANDRA GHOSH (1912) I L. R. 40 Calc 232

TRUST—contd.

2. ———— Scheme of management of a temple made by the High Court—Intervention in its decree for modification of scheme by itself and for lower Court carrying out modification so made—Application to lower Court for directions involving modification of scheme—Competence of lower Court to entertain such application. Under a decree of the High Court, the petitioner was appointed High Priest of a temple and the opposite party and another person members of a committee thereafter on the application of one of the members of the committee the High Court amended its decree in so far as it gave liberty to any person interested to apply to the High Court for any modification of the scheme that might appear necessary or convenient and to apply to the District Judge with reference to the carrying out of the directions of the High Court on such application. Subsequently the members of the committee applied to the District Judge for such directions on the petitioner as involved a modification of the scheme: Held that the application could be entertained only by the High Court. UMESHANANDA DUTTA JAI v RAVANESWAR PRASAD GHOSH (1912) 17 C W N 341

3. ———— Deed of trust, construction of—Scheme of Management—Superintendent, if cestus que trust—Trustee, power of dismission by—Control of trustee—Perpetual injunction—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), ss. 21 (b) and 34. A donor by an organama or deed of trust transferred certain property to trustees for religious and charitable uses. The deed provided, inter alia, that there should be a superintendent of the trust properties subject to the control of the trustees. It was further provided that the superintendent should be the executive hand of the trustees should supervise the management of the property which were to be registered in his name in the Collectorate summon meetings of the trustees and keep accounts and submit them to the trustees. The first superintendent was to be the donor himself and after his death or relinquishment of office the superintendent was to be appointed by the trustees. No express power of dismission was given to the trustees by the deed: Held that a superintendent appointed by the trustees under the foregoing power was not a cestus que trust but was the servant of the trustees, and that if dismission by them he had no right to an injunction restraining the trustees "from interfering with his enjoyment of the rights and privileges of such superintendent as in the deed of trust provided". Dean v Bennett L. R. 6 CA App. 489, Hills v Child 13 Bore. 117, Attorney General v Magdalen College, Oxford, 10 Bore 402 and Wiston v Dunn and Chaplin of Rochester, 7 Bore 532, referred to. Dargers v Rana, 25 Bore 233, distinguished. The position of such a superintendent is not, analogous to that of a shebait or mutual. Nanabhai v Shriman Goswami Girdhary, 1 L. R. 12 Bom 331, Goswami Shri Girdhary v Madhoddas Premji, 1 L. R. 17 Bom 600, and Gulam Hussain v Ali Ajam, 4 Mad. H. C. 40, referred to Held, further, that the contract of service between the superintendent and the trustees was governed by s. 21 (b) of the Specific Relief Act, and an injunction should therefore not be granted in respect of it under s. 54. A power of appointment ordinarily involves a power of dismissal. RAM CHARAN BAJPAI v RAKHAL DAS MOOKERJEE (1913)

TRUST—contd.

1 L. R. 41 Cal. 19
17 C. W. N 1045

4 ———— Trust charitable—construction of conditional gift—cyprus doctrine—To determine the true construction of a deed of settlement regard must be had to the object and scope of the instrument judged if necessary by surrounding circumstances. Where a charitable gift is made upon a condition precedent the gift fails if the condition is not satisfied. To attract the cyprus doctrine an absolute declaration of intention to give a charity must be established. SREEMATTY SANTONA ROY v THE ADVOCATE GENERAL, BENGAL

25 C. W. N 344

5 ———— Court's power to sanction sale of trust property—Voluntary settlement—Sale of trust property—Trustees having no express power to sell immoveable property—Remainder estate in favour of issue of the tenant for life—Trustees contracting to sell immoveable property with the consent of beneficiaries living—Such consent not sufficient as issue may include unborn children or grand-children of the tenant for life—Sanction of Court to a sale by trustees under its extraordinary jurisdiction—Sanction given in a case of emergency—The Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882) ss. 20, 36, 40 An immoveable property in Bombay was settled in trust in February, 1893 by a Parsi lady since deceased, the trustees being her two daughters S and R. The trusts were for the settlor for life with remainder as to one moiety for R for life with remainder for the issue of the body of the said R in the shares prescribed by law as if the said R had died possessed of the said share in estate leaving such issue only as her right heirs and in default of such issue upon the trusts hereinafter declared in regard to the other half. The other moiety went to the other daughter S for life with a limitation over to her issue similar to that contained as regards R's moiety. There was an ultimate gift over of all the property to charity in case there should be no person living entitled to take the said premises under the trusts hereinafter declared. In March 1918 the trustees entered into an agreement of sale of the property at a fair and advantageous price. All the beneficiaries living at the date of the agreement, namely, R and her six children had consented to the sale. The trust instrument itself did not contain a power of sale and the purchasers did not accept the title without the sanction of the Court. The trustees accordingly presented a petition to the Court asking for sanction. It was urged that ss. 40 and 73 of the Indian Trusts Act, II of 1882, enabled the trustees to effect such a sale, or in the alternative that the case was one of emergency not foreseen by the author of the trust. The property stood at the corner of two streets and was liable to a set back under Municipal Regulations, and if the set back arose it would be very seriously depreciated. The property further needed heavy repairs and was defective as regards sanitary conveniences. The trustees apprehended that they might be served any moment with a sanitary notice which might result in a set back being enforced. Held, (i) that the proposed sale could not be said to have been consented to by all the beneficiaries interested under the trust instrument appearing before the Court, inasmuch as it was possible that when the settlement came finally to be construed and the trusts wound up, some child or grandchild born hereafter might be entitled to a share in the property, (ii) that the present case, however, was one of emergency not foreseen or anticipated by the author of the trust and the sale though not provided for by the trust instrument ought, in the interests of all the beneficiaries concerned, to be sanctioned by the Court in the exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction, (iii) that the extraordinary jurisdiction of the Court to sanction a sale of immoveable property in the absence of a power of sale in that behalf in the trust instrument is of an extremely delicate character and should be exercised with the greatest caution. In re Auer, (1901) 2 Ch 534, and In re Tollenmacher, (1903) 1 Ch 457, 555, referred to. In re SHIRINBAI MEERWANJI (1918)

TRUST—contd.

1 L. R. 43 Bom 519

TRUST-DEED.

See STAMP ACT, 1899 s. 2 (24), Sec 1
ART 7 1 L. R. 35 Bom 444

TRUST ENDOWMENT.

——— Held, that possession of a portion of endowment property by other persons who pay over and apportion revenue to different purposes of the trust is not incompatible with the position of general trustee but may be adverse to him. AMBALARAVA PANDARA SACHINCHI AVENGAL v FRI MEENAKSHI SUNDARAYARAL DASAS PATTAM

25 C. W. N 1

TRUST PROPERTY

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

1 L. R. 48 I. A. 250

See TRUSTEE 1 L. R. 38 Mad 71

——— Permanent lease not void ab initio A permanent lease of trust lands is not void ab initio, it is only voidable. KADIR MUSTAF NORTHER v SENGUMMAS (1920)

1 L. R. 43 Mad. 433

——— Suit for account by trustee against trustee de son tort—Intermeddling when there is a personal representative—Limitation Act (IX of 1905) s. 10, applicability to suit for accounts in respect of trust property—Limitation Act (XI of 1877) Sec 11, Art 120—Constructive obligation. The Plaintiff and another person as executors and trustees appointed by the Will of a Hindu lady took out probate but the estate was administered by the latter alone during his life time and on his death in 1900 by his son and by his grandsons the Defendants on the death of his son. In 1913, the Plaintiff and the Defendants for accounts. Held—(1) that the Defendants were in the position of a trustee de son tort TRUST PROPERTY—contd.

and it was not open to them to deny their liability as such or to contend that they were trespassers and could not therefore be liable to render accounts. The rule of English law that no liability as executor de son tort can arise where there is a personal representative did not apply in this case where Plaintiff the rightful executor took no part in the administration when the Defendants were intermeddling with the estate Narayananam v Eas Abbay, I L R 28 Mad 351 (1905), referred to. That the trustee represents the cestus que trust and the suit for accounts at the instance of the Plaintiff was maintainable against the Defendants. That under the present Limitation Act a suit for accounts in respect of trust property comes under s 10 and a trustee de son tort stands in the same position as an express trustee. That the claims for accounts for six years prior to the institution of the suit would be saved by Art 120 of the Limitation Act of 1877. The obligation of a trustee to account being continuous. Held—That the suit was barred as to the Defendants dealings with the trust property from 1900 to 1903, but was not barred as to their dealings from 1904. Dhanpat Singh Khettry v Moheshnath Tewari 24 C W N 752

TRUSTEE.

See CHURCH . I L R. 38 Mad. 418

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908), s 92 I L R 37 Mad. 184
I L R 40 Bom 439

See LIMITATION ACT (XV of 1877), s 10
I L R 35 Bom 49

SCH II, ART 120
I L R 38 Mad. 280

See MORTGAGE . 14 C W N 579

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX of 1863) s 3 I L R 38 Mad. 1176

See TRUSTEES AND MORTGAGEES POWERS ACT . I L R 35 Bom. 380

— alienation by—

See LIMITATION I L R 37 Bom 231

— absence of—

See PARTIES I L R 42 Calc 1135

— appointment of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT
I L R 43 Calc 1085

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT ACT (XX of 1863) s 5 14 C W N 1104 — compromise of suit by—

See TRUSTEE I L R 39 Mad. 115

— death of, pending appeal—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) ss 92 AND 93
I L R 38 Mad 1064

— liability of, on funds—

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT ss 28 27 28 I L R 41 Mad. 815

— line of, failure of—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT
I L R. 40 Mad 612

TRUSTEE—contd

— loan by—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT
I L R 37 Calc. 179

— of a temple in Malabar—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908), SCH. I, ART 124 I L R 41 Mad. 4

— of charitable inams—

See CHARITABLE INAMS
I L R. 40 Mad. 939

— power of dismissal by—

See TRUST I L R. 41 Calc. 19

— suit against—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908) s 10
I L R 41 Mad. 319

— suit by, against co-trustee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908), s 92 I L R 40 Bom. 439

— suit for recovery of office of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV of 1882), s 539
I L R. 36 Mad 384

— suit to remove—

See PARTIES . I L R. 42 Calc. 1135

— transfer by—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I L R 47 Calc. 886

1. — Powers of investment of—Investment by trustees, who are members of a firm in the firm under direction of cestus que trust—Firm does not hold the money in a fiduciary capacity—Indian Trusts Act, s 51 Where the settlor appoints the members of a banking firm as trustees and directs them to invest the trust funds with the firm in deposit account without any directions which would constitute the firm a trustee such funds are, when invested, held by the firm as its own property and the relation between the firm on the one hand and the trustees and settlor on the other is merely that of debtor and creditor. On the bankruptcy of the firm such amount cannot be recovered in full, but can only be proved as a debt. The doctrine embodied in s 51 of the Trusts Act that a trustee cannot use trust funds for his own profit does not apply where the settlor directs such use. In re Beale Es parte Corbridge, L R 4 Ch D 246, referred to. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE of MADRAS v KRISHNAIAH NAIDU (1909) . I L R. 33 Mad. 154

2. — Trustee mixing trust money with his own—Indian Insolvency Act, II & 12 Act, c XXI, s 24—Voluntary payment By a resolution, dated 31st July 1906 the Directors of the Madras Equitable Insurance Company resolved that a sum of Rs 75,000 standing to the credit of the company with Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co., its Secretaries and Treasurers, should be invested in Government promissory notes. Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co., purchased for the Insurance Company Rs 25,000 of Government promissory notes on 7th August 1906 Rs 25,000 on 9th October 1906 and Rs 10,000 on 20th October 1906, the securities being credited to the Insurance Company. On 22nd October 1906 Arbuthnot & Co failed. Held that Arbuthnot & Co., held the securities as trustees for the Insurance Company which was entitled to rank as a secured creditor Held, also, that the fact that Arbuthnot & Co., before purchasing the Government promissory notes mixed up the Insurance Company's money with their own and used it in their banking business, did not amount to misappropriation of the money, the trust having a lien on the aggregate amount in the hands of the trustee and any sum which may have been drawn for the trustee's own use being deemed to have been taken out of his own money Held, further, that even if Arbuthnot & Co. could be held to have misappropriated the trust money, a subsequent payment in reparation by them would not amount to a "voluntary" payment within the meaning of s. 24 of the Indian Insolvency Act (1819), 11 & 12 Vict., Cap. XXI. Ramsay & Co v The Official Assignee of Madras (1912) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 712

TRUSTEE—contd.

3. ——— Breach of trust—Liability in damages—Failure to trust invest funds in authorised securities—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), s. 20—Failure of unauthorised security—Degree of care and prudence—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), s. 15 and 20—Fund to be applied immediately or at an early date, construction of—Fund payable to minor, if payable to guardian—Liability of trustee for interest—Interest on damages—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), s. 41 and 23. A testator appointed certain persons as trustees and directed them to realise an amount payable by the Oriental Life Assurance Company and to pay a sum of Rs. 200 to his brother, another sum of Rs. 400 to his daughter for her bride's jewels and the remainder to his minor son. The trustees realise the amount due from the Insurance Company, and after paying Rs. 200 to the testator's brother, invested the balance on one year's fixed deposit with Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co., who were then believed to be in very good credit. After the deposit had been renewed several times, Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co. became insolvent and the trust fund was lost. The plaintiff, who was appointed by the Court as trustee in the place of the defendants (who were the previous trustees appointed under the will), brought this suit against the latter for damages for loss of the trust funds by reason of their breach of trust. The District Judge decreed damages against the defendants who preferred a Second Appeal to the High Court. Held, that the defendants were liable in damages for breach of trust. As regards the amount payable to the minor son, it could not be applied for the purposes of the trust immediately or at an early date, as the trustees could not pay the money to the minor until the attainment of his majority, nor could it be paid to the guardian of the minor during minority. B. 41 of the Trusts Act permits payment to the guardian only of the income of the property. The specific provisions contained in the other sections of the Indian Trusts Act are as obligatory as the general provisions of s. 15 of the said Act. The defendants were bound to invest the trust moneys in the securities specified in s. 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, and having failed to do so, they must be held to have committed a breach of trust, although they had acted honestly and with the prudence which an ordinary man would exercise in the conduct of his own affairs. A trustee guilty of breach of trust by not investing trust funds as required by s. 20 of the Indian Trusts Act is not exempted by s. 15 thereof from liability in damages. The Indian Courts have not been given the power (conferred by statutes in England) to protect trustees in any case where a clear breach of trust has been committed. Where a trustee invests money in an unauthorized security, this must be treated as tantamount to failure to invest within the terms of s. 23, cl. (c), of the Trusts Act, and he is liable to pay interest under that section. It may be doubted whether the rule disentitling the beneficiary to interest except in the cases enumerated in s. 23, could be applied where the trust money has been lost in an unauthorized investment. The Court should have power in such cases to award interest as damages. THIRUPATHIRAYUDU NAIDU v LAKSHMINARAYANNA (1912) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 71

TRUSTEE—contd.

4. ——— Powers improperly and unreasonably exercised—Liability of transferee of trust estate—Compromise of suit by trustee—Decree ordering party benefiting by breach of trust to repay benefit—Compromise where minor is party to suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 462. In the suit out of which this appeal arose the plaintiff (respondent) was the minor Raja of Ramnad. The first defendant (appellant) was a creditor of the late Raja and the party in whose favour the three instruments which the suit sought to set aside were made. The second defendant was the trustee appointed under a deed of settlement executed by the late Raja on 12th July 1895. The suit was brought for a declaration that an agreement of 16th January 1899 between the appellant and the trustee, and two mortgages of 6th and 13th July 1899 executed by the trustee in favour of the appellant were invalid, and for an order that a sum of Rs. 43,000 paid under those instruments should be repaid by the appellant to the credit of the trust estate. The validity of the deeds was largely dependent on the consideration of whether the trustee under the voluntary settlement of 12th July 1895 had power to give a mortgage bond for four lakhs of rupees on the security of a suitable portion of the Ramnad estate to the then Raja of Ramnad. Held, by the Judicial Committee (upholding the decision of the High Court), that on the evidence and the construction of the settlement, and under the circumstances of the case, the power of the trustee was not exercised properly and reasonably, and in the interest of the trust estate; that the deed of compromise was therefore not valid; and that being so the mortgages could not be regarded as valid and binding on the properties therein comprised. Their Lordships concurred in the conclusions of the High Court both as to the validity of the deed of compromise and of the two mortgages, and as to the amount of the payment ordered to be made by the appellant to the credit of the trust estate. Even if the deed of compromise could be supported on other grounds it was invalid as not complying with the condition imposed by s. 462 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882, in that one of the parties to the suit being a minor, the sanction of the Court to the making of the compromise had not been obtained. Munier Lal v Jodh Nath Singh, I. L. R. 25 All. 615, 519; I. R. 23 I. A. 125, 131. Per Lord Macnaghten, and Curia Eor v

TRUSTEE—contd

Tularam Row, I L R 36 Mad 295, L P 40 I A 112, followed SUBRAMANIAN CHETTIAR v RAJA RAJESWARA DORAI (1915)

I L R. 39 Mad. 115

TRUSTEES AND MORTGAGEES POWERS ACT (XXVII of 1886)

— s 3—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WARY

I L R. 37 Cal. 870

— ss 8, 20, 32—

See RECEIVER . I L R. 43 Cal. 124

— s 43—

Trust deed—Application by trustees to divert funds to other objects—Trustee's opinion—Cyprus doctrine The surviving trustees of a fund founded with the object of distributing food amongst such poor persons as might assemble at certain stated times and places petitioned the Court under s 43 of the Trustees and Mortgagees Powers Act to divert the fund to more useful purposes on the grounds that in their opinion the charity tended to prostrate the recipients thereof and to encourage idleness and laziness and vagrancy and to produce other undesirable results that the donor's intention was to benefit the poor of Bombay and the best way to carry out his intention would be to devote the trust funds to the education of poor boys. Held that the application was entirely misconceived so far as the Act was concerned as the word "trustees" has been deleted in s 43 of the Trustees and Mortgagees Powers Act of 1882. Even if the Act applied the Court could not under s 43 do more than give advice or directions. It could not pass any order which would in any way alter the duties of the trustees under the trust deed. Held, further, on the merits of the application, that the trustees had no justification for coming to the Court, to try and get their duties under the trust deed altered according to their ideas of what was fit and proper. In re Wair Hospital, (1910) 2 O.L. 121 referred to. In re CURIMBOY ESBRAHIM, BART (1910)

I L R. 35 Bom. 380

— s 45—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WARY

I L R. 37 Cal. 870

TRUSTEE DE FACTO

See TRUSTEE OF A TEMPLE

I L R. 39 Mad. 456

TRUSTEE IN BANKRUPTCY.

See INSOLVENCY I L R. 28 Cal. 542

TRUSTEE OF TEMPLE

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, ss 9, 42

I L R. 33 Mad. 452

See TRUSTEE

— and Temple Committees respective rights of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) s 92 I L R. 40 Mad. 212

I — Delegation of powers of the trustee—Power to appoint and dismiss hereditary temple servants—Delegation of such power to an agent whether valid—Dismissal of archaka by agent, whether valid A trustee of a temple cannot appoint an agent to do acts which involve the exercise of judicial discretion by himself. He cannot therefore delegate to an agent his power of appointing and dismissing hereditary temple servants who cannot be dismissed without sufficient cause being established. Krishnaswami v Rangaswami (1893) I L R 16 Mad. 73, referred to. PARASURAMA UDAYAN v THEBUNAL ROW SAHIS (1921)

TRUSTEE OF TEMPLE—contd.

I L R. 44 Mad. 636

2. — Trustees of Temple, powers of, suspend hereditary archakas—Suspension otherwise justifiable not bad for want of previous notice—Archaka, a servant, subject to the disciplinary power of trustees—Power of interim suspension incidental to trustee's power to enquire and dismiss for misconduct The position of the hereditary archaka of a temple is that of a servant subject to the disciplinary power of the trustee. The trustee of a temple has power to inquire into the conduct of such servants and dismiss them for misconduct. The right of interim suspension pending such inquiry is incidental to such power and no notice is required for an ad interim suspension pending enquiry. Even if such notice is deemed necessary, the order of suspension will not be set aside, if misconduct is proved at the enquiry. A hereditary archaka can be dismissed by the trustee but only for good reasons which are liable to examination by a Court of Justice. SEEMURI AYYANGAR v RANGA BHATTAR (1912)

I L R. 35 Mad. 631

3. — Transfer of management—Lost or vendible—Selling aside if necessary—Suit by trustees to recover temple properties and for account—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art 91 or 124 applicability of—Some trustees, joined as defendants—Denial of their title by plaintiffs—Abandonment of the denial, —Decree in favour of plaintiffs and defendants if can be given—De facto trustees—Expenses during management—Right for reimbursement—Right to retain possession of trust property—Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882) s 32—Decree for possession and for account—Provision for account of expenses incurred in the final decree The plaintiffs, who were the Audjars (trustees) of a temple, brought the suit on the 30th January 1911 to recover possession of the temple properties from the defendants to whom the trustees had made over the management of the temple under an agreement dated 21st June 1901. The plaintiffs alleged in the plaint that the ninth and the tenth defendants (who were also originally Audjars) had lost their right to the office owing to their neglect to discharge its duties and that they were joined as defendants merely because they asserted a right to it. But at the trial in the original Court the plaintiffs abandoned this contention. The defendants contended, inter alia, that the suit was bad for non-joinder of all the trustees as plaintiffs and was barred under art 91 of the Limitation Act, and that the defendants were entitled to be reimbursed out of the trust properties for expenses properly incurred by them during their management and to retain possession of the properties until they were so reimbursed. The lower Court passed a decree in favour of the plaintiffs and the ninth and the tenth defendants for possession and a preliminary decree for accounts against the defendants. Held, that the objection as to non joinder was not sustainable, but that a decree could be passed in favour of the plaintiffs and the ninth and the tenth defendants as trustees with the consent of the latter and the other defendants. Koklasari Dasi v Mohuni Rudranand Gowram, 5 C L J 527, distinguished. The transfer to the defendants being void, did not require to be set aside. Art 91 of the Limitation Act did not apply to the suit but Art 124 was the Article that was applicable and under that Article the suit was not barred. Malkarjun v Narhari, 1 L R 25 Bom 337, followed. Gnanambhanda Pandara Sannadhi v Velu Pandaram, 1 L R 23 Mad 371, explained. Sidhu Sahu v Gopicharan, 11 C L J 233, referred to. A trustee of a public charitable endowment like a trustee of a private trust is entitled to reimburse himself all expenses properly incurred in connection with the trust, and has a first charge enforceable only by prohibiting any disposition of the trust property without previous payment of such expenses—not that is to say, in the ordinary way by sale of the property subject to such charge. It is the duty of the Court especially in the case of a public charitable trust to take the trust property out of the possession of persons not entitled to hold it, while making due provision for any claims that they may have in respect of expenditure properly incurred in connection therewith. Held, consequently, that the defendants were not entitled to retain possession of the suit properties, but that the preliminary decree should direct that accounts should be taken as to what was due to the defendants from the trust, leaving it to be determined by the final decree how such claim, if established, should be enforced. NARA YANAN v LAKSHMANAN (1915)

TRUSTEE OF TEMPLE—contd

I L R. 39 Mad. 456

4

Suspension from office of an hereditary archaka—Order passed without notice to archaka or previous inquiry whether valid—Order, ad interim, continued for an unreasonably long time, whether legal—Punitive order of suspension, whether valid without notice Where the trustees of a temple suspended an hereditary archaka of the temple from his office on account of certain imputations of misconduct made against him, without giving him notice or making any inquiry previous to passing such order, and no subsequent inquiry was made by them for fourteen months after the date of the order whereupon the latter brought a suit to recover his office and damages for wrongful suspension: Held, that the order of suspension pending inquiry into alleged misconduct should not have been continued in force for a longer period than was reasonably necessary, that, in this case, the delay of fourteen months between the date of the order and the institution of the suit being unreasonable, the order as an ad interim order ceased to be valid before the date of the suit; and that the order viewed as a punitive order, was invalid as having been passed without notice and inquiry, whatever be the merits of the case might be. Thiru vembaka Desikar v Manikotharchala Desikar, 1 L R 41 Mad 177, and Leelanarasayana Pillai v Ponnaswami Nadar, 1 L R 41 Mad 327, followed. Willis v Sir C Lippes, 3 Moore 379,

TRUSTEE OF TEMPLE—contd

applied. Seshadri Iyengar v Panga Bhattar, 1 L R 35 Mad 631, distinguished. Held, further, that out of the temple funds the plaintiff was entitled to recover damages due to him, as the trustees in passing the order of suspension and continuing it, acted in their capacity as trustees and in what they conceived to be the proper discharge of their duties on behalf of the temple. JAGANNATHA ACHARIAR v SRIKUR BHATTACHARIAR (1919). 1 L R. 42 Mad. 618

TRUSTEES OF CASTE-FUNDS

See TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882) et seq AND 6
I L R. 24 Pcm. 467

TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882).

— 23 3 and 6—

See MORTGAGE . 24 C. W. N 769

— 5 —

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 60 I L R 37 Bom. 471

See ESTATE ACT (II OF 1869) Sec 1, Art 22 . I L R 28 Bom. 576

Trust declared outside British India—Proceedings in British Indian Courts—Redeemed mortgagee retaining mortgaged share as trustee for mortgagee—Notice of assignment by mortgagee—Death of mortgagee before registration of transfer to assignee—Validity of trust—Completion of gift. A, through her agent T, mortgaged a share in the Bank of Pcnlay with P. Later she directed T to redeem it and have it transferred by way of gift to her two nephews. It was redeemed and a transfer form was signed by P in favour of the nephews, but the Bank declined to register it on the ground that the transferees were minors. A, thereupon, directed that it should be transferred to the names of T and M jointly as trustees for the minors. A transfer was accordingly signed by T in favour of T and M, and this was duly registered by the Bank. The day before it was lodged with the Bank for registration, A died. It was contended that the gift was imperfect and the trust in favour of the nephews invalid. Held, that as the trust was set up in a British Indian Court the Indian Trusts Act applied, although both A and P were living and domiciled in Kathiawar (i.e., outside British India) when A declared her wishes regarding the share. Held further, that A had an equitable interest in the share and that the mortgage having been discharged P, the registered proprietor, held the legal title as trustee and was bound to deal with it as T or his principal. A should direct Held, further, that the share had passed out of the control of A before her death, the certificate as well as the transfer being in the hands of T under the control of T, to whom her desire to benefit the minors had been communicated, and that the legal holder P, having notice and having signed a transfer in favour of the minors before A's death, could only carry for their benefit, and had subsequently done so to the trustees desired by A. Held therefore, that the trust was valid and the gift complete. MADONJI DNYESHAND v TRISHNOWN VIKRAMJI (1911). . I L R. 26 Bom. 286

TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882)—contd

ss 5 and 6—

See DEPOSIT I L R. 35 Bom. 403

Caste fund—Trustee of caste funds—

Extent of right to inspect documents—Demand and refusal—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts in caste questions—

Application of Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), ss 5 and 6, to creation of trusts of caste funds—

Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 151 As a result of discussions in a Hindu caste, a suit was filed by the plaintiff, a trustee of certain caste funds and member of the Managing Committee against the defendant, a co trustee and the President of that Committee. The plaintiff prayed for a declaration that he had the right to inspect all books and documents of the Mahajan Managing Committee Sub Committee and Trustees, and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with him in the exercise of such right. The only two documents about which there was any real controversy were the minutes of the Sub-Committee and the correspondence file of the Mahajan Held that as trustees of the Deccan and Madharan funds the plaintiff had no right, either in law or by virtue of any caste rules, to the roving inspection claimed. Bank of Bombay v. Sulman I L R 32 Bom. 466 474 referred to. Held further, that the Mahajan fund of this caste being a purely secular fund the Indian Trusts Act applied, and the plaintiff could not claim to have been made a trustee of that fund merely by virtue of a caste resolution and his own letter of acceptance. Held, further on the evidence that there had been no express demand addressed by the plaintiff to the proper quarter and no refusal by the defendant such as would be necessary to enable a suit of this character to succeed. Held, further that where rights to property are not involved all matters of internal management must be left to the decision of the caste. The question in dispute was in reality a question between the caste and a section apparently a small section, of the caste led by the plaintiff, and as such it was outside the Court's jurisdiction in accordance with the decision in Nemchand v. Sanyaschand I L R 5 Bom 84 F A, Lalji Shamji v. Walji Wardman, I L R 19 Bom 507, referred to and distinguished. Held, lastly that when, according to well established principles certain questions have been removed from the jurisdiction of the Court, they cannot be brought within the jurisdiction under a 151 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). JETHABAI NARSEY CHAPSEY COOVERJI (1909) . I L R 34 Bom 467

s. 10—

See TRUST PROPERTY

24 C W. N 752

ss 15 and 20—

See TRUSTEE I L R 33 Mad. 71

ss 20, 26, 40—

See TRUST I L R 43 Bom. 519

See TRUSTEE I L R 33 Mad 71

s. 32—

See TRUSTEES OF A TEMPLE

I L R 39 Mad. 456

s. 36—Lease by trustee—Lease by trustee for term exceeding twenty-one years not void but only voidable. A lease by a trustee for a term

TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882)—*contd*s 36—contd

exceeding twenty-one years is not void and illegal under s 36 of the Indian Trusts Act, but only voidable at the instance of the cestui que trust. KADIR ISRAHIL ROWTHEN v. ARUNACHILLAM CHETTIAR (1909) . I L R. 33 Mad 397

ss. 36 and 40—

See TRUST I L R 43 Bom. 519

ss 41, 95—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 54. I L R 41 Bom 433

s 42—

See CHARITABLE TRUST

I L R 39 Mad. 597

s 51—

See TRUSTEE, POWERS OF INVESTMENT OF . I L R 33 Mad 154

ss 80 to 96—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, ART 91

I L R 38 Mad. 321

s 83—

See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS I L R 40 Bom 341

ss. 86, 89, 90, 91 and 96—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 91. I L R. 33 Mad. 310

s 83—

See IVAM. I L R 42 Mad. 181

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

I L R 41 All 635

Trust—Trustee entering into dealings in which his own interest may come into conflict with his duty as trustee—Purchase of mortgaged comprising property belonging at the time of purchase to the trust. A member of a body of trustees purchased for a very low price at an auction sale in execution of a simple money decree held by the trustees as such a mortgage-bond comprising amongst other property a village of which two-thirds had been previously purchased by the author of the trust and formed part of the trust property. Neither the purchaser nor the trustees had obtained the leave of the Court to bid. The auction purchaser claimed the purchase for himself and sought to enforce the mortgage by suit. Held, that the auction purchaser could not be allowed to do this, but must, on the contrary, be taken to have made the purchase for the benefit of the trust. All that he was entitled to was to be repaid the actual sum which he himself paid for the mortgage-debt at the auction sale. GORI NARAIN v. KUNY BHARAI LAL (1912)

I L R. 34 All. 306

Sale deed in favour of uncle—Fiduciary relationship of contracting parties—Undue influence—Voidable contract—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss 19 and 19A—Hindu Law—Marriage—Aurora form—Succession. Two sisters M and S executed a sale-deed in favour of their uncle. After the death of M, S sued for a declaration that the sale-deed was obtained by the uncle through fraud, misrepresentation and undue influence, and to recover possession of the property from him. S claimed the property both TRUST ACT (II OF 1882)—contds. 88—contd.

in her own right and also as the heir of M. The lower Courts allowed the plaintiff's claim holding that the uncle was in a fiduciary relation to his nieces and the consideration paid under the sale-deed was inadequate. On appeal to the High Court, two contentions were raised: (1) that S was not the heir of M and (2) that claiming through M, S had no right to exercise the option to avoid the deed as to one moiety of the property since M in her lifetime did not exercise the option: Held, that S was heir of M as M's marriage was performed in Asura form. Held, further, that on the facts found the case fell within the scope of s. 88 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, and the sale deed was, therefore, null and void. GOVIND RAMAJI v SAVITEI (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 173

s. 90—

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XVII OF 1879)

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 483

See HINDU LAW—(WIDOW)

I. L. R. 43 All. 374

Co-owner, right of, to appropriate rents collected by him towards his share A co-owner who has collected as rent more than sufficient to pay the Government peshkash and has paid it, is not entitled to sue another co-owner for contribution to the peshkash. S 90 of Trusts Act (II of 1882) referred to. SEVARNARASA REDDI v DORASANI REDDI (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 861

s. 91—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 40 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 498

s. 95—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 54 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 438

TURN OF WORSHIP.

See PALAS OR TURNS OF WORSHIP.

See USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 227

UUBAYAKAR.

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1108

ULTRA VIRES

See ASSESSMENT . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 374

See LEGISLATION, ULTRA VIRES.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 14 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 494

See MERCHANT SEAMEN ACT (I OF 1839), s. 63, CL. (4) . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 558

See PROSECUTION—BYE LAWS.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 545

ULTRA VIRES—contd.Orders—

See BOMBAY DISTRICT POLICE ACT, s. 42

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 504

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH. II, ART.

14 . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 325

Rules—

See ADEN SETTLEMENT REGULATION (VII OF 1900), s. 13.

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 445

See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890), ss. 72,

47 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 485

See SCHEDULED DISTRICTS ACT (XIV OF

1874), s. 7 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 657

*Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 101, cls 2 (a) and (3)—“A large proportion of landlords,” meaning of—Order passed by Local Government under s. 101, cl 2 (a), at the instance of landlords having large proportion of interest, effect of—Jurisdiction of Civil Court to question validity of the order, after issue of Notification under the section. The words “a large proportion of the landlords” in s. 101, cl 2 (a) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, mean a large proportion of the landlords as determined by the interests they hold in the estates. Where, therefore, an application was made by landlords having a large proportion of interest in an estate, to the Local Government for the issue of an order under the said section, and an order was accordingly issued by a Notification in the official Gazette. Held, that the order was not ultra vires. Held, further, that it was with the Local Government the discretion rested to determine whether the application was in due form under the provisions of s. 101, cl 2 (a) of the Act, and after the Local Government had decided that point and had issued the Notification, the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to interfere with the order was barred by cl. 3 of the same section. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v PURVENDU NARAYAN ROY (1912)*

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 123

A Calcutta landlord was tried by the President of the Tribunal appointed under the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, for cutting off water connection and was fined. On a rule to set aside. Held, that the provision of s. 20 of the Act was not ultra vires but rule framed under s. 23 was GOSWAMIDHAR DAS DEORA v DOOLCHAND SETHIA

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 955

UNALIENATED VILLAGE.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879)—

ss. 83, 216 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 565

s. 216 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 994

UNANIMOUS VERDICT.

See CRIMINAL TRIALS

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 662

UNAUTHORISED ACT.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 511

UNCERTAIN EVENT

See WILL I L R 38 Calo 327

UNCERTAIN POSSESSION

See LIMITATION I L R 44 Mad 823

UNCERTAINTY

See CUSTOM I L R 45 Calc 475

See DEDICATION I L R 46 Calc 951

See RELIGIOUS TRUST
I L R 40 Calc 232

UNCERTIFIED PAYMENT

See LIMITATION I L R 45 Calc 630

UNCHASTITY

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
I L R 38 Bom 138

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE
I L R 34 Bom 278
I L R 39 All 234

UNCONSCIONABLE BARGAIN

See CONTRACT ACT, SS 16 AND 74

See INTEREST I L R 42 Calc 652

I L R 43 Calc 632

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE
I L R 38 Calc 805

UNDEFENDED SUIT

See EX PARTE DECREE
I L R 43 Calc 1001

UNDER-BROKER

dismissal of—

See DAMAGES I L R 47 Calc 220

UNDER-ESTIMATION OF VALUE OF PROPERTY

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
I L R 40 Calc 635

UNDERGROUND RIGHTS

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 57 Calc 723

See MINERAL RIGHTS

UNDER PROPRIETOR

See BIRT I L R 43 All 358

UNDER-RAIYATS

See EJECTMENT I L R 40 Calc 858

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I L R 43 Calc 184

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING
I L R 44 Calc 272

See OCCUPANCY RIGHT
I L R 46 Calc 43

See ORISSA TENANCY ACT 1913 s 67
3 Pat L J 112

UNDER-RAIYATS—contd.

1 ————— Eviction of occupancy raiyat under decree for rent.—Position of under raiyat Where an occupancy raiyat in Chota Nagpur has been evicted in execution of a decree for rent obtained against him by the landlord, an under-raiyat holding under him becomes a trespasser and is liable to be evicted by the landlord by a suit in the Courts of ordinary civil jurisdiction. In a suit for eviction by the landlord under such circumstances the under raiyat has no locus standi under the Bengal Rent Acts, 1859 to contest the validity of the decree obtained by the landlord against the occupancy raiyat. Bishun Narayan Das Poddar v Chandra Kanta Naik

1 Pat. L J 543

2 ————— The heir of an under riyat has no heritable right to continue as such. NADIRAM CHANDRA SIL v SRINATH CHAKRA VARTI 24 C W N 93

3 ————— Bengal Tenancy (Act VIII of 1885) s 45.—Holding of Under raiyat S 48 of the Bengal Tenancy Act applies to cases in which the land held by the raiyat is co-extensive with the land held by the under raiyat. Nitir Chand Saha v Joy Chandra Nath (1912)

I L R 39 Calc 839

4 ————— Patta for a period of indefinite duration.—Ejectment.—Notice.—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) s 49, cl (b) The case of an under raiyat holding under a patta executed before the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act and not expressly providing for the period of its duration, comes within cl (b) of s 49 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and the notice must be as provided thereunder. Madan Chandra Kapali v Jaki Karikar 6 C W N 377, overruled. PAI KUMARI DEBI v BARATULLA MANDAL (1911)

I L R 39 Calc 278

5 ————— If may acquire occupancy right.—Transferability of under-raiyat's interest. The provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act show that an under raiyat may, under certain circumstances, acquire an occupancy right. If he does acquire such a right that right may be transferable by custom or local usage but there is no authority for the proposition that the interest of an under raiyat is ipso facto transferable. AKHIL CHANDRA TIWARI v HASAT ALI SAPAGAR (1913)

19 C W N 246

6 ————— Acquisition of, status of A person in whose favour a permanent sub lease has been granted by a raiyat acquires on payment of rent to his grantor the status at least of an under raiyat, if he is shown to have been in possession of the holding from before the lease. JAYAKUMATH HOBE v PRABHASINI DAS (1915)

19 C W N 1077

I L R 43 Calc 178

7 ————— Permanent lease by, if valid.—Suit by lessee to recover possession from lessor As between grantor and grantee, a permanent lease granted by an under raiyat is a valid document, and the grantee can recover possession of the land from the grantor on the strength of such a lease. Gurudas Das v Kuldas Chango, 18 C W N 832 followed. PURUSHULLA SETHI v SITAL CHANDRA DAS (1915)

19 C W N 1110

UNDER-RAIYATS—contd.

8 ———— Status of under-tenant where raiyat evicted from occupancy holding for non payment of rent in Chota Nagpur—Interest of under raiyat, void or voidable—Distinction between proceedings with respect to a tenure holder and a raiyat—Right of under raiyat to contest the validity of the decree against his lessor Where a holding of an occupancy raiyat is sold, the interest of an under raiyat is not void but voidable. But when the occupancy holding has been destroyed by eviction of the raiyat for non payment of rent, s 82 of Act X of 1859 provides that the decree holder shall be put in physical possession of the land. There is a clear distinction between proceedings in regard to a tenure holder and proceedings in regard to a raiyat. Where the proceeding has been with regard to a tenure holder or under tenant the decree is to take the form of an order to all raiyats to pay rent to the decree holder, and the decree holder cannot be put into actual physical possession of the land. An under raiyat cannot contest the validity of the decree against his lessor as a defence to a suit in which it is sought to declare him a trespasser. BISHUN NARAIN DAS PODDAR v CHANDRA KANTA NAIK (1916)

20 C W. N 1240

9 ———— Under raiyat to whom permanent sub lease granted, suit for khas possession against—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s 85—Defendant in possession—Notice to quit under s 49 (b)—Whether defendant can rely upon any subsisting tenancy In a suit for khas possession of the disputed land from the defendant, an under raiyat to whom a permanent sub lease had been granted after the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act in contravention of s 85, it was found that a notice to quit under s 49 (A) had been duly served upon him. Held, that the defendant could not rely upon any subsisting tenancy and the plaintiff was entitled to khas possession. NASIR ALI SHINDAR v BANSHI BADAN PATWARI (1917)

23 C W. N 425

10 ———— Suit for ejectment of defendant an under raiyat, after notice to quit under s 49 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885)—Defendant setting up permanent sub lease by plaintiff's vendor—S 85 (2)—Lease whether valid—Whether the tenancy can be put an end to by the notice—Whether defendant can rely upon previous possession Where, in the plaintiff's suit to eject the defendant, an under raiyat after service of a notice to quit under s 49 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the defendant set up a permanent sub lease granted by the plaintiff's vendor and pleaded that he could not be ejected on the principle that such a lease should be held to be binding on the lessor on the ground of estoppel. Held, that the lease being invalid according to the provisions of cl. (2) of s. 85, the tenancy could be put an end to by a notice under s 49, and the defendant not having a subsisting tenancy could not rely upon his previous possession. Held, that the principle of estoppel cannot be invoked to defeat the plain provision of a statute. If the contention were given effect to the provisions of cl. (2) of s 85 would be defeated in every case. ALI MUDDI BEPARI v CHINTANARAY MUKHOPADHYA (1918)

23 C W. N. 437

UNDER-RAIYATI HOLDING—contd.See UNDER RAIYAT

Transferability—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 117—Agricultural lands—Relinquishment or abandonment, what constitutes An under raiyati holding is not transferable. What is relinquishment or abandonment depends on the substantial effect of what has been done in each case. When a tenure or holding, apart from the Transfer of Property Act, is not transferable, it cannot become so unless it is expressly made so by some other statute. If it had been intended to make holdings transferable which were before non transferable, the Legislature in framing the Bengal Tenancy Act would have said so. S 117 of the Transfer of Property Act excludes agricultural land from the operation of the rule which makes leasehold property transferable. Hiramoto Dasgupta v Annada Prasad Ghose, 7 C L J 555, followed AMIN KHAN v JINNAH ALI (1914)

I L R 42 Cal 751

Transferability—Purchase by landlord in execution of a money decree without objection by tenant—Title and possession Where an under raiyati holding was without objection on the part of the under raiyat sold successively in execution of two money decrees and purchased at the first sale by a stranger and at the second by the landlord who was the decree holder. Held, that the title of the landlord purchaser should prevail. PRAMATHA BEUSAN DEB v RAM CHARAN MONDAL (1917)

22 C W N 124

UNDER-TENANT*See* BENGAL RENT ACT, 1880 s 13

2 Fat. L J 75

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 45 Cal 736

UNDER-TENURE*See* HOMESTEAD LAND

I L R 42 Cal 638

See REVENUE SALE

I L R 37 Cal 519

Act VIII of 1886, B C, s 15—Court sale of under tenure, if collusive and fraudulent, does not destroy tenancy—Second appeal—Findings of fact If a Court sale of an under tenure under Act VIII, B C, of 1886 had been the result of a corrupt agreement between the under tenure holder and the purchaser at the sale, the purchaser would lose the benefit of s 16 of the Act, specially if the default in payment of rent had been deliberately incurred in furtherance of such an agreement. The findings of fact of the Court of first appeal in this case (which did not result from the mis construction of a document or the mis application of law or procedure but depended upon the evidence in the case) being that there had been no fraud or collusion, the High Court had no authority to go behind them in second appeal. THE MIDNAPUR ZEMINDARI COMPANY v UNA CHARAN MONDAL

24 C. W. N 201

Effect of sale of under tenure by co-sharer landlord for arrears of rent—Non-registration of purchase in execution sale by the whole body of landlords—Locus standi to maintain a suit—Rent Recovery Act (X of 1859), ss 27, 105 106, 108, 109 and 110—Civil Procedure Code (VIII of 1859), s 259—Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act (Beng VIII of 1863) While under

UNDER-RAIYATI HOLDING.See LANDLORD AND TENANT

UNDER-TENURE—contd.

s. 103 of Act X of 1859 which contemplates a decree by the landlord, or the whole body of land lords, for an arrears of the entire rent due in respect of an under tenure, it is the tenure that is sold, under s. 103 which does not contemplate a decree for an arrears of rent, but a decree for money due on account of a share of rent and a suit for it by only a sharer in a joint undivided estate, it is only the right, title and interest of the judgment debtor in the under tenure that passes. Doolar Chand Sahoo v Lala Chhabil Choudh., L. R. 6 I A 47, 3 C L. R. 681, and Shamchand Kundu v Broj Nath Pal Chowdhary 12 B L R 484, 21 W. R. 94, followed in principle. The purchaser of an under tenure under s. 103 of Act X of 1859 is entitled to maintain a suit for possession against a subsequent purchaser under s. 103, though he has not got his name registered in the landlord's sherista. Kristo Chunder Ghose v Ray Kristo Bandyopadhyay, 1 L R 12 Calc 24, followed. Lachhmaran Mitter v Khetro Pal Singh Roy, 13 B L R 146, 20 W R 350, referred to. Palit Shahn v Hari Mahanti, 1 L R 27 Calc 789, distinguished. Bichitransawa Roy v Behari Lal Pandit, 5 C L J 89, questioned. The mere fact that a person cannot succeed in a suit does not mean that he has no locus standi to maintain the suit. It is only where the Legislature distinctly or in effect provides that certain conditions must be fulfilled to entitle a person to maintain a suit, and those conditions precedent are not fulfilled, that the person has no locus standi to sue, NILADBI MAHANTI v DIGNITRANAND ROY (1910) 1 L. R. 37 Calc. 823

UNDERTAKING.

— unconditional, to pay—

See VANTHAMANAM

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 660

UNDERVALUATION OF SUIT.

See JURISDICTION 1 L. R. 38 Calc. 639

UNDISCHARGED BANKRUPT

— Vesting order under the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (II & 12 Act, C 21), s. 7—Subsequently acquired property, title to—Right of stranger to dispute title without alleging or proving intervention by the Official Assignee. At the trial of this suit, it appeared, according to the admissions made by the plaintiff's witnesses and according to the original documents produced, that the plaintiff's predecessor in title, one J, had a vesting order made against him on two occasions under s. 7 of the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848, viz., on the 2nd December 1899 and on the 4th May 1905. In case of neither insolvency did J get his final discharge. On the 1st August 1911, J acquired the premises in dispute from one D by means of a conveyance, bearing that date. After J's death, one P took a conveyance of the said premises from the administrator appointed by the Court to J's estate. P was alleged by the plaintiff to be a mere benamidar for himself and on the 20th May 1916, a deed of relinquishment was executed by P in favour of the plaintiff. The issue in the case broadly speaking was whether the plaintiff could prove his title. There was no reference in the written statement of the defendant to the fact of either of the two insolvencies of J, which were apparently brought to the notice of the defendant's advisers at a late stage, if not actually during the conduct of the plaintiff's case. In this state of things, at the close of the plaintiff's case, the defendant's counsel took the point that the plaintiff's suit should be dismissed without calling on the defendant to enter on his defence, the ground being that the title to the said premises had been shown to be vested in some one else according to the plaintiff's evidence. Held, on the authority of Herbert v. Sayer, 5 Q. B. 965, that the action must go on, as the point raised was not available to a stranger (as distinct from the Official Assignee or his assign) as a complete defence unless he had pleaded and was able to prove that the Official Assignee had intervened. In the circumstances of this case leave was given to the defendant to amend his written statement in order to state the fact of each of the said insolvencies and to aver and prove if he could, that at any date down to the institution of this suit the Official Assignee had intervened. DABARATHY SINGHA v MANAHULTA ASH (1920) 1 L. R. 47 Calc 981.

UNDISCHARGED BANKRUPT—contd.

UNDISCLOSED PRINCIPAL.

See HUNDI, SUIT ON

1 L. R. 46 Calc 663

See KUTMAUN RULES (1894), R 17

1 L. R. 42 All 642

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

1 L. R. 29 Calc 802

UNDIVIDED FAMILY

See HINDU LAW—ALIMENTATION

1 L. R. 35 Mad. 177

UNDIVIDED INTEREST

— purchase of—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

1 L. R. 29 Calc. 353

UNDUE ADVANTAGE.

See TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

1 L. R. 41 Calc 436

UNDUE INFLUENCE.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 29

1 Pat. L. J 76

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT X OF 1908) O XXII, R 3

1 L. R. 38 Mad 850

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872)—

S 18

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

1 L. R. 39 Bom 441

See INTEREST

1 L. R. 42 Calc 652, 690

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), SCH. II, ART 91. 1 L. R. 38 Mad 221

See PARDANASIN LADY.

1 L. R. 43 All. 525

See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, s. 2

See TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1882) s 68

1 L. R. 43 Bom 178

See WILL . . 1 L. R. 38 Calc. 355

UNDUE INFLUENCE—contd.

1 ————— Contract—Illegal composition of non-compoundable offence—Slifting prosecution—Suit for refund—Contract Act (IX of 1872) ss 16, 19 No refund of money or return of security, given under agreement not to prosecute a criminal case will be allowed unless circumstances disclose pressure or undue influence. Mere fear of punishment in a criminal case does not constitute undue influence. Jones v Merio Melshire Building Society [1892], 1 Ch 173, referred to. AMJADUNNESA BIBI v RAHIM BUKSH SHIKDAR (1914) 1 L R 42 Cal 286

2 ————— The Judicial Committee did not approve of the idea that in India the law would make the possession of reputation or high standing an element of suspicion. BAL GANGADHAR TILAK v SHRI SHRINIVAS PANDIT (1915). 19 C W N 729
1 L R 39 Bom 441

UNHYPOTHECATED PROPERTY

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s 90 1 L R 34 Bom 540

UNENFRANCHISED PERSONAL INAM OF LANDS

Attachment in execution of decree validity of Unenfranchised inam lands granted not for future public or private services but as a matter of favour for the maintenance of the donee and his heirs are liable to attachment and sale in execution of a decree against the holder of the inam. A Vissappa v A Rama Jogi (1865) 2 M H C R. 319 and Bhanappa Garu v Kamanna S A No 1397 of 1918 (unreported) followed. VEKATARAMA AYYAR v CHANDRANEGARA AYYAR (1921)
1 L R 44 Mad. 632

UNITED PROVINCES AND OUDH ACTS.

See NORTH WEST PROVINCES AND OUDH ACTS

————— 1869—I—

See OUDH ESTATES ACT

————— 1873—VIII—

See NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT

XVIII

See NORTH WEST PROVINCE REPT ACT

XIX

See N W P LAND REVENUE ACT

————— 1876—XVII—

See OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT

————— 1881—XII—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES REPT ACT

XVIII

See CENTRAL PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT

————— 1896—XXII—

See OUDH TEST ACT

————— 1898—XI—

See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT

UNITED PROVINCES AND OUDH ACT—contd

————— 1899—III—

See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT

————— 1900—I—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH ACTS

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT

X

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH MUNICIPALITIES ACT

————— 1901—II—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT

III

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT

————— 1903—II—

See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION OF LAND ACT

————— 1904—I—

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT

————— 1910—IV—

See UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT

————— 1912—IV—

See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT

VI

See UNITED PROVINCES PREVENTION OF ADULTERATION ACT

————— 1916—II—

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT

UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT (III OF 1899)

————— ss 2, 8, 9 34—

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT 1873 s 194

1 L R 42 All 509

————— ss 10 and 37—

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT 1873 s 194

1 L R 42 All 509

————— ss 16 20—Claim not notified—Maintainability of suit—Admissibility of documents R 20 of the Court of Wards Act 1899, applies only to cases where persons who have notified the claims under s 16 of the said Act have failed to produce their documents. Where the property of the debtor was taken over by the Court of Wards at a time when the Court of Wards Act of 1899 was in force and the creditor did not notify his claim under s 16 but brought a suit upon the bonds after the property was released by the Court of Wards held that the bonds were admissible in evidence and the suit was maintainable. Collector of Ghazipur v Fazloddin Beg 10 All. L. J. 236, overruled. ANBAR ALI v KALYAN DAS (1915) 1 L. R. 27 All. 533

————— ss. 16, 18, 49—Decree on suit not made while debtor was a ward of Court—Collector not made a party—Execution of decree Collector is a decree

UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT (III OF 1899)—contd

ss. 16, 19, 49—contd

for money against M based upon a contract entered into by the latter after he had become a ward of the Court of Wards. In execution of the decrees certain movable property belonging to M was attached. Upon objection taken that a certificate that the claim was notified under s. 16 of the Court of Wards Act, 1899, should be obtained from the Collector, held that the decree was bad, inasmuch as the suit and proceedings in execution were a fraud upon the Court, and that as soon as it was brought to the notice of the Court that the judgment debtor was a ward of Court, the Court should have of its own motion then and there made the Collector a party and waited for such defence as the Collector might put forward. MUAZZAM ALI SHAH v. CHUNNI LAL (1911) I L R 33 All 791

s. 48—

Notice of suit—"Property of any ward"—Property attached in execution of a decree held by a ward. Held, that the term "property of any ward" as used in s. 48 of the United Provinces Court of Wards Act, 1899, does not include property attached in execution of a decree held by a ward. No notice is, therefore, required of a suit brought by a person claiming title to such property for a declaration of his title. LAL SINGH v. THE COLLECTOR OF FARRUKHABAD (1914) I L R 38 All 331

Notice of suit—Amendment of plaint—Whether fresh notice rendered necessary by amendment. Certain persons who intended bringing a suit against a ward under the Court of Wards upon a promissory note of date the 20th of November, 1909, served upon the Collector by way of notice under s. 48 of the Court of Wards Act, 1899, a copy of the proposed plaint, in which they stated—"For a long time there were money dealings between the shop of the plaintiffs and Kunwar Pohkar Singh, caste Thakur, resident of mauza Ghungehal. Accordingly the said Pohkar Singh, having adjusted his account under the former promissory note, dated the 15th of November, 1907, executed a promissory note on the 20th of November, 1909." In the course of the suit the plaintiffs discovered that they could not succeed on the promissory note of the 20th of November, 1909, inasmuch as Pohkar Singh was already a Ward of Court at the date of its execution, and accordingly asked and obtained leave to amend their plaint and base their claim entirely on the promissory note of the 15th of November 1907; held, that in these circumstances no fresh notice to the Court of Wards was rendered necessary by the amendment of the plaint. MALNARY v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, I L R 38 Cal 797, referred to BALDEO PRASAD v. THE COLLECTOR OF PHILMUT (1914) I L R 37 All 13

UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT (IV OF 1912).

ss. 2, 8, 9, 10 and 34—

See N W P LAND REVENUE ACT, 1873, s. 194. I L R 42 All 509

ss. 8 and 11—Disqualified proprietor—Mortgage decree against Court of Wards—Discharge of estate from superintendence—Order by Govern-

UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT (IV OF 1912)—contd

ss. 8 and 11—contd

ment of India—Validity of decree. Where a mortgagor has been declared a disqualified proprietor under the United Provinces Court of Wards Act, 1912 and a final mortgage decree is made against the Court of Wards during its superintendence of the estate, the decree is binding upon the mortgagor after the Local Government, acting under an order of the Government of India, has discharged the estate from superintendence, in the absence of proof that the proceedings of the Court of Wards were a nullity. NAENDRA BHANER SINGH v. THE OODH COMMERCIAL BANK, LD I L R 43 All 473

UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT (IV OF 1910)

s. 40—Rules framed under Act—Transfer or sub lease of licence—Agreement to share profits. The plaintiff entered into an agreement with the defendant, who was a drug contractor, in consideration of a sum of money advanced by him to the defendant, that he would be entitled to a share in the profits or responsible for the losses of the drug business to an extent therein set forth. Held, that such an agreement was neither a transfer nor a sub lease of the drug contractor's licence and did not constitute a violation of s. 82 of the rules framed under the United Provinces Excise Act, 1910. SHAM BHARI LAL v. MALHI (1916) I L R 39 All 107

s. 60—Unlawful possession of excisable article—Search warrant—Indian Oaths Act (X of 1873), s. 13—Presumption that oath was duly administered. An excise inspector searched the house of a person suspected to be in illicit possession of an excisable article, namely cocaine and cocaine was found in the house. Held, that the subsequent conviction of the person in possession of the said house was not rendered illegal by the fact that the excise inspector had not previously obtained a search warrant. EMPEROR v. ALLAHUDDIN KHAN, 11 All. L. J 442 I L R 35 All 553, EMPEROR v. HARGOBIND, I L R 35 All 1, referred to. Held, also, that it is a reasonable presumption that an oath has been duly administered to a witness appearing before a Court, although the record of the Court may contain no reference to that fact. EMPEROR v. SAYED AHMAD (1913) I L R 35 All 575

s. 63—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 337—Unlawful possession of excisable article—Search warrant—Conviction not invalidated owing to absence of warrant. Where the superintendent of police and a sub inspector searched the house of a person suspected of being in illicit possession of excisable articles and such articles were found in the house searched, it was held that the conviction of the owner of the house under s. 63 of the United Provinces Excise Act, 1910, was not rendered invalid by the fact that no warrant had been issued for the search, although it was presumably the intention of the Legislature that in a case under s. 63 where it was necessary to search a house, a search warrant should be obtained beforehand. EMPEROR v. ALLAHUDDIN KHAN (1913) I L R 35 All 358

UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT (IV OF 1910)—contd

— s 64 (c)—Breach of conditions of licence
Breach committed by servant—Responsibility of master In order to establish an offence under s 64 (c) of the United Provinces Act 1910 against a licence holder in respect of the alleged keeping of incorrect accounts by a servant, it must be shown that the licence holder himself allowed the offence to be committed by his servant or was cognizant of what his servant was doing. Ex PEROR v RAM DAS (1918) I L R 40 All 523

UNITED PROVINCES GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (U P ACT 1 OF 1904)

S. GENERAL CLAUSES ACT

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)

— s 4—Mahal—Part ion—Uncult cable land—Jurisdiction—Civil and Revenue Courts Land, such as roadways uncultivated plots and even abadi sites of villages are all within the boundaries of a mahal although no revenue may be derived from them. Thus land forming the site of a parao but bearing a khasra and khata number in the revenue records must be considered as part of the mahal in which it is situated and can only be partitioned by a Court of Revenue. MAHMUD JAHAN BEGAM v GOBIND RAM I L R 43 All 45

— s 18—Suit for rent before Assistant Collector—Sanction to prosecute granted by him—Officer at the time of granting sanction placed in charge of another sub-division of the same district—Jurisdiction An Assistant Collector tried a suit under the Agra Tenancy Act in the course of which a question as to the genuineness of a certain document tendered in evidence by the defendants arose. Subsequently to the decision of that suit the Assistant Collector was put in charge of the work of another sub-division in the same district. Held that such a transfer of work did not deprive him of jurisdiction to grant sanction for a prosecution in respect of the forging of the document so tendered. DALIT SINGH v NAVAL (1917) I L R 39 All 297

— s 32 (d)—Mahal—Land held revenue-free by Government not of necessity excluded from the mahal Held (i) that s 32 clause (d) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act 1901, shows that there may be in a mahal persons holding land revenue free and the land so held yet forms part of the mahal, and (ii) that a finding as to whether such land does or does not form part of the mahal is not a pure finding of fact but a mixed finding of fact and law. ABDUL RAHIM KHAN v AHMAD KHAN (1914) I L R 38 All 231

— s 34—

See AGRICULTURE ACT (II OF 1901)
 s 158 I L R 39 All 689

— s 38—Agra Tenancy Act (II of 1901), s 41—Ex proprietary tenant—Fetachment of rent The tenant of an ex proprietary holding whose rent had been fixed by the Collector under s 38 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, entered into an agreement with the zamindar to pay an enhanced rent. The agreement was effected by means of a registered instrument, and the enhanced rent was not in excess of the beneficial rate mentioned in s 10 of the Act, but it was made within the period of ten years from the fixation of rent by the Collector. Held that such agreement was not open to any legal objection. BRAIRON PRASAD v SOMWARTUPU (1917) I L R 39 All 318

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd

— s 36—contd

— ss 51, 52, 59—Assignment of Government Revenue—Right of Government to enhance or remit revenue An assignee of Government revenue takes the assignment subject to all the rights of Government to assess, enhance, reduce, remit or suspend the revenue. BEVI MADHO v BHAGWAN PRASAD (1911) I L R 33 All 256

— ss 56 and 86—Cess—Gaonkiarch—Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction In a permanently settled portion of the Mirzapur district the tenants were in the habit of paying to their zamindars an addition to their rent of 3 to 4 pies per rupee under the name of gaon kiarch. This additional payment, however was not recorded under s 56 or s 86 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act and it did not appear from the evidence that it could be regarded as part and parcel of the contract of rent. Held that, whether or not a suit might lie in a Civil Court for the recovery of the payment known as gaon kiarch no such suit would lie in a Court of Revenue. RADHA MADHO LALJI v RAM SEWAK I L R 43 All 422

— Market—Right to levy tolls—Cess Held, that the levy by the owner of a private market of market dues at so much per head for every beast sold and of rent for land occupied by stalls is not illegal. Sukdeo Prasad v Nihal Chand I L R 25 All 740 distinguished. SADA NAND PANDU v ALI JAN (1910) I L R 32 All 123

— Cess—Rent—Rent payable partly in cash and partly in kind Certain tenants holding under a gabulati agreed to pay as rent a fixed sum in money and also certain quantities yearly of bhusa chori, grain and sugar-cane described in the gabulati as razam zamindari. Held, that notwithstanding that the payments in kind were described as 'razam zamindari' they were nevertheless part of the rent and could be recovered by the lessor, and did not fall within the purview of s 56 or s 86 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act 1901. Sri Pam v Asghar Ali I L R 35 All 19, distinguished. PANGY LAL v JASWA (1916) I L R 38 All 286

— ss 56 233—

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS

I L R 34 All 358

— s 99—

See S 51 I L R 33 All 556

— ss 106 and 233 (k)—Partition of isolated plot in abadi—Owners not co-sharers—Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction Held that a suit for partition of an isolated plot in the abadi of a village the parties not being co-sharers in the mahal but merely the purchasers of the plot from the zamindars, lies in the Civil Court and not in the Revenue Court. Pam Paton v Mewtor

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd.

ss 107 and 233—contd.

Akmal 16 Indian Cases 878 followed. Pam Dayal v. Meys Lal, I L R 6 All 452 (154), referred to. Narain Das v. Bhanu Narain, I L R 31 All 330, distinguished. Rantu Lal v. Baldeo Sahai, I L R 43 All 454

s 107—

See PARTITION ACT (IV OF 1893) ss 1
2 AND 3 I L R 35 All 387

ss 107, 111—

1. Partition—Joint Hindu family—Claim for partition by widow in possession in lieu of maintenance merely though recorded, solati causd as a co-sharer. Held, that the widow of a member of a Hindu family who is in possession of a portion of the family property under a family arrangement in lieu of maintenance merely, is not a co-sharer and cannot in virtue of such possession enforce a claim for partition of the share of which she is so in possession even though her name may be recorded solati causd as a co-sharer. Kailash Kumar v. Budri Prasad S A No. 311 of 1913 decided 17th July 1913 and Bhoop Singh v. Phool Kowar, N W P H C Rep 368 and Jhanna Kuar v. Chain Sukh, I L R 3 All 400, followed. Bhupat Singh v. Mohan Singh I L R 19 All 324 referred to. Habibullah v. Kuchimba S A L J 431 distinguished. Pewa v. Jas Kunwar (1913) I L R 35 All 527

2. Partition—Joint Hindu family—Hindu widow—Claim for partition by widow in possession in lieu of maintenance merely though recorded, solati causd, as a co-sharer. Held, that the widow of a member of a joint Hindu family who is in possession of a portion of the family property under a family arrangement in lieu of maintenance merely is not a co-sharer and cannot in virtue of such possession enforce a claim for partition of the share of which she is so in possession even though her name may be recorded solati causd as a co-sharer. Bhoop Singh v. Phool Kowar N W P H C Rep 368 and Jhanna Kuar v. Chain Sukh, I L R 3 All 400, referred to. Kailash Kumar v. Budri Prasad (1913) I L R 35 All 548

ss 110, 111 and 112—Partition—

Question of proprietary title. One of the co-sharers in a village applied in a Court of Revenue for partition, whereupon another of the co-sharers raised the objection that the village had already been partitioned privately and could not again be divided. Held, that this objection raised a question of proprietary title in respect of which the Court of Revenue had jurisdiction to refer the parties to the Civil Court. Ram Narain v. Jagannath Prasad (1915) I L R 33 All 115

s 111 (1) (b)—

Partition—Non applicant required to file suit in Civil Court—Non-compliance with order—Appeal. A Collector trying a partition case made an order under s 111 (1) (b) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act 1901, against the non applicant. He failed to comply with this order but alleged that in a civil suit between the parties to the partition case it had been decided in respect of certain non revenue-paying property that both sides were members of a joint Hindu family. The Collector, however overruled his objection finding that the rule did not apply to revenue paying property. Held, that no appeal lay to the District Judge from this order. Ram Prasad v. Mukand Lal (1915) I L R 38 All 70

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd.

s 111 (1) (b)—contd.

Partition proceedings

Question of proprietary title—Party raising question ordered to file civil suit—Suit filed beyond time allowed—Suit barred. Where an order has been made by a Court of Revenue under s 111 (1) (b) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, requiring a party to partition proceedings to institute within three months in the Civil Court a suit for the determination of a question of proprietary title raised in such proceedings, the Civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit if it is not filed within the time limited. Pawar Lal v. Gopi, 4 A L J 713, followed. Randhir Singh v. Bhagwan Das I L R 35 All 451 referred to. Tamir Ali Shah v. Shah Muhammad Khan (1918) I L R 41 All 211 ss 111, 112—Private partition—Lands held under a private partition claimed by non applicant—No question of proprietary title—Appeal. When in a suit for partition of revenue paying lands one of the non-applicants alleged that under a private partition he was in possession of certain lands and claimed those lands for himself and the Collector in appeal ordered those lands to be given to him. Held, that no question of proprietary title was raised and no appeal lay to the District Judge against the order of the Collector. Tuls Das v. Gate Ram, All W N (1904) 225 followed. Muhammad Jan v. Sadanand Pandey I L R 28 All 394, distinguished. Muhammad Nasser Ullah Khan v. Muhammad Isma Khan (1910) I L R 32 All 523

ss 111, 112, 233 (1)—

Partition—Hindu law

Joint Hindu family—Minor—No necessity for minor to be specially represented in partition proceedings. Where a partition of the property of a joint Hindu family in which one of the members was a minor was found to have been properly carried out with due regard to the interests of the minor it was held to be no ground for upsetting the partition, were such a course possible having regard to s 233 (1) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901 that the minor was not represented in the partition proceedings by a formally appointed guardian. In such circumstances a minor member of the family is suitably represented by the managing member or members. Bhagwati Prasad v. Bhagwati Prasad (1912) I L R 35 All 126

Civil Procedure Code

(1905) s 11 O 11, r 2—Partition—Suit for possession of property the subject of partition. A person who was really entitled to one half of a four biswa zamindari share but was recorded only in respect of a 3½ biswa share applied for partition of the latter share. After the date fixed for filing objections the person who was recorded in respect of the remaining one-fourth biswa share came in and asked for partition of that one-fourth biswa share. The partition was completed, but subsequently the original applicant brought suit to recover the one fourth biswa share. Held, that the suit was not barred by s 233 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act (1901), neither was it barred by O II, r 2, of the Code of Civil Procedure, inasmuch as that rule did not apply to proceedings under the Land Revenue Act, nor by the rule of res judicata. KALKA PRASAD v. MANMOHAN LAL (1916) . . . I. L. R. 38 ALL 302

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd.

111, 112, 238 (k)—contd.

s 118—Partition—Co sharers—Effect of order allotting to one co sharer land upon which are standing buildings belonging to another co-sharer Where a partition has been effected under the provisions of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, and the site of the house of one co sharer has been allotted to the share of another co sharer, the presumption is that the owner of the house is to retain possession of the house. The mere fact that ground rent has not been assessed cannot deprive the owner of the house of his right to it. Isaur Prasad, v. Jagannath Singh, All. Weekly Notes, 1906, 194, followed. Nandan Pat Tewari v. Radha Kishan Kalwar, 5 Indian Cases 684, distinguished. SABUR LAL v. LALA (1917) . . . I. L. R. 39 ALL 707

s 121—Plaintiff referred to Civil Court—Suit filed within time but subsequently withdrawn—Second suit filed after prescribed period Where a Revenue Court acting under s 111 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, required a party to the case before it to institute to a suit in the Civil Court within three months, and the plaintiff did so, but for some technical reason had to withdraw it with permission to bring a fresh suit, which was in fact filed without delay, but after the three months had expired: Held, that the second suit must be considered to be a continuation of the first suit, and it could not, therefore, be held that the plaintiff had not complied with the order of the Revenue Court. RANDHIR SINGH v. BHAGWAN DAS (1913) . . . I. L. R. 35 ALL 541

ss 142, 143, 146—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 23B. . . I. L. R. 32 ALL 116

ss. 203 to 207—Agria Tenancy Act (II of 1901), s 95—Arbitration—Decision of Revenue Court based on award—Dispute between rival tenants as to possession of land—Suit for possession—Jurisdiction—Civil and Revenue Courts Held, that s 207 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, does not bar a separate suit on title, independently of the decision of the Revenue Court based on the award, to recover possession of property which has been the subject of arbitration proceedings under ss 203 to 206 of the Act. Girdhars Chawbe v. Ram Bhawan Mehar, 11 ALL L J 85, approved and followed. Held, further, that a suit between the rival tenants adjoining holdings to determine the question whether a certain parcel of land appertains to the holding of the one or of the other is cognizable by the Civil Court. Bhaw Puri v. Ram Lal, I L R 33 ALL 795, and Jagannath v. Ajaydha Singh, I. L. R. 35 ALL 116 referred to. TARSI SINGH v. HARDEO SINGH (1917) . . . I. L. R. 39 ALL 711

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd.

s. 233—

See s 106 . . . I. L. R. 43 ALL 454

See s 311 . . . I. L. R. 35 ALL 126
I. L. R. 38 ALL 302

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS
I. L. R. 34 ALL 358

Partition—Land belonging to plaintiffs' mahal allotted to defendants and a different plot to plaintiffs—Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction By a mistake of a partition amiri a plot belonging to the defendants was allotted to the plaintiffs and two plots belonging to the plaintiffs were allotted to the defendants: Held, that no suit would be in a Civil Court to rectify this error. Kishan Prasad v. Aadher Mah, All W N (1900) 11, distinguished. TIRBENI SAHAI v. GOKUL PRASAD (1911) . . . I. L. R. 33 ALL 440

Revenue Court irregularly entertaining an application for allotment of a share to applicant—Suit in Civil Court for declaration of title as to share so allotted—Jurisdiction Some of the co sharers in a mauza applied for partition. H, one of the non applicants, came in within the time limited in the proclamation issued under s 110 of the Land Revenue Act, 1901, and asked for his share also to be partitioned off. After the time for objecting to the partition had expired, L filed an application claiming a share in the portion alleged by H to be his share, and without notice to H this application was granted, and part of the share allotted to him was given to L. H then sued in the Civil Court asking for a declaration of his title to the plots so allotted to L. Held, that, however erroneous the procedure of the revenue authorities might have been H's suit was barred by s 233 (k) of the Land Revenue Act, 1901. Muhammad Sadiq v. Lavte Ram, I L R 23 ALL 291, followed. Khasay v. Jugla, I L R 23 ALL 432, and Muhammad Jan v. Eadnanda Pande, I L R 28 ALL 394, distinguished. Per Curiam—"We can only repeat here what was laid down in the full bench case of Muhammad Sadiq v. Lavte Ram (I L R 23 ALL 291) in which it was held that any exercise of jurisdiction of a Civil Court which would disturb or in any way affect the distribution of land made by partition is barred by s 233 of Act III of 1901 whatever question is raised." LACHMAN DAS v. HANUMAN PRASAD (1910) . . . I. L. R. 33 ALL 169

Civil Procedure Code (1908), s 11—Res judicata—Joint mahal formed on partition—Suit by one co-sharer against the other for exclusive possession of entire mahal A and B applied jointly, as against the other co-sharers, to have certain revenue paying property made into a joint mahal in their names, and this was done. Thereafter A sued B on title for exclusive possession of the entire mahal: Held, that this suit was not barred, either by the principle of res judicata or by s 233 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901. In the partition proceedings no question of title as between the present plaintiff and defendant had been raised, and in his suit the plaintiff did not seek to alter the constitution of the mahal as it had been formed by the revenue authorities. LAL BISHARI v. FAKALI KUNWAR . . . I. L. R. 42 ALL 309

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd

s. 233—contd

Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction—Partition—Land of a third party alleged to be wrongly included in a partitioned by imperfect partition—Suit for recovery of possession in Civil Court. Where land belonging to one party was, apparently by mistake and without notice to the person who claimed to be the rightful owner thereof, included in another partition and made the subject of an imperfect partition it was held that the person who claimed to be the owner of the land so dealt with was not debarred by s. 213 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, from suing in the Civil Court to have his right to the land declared and to recover possession thereof. Muhammad Sadiq v Lavie Ram, I L R 23 All 291, distinguished. Quare. Whether s. 233 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, applies at all to an imperfect partition. SHAMBERU SINGH v DALJIT SINGH (1916) I L R 38 All 243

Partition—Suit to recover property which had been the subject of a partition. Certain co-shares in a village applied for partition of their shares under s. 107 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901. Notice was issued to all the recorded co-shares as required by s. 10 of the Act, and thereupon an application was made by other co-shares, under cl. (2) of the section, praying for partition of their shares. In that application the applicants set forth the extent of the shares which they prayed should be formed into one lot, or guzra. Subsequently a proceeding was drawn up under s. 114 of the Act, declaring the basis upon which partition was to be effected. Some time after the partition was completed certain of the parties to the partition proceedings instituted a suit in a Civil Court to recover possession of shares other than those specified in the application aforesaid, upon which the partition had been based. Held by BANERJI and TUDRALL, J J (RICHARDS, C J, dissenting), that the suit was barred by s. 233 (k) of the Act. Muhammad Sadiq v Lavie Ram, I L R 23 All 291, referred to. Shambhu Singh v Daljit Singh, I L R 38 All 243, distinguished. Bhaji Misir v Kali Prasad Misir (1917)

I L R. 39 All 409

Partition—Property wrongfully assigned to one party owing to a fraud practised on the Revenue Court—Suit in Civil Court to recover property so assigned—Jurisdiction. An action will lie in a Civil Court to provide a remedy where a person's rights have been infringed by some fraudulent act of the defendant, even though the fraud was one practised upon a Revenue Court, and would affect the result of partition proceedings. Maladen Prasad v Talia Bibi I L R 25 All 19 and Raghunandan Ahir v Sheonandan Ahir I L R 41 All 182, followed. Muhammad Sadiq v Lavie Ram, I L R 23 All 291 referred to. JRUMAK RAI v BIRESHWAR RAI (1919)

I L R. 41 All 626

Partition—Partition obtained by fraud—Subsequent suit with the object of setting aside the partition not barred. S. 233 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, will not operate so as to bar a subsequent suit in a Civil Court having for its object the upsetting of a partition, when the basis of suit is the allegation that the partition ordered by the Revenue Court was due to a fraud, practised upon that Court and upon the plaintiffs by the defendant. RAGHUNANDAN AHIR v SHEONANDAN AHIR (1916) I L R. 41 All 182

UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (U. P. ACT III OF 1901)—contd

s. 233—contd.

Imperfect partition—Share legally the property of one party to the partition proceedings allotted to another on the strength of entries in the khewat—Suit, after confirmation of partition, for a declaration of plaintiff's title to the share. Plaintiff, as the result of a suit for pre-emption, got possession of certain zamindari property, but never obtained mutation of names in respect thereof. Some years after this pre-emption suit, the defendants applied for imperfect partition of their share as recorded in the khewat which included the property decreed to the plaintiff. During the partition proceedings the plaintiff applied for mutation of names in his favour, but failed, and the partition was concluded on the basis of the entries in the khewat. Thereafter the plaintiff brought the present suit for a declaration that the pre-empted share, which stood in the names of the defendants and which had been allotted to them by the partition, belonged to him and did not belong to them. Held, that the suit was barred by s. 233 (k) of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901. Muhammad Sadiq v Lavie Ram, I L R 23 All 291, followed. Bhaji Misir v Kali Prasad Misir, I L R 39 All 409, and Shambhu Singh v Daljit Singh, I L R 38 All 243, explained. Per Curiam—"An examination of the plaint shows clearly that the object of the present suit is to upset partition proceedings. The plaintiff in his plaint sets forth the facts of the partition suit and the fact that he applied for correction of the khewat and failed. Hence he asks the Court for a declaration that he is entitled to the property. The case is in our opinion fully covered by precedent." BHUPAL SINGH v USAGAR SINGH I L R. 43 All 28

s. 234—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 23

I L R. 39 All 51, 58

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS CODE.

See UNITED PROVINCES GENERAL CLAUSES ACT I OF 1904, s. 24

I L R. 40 All 105

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900)

See NORTH WEST PROVINCES AND OTHER MUNICIPALITIES ACT

s. 49—Suit against a member of a Municipal Board for damages—Held: Act purporting to be done in official capacity. A member of a Municipal Board as such member, made report to the Board which resulted in the present action of certain persons for a municipal offence. The persons prosecuted were acquitted and thereafter filed a suit for damages for malicious prosecution against the maker of the report. Held, that the defendant was entitled to the notice provided for

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900)—contd

s. 48—contd.

by s. 49 of the Municipalities Act, 1900. Muhammad Sadiq Ahmad v Panna Lal, I L R 26 All 220, distinguished JOGAL KISHORE v JOGAL KISHORE (1911) . I L R. 33 All 540

ss. 87, 152—Municipal Board—Refusal of permission to re-erect a building—Remedy open to applicant special appeal not suit When a Municipal Board refuses permission to erect or re-erect a building, the proper way to contest such refusal is to appeal in the manner provided for by s. 152 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1900
The applicant for permission cannot maintain a civil suit for an injunction to restrain the Board from interfering with the plaintiff's building
ABDUS SAMAD v THE CHAIRMAN, MUNICIPAL BOARD, MEERUT (1916) I L R. 36 All 329

Held, that s. 152 does not apply when the prohibition notice or order issued by the Board is ultra vires and that s. 87 (5) applies only to buildings of the kind referred to in the preceding sub sections that is new buildings in respect of which notice should have been given under sub section (1) EMPEROR v RAM DASSAL
I L R. 33 All. 147

ss 88 and 91—Municipal Board—Power of Board to order demolition of structure overhanging a public road—Compensation—Offer to pay compensation not a condition precedent to order for demolition. The owner of a house to which was attached a balcony overhanging a public road repaired the balcony, which had become dilapidated, and made it serviceable, but without obtaining the permission of the Municipal Board therefor. The Board thereupon issued notice to the house owner under s. 88 of the Municipalities Act, 1900, to remove the balcony, and, in default of compliance, prosecuted him: Held, that the Board had power, under s. 88, cl (2), of the said Act, to order the removal of the balcony without assigning any reason, and that it was not necessary for the Board, in the case of a notice issued under
s. 88, to tender or express its willingness to pay compensation in respect of the structure the demolition of which was ordered EMPEROR v NANNA LAL (1913) . I L R. 35 All. 375

s. 123 (b) (i)—Municipal Board—Power of Board to make rules—Rules regulating use by hawkers of parties of public roads Held, that the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1900, did not empower a Municipal Board to make rules regulating the sale or exposure for sale of goods in streets or public places under the control of the Board EMPEROR v IMAMI (1912)
I L R. 35 All. 24

s. 130—

In order to render a person liable to punishment for breach of the rule made under cl (c) of s. 130 by reason of the continuance of the sale of certain articles on premises then used for such purpose it is necessary that 6 months' notice in writing should have been served upon him EMPEROR v GHANMAN
I L R. 38 All. 455

s. 147—

1. ——— *Municipal Board
—Jurisdiction—Prosecution in respect of matter concerning which a civil suit was pending* The UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900)—contd

s. 147—contd

plaintiff to a suit against a Municipal Board was permitted by the Court to erect certain structures as specified in the decree of the Court. Subsequently a dispute arose as to whether the structures which the plaintiff had erected were within or in excess of the powers given to him by the decree, and the Court decided, and the Board did not contest its decision, that the plaintiff had exceeded his rights under the decree, and that some portion of the said structures must be demolished. The Board meanwhile took action against the plaintiff under s. 147 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1900. Held, that it was not open to the Board to prosecute the plaintiff in respect of the structures, pending the decision of the Civil Court and to continue the prosecution after its decision. EMPEROR v BALDIO PRASAD
(1910) . I L R. 32 All. 620

2. ——— Conviction for disobedience to notice—Continuing breach After a conviction under s. 147 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, the person convicted cannot be permitted to challenge the correctness of that conviction as often as he is prosecuted for continued disobedience of the order of the Board. ETIAL PRASAD v THE MUNICIPAL BOARD OF CANNIGER
(1914) . I L R. 28 All. 430

3. ——— Prosecution for disobedience to notice—Validity of notice to be considered Before anyone can be convicted of an offence under s. 147 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, the Court must be satisfied that what he had disobeyed was a notice lawfully issued by the Board under the powers conferred upon it by the Act. EMPEROR v PIARI LAL (1914)
I L R. 36 All. 185

ss. 147 and 152—Notice—Prohibition to lawfully issued notice—Competence of accused to challenge validity of notice Held, that s. 152 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1900, does not prevent a person, who may be prosecuted for disobedience to a notice issued by a Municipal Board, from establishing the defence that the notice in question was not as a matter of fact the Board's notice, inasmuch as it was not signed by any one legally authorized to sign such notices on behalf of the Board. EMPEROR v HAZARI LAL (1914)
I L R. 36 All. 227

s. 152—
Sec s. 87 I L R. 36 All. 329

s. 187—
*See U P GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (I OF
1904), s. 23* I L R. 34 All. 291
See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND ODISH MUNICIPALITIES ACT, s. 10
I L R. 35 All. 368

Municipal elections—Rules framed by Local Government for regulation of elections—Petition by defeated candidate—Appeal—Procedure—"Decree"—"Order" Held, on a construction of r. 42 of the rules framed by the Local Government under s. 187 of the Municipalities Act, 1900, for the regulation of municipal elections, that the term "competent Court" as used in r. 42 means a civil Court of competent jurisdiction with reference to the valuation given by the petitioner in his petition. Gur Charan Das v Har Sarup,

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (I OF 1900)—contd.

s. 187—contd.

I L R 31 AL 391, followed. Held, also that no appeal lies from the order of a competent Court passed on an election petition under r 42 above referred to. Sundar Lal v Muhammad Faiz, 16 Oudh Cases 36, approved. Raychundan Prasad v Sheo Prasad, I L R 35 All 303, and Sabbajai Singh v Abdul Ghafur, I L R 24 Cal 107, referred to. KHUNNI LAL v RAOHUNANDAN PRASAD (1913) I L R 35 All 450

Municipal election—Rules framed by the Local Government for regulation of elections—Validity of rules—Petition against successful candidate—Appeal. Held, (i) that the provisions of a 187 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act which gave power to the Local Government to make rules "generally for regulating all elections under the Act," were wide enough to include rules for the filing and decision of election petitions, and (ii) that no appeal lies from the order of a "competent Court" passed on an election petition under r 42 of the rules framed by the Local Government under s 187 (1), cl (h) of the Act. Kaunni Lal v Raychundan Prasad, I L R 35 All 450, followed. Sundar Lal v Muhammad Faiz 16 Oudh Cases 36, approved. NAND RAM v CHOTE LAL (1913) I L R 35 All 578

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (U. P. ACT II OF 1916)

ss 19 to 23—Election petition—Petition presented by unsuccessful candidate against several respondents. It is not a valid objection to a petition filed by an unsuccessful candidate at a municipal election under s 19 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act 1916, having as respondents more than one of the successful candidates, that the petitioner cannot be himself declared elected in the room of more than one of the respondents. ABDUL BAZI KHAN v SHAH UL HASAN (1919) I L R 41 All 646 ss 185, 186—Erection of building without sanction of Municipal Board—Prosecution—Notice for demolition of building not necessary before prosecution. Where it is found that a building for which the sanction of a Municipal Board is required has been erected either without such sanction or in contravention thereof, it is not necessary for the Board to direct the demolition of the building before it can prosecute the person who has erected it. EMPEROR v HASHEM ALI (1917) I L R 39 All 482

ss. 209, 210—"Erect a structure"—Movable planks placed across a public drain in front of a shop. Held that the placing, without the permission of the Municipal Board, of movable planks over a municipal drain outside a shop, the planks being put out in the morning when the shop was opened and removed at night, did not amount to an offence under the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916. The expressions used in s 209 of that Act indicate that it refers to something of a permanent nature. Kemla Nath v The Municipal Board of Allahabad, I L R 23 All 193, referred to. EMPEROR v MUHAMMAD YUSUF (1917) I L R 39 All 388

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (U. P. ACT II OF 1916)—contd.

s. 233—

See s. 111

I L R 35 All 126
I L R 38 All 302

s. 263—

See s. 267

I L R 42 All 485

s. 267—

Notice to construct a cesspool—Appeal—Prosecution for failure to comply—Power of trying Court to question reasonableness of Board's order on the merits—Procedure in case of continuing breach indicated. No appeal will lie from a notice legally issued under section 267 (b) of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, requiring the owner of premises to construct a cesspool. The effect of section 321, read with section 318, of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, is that certain orders, directions or requirements of a Municipal Board or of the Committee of a notified area only can be called in question as regards their reasonableness or practicability, but the legality of any such orders, directions or requirements, can be questioned in any Court in which penal proceedings are brought in respect of any alleged breach for non-compliance therewith. Emperor v Ram Dayal I L R 33 All 147, Municipal Board of Etawa v DEVI PRASAD I L R 42 All 435, Emperor v Marwari v Emperor, 13 A L J 229, and Emperor v Mannu, I L R 43 All 295, referred to. EMPEROR v KASHMIRI LAL I L R 43 All 644 ss 267 and 263—Municipal Board—Distinction between order issued to protect public from physical danger and order issued to protect it from insanitary conditions. A Municipal Board issued an order, purporting to do so under s 267 of the Municipalities Act, to a person living within municipal limits requiring him to fill up a certain cesspool and to build another with a proper cover to it, the order being issued because the cesspool was without a cover and passers by were likely to fall into it at night. Held, that the order was a bad order, inasmuch as the only order which could be legally made under s. 267 was an order which was based on sanitary grounds. MUNICIPAL BOARD OF ETAWA v DEVI PRASAD

I L R 42 All 495

s. 274—"Occuper" Held, that a person of whom no more could be said than that he was held responsible for the upkeep and cleanliness of a temple by the former adhkari was not an "occuper" of the temple and could not be convicted as such under s. 274 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, for throwing rubbish on to the street. EMPEROR v PHULI LAL (1917) I L R 39 All 309 ss 293 and 318—Dangerous or offensive trades—Licence—Power of Municipal Board to refuse licence—Remedy of person whose application for licence has been refused. In matters to which s 293, List I, Heading G, of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, relates a Municipal Board is not bound to grant a licence to any one who is prepared to abide by the prescribed conditions unless it be found that the necessary licence cannot be granted in respect of the particular site in question without prejudice to the health, safety or convenience of the inhabitants of the municipality. If an application for such a licence is refused, the s. 298 and 318—contd.

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (U. P. ACT II OF 1916)—contd.

remedy of the applicant is by way of appeal under s. 318 of the Act. Moran v Chairman of Motihari Municipality, 1 L R 17 Calc. 329, and Queen-Empress v Mukunda Chunder Chatterjee, 1 L R 20 Calc. 654, referred to. EMPEROR v MANU.

I L R. 42 All. 294

s. 307—Disobedience to notice lawfully issued by a Municipal Board—Recurring fine—Procedure necessary to imposition of daily fine. A Magistrate convicting an accused person of an offence under s. 307 (b) of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, cannot by the same order, further sentence him to a recurring fine in the event of non compliance with the order of the Board. The liability to a daily fine in the event of a continuing breach has been imposed by the Legislature in order that a person contumaciously disobeying an order lawfully issued by a Municipal Board may not claim to have purged his offence once and for all by payment of the fine imposed upon him for neglect or refusal to comply with the said order. The liability will require to be enforced, as often as the Municipal Board may consider necessary, by the institution of a second prosecution, in which the questions for consideration will be, how many days have elapsed from the date of the first conviction under the same section during which the offender is proved to have persisted in the offence, and, secondly, the appropriate amount of daily fine to be imposed under the circumstances of the case, subject to the maximum prescribed. EMPEROR v AMIR HASAN KHAN (1915).

I L R. 40 All. 569

ss. 318 and 321—

See s. 267. I L R. 43 All. 644

s. 324—Suit for damages by lessee of land against a Municipal contractor for causing obstruction to the use of his land. Held, that section 324 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, does not apply to a suit by lessee of land for damages against a contractor of the Municipal Board who stacks building materials upon that land and thereby prevents the lessee from using it. MUHAMMAD GHAFANULLAH v BABU LAL.

I L R. 43 All. 614

s. 326 (4)—Suit for establishment of title and injunction—Notice—Suit filed before expiration of prescribed time. The Municipal Board of Benares in June, 1916, served notice on the plaintiff requiring him to remove a certain chabutra which, it was alleged, encroached on a public way. The plaintiff replied by giving the Board notice of a suit in which the reliefs to be claimed were (i) a declaration of the plaintiff's title to the land upon which the chabutra stood and (ii) an injunction restraining the Board from ordering its demolition. The suit was, however, filed before the expiration of the period of two months provided for by s. 326 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916. Upon objection taken by the Board as to want of a proper notice, the plaintiff amended his plaint, but still left the suit as a suit which asked for further relief than a bare injunction, and which therefore could not come within the exception provided for by cl. (4) of s. 326; Held, that the suit could not

UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (U. P. ACT II OF 1916)—contd.

s. 326 (4)—contd.

be maintained. MUNICIPAL BOARD OF BENARES v. GAJADHAR (1918).

I L R. 41 All. 162

Suit to obtain refund of octroi duty—Limitation. Held, that the special rule of limitation laid down by cl. (3) of s. 326 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916, applies to a suit against a municipal board wherein the plaintiff claims refund of octroi duty which the board has refused to pay him. MASHAN LAL v. THE MUNICIPAL BOARD OF AGRA.

I L R. 42 All. 207

UNITED PROVINCES PREVENTION OF ADULTERATION ACT (VI OF 1912)

ss. 4, 6—Commission agent exposing adulterated article of food for sale. Held, that a commission agent who exposed for sale (but did not sell adulterated ghy was liable to punishment under s. 4 of the United Provinces Prevention of Adulteration Act, 1912, and could not prevent the benefit of s. 6 of the Act. EMPEROR v KEDAR NATH (1915).

I L R. 40 All. 661

UNITED PROVINCES PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (I OF 1917).

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT III OF 1867, ss. 3 AND 10.

I L R. 42 All. 470

UNITED PROVINCES RENT ACT (XII OF 1891)

See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCE AND OUDH RENT ACT. I L R. 41 All. 368

UNITED PROVINCES TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901).

See AGRA TENANCY ACT.

UNITY OF OBJECT.

See MISJOINDER. I L R. 42 Calc. 760

UNIVERSITIES ACT (VIII OF 1904).

See INDIAN UNIVERSITIES ACT.

See UNIVERSITY LECTURERSHIP.

I L R. 41 Calc. 518

ss. 21 (1) (c) and (f), 25 (1) and 2 (m)—

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (VOM ACT III OF 1889), ss. 140 (c) 143 (f) (c) AND (2) (d). I L R. 43 Bom. 281

s. 25 and regulations thereunder—cheating at examination—disqualified student—not competent to sue the University. Held, that the Senate of a University is under s. 25 of the Indian Universities Act empowered to make rules disqualifying a candidate, who cheats at an examination, from passing it and from appearing at any University examination for a period of two years from the date of his disqualification, and that a candidate against whom the rule has been enforced has no remedy of Civil action against the University. In the matter of Darasda Fustemji, (I L R. 23 Bom. 465), distinguished TARAJI ARJUN v. UNIVERSITY OF THE PENJAB.

I L R. 2 Lah. 197

UNIVERSITY LECTURESHIP.

Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 43—Universities Act (VIII of 1904)—Appointments to Professorships and Lectureships in the University of Calcutta—Provisional appointment—Sanction by Governor General in Council—If remedy lies against refusal to sanction—Mandamus—University Regulations Chap. XI, s. 12 The five conditions laid down in the proviso to s. 43 of the Specific Relief Act are cumulative and all have to be fulfilled. The Senate of the University is only bound by its Resolutions. It cannot be held bound by representations, made by any individual officer without the sanction or authority of the University. Where a person deals with a corporation whose rights are defined by statute, he must be deemed to have informed himself of those rights. In this case the Resolution of the Senate cannot be interpreted as having appointed the applicant without the sanction of the Governor General, or even that it was intended to appoint him without such sanction. No legal right can be said to exist because the petitioner had lectured the previous year. A rule cannot be granted to try the title to an appointment. Such title can only be tried in a properly constituted suit. The existence of a legal right is the foundation of every writ of mandamus. The principle underlying the jurisdiction in these cases is that the proceedings can confer no title not already existing though they may affect the consummation of the relator's title if he had one, but it gives him none. Whether the sanction required under s. 12, Chapter XI of the University Regulations for the appointment of a University lecturer is ultra vires or not, cannot be determined in summary proceedings of this nature. The personal right referred to in s. 43 of the Specific Relief Act is not a right in rem, such as every human being in civilized society possesses independently of any act of his own. The above statement in In re Rasool Jamshed Irani, 3 Bom. L. R. 633 dissonant from. He alone is a competent relator who has some interest other than that of the community at large in the question to be tried. York & North Midland Railway Co. v. The Queen, 1 El. & B. 558 and Ex parte Browning in re Marks L. R. 9 Ch. App. 593 discussed in re Abdul Rasool (1913).

I L. R. 41 Calc. 518

UNIVERSITY OF MADRAS

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877)
s. 43 I L. R. 40 Mad. 125

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS

Chap. XI, s. 12—
See UNIVERSITY LECTURESHIP
I L. R. 41 Calc. 518

UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY

See JUDGMENT OF APPELLATE COURT,
CONTENTS OF I L. R. 37 Calc. 194

UNLAWFUL RECRUITMENT.

See EMIGRATION I L. R. 37 Calc. 27

UNLIQUIDATED DAMAGES

See EX PARTE DEBEN
I L. R. 43 Calc. 1001

UNNECESSARY MATTER.

printing of—
See COSTS L. R. 48 L. A. 299

UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT

1. Pleader as litigant—Letter to Munsif threatening legal proceedings to recover costs in execution proceedings incurred owing to the negligence of the Court officer—Legal Practitioners Act (XVIII of 1879), ss. 13 (b) and 14—Anonymous communication—Contempt of Court Where a pleader who was a decree holder in a certain suit associated himself with his co-decree holder in a notice to the Munsif threatening legal proceedings to recover costs in an execution proceeding incurred owing to the negligence of the Court officers though the pleader did not sign the notice: Held that what was done by the pleader was done by an individual in the capacity of a sutor in respect of his supposed rights as a sutor and of an imaginary injury done to him as a sutor and it had no connection whatever with his professional character or anything done by him professionally, and that this case was not one within s. 13 (b) of the Legal Practitioners Act. In re Wallace L. R. 1 P. C. 283 in the matter of Jogendra Narayan Bose, 5 C. B. N. 48, in re a Pleader, 13 Mad. L. J. 16 in the matter of a first grade Pleader 1 L. R. 24 Mad. 17, and in the matter of Sarat Chandra Guha 4 C. B. N. 663 referred to. In re POORNA CHANDRA ADHY (1915) I L. R. 43 Calc. 685

2. Unprofessional conduct—Ruler as to receiving instructions and accepting vakalatnamas, compliance with Judge's duty to enforce compliance and take disciplinary measures on breach—One pleader appearing for another—Practice—Court to be informed Where a pleader who was charged with having filed a petition for revival of a suit without authority alleged in defence that he had been instructed to appear by a clerk of the Maktear of the party, and that it had been (erroneously) represented to him that the vakalatnama filed in the original suit contained his name: Held that the pleader had acted in contravention of s. 13 (a) of the Legal Practitioners Act in the matter of receiving instructions. That even if the vakalatnama did contain the pleader's name, mere verbal acceptance of it would not be in compliance with cl. (e) of s. 43 Ch. XI, of the High Court's General Rules and Circular Orders. Where a pleader appears for another pleader who is unable at the moment to attend Court, he ought to let the Court know that he is so appearing. Per RICHARDSON, J. The rule in regard to the acceptance of vakalatnamas should be strictly and scrupulously observed in the Subordinate Courts. In connection with the enforcement of the rules, it is always open to a Judge to refuse to hear a pleader or to refuse to allow a pleader to act who has not accepted a vakalatnama in the prescribed manner. It is also the duty of the Judge to take such action as may be appropriate, in regard to infractions of the rule which escape notice at the time and are brought to light subsequently. In the matter of JOONAH CHANDRA GUPTA (1913) 20 C. W. N. 283

3. Pleader—Altering Court's record to conceal error due to carelessness Where a property to be sold in execution of a decree was, through the carelessness of the pleader for the decree holder and his clerk, misdescribed in the application for execution, in the warrant of attachment and in the sale proclamation, and after they had been presented to Court, the clerk actuated by a desire to conceal his and his master's carelessness from the decree holder altered the descriptions and the alterations were initialled by the pleader: Held (ordering the pleader's suspension for three months), that to tamper with the Court's records is at all times a serious matter, and the pleader had acted without due care and caution and without that sense of responsibility which should govern the conduct of all officers of the Court in matters of such importance. In the matter of A PLEADER (1918)

UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT—contd.

20 C. W. N. 1069

UNREASONABLE DELAY.

See COSTS . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 974

UNRECORDED CONFESSIONS.

See MISDIRECTION.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 557

UNREGISTERED DOCUMENT.

See LIMITATION . L. R. 46 I. A. 285

See REGISTRATION

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 54
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 55UNSETTLED PALAYAM.

*Alienability of, for debts of holder for the time being—Lands held on service tenure, alienability of—Enfranchisement of service tenure, effect of, on alienation, prior and subsequent—Regulation XXV of 1802, effect of—Private Police service, abolition of, by legislation—Military service, imposition of, on landed proprietors—Abolition of—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sec 11, Arts 120, 112 and 114—Madras Regulation XI of 1816—Madras Regulation VI of 1831—Madras District Police Act XXIV of 1859—Madras Act III of 1895 Lands held on service tenure are, even apart from statute, inalienable by the Common Law of India beyond the life-time of the holder for the time being Papaya v Ramana, I L R 7 Mad 85, and Pattam Pillay v Setharama Vadhyar, 14 Mad L J 134, followed Abolition of service prior to the alienation renders the alienation valid. Kutuvora Koomuree v Venohur Deo (1864), 1 R 39, Raojiyaras bin Tamapirav v Balharatav Venkatesh, I L R 5 Bom 437, and Radhakrishna and Ramachandra Konher v Anantav Bhagavat Deshapande, I L R 9 Bom. 198, 212, followed Enfranchisement of the land from service subsequent to an alienation thereof will not validate the alienation. Padapa v Swamirao, I L R 24 Bom 556, and Sannamma v Radhakrishna, I L R 41 Mad 418, followed An unsettled palayam in the Presidency of Madras resembles a zamindari, is hereditary in its character and is alienable for the debts of the previous holders and of the holder for the time being, so as to bind the successors. The only difference between an unsettled palayam and a permanently settled zamindari is that in the latter the Government is precluded for ever from raising the revenue, and in the former the Government may or may not have that power Oolagappa Chetty v Arbutnot, L R 11 A 263, 306, followed Held, on a review of the facts of the case, that the*

UNSETTLED PALAYAM—contd.

palayam of Kannivadi in Madras district which was permanently settled in 1905 and which was in the eighteenth century liable to render military and police service to the Government of the day, was as a fact unconditionally released from such services prior to 1895 and that accordingly a mortgage executed by the grandfather and father of the present zemindar in 1895 for debts incurred by the grandfather prior to that date and a decree and a Court sale held to satisfy the mortgage debt were binding upon the present zemindar and precluded him from recovering the zemindari from the auction purchaser That the East India Company had by its Proclamations of 1799 and 1801 suppressed military service once imposed on landed proprietors in Southern India and police service similarly imposed was abolished pursuant to Regulation XXV of 1802, Regulation XI of 1816, Act XXIV of 1859, Act XVII of 1862 and Madras Act III of 1895 Regulation VI of 1831 which restrained the alienation of all public service lands is only partially repealed and replaced by Act III of 1895, as services other than those of village officers had become long ago obsolete. Quære Whether if the plaintiff's father had debarred himself from suing, art 120 of the Limitation Act was the article applicable in which case the plaintiff would not be barred. MIRKAPUR ZEMINDARI COMPANY v APPAYASAMI NAICKER (1918) . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 749
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 576

USAGE.

See CUSTOM

See OCCUPANCY RIGHT

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 43

See USAGE OF THE PROFESSION

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 741

*Usage, evidence of—Admissibility—Adding to the terms of a written contract—Repugnancy—Whether such usage makes the contract inalienable, inconsistent or unreasonable—Due date falling on a Sunday—Contract if may be performed on Monday following—European importer Evidence of well known trade usage is admissible to add to the terms of a written contract when such usage does not make the written contract inalienable, or inconsistent or unreasonable. In a contract, to which both parties were Indians, for the sale of piece goods imported by a European firm, the due date fell on a Sunday Held, that according to the well known usage in the market the due date would be the Monday following KASHIRAM PANIA v HERNUND ROY FULCHAND.
26 C. W. N. 355*

Held that various words in written documents which prima facie present no ambiguity may be interpreted by extrinsic evidence of usage and their peculiar meaning when found in connection with the subject matter of the transaction fixed by parole evidence. RAJA JOTE KUMAR MUKERJEE v JADUNATH ROSE.
26 C. W. N. 1022

USAGE OF THE PROFESSION.

See BARRISTER I. L. R. 44 Calc. 741

USER.

See TRADE MARK I. L. R. 40 Calc. 570

See USING AS ORIGINER A FORGED DOCUMENT . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 463

USING FALSE TRADE MARK.

See TRADE MARK I L R. 40 Calc. 281

USING FORGED DOCUMENT.

See FORGERY I L R. 38 Calc. 75

Handing over of a forged rent-receipt by accused, in the course of a criminal trial, to his mukhtar.—Examination by the mukhtar of a witness thereon.—Receipt filed by the Magistrate with the record though not proved.—Grant of sanction to landlord's agent not a party to the criminal case.—Sanction by successor of Magistrate before whom the forged document was used.—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 471.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1893), s 195. Where the accused, during the course of a criminal trial against him of rioting and theft of crops, handed over to his mukhtar a forged rent receipt, bearing a counterfeit seal of the landlord, to prove his possession, and the latter put the same to a witness and questioned to him as to its genuineness, but, on the witness alleging that it was a forgery, the trying Magistrate took it, initialed it and placed it on the record: Held, that there was a user of the document within s. 471 of the Penal Code. Ambica Prasad Singh v Emperor, I L R 35 Calc 820, distinguished. A sanction granted to the agent of the landlord whose seal was forged is valid, though neither was a party to the criminal case in which the forged document was used. A sanction granted by the successor of a Magistrate before whom the forged document was used is good in law. RATI JHA v EMPEROR (1911) I L R. 39 Calc 483

USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), ss 142, 199 I L R. 41 All. 369

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O XXXIV, r 14

I L R. 41 All. 399

See INTEREST I L R. 40 Calc 514

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R. 40 Calc. 870

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Sch. I, Art 109 I L R. 39 All. 200

See MORTGAGE

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I L R. 44 Calc. 573

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882—

ss. 65 AND 68 2 Pat. L. J. 490

ss 54, 118 I L R. 37 Mad. 423

ss. 58 (a) AND (d); 67, 68 (c).

I L R. 41 Mad. 259

S 83 I L R. 39 Mad. 579

construction of—

See MORTGAGE I L R. 44 Calc. 388

1. Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s 42.—Usufructuary mortgage—mortgages recorded as tenant—suit by mortgagor for declaration of right of redemption and that mortgagee is not a tenant. Where a usufructuary mortgagee of land had himself recorded as the tenant of the land covered by the mortgage: Held, in a suit by the mortgagor (i) for a declaration that the defendant was not a tenant of the land, and (ii) for a declaration that the plaintiff was entitled to redeem the mortgage on re payment of the mortgage debt, that the plaintiff was entitled to the first declaration prayed for, but not to the second. A mortgagor is not entitled to a declaration of the terms on which he may redeem the mortgaged property when it is open to him to bring a suit for redemption of that property. RAM LOCH RAI v MAHANTH HARYAN DAS 3 Pat. L. J. 71

USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE—contd

2. Transfer of Property Act (II of 1882), s 67.—Usufructuary mortgage—Debt payable within a fixed period—Expiry of the period—Mortgagee's right to an order for sale. Where under a usufructuary mortgage the mortgage debt is made payable within a fixed period, the mortgage is not purely a usufructuary mortgage and the mortgagee has, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, the right to an order under s 67 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) that the property be sold after the debt has become payable. Mahadaji v Joti, I L R 17 Bom. 425, and Arashina v Hori, 10 Bom. L. R 615, explained. DATTABHAT RAMBHAT v KRISHNABHAT (1910) I L R. 34 Bom 462

3. Turn of worship in a temple—Transfer of Property Act (II of 1882), s 59—Mortgage bond creating right to worship, whether requires attestation. A turn of worship is not an interest in immovable property. Therefore, an usufructuary mortgage bond creating an interest in a turn of worship does not require attestation by witnesses under s 59 of the Transfer of Property Act. Eshan Chander Roy v Monmohini Dasi, I L R 4 Calc 632, referred to. JATI KAR v MUKUNDA DEB (1911) I L R. 39 Calc. 227

4. Dispossession of mortgage by a stranger, adverse to mortgagor from the time of his knowledge. Where a trespasser dispossesses a mortgagee in possession and continues in possession asserting a title adverse to the mortgagor also, such dispossession will be adverse to the mortgagor from the time the mortgagor has knowledge of the assertion (though he may not be then entitled according to the terms of the mortgage to recover possession from the mortgagee). The onus is on the trespasser to prove not only that he asserted a right adverse to the mortgagor but also that the latter knew it. PERIYA AITA ANBALAM v SHUNMOGASUNDARAM (1913) I L R. 38 Mad. 903

5. Lease of mortgaged property by mortgagee to mortgagor—Sale of equity of redemption to a third party in execution of a decree for arrears of rent—Liability of the kistadar for rent. Defendant, being the owner of a zemindari share, made a usufructuary mortgage of it in favour of the plaintiff. On the same date the plaintiff executed a lease of the same property for the term of the mortgage. Defendant fell into arrears with his rent, and plaintiff sued him and obtained a decree, in execution of which he brought to sale defendant's equity of redemption under the mortgage and it was purchased by a third party; the purchaser, however, did not obtain mutation of names in his favour. Held, on a fresh suit brought by the lessor for arrears of rent accruing due since the sale of the equity of redemption, that the defendant was still liable for payment of rent as the kistadar. MITRAN LAL v CHHAJU SINGH (1918) I L R. 40 All. 429

VAKALATNAMA—contd

tion placed on the same in the answers to the several references made to this Court. It must be fully complied with by the pleader who first accepts the vakalatnama and all subsequent acceptances must be made by endorsements made in the presence of the Court or the Shriekadar, or the Bench officer and dated, provided of course all the pleaders so accepting a vakalatnama are named in it. Courts in the mofussil must be specially careful in enforcing this rule in cases of compromise and withdrawal of cases and withdrawal of money and documents. PER BRACHBORTH J.—There can be no acceptance by the pleader other than in writing. But if this Court has, in the exercise of its powers, framed certain rules which must be observed by pleaders a pleader who does not conform to those rules, ought not to be heard. Quere. Whether after the first endorsement by a pleader accepting a vakalatnama, a mere endorsement of acceptance by those appearing on the strength of the original vakalatnama at subsequent stages of the case is sufficient. MANISH CHANDRA ADDY v PANCHU MUDALI (1915)

I L R 43 Cal 834

Containing name of pleader who does not endorse and accept it—Whether the pleader can act—Vakalatnama authorizing pleader to withdraw or give up claim of Plaintiff and to do all acts on behalf of Plaintiff—Whether Plaintiff would be bound by the pleader placing a Defendant on special oath and agreeing that his client should be bound by the answers—Indian Oaths Act (X of 1873) ss 8 and 9. One of the Plaintiffs in a suit for recovery of money died and her heirs were substituted in her place. On behalf of the original plaintiffs three pleaders A, B and C were engaged. The substituted plaintiffs presented a second vakalatnama on which only two junior pleaders B and C made a formal endorsement of acceptance though it contained the name of A also. Held, that as senior pleader of the three, to A was entrusted the management of the case on behalf of all the plaintiffs. The two vakalatnamas were similar in terms and authorized the pleaders, amongst other things, to withdraw the suit or to give up the claim of the Plaintiffs to cite and examine witnesses or to refuse to examine the same and provided that all acts done by the pleaders for the benefit of their clients would be accepted by the parties as their own acts. At the hearing the Plaintiff No. 1 was examined and he stated that he and other Plaintiffs would be bound by the answers given to certain questions by Defendant No. 2 on the said Defendant taking a special oath in the manner provided under ss 8 and 9 of the Indian Oaths Act. Thereupon the senior pleader A presented an application on behalf of all the Plaintiffs offering this special oath to Defendant No. 2 and agreeing on their behalf to be bound by the answers given by the said Defendant to the questions set forth in his application. The Defendant No. 2 was therefore examined on special oath and he answered the questions. Upon this the Plaintiffs declined to examine any further witnesses and accordingly the suit as a whole was dismissed. On appeal the District Judge set aside the decree of the lower Court in so far as it related to Plaintiffs other than Plaintiff No. 1. Held—That the powers given to the pleader were very wide and when the vakalatnamas authorized him even to withdraw the suit or to give up the claim of the plaintiffs, the authority given and the words used were comprehensive enough to include also the step taken by the pleader in placing one of the defendants on special oath and agreeing that his clients should be bound by the answers given by the witness on such oath. MANISH CHANDRA ADDY v PANCHU MUDALI. 24 C W. N 385

VAKALATNAMA—concl

VAKIL.

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT

I L R 40 Mad. 69

— duty and status of—

See HIGH COURT JURISDICTION OF

I L R 44 Bom. 418

— power of, to enter into compromise—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XXIII, s 3 AND s 96 (5)

I L R 41 Mad 233

— Right of audience in references under s 51 of Income Tax Act—

See INCOME TAX ACT s 2

25 C W. N 80

Vakil's right to appear before a Judge sitting on the Original Side of the High Court—Application to file warrant of attorney—Extraordinary Civil Jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s 635—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss 119, 129. A vakil of the High Court applied before a Judge sitting on the Original Side of the Court, claiming a right to file a warrant of attorney in respect of a suit pending before the Madras District Court, in which a rule had been issued calling upon the plaintiffs to show cause why the suit should not be transferred to the High Court in its Extraordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction. Held, that having regard to the long-continued course of practice during which vakils never appeared on the hearing of such applications, the present application should be refused. Held, further, that the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 has nothing to do with a matter governed by old rules in force before 1909. In re A VAKIL'S APPLICATION (1910)

I L R 37 Cal. 853

Vakil, right of audience of, at hearing of application against order of Presidency Small Cause Court refusing sanction to prosecute, before Division Bench appointed for the purpose. An application for sanction to prosecute the plaintiffs was rejected by the Judge of the Court of Small Causes at Calcutta who tried the suit. Against this the defendants applied to the Judge of the High Court sitting on the Original Side who remanded the matter to the trial court. On an appeal under the Letters Patent the order of remand was set aside and the application was remitted to a divisional bench appointed for the purpose, for disposal. At the hearing, the opposite party was represented by a vakil. Held, PER TRENCHARD, J. (CHAUDHURY, J. dissenting), that the vakil had the right of audience. PER TRENCHARD, J.—That the Presidency Small Cause Court is an inferior or subordinate court and in dealing with its judgments or orders the High Court is a superior court exercising not original but appellate or revisional jurisdiction from this and the provisions of s. 4 of the Legal Practitioners Act it follows that the vakil was entitled to be heard. Per CHAUDHURI, J.—That the power of superintendence, direction and control which was possessed by the Supreme Court over the Presidency Small Cause Court appertains to the Original Side of the High Court and all such powers when exercised by the Original Side are exercised in its Original Jurisdiction within the meaning of s 4 of the Legal Practitioners Act. BUDHU LAL v CHAITU GORE (1917)

VAKIL—contd

21 C W. N. 654

Right of audience in references under s 51 of the Income Tax Act 1918 established. MAHARAJA BIRENDRAKISHOR MANI KAYA RAHADUR v SECRETARY OF STATE

25 C W. N. 80

Suit on the Original Side of the High Court—Fees, non payment of—Duty of vakil to take necessary steps in the suit—Written statement not filed in time—Refusal of vakil to file, because his fees was not paid—Refusal of vakil to consent to transfer of case to another vakil—Application for change of vakil—Order of Court—Delay in filing written statement whether excusable—Rules of Practice, Original Side of the High Court rule 48

A vakil engaged in a suit on the Original Side of the High Court is not entitled to refuse to take a necessary step in the suit, on the ground that his own fees had not been paid and at the same time refuse his consent to a change of vakil to another vakil. Delay in filing a written statement within the time fixed by the rules of the High Court caused by such refusal on the part of the vakil on the record was excused. MUTHU KRISHNA LACHENDRAI v URSE (1921)

I L R 44 Mad 978

VALATDANA PATTA

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s 63

I L R 38 Bom. 249

VALIDITY OF WAKF

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

L R 44 I. A. 21

VALUABLE CONSIDERATION

See LIMITATION I L R 43 Calc 34

VALUABLE SECURITY

See PENAL CODE s 30 AND 47

3 Pat L J 338

Title page of account book—Scindle: A title page in an account book containing the names of the partners and the amount of the capital contributed by each is, if signed by them, a "valuable security" within 30 of the Penal Code. HARI CHARAN GORAI v GINISH CHANDRA SADRUKHAN (1910)

I L R 38 Calc 68

VALUATION OF APPEAL

See APPEAL

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

I L R 44 Calc 119

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 110

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1878), s 7,

CL (f) I L R 39 Mad. 725

VALUATION OF APPEAL—contd

See PRIVY COUNCIL

14 C W. N. 651, 672

See SUITS, VALUATION ACT

Court fees Act (VII of 1870), s 6, Sch I, Art 1, and Sch 11, Art 17 cl (8)—Valuation of appeal when no amount claimed, but liability of certain properties disputed—Memo randum of appeal—Taxing Officer—Acceptance of court fee by Deputy Registrar, finality of Where the appellant in an appeal against a mortgage decree does not dispute the amount decreed but raises the question of the liability of certain properties, the value of the appeal for the purpose of the court fees is the value of such properties. Sch II, Art 17, cl (8) of the Court fees Act (VII of 1870) has no application to such a case. Kesava rapu Ramakrishna Pedda v Kotta Koda Reddi, I L R 30 Mad 96 Bunwari Lal v Daya Sualar Maseer, 13 C W N 815 referred to. A memorandum of appeal was admitted by the Deputy Registrar of the High Court and no question was raised as to the sufficiency of the court fees. At the hearing of the appeal, it was objected on behalf of the respondents that the court fee was insufficient. Held, that there having been no decision under s 5 of the Act by the Taxing Officer who was the Registrar of the High Court, it was open to the respondents to raise the objection at the hearing of the appeal. Kesava Chetti v Deputy Collector, Bellary I L R 21 Mad 269, referred to. JOGAL KISHAN SINGH v PARBHU NARAIN JHA (1910)

I L R 37 Calc 914

VALUATION OF LAND

See ASSESSMENT I L R 42 Bom 692

See LAND ACQUISITION

I L R 41 Calc 967

I L R 33 All 733

See MUNICIPAL ASSESSMENT

I L R 39 Calc 141

See MUNICIPALITY

I L R 40 Calc 784

See RESUMPTION OF LAND

I L R 42 Bom 658

VALUATION OF RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY

Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894)—Compensation—Valuation of residential property—Elements to be considered—Evidence before Acquisition Officer—Practice The income of a property whether actual or imaginary is no doubt one of the recognised starting points for a valuation, but it is a mistake to think that it is the only element to be taken into consideration. In the case of residential property to endeavour to arrive at the market value solely on the basis of an hypothetical rent, may work grave injustice to the owner. There are commodities which may possess a value in the market not for the return they give on capital invested but for the advantages and enjoyment which accrue from their possession. Residential property—in the sense of property which a purchaser wishes to acquire for his own residence—is such a commodity. The first question to determine is whether there is a demand and if there is a demand the original cost is the most important element for consideration. It is the duty of legal practitioners attending before the Acquisition Officer to assist him in arriving at a valuation by putting before him all the information and materials at their disposal. In the matter of LAND ACQUISITION ACT In the matter of GOVERNMENT AND SUBHANAND (1909)

VALUATION OF RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY

—contd

I L R 34 Bom 486

VALUATION OF SUIT

See ADMINISTRATION SUIT

I L R 44 Calc 890

See ADOPTION I L R 37 Calc 860

See APPEAL 14 C W N 343

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908,

s 115 I L R 39 All 723

O XXI, s 63 I L R 39 All 72

s 68 I L R 40 All 505

See COURT FEE

See COURT FEES ACT (VII of 1870)

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT (III of 1873) ss. 12, 13

I L R 39 Mad 447

See MORTGAGE I L R 37 Mad 420

See PLAINT I L R 48 Calc 110

See SUITS VALUATION ACT

—For purpose of Privy Council Appeal

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 s 110

I L R 2 Lah 297

—suit to enforce right to share in joint family property

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 2

I L R 2 Lah 114

—suit for injunction—

See COURT FEES ACT (VII of 1870) s.

7 (iv) (a) I L R 45 Bom 567

1 —Valuation in plaint contested—

Duty of court—to decide correct valuation suit for declaration method of valuation—Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887) s 11 If the valuation of a suit put in the plaint for the purpose of jurisdiction is contested it is the duty of the court to decide what the correct valuation is. In a suit for a declaration the value of the suit for the purpose of jurisdiction must be the value of the property in respect of which the declaration is sought. MOHINI MOHAY MISSEY v GOVIND CHANDRA RA

5 Pat L J 337

2 —Partition suit—Basis of valuation, for jurisdiction. The value of a suit for partition for the purpose of jurisdiction is the value of the share claimed by the plaintiff and not the value of the whole property of which partition is sought. DUKHI SINGH v HARDWAR SINGH

5 Pat L J 540

3. —Suit to set aside adoption—

Forum—Practice According to a long-standing practice, a suit to set aside an adoption is, for the purpose of jurisdiction, incapable of valuation and it is competent to the plaintiff in such a suit to value the relief claimed, and that valuation determines the forum to decide the suit. Akemannappa Bhu v Mahomed Hafeez, I L R 31 Calc 849 commented on Jan Mahomed Mandal v Masbar Bhu, I L R 34 Calc 352, referred to. PRABHU CHANDRA DAS v DWARKA NATH GHOSH (1910)

I L R 37 Calc 860

VALUATION OF SUIT—contd.

4 —Suit for possession of land and mesne profits—Value changed in the course of the suit—Appeal to the District Court heard and entertained at earlier stage on the basis of original valuation—Application for assessment of the mesne profits—Total claim beyond District Court's appellate jurisdiction—Objection as to jurisdiction not taken in District Court—Objection, if may be taken in High Court by way of appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 99—Appeal, if lies—Jurisdiction, objection to, waiver of—Return of memorandum of appeal—Presentation in proper Court out of time—Limitation Act (IX of 1908) s 6—Costs A suit for recovery of land with mesne profits instituted in the Court of a Subordinate Judge was originally valued at Rs 2,100 Rs 1,23 for the land and Rs 375 as the approximate amount of mesne profits for three years antecedent to the suit. The suit was decreed by the Subordinate Judge and the decree affirmed on appeal by the District Judge. Plaintiff thereafter appealed for assessment of mesne profits valuing his claim at Rs 7549. The Subordinate Judge having allowed only Rs 902 the plaintiff appealed to the District Judge valuing his claim in the memorandum of appeal at Rs 2728; his appeal was allowed whilst the defendant a cross appeal against the Subordinate Judge's decree for Rs 902 was dismissed. The defendant appealed to the High Court inter alia on the ground that the appeal to the District Judge was incompetent; Held that the real value of the suit was Rs 5415 (Rs 1795 and Rs 902 and Rs 2728) and the appeal from the order of the Subordinate Judge lay to the High Court and not to the District Judge. That the defendant was not precluded from raising the question of jurisdiction on appeal by the fact that he had omitted to take exception to the District Judge's jurisdiction in his Court and had himself filed a cross objection. The principle that parties cannot by consent or by stipulation invest a Court with jurisdiction is applicable to cases wherein the jurisdiction is dependent upon the value of the subject matter in controversy. Merrill v Petty 16 Wallace 338 relied on. Where there is a total want of jurisdiction over the subject matter in controversy the objection cannot be waived. In re Aymer, 20 Q B D 238, Jones v Owen, 5 D & L 669 18 L J Q B 3, Mayor of London v Cox L R 2 H L 219 relied on. That an appeal to the High Court lay against the decree made without jurisdiction by the District Judge. Where jurisdiction is usurped by a Court in passing an order against which an appeal would lie if it had been passed with jurisdiction, an appeal against the order cannot be defeated on the ground that the order was made without jurisdiction. Bandeewars Charan v Lakpat Bhat 14 C W N 724. That the principle that no appeal lies where the Court has been constituted an arbitrator by the parties had no application to the present case. The High Court directed the memorandum of appeal to the District Judge to be returned for presentation in the High Court, but as the memorandum of appeal was already in the High Court it was ordered that the memorandum be treated as presented in the High Court on that date and it was ordered in the exercise by the High Court of its discretion under s 5, Limitation Act, that the time between the presentation of the appeal in the District Judge's Court and the order for return made by the High

VALUATION OF SUIT—contd.

Court be deducted. As the objection to jurisdiction was not raised before the lower Appellate Court, each party was directed to pay his own costs. Ramji Muska v Ramadon Singh (1912) 41 C. W. N. 110

5. — Investigation as to amount of value of subject-matter of suit—Competence of Court of first instance to remit investigation of dispute to some other officer—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O XLII, s 5—Practice II 5, O XLV of the Code of Civil Procedure does not empower the Court of first instance, to remit the investigation as to amount or value of subject-matter of suit to some other officer, it must be carried out by that Court. Hanuman Jha v Hanuzi Jha (1915) . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 225

6. — Suit for declaration of title without consequential relief—Court Fees Act (I of 1870), s 44 II, 17 (iii)—Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887), s 8—Objection to jurisdiction not taken in first court—Illegal and misconceived practice of valuing suit. The plaintiff (respondent) brought a suit against the appellant for movable and immovable property and by one of whom he claimed to be the adopted son. The property was stated in the plaint to exceed Rs. 60,000 and to be in the hands of the Collector (with the exception of a house worth Rs. 250) at the instance of the appellant, who claimed to be the nearest heir of the deceased. The plaint prayed for a declaration (valued at Rs. 150) of the respondent's title, and for an injunction (valued at Rs. 5) to prevent obstruction by the appellant to the property in the respondent's possession. The appellant denied the adoption, but he made no objection either in his written statement or in his memorandum of appeal to the District or the High Court to the jurisdiction of the First Class Subordinate Judge to try the suit. That Court decided the suit in favour of the respondent. From that decision the appellant appealed both to the District Judge and to the High Court, and the latter appeal stood over until the former had been decided by the District Judge who on the ground that the valuation of the suit was less than Rs. 5,000 reversed the decision of the First Court and made a decree in favour of the appellant, but that decree was reversed on appeal to the High Court by the respondent, and it was held that the appeal lay not to the District Judge but to the High Court which then heard the appellant's appeal from the original decision of the First Class Subordinate Judge and affirmed his decision. By order in Council leave was granted to the appellant for a special appeal to his Majesty in Council, on the hearing of which the appellant raised the contention that the value of the subject-matter of the suit was a sum not exceeding Rs. 5,000 and, therefore the decision of the First Class Subordinate Judge had been without jurisdiction, and the appeal to the High Court was not competent. Held, that the value of the subject-matter of the suit exceeded Rs. 5,000 and it was rightly instituted in the Court of the First Class Subordinate Judge in the exercise of his special jurisdiction, and the appeal from his decision properly lay to the High Court. If any part of the Court fee payable and paid was a fixed fee under s 2 of the Court Fees Act the national value of the property could not displace its real value for the purposes of jurisdiction.

VALUATION OF SUIT—contd.

The objection of the appellant to the First Class Subordinate Judge not having been raised in his Court could not be made at any subsequent stage of the suit. A practice of valuing a prayer for a declaratory decree at Rs. 150 as being the value on which the fee nearest to Rs. 10 would be leviable deprecated as being illegal and misconceived. It was contrary to the scheme of the Court Fees Act that there should be any valuation of such a suit. Hachappa Srinao v Sridatta Venkatarao (1918) . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 507

VALUE OF PROPERTY.

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 119

See VALUATION OF LAND.

See VALUATION OF SUIT

VALUE-PAYABLE POST.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 20

I. L. R. 42 All. 619

See POST OFFICE ACT (VI of 1898), s 63.

Id. Id. . I. L. R. 32 Mad. 322

VARTHAMANAM (OR LETTER).

Not stamped—Unconditional undertaking to pay—Promissory note in admissible in evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 91—Suit on original liability not maintainable. A Varthamanam or letter which says, "Amount of cash borrowed of you by me is Rs. 350. I shall in two weeks' time returning this sum of rupees three hundred and fifty with interest thereon at the rate of Rupee one per cent. per month, get back this letter," amounts to an unconditional undertaking to repay borrowed money and is therefore a promissory note and not merely an offer to borrow or an acknowledgment of indebtedness. Iharata Puharadi v Vasdevrao Nambedi, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 1 distinguished. Tirupathi Goundan v Rama Reddi, I. L. R. 21 Mad. 49, doubted. When such a document is inadmissible for want of a stamp, to allow a suit as one on "account for money had and received," concerning the real contract of loan which had been reduced to the form of a document would nullify s 91 of the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872). Pethi Reddi v Lalayudhanon, I. L. R. 20 Mad. 94, followed. Chinnappa Pillai v Muthayyan Chettiar, 9 Mad. L. T. 287, and Mallaya v Ramappa, 21 Mad. L. J. 462, approved. Ariyakudi v Rajmal I. L. R. 24 Bom. 360 and Pai Aitha Das v Sahaj Ram, 16 I. C. 33 disavowed from. Doctrines of English Courts of Equity are not to be imported into the construction of such a document. Per BREXEN, J.—The mere use of the word varthamanam, instead of promissory note, will not deprive the document of its real character of promissory note if its terms show that it is such. MURBU SASTRIAL v VISWANATHA PANDYA, RASANTHABAI (1913) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 680

VATAN.

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT, (Bom Act III of 1874), s 15.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 237

See DEKKAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s 2, EXPL. (b)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 151

VATAN—contd

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM III OF 1874)—

s. 2 . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 323

ss. 4, 53. . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 677

s. 11 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 37

ss. 23, 30, 63 and 61

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 23

See HINDU LAW—HEREDITANCE

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 321

See INAM LANDS I. L. R. 38 Bom. 272

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, s. 22, 28

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 91

See LIMITATION ACT (IN OF 1908), SCR. I.

ART 152 . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 378

See RES JUDICATA

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 224

See SANAD, CONSTRUCTION OF

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 639

See VATAN DESHMUKHI.

—Mortgage of Vatan lands—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908 s. 20

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 300

1. ————Regulation XVI of 1837—Transfer of Property Act (1 of 1882), s. 43—Deshgat Vatan—Mortgage—Subsequent enlargement of the mortgagor's estate—Private property—Mortgagee's claim to hold the property against the mortgagor's heir. A mortgagee of Deshgat Vatan knew that the property which was mortgaged to him was land appertenant to an hereditary office and inalienable beyond the life time of the incumbent. Subsequently to the mortgage the estate of the mortgagor was enlarged so as to be alienable in the life time of the holder. After the enlargement, the mortgagee having claimed to hold the property against the heir of the mortgagor. Held, that the mortgagee took only such estate as the holder of the Vatan property was capable of conveying to the mortgagee at the time of the mortgage and that the mortgagee could not claim to retain the property in virtue of the mortgage after the death of the mortgagor. GANGABAI v. BASWANT (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 175

2. ————Patilki Vatan—Court-sale of the vatan lands in execution of decrees against holder of vatan—Levy of full assessment by Collector—Character of vatan land not changed by the levy—Suit by next holder of vatan within twelve years of the death of his predecessor—Limitation. The plaintiff's father held the land in dispute as patilki vatan which were sold in 1875 to the defendant at a Court-sale held in execution of a decree. The Collector thereupon levied full assessment on the land and assigned the assessment for remuneration for service. The plaintiff's father died in 1904. In 1909 the plaintiff brought a suit against the defendant to recover possession of the land. The lower Courts dismissed the suit on the grounds that the land had ceased to be vatan and that the suit was brought beyond time. The plaintiff appealed. Held, that the land did not lose its character as vatan merely because the Collector levied full assessment and altered the mode of remuneration. Held, also, that the plaintiff's suit was in time since on the death of the plaintiff's father in 1903, the plaintiff became entitled to the land as the next holder of the vatan, and the defendant's interest in the land as the vendee of the right, title and interest of the plaintiff's father came to an end. SHIVRAM NARSINGRAO v. NARAYAN KULKARNI (1912)

VATAN—contd

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 81

3. ————Suit to recover a share in the profits of vatan—Suit for money had and received—Amount of the claim under Rs. 500—Small Cause Court nature—No second appeal. A suit for the recovery of a share in the profits of a Kulkarni vatan is a suit for money had and received by the defendant for the use of the plaintiff, and the claim being under Rs. 500, it was of a Small Cause nature in respect of which no second appeal lay. SHIKAJI HARI v. PADHANAJI (1913) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 700

VATANDAR

See CURATORS ACT, 1841, s. 3, 4, 14

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 115

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT, BOMBAY,

ss. 23, 26 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 101

s. 6 . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 420

—mortgage by—

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM III OF 1874), s. 5

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 537

—title against, by adverse possession—

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1874), ss. 10 AND 13

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 148

VATANDAR BARBERS

———A Vatandar Barber has the right to perform services as a barber, on ceremonial occasions. He is entitled to recover customary fees from another barber who has acted in violation of his rights. BRAGORI GANT v. BALU BALU . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 733

VATANDAR JOSHI.

———Right to officiate at marriages—Yajman—Ceremony in Pancha Lalas Lingayat form—Claim for fees in respect of part of the ceremonial in Hindu form—Ceremony cannot be split up. The question raised in this appeal was whether the ceremonials observed by Lingayets in marriages are to be regarded as a whole in deciding whether or not the village Gramopadhyas is entitled to perform the ceremony or whether the ceremony can be split up into parts, and if it is found that some part of the ceremonial is similar to the Brahmin ritual the Gramopadhyas can insist upon payment of fees in respect of such part of the ceremonial as may have been performed by an other. Held, that, if the ceremony performed was not a Hindu marriage ceremony as a whole the Joshi or Gramopadhyas had no right to demand the fees. PANGAPPA v. VENKATRAY (1915) I. L. R. 40 Bom. 112 ———Observance of non Brahminical ceremonies—Yajman himself performing the ceremonies—Right to recover fees. The defendants were non Brahmin residents of a village. Defendant No. 1's mother having died, he, with the assistance of defendant No. 2, performed over the body certain non Brahminical ceremonies. No fees were paid to the defendant No. 2 and the whole conduct of ceremonies was with the defendant No 1 himself. The plaintiff, a Vatandar Joshi of the village, having sued to recover damages for loss of his customary fees. Held that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover damages as the ceremonies performed were other than Brahmanical ceremonies and there was no ground upon which the plaintiff could lawfully exact the payment of his fees. Vithal Krishna Joshi v Anant Ramchandra 11 Bom H O R 6 Dinanath Abaji v Sadashiv Hari Madhavi 1 L R 3 Bom 9 Pajavilad Shiroga v Krishnabhat 1 L R 3 Bom 23, distinguished. BALA GENUJI v BALWANT LAXMAN (1918) 1 L R 42 Bom 613

VATANDAR JOSHI—contd

VEHICLE.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT POLICE ACT (BOM IV OF 1890) s 61, CL. (b)
1 L R 41 Bom 464

VENDEE.

— payment by—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss. 60 AND 91
1 L R 38 Mad 310

VENDOR

— liability of—

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER
1 L R 38 Cal. 458
Duty of vendee to protect vendee's title caveat emptor Where in a suit brought by a third party against a vendor and vendee of immovable property, the former admits the claimants title and the suit is decreed upon that admission he cannot in a subsequent suit for the recovery of the purchase money paid to him by the vendee plead that the former suit was wrongly decided. Per Imam J—In vernacular conveying the expression jak adf means a flawless title. BHATTA PAK v GANGA PRASAD GOPE 3 Pat L J 258

VENDOR AND PURCHASER

See AGREEMENT 1 L R 41 All 417
See CONTRACT 1 L R 35 All 325
See CONTRACT ACT 1872 s 65
1 L R 42 All 7
See LEASE 1 L R 42 Bom 103
See REVIEW 1 L R 40 Cal. 140
See SALE OF GOODS
See SALE OF IMMOVABLE PROPERTY
See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE
1 L R 43 Cal. 990
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1832

— s 41—

ss. 51 to 57

1 L R 43 All 263

— rights of—

See MORTGAGE 1 L R 44 Cal. 542

— vendor's death before completion of sale—

See CONTRACT 1 L R 45 Bom 434

— Sale of property in possession of a third person—Person in possession claiming

VENDOR AND PURCHASER—contd

to be owner—The vendor a benamidar—Negligence The plaintiff purchased a house from a person who had the title deeds of the house made out in his name. The house was in the defendant's possession, who claimed to be its owner and it appeared that the plaintiff's vendor was only a benamidar for the defendant. The plaintiff sued to recover possession of the house from the defendant. Held that the plaintiff could not succeed because he omitted to make the inquiries which he was bound to make to perfect his own title and by his own negligence exposed himself to the risk of purchasing property which in reality belonged not to his vendor but to the defendant. VTANKA PACHARYA v YAMANASANI (1911) 1 L R 35 Bom 269

— Mortgage—Contract of Sale—

Breach by Vendor—Loss of bargain—Liability of vendor—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s 55 (1) (g)—Measure of damage The owners of certain immovable property which was under a mortgage entered into a contract for the sale of the property but subsequently declined to complete the sale on the ground of the existence of the mortgage. Thereafter the property was acquired under the land acquisition Act by the Local Government and the compensation paid to the owners including the statutory allowance of 15 per cent far exceeded the contract price. On a suit brought by the purchaser for damages for breach of the contract of sale. Held that the vendors were bound to convey the property free from incumbrances and the existence of the mortgage was no defence to the purchaser's action. Erigill v Fitch L R 4 Q B 659 Day v Singleton (1899) 2 Ch 320 Jones v Gardiner (1902) 1 Ch 195 referred to. Flureau v Thornhill 2 H Bl 1073 East v Fathergill L R 7 E & I App 158 distinguished. Sembie The ruling in Bosi v Fothergill L R 7 E & I App 158 does not apply to India and there is no exception to s 73 of the Indian Contract Act in the case of sale of immovable property. Ranchhod v Manmohan Das 1 L R 32 Bom 165, and Pitamber Sundarji v Cassabji 1 L R 11 Bom 22 referred to. The measure of damage was the difference between the contract price and the compensation allowed to the vendors excluding however the statutory allowance of 15 per cent, inasmuch as the breach had occurred before the acquisition. NARICHANDRA SAHA PARAMADIK v KRISHNA BABANA DAS (1911) 1 L R 38 Cal. 458

— Sale to raise funds for litigation

Transfer whilst vendor was out of possession—Agreement depending on success of litigation—Transfer of undivided share in joint ancestral property—Interest in property, giving right to sue—Vendee and provider of funds made co-plaintiffs The original plaintiffs in the two suits out of which these appeals arose were in one suit the sons and in the other the grandson of the heads and managers of two distinct joint Hindu families owners of an estate in Oudh by whom alienations of the joint ancestral property had been made in favour of the appellants whom they sued in ejectment to set aside those alienations on the ground that the managing members had no power to make them. As they required funds to enable them to prosecute the suits they entered into agreements with a third person (who was made a co-plaintiff in the suits and was now respondent) to the effect that "in the share of each of them in property he will be a co sharer of a one half share and the remaining one half share will belong to us."

VENDOR AND PURCHASER—contd

He will bear the entire expenses in connexion with the suit, and in case of success he will be entitled to proprietary possession of the above mentioned one half share, or one half of the share which may be decreed which can remain joint or be partitioned by him as he pleases." In the course of the litigation the original plaintiffs compromised the suits with the appellant and withdrew from them leaving the respondents to prosecute them alone. Held (reversing on this point the decision of the Courts in India), that the agreements (which constituted his only right to sue) conferred upon the respondent no present right to the possession of any share in the property in suit. He would only have the right to possession in case of success, and success had not been achieved. Until then he was merely a co owner in a certain undivided share of the property. There was no present grant or assignment to him of any separate share of the property, divided or undivided, and he could not therefore maintain the suit. Achal Ram v. Kasm Hussain Khan, I L R 27 All 271, L P 32 I A 113, distinguished. BASANT SINGH v. MATABIR PRASAD (1913) I L R 35 All 273

Conveyance by executor—Is beneficial owner—Construction of deed of sale—Inconsistency between recitals and operative part of deed—Omission to state expressly that he was conveying the property sold in his capacity of executor. Held (reversing the appellate decision of the High Court, and restoring that of the first Court), that on the construction of a deed of sale and on the evidence in, and under the circumstances of the case the title vested in an executor passed to the appellants under the deed, by which he together with other vendors purported to convey all his estate right title claim and demand whatsoever in the property sold although he did not expressly state therein that he was conveying the property in his capacity as executor. The plain legal interpretation of the deed should not be allowed to be affected by speculations as to what particular rights existing in the various vendors were present to the minds of some or all of the parties to the conveyance at the date of its execution. The deed stated plainly that whatever right or title the vendors possessed was to go to support the conveyance, and it is a settled rule that the meaning of a deed is to be decided by the language used interpreted in a natural sense. BIRAJ NOPANI v. PURA SUNDARY DASER (1914) L R 41 I A 189

I L R 42 Calc 56

OVER RULING

I L R 37 Calc. 382

Conveyance of property by an administratrix—having a beneficial interest therein—No words of limitation in the agreement to convey specifying whether it was qua administratrix or qua beneficial owner—Principle to be applied in ascertaining in what capacity the administratrix acted. Where a person has two estates, one larger and the other smaller, and purports to convey the entire property without any words or limitation, he must be taken to be conveying the highest estate he has; that is to say, if an executor having a one third personal beneficial interest in the estate purports to convey the whole of it without qualification or limitation he must be taken to be conveying in his character as executor and not in that of one having a beneficial interest only in a fraction of the whole estate purported to be conveyed. In re Fenn & Furze's Contract, [1894] 2 Ch 101, followed. No distinction can be maintained in principle between actual conveyance and agreements to convey for the purposes of applying this general rule. GANGARAI v. SONARAI (1914) I L R 40 Bom 69

VENDOR AND PURCHASER—concl.

Title, proof of—Contract to give a marketable title free from all reasonable doubt—Evidence of discharge of mortgage—Recitals in release—Registration Act (III of 1877). The question in this appeal was whether a vendor had made out "a marketable title free from all reasonable doubt," which he had contracted to do by a written agreement dated 18th October 1913, to sell certain land in Bombay. There had been a mortgage effected on the property, on 26th April 1892, in favour of two joint mortgagees by an agreement of charge duly registered under the Registration Act (III of 1877) and the deposit of the title deeds of the property with the mortgagees. To deduce a good title it became necessary to prove that the mortgage had been discharged. As proof of that fact the vendor produced a certified copy of a release, dated 30th September 1902, which had been executed by only one of the joint mortgagees but which recited the death of the other mortgagee, the fact that his co mortgagee was his sole heir and the redemption of the property from the equitable charge created by the agreement of 26th April 1892. One of the title deeds of the property was not produced by the vendor. Held (reversing the decisions of the Courts in India) that the recitals in the release were not evidence against the joint mortgagee, and that the title contracted for had not been deduced. SHRINIVAS DAS BAVRI v. VENERBAI (1916) I L R 41 Bom 300

Sale of specific Land—Vendor Evicted from part—On 16th September 1907 C. D. and his son V. B. the predecessors of defendants 3 to 8 sold to the Plaintiff 79 kanals and 4 marlas of land. The property comprised several plots which formed different Khassra numbers, specified in the sale deed. The price paid was Rs 1000 per kanal. Plaintiff asserted they got possession of 75 kanals, and 4 marlas. Defendants 1 and 2 being the true owners of the rest. Held that under the deed the vendors had sold 79 kanals, 4 marlas and it was the duty of the vendors either to make good the deficiency or to pay damages having regard to s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act the measure of damages being the price of the land at the time of eviction. JAI KISHEN DAS ARYA PRITE NIGRA SARDNA I L R 1 Lah 380

VENDOR AND SUB-VENDOR

Estoppel—Unpaid Vendor—Appropriation—Sale trade, usage of—Pucca delivery orders—Negotiability—Documents of Title—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 108—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1922), s. 137—Damages. A delivery order is recognized as a document of title under s. 108 of the Contract Act and s. 137 of the Transfer of Property Act, and under a delivery order the transferee acquires a title to the goods to which it relates. By the usage of the jute trade in Calcutta, pucca delivery orders are issued only on cash payment, are passed from hand to hand by endorsement and are sold and dealt with in the market as absolutely representing the goods to which they relate. On the 1st March 1903, the defendant company sold to J & Co a principal certain Hessian cloth on the terms that "payments were to be made in cash in exchange for delivery order on sellers and delivery of the goods was to be given and taken ready payment against pucca delivery order." A pucca delivery order was issued on the 2nd March by the defendant company in favour of J & Co's principals or order embodying the term "ready shipment." On the 3rd March J & Co requested the plaintiffs to advance money on the security of the delivery order. The plaintiffs on making enquiries at the mills were informed the delivery order was "all right." On the 4th March J & Co obtained an advance of money from the plaintiffs on the pledge of the delivery order and duly endorsed the delivery order to the plaintiffs. On the same date J & Co handed the defendant company a cheque in payment of the goods comprised in the delivery order. On the 8th March the defendant company presented the cheque for payment, but it was dishonoured. The defendant company thereupon refused to give delivery of the goods to the plaintiffs under the delivery order. The plaintiffs obtained an absolute release of all J & Co's interest in the delivery order, and brought an action against the defendant company for delivery of the goods or their value or damages for conversion. Held that the defendant company were estopped from denying that cash had been paid for the goods to which the delivery order related and they could not claim to be entitled to a lien as against the plaintiffs. The defendant company were further estopped from denying that they had appropriated goods of the required quantity and description to the delivery order and that they held these goods for the plaintiffs. Goodwin v Roberts L R 1 A C 476 referred to. ANOLD INDIA JUTE MILLS CO v ONADEMULL (1910) I L R 38 Cal 127

VENDOR AND SUB-VENDOR—contd

VENDOR'S LIEN

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882,
s 55
s 55 (4)

VENDOR'S MARK.

See TRADE MARK I L R 37 Cal 204

VENEREAL DISEASE

See DIVORCE I L R 48 Cal 283

VENUE

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, ss
16-21
See JURISDICTION I L R 41 Cal 305
I L R 43 Cal 942
See RAILWAY COMPANY
I L R 41 All 488
— transfer of, from one Court to another after decree—
See JURISDICTION I L R 37 Mad 477

VERBAL APPLICATION

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 40 Cal 423

VERBAL NOTICE

See EJECTMENT I L R 40 Cal 858

VERDICT OF JURY

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT
1 OF 1898) ss 297, 303, 304

I L R 38 Mad 585

— by casting lots—

See JURY, TRIAL BY

I L R 40 Cal 693

— Reference to High Court

— Power to question the jury as to their reasons for the verdict—Grounds of reference—Mere disagreement with a verdict not perverse—Interference by High Court when the verdict is not in defiance of the probabilities of the case. It is open to the Judge, when he disagrees with the verdict of the jury and intends to make a reference to the High Court under s 307 of the Criminal Procedure Code to question the jury as to the reasons for their verdict. Emperor v Ananda Charan Thakur I L R 26 Cal 629, referred to. It is not in every case of doubt nor in every case in which a view different from that of the jury can be entertained on the evidence that a reference under s 307 of the Code is to be made to the High Court but when the verdict is manifestly wrong. The High Court will not interfere under s 307 in every case of doubt or in every case in which it may with propriety be said that the evidence would have warranted a different view. Queen v Sham Lagat 13 B L R 49 19 approved. The High Court refused to interfere where the facts on a reasonable hypothesis, were not inconsistent with the innocence of the accused and the verdict was not in defiance of the probabilities of the case. EMPEROR v SWARNA MOYEE BISWAS (1913) I L R 41 Cal 621 — Juror speaking to an outsider without the leave of the Court after their retirement to consider the verdict—Legality of the verdict—Criminal Procedure Code (Act 1 of 1898), s 300. The verdict of the jury is vitiated by the mere fact of one of them having without the leave of the Court and after their retirement to consider the same spoken to or held any communication with a person not a juror. It is not necessary for the Court to enquire into the nature of the subject matter of the conversation or communication. Rex v Ketteridge [1915] 1 K B 467, referred to. BENI MADHAR KUNDU v EMPEROR (1918) I L R 46 Cal 207

VERIFICATION

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR

I L R 33 Cal 559

— of plaint—

See EX PARTE DECREES

I L R 43 Cal 1001

See PLAINT

VERNACULAR GOVERNMENT GAZETTE

See REVENUE SALE

I L R 41 Cal 276

VESTED INTEREST.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—TRUST

I L R 34 Bom. 604

VESTED INTEREST—contd

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882,
s. 19

See WILL . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 88

VESTED RIGHT.

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1125

VESTING ORDER

See UNDISCHARGED BANKRUPT.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 861

effect of—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Calc. 72

VEXATIOUS CHARGE

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT
V OF 1893), s. 250
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 378

VIEW OF PREMISES.

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 35 Bom. 317

VILLAGE.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF
1908), s. 8 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 891 change of, from one district to another—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT (XX
OF 1863) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 849

Proprietors of, who are —Persons who do not pay land revenue, but only demi (grazing) charges, if entitled to share on partition of shamilat land. Persons who merely paid tani (grazing dues) to the Government and who did not pay any land revenue assessed on the village were not proprietors of the village and were not as such entitled to a share on partition of the shamilat land of the village. BAGGA v. SALEH
(1915) . 19 C. W. N. 1023

VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT (BENG. VI OF 1870)

See CHAUKIDARI ACT

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS.

Held that the words otherwise than under a temporary settlement in the definition of Chaukidari Chakran Lands refer to a settlement by Government. SRI RAJA KIRTIBASH BHUPATI MARI CHANDAY MAHAIPATRA
v. SECRETARY OF STATE.
15 C. W. N. 300

s. 1, 43 to 52, 53—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 710

s. 49—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LAND
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 593

s. 50—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 841

s. 50, 51—Legal effect of resumption of chaukidari chakran lands and subsequent transference thereof to the zamindars, whether in such a case the zamindar acquires a new title thereto and whether it is incumbent on the putindar to ask for a fresh settlement thereof. Where chaukidari chakran

VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT (BENG. VI OF 1870)—contd.

ss. 50, 51—contd

land forming part of lands settled in paisal was resumed by Government under the provisions of the Village Chaukidari Act and was subsequently transferred to the zamindar who thereupon settled such lands with the plaintiffs who were third parties: Held, that the zamindar was not competent to make a settlement with the plaintiffs and that under the grant which the plaintiffs obtained they had acquired no right as against the putindars. The putindars were not bound to take a fresh settlement from the zamindar after resumption. Held, also that the transfer of the lands by Government, subsequent to resumption, did not create a new estate in the zamindar, but the estate thus taken by him was in confirmation and by way of continuance of his existing estate.
GOCHENDRO MOHAN SIKHA v. RAJENDRA NATH
ROY (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 660

s. 51—

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 515, 635

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 173

ss. 52, 53, 59, 60, 61—Determination by a Commissioner under s. 61—Fraud—Review by subsequent Commissioner—Civil Suit. An order by Commissioner appointed under s. 58 of the Village Chaukidari Act determining that certain lands are chaukidari chakran lands is final and conclusive.
Such orders cannot be reviewed by a second Commissioner even if the previous order was fraudulently obtained. An order under s. 61 of the Village Chaukidari Act may be set aside on proof of fraud or of non compliance with the provisions of the law, if at all, only in a regular suit by a Civil Court. SARADINDU NARAIN ROY v. BHESODH
BHARYA MORATA (1913) . 18 C. W. N. 143

s. 60—Enquiry, nature of—Notice, persons entitled to—Notice, absence of, effect of—Commissioner's report if final and conclusive—Reg VII of 1822, s. 21. Held, that s. 60 of the Chaukidari Chakran Act (VI of 1870, B. C.) lays down that in chaukidari chakran enquiries the procedure shall be in accordance with Reg VII of 1822 and the absence of notice would render the proceedings of the Commissioner of no effect against a person who was entitled to notice and the Civil Court could interfere, although but for such defect the order of the Commissioner would be final and conclusive. SARAT CH. RAY v. SEC-RETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916)
21 C. W. N. 238

VILLAGE COMMUNITY.

See PROFIT A PREVENIRE

2 Pat. L. J. 323

VILLAGE MAGISTRATE.

Information to—Effect of giving—

See BAILABLE OFFENCE.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1006

Power to confine—

See REGULATION XI OF 1816 (MAD)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 113

VILLAGE POLICE ACT

See BOMBAY VILLAGE POLICE ACT 1867

VILLAGE ROAD.

Held that non joinder of parties in a suit for a declaration of right on a village Road may be fatal. HARAN SHRIER v RAMESH CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE

25 C. W. N. 249

VINCHUR COURT.

See SPECIAL APPEAL

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 340

VIS MAJOR.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM. III OF 1901), ss 50, 54

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 492

VOIDABLE CONTRACT.

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 81

See TRUSTS ACT (II OF 1892), s. 83

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 173

VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION.

See COMPANIES ACT 1913, s. 207

I. L. R. 38 All. 407

— Examination of Directors and Managers—

See COMPANIES ACT 1913, s. 215

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 459

VOLUNTARILY OBSTRUCTING PUBLIC SERVANTS IN THE DISCHARGE OF PUBLIC FUNCTIONS.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 186. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 122

VOLUNTARINESS.

See CONFESSION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 873

VOLUNTARY PAYMENT.

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT, s. 2.
[I. L. R. 34 Mad. 295]

Suit to recover money paid under decree—Wrongful interference of defendant—“Coercion”—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss 15, 69, 70, 72 Illus (b)—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 278 et seq.—Claims to attached property—Money paid under compulsion—Money paid under process of decree against third person The appellant (plaintiff) stated in his plaint that he was the proprietor of the Delhi Cotton Mills against which the respondent Bank (defendant) had an unsatisfied decree, that the respondent on 15th August 1902 applied for the attachment of the property and premises of the mills, wrongfully stating that they were the property of the Delhi Cotton Mills Company, attached the property on 20th August 1902, knowing that it belonged to the plaintiff, and dispossessed him, that “he has suffered considerable damage by the said acts of the defendant, and as he was by such acts practically ousted from all the machinery and mills, and could not work them, and the whole of such damage would be very considerable, and part of it most difficult to prove, and it was probable that by objection to such attachment under the Civil Procedure Code a considerable time would elapse before he could obtain an order setting aside the attachment” the plaintiff was compelled to pay the balance due to the defendant under the decree

VOLUNTARY PAYMENT—contd.

against the Delhi Cotton Mills Company, under protest, on 27th August 1902 In a suit brought for a return of the money so paid, and damages for the alleged illegal acts of the defendant, the defence (inter alia) was that “the suit as framed would not lie,” and the case was argued on a preliminary issue, the proceedings being of the nature of a demurrer Held (reversing the decision of the Courts in India), that the plaintiff was entitled to recover the money so paid as being an involuntary payment produced by coercion, namely, the wrongful interference of the defendant with his full and free enjoyment of his own property Dulchand v Ram Kishan Singh, I. L. R. 7 Calc. 618, I. L. R. 1 A 33, followed. The fact that the sale was not inevitable in the present case was not relevant The greater or less probability of a sale taking place did not affect the ratio decidendi in that case which is that the payment was made under the force of the execution proceedings, and that in India, as in England, such a payment is regarded by the law as being made under compulsion The procedure provided in the Civil Procedure Code referring to claims to attached property (s. 278 et seq) is merely permissive, being analogous to the procedure by interpleader in England. But the fact that such a procedure is open to him if he chooses to adopt it, in no way interfered with the plaintiff's right to take any other lawful alternative S. 72 of the Contract Act (IX of 1872) is not exhaustive The meaning of the word “coercion” used in that section is not controlled by the definition in s. 15, but is used in its general and ordinary sense The definition in s. 15 is expressly inserted for the special object of applying to s. 14, i. e., to define what is the criterion whether an agreement was made by means of a consent extorted by coercion, and does not control the interpretation of “coercion” when the word is used in other surroundings Ss 69 and 70 of the Contract Act do not refer in any way to remedies against the wrong-doer, and are therefore irrelevant to the question raised in this appeal. KANRAYA LAL v NATIONAL BANK OF INDIA, LTD (1913)

[I. L. R. 40 Calc. 598]

VOTERS.

— list of—

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 122

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 598, 744

— qualifications of—

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 950

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 501

VRITTI.

—Revocation of Purans—Conferring hereditary office and granting lands for performance of office—Grant of lands burdened with the performance of service—Reversionability of lands Where an hereditary office, e.g., of vrutti for the reciting of Purans, is created and bestowed hereditary upon the grantee from generation to generation, and lands are assigned as remuneration therefor, the lands so granted are not reversionable. Where there is an interest in land coupled with a duty, and the grant is not forthcoming, so that its actual terms may be known, it must always be a matter of great difficulty, and no more than a mere conjecture to decide whether the interest was so coupled with the duty that the latter could confidently be said to have been the sole motive and condition of the former. In such a case the interest in land is reasonable on failure or refusal to perform the duty. In cases of grants burdened with service reasonable for failure or refusal to perform that service, the Court would ordinarily require very strong and conclusive evidence before disturbing the practice which has persisted for a long time. MADHWACHARYA v SHRIDHAR NARASINGHA (1913) I L R 37 Bom. 409

VRITTI—contd

—Alienation in special cases under special conditions—Local usage and custom. As a general rule vritti are inalienable. They may be alienated in special cases and under special conditions provided that such alienations can be supported by local usage and custom. Rajaram v Ganesh, I L R 23 Bom. 131 referred to. MANJUNATH SUBRAHATY v SHANKAR MANJAYA (1914) I L R 39 Bom. 26

—Hereditary priest of caste—Right to office—Caste panchas preventing the priest from giving his ministrations—Suit by priest for an injunction—Laches—Civil Court—Jurisdiction. The plaintiff was an hereditary priest of Patidar Gujarathis of Yeola. In 1906 the defendants who were Panch of the caste called upon the plaintiff to distribute the emoluments of the office amongst the members of the priestly family, and on the plaintiff's refusal to do so issued an order to their castemen not to allow the plaintiff to officiate in his Vritti and pay perquisites to him. In 1916, the plaintiff having sued for an injunction restraining the defendants from prohibiting plaintiff from officiating. Held that an hereditary office of a priest was in the nature of immovable property and therefore, the plaintiff would ordinarily be entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with that immovable property. Ghalebhai Gaurabhaikar v Hargobind Ramji (1911) 36 Bom 94, relied on. Held however that on the facts of the case the plaintiff having acquiesced in the action of the defendant's interfering with his right for over ten years, had debarred himself from getting the preventive relief of injunction. GIJASHANKAR DAIJI v MURLIDHAR NARAYAN (1920) I L R 45 Bom 234

VYAVAHARA MAYUKHA

See HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA

I L R 40 Bom 621

See HINDU LAW—SHRIDHAR

I L R 41 Bom. 618

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION

I L R 36 Bom 120

VYAVAHARIKA.

See HINDU LAW—DEBT

14 C. W. N 659

WWADHWAN CIVIL STATION

—British India—Bombay Act. Held that the Bombay Act V of 1878, s 43—Bhding—Importation—Carrying bhding by rail from Wadhwan Civil Station to Viramgam. The accused was charged with having imported into the Presidency of Bombay bhding (an intoxicating drug), an offence punishable under s 43 of the Bombay Abkari Act (Bombay Act V of 1878), inasmuch as he carried with him twenty tolas of bhding from Wadhwan Civil Station to Viramgam by rail. Held, that the Civil Station at Wadhwan was not a part of British India, and the accused was guilty of the offence with which he was charged. Triccan Panackand v The Bombay Baroda and Central India Railway Company I L R 3 Bom 214 not followed. Queen Empress v Abdul Latib alias Abdul Rahiman I L R 10 Bom 186, followed. EMPEROR v CHIMANTAL (1912)

WADHWAN CIVIL STATION—contd

I L R 37 Bom 152

WAGERING

—defence of—

See INTERROGATORIES

I L R 37 Bom 347

See PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTIONS

—Defence of wagering in the case of transactions apparently genuine—Necessity for the defendant to prove that both parties entered into the transaction with the intention of treating it as a wager—Tej mandis transactions. The defendant dealt to a large extent in silver with the plaintiffs buying silver for forward delivery and afterwards settling the plaintiffs' claims by selling an equal quantity of silver to the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs sued the defendant for balances due on these transactions and also for moneys due on certain tej mandis transactions between the parties that is transactions in which the purchaser buys the option to buy or sell goods at a future date, but the plaintiff afterwards relinquished their claim in respect of the tej mandis transactions. Held that the Court will not lightly favour gambling defences. In order that a transaction apparently genuine may be set aside as a wagering transaction, it must be shown that it was known to be a wager by both the parties to it who acted upon that knowledge with no intention of treating the transaction as anything but a wager. Held, further, the general rule in this country is that "tej mandis" transactions must be regarded as wagering transactions, and the onus of proving that they are not such would lie heavily on the party so alleging. Kearichand v Merwanji, I Bom L R 263, followed. JYESTHANI JUGGONATH v TULSIDAS DAMODAR (1912)

I L R 37 Bom 264

WAGERING CONTRACT

See CONTRACT I L R 43 All 585

22 C W N 625

I L R 33 All 585

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), S 30.

See PAKKI ADAT TRANSACTION

I L R 39 Bom I

I L R 45 Bom 386

—Common intention to wager essential—Speculation not equivalent to wagering—Pakki Adat—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s 10—Bombay Act III of 1863, ss 1 and 2. Speculation does not necessarily involve a contract by way of wager, and to constitute such a contract a common intention to wager is essential. Even if one party to a contract were a speculator who never intended to give delivery, and that fact was known to the other party, yet in the absence of any bargain or understanding, express or implied, that the goods were not to be delivered, that would not convert a contract, otherwise innocent into a wager; nor would the mere fact, that as to the greater part of the goods there was no delivery but an adjustment of claims, vitiate the transaction. Parkes Adat dealings are well established as a legitimate mode of conducting commercial business in the Bombay market. Held (reversing the decision of the appellate High Court), that the contracts in suit were not wagering contracts. BHAGWANDAS PARASHAM v. BUNJORJI RUTTONJI (1917) . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 373 — "Gambling" and "Wagering," distinction between—Calcutta Police Act (Beng. IV of 1866 as amended by Beng. Act III of 1897), s. 41—Common gaming house—Instruments of gaming—Cotton-gambling not a game of contest Betting must always be on an uncertain event, and betting in itself, apart from stakes being laid on a particular game or instrument of gaming in a public place, is not penal. Playing with cards, dice or money is penal if done in a public place. The offence created by the Calcutta Police Act is a purely technical one, and nothing has ever been done on this side of India to include any form of betting or wagering without instruments in the offence, except in the single case of rain-gambling without a machine; and in order to include this, extraordinary legislation has had to be undertaken to make the books and registers in which rain-gambling wagers are entered and all other documents containing evidence of such wagers instruments of gaming. Gaming is playing at any game, sport, pastime or exercise, lawful or unlawful, for money or any other valuable thing which is staked on the result of the game, i.e., which is to be lost or won according to the success or failure of the person who has staked. Reg. v. Ashton, 1 El. & Bl. 286, Lockwood v. Cooper, (1903) 2 K. B. 428, referred to. Wagering which includes betting is making a contract on an unascertained event past or future (in which the parties have no pecuniary interest other than that created by the contract) by which the parties are to gain or lose according as the uncertainty is determined one way or the other. Carroll v. The Carbolic Smoke Ball Co., (1892) 2 Q. B. 481, referred to. Cotton-gambling is "betting" pure and simple. Hare Singh v. Jada Nandan Singh, 1 L. R. 31 Cal. 542; 8 C. W. N. 458, referred to. RAM PRATAP NEMANI v. EMPEROR (1912)

WAGERING CONTRACT—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Cal. 963

WAGING WAR.

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR.

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 359

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY.

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 467

See PENAL CODE, ss. 107—124A

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 394

See PENAL CODE, ss. 121A, 123

16 C. W. N. 1105

WAIVER.

See BOND

I. L. R. 43 All. 33

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 85 . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 835

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872,

s. 53 . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 520

ss. 53 (2), 53 I. L. R. 40 Bom. 570

WAIVER—contd.

See CROSS EXAMINATION.

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 236

See EJECTMENT . I. L. R. 45 Cal. 469

See ESTOPPEL.

See INSOLVENCY . I. L. R. 47 Cal. 56

See INTESTATEMENTS.

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 511

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY.

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 467

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 161

I. L. R. 37 Cal. 449

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 552, 1079

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 445

See LIMITATION . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 374

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT (III OF 1873), s. 17 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 531

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE EMPTION.

I. L. R. 41 Cal. 943

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 47 Cal. 770

See NOTICE . I. L. R. 40 Cal. 503

See RESUMPTION . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 279

—Evidence of required—

See SALE . . I. L. R. 43 Cal. 790

—acceptance of rent—

See BOMBAY RENT (WAR RESTRICTIONS)

ACT II OF 1918, ss. 3, 9 AND 12

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 535

—by conduct—

See PRE EMPTION . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 51

—of claim to interest—

See BOND . . I. L. R. 43 All. 23

—of objection to jurisdiction of

Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 105

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 54

—of notice—

See COMMON CARRIERS.

I. L. R. 38 Cal. 50

—of right of priority in favour of

second mortgagee—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 69 . . I. L. R. 37 All. 474

—on behalf of minor—

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Cal. 897

—Ejectment, suit—With claim for rent whether constitutes waiver. The institution of a suit in ejectment is an unequivocal declaration of an intention to determine the tenancy. The mere fact that after service of notice to quit the plaintiffs claimed arrears of rent due prior to the ejectment proceedings does not constitute a waiver of the notice to quit. But where future rent is claimed and accepted after the notice to quit has been served and the ejectment proceedings instituted then the claim and acceptance of future rent amounts to waiver of the initial step and the proceedings upon which the right to eject depends.

BRAM WALL ARNAB v. MOHAMMAD HUSSAIN USMAN

2 Pat. L. J. 595

WAIVER—contd

Enhancement of rent—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss 43 108—Chur lands—Right of Occupancy. A took a lease of a certain Government khaj mahal and executed a kubuliat in favour of the Collector by which he (A) covenanted not to raise the rents of rayats beyond the amounts mentioned in the settlement jamaabandi. The tenants, however, subsequently agreed to pay rent at an enhanced rate on the ground that the fertility of the land had been increased. Upon a suit for arrears of rent at the enhanced rate against the tenants, the defence was that A was bound by the kubuliat executed in favour of the Collector, and as such he was not entitled to a decree at the rate claimed. Held that, inasmuch as the tenants voluntarily agreed to an enhancement of rent, they deliberately waived the benefit of the said covenant, and they could not impeach the validity of their own agreement on this particular ground. Zamir Mandal v Gopi Sundari Das, 1 L R 32 Calc. 483 (note) referred to. Under a 180 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, a rayat holding a chur land, but who has not acquired a right of occupancy is liable to pay such rent for his holding as may be agreed on between him and his landlord, irrespective of the provisions of s 43 of the Act. JAHAN DAR BAKSH MALLIK v RAM LAL HAZRAH (1910) 1 L R 37 Calc 449

Installment decrees—Default—Installments subsequently paid with interest, accepted—Waiver—Question of law—Second appeal. An installment decree provided that on the failure of the judgment-debtor to pay any installment the decree-holders would be entitled to realize the whole sum with interest at 12 per cent. per annum by the sale of the mortgaged property. Default was made in the payment of one of the installments and an application for execution was made but was dismissed for non prosecution. Subsequently the judgment-debtors by petition put in the sum due on the defaulted installment with interest and also the sum due on the next installment specifying the installments for which the different sums were paid. The decree holder withdrew the money. Several other installments specifying the installment in respect of which each deposit was made were similarly deposited and withdrawn. On an application by the decree-holder for execution of the entire decree with interest at 12 per cent. from the date of the default, crediting the amounts received as merely part payments on account of the decretal debt. Held, that the circumstances constituted a waiver of the default and it was no longer open to the decree holder to execute the decree on account of the default. The payments made were payments on account of installments and not part payments of the entire decree. Two useful tests may be applied to determine whether there has been an actual waiver or—(i) whether the payment subsequently accepted may be looked upon as a valuable consideration for the renunciation of the decree-holder's rights, (ii) whether the decree-holder has by his conduct intentionally caused the judgment debtors to believe that he had renounced his right. The question of waiver is a mixed question of law and fact, and the High Court can interfere on this ground in second appeal. FAHIM KHAN v ABDUL WAHAB SIKDAR (1910) 15 C W N 10

Waiver, what is. A waiver must be an intentional act with knowledge. A person cannot be barred of his remedy on the ground of waiver unless at the time of the alleged waiver he is shown to have been fully cognizant of his right and of the facts of the case. BYAMA CHARAN BAISTA v PRASULLA SUNDARI GUPTA (1913) 19 C W N 882

WAIVER—contd

Jurisdiction—Leave to sue—Letters Patent, 1885 cl 12—Feloppet Where the plaintiff in his plaint alleges that portion of the cause of action arises outside the local limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of this Court and fails to take leave under cl 12 of the Letters Patent the defendant may by appearing and pleading waive the objection to the jurisdiction. Where, however, the plaintiff alleges that the whole cause of action arises within the local limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction thus setting up a complete jurisdiction in the Court, and the defendant is called upon to plead to this and does plead, but it turns out at the trial that the Court had not complete jurisdiction as portion of the cause of action arose within and portion outside the local limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, the defendant cannot be held bound on the doctrine of estoppel on the ground that he waived the objection of want of jurisdiction. King v Secretary of State for India, 1 L R 35 Calc 391, and Sarkar v Weiner, 17 T L R 491 referred to. SHAMA HANTA CHATTERJI AND COMPANY v KUTUBUDDIN HUMARI (1916) 1 L R 44 Calc. 10

Decree for ejectment—Suit for rent falling due before right to eject accrued, whether constitutes waiver. On the 8th April 1911 the landlords obtained a decree against the tenant for arrears of rent for the years 1314 to 1317 amsi. The decree directed that if the arrears were not paid by the 8th May, 1911, the tenant should be ejected. The decree was executed on the 13th July, 1911. On the 30th April, 1911, the landlords also instituted a suit for rent for the year 1318 (i.e. September, 1910, to September, 1911) which was payable in advance. The tenant had deposited part of the rent in Court on the 10th April, 1911. On the 29th January, 1912, the tenant instituted the present suit for recovery of possession of the land from which he had been ejected on the ground that the suit instituted on the 30th April, 1911, and the proceedings connected therewith, amounted to a waiver of the landlords' right to eject. Held, that the institution of the suit on the 30th April, 1911, coupled with the acceptance of the money deposited for the year 1318 constituted a complete waiver and stopped the landlords from proceeding in ejectment in execution of the decree of the 8th April 1911. Quære Whether the tenant having failed to plead waiver in the proceedings in execution of the ejectment decree was entitled to plead it in a separate suit? MIDNAPORE ZAMINDARI CO., LTD v JOYRAN SANTAL 1 Pat. L J 183

WAJIB-UL-ARZ

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1832, ss 584, 585 1 L R 34 All. 579

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION) 1 L R 1 Lah 294

See EVIDENCE 1 L R 40 All. 58

See GROVE LAND 1 L R 42 All. 634

See HINDU LAW (CUSTOM) 1 L R 22 All. 363

WAJIB-UL-ARZ—contd

See LETTERS PATENT CL 10

I L R 31 All 13

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I L R 34 All 545

See MAHOMEDAN LAW

See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871)

s^o 3, 4 & 8

I L R 33 All 580

See PRE-EMPTION—CUSTOM—RIGHT OF PRE-EMPTION—WAJIB-UL-ARZ

value of—

See CUSTOM (ADDITION)

I L R 2 Lah 348

See OUDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869) ss

8 10

I L R 33 All 552

Contract or custom.—The pre-emptive clause of a waj bul arz ran as follows—Kos mugadma haq shafa la da r nahin hua aiyanda ko jari rikha haq shafa la ham ko manur ha.

Held on a construction of the waj bul arz that these words did not denote a record of a custom but merely of a contract to take effect in the future. Tasaddiq Hussain Khan v Ali Hussain Khan All Weekly Notes (1903) 121 followed. Haari Lal v Durga Prasad I L R 3^o All 187, distinguished. KASCHAN SINGH v MANI RAM (1910) I L R 32 All 201

Value of as evidence, as record of traditions. A waj bul arz in a village administration paper prepared by a village official in which are recorded the statements of persons possessing interests in the village relative to existing rights and customs. As such they are of considerable value in the determination of such rights and customs. But statements which merely narrate traditions and purport to give the history of devolution in certain families are not even of the narrators stand in no better position than any other tradition. MURTAZA HUSSAIN KHAN v MAHOMED YASIN ALI KHAN (1910)

21 C W N 410

I L R 38 All 552

Authority of as evidence.—Its importance in settlement proceedings.—Presumption as to its correctness and successful impugned though not a document creating a title.—Dispute between proprietors of two adjacent villages as to the ownership of village common lands.—Limitation. The authority of a waj bul arz or record of rights which is described by Sir Henry Maine in his Village Communities page 7^o as a detailed statement of all rights in land drawn up periodically by the functionaries employed in settling the claims of the Government to their shares of the rental and as the most important object of the Settlement Operations not second even to the adjustment of Government revenue is universally recognised. Lali v Murlidhar I L R 28 All 438 I L R 33 I A 9^o referred to. Though a waj bul arz does not create a title it gives rise to a presumption in its support which prevails until its correctness is successfully impugned. In a dispute between the proprietors of two villages Mourah Darakki and Mourah Sher Ali of which the former belonged to the plaintiff and the latter to the defendants as to the ownership of village common lands measuring upwards of 7999 acres the plaintiffs contended that these lands belonged to them jointly with the defendants in proprietary right by virtue of the ownership of the two villages, and the defendants maintained that they were the exclusive proprietors. Their Lordships held that the final determination of the case depended on the interpretation to be placed on the waj bul arz in which the final result of the settlement proceedings was recorded; and on that document together with the facts of the case the plaintiff's claim to joint ownership failed. The statements in the other documentary evidence adduced were ambiguous and not immutable. The laches of the plaintiffs in failing to assert their claim after it had been repeatedly and consistently challenged as long ago as 1883 was a circumstance among others very unfavourable for its success apart from the bar of limitation. DARAS KHAN v GHULAM KASIM KHAN (1918) I L R 45 Calc 793

WAJIB-UL-ARZ—contd

WAKFSee CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 188^o s^o 30
AND 539 I L R 33 All 660See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908—s^o 68 I L R 42 All 418s^o 92 I L R 40 Bom 541

I L R 35 All 98 459

I L R 37 All 89

SCH II AND s^o 9^o

I L R 32 All 503

See KHOJA MAHOMEDANS

I L R 36 Bom 214

See LIMITATION ACT 18 7 SCH II ART
123 I L R 33 Bom 111

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WORSHIP

I L R 35 All 197

See MUSLIMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT
(VI OF 1913) s^o 3

I L R 39 Bom 563

See SPECIFIC RELIEFS ENDOWMENT

See SPECIFIC RELIEFS ACT (I OF 187^o) s^o 4^o I L R 32 All 631

See WAKF VALIDITY OF

See WAKF

by dedication or user—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L R 40 Calc 297

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I L R 35 All 68

See WAKF

See WAKF

23 C W N 138

contingent dedication—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I L R 1 Lah. 317

— delivery of possession whether essential—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW (WAKF)

I L R 43 All 487

— illusory gift to charity—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

24 C W N 308

WAKF—contd

— principle of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT

I L R 47 Calc 886

— Residue of income retained by settlor, effect of—

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

6 Pat L J 218

— suit for declaration of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1903) s 11

I. L. R. 38 All. 424

— validity of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF

I L R 42 Calc 933

See RES JUDICATA

I L R 44 Calc 693

— Settlement in perpetuity for aggrandisement of the family, if valid—Deed of agreement subsequently entered into between mutuals and members of the family regulating payment of allowances to them under such deed of wakf, if enforceable—Mussalman Wakf Validating Act (VI of 1913), if a declaratory statute having retrospective effect. A wakf was created for the maintenance of the members of the family of the settlor "generation after generation" and for the "performance of worldly and religious affairs and of charitable acts". A suit was subsequently brought against the mutuals by some members of the family which was however withdrawn on the execution of a deed of agreement between the parties specifying the amount of monthly allowance payable to each member of the family out of the income of the wakf. The beneficiaries sued to recover arrears of maintenance on the basis of this agreement. Held—That the gift to charity being illusory and the chief if not the sole object of the settlor being to create a settlement in perpetuity for the aggrandisement of the family the wakf was invalid according to the decisions of the Judicial Committee. The test to be applied in cases of this character is whether there is a substantial dedication of the property to charitable uses at some period of time or other. Abdul Fata Mahmood v Razamoy, L. R. 23 I. A. 76 s. c. I. L. R. 22 Calc 619 (1891); Mujibunnissa v Abdul Hakim, L. R. 23 I. A. 15 s. c. I. L. R. 23 All. 223, 5 C. W. N. 177 (1900) and Mahomed Monawar Ali v Razia Bibi, L. F. 33 I. A. 86, s. c. I. L. R. 27 All. 329, 9 C. W. N. 675 (1905). That the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, is not even in terms a purely declaratory statute; in reality it effects a vital alteration in the law and it is not retrospective in operation and wakfs invalid from their inception have not been validated by this legislation. Statutes which are properly of a merely declaratory character have a retrospective effect because if the statute is in its nature declaratory the argument that it must not be so construed as to take away pre-existing rights ceases to be applicable. The nature of the statute must be determined from its provisions and the mere fact that the expression "it is declared" has been used is by no means conclusive as to the true character of the legislation. That the wakf being pronounced to be invalid the entire scheme relating thereto embodied in the agreement must of necessity be of no avail. The assertion of the parties or of their representatives cannot validate illegal wakfs and the Court cannot be utilised for the enforcement of a scheme elaborately devised to carry out a plan of family aggrandisement in contravention of the whole policy of the law. That the agreement provided for a succession of allowances the amount of which could be varied by the family council from generation to generation in favour of unborn persons, and a scheme for family allowances so framed, apart from a scheme of valid wakf is not recognised by Mahomedan law. Nawab Khajeh Haidarullah Khan v Khajeh Soleman Qader, 24 C. W. N. 18

WAKF—contd

— Mahomedan Law—Private trust—Gift—Essential elements for validity—Power of revocation—General principles—Vested remainder. In 1902 a Shia Mahomedan by deed conveyed certain immovable property to himself and other trustees for himself for life and after his death for the payment of annuities to his widow and daughter and the balance to certain charities. Further clauses provided that on the death of his widow her annuity was to go to certain other charities and that on the death of his daughter a lump sum was to be given to her son. A further proviso reserved power to the settlor at any time to revoke all or any of the above trusts. In 1903 he revoked the trust, and executed a mortgage of the property. In 1909 he died and receivers of his estate were appointed. His daughter then filed a suit for a declaration, inter alia, that the revocation and subsequent mortgage were invalid, and that the original trusts still subsisted. Held, that the conveyance in 1902 was in valid. Looked at from the standpoint of the Mahomedan law giver, a private trust would be no more than a private gift inter vivos through the medium of the third party, and therefore subject to all the conditions of a valid gift, but quære, whether private trusts were known to Mahomedan law. Bunoo Begum v Mir Abed Ali, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 172, discussed and distinguished. JAINABAT v R. D. SETHNA (1910) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 604

— Possession—Relations of Mutawalli with beneficiaries—Invalidity of wakf—Evidence Act (I of 1872) ss 115 and 116—Estoppel—Possessing Trust—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 10—Life estate—Shaffie Mahomedans. On 16th June 1861 F. a Shaffie Mahomedan lady, executed a deed in the nature of a wakf whereby she settled certain immovable property in trust for her grand daughter M for life and thereafter on her descendants from generation to generation, and in default thereof on the settlor's husband's relatives and their descendants from generation to generation in perpetuity, and in default with an ultimate trust for the education of Mahomedan youths. The settlor's husband was appointed first trustee or Mutawalli, and provision was made in the deed for a due succession of Mutawallis. The first Mutawalli and after his death his executors acting as Mutawallis during the minority of his eldest son S. A., paid the rents and profits to M and after her death to her son M. H. and her daughter A. in equal shares. In 1868 S. A. attained his majority and took over charge as Mutawalli and in or about 1873 handed over charge of the property to the beneficiaries retaining possession of the trust deed. M. H. died in 1892 leaving one son M. A. who in his turn shared the rents with A. until her death in 1901 when he took the whole until he died in 1905 leaving him surviving his mother and two widows. In 1906 the mother and two widows, being in possession, filed a suit praying for a declaration that the trust deed was void, and that they with certain others were entitled to the property. The trust deed was held to be invalid, and a consent decree was eventually passed to the effect that the property should be divided, subject to a small provision for a certain charitable purpose, in equal shares between the Mutawali on the one hand, and the plaintiffs and others on the other. The present plaintiff, however, who was one of the parties to the above proceedings, proved to have been insane at the time and subsequently having regained his sanity, filed the present suit claiming the same relief as that claimed by the plaintiffs in the suit in 1906, and upon the same ground, namely, that M was entitled absolutely to the settled property. The suit having been dismissed, the plaintiff appealed and the heirs of the original settlor F, were brought on the record under cover of the Administrator General who took out letters of administration to F's estate, and consented to be bound by all proceedings. Held, that the trust deed was void as being an attempt to create a perpetuity in the nature of a family settlement under the guise of a wakfnama. Held, further, that those claiming under M had obtained possession of the property from the Mutawali in the guise of beneficiaries and on the footing that the wakfnama was a valid document, and thus, under ss 115 and 116 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) could not be permitted to deny that the person from whom the possession was claimed had a title to such possession when it was handed over. In re Anderson, (1905) 2 CA 70, distinguished. Held, therefore, that for the purposes of this suit, as between the parties other than the administrator of F's estate, the wakfnama must be considered as a valid document, and thus, when the limitations in favour of M's descendants came to an end on the death of M in 1905, the remainder for the benefit of the settlor's husband and descendants took effect, and the present Mutawali (a direct descendant of the settlor's husband) was entitled to the property both as trustee and as beneficiary. Held, finally, that the administrator of F's estate could only claim under a resulting trust in favour of the settlor and as such trust did not in the circumstances fall within the scope of s. 10 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) the claim had long been barred. Eherodmonee Dossie v Dorgamoney Dossie, I L R 4 C 415, and Vandarcandas v Sundaras, I L R 21 Bom. 646, discussed and followed. View expressed in Cassia Sanyal Jaisankhas v Sir Currimbhoy Ebrahim, I L R 36 Bom 214, not approved. Quære—Whether the principle that Mahomedan law does not recognize life-estates applies to Shafai Mahomedans? MAHOMED IRRANI v ABDUL LATIF (1912)

WAKF—contd.

I. L. R. 37 Bom 447

Application to be appointed Mutawali—District Judge, whether has powers of a Kazi—Petitioner, whether to proceed by application or by suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1905) An application was made by a person to the District Judge to be appointed Mutawali of a wakf property but the District Judge refused to deal with the matter on application on the ground that the petitioner's only course was to proceed by suit under s. 92 of the Civil Procedure Code: Held, that it may be conceded that the District Judge has the powers of a Kazi but it does not necessarily follow that the petitioner is entitled to proceed by application or that the District Judge has no power to relegate her to a suit. JAMILA KHATUN v ABDUL JALIL MEA (1918)

WAKF—contd

23 C. W. N. 138

—Res Judicata—Defence due to previous decision of High Court as authority—Musliman Wakf Validating Act (VI of 1913), title preamble and s. 3, whether retrospective or prospective only—Privy Council decisions and pronouncements on Indian Legislature Where there had been a previous adjudication by the High Court on the invalidity of a certain wakf based on legal grounds (in a subsequent suit between the same parties) Held that (i) ordinarily that Court should feel bound, not on the principle of res judicata but out of the deference which was due to a previous decision of the High Court, to follow that authority, and (ii) that the previous conclusive decision had not been affected by the remedial operation of the Musliman Wakf Validating Act of 1913, which was not retrospective in effect but prospective only. Pahmunusa Bibi v Shaikh Manik Jan, 19 C W N 76, approved. It is doubtful whether the Governor General in Council would make a legislative pronouncement that the repeated decisions of the Privy Council were erroneous, though from its knowledge of the requirements of the country the Legislature may think that in future the law should be otherwise administered. MAHOMED BURKH MAJUMDAR v DEWAT AJMAN REJA (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc 158

—Mutawali—Right of inheritance— Though a descendant of the founder of a wakf property has a preferential claim to the office of the Mutawali he does not become Mutawali by right of inheritance but has to be appointed such by the Qadi who may supersede him if he is not so qualified—No right of inheritance attaches to a religious endowment. ATIMATNESSA BIBI v ABDUL SOBHAN

I. L. R. 43 Calc 467

—Suit by mutawali to recover possession of wakf property mortgaged by previous mutawali—Limitation Act (IX of 1905) Art 134—Date from which limitation on to be reckoned—Date of transfer If date of delivery of possession under the transfer—Nature of suit within the scope of article—Mutawali, appointment of stranger as—Transfer of wakf property by mutawali, transfer without notice of trust if protected—Registration if sufficient notice of trust created by registered document—Res judicata. The founder of a wakf appointed his sister and brother and the male descendants of the latter mutawalis in succession after himself. On his death the sister who was the then mutawali and the brother representing themselves to be the secular heirs of their father and the founder joined in executing a mortgage of the wakf property. The mortgage was ultimately foreclosed and possession was delivered by the Court to the Defendant who was the assignee of the mortgage decree. Thereafter on a suit being brought under s. 92, C. P. C., the District Judge removed the sister from the office of mutawali and no one of the founder's family being available appointed the Plaintiff, a stranger. Within 12 years from the delivery of possession by the Court under the mortgage decree the Plaintiff sued the

WAKE—contd]

Defendant to recover the property Held—That the appointment of the Plaintiff as mutawalli was entirely within the decision of the District Judge as Kazi and in the circumstances of the case it was not without Jurisdiction although the Plaintiff was a stranger Ismail Araf v. Moola Dawood, L R 43 I A 127 s c I L R 43 Cal 1035, 20 C W N 1118 (1916), referred to Held, on a consideration of the wakfnama—That as there was a substantial dedication of the corpus and income to charitable uses within the test laid down by the Privy Council in Muhammadan v. Abdul Bahim, L R 23 I A 15 s c 5 C W. N. 177 (1900), and Muta Ramnadan v. Yasa Lervai, L P 44 I A 21 s c I L R 40 Mad 116, 21 C W N 521 (1916), the wakf was not invalid as being illusory Held, further—That in the mortgage suit, the sister of the founder who executed the mortgage was not in the language of a li, C. P. C., litigating under the same title as that under which the Plaintiff was litigating for she was sued in her secular capacity, not as trustee, and that suit did not create the bar of res judicata Held per Richardson, J—That the suit was governed by Art 134 of the Limitation Act and was barred by limitation, having been brought more than 12 years from the date of the mortgage, from which time limitation began to run and not from the date when the Defendant obtained possession of the property Per SHAMSUL HUDA J—That the onus to prove that the suit was within time was on the Plaintiff who failed to discharge that onus and show that the mortgage was not followed by possession and in that view of the case the suit was barred by limitation under Art 134 of the Limitation Act Per RICHARDSON, J—A suit to which Art 134 applies must be a suit to recover possession. The Plaintiff must be out of possession and the Defendant in possession. The transfers chiefly contemplated are apparently transfers for value in excess of the limited powers of the trustee or mortgagee. In terms the article would apply to a transfer within those powers but in such a case the true defence to a suit to recover possession would be title and not limitation though in some cases limitation might be useful as an alternative defence. The date of the transfer is the date on which the property or the title was transferred by the transferor to the transferee and where the transfer is effected by a registered instrument that date is the date of the instrument. To construe the date of the transfer as the date on which the transfer is followed by possession is to import into the article words which are not there. Where the possession of the trustee is that of a mere manager under a duly constituted trust it is immaterial under the present law whether the transferee takes with or without notice of the trust. Under Art 134 of the present Limitation Act the transferee without notice and the transferor with notice are on the same footing. Where the transferee is a mere manager he is not the ostensible owner nor has the transferee anything corresponding to the English "legal estate" to set off against the prior equity of the beneficial owner: the legal ownership and the prior equity are, generally speaking, both in the beneficiary. The element of hardship in the case of a transferee without notice is mitigated by the system of registration. The mutawalli of a wakf estate is not the ostensible owner of the estate but a mere manager and in the case of a public charitable endowment the legal ownership is in the Divine Being or in the charity created in His name. A transfer by a mutawalli who assumes to deal with the trust property as if he were the true owner in breach of her duty and in fraud of the trust reposed in him is ultra vires and may be avoided by timely proceedings properly taken for the purpose. The vice in the transferee's title whether he takes with or without notice of the trust can only be cured by lapse of time NARAIN DAS v. KAZI ABDUL RAHIM, 24 C. W. N. 690

WAKE—contd]

WAKE VALIDATING ACT (VI OF 1913).

If would operate retrospectively The Wakf Validating Act (VI of 1913) has no retrospective effect RAHIMTUNISA BIBI v. SHAHIN MANIK JAN (1914) 19 C. W. N. 78

s 3—Act, if operates retrospectively The operation of the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act of 1913 is prospective and not retrospective and it did not affect a previous conclusive decision of the Court declaring a wakf to be invalid MANSUR BETHI MAJUMDAR v. DEWAN ASMOK RAJA (1915) 19 C. W. N. 967

Mutawalli—Matters connected with wakf being religious matters—Descendant of the founder—Preferential claim to mutawalliship—No right of inheritance—Qadi under the Mahomedan law exercising functions in relation to wakfs—His equivalent in the British Indian system of law—Position of the Subordinate Judge—District Judge, jurisdiction of Though a descendant of the founder of a wakf property has a preferential claim to the office of the mutawalli, he does not become mutawalli by right of inheritance but has to be appointed such by the Qadi who may supersede him if he is not so qualified. No right of inheritance attaches to a religious endowment *Khatiji Sahinwalia v. Abdul Kadir B. Mustafa I L R 37 Cal 263 Sayad Abdula v. Sayad Zam I L R 13 Bom 555, Moolammad Sadiq v. Moolammad Ali, 1 Mac 84 Feb 22, and Shaker Bano v. Aga Mohamed I L R 34 I A 46, I L R 34 Cal 118, followed Shama Chohan v. Aladi Kuber, 3 C W N 158, In re Wazirunnessa Bibi I L R 36 Cal 21, In re Rahma Khatun, I L R 37 Cal 870, Nmasi Chand v. Goolam Hassan, I L R 37 Cal 179, Muhammad v. Syed Ahmed, 1 Bom H O R 18, Jamal v. Jamal, I L R 1 Bom 633, David Sha v. Ismail Sha, I L R 3 Bom 72, Baba v. Nasseruddin, I L R 18 Bom 103, A G v. Abdul Kadir, I L R 18 Bom 401, Kadratulla v. Mohini Mohan, 4 B L R 134, Mahomed v. Ahmed Ehas, I L R 25 Bom 327, Sayad Ali v. Ali Jan, I L R 35 All 98, Muhammad Abdul Majid v. Ahmed Saad, 11 All L J 673, referred to Under the Mahomedan law that Qadi alone was competent to exercise authority in respect of wakfs who was so expressly authorized in his letters patent. There was some difference of opinion upon the question whether such express authority was needed where a person was explicitly appointed the Chief Qadi, but even here the balance of opinion of jurists favours the view that power should be expressly conferred on the Chief Qadi to validate the administration of wakfs by him. There is also authority to show that the supreme authority in the State, by whom the Qadi* is appointed, need not be a Mahomedan and although there is some divergence of opinion there is also authority to show that the office of Qadi may be held by a non Muslim by the decision of dispute between non Muslims under Muslim protection. As this is a matter regarding religious usages and institutions within the meaning of s 15 of Regulation IV of 1793, the rights of the parties must be determined with regard to the provisions of the Mahomedan law on the subject. It follows, accordingly, that a Subordinate Judge, who has not been expressly authorised by the Government to exercise functions in connection with the administration of wakfs, is not competent to act in that behalf. Whether a District Judge has implied authority to exercise the functions performed by a Qadi under the Mahomedan law is doubtful. In respect of wakfs which may be described as trusts created for public purposes of a religious nature within the meaning of sub-s (1) of a 92 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, the District Judge may be assumed to have been authorised to discharge the functions of a Qadi. The real difficulty arises in the case of private wakfs. It is desirable that the Local Government should, to cover such cases, authorise either District Judges or Subordinate Judges or even Judicial officers of a lower grade, if necessary, to exercise the functions of a Qadi. ATIMANNESSA BIRI v. ABDUL SOBHAN (1915). I. L. R. 43 Cal. 467

WAKE VALIDATING ACT (VI OF 1913)— contd.

WAGF.

See WAKF.

WAGF-NAMA.

Grantor changing proprietary possession to that of a mutawalli—Appointment of trustees without transfer of ownership—Possession as managers and superintendents to protect waqf property—Injunction by Deputy Commissioner in respect of property out of his jurisdiction—Disqualification of registering officer as having "interest" in objects of endowed property, who has acted in good faith—Defect in procedure—Punjab Court of Wards Act (Punjab Act II of 1903), ss. 11 and 12—Registration Act (III of 1877), ss. 17, 87 and r 174 of rules made under s 69. A Muhammadan landholder, with property partly in Karnal and partly in Muzaffarnagar, on the 25th of August, 1903, executed a waqfnama, or deed of charitable trust dedicating specific property to religious purposes. The terms of the deed were—"I was the lawful owner of the property. I had power in every way to transfer the same. By virtue of the said power I divested myself of the connection of ownership and proprietary possession thereof and placed it in the proprietary possession of God, and changed my temporary possession known as proprietary possession into that of a mutawalli (superintendent)." The grantor resided at Karnal in the Punjab, but finding that the Deputy Commissioner was about to place him and his property under the Court of Wards he went to Muzaffarnagar out of the jurisdiction of the Deputy Commissioner of Karnal, who on the 30th of August, 1908, under ss 11 and 12 of the Court of Wards Act 1903, issued an injunction restraining him from executing any deed of alienation of his property. The waqfnama was not withstanding, on the 1st of September, 1900, registered by the Sub Registrar of Muzaffarnagar. On the 9th of November, 1908, the grantor executed a further document appointing trustees to be superintendents after his death of the charity to which his property had been dedicated under the deed of the 25th of August, 1908. The grantor died on the 26th of December, 1908, and on the 8th of July, 1912, the respondents, who were the trustees, brought a suit against the appellants, the grantor's heirs, who had obtained entry of their names in the Revenue Register, as defendants, alleging that the deceased had duly dedicated his property to the charity and claiming to be the parties named to execute the trust. Held, that the waqfnama, inasmuch as it did not purport to transfer to the trustees named in it the ownership of the waqf property but made them merely mutawallis or superintendents for its management and protection, did not require registration under the Registration Act, III of 1877. The injunction issued by the Deputy Commissioner of Karnal under ss 11 and 12 of the Punjab Court of Wards Act (Punjab Act II of 1903) in respect of property which, together with the grantor, was at the date of issue not within his jurisdiction, was held to be invalid and inoperative. The Sub Registrar, who, being a trustee of one of the objects of the waqf nama entitled to the benefit of the trust, had registered the deed, but in so doing had acted in good faith, though "personally connected with and interested in the document" within the meaning of r 174 of the rules made under s 69 of the Registration Act, III of 1877, was held by his action not to have invalidated its registration, as it was a defect in the procedure which s 87 of the Act was intended to remedy. MUHAMMAD RUSTAM ALI KHAN v. MUSHTAQ HUSAIN I. L. R. 42 All. 609

WAGF-NAMA—contd.

WAR.

See WAGING WAR

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY

See TRADING WITH ENEMY

----- effect of—

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE

I. L. R. 46 Cal. 584

See CONTRACT. I. L. R. 41 Mad. 225

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s 56

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 570

See DEBTOR AND CREDITOR

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 1

See SALE OF GOODS

I. L. R. 40 Bom. 11

I. L. R. 45 Cal. 28

See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

I. L. R. 42 Cal. 1094

----- effect of, on contracts of freightment—

See C. I. F. CONTRACTS

[I. L. R. 42 Bom. 473]

----- effect of, on contracts entered into by a manager of an Indian branch of enemy firm prior to war—

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 631

WARD.

See GUARDIAN AND WARD.

— alienation by natural guardian of minor—Suit to set aside—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ART 44 . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 742

WARNING OF FIRE.

See INSURANCE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 581

WARRANT.

See ARREST, WARRANT TO

See ATTACHMENT.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 849

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss. 53, 56, 110 I. L. R. 33 All. 407

s 75 . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 497

19 C. W. N. 224

See FORM OF WARRANT

See HABEAS CORPUS.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

See WARRANT OF ARREST

— for search of houses—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 163

I. L. R. 38 All. 14

— legality of—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1900),

s 186 . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 122

— resistance of execution of—

See PENAL CODE, s 183

1 Pat. L. J. 550

— with alterations—

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 403

— Business—Rescuing from lawful custody—Warrant against a witness issued in the first instance without recording reasons in writ

107—Legality of warrant and arrest—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1900), s 225 B—Criminal Procedure

Code (Act V of 1898), s. 90, Sch. V, Form VII—Practice The issue of a warrant of arrest by a Magistrate against a witness in the first instance, drawn up in the terms of Form VII of Sch. V of the Criminal Procedure Code, but without recording his reasons in writing therefor, as required by s 90 of the Code, is illegal, and a person rescuing the witness arrested on such warrant is not guilty of an offence under s 225 B of the Penal Code. SUKHESWAR PRAMAN v EMPEROR (1911)

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 789

— Arrest on a warrant allowing bail without intimating that bail has been allowed, legality of—Lawful custody—Rescue from custody. An warrant which provided for bail a constable arrested one S without giving him intimation that bail had been allowed, S was then rescued by a number of persons, who assaulted the constable. Held, that the arrest of S was illegal, as before actually making the arrest the constable should certainly have said, "Can you give the required bail?" That as S was not in lawful custody, his rescue did not constitute any offence and the persons who rescued S had the right of private defence and as they, under the circumstances of the case, had not exceeded that right,

WARRANT—contd

they could not be held guilty of any offence, SHYAMA CHURN MAJUMDAR v. THE KING EMPEROR (1911) . . . 10 C. W. N. 549 — Warrant issued by Civil Court to bailiff—Bailiff, who is—Effect of endorsement by Nazir—Execution by peon beyond time fixed by Nazir but within date when warrant returnable—

Peon's custody, if lawful—Rescuing from such custody, if offence—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1900), s 147—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908),

O XXI, r 25 Where a warrant issued by a Civil Court was addressed "to the bailiff" and made returnable on the 30th August and the

Nazir of the Court endorsed it with a direction to a particular peon to execute it within the 25th

August, and the peon executed it between the 25th and the 30th August: Held, that the fact that the warrant is addressed to the bailiff shows that it is the person who actually makes the seizure who is authorized by it, namely, the peon, who thus derived his authority from the Court which issued the warrant, and not from the Nazir who endorsed it, and the execution of the warrant by the peon subsequent to the date fixed by the Nazir and prior to that on which it was made returnable by Court was lawful and the rescuing of property attached from his custody constituted an offence.

PER COX, J.—The term bailiff should not be confined to the Nazir O XXI, r 25 of the Civil Procedure Code shows that the warrant is referred to the officer entrusted with the execution of process and it is clear from the terms of that section that that officer is not the Nazir but it is the peon. DHARAM CHAND v QUEEN EMPRESS, I. L. R. 22

Calc. 597, distinguished. SURESH ALI v KING EMPEROR (1913) . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 849

. 17 C. W. N. 841

— Validity of warrant—

Warrant, signed but not sealed—Arrest under such warrant—Rescue and escape from lawful custody—

Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s 75 (5)—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1900), s 225B. Under

s. 75 of the Criminal Procedure Code, the affixing of the seal of the Court is essential to the validity of a warrant. An arrest under a warrant duly signed but not sealed is, therefore, illegal: and a conviction under s 225B of the Penal Code is bad in law. MAHAJAN SURESH v EMPEROR (1914)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 708

WARRANT CASE.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898,

ss 248, 258, 345

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 369

See SUMMARY TRIAL.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 743

See WARRANT

— trial of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V

OF 1898), s. 256.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 503

WARRANT OF ARREST.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 75

2 Pat. L. J. 487

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1900),

s. 225B . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 506

— Whether Magistrate's

signature is necessary—Warrant directed to officer by official designation and not by name, validity of—Omission to explain to accused the contents of warrant, effect of—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), ss 75, 77, 79, 80, 537 and 551—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 224, 225 and 353.

WARRANT OF ARREST—contd.

 Where the Magistrate issuing a warrant for the arrest of an accused person signed the endorsement on the warrant, directing that if the accused gave bail for Rs 100, he was to be liberated, but only initialled that part of the warrant which directed the arrest of the accused. Held, that it was gross carelessness on the part of the Magistrate not to have signed his name in both places, but that the omission to do so was not in itself an illegality which vitiated the arrest. The Illustration to s. 537 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, covers a case in which the illegality of the warrant itself is a fact in issue, and does not relate merely to a case in which the defence to the substantive charge is that the accused have not been properly brought before the Court. A warrant directed in the first place to a police officer by his official designation and without inserting the officer's name is not illegal, but where the officer originally entrusted with the execution of a warrant directs it to another officer s. 79 of the Code requires the name of the latter officer to appear upon the endorsement. Omission on the part of an officer executing a warrant to explain to the accused the particulars of the warrant, after showing him the warrant, does not invalidate the arrest. All that s. 80 requires is that the accused shall have a reasonable opportunity of knowing on what charge he is being arrested and before what Court he is to appear, so that he may take steps to arrange for his defence. Where the constable executing a warrant of arrest showed the warrant to the accused and informed him that he would take bail if it was offered, and the accused asserted that no warrant had been issued against him, and the constable thereupon took him into custody. Held, that the terms of s. 80 of the Code had been substantially complied with. BANKEY BEHARY SINGH v KING EMPEROR. . . 3 Pat. L. J. 493

WARRANT OF ATTACHMENT.

Signature of Sheristadar and not of Court issuing it, effect of—Evidence (Act
II of 1870), s 114 (c)—Code of Civil Procedure (Act
V of 1908), O XXI, r 24 Where a warrant of attachment was signed, not by the Munsif issuing it, but by the Sheristadar, and did not bear the seal of the Court, and the accused were charged with rioting with the common object of illegally rescuing the attached property. Held, (1) that the onus of providing that the Sheristadar had no authority to sign the warrant was on the party contesting the validity of the warrant (in this case the accused), (2) that, in such a case it is not for the prosecution to prove the authority of the officer signing the warrant; (3) that, the provisions of O XXI, r. 24, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, being mandatory, the omission of the Court's seal on the warrant rendered the attachment illegal; (4) that, therefore, the common object charged was not an unlawful common object and consequently the charge of rioting was not sustainable. AMINDA BAI v KING EMPEROR

3 Pat. L. J. 636

WARRANT OF ATTORNEY.

— application to file—

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 833

WARRANT OFFICER.

— of the British Army—

See ARMY ACT (44 & 45 Vic. c 58), ss.
145, 190 . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 368WARRANTY.See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 37 Calc 334
15 C. W. N. 981See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s 55.
15 C. W. N. 655— sale of goods—Delivery to be given on arrival of steamer—l

See CONTRACT I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1222

— sale and purchase of goods to be manufactured by a Mill—

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 907

WASTE.

— ownership of—

See MIRASI VILLAGE.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 410

Gift by a life tenant—
Bhag property—Interest taken by widow of Mahommedan Bhagdar—Gift by Mahomedan widow for spiritual benefit of her husband—Intention of widow to make gift of her husband's property—Danger to reversion—Receiver, appointment of The gift of a portion of the property of which the donor is a life tenant constitutes waste, unless some necessity can be set up by the person making the alienation. A Mahomedan widow, who according to custom is only a life tenant of the Bhagdari property which belonged to her husband, cannot make gifts of the estate as if she were in the position of a Hindu widow who is entitled to make alienations to secure spiritual benefit to her husband. The fact that a life tenant is anxious to get the lands transferred to the name of another person, does not by itself constitute waste, but it might constitute a danger to the interests of the reversioner which a Court might take into consideration on the question whether his interests should be protected by appointing a Receiver. AMMED A'MAL v. BAI BIDI (1919) . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 727

WASTE LANDS.See MADRAS SETTLES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 8 I. L. R. 28 Mad 891

— ownership of kudevaran—

See LIMITATION ACT (ACT XV OF 1877), s. 22 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 722WASTE LANDS ACT (XXIII OF 1863).

— s. 18—

Procedure under that Act—Sale, by Government, of lands under the Act Error in advertisement of sale—Absence of price of proclamation ousting jurisdiction of ordinary Courts and constituting a Special Court—Three years' limit for claims only applicable to proceedings before Special Court—Act applied to other lands

WASTE LANDS ACT (XXIII OF 1863)—*contd.s 18—*contd.

than those only held by Government. Great weight had always been given by the Judicial Committee to the accuracy of survey maps: they were not conclusive, but in the absence of evidence to the contrary they will be presumed to be accurate. This appeal arose out of a suit by the Maharajah of Tipperah to recover possession of certain plots of land in Sylhet from the Government and from certain Tea Companies who in virtue of leases granted by the Government were in possession of the lands in suit. There were concurrent findings of fact by the Courts in India that the lands in question were de facto in the possession of the plaintiff and his predecessors since the beginning of the 19th century, and that the dispossession had taken place within 12 years before suit so as to exclude the plea of limitation, and the Judicial Committee substantially upheld the decision of the High Court in favour of the plaintiff. One plot, however, had been sold by the Government as waste land and the sale was not in any way stopped or interfered with by the Rajah, and more, than three years had elapsed from the date of delivery to the purchaser which was the period provided by s 18 of the Waste Lands Act (XXIII of 1863) after which no claim to any land, or to compensation or damages in respect of any land sold as waste land could be received, and it was contended that the suit was barred by s 18 as to that plot. Held, that the Act was one which was drastic in its character and made great invasion on private rights. The defendant who pleaded it must therefore bring the matter strictly within its provisions which clearly pointed to the necessity of proper intimation being given by Government as to the proposed sale and where they had given a misleading notice and had advertised a sale of lands in one district when they were situated in another district, the whole of the sale proceedings failed for want of a proper basis. When a claim was allowed under the Act procedure was provided for the issue of a proclamation which ousted the jurisdiction of the ordinary Courts and constituted a Special Court, and no proof had in this case been given that any proclamation was issued. The provision as to three years in s 18 was clearly applicable to the proceedings before the Special Court and that Court alone. The procedure under the Waste Lands Act is not applicable only to lands belonging to the Government. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v BISKANDRA BISKORE MANIKYA (1916)

L. R. 43 I. A. 303
1 L. R. 45 Calc. 328

WATAN

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT
(Box III of 1874) ss 23, 34

1 L. R. 40 Bom. 55

See VATAN

WATANDAR

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT
(X of 1870) s 4 (a)

1 L. R. 45 Bom. 1141

WATER

See EASEMENT s 15 C. W. N. 259
1 L. R. 42 Calc. 184

See FISHERY

1 L. R. 42 Calc. 489

WATER—contd.

See GRANT, CONSTRUCTION OF

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 424

See RIPARIAN RIGHTS

Flowing, right to—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (MAD ACT VII OF 1863) s 1 AND PROviso, ss. 1 AND 2. 1 L. R. 40 Mad. 886

for wet lands—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII
OF 1863), s 1 1 L. R. 38 Mad. 897 proprietary rights in—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII
OF 1863) 1 L. R. 37 Mad. 322 right to the flow of—

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), ss 2
(c) AND 17 (c) 1 L. R. 42 Bom. 283 rights respective flow of—

See EASEMENT 1 L. R. 33 AH. 619

WATER-CESS

See MADRAS WATER CESS ACT (VII OF
1863) 1 L. R. 39 Mad. 67

WATER CONNECTION

See MUNICIPALITY

1 L. R. 47 Calc. 426

WATER DUTIES.

See NAVIGABLE RIVER

1 L. R. 46 Calc. 380

WATER COURSE.

See MADRAS IRRIGATION WATER CESS
ACT

See RIPARIAN RIGHTS

WATERFLOW.

—Agricultural lands, upper and lower, owners of—Right of upper owner to drain his water naturally on lower land—Irdion Easements Act (V of 1882) s 7, (a) and (i). The ruling in Mahamahopadhyaya Rangachariar v The Municipal Council of Kumbakonam, 1 L. R. 29 Mad. 539, distinguished. An owner of upper agricultural land is entitled to let his water flow in its natural course without any obstruction by the owner of the lower land, and the lower owner is not entitled to raise any bund on his land which will have the effect of seriously interfering with the upper owner's cultivation and Subramaniam Ayyar v Ramachandra Puv, 1 L. R. 1 Mad. 335, and Abdul Hakim v Ganesh Puri 1 I. R. 12 Calc. 323, followed. Sengara Reddiar v Perumal Reddiar (1910) Mad. H. A. 545, dissenting from RAMANWANT v RAST (1913)

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 149

WATER-PASSAGE.

See DISPUTE CONCERNING EASEMENT

1 L. R. 39 Calc. 560

WATER RATE.

—Madras Board of Revenue Standing Orders, Edition 1905 Ch. I, App. of s. D, rr 2 and 3—"Full water rate" meaning 1, The words "full water-rate" in r. 2 of the Standing Orders of the Madras Board of Revenue Ch. I App. I, s. D (Ed. 1900, p. 61), mean full water-

WATER RATE—contd.

rate in respect of wet cultivation and not full water rate in respect of the crop actually raised
SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v SUBBA ROW OF KURNOOL (1910) . I L. R. 34 Mad. 426

WATER RIGHTS.

See EASEMENTS] I. L. R. 37 Mad. 304

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT 1865, s. 1.
 I. L. R. 40 Mad. 888

Surface water—Right of owner of higher land to discharge surface water over adjacent lower land—Inability of the owner of servient tenement to discharge same owing to rise of bed of adjacent stream by silting—His remedy—Dominant owner's right, if affected It is well settled in this country that the owner of higher land is entitled to discharge surface water over adjacent lower land. Where, owing to the silting up of a stream into which the water thus discharged ultimately flowed, the level of the bed of the stream became higher than the adjacent lower land, to the inconvenience of the owners thereof, Held, that the increase of burden to the servient owners not being due to anything done by the dominant owners, the latter were still entitled to exercise their rights and it was for the servient owners to take such steps as might be advisable to deal with the difficulties created by the rise in the bed of the stream. KARISWAR MUKHERJEE v JYOTI KUMAR MUKHERJEE (1917)
 22 C. W. N. 666

WAY.

See RIGHT OF WAY.

Public way—Public drain when filled up it becomes public way A public drain does not become a public way merely because it is filled up. RAM CHANDRA SIL v RAMAKHANI DASI (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 773

Suit for declaration of—Whether it is necessary to locate the exact position or to show whether any definite track was used—Plaintiff to establish the termini from and to which the way runs—Plaintiff to enjoy the right in the way pointed out by owners of servient tenement—If not, the nearest route In a suit for a declaration of the plaintiffs' right of way it is not necessary to locate the exact position in which the way was enjoyed over the compound of the defendants, nor is it necessary to show that any definite marked pathway over the compound was always used. If the plaintiffs establish the termini from which and to which the way runs, the plaintiffs would be entitled to have the right of way and that right would be enjoyed in the way that the owners of the servient tenement point out as being the track over which the way should be enjoyed; and, if not, then the plaintiffs would be entitled to enjoy the way by the nearest route. LAKSHI KANTA ROY v RAJ CHANDRA SHANA (1918)
 [22 C. W. N. 822

Held that a suit for a declaration that a pathway is a village pathway, can succeed without proof of special damage. HARISH CHANDRA SAHA v PRAN NATH CHAKRA-BARTI
 26 C. W. N. 537

WEEKLY SITTING LIST.

notes to the—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss 421, 233, 537
 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 527

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

bye-law for—

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM. ACT III OF 1888), ss 418, 461, cl. (c).
 I. L. R. 41 Bom. 580

WELL.

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), s. 13 AND 47 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 I. L. R. 35 All. 292

WHIPPING.

sentence of—

See WHIPPING ACT (IV OF 1860) s. 3
 I. L. R. 25 Ecm. 137

WHIPPING ACT (IV OF 1860).

s. 3—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 565—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 7—Sentence of whipping only passed on accused—Order to accused to notify his residence—Validity of the order s. 565 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) must be strictly construed. The order contemplated by the section can only be made at the time of passing sentence of transportation or imprisonment upon a convict. It cannot be made where the Court, instead of passing that sentence, passes a sentence of whipping. EMPEROR v FULJI DITTA (1910)
 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 137

WIDOW.

See BABUANA GRANT .
 I. L. R. 42 Calc. 582

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 185

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION

See HINDU LAW—DEBT
 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 113

See HINDU LAW—GIFT
 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 136

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 183
 I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179

See HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY
 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 88

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

HINDU WIDOW'S REMARRIAGE ACT 1856

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
 I. L. R. 37 All. 422
 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 279

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS 141, 144.
 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 714

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.

See MAINTENANCE
 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 278
 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 131, 383
 I. L. R. 43 Bom. 66

WIDOW—contd

- See PES JUDICATA
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 127
- See WILL
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 279
- adoption by—
See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 408
- See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
- adoption by minor—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 327
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 925
- adoption by of her brother's son—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 37 All. 359
- adoption by widow on condition—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1167
- adoption by widow succeeding as heir to unmarried son—
See HINDU LAW (ADOPTION)
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 297
- adoption by widow of a Shudra—
See HINDU LAW (ADOPTION)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 459
- adoption where more than one widow—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 508
- adoption by widow under direction in Husband's Will—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1012
- adoption by during life time of son adopted by husband—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 627
- adoption by widow of co partneror after death of survey co-partenor—
See HINDU LAW (ADOPTION)
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 433
- alienation by—
See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 408
- See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
- See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 568
- See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 13
- See LIMITATION
L. R. 41 I. A. 287
- brother's, not an heir—
See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 293
- decree against for husband's debt—
See HINDU LAW—WIDOW
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 565

WIDOW—contd.

- devise to—
See HINDU LAW—WILL
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 581
- execution of deed by—
See DECLARATORY DECREE
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 510
- extent of power of representation—
See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 69
- gift by to daughter—
See HINDU LAW—GIFT
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1
- See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 255
- gift voidable by reversioners—
See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 105
- gift by Mahomedan widow with his interest for spiritual benefit of husband—
See WASTE
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 727
- maintenance of—
See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 153
- minor adoption by—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 925
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 327
- of a joint owner—whether entitled to claim partition—
See SECOND APPEAL
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 343
- powers exercised by surviving—
See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 189
- power to to adopt—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 749
- power of general disposition of life estate by Will—See WILL
25 C. W. N. 890
- prior right of adoption between widows—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 68
- representative of—
See MORTGAGE
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 925
- right of to retain husband's property for dower—
See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 475
- right of residence under Hindu Law—
See HINDU—LAW WIDOW
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 337
- share taken by—
See HINDU—LAW PARTITION
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1059
- See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WIDOW
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 947

WIDOW—conold.

— exclusion of—

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 582

WIDOW'S ESTATE.

See HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE
See HINDU LAW—STREIDHAN
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 870

— alienation of, by Court of Wards—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 846

WIFE.

See DIVORCE .
See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 138

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE
I. L. R. 39 All. 234

See HUSBAND AND WIFE

See RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS.

— costs of—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 963
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 25

— gift by, to husband—

See MALABAR LAW
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 79

— interest taken by—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 79

— insisting to live with her parents under an agreement—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 597

— rights of—

See JEWISH LAW I. L. R. 38 Calc. 708
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 268

WILL—

	Col.
CONSTRUCTION	4220
DEBATTAR'.	4240
DEMONSTRATIVE LEGACY	4241
EXECUTION.	4241
EXECUTOR	4243
PROOF	4247
REVOCATION	4252
VALIDITY	4253

See SHAGHARI ACT (BOM. V of 1862),
s 3 . . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 207

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1852.
s 325 A . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 233

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT

I. L. R. 33 All. 685.
I. L. R. 39 All. 311
I. L. R. 41 All. 668

See COURT FEES ACT, 1870, s. 19 (cl).
5 Pat. L. J. 36

See CUTECH MEMONS.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 181

See DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION.

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 211

WILL—contd

See ENDOWMENT ACT s. 13 AND 147.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 89

See ESTOPPEL . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 145

See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872)—
ss 38 AND 45 I. L. R. 41 All. 248
ss 40, 41, 42 AND 44
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 427

s 41 . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 309
See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 953

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII
OF 1890), ss 38 AND 7
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 672

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 668
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 189

See HINDU LAW—MINOR
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW'S ESTATE
I. L. R. 46 I. A. 259

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

See HINDU WILLS ACT, XXI OF 1870.
ss 2 AND 5 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 506

See INAM LANDS I. L. R. 38 Bom. 272
See JOINT HINDU FAMILY
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 245

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), ss 5
AND 7 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 589
s 10 . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 49

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAF
I. L. R. 43 All. 508

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL.

See NAIKINS . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 116

See NORTH WEST PROVINCES RENT ACT
(XVIII OF 1873), s 9
I. L. R. 41 All. 356

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 254

See OUDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1860).
s 13, 16 AND 17 . I. L. R. 32 All. 227

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT
s 81 . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 459

See REGISTRATION.

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 227

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865)
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 544

ss. 82 AND 187 I. L. R. 33 Mad. 91
s 244 . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 448

See WILL AND CODICIL.
22 C. W. N. 305

See WILL OF PARS

— Bequest of income without corpus—

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872, s 115
I. L. R. 1 Pat. L. J. 16

— bequest to daughter—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1122

WILL—contd.

by Hindu widow—

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 588

Bequest to women—

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872, s 115

1 Pat. L. J. 18

construction of—

See CONSTRUCTION OF WILL.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION

I. L. R. 42 All. 238

1 L. R. 37 Bom. 107

See HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE.

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 199

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 466

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

I. L. R. 38 All. 445

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ALIENATION

I. L. R. 34 All. 213

execution of—]

See SUCCESSION ACT (I of 1865), s 50

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 559

executed before Hindu Wills Act—

See HINDU LAW—WILL. 23 C. W. N. 826

in favour of Hindu female—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 415

in favour of son with gift over on death—]

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 1 Lsh. 202

in favour of a woman—]

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 175

joint will—]

See PROBATE. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 837

nomination by—]

See MUTR. I. L. R. 43 Mad. 177 of occupancy rights which have ripened into ownership—

See COLONISATION OF GOVERNMENT LANDS

(PUNJAB) ACT, 1912

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 509

of Hindu widow—possession of husband's estate—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 38 All. 413

revocation of—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 369

statement in—

See HINDU WIDOW

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 555

WILL—contd.

setting aside a—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I of 1877).

s 42. I. L. R. 41 All. 154

signed by some other person by direction of testator—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X of 1865), s 50

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 989

signed by two persons—

See PROBATE. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 887

validity of—

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 838

See PROBATE. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 480

CONSTRUCTION

1. Bequest to take effect after deaths of testator and his wife—Legatee surviving testator but predeceasing wife—Vested or contingent interest. One S executed a will whereby he gave all his property after the death of himself and his wife M to his daughter B and his nephew D. D survived the testator but predeceased M. Held, that D took a vested interest in the property which was transmissible to his sons. Bhagabati Ram-maya v. Kail. Charan Singh, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 453 & All. L. J. 433, followed. Bilaso v. Muxsi Lal (1911). I. L. R. 33 All. 558

2. Clause for maintenance of daughters—Succession Act (X of 1865), ss 111, 187—“Uncertain event”—Marriage of daughters—Letter, right of to sue—Succession Act, s 3—“Probate” of will obtained only after institution of suit—Grant of Probate, modified by High Court on appeal. A Hindu died in 1879, leaving a will whereby (among other things) he made provision for his wives and his daughters who survived him. The clause provided for the daughters was “When they will be married, and if they desire to live in separate houses, the person in whose management my property will be at the time will make separate houses for them in the vicinity of my house from the income of my property. For the maintenance of my daughters I fix an allowance of Rs 600 a year for Srimati Prasanna, and Rs 600 for Srimati Sarat. As long as the daughters will live in the separate houses in this place they will get the fixed allowances respectively, but if the daughters do not live in this place, they will get Rs 10.” The daughters married in 1888 and 1899 respectively, and lived in separate houses. In suits for their allowances it was contended that the bequests to them were given in the “uncertain event” of their marriage, and as that event did not happen until after the death of the testator the bequests were void by reason of s 111 of the Succession Act (X of 1865) and never took effect. Held, on the construction of the above clause, that the payment of maintenance was not contingent on the daughter's marriages, and that therefore s 111 was not applicable. At the time the suits were instituted no letters of administration had been granted but pending the suits the widow obtained from the District Judge a grant of letters of administration with the will annexed. The grant was, on appeal, modified by the High Court by limiting it to the realisation of the main-ténance allowance provided by the will for the widow; but before the letters of administration could be recalled and altered, the widow died and the letters were never formally altered. It was contended that the suits could not be maintained with reference to s 187 of the Succession Act which requires that before the right of a legatee can be established "probate of the will shall have been granted." Held, that the grant of administration with the will annexed was, within the meaning of s 3 of the Act, a grant of "probate" which was a compliance with the provisions of s 187. The subsequent limitation of the grant was immaterial. So long as the compliance with the section was prior to decree, the fact that it was after the institution of the suits made no difference and the Court was fully competent to deal with the suits. CHANDRA KISHORE ROY v PRASANNA KIMARI DAS (1910) . . . I. L. R. 38 Cal. 327

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

15 C W N. 121

3. ——— Rules for devolution of trust if constitutes a will—Probate, if may be granted of an instrument laying down rules for devolution of trust—Partial probate, if may be given—Residuary bequest, effect of. Where a Mohunt made a will the main body of which simply laid down rules for the devolution of trust property, but there was a clause in the following terms: "the said K shall get and shall be entitled of his own accord to make a gift or sale of any other property that I may earn during my life time . . ." Held, that, whether or not there was any such residuary property, there was here a valid testamentary disposition which may be admitted to probate though the main body of the will being a deed merely evidencing a devolution of trust would not by itself be testamentary or admissible to probate. Held, further, that in the circumstances probate must be granted of the will as a whole, leaving it open to any party to establish his title by suit to any property in respect of which there may be a declaration of trust ineffectual as a will, and vesting the whole estate in the executor pending determination of title to such property. BAISNAV CHANAN DASS BAIRAGI v KISHORE DASS MOHANTA (1911) . . . 15 C W N. 1014

3(a) The term 'Mabk' when used in a will or other document as descriptive of the position which a devise or donee is intended to hold includes full proprietary rights unless there is something in the context or surrounding circumstances to restrict this meaning. MUSAMMAT SASIMAN CHOWDHURAI v SHIB NARAYAN CHOWDHURY 26 C W N. 425

4. ——— Will or family arrangement—Immediate operation—Irrevocability—Registration—Registration Act (III of 1877), s 17—Floodings inconsistency in—Costs—Successful party deprived of all costs. A document executed by the owner of an estate on 23rd May 1884, which was plainly intended to be operative immediately and to be final and irrevocable, was held to be a non testamentary instrument, e.g., a family arrangement which as regards immovable property failed of effect because it was not registered as required by s 17 of the Registration Act (III of 1877). The appellants in whose favour the above decision was given having set up a will of a later date had started with the case that the instrument in question was a will, but the will propounded by them being found not proved, they later on attacked the document on the ground stated above. Similar inconsistency appeared in the pleadings of their opponents. Held, that in the circumstances the Judicial Committee was not precluded from giving effect to the real character of the instrument, but the appellants were deprived of their costs in all the Courts. UNRAO SINGH v LACHMAN SINGH (1911) . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 244 sc 15 C W. N. 497

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

L R 33 I. A. 104

4(a) ——— Signature—Proof of—Handwriting Expert. The Propounder of a will should prove to the satisfaction of the court beyond all possible doubt that the will was executed by the alleged Testator. The opinion of a hand writing expert when he was not called as a witness was held inadmissible. MUSAMMAT PADMA PRIYA DEBYA v DHARMA DAS DEB SARMA 15 C W. N. 728

5. ——— Bequest dividing self-acquired property—between testator's two sons with gift over to survivor—Survivorship whether limited to survivorship during testator's life or extending to period after his death—Period of distribution—Hindu Law. A Hindu resident of Surat in the Presidency of Bombay made a will dated 20th August 1899 by which after appointing his two sons "executors, heirs and owners" of the whole of his property (which was self acquired) and directing them to divide and take equal shares in it with certain exceptions, gave each of them a half share of his estate not especially disposed of by the will. By clause 9 he made the following bequest, "I have divided between and given to my two sons the whole of my property as mentioned above. But should either of these two sons die without having had (leaving) any male issue the survivor of the said two sons is duly to take the whole of the property appertaining to the share of the deceased son who may have (leave) no male issue (behind him) after undertaking (to defray) the expenses in connection with the maintenance of his widow and marriage of his minor daughter. But under these circumstances the heirs of my deceased son, Surjalal, shall not get any right whatever." The testator died on 4th July 1901 leaving him surviving his two sons. The elder son died on 2nd January 1903 leaving a widow and a daughter. In a suit by the surviving son to enforce the provisions of clause 9 of the will, the High Court held that the period of distribution contemplated by the testator was the period of his death at which time half of his estate became vested in each of his sons absolutely and that clause 9 should be read as if the survivorship there provided was limited to survivorship at the death of the testator. Held, (reversing that decision), that the words of clause 9 were not limited to survivorship during the testator's life. But clearly pointed to survivorship whenever it should occur; and that the surviving son was as such survivor entitled to the estate conveyed by the clause subject to the obligation imposed upon him of maintaining his brother's widow and daughter. CHUNIL PARVATHIBAI v. P. M. SAMBATH CHUNIL (1914) . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 389

6. ——— Direction to carry on testator's business—Loss suffered in the course of the business

WILL—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

—Mortgage—Liability of the executor—Testator's assets liable. One Gordhandas made a will and died leaving him surviving his widow, a daughter and her husband and two grandsons by the daughter. Under the will the testator appointed his widow and the daughter's husband executrix and executor and directed among other things that in order to perpetuate his name his business should be carried on by the executor so long as it could be carried on at a good profit but, should it appear that the trade will suffer so as to destroy his reputation, the executor should stop it. At the time of his death the testator possessed, inter alia, a cotton spinning factory. The executor and executrix carried on the business in the testator's name for some time and having found that large liabilities were incurred in the course of the business the factory was mortgaged to J with possession. The mortgage was executed by the testator's widow as owner of the firm of Gordhandas and by her daughter. The fact of the will was denied in the mortgage conveyance. The ladies executed the mortgage by affixing their marks and their names were written by the executor. J sued the mortgagor ladies and the executor to recover the mortgage-debt and obtained a decree. The executor died while the suit was pending. The mortgage property was sold under J's decree and was purchased by him at the court-sale. In the meanwhile the beneficiaries under the will, that is the two grandsons of the testator and the sons of the deceased executor, brought a suit against J for a declaration that the property was not liable to be sold under the defendant's mortgage decree and that the defendant had obtained by his purchase no right as against the plaintiff's rights in the property. Held, dismissing the suit, that the mortgage was by one member of the firm with the consent and informal co-operation of the undisclosed partner, the executor, who had the implied authority of the testator to deal with the factory in the ordinary course of business. The mortgage was therefore valid and binding on the executor as principal. Juggendras Keeka Shah v Ramdas Brijbhokan Das, 2 Moo I A 487, followed. A mortgage by a trader under a testamentary trust of the testator's property is referable to his implied authority as a trustee and not to his position as executor. Devitt v Kearney 13 L R Ir 45, followed. An executor carrying on the trade of his testator under a testamentary trust is liable personally to the trade creditors and is entitled to use as a trader the trade assets of the testator. He does not violate his trust by carrying on the trade in conjunction with his co-executor who is not named as a trade trustee. The trustee though personally liable for the debts which he contracts in the course of his business, has a right to be paid out of the specific assets appropriated for that purpose and the trade creditors are not to be disappointed of payment so far as the assets so appropriated are concerned. JETHABAI v ONOTA LAL (1909) . 1 L. R. 34 Bom. 209

7 ———— Life estate to daughter—Request to daughter's sons—On failure of the bequest the estate to go to the testator's cousins absolutely—No son born to the daughter at the death of the testator—Failure of the bequest to daughter's son—Not a case of intestacy—Operation of the bequest in favour of the testator's cousins—The intention of the testator to retain his estate in his own family, that is, in the hands of his cousins. A testator in his will provided, inter alia, that his daughter should have a life estate of Rs 150 and the rent of a house and in the event of her having a male child or male children, he or they should take the whole estate of the testator on attaining the age of 18 and then bearing a good character. Should the daughter have no male issue, then on her death, the whole of the testator's estate was to go to his cousins absolutely. The daughter having borne no male issue during the life time of the testator, the intended bequest to her male issue failed. Concandra Mohan Tagore v Jatindra Mohan Tagore, 9 B L R 377. A question having arisen as to whether the condition of the daughter having a son (at the death of the testator) not being fulfilled, there was a case of intestacy. Held, that there was no intestacy. The intention of the testator was to give the whole of his property to his grand son (daughter's son). That intention having failed, the dominant intention of the testator was subject to his daughter's life estate, to retain the estate in his own family, that is to say, in the hands of his cousins. NARAYAN VEDHUKHANDAS v BAI SARASWATIBAI (1914)

WILL—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

11 L. R. 38 Bom. 697

8 ———— Bequest by Hindu testator to widow, daughter, and daughter's daughter—Succession Act (X of 1865), s 111. Where a testator intended that his wife, daughter and daughter's daughter should each have an absolute interest in the property, and so long as anybody descended from himself was in existence his brother's son or the latter's descendants should have no interest in the property and where the provisions of his will ran thus—"If my wife die before, my daughter Gangamoni Debba shall get the property, etc." Held, that under the provisions of s 111 of the Succession Act the daughter takes only a life interest. Lalla v Jagmohan, 1 L R 22 Bom 409, Mahendra Lal v Bakhal Das, 17 C L J 630, Tripurari Pal v Jagat Narain Das, 1 L R 40 Cal. 274, Sures Chandra Paul v Lalit Mohan Dutta Chowdhuri, 20 C W. N 463, referred to. JAGAT BHOY BHATTACHARJEE v TOMTERDDI HOWLADAR (1916) . 1 L. R. 44 Cal. 181

9 ———— *Gift of life-estate with power of appointment—On failure to appoint estate to test in legatee's heirs, executors and administrators—Construction—Absolute gift—Fes judicata. Testator bequeathed the income of a house to his two sons G B and H B for life, the moiety of the corpus to go to such person as each of his two sons shall by will or deed appoint and in default of appointment to their heirs, executors and administrators. Held, that the bequest conveyed an absolute estate in a moiety to each of the sons. G B was declared insolvent in Rangoon and in a suit filed before the Chief Court by the Official Assignee as Assignee of G B's estate for the determination of the effect of the insolvency of G B on the bequest to him and his power of appointment, a consent decree was passed declaring that the Official Assignee was only entitled to a half share in the rents of the house during G B's lifetime, without prejudice to the rights of his appointees or his heirs, executors and administrators. Subsequently G B's adjudication was*

WILL—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

annulled Held, that the consent decree did not operate as res judicata to prevent the High Court construing the bequest BALTHAZAR v BALTHAZAR (1917) 21 C W N. 992

10. — Construction of will—Absolute words and limiting words occurring in one sentence—Intention of the testator A testator made the following provision in his will "I appoint by this testament my brother Joaquim Serpes as my only and universal heir of all the immovable property which I possess, and which may hereafter in any manner belong to me, with the strict obligation to him not to sell, exchange, or hypothecate it, but only to enjoy the usufruct thereof, and at his death to pass over the same to his male children procreating the same as a patrimony of the house." The question being raised whether upon a proper construction of the will Joaquim was merely a life tenant or whether he took absolutely Held, that Joaquim was a mere life-tenant ROSS D SOUZA v JOSEPH (1916) 1 L R. 41 Bom 70

11. — Wills by Hindu—fundamental principles common to Hindu and English wills—Court's duty to give effect to intention as expressed, not to add to will—Surrounding circumstances to be looked at as aid to interpretation only—Religious opinion and race, is what way relevant—Liberal construction of native wills, meaning of Contemporaneous deed, referred to in will and interpretation by persons interested if may be referred to—English rules of construction, if inapplicable In construing a will, a Court must consider the surrounding circumstances, the position of the testator, his family relationships, the probability that he would use words in a particular sense and many other things including the race and religious opinions of the testator and influences and aims arising therefrom—but all this solely as an aid to ascertain the meaning of the language used by the particular testator in the particular will. Once the right construction is settled, the duty of the Court is loyally to carry out the intentions as expressed and none other—This duty is universal, and is true alike of wills of every nationality and every religion or rank of life. The Court is in no case justified in adding to testamentary dispositions. If they transgress any legal restrictions they must be disregarded. If any eventuality arises which the will leaves unprovided for, there will be intestacy. This fundamental principle does not clash with the principle that the Court will not necessarily apply English rules of construction to a will of a Hindu living in the present, nor does it clash in any way with what is sometimes called "a liberal interpretation to native wills." This native procedure should be ignorant of the local customs proper to express their intentions or of the legal steps necessary to carry them into effect, is one of the most important of the "surrounding circumstances" which the Court must bear in mind, and it is justified in making, in order to do justice, an express use of these matters to prevent the carrying out of the testator's trust for law. But the intention must be ascertained by the proper construction of the words he has used, and once ascertained, they must not be distorted from it. It is fundamental in our rules a will to look at contemporaneous circumstances referred to in the will which the testator was or seemed to be written with the express intent to render clear his wishes with regard to his succession The interpretation placed on the power by the testator's widows was referred to "for what it was worth." NARASIMHA APPA ROW v PARTHASARATHY APPA ROW (1913) 18 C W N. 554

WILL—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 199

12. — Republication—Succession Act (X of 1865), ss 105, 153—Codicil—Death of testator within one year—Repair of graves—Charitable bequest—Conditions Elect one of Deacons Communion Service—Gift-over to another charity—Perpetuities The testator died on the 8th July, 1909, leaving as next of kin a nephew and leaving a will dated the 14th April, 1894 and four codicils. The testamentary dispositions included certain charitable and religious bequests. The last two codicils dated the 15th December, 1906 and the 19th December, 1908, respectively, were not deposited according to the provisions of s 105 of the Succession Act, they did not however, purport to revoke the will, but in effect republished the will: Held, that in the circumstances the will as modified by the codicils was operative Hopwood v Hopwood, 1 H L Cas 723, In re Moore, Long v Moore, (1907) 1 Ir Rep 315, referred to. A direction that the will shall not have any effect (beyond proving the same) for at least two years from the arrival of the news of the testator's death, operated merely as a postponing clause, and did not invalidate the will. A direction to trustees to look after and keep in proper repairs certain graves and to pay for the expenses of such repairs in perpetuity out of the estate, was not for charitable uses, and was void and inoperative. HOARE v OSHWAL, L R 1 E 555, MILLIK v THE PRESIDENT AND GUARDIANS OF THE LAYMAN (1911) Jac 150, In re Faughan Vaughan v Thomas, L R 33 Ch D 157, In re Kyrle, Bird v Lar, (1911) 1 Ch 715 referred to. In re Tyler Tyler v Tyler, (1911) 3 Ch 251, distinguished. A bequest in favour of the Lower Circular Road Baptist Church was subject to, inter alia, the following conditions: (a) that no ordained minister or missionary be ever elected as a deacon of the church, or be allowed to canvass for votes; (b) that at communion two cups, one of fermented one of unfermented, wine should be provided; (c) that the deacons do not introduce any innovation into the practice of the church. In the event of the non-fulfilment of the conditions there was a gift-over in favour of the Haverhill Baptist Church and other charitable and religious institutions. Held, that there was nothing illegal or impossible in the conditions, and inasmuch as the conditions had not been fulfilled the gift-over came into operation. In re Haverhill Baptist Church v Tyler, (1911) 1 Ch 251, distinguished. An accumulation for a charity for charitable uses, with a gift-over on an event which may be beyond the ordinary limit of perpetuities to another charitable institution. CHURCH v HOPKINS, L R 1 E 555, In re Tyler Tyler v Tyler, (1911) 3 Ch 251, referred to. In re Haverhill Baptist Church v Tyler, (1911) 1 Ch 251, In re Haverhill Baptist Church v Tyler, (1911) 3 Ch 251, distinguished. ADVERTISEMENTS, GENERAL OF FROST v HUGHES (1912)

I. L. R. 40 Cal. 192

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

without division, as a rais. The other issue of the family of J B shall be entitled to get food, raiment and other necessaries out of the monthly allowance (4) When there remains no descendant of the family of J B at any time the monthly allowance of Rs 4,000 will be resumed and remain in proprietary possession of the proprietor of the "raai the goddess." The Court of the Judicial Commissioner held that "aulad primæ facie meant legitimate issue, and dismissed the suit Held (upholding the decision), that the case was not one where a gift is made by will of the corpus of a fund or a life interest in a fund to the "children" of the testator, or of another, as a class. There might be good reason in some such cases for holding that in India the word "children" includes illegitimate children. But here a succession of life interests from generation to generation is intended to be set up, the successor, or 'proprietor,' in each instance being vested with an absolute control of the income subject only to the duty of maintaining the issue (aulad) of the family (khandan) of the first proprietor J B. There was nothing on the face of the codicil to suggest that a meaning should be given to the word "aulad" different from its primæ facie meaning. To include illegitimate issue would bring into the line of succession not only the testator's illegitimate grand children, but their illegitimate issue from generation to generation. Such a construction would render condition No 4 rather unnecessary and would also defeat the whole purpose and object of the testator in establishing the succession of life interests. Nor was there any reason for extending the meaning of the word 'khandan' which ordinarily refers to the group of descendants who constitute the family of the proprietor, so as to include illegitimate offspring, who from the necessities of the case cannot share in the family life or its worship or ceremonies. Held, also, that the fair result of the evidence was that J B did his utmost to become an orthodox Hindu, and to pass as such in the society in which he lived, and that his father from boy's youth upwards aided and encouraged him in those efforts. The testator treated his marriages with the two Chattri ladies as lawful marriages and desired that others should so treat them, and consequently resolved to regard and treat the offspring of those unions as legitimate, and desired that they should be so treated and regarded by others; and that it was in this frame of mind he made the testamentary disposition in dispute. Having regard to all the evidence in the case, and the provisions of the codicil itself the intention of the testator plainly was to treat the marriages of J B with the two women of the Chattri caste as valid marriages and the issue of those marriages as legitimate issue. SHRI BHARADUR v GANGA BAKSHI SINGH (1913)

I L R 36 ALL 101

14 a). — One P died leaving a will by which he directed that certain legacies should be paid out of a fund of P's 10,000 invested in fixed deposit in the Delhi and London Bank. The Bank advised during P's lifetime advanced certain sums to his daughter on an undertaking by P that he would stand surety for the loan. I was also himself indebted to the Bank. Held on a suit by the legatees that the executor of P's will was perfectly justified on being satisfied as to the fact of P's relations with the Bank above described in permitting the Bank to realise from the fund in question both the amount of loan to P's daughter and the amount of his own indebtedness. HERBERT ARCHIBALD POCKOCK v. THE DELHI AND LONDON BANK, LTD.

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

I L R 38 ALL 219

15 — Money belonging to a testator but not known to him—Residuary clause not proceeding by—Rule of construction of residuary clause, in a will made in the town of Madras. A testator in the town of Madras after stating in the preliminary clauses the properties moveable and immovable to which he was entitled and which he by subsequent clauses in the will bequeathed to various beneficiaries and legatees, finally made a bequest in the following terms: "the sum which may be left after deducting the above mentioned legacies and such other expenses shall be utilised in my name for pooja and other charities in Vytheewar temple." Unknown to the testator there was a sum of Rs 4,000 lying to his credit with the Registrar of the High Court which after his death was paid to his executor on his application. In this suit by the widow of the testator for administration of the estate. Held, that the sum of Rs 4,000 was not disposed of even under the above residuary clause of the will, that the plaintiff was entitled to it as on an intestacy and that the executor was liable to account for the same from the date of the testator's death on the footing of a wilful default. The residuary clause in the form in which it appears in English wills is practically unknown to the ordinary testator in Madras and the rules of construction which have been laid down by English Courts are not applicable. KUTHALAMMAL v SETHA-PRAKASAROTA MUDALIAR (1915)

I L R 38 Mad. 1096

16 — Will of Parsi—Devise to two sons in equal shares—Gift over to son of elder son, if he should have one—Failure of male issue to elder son—Provision for adopted son on failure of natural son—Adoption after testator's death and according to Parsi custom three days after death of father—Gift over to grandson on attaining majority—Elder son surviving testator—Succession Act (X of 1865), s 111. A Parsi having two sons P and J made a will in 1866 in the following terms:—Cl 2 stated "The said two sons are proprietors half and half alike and in equal (shares) of my whole estate, outstandings, debts, title and interest, and both the heirs living together are duly to enjoy the balance which may remain after the Sarkar's assessment. In this my testamentary writing I the testator have appointed my two sons as (my) heirs." Cl 5 said that "If the elder son being in a confused state of mind, the management of the estate was entrusted to the younger son J—by his true and pure integrity, and both the heirs are to equally enjoy half and half alike the whole estate with equanimity with my elder son P in such a way as not to injure his (P's) rights. At present my elder son P has no male issue of his body (if) he has only a daughter. Therefore if my elder son P gets a male issue half of the estate is to be made over to him on his attaining his full age." Cl 11, after prohibiting any alienation of the property, continued, "If my son P does not get a son J is to give away his son as P's joint (or adopted son). All the clauses of,

WILL—could

CONSTRUCTION—could

this will are applicable to the said adopted son if a son be born of the body of P he (shall) on attaining (his) full age be the owner of a half share of the whole of the immovable and moveable estate belonging to me all the clauses written in this will are applicable to the said son of (his body)." The testator died on 21st August 1865 leaving his two sons, and J entered upon the management of the estate having obtained probate of the will in 1867. P was twice married but had no son. He died in 1897 leaving a widow and other representatives his heirs according to the Parsi Intestate Succession Act (XXI of 1865) who brought a suit to ascertain the rights and interests of the parties in the estate and for partition, basing their claim on P's right as the owner of one half of the estate from the date of the testator's death. The defendants were J and his son B who was five years old at the death of the testator, and who it was alleged had been, though not in the testator's life time, adopted as the putak son of P and, as the defendants contended, succeeded under the will to the half share of the estate which P had enjoyed though on the terms of the will it had never vested in P. Held, (affirming the decisions of the Courts below), that the proper interpretation of the will in the events that had happened was that the date of distribution was the death of the testator, at which date one half of the estate vested in P. The destination over to a son who should take upon attaining majority would be using language appropriate to the events of the death of P during the life-time of the testator, and of his having left a son—the situation also being provided for that son not having at that time attained majority. But when P himself survived the testator there were no words in the will sufficient to cut down the right of P to one half of the estate, to a tenancy for life or a less period therein according to the appellant's contention. On the contrary the words employed appeared suitable to the case of the entire estate being on the testator's death, divided into two portions, and of each portion then becoming the absolute property of one of the two sons of the testator. The same result was arrived at by the application of s. 111 of the Indian Succession Act which their Lordships agreed with the Courts below was applicable. JENANIS DADABHOY v KAKKUSRU KAVASHA (1914).

I. L. R. 39 Bom 296

18 (a) ——— Demonstrative Legacy.—Where a testator has bequeathed legacies to several grand children named in the will to be paid for the sale proceeds of a certain house after death of daughter and marriage of grand-daughter and it was contested that in as much as there is no specific provision in the Indian Succession Act for payment of interest on demonstrative legacies no interest was payable. Held that interest is payable on demonstrative legacies even if there is no time for payment fixed and same is payable out of a particular fund and the rate is 4 per cent. ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL, BENGAL v A D CHRISTIANA I. L. R. 43 Calo. 201

17 ——— Dedication of property for worship.—Devotees to divide profits after paying expenses—Trust. A testator who owned two houses left one house to one of his two nephews

WILL—could.

CONSTRUCTION—could

for his own use and as to the other made by his will the following disposition. "In the other dwelling house consisting of three sections of Thakurdwaras including the staircase both the executors aforesaid should reside, put up pilgrims and attend on them jointly and from the income thereof daily perform the usual worship of the gods Mari Dhar, Raj Rajeshri and Mahadeo and the worship on Basant Panchmi, Ram Navmi, Janam Ashami, Nauratri, Shivaratri, Dhanurmas and Sama festivals and look after its repairs. After this is done both the executors should make a receipt and disbursement account of the income annually and after deducting the above expenses should divide the profits between them in half and half and should grant receipts and acquittances as between themselves. None of the executors shall in any way be entitled to transfer, mortgage or sell this house, and if they do so it will be utterly null and void." Held, that the will created a trust and the only beneficial interest given under the will to the nephews was the right to take the surplus profits, if any, after the worship had been performed and the festivals duly observed. MURLIDHAR v DWAN CHAND (1916) I. L. R. 23 All. 214 18 ——— Bequest to a person not named in the will.—Private directions given by the testator to one of his executors—Evidence as to who was intended to have the benefit of the bequest, admissibility of—Succession Act (X of 1865), ss. 62, 67, 68, 69. A testator provided by his will as follows:—"In accordance with directions that I am going to give in private to trustee No. 1 out of the trustees appointed by me, my trustees should entrust to Haridas Rs. 5000 that may be received from my life policy and the shares of Tata & Co. also should be transferred to the person whose name will be disclosed by Haridas." In a suit filed by B praying inter alia, that Haridas should be ordered to disclose the private directions given by the testator and for declaration that she, B, was the person intended by the testator to have the benefit of the bequest. Held, (i) that Haridas was bound to disclose the private directions given him by the testator and that evidence thereof was admissible, (ii) that the second part of the above clause should be read with the first part and that the shares must be transferred to a person whose name was given by the testator to Haridas and that the power conferred on Haridas was therefore, not a general but a special one. BATKALI SAKALKAR v HARIDAS RAKHUBHADA (1914).

[I. L. R. 40 Bom. 1

19 ——— Life interest.—Reversionary trust—"If then I want"—I sold estate. A Parsi for his wife and children I gave to his wife for her life and directed that after her decease his executors should hold the house in trust for his son J, for life and in the event of J's death in trust for J's widow (as to part if he so appointed) and for J's issue and in default of such issue and subject to such appointment in trust for the testator's son K "if then living" J died unmarried in the life time of the testator's widow, and of K. Held, that upon the death of J the house vested absolutely in K subject to the life interest of the testator's widow. CAPADIA v CAPADIA (1918).

I. L. R. 45 I. A. 257

WILL—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

20. — Request to brother's widow and on her death to her daughter—Succession Interest—Absolute estate—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 111. Where in a will a legacy was given in the following words "On my death my youngest brother's widow the said Bama Sundari Dohya and when she is dead her daughter my niece Kusum Kamini Debi will get one-fourth share of all the self acquired immoveable properties which I have other than my aforesaid immoveable properties" Held, upon a construction of the will, that the effect of the will was to give to Bama Sundari an interest for life in the self acquired properties of the testator with a gift over on her death of an absolute interest to her daughter Kusum Kamini. The gift to Kusum Kamini was not a substitutional gift in the event of her mother Bama Sundari predeceasing the testator, but it was one of successive interests, and s. 111 of the Indian Succession Act had no application to it. HARENDRA CHANDRA LARICI v. BASANTA KUMAR MOYTA (1918)

22 C. W. N. 689

21. — "Malek Mukhtyar" for life—Existence indicated in will of special oral direction—Terms of the trust not ascertained or ascertainable—Power executed in professed compliance with authority given—Parol evidence admissible to prove the trust so as to prevent a fraud—Onus of proof—Undistributed share of the property of an intestate—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 123. A Parsee testator by his will made his wife "Malek Mukhtyar" as to all his property during her life, just as the testator was the owner, free from question by any of his other heirs, representatives, relatives and kin-men with directions that she should protect the children, as he had protected them, according to their means, declaring that if any of his children should not act according to her orders, then during her life time the child should not have any claim to any of the testator's property. Cl. 7 of the will provided that "agreeably to what was written above, the wife was, during her life time, to carry on 'Yahvat' (management) in respect of every kind of property and make expenses on suspicious and insuspicious occasions, as the testator had been doing" The clause further provided: "and in her life-time, keeping God and Mehar Davar (the Dispenser of Justice) before her mind, my wife shall duly as I have directed her orally and according to the times (i.e., as circumstances demand) make her will, and all my heirs and the heirs of my heirs, shall duly act agreeably to the same" Cls 8 and 10 of the will provided for interests contingent upon the testator's widow and executrix dying without making a will as mentioned in cl. 7. The testator died in 1872 and thereafter his widow as executrix administered the estate until her death in 1906. By her will she purported to dispose of all property, both her own and what she had received from her husband, and appointed her surviving son her executor. The latter died in 1915 leaving a will whereby he appointed his daughter, the 1st defendant, his executrix. The plaintiff, a daughter of the original testator's son (who predeceased his mother) filed the suit on the 18th of May 1916, praying inter alia that the estate of the testator might be administered by the Court and that it might be declared that the

WILL—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

testator's widow had no power to make a will disposing of any part of the testator's estate. The 1st defendant contended that the will of the testator's widow was valid and that the plaintiff's claim was barred by limitation. Held, (i) that the testator's widow took only a life estate under the will, (ii) that the words "shall duly as I have directed her orally and according to the times (i.e., as circumstances demand)" were not consistent with a general testamentary power but indicated the existence of special directions as to the objects in whose favour the power was to be exercised; (iii) that there being no direct evidence as to the testator's directions the will made by the widow should not be given effect to and that on her death there was an intestacy as regards all the property of the testator, (iv) that, Art. 123 of the Indian Limitation Act applying to every suit where the plaintiff seeks to recover an undistributed share in the estate of an intestate, the suit was not barred by limitation, Per SCOTT, C. J. The Court will not try to compel the execution of a trust where the terms of the trust are not ascertained or ascertainable, but, where a power in the nature of a trust has been executed in professed compliance with the authority given, the onus, as it seems to me, of proving that the execution was a fraud on the power should be on those who seek by challenging the execution to get possession of property in the hands of those benefiting by the act of the donee of the power. HILLERY v. HILLERY, (1902) 2 Ch. 866, referred to Mawng Tin Tai v. Ma Tai, L. R. 44 J. A. 42, followed. SHIRINDAT v. RATANAL (1918) L. L. R. 43 Bom. 845

21 (a) — Equitable estoppel—Oudh Estates Act—S by his will bequeathed his taluqdari estate to his great grandson J subject to provision under which J was to select particular villages yielding net incomes of stated amounts and grant them in under proprietary right to S's three grandsons. J made the selection and the grantees accepted. Held, this did not constitute a transfer within s. 16 of the Oudh Estates Act and did not require registration and that in any case J had no equitable claim to recover the villages from the grantees after delivery of possession and receipt of rent by the grantor. LAL JAGADISH BAHADUR SINGH v. MAHARAJ PRASAD 24 C. W. N. 529

22 — Trust for charitable purposes—Gifts over to another charity—Rule of remoteness—Feeding of the gifts over—Perpetuity rules against how far applicable—English Law—Res Judicata—Proceedings in prior suit—Issue reserved in decree—Heard and finally decided—Succession Act (X of 1865), ss. 101 and 107—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 11. By a will, dated the 14th April 1864, and four codicils the testator provided, inter alia, that certain annuities he paid out of his residuary estate and, after the death of the last surviving life tenant, a charitable and religious bequest be created in favour of the Lower Circular Road Baptist Chapel subject to certain conditions contained in cl. 7 of the 2nd codicil. In the event of the said conditions being unfulfilled, it was directed in the said codicil that there would be a gift over in favour of the Howrah and the Lall Bazar Baptist Churches. The testator died on the 8th July 1902, and the last survivor of the annuitants was still alive. In a previous suit, Administrator General of Bengal v Hughes, 1 L R 40 Cal 192, for the construction of the said will and codicils and for other reliefs, it was admitted that the Lower Circular Road Baptist Chapel had not complied with the said conditions and I was not in a position to do so, and the Court, on the 16th July 1912, held that the gifts over to the Howrah and the Lall Bazar Baptist Churches were valid and that there was no intestacy, but in the decree the determination of these questions was expressly reserved. The last surviving annuitant having died on the 10th April 1917, a fresh application for the further construction of the said will and codicils was made. On this application it was declared that the gifts over were valid, that there was no intestacy, and that the question could not again be raised. On appeal—Held, that the question of the validity of the gifts over to the two Churches could not be said to have been finally decided within the meaning of s 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure so as to prevent the Court considering the point raised in the subsequent suit in respect of s 101 of the Succession Act, and that the decree of 1912 did not finally decide all matters raised in the suit. Held, also, that the language of s 101 was clear and unequivocal and applied to all bequests, whether they were of a charitable nature or not. Held, also, that the bequests to the Howrah and Lall Bazar Churches would not vest in them until the Lower Circular Road Baptist Chapel had failed to perform the specified conditions, that they were within s 101, and that they were not valid on the ground that the vesting of the funds bequeathed to those Churches might be delayed beyond the lifetime of one or more persons living at the testator's decease. Held, also, that as regards the corpus and income of the residuary funds in question after the death of the last surviving annuitant there was an intestacy. J H JONES v THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL OF BENGAL (1918)

WILL—contd

CONSTRUCTION—contd

1 L R. 46 Cal. 485

23. —Cutchi Memons—Mahomedan law—Document in the nature of instructions as to the disposition of property operating as a will under Mahomedan law—Probate—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s 3. A widow of a Cutchi Memon applied for probate of a document in Gujarati as being the last will and testament of her deceased husband, the document according to the official translation being in the following terms:—"May it be known to Bhai Abdullahai as follows:—In the will which you will get made to-morrow and give me, be kind not to forget (to add) my 'Makhatar' as long as I am alive and after me my wife's 'Makhatar'. Whatever costs may be incurred I will pay you. Written by your servant Mahomed Husein Haji." On the other side of the document, were the words "Bhai Abdullahai" "Makhatar". In the document no absolute ownership or full power. The document was unattested but was written by the deceased, and given to his brother in law Abdullahai as a time when the deceased was lying on his death bed suffering from cancer of the tongue and unable to speak properly. The deceased died two days after the date of the document. Held, (i) that the document in question was in the nature of instructions by the deceased to his legal advisers, or to his relative as to the instructions to be given to the legal adviser as to the disposition of his property, (ii) that under the Mahomedan law which governed the execution of wills of Cutchi Memons no attestation was necessary and the document operated as a valid will which might be admitted to probate. In re Aha Salar, 7 Bom. L R 658, and Mahomed Altaf Ali Khan v. Ahmed Baksh, 25 B R 121, referred to. SARADAI AMIRAT v. MAHOMED CASSIM (1918)

WILL—contd.

CONSTRUCTION—contd

1 L R. 43 Bom 641

24. —In a Will the testator provided that after his death his daughter would be mahk vested with the power to transfer by sale and gift the entire properties and would enjoy and hold possession of the same down to her son, son's son and so on. The Will next provided that the daughter should live in the testator's ancestral dhuta, and perform the pujas inaugurated by him, otherwise she would not be entitled to hold possession or transfer any portion of the property. The Will also provided that she would be entitled to transfer the property only if it was unavoidably necessary for the education of her son or if they fell into great calamity. In suit for possession by the sons of the daughter, the Court of first instance held that the Will conferred an absolute estate on the plaintiffs' mother who having left a maiden daughter still living, the plaintiffs have no title to the property. On appeal the Lower Appellate Court held that the questions raised should be decided after taking evidence and remanded the case for trial upon the merits. Held, that the words in the earlier part of the Will, without anything to qualify them, would no doubt create an absolute estate and therewith power of alienation expressly given. There is no doubt that if an estate conferred by Will is held to be absolute, the conditions as to the mode of its enjoyment are void. But considering all the terms of the Will it is clear that the provisions made in the earlier part of the Will are qualified by the provisions made in the other parts of it. Three things appear to have been uppermost in the mind of the testator: that his daughter and her sons, etc., should reside in his dhuta, that power of alienation should be given only for meeting the education expenses of her son or in case of great calamity and that she should hold subject to performance of pujas. She had not an absolute estate. SURENDEA NATH CHATTERJEE v. SAROJIBANDHU

26 C. W. N. 893

25. —Request of estate for life—no express disposal of corpus—Prohibition against alienation—Law of perpetuities—"her born of the womb" meaning of Hindu Law—Contingent remainder after woman's estate, effect of—Life estate, whether Hindu can create by will—Adverse possession under doubtful Will, effect of—Legal necessity, proof of by recitals in a conveyance. A will recited that if a daughter or son was born to the testator during his life time such son or daughter "will be the owner" of all the testator's property but if there were no son or daughter his niece S was to take a bequest of a lakh of rupees, and the rest of the movable and immovable property was to remain in the possession of his wife

WILL—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

until her death. After her death it was to "remain in the possession" of his niece. The remainder was disposed of in the following words—"if on the death of my wife and my niece there be living a son and a daughter born of the womb of my said brother a daughter then two thirds of the movable property will belong to the son and one third to the daughter. But as regards the immovable property none shall have the least right of alienation. They will, of course, be entitled to enjoy the balance left after payment of rent, etc. Held (i) That the Will purported to convey an absolute estate ultimately to the son and daughter of the niece, and the fact that the corpus was not expressly mentioned was not sufficient to justify the interpretation that the corpus did not pass. (ii) That the failure of the bequest of the remainder in favour of the niece a son and daughter on the ground that they were unborn at the testator's death did not make the Will itself invalid. (iii) That the disposition in favour of the niece a son and daughter was a bequest of the remainder to them and was not a mere description of an estate of inheritance in S. The words "heirs born of her womb" could not be interpreted to be a description of an estate of ordinary inheritance. (iv) That under the Will there was no interest vested in any person other than the widow in the first place and after her the niece. The Will, therefore, contemplated that the estate should be represented first by the testator's widow and thereafter by his niece. (v) That the estate taken by S was an estate, such as a woman ordinarily acquires by inheritance under the Hindu Law which she holds in a completely representative character, but is unable to alienate except in case of legal necessity. (vi) That by the provision against alienation the testator had in his mind the ordinary recognised restriction upon alienation which would apply independently of any provision in the Will, and that he had not in his mind the eventuality of an alienation becoming necessary either for the purpose of providing maintenance for the niece or for the preservation of his estate. Where a mere contingent remainder is created after the woman's estate (as in this case) and not a vested remainder, this is an indication that the estate created was a woman's estate in the technical sense and not merely a life-estate. An estate of the kind that a Hindu widow inherits in the case of an intestacy can be created by a Will. Where such an estate has been created by Will a condition prohibiting alienation absolutely is void for repugnancy. Obiter dictum—A Hindu can by Will create an estate for life in the English sense, but his intention to do so must be made clear by the terms of the Will itself without any importation of English ideas. It is doubtful whether, where a person enters into possession of an estate under a Will of uncertain construction, an absolute title can be acquired by adverse possession in the absence of an express claim to hold an absolute estate. Where a conveyance had been executed twenty five years before the institution of the suit, recitals made at or about the time of the conveyance were accepted as proof of the existence of legal necessity. RAM BANADUR v JAGAT NATH PRASAD. . . 3 Pat. L. J. 199

26. ——— Gift to wife for life—Direction to wife to make will—"As I have directed her orally"—General power of appointment. A Parsi by his will, after giving to his wife a life interest in his property, directed as follows: "And in her life time, keeping God and Meher Daver (the Dispenser of Justice) before her mind, my wife shall duly, as I have directed her orally, and according to the times, make her will, and all my heirs shall duly act agreeably to the same":—Held, that the clause did not mean that the testator's wife could dispose of the estate according to oral directions given by the testator, but according to her own discretion, and accordingly that the wife had a valid general power of appointment. In re Hellel (1902) 2 Ch. 885, distinguished. SHIPINBAI v PATANBAI (1921)

WILL—*contd*CONSTRUCTION—contd

I L R 43 Bom. 88
I L R 45 Bom. 711
25 C. W. N. 899

27. ——— Construction—Accumulation, provision for—Hindu Law. P, in his will gave and devised the rest and residue of his property to B, his widow and executrix for life, thereafter to his five sons in equal shares with a direction to make certain payments and for accumulation of the surplus income during the life time of the widow for the benefit of the sons.—Held, that the provision for accumulation of the surplus income is not invalid. A direction to accumulate with a gift of the accumulation is not fundamentally bad, it fails only if it offends some independent rule of Hindu Law. Watkins v Administrator General of Bengal, 1 I R 47 Cal. 85 (footnote) followed. In re Poulney, Poulney v Poulney, (1902) 2 Ch. 531, referred to. Sundera v Louier (1941) Cr. d. Pk. 240 distinguished. RAM LAL SEN v BIDHUTMUKHI DAS (1919)

Id. I L R 47 Cal. 76

28. ——— Bequest to two brothers, without specification of shares—Tenancy in common. Held that a devise of separate property made by a maternal grandfather in favour of two grandsons without specifying what share each was to take has the effect of creating a tenancy in common and not a joint tenancy. Mankamra Ambar v. Balkrishna Das, 1 I L R 28 All. 35, dissenting from Kishori Dubain v. Mandra Dubain, 1 I P. 33 All. 665, followed. Jayavar Narain Deo v. Ram Chandra Dutt, 1 I L R 23 Cal. 670, and Gordhondas Soonderdas v. Bas Ramcoover, 1 I L R 26 Bom. 449, referred to. RAM PIRI v KRISHNA PIRI. . . I L R 43 All. 600

29. ——— Absolute estate or life interest. A testator by cl. 3 of his Will gave his share in an estate to his wife "on account of her maintenance and other absolute use" and provided that she was to be "at liberty to enjoy the same with powers of alienation by sale, etc." By cl. 4 of the Will he gave his property in general terms to the infant sons of a brother. Held—That cl. 3 gave an absolute interest in the property to the testator's wife. N. VARADA PILLAI v JEEVARATHNAMAL. . . 24 C. W. N. 348

31. ——— described as such if necessarily so—Construction of document—Will or gift or a mere statement of an intention to adopt. On the question whether a document was a Will or a non testamentary disposition intended to operate de presents. Held—That it was not a Will. The only words contained in the document which would support its being regarded as a document of a testamentary character were that in some places it styled itself a Will. But calling a document a Will does not make it so, and if it had any legal effect whatever it was of the nature of a transaction inter vivos, though it was very doubtful whether it really purported to be anything more than a declaration of an intention to adopt TIRUOVANA PAI v. PUNAMUNI NADATTI (P. C.)

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—contd.

25 C. W. N. 511

32. ———— Gift to idol of property if absolute, or property given to heirs subject to a charge in favour of the idol—Decision to be made upon the Will as a whole and not upon a portion of it—Interpretation of applying decisions construing settlements to construe other settlements Held, upon the construction of a Will, the terms of which raised the issue* whether the property conveyed by the Will was an absolute gift to a certain idol, or whether the same was truly destined to the testator's own heirs under the Will, subject to a charge for the upkeep worship and expenses of the idol, that the provision for the worship, expenses and annual charges of the idol formed a burden upon the estate but that the property depended according to the destination in the Will and subject to that burden. In such cases no fixed and absolute rule can be set up, derived alone from the use of particular terms in one portion of the Will. The question can only be settled by a conspectus of the entire provisions of the Will Saratani Byrnck v. Sreemulthy Juggal Soonee Dasse, 8 M. I. A. 60 (1859), Ashu Ish Dutt v. Doorga Charan Chatterjee, L. R. 6 I. A. 192 (1879) and Jain Nath Singh v. Phakur Sita Ramji, L. R. 41 I. A. 157 s. c. I. L. R. 39 All. 353 21 C. W. N. 933 (1917), referred to PANDE HANUMANT RAM v. MUMMAT SURJA KUNWAR

25 C. W. N. 931

33. ———— Bequest dependent on condition—Condition made impossible of fulfilment by testator—Bequest, if can take effect Where there was a bequest made conditional on the re-excavating of a certain tank by the legatee and the condition became impossible of performance by reason of the testator himself re-excavating the tank; Held, that the bequest failed and the legatee could not take anything under the Will. Where the performance of the condition appears to be the motive of the bequest, the impracticability of the performance will be a bar to the claim of the legatee. The bequest, in such cases, does not take effect discharged of the condition Louthier v. Cavendish, 1 Eden 97, Priestly v. Holygate, 3 K. & J. 286, referred to RAJENDRA LAL GHOSH v. MINERALIST DASI

1 L. R. 48 Cal. 1100

34. ———— Will, construction of—Legacy on a condition precedent, if takes effect when the condition by reason of subsequent events becomes impossible of performance—Intention of testator, to be the guiding principle A testator bequeathed a sum of money to some of his relatives asking them to re-excavate a tank with the money and take the surplus. But the testator himself re-excavated the tank before his death. Held, that re-excavation of the tank was a condition precedent, i. e., there was no gift intended

WILL—*contd.*CONSTRUCTION—concl.

unless the condition was fulfilled. The ascertainment of the testator's intention shown by the Will cannot be varied by events which occur afterwards. That intention must be determined from the terms of the bequest, and where the performance of the condition appears to be the motive of the bequest the impracticability of the performance will be a bar to the claims of the legatee. In such a case the bequest does not take effect, discharged of the condition. Parley v. Langworthy (1), Gath v. Burton (2), Wedgwood v. Denon (3), and Louthier v. Cavendish (7) and other cases referred to RAJENDRA LAL GHOSH v. SRIMATI MINALINI

25 C. W. N. 378

DEBATTAR.

Debattar created by testator—Shabasis and executors appointed—Compromise in a suit by shabasi against executors—Transfer by shabasis of shabasi right—Suit by executor disputing the validity of the transfer—Limitation—Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Arts 93, 91—Property already debattar if pass by will The testator appointed four persons as shabasis of the debattar created by him and four other persons as executors who were to be the advisors of the shabasis. In a suit brought by one of the shabasis against the executors, a compromise decree was passed in 1899 whereby the shabasis became entitled to appoint succeeding shabasis of their respective shabasi rights by means of will or by any other document. Two of the shabasis took no part in the shabasi. The other two transferred their shabasi rights by two deeds which contained recitals showing that the transfers were for the benefit of the debtors to defendants Nos 1 and 2 who were properly qualified persons. The executors brought the present suit for recovery of possession of the debattar properties and for a declaration that the deeds of transfers of the shabasi right were void and illegal, more than 14 years after the compromise. Held, that the suit in so far as it sought to nullify the deed of compromise was barred by Art 93 of the Indian Limitation Act, and (semble) Art 91 governed the suit in so far as it attacked the deeds of transfer. Held, also, that possession having been made over by the executors to the shabasis, the executors became functus officio. Property which is already debattar does not pass by will to the executor. MONENDRA NATH BASCH v. GOPI CHANDRA GHOSH (1918)

22 C. W. N. 560

——— Construction—Words in a Will, meaning of—"Family"—"Cash"—Decisions interpreting terms in Wills, value of—Rendunry demise—Shabasi, if may be validly permitted to reside in the house provided for the accommodation of widows A provision permitting the shabasi to reside with his family in a part of a house dedicated to and specially set apart for the accommodation of the widows is a perfectly valid and reasonable provision. The word "family" is elastic and capable of different interpretations, but in the Will under construction there was no reason for extending it to include people other than those existing when the testator died. Where the Will clearly stated that the revenues and rents of stated properties are to be applied in a certain manner, with a direction for accumulation of surplus income, and then continued with a provision that out of the income of such fund the shebast should have power to celebrate religious ceremonies, the words "such fund" included the added accumulations and was not confined to the original debutter fund. The decisions which assign a particular meaning to any woman in a Will only assign that meaning in connection with the terms of the Will and that meaning is always capable of modification and alteration if it be seen that the limited meaning was not intended. Semble—The word "cash" in cl 12 of the Will might have a wider meaning than it ordinarily bears. Held, on the construction of the Will, that no portion of the estate of the testator was undisposed of, there being valid residuary gifts in favour of specified persons. GAYENDRO NATH DAS v. SURENDRA NATH DAS 24 C. W. N 1028

WILL—cont'd

DEBATTAR—cont'd

DEMONSTRATIVE LEGACY

Succession Act (1 of 1865), ss 311, 312—Demonstrative legacy—Interest whether payable on a demonstrative legacy—Here no time for payment fixed by will, the time from which interest runs Where a testator had bequeathed legacies to several grand children named in the will to be paid from the sale proceeds of certain house property after the death of a daughter and the marriage of a grand daughter and it was contested that inasmuch as there is no specific provision in the Succession Act for the payment of interest on demonstrative legacies no interest was payable. Held, (a) that interest is payable upon demonstrative legacies, and (b) that where there is no time for payment fixed, although the amount is expressly made payable out of a particular fund, the case is governed by the principle laid down in Lord v Lord, L. R. 2 Ch App 782 and a 311 of the Succession Act applies. Held, also, that the rate of interest is 4 per cent per annum. Lord v Lord L. R. 2 Ch App. 782, Chinnam Rajamannar v. Tadiandanda Ramachandra Rao I L. R. 29 Mad 135, Mullins v Smith, 1 Drew & Sm. 204 and In re Walford, Kenyon v Walford, (1912) 1 Ch 219, referred to and followed. ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL OF BENGAL v A D CHRISTIANA (1915)

I L. R. 43 Calc 201

EXECUTION

1. Execution of Will—Proof of capacity of testator to execute Will—Undue influence—Evidence of exercise of such influence—Absence of evidence of any coercion—Question of fact whether property was ancestral or acquired—Concurrent decisions on fact In this case the question was as to the capacity of a testator to execute a will propounded by the appellants, and it was alleged that they had exercised undue influence over him in the matter of the execution whilst he was admittedly very seriously ill, though the evidence was to the effect that he was in possession of his senses and understood what he was doing when he signed the will. Held (reversing the decision of the Chief Court of the Punjab), that, so far as the charge of exercising undue influence was concerned, all that was shown by the respondents who were attacking the will was that there was motive and opportunity for the exercise of such influence by the appellants, and that some of them in fact benefited by the will to the exclusion of other relatives of equal or nearer degree. Circumstances of that character might suggest suspicion, and would certainly lead the Court to scrutinise with special care the evidence of those propounding the will. But, in order to set it aside, there must be clear evidence that the undue influence was in fact exercised of that the illness of the testator so affected his mental faculties as to make them unequal to the task of disposing of his property. Such evidence was not only lacking in this case, but in the opinion of their Lordships of the Judicial Committee the circumstances attending the making and execution of the will were not reasonably consistent with it. Held, also, that, under the circumstances the evidence as to capacity was not displaced by mere proof of serious illness and of general intemperance, and that the appellants had discharged the onus which lay on them of proving that the will was duly executed by the testator while in his proper senses. The question whether property was ancestral or not, was held to be substantially one of fact, and therefore subject to the usual practice of their Lordships not to interfere where two Courts had concurrently found it was not ancestral but self-acquired. BR SINGH v. LITAM SINGH (1910)

WILL—cont'd

EXECUTION—cont'd

I L. R. 38 Calc 255

2. Signature, proof of—Hand writing expert opinion of without examination in Courts if ancestral—Will, proof of The propounder of a will should prove to the satisfaction of the Court beyond all possible doubt that the will was executed by the alleged testator and that it was executed in accordance with the law and that the testator at the time of execution was in a fit state of mind and body to execute the will and so fully appreciated what he was doing as to the disposition of the property. The opinion of a hand writing expert on a signature when he was not called as a witness and not subjected to cross examination, was inadmissible in evidence. PADMA PRIYA DEBYA v. DHARMA DAS DEB SARMA (1911)

15 C. W. N 728

3. Execution and attestation of will—Proof of genuineness of will—Status of attesting witnesses—Will, natural, reasonable and proper in its terms—Presumption of will being genuine—Grounds of suspicion not valid—Admission of additional evidence by appellate court—Civil Procedure Code (1852) s 563 In the case of a will reasonable, natural, and proper in its terms, it is not in accordance with sound rules of construction to apply to it those canons which demand a rigorous scrutiny of documents of which the opposite can be said, namely, that they are unnatural, unreasonable or tinged with improbity. On the question whether a will made by a Hindu in which he left all his property, movable and immovable, after the death of his widow, to his sister's son (one of the appellants) to the entire exclusion of the respondent (a remote relation), was genuine, as held by the Subordinate Judge, or a forgery, as held by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, there were concurrent findings of both courts that the testator had been for years at enmity and on the worst of terms with the respondent, but had regarded the appellant with affection and treated him as his son. The will was found to have been duly executed and properly attested by respectable servants in the testator's house whom it was natural to employ for that purpose. Held, that the will was in every respect a natural one, and in accordance with the testator's feelings and tenor of life and the presumptions of law were in favour of its being genuine. A comment by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner which regarded the will with suspicion, to the effect that the witnesses might have been of a better class, had no force except upon something on a much higher level than mere suspicion, namely, proof which would thoroughly satisfy the mind of a Court that these persons had committed both forgery and perjury. Chotey Narain Singh v. Ratan Kher, 1 L. R. 22 Cal. 519; 1 L. R. 22 I. A. 12, per Lord Watson followed. Another ground of suspicion was that the paper on which the will was written appeared to be old instead of fresh, which was supported by proof that paper was official paper in general use, together with evidence that some other people had been in the habit of having forms which they signed in blank, and forms were produced signed by people other than the testator, and with none of which he had any thing to do. Held, that such evidence was inadmissible as being not relevant to the case, and should not have been admitted. Held, further, that the course followed by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner during the hearing of the appeal in sending for and (purporting to act under s. 563 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882) admitting additional evidence (proceedings of the Municipal Board at Lucknow) to discredit one of the witnesses on a particular point, without calling him and affording him an opportunity of making an explanation of the matter, and on the ground that his evidence appeared untrue on that point disbelieving all the rest of his testimony as to the will, was an improper procedure and not in accordance with s. 563 of the Code. Their Lordships declined to conclude, in the absence of his own evidence on the point, that the rest of his testimony, otherwise quite unimpeachable, was perjury. Jagannath v. Durga Prasad (1913) 1 L. R. 36 All. 93.

WILL—*contd*EXECUTION—contd

4. — Held, that there is a presumption of due execution of a will where there is a proper attestation clause although no evidence of its due execution is forthcoming. Woolmer v. Mrs. Daly 1 L. R. 1 Lah. 173.

EXECUTOR

— Executor acting up adverse title—Estoppel. An executor under a will who has accepted the office of executor and acted as such is estopped thereby from setting up an adverse title to property disposed of by the will. Srinivasa Moorthy v. Venkata Varada Ayyangar, 1 L. R. 29 Mad. 239, followed. Per ARNOLD WHITE, C. J. — The fact that an executor has not taken out probate (at any rate where the law does not require him to do so) is immaterial. Per WALLIS J. — An executor is not at liberty to set up an adverse title to property which has come to his hands as executor any more than a trustee is entitled to set up an adverse title to property which he has taken possession of as trustee. The plaintiff's position was altered by his looking on and not opposing the first defendant in the steps taken by the latter to get possession of the assets. The fact that an executor has not taken out probate is immaterial. Per MILLER, J. (dissenting). — It is not clear in this case as it was in Srinivasa Moorthy v. Venkata Varada Ayyangar, 1 L. R. 29 Mad. 239, that the executor was let into possession under the will nor in this case was the plaintiff induced to alter his position, the principles of estoppel do not therefore apply. Munisami Chetti v. Maruthamalai (1910) 1 L. R. 34 Mad. 211.

WILL—*contd*EXECUTOR—contd

— Executor—Powers of. Executor in dealing with the estate of his testator. Ono P. died, leaving a will by which he directed that certain legacies should be paid out of a fund of Rs. 10,000 invested in fixed deposit in the Delhi and London Bank. The Bank had during P's life time advanced certain sums to his daughter on an undertaking by P that he would stand surety for the loan. P was also himself indebted to the Bank. Held, on suit by the legatees, that the executor of P's will was perfectly justified, on being satisfied as to the fact of P's relations with the Bank above described in permitting the Bank to realize from the fund in question both the amount of the loan to P's daughter and the amount of his own indebtedness. 10000 : THE DELHI AND LONDON BANK, LD. (1914).

1 L. R. 35 All. 217

1. — Civil Procedure Code (Act XII of 1882), s. 103, if applies to probate proceedings—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1833), s. 83—Dismissal of application for probate for default—Executor if may propound will again—Res Judicata—Deliberent costs sufficient remedy against vexatious conduct. A refusal to admit a will to probate is conclusive of the facts necessary to support the decision. But if probate has been refused not on the merits but merely by reason of the insufficiency of some matter of form or procedure, there is no adjudication that the instrument is not entitled to probate and therefore it may be again propounded. If therefore an application for probate by the executor of a will has been dismissed for default, that fact itself cannot debar an application by any other person claiming an interest under the will and therefore, necessarily also, by the executor himself. An executor presenting an application for probate of a will cannot be regarded as a plaintiff who brings a suit in respect of a cause of action. S. 103 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) would therefore be in terms inapplicable to such an application. Ganesh Jagannath v. Ram Chandan, 1 L. R. 21 Bom. 563, relied on. RAMMANI DEBI v. KUMUD BANDHU MOOKHERJEE (1910) 14 C. W. N. 924.

2. — Probate, application for—Onus—Testamentary capacity, what is—Probate granted by Trial Court, reversed by Appellate Court—Appellate Court, when should differ from Trial Court's estimate of evidence—Signature, genuineness of proof of—Witnesses of competency, opinion of, value of—Witness, important, but expected to be hostile, how to be examined. Where there appeared a striking resemblance between the signatures on the will and certain admitted signatures of the alleged testator, but not that absolute identity which, in many instances, may furnish indications of deliberate imitation by the careful forger, the High Court agreed with the Trial Court on the evidence in finding that the signatures were genuine. Where, from the evidence, it appeared that the illness of the testator had caused serious anxiety to his relations at least three days before his death and that on the day of his death, his condition was such as to necessitate the attendance of three physicians on five occasions, and the will was alleged to have been executed about two hours before his death. Held, that in the circumstances the Court was bound to scrutinise with care and caution the evidence as to his testamentary capacity at the time when he was said to have executed the will. That the burden was upon the propounders of the will to show that the testator had testamentary capacity, i. e., capacity to comprehend the nature and effect of his act, to discharge this burden, it was not enough to show that the testator was conscious when he executed the will or that he was able to maintain an ordinary conversation and to answer familiar and easy questions. It must be shown that he was able to dispose of his property with understanding and reason, that he was able to realise his position, to appreciate his property and to form a judgment with respect to the parties whom he decided to benefit. The opinion of witnesses as to competency is entitled to little regard, unless supported by good reasons founded on facts which warrant them. Where the propounders of a will had reason to suppose that an important witness could not be trusted to tell the truth, they might have asked the Court to summon him with liberty to both parties to cross examine him, if necessary. A Court will not reject a will merely because its terms appear extraordinary against clear evidence of due execution by a competent testator. But where the terms are unusual and the evidence of testamentary capacity doubtful, the vigilance of the Court will be roused and before pronouncing for the will the Court will require to be satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that the testator was fully cognizant of its contents and in a condition to exercise, and did exercise, thought, judgment and reflection respecting the act he was doing. Hull v. Kunwar v. Bhargava, 9 C. W. N. 649, Sifton v. Hopwood, 1 F. F. 579, Marek v. Tyrrell, 2 Hagg. Free Rep. 84, 122, Dufaur v. Croft, 3 Moo. P. C. 136, and Harwood v. Baker, 3 Moo. P. C. 282, referred to. The principle that a Court of Appeal should be extremely slow to disagree with the primary Court on a question of appreciation of oral evidence embodies a general rule, but is not of universal application. Where the Trial Court had found in favour of the will, but its decision was vitiated by its failure to test the evidence from the standpoint of the fundamental principle that the testator must be of sound and discerning mind and memory, so as to be capable of making a disposition of his property with sense and judgment, in reference to the situation and amount of such property and to the relative claims of different persons who were or might be the objects of his bounty, the High Court on appeal reversed that decision not so much because it formed a different estimate of the credibility of the witnesses for the propounders, but because it differed in its estimate of the effect of their statements on the assumption that they had spoken the truth. This evidence, in the opinion of the High Court, was insufficient to discharge the onus that rested on the applicants for probate. The nature of this onus discussed. Baker v. Ball 2 Moo. P. C. 317, and Panton v. Williams, 2 Curt. 539, 2 Notes of Cases, Sup. 21, referred to. SCIL KIMAP BAYEJEE v. APSARI DEBI (1914)

WILL—could

EXECUTOR—could

WILL—could

EXECUTOR—could

19 C. W. N. 826

3 ————— Probate—Issue of citations, object of—Citation of infant, effect of—Citation to infant and his mother, a minor—No opposition to grant of probate—Competency of infant for revoking probate—Testator, testamentary capacity of—Onus of proof upon the executor—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881). Where one J died in 1901, leaving a widow S aged 14 years and a son D aged 2 months and it was alleged that J executed a will on the day previous to his death by which his three brothers G, B and M were appointed successive executors, and on G's application for probate of the will citations were issued on B and M as also upon S and D and there was no opposition and probate was granted to G in 1902, and in 1911, D still an infant, applied through his mother S for the revocation of the probate on the ground that the alleged will had not been executed by his father J, and the District Judge without formally revoking the probate called upon the executor to prove the will in the presence of the objector and held upon the evidence that the original grant should not be revoked. Held, that service of notice upon the infant D, and his mother S a minor was no proper service upon them and was useless for the protection of the interest of the infant and as such D was competent to apply for revocation of probate through his mother. The object of the issue of the citation is that all persons whose interests are or may be adversely affected by the decree of the Probate Court shall have notice of the proceedings and an opportunity, should they choose to avail themselves of it, of intervening for the protection of their interests. Held that this purpose was not achieved merely by issue of citations to infants and that in the circumstances of the present case, the appointment of an officer of the Court as guardian of the infant would not have afforded him any protection. Rebelle v. Pebella, 2 C. W. N. 100, Shoroshbala v. Anand-moyee, 12 C. W. N. 6, and Mortimer on Probate, p. 533, referred to. A party who is cognizant of the proceedings and might have intervened is bound by their result and cannot be allowed to re-open them. Kamol Lockan Datta v. Amlentan Mundie, 1 L. R. 3 Calc. 360, Brinda Choudhary v. Radhika Choudhary, 1 L. R. 11 Calc. 492, Nataraj Inaba v. Brahmamony, 1 F. R. 18 Calc. 45, In the goods of Phuggabai Dan, 1 F. R. 27 Calc. 927, Durgaghat Debi v. Suvrabati Debi, 10 C. W. N. 995, 1 F. R. 33 Calc. 1001, Swell v. Weeks, 2 Hill 224, Ratcliffe v. Larnes, 2 Sc. & Tr. 486, Wycherley v. Andrews, 1 F. R. D. 32, and Lell v. Armstrong, 1 Add. 372, referred to. Held that this rule of law did not apply to the circumstances of the present case. Even in cases where a party has upon notice failed to appear and contest the proceedings, the Court may, for sufficient reason, allow the proceedings to be re-opened. Young v. Holloway, (1835) P. 57,

WILL—*contd*EXECUTOR—contd

Peters v Tilly, 11 P D 115, and Ritchie v Maholm, (1902) 21 F 403, referred to. Held, also, that the District Judge ought to have revoked the grant in the first instance and then called upon the executor to prove the will. Brindaban v Surendar 10 C L J 253, and Durganath v Sourabim, 10 C. L. J. 995 s c 1 L R 33 Cal. 1901, ruled on Held, further on the evidence, that the testator had no testamentary capacity at the time when he was alleged to have executed the will. The High Court in this view, revoked the grant on the probate. Held, also, that the onus was upon the executor to establish that the deceased had sound and disposing mind at the time when he was said to have executed the will. Waring v. Waring & Moo P C 305, referred to. DWIVY DEB NATH SARMA PURKAYASTHA v GOLOKE NAT SARMA PURKAYASTHA (1914) 18 C. W. N 747

4 — Grandfather's daughter's son's son if has locus standi to contest grant when propounder a stranger to family—Dayabhaga law of inheritance—Sakulyas and Samanodakas, who are—Mitakshara principles of application to cases not provided for by Dayabhaga—Order that caveator has no locus standi, if applicable—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 115. An application for the probate of a Will was opposed by the daughter's son's son of the grandfather of the testator while the propounder was a perfect stranger to the family. The District Judge held that the caveators had no locus standi. Held—That the order of the District Judge was not appealable but could be revised by the High Court under s 115, C P C. That in the circumstances the caveators had some interest in appearing and opposing the application for probate and it should be disposed of in their presence. Quare—Whether grandfather's daughter's son's son is an heir under the Hindu law. RADHA RAMAN CHOWDHURY v GOPAL CHANDRA CHUCKERBUTTY 24 C. W. N 318

5 — Legatee long in possession in terms of will Where a will has been propounded and proved the Probate Court should grant probate even though it should appear that there were no debts due to or by the testator another legatee have been in possession in accordance with the direction of the will for a long time it being absolutely necessary for the legatees to establish their title by proving the will. The Probate Court cannot go into the question whether the legatees have acquired independent title by adverse possession. ADWAIT CHARAN MONDAL v BHUSINABHONG SIKHAN . 21 C W N 1129

PROOF

1 — Will of which probate has not been taken, whether can be proved—Succession Act (X of 1865) s 157—Proper representation of testator's estate, where no probate taken. Sarabamangala Debi v Mahendro Nath Nath, 1 L R 4 Cal 599 is authority for holding that a will of which probate has not been taken may be proved in a proceeding other than a proceeding under the Probate Act. But a will uncovered by a probate or letters of administration cannot prove that any body named therein has title to the estate of the testator. A legal heir of a testator in possession of his general estate can maintain a suit for the benefit of the estate so long as any other claimant

WILL—*contd*PROOF—contd

does not establish his right to the same under the will. Prasanna Chandra Bhattacharya v Krishna Chaitanya Pal, 1 L R 4 Cal 312, Choony Lal Loe v Osmond Dube, 1 L R 30 Cal 1941, referred to. BASUNTA KUMAR CHUCKERBUTTY v. GOPAL CHUNDER DAS (1914) 18 C W. N 1126

2 — Proof of execution and due attestation—Attesting witnesses, turned hostile—Court may find execution proved from other evidence—Proof that testator saw attesting witnesses sign, and latter saw testator sign, if necessary, where will regular on its face—Presumption of due execution The mere fact that attesting witnesses to a will have repudiated their signature does not in validate the will, if it can be proved by evidence of a reliable character that they have given false testimony. When the evidence of the attesting witnesses is vague, doubtful or even conflicting upon some material point, the Court may take into consideration the circumstances of the case and judge from them collectively whether the requirements of the Statute were complied with. In other words, the Court may, on consideration of the other evidence or of the whole circumstances of the case, come to the conclusion that their recollection is at fault, that their evidence is of a suspicious character or that they are wilfully misleading the Court and accordingly disregard their testimony and pronounce in favour of the will. It is not necessary under the law that affirmative evidence should be forthcoming that the testator did, as a matter of fact, see the attesting witnesses put their signatures or that the attesting witnesses did actually see the testator sign the document. It is enough if the circumstances show that their relative position was such that they might have seen the execution and the attestation respectively. Every presumption will be made in favour of due execution and attestation in the case of a will regular on the face of it and apparently duly executed. BRAHMADAT TEWARI v CHAUDAN ROBI (1914) . 20 C W N 192

3 — Proof—Execution in unusual circumstances—Will not inofficious—Witnesses such as were reasonably to be expected to be available in the circumstances, not to be disbelieved merely because their position socially inferior—Beneficiary under will recited as being testator's adopted son—Caveator, if may question adoption—Judge, if may refuse to frame an issue as to adoption, whilst admitting evidence thereon—Relevancy on the question of genuineness of will—Note of evidence to be given by witness, refusal to produce, if should pre judge fairly—Privilege A, a Hindu gentleman of means and resident of a place called Sursand, went accompanied by his two wives and some of his servants and dependants to attend the bathing fair at Sonapat on 10th November 1903. Cholera having broken out at the fair it was broken up by Government order, but A, who had been suffering from dysentery and had been made nervous about the state of his health by the outbreak of cholera (it was alleged) executed the disputed will on 15th November 1903 and died at 3 A M. of 16th November 1903. The will was proved by such of the attesting witnesses as were available and other witnesses. The genuineness of the will was challenged inter alia, on the ground that the witnesses to the execution were not of a superior position, the will however appeared to be one which a Hindu gentleman in A's position might reasonably and naturally have made and the attesting witnesses were such as one would reasonably expect to be available on the occasion. Held, that there being nothing in the case to suggest that the will had been forged or that the witnesses who gave evidence as to the preparation and as to the due execution of the will had committed perjury, the contention that the will should not be accepted as genuine because the witnesses to its execution were not of a superior position was not sound and was contrary to the view of the law as expressed in Chotey Narasa Singh v. Ratan Koer, L R 22 I A. 12, 24, and Jagran Koer v. Koer Durga Parshad, L R 41 I A. 80, s c 18 C W N 521. That something more than mere suspicion is necessary in such a case to make convincing an argument based on the social position of the witnesses. One of the beneficiaries under the will was C, a boy who, the will recited, had been adopted, according to Hindu rites, by K as his son. The caveators questioned the factum of the adoption. Held, that the trial Judge was right, upon an application for probate, in declining to frame an issue as to the alleged adoption, though the matter had to be considered as bearing on the question of the genuineness of the will and the caveators were not precluded from questioning the adoption and were rightly allowed to cross examine the propounder's witnesses on that subject and to call evidence to prove that C was not adopted. For the purposes of the propounder's brief a note had been obtained from a witness (subsequently examined at the trial) of the evidence that he could give: Held, that the note was privileged from production and the caveators were not entitled to see it, and the Judges should not have allowed their minds to be influenced in considering the evidence by the fact that the note was not produced in Court for the information of the caveators. CHAND KUNWAR v. HARNANDAN SINGH (1916). 20 C. W. N. 617

WILL—*contd.*PROOF—contd.

4. — Proof of genuine ness—Clear and trustworthy evidence of attesting witnesses if to be rejected because appearance of document suspicious—Court, if in such a case, may speculate as to what would have been a proper will for the testator. Proof of the genuineness of a will depended mainly upon the testimony of a doctor who attested on the last page of the will, the signature of the deceased and who deposed that at the time the will was executed, the deceased was perfectly capable of understanding a business transaction. The will on examination showed that the writing on the last page was inconveniently crowded above the signature of the testator, and, on the last page but one, the writing at the foot was so placed as to lend colour to the suggestion that the page had been filled up after the signature had been attached. Upon this the Trial Judge built the theory that the will had been written in blank pages over signatures of the testator previously obtained. Held, that the doctor's evidence, if believed and which the Judicial Committee did believe, completely destroyed this theory, and that the High Court was right in pronouncing in favour of the genuineness of the will. That it would be most unsafe and most undesirable, in circumstances such as these, to try to spell out from the peculiar form in which a document written in the vernacular appears, a hypothetical answer to the clear, distinct and trustworthy evidence of the doctor who witnessed the will. Where a will has once been made and is apparently in perfect form, and the evidence of the attesting witness is to be trusted, few things can be more dangerous than to attempt to re create the kind of will that the man ought, in the opinion of the Court, to have made. Once the man's mind is free and clear and is capable of disposing of his property, the way in which it is to be disposed of rests with him, and it is not for any Court to try and discover whether a will could not have been made more consonant either with reason or with justice. ARUVACHELLAN CHETTY v. RAMASWAMI CHETTY (1916). 20 C. W. N. 673

WILL—*contd.*PROOF—contd.

5. — Testamentary capacity, proof of—Onus—serious illness and general intemperance not sufficient to rebut prima facie case made out by evidence—Undue influence must be proved by evidence—Opportunity to use such influence and benefits derived not enough for rebuttal. The onus of proving testamentary capacity is on those who propound a Will. In this case they had discharged that evidence by obligation by evidence which went to establish a strong prima facie case in favour of the Will. Proof of serious illness and of general intemperance was not enough to displace this evidence. It was shown on the part of those attacking the Will that there was motive and opportunity for the exercise of undue influence by the defendants and that some of them in fact benefited by the Will to the exclusion of other relatives of equal or nearer degree. Circumstances of this character may sometimes suggest suspicion and in the present case would lead the Court to scrutinise with special care the evidence of those who propounded the Will. But in order to set it aside there should have been clear evidence that the undue influence was in fact exercised or that the illness of the testator so affected his mental faculties as to make them unequal to the task of disposing of his properties. Held that in this case such evidence was not only lacking but the circumstances attending the making and execution of the Will were not reasonably consistent with it. BUR SIKH v. UTTAM SIKH

15 C. W. N. 177

6. — Will, challenged as forgery—Suspicion alone when ground for refusing probate—Presumption against misconduct, operation of—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss 3, 45, 101, 135—Order in which witness to be tendered—discretion of Counsel and Court's power—Expert, medical examination of to test value of evidence of attending physician—Expert in Bengali language and legal terms, examination of—Document put to witness right of opposing counsel to inspect. If a party writes or prepares a will under which he takes a benefit, that circumstance in itself ought generally to excite suspicion of the Court and calls upon it to be vigilant in examining the evidence in support of the instrument in favour of which it ought not to pronounce unless the suspicion is removed and it is judicially satisfied that the paper propounded does express the true will of the deceased. Larry v. Pullin, 2 Moo P C. 489, referred to, and the rule in Tyrrell v. Pointon, (1894) P. D. 151, explained. PER JENNINGS, C. J. The suspicion which by itself would be ground for the Court not pronouncing in favour of an alleged will, must be one inherent in the nature of the transaction itself and not the doubt that may arise from a conflict of testimony which becomes apparent on an investigation of the transaction. Per WOODBURY, J The rule in Tyrell v Paslon, (1894) P D 151, applies to cases where the circumstances of suspicion arise from the nature of the case as put forward by the propounder in which case the propounder must remove the suspicion. Where, however, the alleged suspicion against a will arises from facts which form part of the impugnant's case, then the Court must see whether the facts which are said to give rise to suspicion are proved or whether the propounder's case is proved. The rule, therefore, does not apply where the question is simply which set of witnesses should be believed. In this case the trial Judge having decided against the genuineness of the will on the ground that the evidence of the witnesses whom the propounder had called to support her case was not so unimpeachable, so absolutely trustworthy in itself as by its own merit to dispose of all objections and to allay all doubt and suspicion. Held per JENKINS, C J, that the standard of proof required by the Judge was higher than the law (as contained in s 3 of the Indian Evidence Act) prescribes. Per WOODBURY, J—A probate case is not singular as regards the application of the general principles of proof as contained in ss 3 and 101 of the Indian Evidence Act. Per JENKINS, C J—The Evidence Act, by which in matters of proof the Courts in this country must be guided, has in conformity with the general tendency of the day, adopted the requirements of the prudent man as an appropriate concrete standard by which to measure proof. The Evidence Act is at the same time expressed in terms which allow full effect to be given to circumstances or conditions of probability or improbability, so that where as in this case, forgery comes in question in a civil suit the presumption against misconduct is not without its due weight as a circumstance of improbability, though the standard of proof to the exclusion of all reasonable doubt required in a criminal case may not be applicable. Cooper v Stode, 6 H L Cas 746, and Deo d Devras v Hason, 10 Moo P C 502, 531, referred to. This probability gains in strength where the character and position of the individual impugned is, apart from the particular case, above reproach. In the goods of GORUS SUD DUTT v BISSESSUR DUTT (1911)

WILL—*contd*PROOF—contd,

16 C. W. N 265

7 ——— A holograph Will executed in India by a person of Scotch domicile is a valid testamentary document. On such document being propounded the Court declined to admit in evidence a treatise on Scotch Law but accepted the opinion of a writer to the signed attested before a notary In re the goods of Mac Intyre

I. L. R. 41 All. 243

8 ——— Will, proof of—Succession Act (X of 1865) s 50—Evidence Act (I of 1872) s 68—Examination of one attesting witness in Probate Court is sufficient to prove will Under s 50 of the Indian Succession Act there must be two attesting witnesses to a will but under s 68 of the Evidence Act the will can be proved in the Court of Probate by one of the attesting witnesses. RAMMOT DAS KOCH v HAROL KOLY KOCHIMI (1917)

22 C. W. N. 315

WILL—contd

REVOCATION

1 ——— Will in s 19 of the Probate and Administration Act, if means original document—Existence of will up to testator's death, if necessary to be proved—Revocation, pleading and proof of—Presumption of destruction of will, when arises—Loss of will, if operates as revocation—Destruction of will when operates as revocation—S 21—"Since the testator's death," scope and effect of—Delay in applying for Letters of Administration with will annexed Where the testator did not appoint an executor and the residuary legatee applied for letters of administration with the will annexed 12 years after the death of the testator and the objector did not plead revocation but set up non execution of the will: Held, that the execution of the will in the manner required by law having been proved it lay upon the objector to plead and prove revocation and no such plea having been taken it could not be held that the will was revoked. Per RAY, J That the application for letters of administration was not liable to dismissal on the ground that the petitioner did not prove that the will was in existence up to the time of the testator's death. That in s 19 of the Probate and Administration Act the word "will" does not mean the original document but has been obviously used to mean the disposition. When a will is shown to have been in the custody of the testator and is not found at his death the well-known presumption arises that the will has been destroyed by the testator for the purpose of revoking it. This rule of law bears only on revocation when it is an issue in the suit and then the presumption may be rebutted by the facts. The loss of a will does not operate as revocation to establish which destruction of the will by the testator must be shown. In a 24 of the Probate and Administration Act the words "since the testator's death" qualify the word "mailed" and have no reference to the word "lost" or to the succeeding clause of the sentence. The delay in making the application under s 19 was not a material fact in this case. SARAT CHANDRA BASAK v GOLAP SUNDARI DASIA (1913)

18 C. W. N. 527

2 ——— Revocation—Will lost—Presumption that it has been revoked how to be applied in India—Finding that will was revoked, based on presumption, upset on second appeal—Proof of will by copy taken from Registrar's office, without objection in the first Court—Objection on appeal that conditions for admission of secondary evidence not fulfilled, if admissible. In view of the habits and conditions of the people of India the rule laid down in Welch v Phillips, 1 Moo P C 299 that when a will is traced to the possession of the deceased and is not forthcoming at his death the presumption is that he has discharged it must be applied with considerable caution. Where in such circumstances the first Appellate Court held that the will had been revoked or cancelled, but on second appeal the Chief Court held that there was no sufficient evidence of revocation and that the more reasonable presumption was that the will was mislaid or lost or else stolen by one of the defendants after the death of the deceased. Held that it was perfectly within the competency of the Chief Court to come to that finding. There was nothing definite to show that deceased who was a very old man and, towards—

WILL—contd.

REVOCATION—contd

the end of his life, imbecile, had any motive to destroy the will or was mentally competent to do so, whilst on the other hand there were circumstances which favoured the view that the will was either mislaid or stolen. Held, also, that the first Appellate Court should not have treated a copy of the will taken from the Registrar's office, which was filed and admitted in evidence in the first Court without objection, as inadmissible, on the ground that no sufficient foundation was laid for the admission in the first Court of secondary evidence—as, if such objection had been taken in the first Court, that Court would probably have seen that the deficiency was supplied. PADMAN v HANWANTA (1915) 19 C W N 929

3 ———— Will, revocation of
—Locus standi of persons seeking revocation A person who is entitled to a much greater benefit under a will alleged to have been revoked by another will has locus standi as having sufficient interest to oppose grant of probate and to apply for revocation of the probate of the later will on the ground of non service of citation. It is not necessary to obtain probate of the earlier will in order to be competent to apply for revocation of the probate of the later will. DRAUTADI DASSYA v RAJKUMARI-DASSYA (1917) 22 C W N 564

4 ———— Mutual and joint wills—Power of survivor of joint will to revoke—Survivor can revoke unless he derives some benefit under the will Where two persons agree to make mutual wills, and one of them dies, the survivor can revoke his will unless he has taken some benefit under the will of the deceased testator. Stone v Hickins, (1905) P 191, referred to. MINAKSHI ANMAL v VISWANATHA AIYAR (1909) 1 I L R 33 Mad 406

5 ———— Will in testator's possession—Will not forthcoming on testator's death—Presumption of revocation When a person, who is known to have executed a will, and to have had that will in his possession, dies and the will is not found after his death, a presumption arises that he has revoked the will during his life time. Allan v Morrison (1900) A C 604, relied on. Anwar Hossein v Secretary of State for India (1904) 31 Cal 885, disapproved. ADITHAN v BAPULAL (1920) 45 Bom 906

VALIDITY

——— rules for dissolution of a trust if constitute a will—

See WILL (CONSTRUCTION)

15 C W N. 1014

——— what is sufficient for in the case of cutchi memons—

See WILL (CONSTRUCTION).

1 I L R 43 Bom 641

1. ———— Test—Signature on one page out of several pages of a Will If an instrument is on the face of it a testamentary character, the mere circumstance that the testator calls it irrevocable, does not alter its quality, the principle test as to whether the instrument is a will, is whether the disposition made takes effect during the life time of the executant of the deed or whether it takes effect after his death. Rammoni v Ram gopal, 12 C B N 942 relied on. Sita Doer v Deonath, 8 C B N 614 Chaitanya v Dugal, 9 C B N 1021 distinguished. One signature made with the intention of authenticating the whole instrument is sufficient though a will be contained in several sheets of paper. SADORE CHANDRA MONDOL v DIGAMBAR MONDOL (1909)

WILL—contd

VALIDITY—contd

14 C W N 174

2 ———— Caveat—Caveators will drawing on propounders agreeing to pay an allowance—Personal liability of executor—Settlement of bonâ fide dispute—Enforcement of agreement if opposed to public policy—Registration Where on the executors propounding a will the widows of the deceased entered caveat but before the case came on for hearing the parties settled their differences and the caveators withdrew their objections on the executors undertaking inter alia to pay them a fixed monthly allowance for performing religious acts, although the will purported to provide for grants of money for purposes only out of the surplus income. Held affirming Doss J that the agreement having been entered into an order to settle a bonâ fide dispute was enforceable, and as the liability which the executors undertook appeared to be a personal one, the fact that the agreement was not registered or that the terms went beyond those of the will were no bar to its enforcement. SUREJA PRASAD SIKUL v SHYAMA SUNDARI DEBI (1909) 14 C W N 967

3 ———— Minor—Capacity to make will—Indian Majority Act (IX of 1875) s 3—Hindu Law A Hindu minor who has not attained majority as provided in the Indian Majority Act, 1875 is not competent to make a will of his or her property. BAI GULAB v THAKORBELAL (1912) 1 I L R 38 Bom 622

4 ———— Civil Courts jurisdiction to decide Mohammedan Will, of which probate has been granted, invalid—As opposed to Mahomedan law—Revocation of probate, if may be made on such a ground—Decree form of in such suit The grant of probate of the will of a deceased Mahomedan does not preclude the Civil Court from making a declaration that one or more provisions of the will are inoperative as being opposed to the provisions of Mahomedan law. The Probate Court would have no jurisdiction to revoke the probate on such a ground and it is not one of the just causes set out in s 50 of the Probate and Administration Act. It is for the Probate Court to determine whether the will has been duly executed and it is for the Civil Courts to determine what effect is to be given to the will after probate has been granted. RENU MITA v SARDHA KHATOON (1918) 23 C W N 658

5 ———— Direction to pay fixed deposit to another after death of depositor—Whether a will A person depositing money with a fund filled in a form provided by the fund whereby he nominated another as the person entitled to receive the money after his death. Held, that this amounted to a will and if made in the town of Madras, the nominee could not recover the deposit unless the nomination was duly executed and attested as a will and probate thereof obtained. Per KENNEDY, J—The direction created neither a charge nor a trust in favour of the

WILL—contd.

VALIDITY—contd.

nuncupate or a contract on which he could sue Towers v Hooper (1859) 23 L. R. Ir 53 and In re Williams (1917) 1 Ch. 1, followed. Florida Marblers v Pinto (1917) 33 Ll L. J 476, distinguished NANA TAWKER v BHAWANI DIXIT (1920) I. L. R. 43 Mad. 728

6. ——— Testator of sound mind when giving instructions for a will—presumption that he was when executing it—Testator must be of sound disposing mind—testator suffering from paralysis—Medical certificate of soundness of mind 26 days after execution of will—whether admissible and relevant—Indian Evidence Act, I of 1872, s 32 (2)—letters by testator speaking of his relations with his wife, the sole legatee—whether admissible Held, that there is a presumption of due execution of a will where there is a proper attestation clause although no evidence of its due execution is forthcoming Brahmadat Tewari v Chaudan Deb (34 Ind. as Cases 636) and Halsbury's Laws of England, Volume XXVIII, page 555, Jarman on Wills, 6th Edition, page 1053, and Abdul Rahim's Law of Undue Influence, Chapter XVI on Wills, referred to. Held also, that where a testator is of sound mind when he gives instructions for a will, he must be deemed to be of sound mind when it is executed, even though he is not able to follow its provisions then Sual Kumar Banerjee v Apurvi Deb (27 Indian Cases 276, 281), dictum of Lord Maugham in Perera v Perera quoted herein, referred to Held further, that a medical certificate of testator's soundness of mind made 26 days after the execution of the will is admissible in evidence under section 32 (2) of the Evidence Act and is relevant, but that letters by the testator speaking of his relations with his wife, in whose favour he subsequently made the will, are not admissible. Held lastly, that a testator suffering with paralysis even if he has affected his mental capacity to some extent may still be able to execute a will of a simple character Sayed Ali v Ibad Ali, (I. L. R. 23 Cal. 1 P. C.) Sayed Muhammad v Foteck Muhammad, (I. L. R. 22 Cal. 324, 334 P. C.), and Bur Singh v Utham Singh (21 P. R. 1911 P. C), referred to, also Halsbury's Laws of England, Volume XXVIII, page 532 Tayum miat v Aasha Challa Naiker, (10 Mo. I. A 429), Lachho Bhai v Gopi Narain, (I. L. R. 21 All 472), Woonach Chandra v Rash Mohini Das, (I. L. R. 21 Cal. 279) Pandit Indar Narain v Pandit Onkar Lal, (20 P. R. 1912), Mansur Kewani v Chandu Lal (123 P. R. 1916) and Raj Bachan Singh v Shatrangji, (47 Ind. as Cases 953), distinguished WOOLLEN v Mrs Dale I. L. R. 1 Cal. 173

7. ——— Execution of—Proof—Story of preparation of draft, suspicious, if ground for refusal probate where execution of executor or clerk—Witnesses present, but not examined by Court from pressure of work and not examined later on through no fault of propounder It is not safe to assume that a case must be a false case if some of the evidence in support of it appears to be doubtful or is clearly untrue There is on some occasions a tendency amongst litigants in India, as elsewhere, to back up a good case by false or exaggerated evidence In this case the Judicial Committee held that the suspicion which attached to the evidence as to the preparation of the draft of the Will sought to be probated, viz, that it had not been prepared beforehand but had been made from the Will itself, did not destroy the evidence as to the execution of the Will The Judicial Committee did not consider the non-examination of all the attesting witnesses as destructive of the case of the propounder of the Will, most of them having been present to give their evidence on one or more of the dates fixed for the recording of evidence but were not examined owing to pressure of work in the Court, none appearing to be persons living near the Court and there being nothing to suggest that any of them were intentionally kept out of the witness-box by the propounder BANKIM BIHARI MAITI v SRIMATI MATANGINI DAS 24 C. W. N. 628

WILL—contd.

VALIDITY—contd.

8. ——— Depriving heirs, proof of—Onus—In a suit by legal heirs of a deceased Hindu for a declaration that a Will propounded by the Defendants as the Will of the deceased was a forgery, the onus lay on the Defendants to prove without reasonable doubt that it was the Will of the deceased Held, on the evidence, that the Will in this case had not been satisfactorily proved. BINDESHI PRASAD v MOHAMMAD BAKSHAKH BIKI 24 C. W. N. 674

9. ——— standard of proof requisite—Examination of attesting witnesses—Testamentary capacity appellate courts duty in respect of findings of fact. Held upon the terms of the Will in question they were not inofficious and unnatural and therefore were not calculated to excite suspicion as to the genuineness of the disposition It is not enough to suggest doubts as to the veracity of a witness The standard of proof to establish a will required by the Indian Statutes is that of a prudent man and not an absolute and conclusive one Also that it was a salutary rule that the findings of fact of the trial judge should not be lightly disregarded When the issue is simple but it is otherwise where the question depends not only on assertions of witnesses but upon surrounding facts and circumstances. PRASAD KAMAYI DEBIA v. BAIKANTHA NATH CHATTERJEE 25 C. W. N. 779

10. ——— Hindu testator—Creation of, estates unknown to Hindu law—Involuntary bequests—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s 118 A Hindu made his will whereby he bequeathed his property successively to the three sons of his sister in the following manner In the first place, it was to go to one of the sons absolutely, subject to the condition that, if he died without male issue surviving, it was to go to the second The latter was also given an absolute estate, similarly liable, however, to be defeated if he in his turn died without leaving male issue, in which event the property was to go to the third son subject to a similar condition Obviously the property was devised in favour of charity The first two sons having died without male issue surviving, the third son sued for construction of the will and for a declaration of his right to the property in the event that had happened—Held, that although the testator might have defeated the absolute estate which he gave to the first son by a gift over to the second son in accordance with the provisions of s 118 of the Indian Succession Act, he could not attach a condition to the gift over, and thus further restrict the disposition of the estate in a manner unknown to Hindu law

WILL—contd

VALIDITY—contd

by directing that the second son was not to take an absolute estate but what would be, in the language of the English law of real property 'an estate in tail male'. Held, further, that the estates which were intended to be created by the testator being thus in fact a succession of estates in tail male the original gift over was bad in its creation and failed absolutely and the first son took an absolute estate, which on his death would go to his daughter as his heiress. A Hindu may create a life estate or successive life estates. But a series of absolute estates defeasible in succession on the happening of an uncertain event cannot be considered as a succession of life-estates. It can only be considered as an attempt to create a state of inheritance which is not recognised by Hindu law. Bai Dhanlaxmi v Hariprasad Uttamram (1920) . . . I L R 45 Bom. 1038

11 ——— Execution—Probate—Testamentary capacity—Onus probandi—Attesting witnesses—Hostile animus—Discrediting testimony of adverse witness—Evidence on commission—Duty of commissioner—Effect of improper cross examination not remediable in the Trial Court—Unattested alterations in a will—Presumption of Law—Duty of Trial Court in respect of intervention with questions during examination and cross examination of witnesses—Counsel's duty not to anticipate opinion of Judge—Evidence Act (I of 1872) ss 153 and 154 The onus probandi lies in every case upon the party propounding a will and he must satisfy the conscience of the Court that the instrument so propounded is the last will of a free and capable testator. Barry v Butlin, 2 Moo P C 480, referred to. The burden of proof cast upon the propounder is, in general, discharged by proof of capacity and the fact of execution, and when these have been proved, the Court will, under ordinary circumstances, assume from them the knowledge of and assent to the contents of the instrument by the deceased and without requiring further evidence will pronounce for the will. Mere ability to sign one's name does not necessarily imply the possession of the full mental powers requisite for a valid disposition of the property. Nor is it sufficient to show that the testator was conscious when he executed the instrument. It is sufficient that there is enough mental power left to enable the testator clearly to discern and discreetly to judge of all those things which enter into the nature of a rational fair and just testament. Earl of Sefton v Hopwood 1 F & J 378, Morley v Tyrrell 2 Hag 24, Burdett v Thompson, L R 3 P & D 72, Loughran v Knight, L R 3 P & D 61, Horwood v Baker, 3 Moo P C 232, Woomesh Chander Bhowra v Pashmohini Dassi I L R 21 Cal 270, Pashmohini Dassi v Umesh Chander Bhowra, I L R 25 Cal 81, Sual Kumar Banerjee v Aswari Dutt, 20 C L J 501, 19 C W N 826, Margate v Winchester's Case 6 Cole 23, Combe's Case, Moo. K B 39, Parks v Goodfellow, L J 5 Q B 65, and Assey v H7, 2 Add 266, referred to. § 154 of the Evidence Act provides that the Court may, in its discretion, permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party. There is, in this respect, no distinction in principle between an attesting witness whom a party is obliged to call and any other witness whom he may cite of his own choice; but the Court may, in the exercise of its discretion, be more easily persuaded in the former case than in the latter case. Bowman v Bowman, 2 Mood & Rob 501, Jackson v Thompson, 1 B & S 745, Coles v Coles, L R 1 P & D 71, Gill v Gill (1899) P 157, Jones v Jones 24 T L R 839, Price v Manning, 42 Ch D 372, and Phillips v Davis, "Times," 12th December 1907, referred to. Two points must be borne in mind: first that a witness is considered adverse where, in the opinion of the Judge, he bears a hostile animus to the party calling him and not merely when his testimony contradicts his proof, and, secondly, when a witness is treated as hostile and cross-examined by the party calling him, this must be done to discredit the witness altogether and not merely to get rid of part of his testimony. Coles v Coles, L R 1 P & D 71, and Pauliner v Byrne, 1 F & F 254, referred to. The principles laid down under s 153 of the Indian Evidence Act must be regarded in the examination and cross-examination of witnesses on commission and the commissioner cannot exercise the discretion vested in the Court under s 154 of that Act. The mischief due to improper cross-examination cannot be remedied in the Trial Court. Although, where an instrument requiring attestation is subscribed by several witnesses, it is in general sufficient to call only one of them (Indian Evidence Act, s 68), in the case of wills it is desirable that all capable of being called should be examined to remove all suspicion of fraud. McCregor v Topham, 3 H L C 132, Andrew v Moyley 12 C B N S 514, and Hindson v Acreary, 4 Bur Fc L 116, referred to. Where unattested alterations occur in a will the presumption of law is that such alterations were made after the execution of the will, and in the absence of evidence rebutting the presumption, probate will be granted of the will in the original state, omitting the alterations. Cooper v Cooper, 4 Moo P C 419, Cretcher v Tyler 7 Moo P C 320, in the goods of Sylvia L R 31 & D 26, in the goods of Adamson L R 3 P & D 253, and Pandurang Hari Pandya v Virayak Lakkhu Kase, 1 L R 16 Bom 652, referred to. The presumption may be rebutted not merely by direct proof but also by internal evidence and by inference drawn from the condition of the will. In the goods of Hind march L R 1 P & D 267, in the goods of Cadge, L R 1 P & D 543, and in the goods of Tonge, 66 L T 60, referred to. The intervention of the trial Judge with questions during the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, misleading counsel and leaving him under the impression that the Court was not prepared to accept the statements made by the witnesses concerned is obviously not a matter which can be set right on appeal, unless indeed it is established that the intervention of the learned Judge with questions with a view to clear up obscurities to fill up lacunae, to supplement deficiencies and generally to elicit the truth exceeded the bounds of even the comprehensive provisions of s 153 of the Indian Evidence Act and so impeded the legitimate work of counsel engaged in the cause as to amount to a mistrial, leading to a failure of justice. But it is manifest that during the progress of the trial it is not wise for counsel to anticipate the final opinion of the Judge even as to the veracity of a witness, which may have to be judged not solely from his individual statements, but from his testimony taken in conjunction with all the other facts brought out in the course of the litigation. SURENDRA KRISHNA MONDAL v RANI DASGI, (1920) I. L. R. 47 Cal. 1043

WILL—contd

VALIDITY—contd

WILL—*concl'd*VALIDITY—cont'd

Where a Will is prepared under circumstances which raise a well grounded suspicion that it does not express the mind of the testator the Court ought not to pronounce in favour of it unless the suspicion is removed, but this suspicion must be one inherent in the transaction itself and not the doubt that may arise from a conflict of testimony which becomes apparent on an investigation of the transaction. SURESHCHANDR SAKSHI DASGI v HARI DAS GHOSH 26 C. W. N 113

WILL AND CODICIL.

*Oudh Taluqdari's estate—Assets partly taluk and partly personal property—Codicil raising the amount of legatee's allowance, if should be construed as a textual amendment of the will—Codicil conforming to conditions, fulfilled in the case of the will, which would make it binding on taluqdari properties—Effect—Codicil directing allowance to be paid from 'this date,' is to be construed as a conveyance. Where an Oudh Taluqdari executed a will bequeathing later also a monthly sum of Rs 500 to his widow "from the estate," the said allowance being further made "a charge upon the estate which the person in possession of the taluqa was bound to discharge," and later on executed a codicil but without conforming (as he did in the case of the will) to the conditions which would make it binding on the taluqdari estate, by which he purported to raise the amount payable to the widow from Rs 500 to Rs 1,000 and it appeared that the taluqdari had left other properties which would be bound by wills and other testamentary instruments made with regard to such conditions. Held that the codicil could not be construed as merely textually altering the terms of the will so as to indicate that the increment in the allowance was to be paid from the same source as the bequest in the will no source having in fact been indicated by the codicil. The direction in the codicil that the amount of Rs 1,000 was to be paid to the widow "from this date" should be construed as a wish that the allowance should begin to run at once after death the idea that the donee was creating an annuity during his own life by inter vivos conveyance being opposed to the whole circumstances surrounding the execution of the document. DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF KHIRI v RANI BHAI RAJ KORE (1917)

22 C. W. N 305

WINDING UP.

See COMPANIES ACT (VI OF 1932)—

ss 28, 43, 61 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 557

ss 45 and 68 I. L. R. 42 Bom. 595

ss 61, 125 151 I. L. R. 38 All. 347

See COMPANIES ACT (VII OF 1913).

s 163 I. L. R. 41 All. 563

WINDING UP—cont'd.

s 162 I. L. R. 39 All. 334

s 169 I. L. R. 33 All. 641

I. L. R. 35 All. 177

• See COMPANY I. L. R. 47 Cal. 654

I. L. R. 35 All. 539

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 16, 47 331

I. L. R. 40 All. 43

— examination of directors—

See COMPANIES ACT, 1913, s 215

— order passed in—

See CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT 1912,

s. 42 I. L. R. 44 Bom. 582

Sale in execution of decree pending winding up proceedings validity of A sale held in execution of a decree against a Company while the Company is being wound up is in contravention of s 171 of the Companies Act 1913, unless the leave of the court under which the winding up is proceeding has been obtained and is voidable at the instance of the official liquidator. Per CHAMBERLAIN, C J—If the court executing the decree becomes aware of the winding up proceedings before the sale in execution of the decree is confirmed it should refuse to confirm the sale until the leave of the court under which the winding up is proceeding has been obtained. BALEDO NARAY SINGH v THE UNITED INDIA BANK LIMITED 2 Pat. L. J. 77

WINDING UP PETITION

Petitioner a creditor for amount not immediately payable—General financial position of company—Indian Companies Act (VI of 1932), ss 123, 129, 130 and 131—Scheme of arrangement—Practice The definition of "debt" in s. 130 of the Indian Companies Act (VI of 1932) is quite distinct from the meaning of the word "creditor". A creditor is a person to whom money is owed by the Company. Whether he can claim immediate payment of that debt or his right to demand payment is deferred by his agreement with the Company to a future time he still remains a creditor. If the petitioner can satisfy the Court that the Company on a general perusal of its balance sheet cannot pay its debts, in other words, that its assets are not sufficient to satisfy its liabilities, that will enable the Court to order its winding up. If an arrangement can be arrived at between the Company and its creditors it would be desirable that an attempt should be made to give effect to that arrangement.

But any scheme or proposal by the Company to keep itself afloat cannot be discussed with any chance of success unless the winding up order is made. It is only after the winding up order is made that a three fourths majority of the creditors is able to bind the minority. Otherwise any one creditor can come in and upset any arrangement which has appeared satisfactory to the rest of his co-creditors. In the matter of INDIAN COMPANIES ACT, In the matter of the BOMBAY MANUFACTURING COMPANY and In the matter of RATILAL KARBON DAS (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 533

WIRE-FENCE

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES

ACT (BOM III OF 1901), s 3, CL. (7).

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 563

WITHDRAWAL OF CASE.

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 854

WITHDRAWAL OF PARDON.See PARDON . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 845
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 758WITHDRAWAL OF PROSECUTION

Consent of Court given without recording reasons—Duty of the Court to give reasons and to examine the grounds of withdrawal stated by Public Prosecutor—Improper exercise of discretion in according consent—Revision—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1903), s. 491 An order according consent under s. 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code is a judicial one, and the reasons therefor should be stated in order to enable the High Court on revision to determine the propriety of the exercise of its discretion by the lower Court. Umesh Chandra Roy v Satish Chandra Roy, 22 C. W. N. 69, followed. Where on a commitment under ss. 344 and 366, I. P. C., the Public Prosecutor sought to withdraw the case on the ground of absence of evidence of the use of force by the accused—Held, that the Sessions Judge should have, before accepting and acting on the reason stated by the Public Prosecutor, satisfied himself on the point by examining the commitment record. The consent of the Sessions Judge to the withdrawal of the prosecution was held to have been improperly accorded when there was evidence of the employment of force on the record sufficient for the consideration of a jury and further when he could have added charges under ss. 497 and 498, I. P. C., on the husband's complaint to the Magistrate, and proceeded with the trial on such charges. RAJANI KANTA SHARMA v IDRIS THAKUR, (1921) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1105

WITHDRAWAL OF RIGHTS:See ACT OF STATE
[I. L. R. 39 Calc. 615]WITHDRAWAL OF SUITSee CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 373
[I. L. R. 33 Mad. 643]

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

O O XXIII, XLI, s. 11
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 261O XXIII, s. 1
See JURISDICTION

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 138

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT
[I. L. R. 44 Calc. 454]See LETTERS PATENT, 1865, CL. 15
[I. L. R. 45 Bom. 377]

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 632

See RES JUDICATA.

whether in ability to produce evidence justifies—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

O XXIII, s. 1 6 Pat. L. J. 112

Permission to institute fresh suit—No finding of formal defect—Power of High Court to interfere with order—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1903), s. 115 and O XXIII, WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT—contd.

r 1. In allowing a suit to be withdrawn with permission to institute a fresh suit it is not sufficient that the trial Court should say or suggest that there is a formal defect, but the existence of such a defect is a condition precedent to the exercise of jurisdiction under O XXIII, r. 1, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. NATHUNI RAM v. MUSAMMAT SAFO KOKR . 3 Pat. L. J. 450

Procedure—withdrawal with permission to bring fresh suit on payment of costs—costs of first suit paid after institution of second suit, whether the second suit maintainable Where a plaintiff is allowed to withdraw a suit with permission to bring a fresh suit on payment of the defendant's costs in the first suit, and no limit of time is provided within which such costs are to be paid, the second suit is maintainable even though the costs of the first suit are not paid until after the institution of the second suit. The Court should therefore limit the time. Semble, that the second suit would be maintainable even though the period of limitation expired before the institution of the second suit, inasmuch as the first suit would be pending until the costs had been paid. KULDIP SING v KULDIP CHAUDHURI 3 Pat. L. J. 63

Grounds for—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1903), O XXIII, r. 1 A suit may only be withdrawn with permission to bring a fresh suit when the Court is satisfied that the suit must fail by reason of some formal defect, or that there are other sufficient grounds for allowing the plaintiff to institute a fresh suit. The "sufficient grounds" contemplated in the second clause of O XXIII, r. 1, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, should be grounds analogous to the ground given in the first clause. It is not sufficient for the Court merely to record a vague opinion that there is a defect which may materially affect the decision. MAHENDRA RAM v SINGI LAL 3 Pat. L. J. 561

Duty of court to state reason for allowing withdrawal of suit—Power of High Court to interfere with order of withdrawal passed by Small Cause Court Judge Where a suit has been allowed to be withdrawn by a Small Cause Court, and no reasons have been recorded for permitting such withdrawal, the High Court will set the order aside in the exercise of its powers under s. 107 of the Government of India Act 1915. LUCHI RAI v RAGHUBER DUBE 2 Pat. L. J. 682

Suit for redemption—Permission to withdraw on condition fresh suit brought within 2 years The plaintiff filed a suit to redeem a mortgage but not wishing to proceed with the suit he was allowed to withdraw it with permission to bring a fresh suit provided it was brought within 2 years for the date of the order. The new suit was brought eight years after the order for withdrawal of suit. It was dismissed by the lower Courts on the ground that the plaintiffs had not complied with the conditions imposed by the order. On appeal to the High Court Held, that the order for withdrawal of suit imposing a limitation of two years was erroneous and it would not affect the plaintiff's right to redeem during the period of limitation allowed by the Limitation Act. RAMCHANDRA KOLARI v HANMANTA (1920) . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 939

WITNESS

- See ATTESTATION OF INSTRUMENT
I L R 37 All 350
- See BAR COUNCIL, RESOLUTIONS OF
I L R 40 Calc 898
- See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908) O
XXI n 27 I L R 38 All 191
- See COMMITMENT I L R 42 Calc 608
- See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1893
s 339 I L R 37 All 331
s 478 3 Pat. L J 632
- See DEPOSITION I L R 48 Calc 825
- See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND
I L R 38 Calc 24
- See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872)—
ss 21 15 I L R 34 Bom. 599
ss 118 to 131
s 137 I L R 43 All 97
I L R 40 All 271
- See FACT 15 C W N 717
- See LEGAL INACTIVITIES
I L R 44 Mad 911
- See PATTER SCIT
I L R 48 Calc 631
- See PENAL CODE, s 467
15 C W N 585
- See PERJURY I L R 42 Calc 240
- See POLICE DIARIES 3 Pat. L J 588
- See PRIVATE DEFENCE 3 Pat. L J 418
- See PUBLIC PROSECUTOR
I L R 42 Calc 422
- See WARRANT I L R 38 Calc 789
- Called by Court—CROSS EXAMINATION OF—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss
435 439 25 C W N 609
- commission to examine—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT I OF 1908) O XXVI n 1 I L R 42 Bom 136
- counsel accepting Retainer when likely to be a witness—
See BAR COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS OF
I L R 40 Calc 898
- cross-examination of—
See CHARGE I L R 42 Calc 957
- See CROSS EXAMINATION
I L R 37 Calc 233
- See MAHONEDAN LAW—Gift
I L R 39 All 627
- evidence of deceased—
See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s 33
I L R 42 All 24
- examination of—
See INSOLVENCY
I L R 8 Calc 1039
- See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1893
s 463 I L R 39 Calc 931
- See WILL I L R 47 Calc 1043

WITNESS—contd

- In insolvency proceedings—Costs
of—
See COSTS I L R 46 Calc 793
- privilege of—
See EVIDENCE ACT (I of 1872) s 196
I L R 41 All 123
- prosecution of for contradictory statements—
See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
I L R 37 Calc 618
- questions put to by Court—
See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s 33
I L R 42 All 237
- right of accused to summon—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 244
540 I L R 38 All 13
- statement of—
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
s 439 I L R 36 Mad. 216
- suit—whether an attesting—
See EVIDENCE ACT 1872 s 68
1 Pat. L J 129
1. ———— Witness if party to suit—Witness examined in a suit or proceeding are not to be considered parties to the suit or proceeding Emperor v Ghansha Singh I L R 15
All 4 referred to. DEBI LAL v DIJADHAN
GASHAI (1911) 15 C W N 585
2. ———— Attendance of—A servant of the Munt party was summoned at the plaintiff's instance to produce certain documents which the plaintiff mutually would support in a case of adverse possession of the land in dispute but he failed or declined to attend and the plaintiff's application for a warrant to compel attendance was rejected without good reason. The suit was dismissed on the ground a non est that plaintiff was not in possession for 12 years. It was on second appeal that there should be a hearing after compelling the witness to attend and produce the documents. UDESHA NATI CHAND v
THE CHAIRMAN OF THE CALCUTTA CORPORATION
(1911) 16 C W N 116
3. ———— Competency of a person, accused as witness against another implicated therein but separately tried—Admission of the deposition of a witness against a third person is subject to the Act (I of 1872) s 118
131—Oath Act (I of 1873) s 5—Criminal Procedure Code Act (I of 1895) s 342 (1). S 3 of the Oath Act (I of 1873) and s 340 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code apply only to the accused actually under trial at the time. Such person cannot therefore be sworn as a witness and a co-accused jointly is a competent witness for or against the co-accused. But when several persons are tried separately each one though implicated in the same offence is a competent witness at the trial of the other.
Beg v Naayan Sander 5 Bom H C P 1 and Emperor v Derant I L R 23 Bom 213 followed. Banu Singh v Emperor I L R 33 Calc 1353 and Am ta Lal Haara v Emperor I L R 40 Calc 957 approved. Queen
Empress v Mona Pura I L R 16 Bom 681

WITNESS—contd.

Yashwantrao Appur v King Emperor, 1 L. R. 23 Mad. 61, and Queen Empress v Hussein Haqq, 1 L. R. 23 Bom. 422, referred to. A previous deposition is admissible against the witness on his subsequent trial, unless he has brought himself within the protection of the proviso to s. 132 of the Evidence Act. King Emperor v Nanda Copol Ray, 23 C. W. N. 1124, explained and distinguished. Abani Kumar Mukherjee v Emperor (1917) 1 L. R. 45 Calc. 720.

4. — Competency of accused as witness.—Withdrawal of prosecution jointly by private civil confuting the prosecution and the court and suspicion.—Inability of the withdrawal and consequent discharge of the accused.—Competency of accused as witness thereafter.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 491.—Evidence of co-accused and gambling cases prior to the conspiracy charged.—Statement of an accused 4 months after arrest and removal to a confession.—Admissibility of statement.—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 10, 20 and 34.—Conspiracy to cheat.—Criminal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss. 120 B and 120. Where the prosecution against an accused was withdrawn with the consent of the Court, after the opening of the Crown case, by an application purporting to be signed by the Court sub-inspector and a private villi, who was not appointed a public prosecutor by the Governor General in Council or the Local Government but was acting under the direction of the public prosecutor duly appointed for the district and the accused was thereupon discharged under s. 491 (a), removal from the dock and examined as a prosecution witness;—Held, that the withdrawal was legal as the Court sub-inspector who was a public prosecutor within s. 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code had signed the petition filed for the purpose. Abani Kumar Mukherjee v Emperor, 1 L. R. 45 Calc. 720, applied. Evidence that some of the accused ran cocaine and gambling dens, long before the existence of the conspiracy, which was the sub-set of the charge, was held admissible if a prosecution case being that some of the accused were first thrown together by frequenting or running such dens, and that they continued to meet at such places for the purposes of the conspiracy charge. The evidence of an excise sub-inspector of raids on the dens was admissible as leading up to the admissions made to him. The statement of an accused, made after arrest, and not amounting to a confession, is not admissible in evidence, against a co-accused, either under s. 10 or s. 30 of the Evidence Act, but only against himself. The error does not, however, affect the conviction when no stress was laid on such statement by the Trial and Appellate Courts. Emperor v Abani Bhushan Chakraborty 1 L. R. 38 Calc. 169, Pulla Pehary Das v King Emperor, 13 C. L. J. 517, followed. ITAL SINGH v. EMEROR (1918) 1 L. R. 46 Calc. 700.

5. — enforcing attendance of witnesses.—mentioned in the list given to the Magistrate and summoned for the trial—Application made at the last moment after examination of defence witnesses present.—Refusal by the Judge of the application on the ground of delay.—Materiality of the evidence of the absent witness.—Proper course to be followed by the Judge.—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 391. Where, after the examination of the defence witnesses present had concluded, and the case was ready for arguments, an application was made to the Court to enforce the attendance of certain witnesses, whose names had been entered in the list given by the accused to the Committing Magistrate, and who had been summoned but failed to attend, and it further appeared from the petition of appeal to the High Court that their evidence was material; Held, that the refusal of the Judge to enforce the attendance of the witnesses, based not on the ground of their evidence being immaterial but of delay in the application, was not justifiable, and that the conviction ought, therefore, to be set aside and a retrial ordered. Steps should be taken by the bench Judge to ensure an early application by the parties with regard to the attendance of their witnesses. FAT JEDDI v. EMEROR (1920) 1 L. R. 47 Calc. 758.

WITNESS—contd.

6. — Hostile witness.—A witness is considered adverse when in the opinion of the Judge he bears a hostile animus to the party calling him and not merely when his testimony contradicts his proof. When a witness is treated hostile and cross-examined by the party calling him this must be done to discredit the witness altogether and not merely to get rid of part of his testimony. SURENDRA KRISHNA MONDAL v. SH. PANKAJ DAS 24 C. W. N. 860.

7. — Where a witness was called by Court, not examined by it but cross-examined by both sides.—Imprecise of procedure discussed. GANGADHAR GOHA v. FIDELMUND WILLIE LYMON REED 25 C. W. N. 609.

WOMEN

See PLEADER 1 L. R. 44 Calc. 290

See HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE

— beneficiaries under will of a Hindu—

See HINDU LAW—WILL

1 L. R. 1 Lah. 415

1 L. R. 2 Lah. 175

— disqualification of, to perform duties of archaka—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXIII, s. 3

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 850

— right to inherit—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXIII, s. 3

1 L. R. 38 Mad. 850

WORDS AND PHRASES.

— "A large proportion of the landlords"—

See ULTRA VIRES, BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 101. 1 L. R. 40 Calc. 123

— "Accused person"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 145 and 526. 1 L. R. 34 All. 533

— "Act together"—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 188. 1 L. R. 38 Calc. 270

— "Addition to embankment"—

See EMBANKMENT 1 L. R. 38 Calc. 413

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"Affected"—]

See LAND ACQUISITION

I L R 44 Calc 219

I L R 47 Calc 500

See RECOUPMENT I L R 45 Calc 343

Agabaram—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT 1908

s 3

I L R 41 Mad 1012

"Aggregate sentences"—

See CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE 1898,

ss 30 and 403 3 Pat L J 138

"Aggrieved person"—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT s 30

15 C W N 253

"Agreement" or "memorandum of agreement"—

See STAMP ACT (II of 1899)

S 57 I L R 38 Mad 349

"Agricultural tribe"—

See BUNDELKHAND ALLOCATION OF LAND

ACT (II of 1903) ss 3 4 6 9

I L R 41 All 294

"Agriculturist"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908

s 60 (c) I L R 41 Bom 475

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF

ACT s 2 I L R 35 Bom 288

I L R 34 Bom 65

"Alienated"—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM

V of 1879)—

S 3 (19) I L R 35 Bom 432

Ss 3 (20) AND 217

I L R 43 Bom 77

"Alienation"—

See BHADANI AND VAWARDANI ACT

(BOM. ACT V of 1862) s 3

I L R 40 Bom 207

"All estate right and title"—

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER

I L R 42 Calc 55

"Alteration of papers"—

See COURT FEE STAMPS

I L R 47 Calc 71

"Ammunition"—

See ARMS ACT s 4

I L R 32 All 152

"Annual net profit"—

See CESS ACT 15 C W N 201

See MINES I L R 38 Calc 322

"Antecedent debt"—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

I L R 41 All 529

"Any accused person"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 110

I L R 35 Bom 401

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"Any interest therein"—

IMMOVABLE PROPERTY

See LIMITATION ACT 1908 SCH I ART 120

3 Pat L J 522

"Any one individual person"—

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION

I L R 39 Calc 754

"Any person within local limits"—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR,

I L R 46 Calc 215

"Any trustees or trustee"—

See TRUSTS I L R 39, Mad 597

"Apanneeti"—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE,

I L R 48 Calc 643

"Appeal"—

See HIGH COURT ORIGINAL SIDE JURIS-

DICTION OF I L R 37 Calc 714

"Ascertained sum"—

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT

ACT SCH II ART 31 3 Pat L J 423

"Assets come into his hands"—

See ADMINISTRATION PENDENTE LITE,

I L R 41 Calc 771

"Assets realised"—

See INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

3 Pat L J 456

"At once"—

See COMPLAINT I L R 42 Calc 19

"Attested," meaning of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of

1857) s 123 I L R 44 Bom 231

"Attesting witness," meaning of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV of 1882) s 69 I L R 44 Bom 405

"Aulad"—

See WILL I L R 38 All 101

"Auras putra-poutradik"—

See BARUANA AND SONIA GRANTS

L R 41 I A 275

"Authorized agent—

See HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS

FOR CIVIL COURT CHAP XXI R 1

I L R 41 All 248

"Anyavahanka"—

See HINDU LAW—DEBTS

I L R 43 Bom 612

"Awards"—

See LAND ACQUISITION

I L R 46 Calc 281

"becomes due"—

See LIMITATION ACT IX of 1908 SCH I,

ART 137 I L R 37 All 400

"benefits to arrive out of land"—

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, SCH I ART 120

120 137 141

3 Pat L J 522

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"betterment"—

See RECOUPMENT

I L R 45 Calc 343

"Bohras"—

See LIBEL I L R 41 All 329

"building"—

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1901)—

s 3, CL. (7) I L R 41 Bom 563

s 98 I L R 35 Bom 412

"business"—

See EXCESS PROFIT DUTY

I L R 48 Calc 844

See RECEIVER I L R 40 Calc 678

"by means thereof"—

See CHARGES I L R 42 Calc 857

"Calcutta Gazette"—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE

I L R 46 Calc 255

"Capable of instituting suits"—

See LIMITATION L. R. 43 I A 113

"Case"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

ss 16 AND 115 I L R 42 All 409

s. 115 I L R 40 Bom 58

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 193

I L R 37 All 286

"Cause of Action"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 O II

s 2 I L R 38 All 217

See PARTITION I L R 36 Mad. 151

"Caveat emptor"—

See VENDOR 3 Pat L. J 358

"Charitable purposes"—

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM
ACT III OF 1888), ss 140 (c) 143 (1)

(a) AND 2 (d) I L R 43 Bom 281

"Child"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1893) s 483 (1)

I L R 37 Mad. 565

"Christian"—

See CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE ACT (XV OF
1872) ss 3 AND 68.

I L R 40 All 393

"Circumstances and Property"—

See MUNICIPALITY—ASSESSMENT

I L R 41 Calc 168

"Circumstances and Property within the Municipality"—

See ASSESSMENT I L R. 48 Calc 443

"Claim arising under the mori-

-gaga"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908,
O XXXIV, s. 14

I L R 41 All 399

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"Claim of right"—

See TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

I L R 46 Calc 1001

"Claiming under"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF
1908) s. 11 I L R 40 Bom 879

"Collector"—

See MAMLATDARS COURTS ACT (BOM II
OF 1906) s 23

I L R 39 Bom 552

"Common carrier"—

See CONTRACT ACT ss 50 AND 65

I L R 40 Bom 529

See RAILWAY COMPANY

I L R 47 Calc 6

"Common gaming house"—

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)
ss 1 3 I L R 38 All 47

"Company's sicca Rupees"—

See SUIT FOR RENT

I L R 48 Calc 347

"Compelled to answer"—

See FALSE EVIDENCE

I L R 37 Calc 878

"Complaint"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

ss 4 195 (1) I L R 35 All 8

ss 4 476 I L R 38 All 32

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 43 Calc 1152

See WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT
ACT (XIII OF 1830) ss 1 AND 2

I L R 41 All 322

"Composition deed"—

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)
s 17 CL. (c) I L R 38 Bom 576

"Compromise"—

See COMPROMISE

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 48,
345 20 C W N 1209

"Conclusive proof"—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
s 9 I L R 34 All 285

"Consideration"—

See DEBTOR OR CREDITOR.

I L R 41 Calc 137

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
s. 423 I L R 37 Mad. 47

"Contentious suit"—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s 82 I L R 38 Mad. 450

"Conveyance"—

See OPIUM, ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF

I L R 37 Calc. 24

"Costs to abide the result"—

"Costs to follow the event"—

See COSTS I L R 39 Mad 476

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"Court"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908,
O XXI, RR. 89-92

I L R 40 All 425

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
OF 1898) s. 193

I L R 37 Bom 365

See COURT

See LIMITATION ACT 1877, s. 14

I L R 35 Bom 139

See PARTITION I L R 45 Calc 873

See PRENS ACT (I OF 1905), s. 3 (2)
"Prens"

I L R 39 Mad 1164

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT

I L R 44 Calc 639

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 45 Calc 585

"Credible information"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 54 (1).

I L R 38 All 6

See HABEAS CORPUS

I L R 44 Calc 78

"Criminal case"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 143, 526

I L R 34 All 533

See TRANSFER I L R 41 Calc 719

"Criminal trial"—

See LETTERS PATENT (24 AND 25 VICT
C. 104) s. 15

I L R 39 Mad. 539

"Crops or other products"—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT 1901 ss 74-76

I L R 32 All 458

"Dāsi"—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R 48 Calc 643

"dāyadāndhapatra"—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R 48 Calc 643

"date of decree"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908
O XLV, R. 7

14 C W N 420

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 46 Calc. 1032

"dayāda"—

See HINDU LAW—STRIDAY

I L R 36 Bom 424

"debt"—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872) s. 25

I L R 40 Mad. 31

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE

I L R 42 Calc 10

"debtor and creditor"—

See WARDING UP PETITION

I L R 34 Bom. 533

"debt and liability"—

See CHOTA NAGPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATE
ACT, 1878, s. 2

3 Pat. L. J 156

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

"decision"—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, ss. 100-107
18 C W N 604

"decree"—

See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc. 160

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908)—

s. 2

I L R 39 All 393

ss 2 104, 148

I L R. 35 All 582

See SECOND APPEAL 3 Pat. L. J 645

"decree-holder"—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF
1908) (I XVI, R. 89

I L R. 37 Bom. 387

"decree in the suit"—

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT

I L R. 34 Bom 158

"default"—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I L R 38 Calc. 482

"defaulter"—

See MAHARAJA REVENUE RECOVERY ACT,
ss 3, 35.

I L R 33 Mad. 41

See MAHARAJA ESTATES LAND ACT, 1908,
s. 146

I L R 44 Mad. 534

"delay"—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION

I L R 43 Calc 897

"denatured spirit"—

See EXCISE I L R 41 Calc. 694

"deposit" (in art 60 of the Limitation Act—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908),
ART. 59 AND 60

I L R 39 Mad. 1081

"desperate and dangerous"—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR

I L R 46 Calc 215

"destined"—

See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

I L R 42 Calc 1094

"directly over or indirectly under"—

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT
(BOM ACT III OF 1888) s. 231 cl. (a)

I L R. 34 Bom 496

"discharged"—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 119

I L R. 35 Bom 401

"Disciple"—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE

I L R. 44 Mad 704

"dishonestly and fraudulently"—

See FORGERY I L R. 38 Calc 75

14 C W N 1078

"dishonour"—

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE

I L R. 46 Calc. 584

"dispossession"—

See LIMITATION I L R. 41 Calc. 62

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

- "distributive"—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908),
 ARTS. 123 144. I L R 45 Bom. 519
- "doctrine of feeding the estoppel"—
See EXPECTANCIES.
 I L R 39 Mad 554
- "doubt"—
See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT
 I L R 44 Calc 595
- "due and reasonable diligence"—
See SUMMONS SERVICE OF
 I L R 43 Calc 447
- "due diligence"—
See LIMITATION I L R 45 Calc 94
- "dues"—
See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT (IX OF 1887) SCH II ART 13
 I L R 39 Bom 131
- "duly authorised agent"—
See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877) s 20
 I L R 37 Calc 461
- "dwell or carry on business or personally work for gain"—
See JURISDICTION I L R 40 Calc 308
- "dwelling house"—
See PARTITION I L R 45 Calc 873
- "effectually and permanently rendered unfit"—
See EXCISE I L R. 41 Calc 894
- "emigrate"—
See EMIGRATION I L R 37 Calc 27
- "emoluments of an office"—
See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871),
 s 4 I L R 38 Mad. 559
- "employed in the business"—
See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF 1919) SCH. II R 1
 I L R 45 Bom 881
- "encumbrances"—
See APPEAL I L R 43 Calc 178
- "enforcing a right"—
See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860)
 ss. 141, 143 17 C W N 1132
- "enforcing and maintaining right"—
See RIOTING I L R 41 Calc. 43
- "engagements with Government"—
See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT
 L R. 44 I A 186
 L R. 48 I A. 302
- "es a's"—
See LAND TENURE IN MADRAS.
 L R. 46 I A. 38, 123
- See OTHER ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869),
 s 2 3 8 10, 2"
 I L R. 35 ALL 391

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

- "equity justice and good conscience"—
See HINDU LAW (MAINTENANCE).
 I L R 37 Mad. 396
- "error, omission or irregularity"—
See CHARGE. I L R 40 Calc 168
- "excepted business"—
See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF
 1919) I L R 45 Bom 1064
- "excisable article"—
See EXCISE I L R 41 Calc 694
- "existing embankment"—
See EMBANKMENT I L R 40 Calc 825
- "explosive substance"—
See CHARGE I L R 42 Calc. 957
- "Family"—
See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM
 III OF 1874) ss 4 53
 I L R 41 Bom 677
- "Filing in court"—
See ARBITRATION I L R 46 Calc. 721
- "Final"—
See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III
 OF 1904) s 287 (3)
 I L R 38 Mad. 41
- "Finally decided"—
See ESTOPPEL L R 44 I A 213
- See RES JUDICATA
 I L R 43 Bom. 568
 I L R 45 Calc 442
- "Final decree"—
See ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD I OF 1908)
 I L R 38 Mad. 429
- "Final order"—
See APPEAL TO PRINCY COUNCIL.
 I L R. 47 Calc 918
- "Fire arms"—
See MISJOINDER OF CHARGES
 I L R. 42 Calc 1153
- "Fixed or guaranteed"—
See POLYMER SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT
 ACT, ss 23, 8 ETC
 I L R 38 Bom 290
- "Food"— See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III
 OF 1904) BY LAWS 169
 I L R. 39 Mad. 362
- "Forest Produce"—
See EASEMENT
 2 Pat. L. J 323
- "Foreign State"—
See EXTRADITION
 I L R 47 Calc. 37
- "Fraudulently"—
See FABRICATION OF FALSE DOCUMENT.
 I L R. 48 Calc. 911

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "Full water rate"—
See WATER RATE
 I L R 34 Mad. 436
- "Gambling" and "Wagering"—
See COTTON GAMBLING
 I L R 39 Calc. 968
- "Gaming"—
See MADRAS TOWNS NUISANCE ACT
 (MAD III 1889) s 3 (10)
 I L R. 40 Mad. 556
- "Ghosis"—
See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION OF LAND
 ACT (II OF 1903) ss 3 & 4
 I L R 41 All. 294
- "Good faith"—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s 5
 I L R 45 Bom. 607
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
 ss 5^a 191 AND 193
 I L R 36 All. 362
- "Government established by law in British India"— See PRESS ACT I OF 1910—
 ss 3 () 4 () 17, 19 20 22
 I L R 39 Mad. 1085
 s 4 I L R 42 All. 233
- "Grant of a definite share of a village"—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM
 ACT V OF 1879), ss 83 216 (3) AND 217
 I L R 44 Bom. 566
- "hatred" or "contempt"—
See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910) ss. 3 (1) 4 (1)
 17, 19 20 22
 I L R 39 Mad. 1085
- "heir next in succession"—
See MATADANS ACT (BOM VI OF 1887)
 ss. 9 10 I L R 39 Bom. 478
- "heirs born of the womb"—
See WILL 3 Pat L J 199
- "Hindu"—
See SUCCESSION ACT s 2
 15 C. W. N 158
- "holder"—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE ACT ss
 3 109 197
 I L R 36 Bom. 315
- "holder of alienated land"—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM ACT V OF 1879) ss 3 74 76
 I L R 45 Bom. 898
- "holder of Property"—
See CHOTA NAGPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATES
 ACT 18 6 3 Pat L J 156
- "holding"—
See ASSESSMENT EXEMPTION FROM
 I L R 37 Calc. 697
- "holds office"—
See MADRAS DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (IV OF 1884) ss 53 AND 60
 I L R 33 Mad. 879

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "immovable property"—
See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897)
 s 3 (25) I L R 35 All. 156
- "import into Bengal"—
See EVIDENCE I L R. 41 Calc. 545
- "income"—
See INCOME TAX ACT (II OF 1886), PART
 IV SCH II s 3 CL. (5)
 I L R 39 Mad. 885
- "injury to the person"—
See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS
 ACT I L R 36 Bom. 443
- "instrument"—
See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899) s 2 (14)
 SCH I ART 5 I L R 36 All. 11
- "instrument of partition"—
See STAMPS ACT (II OF 1899) s. 50
 I L R. 35 Bom. 75
- "integral"—
See PRE EMPTION I L R 33 All. 104
- "investigation"—
See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT s 14
 15 C W N 269
- "irreparable injury"—
See TEMPORARY INJUNCTION
 I L P 46 Calc. 1001
- "irrigation by percolation"—
See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESA ACT 1863,
 s 1 I L R 40 Mad. 59
- "jama abadharita and dharjya"—
See RENT I L R 47 Calc. 133
- "judgment"—
See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc. 323
 I L R 42 Calc. 725
 I L R 43 Calc. 857
 I L R 45 Calc. 818
 I L R 47 Calc. 1104
- See APPEAL, RIGHT OF
 I L R 44 Calc. 804
- See ARBITRATION I L R 34 Bom. 1
- See LETTERS PATENT CL. 15
 I L R 44 Bom. 272
 I L R. 45 Bom. 377
- "Judicial Act"—
See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910) s 3 (1), PROviso I L R 39 Mad. 1164
- "Judicial Proceeding"—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE ss 183
 476 I L R 34 All. 602
- See MAGISTRATE, POWER OF
 I L R 37 Calc. 72
- See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
 I L R 43 Calc. 1152
- "jurisdiction"—
See APPEAL I L R 41 Calc. 323
- "Just Antecedent Debt"—
See CUSTOM (ALIENATION)
 I L R 1 Lah. 472

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

- "just cause"—
See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
 I L R 40 Cal 50
- "just debts"—
See HINDU LAW—ALIENTATION
 I L R 40 Cal 288
- "Justice Equity and Good Conscience"—
See JOINT JUDGMENT DEBTORS
 I L R 39 Mad 548
- See WILL
 I L R 35 All 211
- See HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE.
 I L R 37 Mad 397
- "land"—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT (11 OF 1901)
 s 4 CHAP V I L R 35 All 200
- See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (1 OF 1894)
 s 3 (a) I L R 45 Bom. 277
- "landlord"—
See BOMBAY (WAR RESTRICTION) ACT (11 OF 1918) s 2 (1) CL. (a) (c) (d)
 I L R 45 Bom 744
- as 2 (c) 9
 I L R 43 Bom 795
- "landlord and tenant"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 148-A.
 18 C W N 1018
- "landlord of a holding"—
See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT
 I L R 40 Cal 29
- "Landlord's interest"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT 1883 s 148
 I L R 40 Cal 462
- "Lands attached to Deur"—
See SARAD
 I L R 36 Bom. 639
- "lawful guardianship"—
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
 ss 366 368 I L R 40 All 507
- "legal necessity"—
See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
 I L R 39 All 485
- See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY
 I L R 41 All 523
- See HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY
- "legal representative"—
See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS I L R 40 Bom 341
- "Liquor"—
See EXCISE I L R 41 Cal 694
- "Machinery"—
See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT s 101
 26 C W N 761
- "mahabat"—
See MANOMEDAN LAW
 I L R 33 All 421
- "mahal"—
See PRE EMISSION I L R 32 All 351

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd

- "mafi hak hakuk"—
See LEASE CONSTRUCTION OF
 I L R 45 Cal 87
- See MINERALS L R 44 I A. 246
- "major"—
See INSURANCE I L R 36 Bom 484
- "mahk"—
See HINDU LAW—WILL.
 14 C W N 458
- See WILL I L R 35 Bom. 279
- "managing officer"—
See GUJARAT TALUKDAR ACT
 I L R 34 Bom 142
- "maupau"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 9 SCH II s 20
 I L R 37 Bom. 442
- "manufacture"—
See EXCISE I L R 41 Cal 694
- "marry"—
See ABDUCTION I L R 45 Cal 641
- "matter directly and substantially in issue"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) s 10 I L R 44 Bom. 283
- See ENHANCEMENT OF RENT
 I L R 40 Cal 29
- "misapplication"—
See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (BOM III OF 1901) s 42
 I L R 40 Bom. 166
- "misbehaviour"—
See BOMBAY REGULATION (11 OF 1877), s 56 I L R 37 Bom. 354
- "misjoinder includes non joinder"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s 90
 I L R 33 Mad. 436
- "movable property"—
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
 ss 403 and 22 I L R 40 All 119
- "muakhiza"—
See MORTGAGE I L R 34 All 446
- "mutual dealings"—
See SET OFF I L R 45 Bom. 1219
- "new and important matter"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O XLVIII s 1
 I L R 33 All 569
- "newspaper"—
See PRINTING PRESS FORFEITURE OF
 I L R 38 Cal 202
- "nij chas"—
See ORISSA TENANCY ACT 1913
 3 Pat L. J 475
- "nij jote"—
See ORISSA TENANCY ACT 1913
 3 Pat L. J 475

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "oath"—
See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
 I L R 43 Cal 597
- "obtaining"—
See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY
 I L R 40 Mad 34
- "occupant of the place"—
See DACOITY I L R 41 Cal 350
- "occupier"—
See BUSTEE LAND
 I L R 41 Cal 164
- See MUNICIPAL ELECTION
 I L R 45 Cal 950
- See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES
 ACT (II of 1916) s 24
 I L R 39 All 309
- "offence involving a breach of the peace"—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 106
 I L R 33 All 771
 I L R 43 Bom 554
- "offices or employments"—
See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X of
 1919) I L R 45 Bom 1054
- "Official Gazette"—
See REVENUE SALE L R 45 I A 205
- "oil (other sorts)"— See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III of 1888) s 394 I L R 45 Bom 1076
- "opposite party"—
See APPEAL I L R 43 Cal 178
- "order"—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II of 1901)
 ss 1 & 177 I L R 32 All 373
- "other sufficient grounds"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V of 1908) O XXIII n 1 (?)
 I L R 41 Mad 701
- "otherwise transfer"—
See CENTRAL PROVINCES TENANCY ACT,
 1898 3 Pat L J 88
- "oversight"—
See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE
 s 3 (11) I L R 36 Bom 315
- "owner"—
See BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT ss 6 AND
 15 15 C W N 589
- See BUSTEE LAND
 I L R 41 Cal 104
- See MADRAS ASSESSMENT OF LAND
 REVENUE ACT s 2,
 I L R 39 Mad 1128
- See MUNICIPAL ELECTION
 I L R 38 Cal 501
- "parrot"—
See EVIDENCE I L R 40 All 86
- "partial performance"—
See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION
 I L R 38 Mad 1187

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "period of limitation prescribed"—
See DEKKHAT AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF
 ACT (XVII of 1879) s 48
 I L R 42 Bom 367
- "person"—
See CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE,
 1898 3 Pat L J 124
- "person aggrieved"— See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III of 1907)—
 ss 22 & 46 I L R 41 All 234
 I L R 39 All 152
 ss 43 (?) & 46 I L R 39 All 171
- "person in authority"—
See PRACTICE I L R 40 Bom 220
- "persons designata"—
See NAIKINS I L R 37 Bom 116
- "persons incertis"—
See WILL
 I L R 39 Cal 87
 15 C W N 945
- "personally interested"—
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s 556
 I L R 32 All 635
- "place"—
See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING
 ACT (BOM. II of 1887) s 4 cls (a) (c)
 I L R 37 Bom 651
- See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT 1317 ss 1, 3
 I L R 38 All 47
- "place of public resort"—
See MADRAS CITY POLICE ACT (III of 1888), s 75 I L R 39 Mad 888
- "plaintiff"—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX of 1908),
 ss 3 & 7 S H I ART 142.
 I L R 40 Bom 564
- "plantation"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 160
 18 C W N 349
- "positive evidence"—
See CONTENT OF COURT
 I L R 41 Cal 173
- "possession"—
See CHARGE I L R 42 Cal 957
- See SHARES I L R 46 Cal 342
- "premises"—
See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT
 (III of 1888) s 305
 I L R 34 Bom 593
- "presentation"—
See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI of 1908),
 ss 31 & 3° 5° 87
 I L R 35 All 34
- "presumption of innocence"—
See CHARGE I L R 42 Cal 957
- "preservation of line of street"— See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III of 1888 AS AMENDED BY BOM. V OF 1905), ss 297, 299 301.
 I L R 42 Bom 463

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "price"—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) ss 54 118
 I L R 37 Mad 423
- "proceeding"—
See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s 47 I L R 39 All 287
- "process"—
See EXCISE I L R 41 Cal 694
- "produced"—
See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION
 I L R 44 Cal 1002
- "promulgated"—
See PENAL CODE s 183
 I L R 39 Mad 543
- "proper courts"—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) ART 19 EXP II I L R 45 Bom 453
- "property"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XL R 4
 I L R 39 Mad 584
See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER
 I L R 48 Cal 536
See MINOR I L R 48 Cal 802
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860) s 185 I L R 37 All 128
- "property of any ward"—
See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT s 48 I L R 36 All 321
- "proprietor"—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901) s 150 I L R 40 All 858
See NORTH WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XIX OF 1873) ss 146 148 167
 I L R 35 All 190
- "protected interest"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s 160
 18 C W N 349
See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 I L R 39 Cal 138
- "public charitable and religious purposes"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 339 I L R 34 All 468
- "public place"—
See MADRAS CITY POLICE ACT (III OF 1885) s 75 I L P 39 Mad 886
See MADRAS TOWNS ACT (ACT III OF 1839) s 3 (10)
 I L R 40 Mad 556
- "public purpose"—
See PRESUMPTION I L R 39 Bom 279
- "publication"—
See TORT I L P 39 Mad 433
- "punya"—
See LIMITATION 23 C W N 336

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "purchaser"—
See REVENUE SALE LAW, s. 37
 15 C W N 706
- "putra"—
See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE
 I L R 37 All 804
- "putra putradi"—
See JAGIR I L R 42 Cal 305
 I L R 46 Cal 683
- "railway"—
See RAILWAY PASSENGER
 I L R 44 Cal 279
- "railway administration"—
See LOSS OF GOODS
 I L R 44 Cal 16
- "raiya"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII OF 1885) ss 103B and 104H
 I L R 46 Cal 90
- "ready goods"—
See CONTRACT I L R 47 Cal 458
- "reasonable suspicion"—
See HABEAS CORPUS
 I L R 44 Cal 76
- "receipt"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXI R. 89 (b)
 I L R 39 Mad 429
- "recognised or authorised to act"—
See BENGAL TENANCY ACT s. 183
 15 C W N 74
- "re-erection"—
See BUILDING I L R 39 Cal 84
- "refused to take"—
See PRACTICE I L R 35 Bom 213
- "relates to the suit" construction of—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882 s 379
 I L R 23 Mad 102
- "religion"—
See STAMP ACT (II OF 1880) s 59
 I L R 35 Bom 75
- "religious assembly"—
See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860) s 294 I L R 34 All 78
- "reside"—
See DIVORCE ACT (II OF 1869) s 3
 I L R 32 All 203
See LUNACY I L R 43 Cal 577
See SUBSTITUTED SERVICE
 I L R 36 Cal 394
- "resides"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O V R. 17
 15 C W N 393
- "Restraint of Princes and Rulers"—
See BILL OF LAYING
 I L R 44 Mad 145

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "rights to sue"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) ss 92 AND 93
 I L R 38 Mad. 1064
- "rikhta"—
See HINDU LAW—STREIDHAN
 I L P 36 Bom 424
- "risk note"—
See CONTRACT I L R 39 All. 419
- "river belonging to Government"—
See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII OF 1865) I L R 37 Mad 322
- "rolling stock"—
See RAILWAY PASSENGER
 I L R 41 Calc 279
- "Samanodaka"—
See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.
 I L R 40 Mad. 654
- "same act or transaction"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O I, s 3 I L R 34 Bom 358
- "same judgment-debtor"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 205
 I L R 33 Mad. 465
- "same transaction"—
See CHANGE I L R 42 Calc 957
- "sanctioned"—
See BOMBAY SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT ACT, s 25 I L R 38 Bom 290
- "santan"—
See HINDU WILL ACT 21 C W N 854
- "sarkhat"—
See LANDLORD AND TENANT
 I L R 41 All. 654
- See STAMP ACT (II OF 1899) s 12 SCH. 1, ARTS 1 5 I L R 41 All 169
- "seaworthiness"—
See BILL OF LADING
 I L R 38 Mad 941
- "secundum allegata et probata"—
See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877) s. 39 I L R 39 Bom 119
- "secured creditor"—
See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907) s. 31 I L R 37 All 383
- "series of acts of transaction"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908 O I s. 3 I L R 34 Bom. 358
- "shauls"—
See RAILWAY ACT 1890 s 75 SCH. II (m)
 I L R 39 Calc 1029
- "single transaction"—
See POWER-OF-ATTORNEY
 I L R 38 Mad. 184
- "slavery bond"—
See CONTRACT 3 Pat L J 412

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "sole risk"—
See LOSS OF GOODS
 I L P 46 Calc 56
- "son"—
See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
 I L R 43 Calc. 944
- "standard rent"—
See BOMBAY RENT (WAR RESTRICTIONS) ACT (BOM II OF 1918) s 2 (f) cls. (a) (c) (d) I L R 45 Bom. 744
- "stating the grounds of its opinion"—
See FORFEITURE I L P 41 Calc. 466
- "stream"—
See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT, s 2
 I L R 34 Mad. 295
- "street"—
See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (BOM ACT III OF 1883), s. 303
 I L R 43 Bom. 122
- See LAND ACQUISITION
 I L R 44 Calc. 219
- "strict proof"—
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ss. 5, 14 I L R 42 Bom. 295
- See REVIEW I L R. 42 Calc. 830
- "subject matter"—
See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908) O XXIII, s. 1
 I L R 42 Bom. 155
- "submission to Court"—
See ARBITRATION I L R 46 Calc 721
- "subsequent transferee"—
See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882) s. 53 I L R 39 Bom. 507
- "succeeded by another Magistrate"—
See RIOTING I L R 39 Calc. 781
- "successor"—
See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 159 I L R 33 All. 553
- "sufficient cause"—
See COURT FEES ACT, 1870 ss. 4 6 28
 3 Pat L J 74
- See LAND ACQUISITION
 I L R 45 Bom. 725
- See LIMITATION I L R 45 Calc. 94
- "suit for land"—
See LETTERS PATENT (AMENDED) OF THE BOMBAY HIGH COURT, CL. 12.
 I L R 37 Bom. 494
- "suit for land or other immoveable property"—
See JURISDICTION I L R. 42 Calc. 942
- "suit or other legal proceeding"—
See PRESIDENCY TOWN INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909), ss. 17, 103, 104
 I L R 35 Bom. 83

WORDS AND PHRASES—contd.

- "Talukdar"—
 See OUDA ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869),
 ss 2, 3, 8, 10, 22
 I L R. 35 All. 391
- "Talukdari Estate"—
 See GUJRATH TALUQDARS' ACT, s 31
 I L R. 34 Bom. 55
- "Talukdari Settlement officer"—
 See GUJRATH TALUQDARS' ACT, ss 23, 29
 I L R. 34 Bom. 142
- "Talukdari Tenure"—
 See GUJRATH TALUQDARS' ACT (Bom.
 Act VI of 1888), s 31
 I L R. 35 Bom. 97
- "Tavazhi"—
 See MALABAR LAW
 I L R. 38 Mad. 48
- "tenant"—
 See BOMBAY RENT (WAR RESTRICTION'S)
 ACT (Bom. II of 1918), s 2 (1), CLS (a),
 (c), (d) . I L R. 45 Bom. 744
- "tenure holder"—
 See BENGAL TENANCY ACT (VIII OF 1885), ss 103-B and 104 H
 I L R. 46 Calc. 90
- "trade"—
 See RECEIVER I L R. 40 Calc. 678
- "trade-mark"—
 See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
 ss 478, 482 . I L R. 39 All. 123
- "trading"—
 See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY
 I L R. 42 Calc. 1094
- "tried again"—
 See AUTREFOIS ACQUIT
 I L R. 41 Calc. 1072
- "true value"—
 See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890), s 75,
 (1), (2) AND (3)
 I L R. 43 Bom. 386
- "unable"—
 See GUJRATH TALUQDARS' ACT (Bom. Act
 VI of 1888 AS AMENDED BY Bom.
 Act II of 1905), ss 29, 29 B (1), (2), (3) AND 29 E I L R. 38 Bom. 604
- "unable to maintain itself"—
 See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V
 OF 1898), s 453.
 I L R. 39 Mad. 857
- "unlawfully and judiciously"—
 See CHARGE . I L R. 42 Calc. 857
- "until"—
 See CONTRACT FOR SALE
 I L R. 45 Calc. 481
- "up to"—
 See CONTRACT FOR SALE
 I L R. 45 Calc. 491
- "useless or inoperative"—
 See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION
 I L R. 40 Calc. 50

WORDS AND PHRASES—concl'd

- "using"—
 See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)
 s 471 . I L R. 33 Mad. 392
- "value"—
 See RAILWAYS ACT (IX OF 1890), s 75
 (1), (2) AND (3) I L R. 43 Bom. 386
- "valuable security"—
 See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860)
 ss 30, 487 . I L R. 33 All. 430
- "violence"—
 See JURY, TRIAL BY.
 I L R. 40 Calc. 367
- "Wants lands"—
 See GUJRATH TALUQDARS' ACT (Bom. Act
 VI OF 1888), s 31
 I L R. 35 Bom. 97
- "where there has been an appeal or review"—
 See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, SCH. I, ART.
 182
 3 Pat. L. J. 119
- "wilful default"—
 See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O XL, s. 4
 I L R. 39 Mad. 584
- "withdrawal"—
 See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss 248,
 345 . 20 C W. N 1209
- "without issue"—
 See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
 I L R. 43 Calc. 944
- "witnesses for the defence"—
 See JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE,
 I L R. 39 Calc. 885
- "words which are likely or may have a tendency, directly or indirectly, whether by inference, suggestion, allusion metaphor, implication or otherwise" (in
 s 4, (1))—
 See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910), ss 3 (1), 4 (1), 17, 19, 20, 22
 I L R. 39 Mad. 1085
- "youthful offender"—
 See REFORMATORY SCHOOLS ACT (VIII
 OF 1897), s 31 I L R. 39 All. 141
- WORK CALCULATED TO DEPRAVE MORALS.
 See OBSCENE PUBLICATION
 I L R. 30 Calc. 377
- WORKMAN.
 See WORKMEN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT
 ACT (XIII OF 1859).
 I L R. 35 All. 61 and 143
 I L R. 41 Mad. 282
- WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT
 (XIII OF 1859)
 1. ————— Procedure—
 Special procedure under the Act not applicable to ordinary loans between master and workman. Held, that the special procedure provided by Act XIII of 1859 for the recovery of money advanced in the circumstances therein described, is not applicable

WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT (XIII OF 1859)—contd

where money is advanced to a workman, not for the purpose of assisting him to complete a specific piece of work, but as an ordinary loan to be repaid out of the workman's wages. In the matter of Anusoori Sanyasi 1 L R 28 Mad 37, referred to. GIGA v MUHAMMAD AMIN (1912)

1 L R 35 All 61

2. ————— Magistrate not competent to take proceedings under, unless moved by the employer The provisions of Act XIII of 1859 can only be applied at the instance of the employer. A magistrate has no jurisdiction ex officio to pass orders under that Act as an alternative to taking action under the Indian Penal Code. CHENDI v MUHAMMAD ALI (1913)

1 L R 35 All 143

3. ————— Bandaman not an artificer, labourer or workman. A bandaman is not an artificer, labourer or a workman within the meaning of those words in the Workman's Breach of Contract Act (XIII of 1859). Re ROSARIO QUADROS (1913)

1 L R 38 Mad 651

4. ————— Scope of the Act—Act applicable not merely to fraudulent breaches of contract. The provisions of Act No XIII of 1859 are not applicable merely to fraudulent breaches of contract, but can and must be enforced in respect to any breach of a contract within the scope of the Act. Emperor v Bakkhar, I L R 40 All 282, followed. AZIZ UR RAHMAN v HANSA (1918)

1 L R 40 All 670

5. ————— Scope of the Act—"Workman" meaning of—Status of accused, proof of—Duty of complainant to prove—Absence of proof The accused received an advance of Rs 2,600 and contracted to supply coolies to a rubber estate. Under the contract, he was to receive a commission, of 10 per cent, on the wages of the Kol mantris and coolies and an additional Rs 25 a month, if he contract, he was proceeded against under the Workman's Breach of Contract Act. On a difference of opinion between SADASIVA AYYAR and PHILLIPS, JJ., as to whether the accused was a "workman" within the meaning of the Act. Held, by AYLING, J., agreeing with SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—(i) That the accused was not a "workman" within the meaning of the Act, and (ii) that the word "workman" means a person who engages in manual labour of some kind whether skilled or unskilled. GUDBY v SUDDE, I L R 7 Mad 100, Colarum v Chengappa, I L R 13 Mad 351, Manubear, In re, 27 M L J 392, and Re Rosario Quadros, I L R 38 Mad 651, followed. Rowson v Hanama Mestri, I L R 1 Mad 289 and High Court Proceedings, dated 13th July 1867, 3 Mad H O P App. XXV, disapproved. SCRAM MUMBA v CHAMBA KAIR (1911)

1 L R 41 Mad 182

6. ————— Compositor, an artificer—Contract to gradually work out advance from wages, a contract under the Act A compositor is an artificer if not a workman within Act XIII of 1859. An agreement by which an advance given to an artificer is to be repaid by him by periodical deductions from his wages does not merely create a relation of debtor and creditor but is a contract between master and workman within the meaning of the Act. SOMANNA v CHELLAPATHI RAO (1921)

1 L R 44 Mad 53

WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT (XIII OF 1859)—contd

s. 1—

See PENAL CODE, s 211

1 L R 43 Mad 443

— s. 1, 2—Criminal Procedure Code, s 250—Complaint of employer dismissed—Order for compensation to be paid to workman It is not competent to a Magistrate when dismissing as groundless a complaint under s. 1 of the Workman's Breach of Contract Act, 1859, to proceed under s. 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and order the employer to pay compensation. JAMIL AHMAD v MUHAMMAD ISHAQ (1919)

1 L R 41 All 322

— s. 1, 2, 4—Indefinite contract—Advance of money to workman to be paid off out of wages at employer's option—Slavery—"Contract for term certain or for specified work or otherwise," meaning of—Scope of the Act Where an advance of money made by an employer to a workman was agreed to be repaid out of the workman's wages not when the borrower chose to pay but when the employer chose to realise it. Held, that the contract was indefinite and sanctioned a species of slavery and was not enforceable under the provisions of Act XIII of 1859. Proceedings, 12th Dec 1873, 7 Mad H C R Pt xix, and Pann Prasad v Durgopal, I L R 3 All 774 followed. The advance was made as a loan and not on account of work contracted to be performed within the meaning of s. 1 of the Act. s. 4 of the Act which purports to bring within its operation "all contracts and agreements whether by deed or written or verbal and whether such contract be for a term certain or for specified work or otherwise" is controlled by s. 1 which provides that the advance should have been made to the workman "on account of any work which he shall have contracted to perform." The Act does not cover breaches of all kinds of contract between (speaking generally) employer and workman. GONINDA RAJWAR v H J AFKAR (1910)

15 C W. N. 15

s. 2—

— Order under—Right of appeal from the order—Proper orders to be made under s. 2 No appeal lies to the Sessions Court from the order of the Magistrate under s. 2 of Act XIII of 1859. The Magistrate while making an order under s. 2 of Act XIII of 1859, cannot make an order of imprisonment in default, but such an order could be made after there has been non-compliance with the order of repayment or carrying out the contract. ATKUL CHANDRA ROY v KAMAR ALI SIRDAR (1913)

15 C W. N. 1271

— Advance given by employer on agreement to work for him for a certain specified period—Breach of agreement A workman living in Cawnpore took an advance of Rs 10 from his employer and entered into an agreement to work for him for ten months on the understanding that one rupee was to be deducted from his wages each month. Held, that such a contract contained nothing repugnant to Act No XIII of 1859 and was capable of being enforced under the provisions of ss. 2 and 3 of that Act. Lucas v Ramas Singh, Criminal Revision No 235 of 1910, decided on the 21st July, 1910, followed. EMPEROR v BAKHTAWAR (1918)

1 L R 40 All 282

WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT (XIII OF 1859)—concl'd

s. 2.—concl'd.

Summary trial—Offence

—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 200, 4(a) A case under s. 2 of the Workmen's Breach of Contract Act, 1859, is triable summarily under the provisions of s. 200 of the Code of Criminal Procedure Queen-Empress v. Indrajit, I. L. R. 11 All. 262, referred to. Emperor v. Dhondu, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 22, and Emperor v. Balu Salvi, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 25, dissented from. Pollard v. Mohial, I. L. R. 4 Mad. 234, and Queen-Empress v. Kattayan, I. L. R. 20 Mad. 235, distinguished. Abdus SAMAD v. YUSUF. I. L. R. 43 All. 281 —High Court's power to interfere under ss. 435 and 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898)—Contract to carry logs of timber for long distances—Contract does not fall under the Act. The High Court has power, under ss. 435 and 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, to revise an order passed by a Magistrate directing either return of the advance or specific performance of the contract, under para. 1 of s. 2 of the Workmen's Breach of Contract Act, 1859. The accused entered into an agreement with the complainant engaging to remove 100 logs of timber from a forest to a forest depot, a distance of 22 miles, and received an advance of Rs. 440. The accused having failed to carry out the contract, was tried under s. 2 of the Workmen's Breach of Contract Act, 1859, and was ordered to repay the advance. On application under criminal revisional jurisdiction—Held, that the contract in question was not a contract of an artificer, workman or labourer and did not fall within the purview of the Act. EMPEROR v. DEVAPPA RAMAPPA (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 807

—ss. 2, 3—Contract between master and workman containing covenant for compensation for breach of agreement by workman—Operation of Act not thereby excluded. An employer of labour is not precluded from availing himself of the provisions of Act No. XIII of 1859 merely because in the contract of service between himself and his workmen there is a stipulated penalty capable of enforcement by a civil suit, in the event of breach of the contract on the part of the workmen, which penalty has admittedly not been enforced nor payment of the same tendered on the part of the workmen. Queen-Empress v. Indrajit, I. L. R. 11 All. 232, referred to. Emperor v. Muhammad Din, 22 Indian Cases 712, and Emperor v. Akuda Bakhsh, 27 Indian Cases 901, not followed. EMPEROR v. RAM LAL (1919) turn of—

I. L. R. 41 All. 390

WORSHIP.

See TERMS OF WORSHIP.

See USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 227

—right to worship a deity according to one's own belief—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 9

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 410

of image—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 57

WORSHIP—concl'd.

Worshippers' right of, suit of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 92. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 212

WRIST-WATCH BAND

See DESIGN. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 603

WRIT.

See HABEAS CORPUS

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

of possession—

See BAILIFF. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

See PENAL CODE, s. 323

19 C. W. N. 273

WRITTEN STATEMENT.

See CHARGE. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE s. 145.
14 C. W. N. 89

See PENAL CODE, s. 80

19 C. W. N. 1047

refusing application to file—

See APPEAL. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 818

—filing of, by accused

The practice of filing written statements on behalf of accused persons condemned. DEPUTY LEGAL REMEMBRANCE v. MATURDHARI SING (1915)

20 C. W. N. 128

—Practice. Though written statements may be accepted from the accused in accordance with the universal practice in the Courts under the Calcutta High Court, they do not take the place of evidence nor of such examination of the accused as is contemplated by s. 342 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Emperor v. Answiya, (1903) All. W. N. 1, dissented from. AMRITA LAL HAZRA v. EMPEROR (1915)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

WRONGFUL ACTS.

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 388

WRONGFUL ATTACHMENT.

See APPEAL. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 426

WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT.

See MISJOINDER OF PARTIES

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 760

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860),
s. 343. I. L. R. 42 Bom. 181

—Detention of suspended police-officer in lock up under an illegal Circular order of the Commissioner of Police, published in the Calcutta Police Gazette—Mistake of fact and not of law—Good faith—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) ss. 76, 79 and 312—Remission of orders of acquittal—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 423, 439. Where a Deputy Commissioner of Police sent a head constable, placed under suspension, to the lock up, without malice and in conformity with a Circular order of the Commissioner of Police, published in the Calcutta Police Gazette, the property of the Government of Bengal and the medium of communication of all orders and regulations ordinarily having the sanction of law, issued by the Commissioner, for the guidance of police officers and carried out by them, which Circular order had been consistently followed for 18 months, but was invalid, as not having been approved of by the Bengal Government, under s. 9 of the Calcutta Police Act (Beng. IV of 1868), of which fact, however, the accused Deputy Commissioner was not aware. Held, that he was justified in assuming that the said Circular order had received the sanction of the Government of Bengal and that as he, by reason of a mistake of fact and not of law, in good faith believed himself to be bound by law to obey the instructions of the Commissioner of Police, and to be justified by law in sending the head constable to such custody, he was protected by ss 76 and 79 of the Penal Code. The High Court does not, on revision, interfere with an order of acquittal unless such interference is urgently demanded in the interest of public justice. Faujdar Thakur v. Asai Chowdhury, I L. R. 42 Calc. 612, referred to PHANATHA NATH BARAI v. P. C. LAHRI, (1920)

WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT—contd.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 818

WRONGFUL DISMISSAL.

See DISMISSAL.

See DAMAGES. I. L. R. 46 I. A. 314

—Suit for wrongful dismissal against Crown, if lies—Dismissal—Government service for commercial undertakings—Agreement of service—Notice in terms of agreement—Payment of wages for period under notice—Crown, power of dismissal of Government servants, civil and military—21 and 22 Vict., c. 106, s. 65 A servant who had received his notice of dismissal and got his wages for the remainder of the term covered by the notice cannot maintain an action for wrongful dismissal. The Crown in the absence of Statutory provisions can dismiss any servant in its civil or military employ exactly as the East India Company could under s. 75 of 3 and 4 Will. IV, Ch. 85, and, therefore a suit for wrongful dismissal at the instance of a dismissed servant does not lie against the Secretary of State for India in Council under s. 65 of 21 & 22 Vict., Ch. 106. KING v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1908)

15 C. W. N. 488

WRONGFUL POSSESSION.

See SHERIFF. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 244

WRONGFUL RESTRAINT.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), ss 341, 109. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 531

WRONGFUL SEIZURE.

See ARREST OF SHIP

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 85

YYAJMAN.

See HINDU LAW—HEREDITARY PRIEST
(I. L. R. 36 Bom. 84)

See VATAHDAR JOOM
(I. L. R. 40 Bom. 112)

YATI.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 848

ZZAMINDAR.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), ss 6, SUBS. (6), 8

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 944

—engagement by, with Government—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (MAD. VII OF 1865), s. 1, PROVISIONS 1 AND 2.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 888

—grant by—

See MINES AND MINERALS

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 95

—grant by, to his wife and minor son—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV. OF 1882), s. 10
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 867

—liability of, for unlawful acts of his servants—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 156

—rights of—

See NAVIGABLE RIVER.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 390

—service to—

See MADRAS REGULATION (XXV OF 1802), s. 4. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

ZAMINDAR AND INAMDAR.

—pre-emption as to—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s. 8
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 608

ZAMINDAR OR MITTADAR.

—right of, to a charge—assignment of Jodi—

See INAMDAR. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 93

ZAMINDARI.

—imparible—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 778

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 1105

—sale of—

See EXECUTION OF DECREES

I. L. R. 38 AIL 89

—settled at Permanent Settlement—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (MAD. VII OF 1865), s. 1, AND PROVISIONS 1 AND 2.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 888

ZAMINDARI LANDS.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), ss 6, SUBS. (6), 8.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 944

See MADRAS WATER CESS ACT (VII OF 1865). I. L. R. 39 Mad. 87

ZAMINDARI RIGHTS.

See KUNSTURA, STATE OF.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 711

ZAMINDARI SALE.

— in execution—Whether entire zamindari or only zamindar's life estates sold—Mixed question of law and fact depending on entire evidence in the case—State of then law as to the zamindar's interest therein, not conclusive—Conduct of parties, important evidence. A question as to whether the entire estate in a zamindari and not only the life interest of the zamindar was sold in execution and brought by the purchaser is a question of mixed law and fact to be determined by the evidence in each case. All that Abdul Aziz Khan v Appayya-sami Naicker, 1 L R 27 Mad 131, 142, decided in reference to the above question was that the state of the law as understood at the time of sale, as to the rights of the zamindar in regard to the zamindari, was evidence to be considered along with other evidence in the case; it is not alone conclusive on the question. In determining the question of what the Court intended to sell and the purchaser understood he bought, evidence as to how the parties affected by the transaction themselves viewed it at the time is of much greater value than evidence which may be procurable some twenty years after the transaction took place. On the evidence in the case their Lordships held that the sale which took place in 1830 was of the whole zamindari and that the purchaser bought the whole zamindari in execution. Veera chandra Aiyar v Marudaga Narayan, 1 L R 34 Mad 188, referred to. Veera Soorappa Nayana v Errappa Naidu, 1 L R 29 Mad. 491, 490, explained. ALAKHAYA GOUNDER v RAMAYYA NAIDU (1911) . 1 L R. 37 Mad 22

ZAMINDARS AND RAJAS.

— rights of waters of rivers passing through their lands—

S e MADRAS IRRIGATION CHES Act (VII of 1903) . 1 L R. 37 Mad. 322

ZERAIT.

S e LANDLORD AND TENANT.
1 L R. 38 Calc. 432

ZINA.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—LEGITIMACY
1 L R. 34 Bom. 111

ZURPESHGI LEASE.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s 5 (5)
15 C. W. N. 345

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
1 L R. 38 Calc. 432

See MORTGAGE . 16 C. W. N. 505

— Occupancy right, raiyat interest acquisition of—Previous possession as raiyat—Subsequent zurpeshgi lease, effect of. The plaintiff's suit was for recovery of possession of land which had been given in zurpeshgi to the defendant for a term of 15 years from 1901 to 1915 F S., the terms of the zurpeshgi being as follows: "It is desired that the said sahib uccadar should take possession of the said land, make proper cultivation himself or get it cultivated by others, grow indigo seeds or any other indigo crop by using the land as his khass crust or by settling the same with tenants according to his own desire and shall continue appropriating the proceeds thereof till the term of the tica. He shall year by year deduct the said fixed jaama in payment of the principal and interest of his zurpeshgi as per account given below and shall pay the remainder, the amount of lessor's rights payable to us, towards the end of the term of the tica on taking receipt therefor from us. He shall conveniently cut and recover the indigo crops grown and standing on any quantity of land in 1915 F S., when the term of the tica pottah comes to an end, and shall pay ten annas rent for 1916 F S. at Rs. 630 per bigha and shall give up possession of the said land. Held, that the zurpeshgi pottah did not create any raiyat interest in the defendant, far less a right of occupancy, and on the expiry of the term of the pottah the plaintiffs were entitled to get khass possession. That a raiyat by taking a zurpeshgi lease of land of which he was previously in possession as a raiyat, does not lose his raiyat status or direct himself of his right to acquire a right of occupancy in the land. LAL BANARAS RANI v MACKENZIE (1913) . 19 C. W. N. 229

CALCUTTA
SUPERINTENDENT GOVERNMENT PRINTING, INDIA
8 HASTINGS STREET

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—contd.

Sch I Arts. 118, 68, s 19—concl'd
 116 and not by Art 66 of the Limitation Act for though the suit was in form a suit for money due on a bond it was in substance a suit for compensation for breach of a contract. Ramdia v Kalla Pershad L R 12 I A 12, and Budakhi Gans Shet v Tularamshet I L R 14 Bom 377 commented on. DINKAR HARI v CHHAGANLAL NARSDAS (1913) I L R 38 Bom 177

Sch I Art 118—

See HINDU LAW (CUSTOM)

5 Pat L J 164

Hindu Law—Adoption—Sust questioning the validity of adoption—Limitation—Adoption of an orphan—Entries in Revenue register A suit questioning the validity of an adoption would be time-barred if not brought within six years under Art 118, Sch I of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908). Srinivas v Hanuman I L R 24 Bom 269 followed. Thakur Turbhanan Bahadar Singh v Raja Rameshar Bahad Singh L R 33 I A 156 and Umar Khan v Viaz ad din Khan, L R 32 I A 19 explained and distinguished. The adoption of an orphan is not valid in law. The Collector's Register is purely for the purposes of Government Revenue and its entries are not evidence of title. SERJIVAS SARJERAY v BALWANT VENKATESH (1913)

I L R 37 Bom 513

Adoption—Death of adopted son leaving a widow—Adopting mother making a second adoption during widow's life time—Adopted son in possession of the property to the knowledge of the plaintiff—Suit by reversioner of first adopted son to recover property challenging the second adoption brought after six years—Suit barred by limitation One D a holder of Vatan and non Vatan property having died without leaving a son, M his senior widow adopted a son A. A died a minor in 1890 leaving a widow. In 1901 M adopted defendant No 1 as son to D and from the date of his adoption defendant No 1 remained in possession of the whole estate to the knowledge of the plaintiff. In 1904 A's widow died. In 1912 the plaintiff claiming as the reversioner he r of A sued to recover possession of the property challenging the adoption of defendant No 1. Defendant No 1 pleaded limitation and adverse possession. Held, that there had been no adverse possession sufficient to bar the plaintiff's suit but it was barred under Art 118 of the Limitation Act, 1908 as it was not brought within six years from Plaintiff's knowledge of defendant No 1's adoption. Held also that though the adoption of defendant No 1 might be invalid by Hindu Law and M's power of adoption might have been already exhausted nevertheless the law of limitation would effectively defeat the plaintiff's claim. Mokesh Narain Mannab v Farook Nakh Motia I L R 29 I A 30 followed. Held, further, that defendant No 1's adoption to D who was not the last male holder affected the plaintiff for the property in dispute was an ancestral estate and that D as well as A were ancestors of the plaintiff. CHAKRABARTY v KALIANDAPPA (1917)

I L R 41 Bom 723

Limitation—Sale—Covenant to make good loss in case of vendee being compelled to pay money in excess of sale consideration—

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—contd.

Sch I, Art 118—concl'd

Breach of covenant—Suit against vendors on covenant of indemnity Where vendors are suing their vendors on a covenant of indemnity contained in their sale deed having been obliged to redeem a prior mortgage the vendors are not barred by the limitation runs, not from the date of the sale-deed but from the date when the plaintiffs suffered actual loss by reason of their being compelled to pay off the prior mortgage charge. Hari Tiwari v Pishunath Tiwari, I L R 11 All. 27 referred to. RAN DEVI v HARDWARE LAL (1918) I L R 40 All. 605

Art 118 and s. 2—Suit for declaration that an adoption is untrue or invalid—Nearest reversioner's consent to adoption for a bride—No suit by nearest reversioner—Suit by remoter reversioner, more than six years after adoption came to knowledge of the nearest reversioner—Plaintiff born after adoption and before suit barred—Bar of limitation A suit for a declaration that an alleged adoption is untrue or invalid, instituted by a remoter reversioner more than six years after the adoption came to the knowledge of the nearest reversioner, is barred under art 118 of the Limitation Act. Neither the fact that the nearest reversioner did not himself bring such a suit because he had been bribed to give his consent to the adoption nor the fact that the remoter reversioner who sued was born after the alleged adoption and before the suit became barred under art 118 gives the latter any fresh cause of action or stops time running which had begun to run against the whole body of reversioners from the date of adoption. VENKATA SRIVATTA v ADENNA (1921) I L R 44 Mad. 218

Sch. I, Art 119—Suit for declaration that an adoption was valid—Limitation, A decree was passed in 1900 on the basis that there was no adoption. In 1901, the adoption of plaintiff was denied by defendant No 1 still the plaintiff did nothing till 1913 when he filed a suit to have it declared that the decree of 1900 was invalid and not binding on him. Held, that the plaintiff's adoption having been challenged in 1901, the present suit was barred under art. 119 of the Indian Limitation Act 1908. Srinivas v Hanuman, I L R 24 Bom. 269 followed. BHARMA v BALARAM SAKHARAM (1918)

I L R 43 Bom 63

Art 120—

See s 6 I L R 1 Lah. 553

See s 10 I L R 39 Bom. 572

See Art 4 I L R 41 Mad. 523

See ART 52 I L R 2 Lah. 376

See ART 91 I L R. 35 All. 149

See Art 109 I L R 27 All. 640

See ANNEKUNTHAPPA 2 Pat J J 342

See ANNEKUNTHAPPA

I L R 47 Calc. 331

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—

Pat. L J 497

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

I L R 2. Lah. 984

I L R 44 Mad. 951

See JOINT PROPERTY

I L R. 39 Mad. 54